The Nation's Oldest Collegiate Football Stadium

Just how historic is Franklin Field? Consider that when the oldest ballpark in professional baseball, Fenway Park, opened in 1912, Franklin Field was already 17 years old. Wrigley Field didn't open until 1914. The next-oldest college stadium, Harvard Stadium, opened in 1904; the oldest stadium in pro football, Soldier Field, was first used in 1924—nearly three full decades after the opening of Franklin Field. Fans have been watching Penn Football from the corner of 33rd and Spruce since the Quakers defeated Swarthmore 40-0 in the stadium's first game on Oct. 1, 1895. Below is a brief list of the experiences enjoyed by the millions of fans who have passed through the Franklin Field gates:

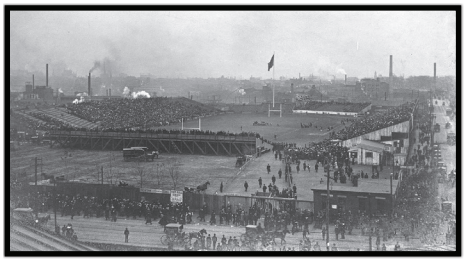

Franklin Field By the Numbers (Entering 2025):

877 - Penn Football games have been played here
581 - all-time Penn wins opposed to 265 losses and 31 ties
129 - Penn Football seasons played here
23 - undefeated home seasons for the Quakers
18 - Ivy League title celebrations
13 - seasons as home to the Philadelphia Eagles (1958-70)
5 - home winning streaks of 16 or more games
2 - Hollywood blockbusters filmed here (Invincible, Unbreakable)

Opened in 1895, Franklin Field is home of the first:

- Scoreboard (1895)
- Permanent collegiate horseshoe stadium (1903)
- Two-tiered football stadium in the nation (1925)
- Stadium capacity of more than 78,000 (1925)
- Neutral Army-Navy game (1899)
- College football radio broadcast (1922)
- College football telecast (1940)
- Episode of ABC's World Wide of Sports (1961)

Stands are built at the stadium's current location at 33rd and Spruce Streets. The stadium is opened for the Penn Relays, and football plays its first game there on Oct. 1, 1895, a 40-0 win over Swarthmore.

First neutral-site Army-Navy game

Army defeats Navy by a score of 17-5 at Franklin Field on Dec. 2, 1899 in the first neutral-site game ever played between the two storied rivals.

1922
College football's first radio broadcast

Cornell beats Penn, 9-0, on WIP-AM radio on Nov. 30, 1922. Also, the first tier is rebuilt in brick and concrete. These stands remain today as the lower bowl.

First double-decked stadium

The second deck is completed, making Franklin Field the nation's first double-decker football stadium. The capacity is 78,205, the largest in the country.

1940

It was the first time in history that a college football game had been televised and persons 54 miles

Franklin Field hosts the first-ever telecast of a college football game as Penn routs Maryland, 51-0 on Oct. 5, 1940. Local station Philco (now KYW) used two cameras to broadcast all the action.

First Wide World of Sports episode

The first episode of ABC's Wide World of Sports is filmed at the Penn Relays on April 29, 1961.

1969
AstroTurf installed

In 1969, natural grass is replaced with AstroTurf; Franklin Field has had a synthetic surface ever since.

2013
New SprinTurf added

Over the past decade, renovations have included red and blue chairback seating, a new SprinTurf synthetic surface along with a new scoreboard and videoboard.

ALSO HOME TO....

Over more than 125 years, Franklin Field has hosted football, track and field, field hockey, lacrosse, soccer, sprint football, baseball, rugby, cricket, commencements, concerts, Presidential speeches and drum corps competitions. It has hosted the NFL, CFL, USFL, Army-Navy games, and NCAA championships in men's and women's lacrosse, track & field, men's soccer and field hockey. More than 100,000 fans visit every April for the Penn Relays. It was the Philadelphia Eagles' home from 1958-70 and site of their first NFL championship, in 1960—Vince Lombardi's only NFL playoff loss with the Green Bay Packers. Franklin Field also hosted the first CFL game played on American soil, and has hosted more Army-Navy games than any other existing stadium (18). Franklin Field has even been immortalized in film—scenes from the Hollywood blockbusters "Invincible" and "Unbreakable" were filmed there. The ESPN documentary series "Peyton's Places," hosted by NFL Hall of Famer Peyton Manning was shot at Franklin Field for its Dec. 25, 2023 episode.

PENN FOOTBALL IN THE HALL OF FAME

In 1996, the Penn Athletics Hall of Fame was established to preserve Penn's rich athletic history and tradition by honoring those people who helped create it. Thirteen heralded classes have been inducted since its establishment in 1996, and 40 distinguished members have played or coached Penn football.

The University of Pennsylvania football program has a long and distinguished line of alumni who have been enshrined in Halls of Fame. Forty-five men are members of at least one of three Halls of Fame; ten are members of two Halls; and one man, Chuck Bednarik, is a member of all three.

A further 18 Penn players, along with five coaches, belong to the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame, located in South Bend, Ind.

In addition, two men—Bednarik and Bert Bell—are members of both the Penn Athletics Hall of Fame and the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio. Bednarik is regarded as one of pro football's all-time greats, while Bell holds the distinction of being the first man inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

Penn (1996), College (1977)
Bagnell was an All-America tailback who still appears in the record book. In 1950, he had one of the greatest individual games in Penn history against Dartmouth when he accounted for 490 yards of total offense (a record which still stands).

That year, he finished third in the Heisman Trophy voting. A West Philadelphia native, he won nine varsity letters in college, three each for football, basketball and baseball.

Bagnell later became an associate trustee at Penn. He also served as chairman of the Maxwell Football Club, and served a term as president of the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame, an organization into which he was inducted in 1977.

His nine Ivy titles rank second in Ivy history, but his nine outright titles are first. Bagnoli coached Penn to three undefeated seasons (1993, 1994, 2003) and six unbeaten Ivy campaigns. During his tenure, he had 10 different teams earn a national ranking. Bagnoli coached the Quakers to 24 straight wins from 1992-95, an FCS record that stood for 20 years. An All-America, Bednarik received the Maxwell Award, given to the player whom the Maxwell Club of Philadelphia considers the outstanding collegiate player in the nation. He was the first offensive lineman to receive the award.

After graduation, Bell got into coaching, including stints at Penn and Temple, but eventually bought the Frankford Yellowjackets of the NFL. Bell moved the team to Franklin Field and renamed them the Philadelphia Eagles.

Bell's impact as an owner, and later NFL commissioner, was immense. He conceived the NFL draft, sudden-death overtime and televised night games; he raised salaries, increased attendance by 100 percent, and banned gambling.

In 1963, Bell was the first man inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

In that span, Berndt guided Penn to its first unbeaten Ivy campaign (7-0 in 1984). Two of his players earned the Bushnell Cup as Ivy League MVP, and his teams produced 20 first-team All-Ivy and 21 second-team All-Ivy selections.

A two-time All-America selection, Brooke was a member of teams that won 38 of 41 games and two national championships. Besides being a powerful runner, Brooke was also the Quakers' kicker. Chambers was the first Penn player to earn Ivy League Player of the Year—the only defensive back in league history so honored—and was a three-time All-Ivy performer on three championship teams. He made seven interceptions in his first year of varsity football to earn Division I-AA Rookie of the Year honors and ended his career with 14 picks, which tied him with legendary Chuck Bednarik as program's all-time leader in that category. In his last three seasons Pennsylvania went 12-0, 14-0, 14-1 and had a 34-game winning streak. In Gelbert's four varsity seasons Penn outscored its opponents 1,594 to 130. Jack Kofoed, writing in the Philadelphia Record in 1912, named Gelbert to his all-time All-America team.

David Pottruck, former Penn wrestling coach Larry Lauchle said, was "a hard-nosed guy that kept pushing everyone. He put 120 percent into everything he did... and gave everything he had all the time." His effort clearly showed on the gridiron as he started in all 27 varsity games played and earned All-Ivy honors as a senior. In 1968 and 1969 he helped the wrestling team earn their first two Ivy League Championships.

He was a precision player, and teammate Bill Hollenback lavished praise upon him after the 1908 campaign: "He's one of college football's greatest ends. He's a superlative defensive end, quick to get down-field on punts, and an exceptional diagnostician."

As a guard in his senior year at Penn, he was named First-Team All-America by the Associated Press and the International News Service. He was also awarded the Most Valuable Player award for that year by the Bakers Club. In 1949, Schweder played in the East-West Shrine Classic Game, making him one of only 24 Quakers to do so. He also played in the annual College All-Stars football game in Chicago, Ill. That same year, he was also named First-Team All-East.

Set in 1928 against Cornell, Scull scored four touchdowns and seven after-touchdown points, passed for 229 yards, intercepted one pass and returned kickoffs for 75 yards. As a sophomore, Scull was elected by the Veteran Athletes' Association as the most valuable player in the East, and he was named a consensus First-Team All-America as a senior. Scull also earned the national dropkicker of the year title after making 23 of 25 point-after-touchdown kicks that year.

Jack Shanafelt
Shanafelt was one of the last "60-minute men" in college football. He earned national recognition for his play against a high-caliber schedule, and had 51 tackles as a junior to lead all Penn linemen and earn All-East recognition. Shanafelt repeated the All-East accolade as a senior, and at the time of his induction, he remained the last Penn player to earn Division I All-America honors. He was selected by the Detroit Lions in the 1954 NFL Draft and was a member of the Army All-Star Football team in Japan.

An All-America fullback at Penn in 1904, Andy Smith was a master of the game. He began his coaching career at Penn, where he logged a record of 30-10-3. From there, Smith moved to Purdue and then to California where he began molding his legendary Golden Bears teams. His famous "Wonder Teams" went undefeated for an incredible five-season span, going 44-0-2 in that time. It all began with the 9-0-0 run in 1920. In 1921, the Bears won another nine games before Washington & Jefferson managed a scoreless tie in the Rose Bowl. It was 9-0-0 again in 1922, then 9-0-1 the next year, when Cal allowed only seven points all year long. The last of the Wonder Teams, the 1924 club, finished 8-0-2.

Vince Stevenson
College (1968)
A featherweight quarterback at 148 pounds, Vince Stevenson possessed an innovative flair for the game. It was this uncommon gift for pulling off the unexpected that enabled Stevenson to lead the Quakers to a perfect 12-0 record in 1904. Penn out scored its competition 222-4 that season and Stevenson merited Walter Camp All-America recognition. Fifty years after his graduation, Stevenson was still being named to All-Time Penn teams.

Robert Torrey
College (1971)
Robert Torrey, the Penn captain, helped lead the Quakers to an undefeated record in 1905. The team went 12-0-1, only tying Lafayette 6-6. When the Quakers went 12-0-0 the previous year, Swarthmore had been the only team to even score against them. For certain, the Penn teams in those early years at the turn of the 20th century were powerhouses in the blood-and-brawn days of gridiron pioneering. Torrey was among the best of the nation's linemen and won All-America laurels following the 1905 campaign.

Joe Valerio
Penn (2005)
In 1988, Joe Valerio lettered for the Quakers' team that went 9-1 and won the Ivy League championship. The next year, Valerio received first-team All-Ivy accolades; as a senior, Valerio was a team captain and held pre-season All-America titles. That year he added Penn's Bednarik (top lineman) and Munger (MVP) Awards, first-team All-Ivy honors, a first-team All-ECAC nod, and first-team All-America accolades to his list of achievements. Valerio was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game, and went to the Kansas City Chiefs in the second round of the NFL draft where he played for five seasons.

John Welsh
Penn (2008)
One of Penn's famed "Mungermen." In his third varsity game, picked off four passes against Princeton, a record that still stood at the time of his induction (68 years later). Finished sophomore season with nine picks, another record that was still intact at the time of his induction, and ended his career with 13. His Penn teams did not lose to any Ivy competition during his three years, outscoring its competition 595-206 with seven shutouts. Came back to coach after World War II. Organized the Varsity Football Club and served as its first president.

Charles Wharton
College (1963)
Charles Wharton was a guard on the Penn team that won national championships in 1894 and 1895. Wharton was a blocking dynamo, often taking out entire sides of an enemy line. During his career at Penn, the Quakers won 52 of 56 games, and the behemoth of a lineman twice garnered consensus All-America honors. Wharton went on to serve as a line coach at Penn as well as the school's director of field athletics.

Morton Wilner
Penn (2008)
Two-sport star at Penn. Captain and second baseman for the 1929 and 1930 baseball teams, leading Quakers to a combined 41-13 record (the 1929 team won 22 games, a record that lasted 45 years). A three-time all-league selection in leading Penn to three Quadrangular League championships. In football, honorable mention All-America quarterback his senior year. Led the Quakers to a combined 15-3 mark his last two years. Voted by his classmates for the Spoon Award. Later in life, served as an alumni trustee (1965-70), a term trustee (1970-78) and an emeritus trustee (1978-2000).

George Woodruff
College (1963)
As a four-year starter at Yale from 1885-88, George Woodruff invented the "running guard," and later pioneered the guards-back play, a forerunner to Henry Williams' tackle-back set. Woodruff also devised the idea of crashing ends on defense.

Woodruff went on to coach at Penn from 1892-1901, becoming one of the most distinguished coaches of his era. His teams had winning streaks of 34 and 31 games. From 1894-97 they went 55-1. The 1895 and 1897 teams were national champions. His 10-year record at Pennsylvania was 124-15-2, and his teams scored 1,777 points to opponents' 88.

George Weiss
Penn (2017)
His association with Penn Athletics began his freshman year, when he rowed as a member of the heavyweight crew team. Later, he represented the United States at the World Cup for Martial Arts, winning two gold medals and one bronze and qualifying for the U.S. team at the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. Since 1998, Penn Football has given out the George A. Weiss Award to the player whose spirit and play personified "the Pennsylvania kind of football."

SEVEN NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

National Poll Champions

During nearly 150 years of Penn Football, there have been nearly 30 selectors of national champions using polls, historical research and mathematical rating systems. Beginning in 1936, the Associated Press began the best-known and most widely circulated poll of sportswriters and broadcasters. Before 1936, national champions were determined by historical research and retroactive ratings and polls.

Penn earned its first national title after recording the first undefeated campaign in the program's short 18-year history. The Red and Blue posted a 12-0 record under Head Coach George Woodruff. Wins included Navy, Virginia, Princeton (only the second in 30 meetings) and Harvard. The Quakers averaged 30.5 ppg while allowing just 1.6 ppg. Penn shut out all but three of its opponents.

VICTORY FOR VHITO

In the spring of 2015, head coach Ray Priore made his first major decision as head coach of the Quakers in naming young Vhito DeCapria captain of the Red and Blue. "Recruited" to the Quakers through the Friends of Jaclyn Foundation, DeCapria was undergoing treatment for Malignant Rhabdoid Tumor in Philadelphia when he joined the program in April of 2015. Since joining the team, Vhito has been an inspiration in perseverance and grit — leading the team to Ivy League titles in each of his first two seasons while successfully battling MRT until he became cancer-free!

Vhito's relationship with Penn Football has been profiled in many local publiations, including the Philadelphia Inquirer.

In 2017, Vhito's story caught the eye of ESPN's Julie Foudy who came to Franklin Field for a piece which aired on SportsCenter

Vhito can often be found leading the Quakers onto the field and at the coin toss before each game.

2025 OFFENSIVE OUTLOOK

A position-by-position preseason breakdown of the 2025 Quakers:

QUARTERBACKS
Key Returners:
- Liam O'Brien
- Karson Siqueiros-Lasky

When four-year starter Aidan Sayin, Penn's all-time leader in completions, went down with a career-ending elbow injury during the Quakers' Friday night matchup with Yale in Week 6, the outlook under center looked bleak.

But Liam O'Brien didn't skip a beat and stepped in seamlessly putting together impressive numbers in four starts to conclude the 2024 season. The signal caller completed 66 percent (76-115) of his pass attempts for 1,018 yards and 13 touchdowns over only two interceptions, while rushing for 300 yards on 74 carries with four scores. O'Brien led Penn to victory over Brown in the first start of his career where he threw for 247 yards and two TDs, adding another 60 yards and a touchdown on the ground.

But the game O'Brien is most known for came a week later in Ithaca, N.Y. when he starred in Penn's 67-49 victory over Cornell with the Quakers scoring the most points in a single game since Ivy play began in 1956. O'Brien set the program records for passing TDs in a single game with six and total TDs with seven.

Entering 2025, O'Brien is back as a team co-captain, has full command of the offense and looks poised to re-gain the momentum he built to end last season.

Sophomore Karson Siqueiros-Lasky returns as Penn's backup QB. He made one appearance last season against Yale, tallying four pass attempts. In addition, Michigan transfer Jack Grusser enters the fold as an option, along with freshman Shane Throgmartin and sophomore Michael Malone, who was the 2024 CSFL Rookie of the Year for Penn Sprint Football.

WIDE RECEIVERS/ TIGHT ENDS
Key Returners:
- Jared Richardson
(2023 First Team, 2024 Second Team All-Ivy)
- Bisi Owens
- Alex Haight
- Davis Ellis
- Jayden Drayton

Penn may have the Ivy League's top wideout duo in seniors Jared Richardson and Bisi Owens—neither of whom played receiver in high school.

Richardson, a two-time All-Ivy pick (first team in 2023, second team in 2024), led the Quakers last season with 684 yards and seven touchdowns. Notably, he became the first Penn Quaker to register a pair of three-touchdown games in a career after he hauled in nine grabs for 141 yards and three TDs at Cornell.He enters 2025 with Preseason All-America honors from Phil Steele and FCS Football Central.

After a promising sophomore season in 2023, Owens broke out late in 2024 as one of QB Liam O'Brien's favorite targets, posting 538 yards and five scores, highlighted by a 107-yard, two-touchdown performance vs. Harvard.

Alex Haight returns in the slot after an injury-shortened 2024, while versatile Davis Ellis and two-way player Jayden Drayton—who will debut at defensive back—add depth. Sophomores Connor Johns, Griffin Rosenbloom, and Ronan Johannson could also emerge as the season progresses.

At tight end, Penn replaces veterans Bryce Myers and Justin Cayenne with sophomore Jack Donnelly and converted QB Cadin Olsen (6-5, 230), who has quickly impressed since switching positions.

RUNNING BACKS
Key Returners:
- Donte West
- Julien Stokes
(2022 First Team, 2024 Second Team All-Ivy)
- Sean Williams, Jr.

Fresh off becoming Penn's first-ever Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year, Malachi Hosley took his talents to his hometown Atlanta to play college football at Georgia Tech this fall.

With Hosley gone, it allows others to step up in his place, beginning with sophomore Donte West, who put together a strong spring and impressive fall to earn his starting spot.

Already a mainstay as a kick returner and wide receiver, Julien Stokes comes back to Penn for his final season in University City, but this time as a tailback as he looks to get much of his playing time alongside West in the backfield. Juice has 16 rushing attempts in his career from 2021-24, along with two touchdowns.

Sean "Pup" Williams, Jr. saw limited action last year, playing four Ivy League games.

The Penn coaching staff is excited about freshman Tommy Lafayette who rushed for 1,000+ yards and 12 TDs during his senior season at North Gwinnett in Georgia.

OFFENSIVE LINE
Key Returners:
- Netinho Olivieri
(2024 First Team All-Ivy)
- Will Bergin
(2024 Second Team All-Ivy)
- Maxwell Freeman
- Aaron Kruse
- Luke Sacchetti

Notice anything different about this O-Line? If not, there's a good reason for that: all five starters from last year return in 2025.

Spearheaded by first-team All-Ivy selection Netinho Olivieri at left tackle and second-team All-Ivy honoree Will Bergin at center, the duo with a combined weight of 620 pounds is joined by senior Maxwell Freeman at right guard, junior Luke Sacchetti at left guard, and junior Aaron Kruse at right tackle.

This formidable group did wonders in run blocking for Hosley in 2024, who racked up nearly 1,200 yards on the ground en route to being named Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year. In addition, the offensive line allowed just 15 sacks all season, the ninth-fewest number in FCS football.

Olivieri and Bergin have received their fair share of preseason honors with Olivieri picking up All-America nods from Stats Perform and Phil Steele, while Bergin joined his teammate on FCS Football Central's Preseason All-America list.

Other names to watch out for include juniors Trenton Van Boening and Michael Zack, along with sophomores Marco Carone, Ryan Mitchell, and Austin Zimm.

DEFENSIVE LINE:
Key Returners:

- Paul Jennings
(2023 HM All-Ivy)
- Carter Janki
(2024 Second Team All-Ivy)

If there's one guy on this team to root for, it's Paul Jennings who has battled a tremendous amount of adversity to return to the fold in 2025 as the program's latest two-time captain. The senior missed a significant chunk of time in 2024 due to injury and comes back healthy and ready to go. Jennings was impressive in 2023, recording six tackles for loss and 2.5 sacks over 10 games for the Red and Blue.

After not seeing the playing field his first two seasons at Penn, Carter Janki debuted in 2024, was spectacular and was one of the Ivy League's most feared defenders. He finished the year with 40 total tackles (21 solos), 3.5 TFLs, 3.5 sacks, a forced fumble, and four QB hurries.

Just like Janki did last year, junior Raashed Hall has shown flashes of what he can do during the spring and preseason and will look to make an immediate impact. Sophomore Alexandro Armour, Jr. is also expected see extended minutes early on.

LINEBACKERS
Key Returners:

- John Lista
(2024 Second Team All-Ivy)
- Kadari Machen

The Quakers will undoubtedly miss three-time All-Ivy selection Jack Fairman, who graduated last spring, but all-in-all this could be one of the most talented linebacker cores in the Ancient Eight this year.

John Lista was a season-ending injury against Harvard removed from being a first-team All-Ivy selection and returns for his senior season as a co-captain and leader of the defense. Lista had an elite-level 2024, recording 5.0 TFLs and two sacks, forcing a fumble with six hurries. His 10-solo tackle, 3.5 TFL performance against Bucknell earned him Ivy League Defensive Player of the Week honors.

Despite no All-Ivy recognition so far, Kadari Machen has repeatedly proven he belongs among the conference's elite defensive players, entering his third straight season as a starter. Machen led Penn in tackles (71) with 39 solo stops, finishing the year with 5.0 TFLs and one sack. He recorded 15 tackles, a TFL, and a pass breakup at Dartmouth to begin Ivy play. In three seasons, Machen has 133 total stops, 11.5 TFLs, and two sacks.

With Machen moving over to the MO linebacker spot, junior Joey Holliday is expected to step up as SAM linebacker after making nine appearances on special teams in 2024. Veteran Ryan O'Connell is ready to step into an important role as a utility-type player, along with sophomore Derek McCrum.

DEFENSIVE BACKS
Key Returners:

- Josh Narcisse
- Jayden Drayton
- Ty Cortes

Although the Quakers' defensive backs are a relatively young group—following the graduation of Shiloh Means—junior Josh Narcisse is poised to take on a larger role at safety following a strong sophomore season.

Narcisse broke through at cornerback in 2024, finishing the year with three pass breakups and two interceptions, one being a 41-yard return against Yale. He added 20 tackles (14 solos).

As mentioned a few sections ago, Jayden Drayton will be a two-way player in 2025 after spending all last season as a slot wide receiver, and has already started to showcase his athleticism and versatility on both sides of the ball.

Penn is excited to see Ty Cortes emerge at safety this season after being a large contributor on special teams during his freshman season. He did record three tackles in 2024, including two at Cornell.

Sophomore Andrew Bruce is a new name to watch out for, along with freshmen Brock Cornell, Ethan Cohall, and Ezra Fearon.

SPECIALISTS
Key Returners:

- Sam Smith
- Santiago Sturla
- Julien Stokes
(2022 First Team, 2024 Second Team All-Ivy)
- Zach Darche

The Quakers are in superb hands at placekicker with senior Sam Smith, who had an excellent 2024 after playing all 10 games, converting 11 of his 15 field-goal attempts but was a perfect 9-for-9 between 20 and 39 yards. His long field goal make was 45 yards and successfully made all 31 extra-point attempts.

Smith will likely concede kickoff duties to sophomore Josh Barnavon, but freshman Mason Walters has also been pushing him in practice.

2024 first-team All-Ivy selection Albert Jang graduated from Penn after he was named a semifinalist for FCS Punter of the Year, but senior Santiago Sturla is ready to step up in this role after being a kickoff specialist the last three seasons.

In the return game, there's no more experienced player in the Ivy League than Julien Stokes, who's a two-time All-Ivy pick as a returner. He returned 22 kicks for 550 yards to pace the conference in 2024.

Junior Zach Darche returns for his third consecutive season as starting long snapper and will also look to contribute at linebacker, while senior Matthew Leyes backs him up at snapper.

NEWARK, Del. – The University of Pennsylvania football team had a strong first half, but playing its first game of the season the Quakers were unable to sustain it against a Delaware program playing its third. The Blue Hens (3-0) used a dominant third quarter, a late touchdown, and a turnover in the final 90 seconds to slip past the Quakers, 29-22.

Penn received the opening kickoff and the offense got right to work to begin the contest. A 20-yard gain up the middle by Hosley put the Quakers in the red zone. Penn had 4th and 3 on the 25-yard line when Sayin found Julien Stokes for the first down. On the very next play, Sayin faked the handoff to Hosley, airing it out to Richardson for 18 yards and the score as Penn took an early 6-0 lead.

The Blue Hens also had a lengthy first drive that took nearly seven minutes off the clock. Delaware drove 58 yards down the field and got within four yards of the end zone before the Penn defense caused a turnover on downs from a drop.

Getting the ball late in the first and the start of the second, Penn marched 75 yards down the field and Sam Smith converted a 30-yard field goal as the Quakers took a 9-0 lead. The Quaker defense did a fabulous job limiting Delaware on its next drive, as the Blue Hens gained negative yardage when Bryce Hall and Carter Janki combined on a second-down sack. That caused UD to punt from the Quakers' 40-yard line.

With less than five minutes to play in the half, Delaware used three minutes on a nine-play, 80-yard drive and scored a 47-yard touchdown (with a failed extra point) to cut the Penn lead to 9-6.

Penn was fortunate to avoid danger following an interception from Sayin, getting the ball back at the two-minute timeout after a Blue Hens punt. The Quakers made good use of the time, a 27-yard rush by Hosley and a 47-yard pitch-and-catch from Sayin to Stokes allowing them to cash in on a nine-yard fade route to Bisi Owens. That gave Penn a 16-6 lead heading into the locker room.

The third quarter was all Hens, as the hosts outscored Penn 9-0 and set themselves up for another score early in the fourth. Ja'Carree Kelly set the tone, taking the second-half kickoff and running it back to midfield. It took just five plays for UD to score after that, as Ryan O'Connor found Phil Lutz down the left sideline for a 39-yard touchdown. The Hens went for two and were unsuccessful, and the Quakers' lead was 16-12.

Penn was unable to move the ball out of its end and punted, and the Hens went right back to work. Starting from its own 38, Delaware got the ball down to the Quakers' 18 and Nate Reed kicked a 35-yard field goal to get the hosts within one at 16-15. Penn had a sustained drive after that, taking the ball from its own 25 and using 10 plays to get to Delaware's 22 before stalling. Smith came on to kick the field goal, but after getting called for a false start his 44-yard kick was just wide of the left post and it was still a one-point game.

The Delaware offense was still feeling it, and soon the Hens were in the lead for the first time of the night. The nine-play, 73-yard drive bridged the third and fourth quarters and ended with O'Connor throwing a touch pass to the left corner of the end zone that Jake Thaw ran under and caught ahead of a Penn defender. Now up 21-16, the Blue Hens again went for two and were unsuccessful.

Penn went three and out on its next possession, but the defense came on and held UD to a three-and-out and then Francesco Barone blocked the Hens' punt attempt. That gave the Quakers the ball on Delaware's 38-yard line, and then a defensive holding call was followed by a 13-yard rush by Hosley, getting the ball to Delaware's 13.

On a third-and-12 play Sayin found Stokes on the left sideline to give Penn first down at the 1-yard line. It took four plays, but on fourth down Penn ran an option to the short side and Sayin spun into the end zone to give the Red and Blue a 22-21 lead. Sayin's pass to Richardson fell incomplete on the two-point play, leaving Penn with the one-point lead with 6:02 left.

Delaware's offense again caught fire. The Hens needed 10 plays and a little more than four minutes to cover 75 yards, and they hit paydirt with 1:44 left when Jo'Nathan Silver ran around the left end and beat a pair of Penn defenders to the pylon from 13 yards out. UD then converted a 2-point conversion when O'Connor found Thaw on the right side. That left the Hens with a seven-point lead, 29-22.

Penn looked like it might be in a position to tie this game or even take the lead after Jared Richardson caught a pass from Aidan Sayin near midfield, shook a pair of UD tacklers, and raced the ball to the Hens' 17-yard line.

However, on the very next play Sayin threw to Hosley who was hit as the ball reached him. The sophomore juggled the ball and it fell into the arms of Delaware's Ty Davis with 1:26 left. The Hens were able to take three knees to clock it out.

PHILADELPHIA – The University of Pennsylvania football team won its 2024 home opener on Saturday, defeating Colgate 27-17 at Franklin Field.

The Quakers improved to 1-1 on the young season ahead of its Ivy League opener at Dartmouth next Saturday. The visiting Raiders fell to 1-4.

Penn wasted little time scoring on Saturday, taking the opening kickoff and marching straight to paydirt. The Quakers used nine plays to cover the 75 yards, with Sayin going 6-of-8 passing on the drive. His final completion went to Bryce Myers up the middle, the tight end barreling through a few Colgate defenders to get into the end zone.

Colgate won the field battle over the next few drives after that, and it looked like the Raiders might get their first points of the day when they started on their own 43 and drove to Penn's 16. However, the drive stalled there and then Luke Vogeler was wide left on a 33-yard field goal.

Given the ball and some momentum, Penn drove for its second score of the day. The big play in the six-play, 80-yard drive was a Sayin pass over the middle to Alex Haight behind the 'Gate secondary; Haight was caught from behind but not after a 55-yard gain. Two plays later, Sayin hit Casilli in the back of the end zone on the final play of the first quarter and the Quakers' lead was 14-0 after one.

The change of field served as a change of fortune for Colgate's offense. The Raiders marched 83 yards to their first points of the day, the touchdown coming when quarterback Zach Osborne kept it and ran straight up the middle for 31 yards. The 13-play drive took nearly the entire first half of the second quarter (7:26).

Penn got a great return from Julien Stokes on the ensuing kickoff, out to the Quakers' 40-yard line. The Red and Blue marched all the way to Colgate's 2-yard line before deciding to try a field goal on fourth down. The kick was wide left, though, and the margin remained seven points.

The Red and Blue's next drive yielded a more favorable result. Starting the drive with exactly three minutes left in the half, the Quakers needed just over a minute to drive 75 yards in only four plays, the final one coming when Sayin lofted a pass down the left sideline that Richardson caught over a 'Gate defender as he fell into the end zone. The play went for 36 yards and put Penn's lead back at two scores at the break, 21-7.

Colgate received the kickoff to start the second half and turned it into three points when Vogeler nailed a 35-yard field goal that made the score 21-10.

Penn's first drive of the half was defined by chunk yardage, the Quakers gaining first downs on each of their first three plays and four of the first five. The drive ultimately stalled at Colgate's 4-yard line but Sam Smith was true from 21 yards to make the score 24-10.

Colgate got it back to a one-score game with 9:58 left in the fourth when Jake Stearney rolled out to the right and found Brady Hutchinson just inside the right pylon. That capped a 14-play drive that ate up more than eight minutes of game time and bridged the third and fourth periods.

Penn was able to get the margin back to ten, Smith kicking a 36-yard field goal that made the score 27-17 with 5:21 left for what would turn out to be the final points of the game.

HANOVER, N.H. – The University of Pennsylvania football team engaged in another close contest with Ivy rival Dartmouth on Saturday, the Big Green escaping with a 20-17 victory on the day that they dedicated the new Buddy Teevens Stadium at Memorial Field.

The teams were never separated by more than one score the entire day, but Dartmouth was able to hold on to the victory with a 21-play drive that ate up nearly the entire fourth quarter which did not allow Penn to formulate a final comeback.

Penn falls to 1-2 overall while the Big Green remain undefeated at 3-0. Saturday's game was the Ivy opener for both teams.

It took nearly the entire first quarter for anyone to score, but the Big Green drew first blood when Jackson Proctor found Chris Corbo in the left corner of the end zone and the Dartmouth receiver caught the jump ball in front of a Penn defender. The six-play drive covered just 48 yards, with the big play a 28-yard reception when Proctor found Jackson Namian up the middle behind the Quakers secondary that got the ball to the Red and Blue's 6-yard line.

Penn's first points came in the Quakers' first drive of the second quarter. The drive covered 72 yards in eight plays and ended with a bit of trickery, Penn lining up Hosley next to backup QB Liam O'Brien in the shotgun formation. Both players took a step to the right before the snap, so the ball went directly to Hosley who took it up the middle to paydirt

Dartmouth's first play after that touchdown was a long pass downfield that was tipped away from the initial receiver by a pair of Penn defenders. However, the Big Green's Grayson O'Bara was johnny-on-the-spot and made a diving catch, the unorthodox play covering 43 yards and getting the ball to the Quakers' 26. Penn's defense recovered, though, and the Big Green had to settle for a 42-yard Owen Zalc field goal that put the hosts back in front, 10-7.

Penn's offense kept the momentum going, however, again finding the end zone to take its first lead of the day. Hosley got major chunks of the yardage, 22 of them on a reception and another 16 on a rush. So it only seemed fair that he'd take it in for the final yard, again up the middle.

It looked like Dartmouth might get some more points just before halftime after Desmin Jackson reeled off a 42-yard gain on third-and-2 from the Big Green's 41. However, just two plays later David McMorris sacked Proctor and forced him to fumble the ball, Brady Ioannidis falling on it to preserve the lead to the break.

Dartmouth received the ball to start the second half and used that opening drive to go back in front. The nine-play, 75-yard drive ended with Proctor finding Paxton Scott open in the flat, and the Big Green receiver shaking off a Penn tackler to easily scamper into the end zone for a 12-yard TD.

Dartmouth doubled its lead on the very first play of the fourth quarter, as Zalc's 39-yard field goal attempt slid off the right post and through the uprights to make the score 20-14. That culminated a 15-play drive that took place entirely in the third.

Penn got those points back on its next drive, taking the ball down to Dartmouth's 26 before stalling. Sam Smith split the middle on his 43-yard attempt to make the score 20-17 with 10:41 left.

Penn would only see the ball one more time after that. Dartmouth put together a classic old-school drive, using 21 plays to cover 74 yards and more importantly burning all but 11 seconds off the clock. Of particular note, the Big Green went 5-for-5 on third-down plays to keep the drive moving.

By the time the Quakers defense stiffened—they stuffed the Big Green on two plays at the 1-yard line to keep their hosts out of the end zone—there were just 11 seconds left. Penn's offense ran two plays but could only get out to its 20 before time ran out.

PHILADELPHIA – The University of Pennsylvania football team closed out the non-conference portion of its 2024 season with a 31-21 win over Bucknell on Saturday afternoon at Franklin Field.

Penn evened its overall record at 2-2, while Bucknell is also at .500 at 3-3.

Bucknell received to start the game and immediately flipped the field, TJ Cadden taking the opening kickoff nearly to midfield. The Bison then drove all the way to Penn's 20-yard line, but on fourth down they tried to outmuscle the Quakers on the line and were unsuccessful, the Red and Blue stacking up Paul Neel short of the line to gain.

Penn's offense took flight immediately, with an eight-play drive to paydirt. The key plays were a screen to Owens that went for 44 yards to the Bison's 22, and then after a holding penalty brought the ball back to the 32 Bing ran around right end for 27 yards. Bing then finished the drive on the next play, going up the gut for the final five yards to make it 7-0.

Bucknell came right back to level the game with 10-play drive for its first points of the game. The Bison used a nice mix of rushes and short passes to cover the 78 yards, Tariq Thomas running it through the left side of the line for the final nine. It was 7-7 after one.

Julien Stokes took the ensuing kickoff into Bucknell territory, but the Quakers were stymied at the Bison's 6-yard line when Sayin was sacked by John Schlendorf on third down. That left Sam Smith with a 30-yard field goal, which he put through the uprights to make the score 10-7.

Bucknell had a chance to tie it up for a second time, driving all the way to Penn's 11, but Matt Schearer's 26-yard field goal was wide right. However, Aidan Sayin's pass was picked off near midfield when his intended receiver slipped running his route, and given a second life Schearer kicked a 44-yard field goal that again was wide right. Penn's lead was still 10-7 at the half.

Stokes returned the second-half kickoff to Penn's 42-yard line, and then Sayin went to work as he completed four of five passes to move the ball to Bucknell's 36. Hosley took it from there, bouncing through the right side and running to daylight. His footrace with a pair of Bucknell defenders ended with him diving and knocking the ball off the right pylon for a touchdown that extended Penn's lead to double digits at 17-7.

Bucknell was moving the ball down the field on its first drive of the second half, as well, but on a third-down play at Penn's 40 Bison QB Ralph Rucker IV was sacked and stripped of the ball by Carter Janki, with Sam Carlson falling on it for the Quakers at the 38.

Penn took advantage. Once again mixing the pass and the run, the Quakers needed just seven plays to cover the 62 yards and again find paydirt. Hosley again scored it, this time on a nice misdirection play that saw him roll through a massive hole on the left side of the line for a 13-yard TD.

Bucknell got seven of them back on its next possession. The Bison drove 75 yards on nine plays—converting a fourth and 6 along the way—and Rucker found Nate Anderson in the back left corner of the end zone for an 11-yard touchdown to make the score 24-14 late in the third.

Penn needed just three plays to re-establish its 17-point lead. Bing ran twice, for three and 10 yards, and then Sayin found Richardson behind the Bison defense and hit him in stride for a 49-yard score to make it 31-14 after three.

Bucknell again answered with another 75-yard drive, this one taking 11 plays and a little more than four minutes of game clock. Thomas was the scorer for the second time on the day, making the score 31-21 with a little less than 12 minutes left in the game. However, that ended up being all the scoring in the game.

PHILADELPHIA – Searching for a way to come back from a first-half deficit, the University of Pennsylvania football made a late fourth-quarter chargeultimately falling to Columbia, 23-17, Saturday at Franklin Field.

Penn falls to 0-2 in Ivy League play while the Lions—receiving votes in the latest AFCA coaches poll—improve their conference record to 2-0.

Opening up the first quarter, Penn received the ball and slowly made its way up the field but could not find its way into the endzone. Likewise, Columbia was unsuccessful on its first drive, giving the ball directly back to the Quakers. Miscommunication on a pass play from Sayin allowed the Lions' Aaron Brebnor to intercept the pass.

Columbia took advantage of the opportunity leading to the first score of the day in the form of a touchdown pass from Chase Goodwin to Marcus Libman, ending the first quarter with a 7-0 lead.

The Quakers didn't give up fast, converting on two 4th and short plays on the same drive. However, they weren't able to overcome the Lions' defense, giving up the ball on Penn's 31. Columbia kept up its stamina to continue down the field including a 26-yard pass from Goodwin to Bryson Canty. Ultimately, the Lions didn't find the end zone, flipping the ball back to Penn.

Penn's next drive ended with a second Sayin interception, picked off by Columbia's Hayden McDonald, running it back for 19 yards to get inside Penn's 18. Goodwin and Canty linked up to give Columbia a double-digit lead at 14-0 halfway through the second quarter.

Sayin and the offense took their time winding down the clock, paying off in dividends as Malachi Hosley rushed up the gut for a yard, granting Penn's first score of the day and cutting the Lions' lead to seven points. Columbia had a minute left to work with in the quarter and were able to find a scoring opportunity which led to Hugo Merry's 29-yard field goal to conclude the first half with a 17-7 edge.

Columbia tried to carry that same momentum into the second half, but quickly gave back the ball on a three and out. The Red and Blue took measures into their own hands, completing a 13-play drive for 80 yards as Sayin ran the ball 18 yards and flipped over the pylon to trim the deficit to 17-14.

The Quakers had a spark of energy that pushed Lions close to the goal line after John Lista swatted down an intended pass from Goodwin to Canty. In return, Goodwin threw a 36-yard pass to Braden Dougherty to push the team further down the field. The Lions found themselves in scoring position but after a quarterback sack from Talley, they conceded just a field goal for Merry.

While Penn retained the ball for another offensive possession, Sayin completed just one pass to Owens. Penn handed the ball back to Columbia with 1:25 left in the third quarter, but had to work quickly to score. The Lions had two back-to-back fundamental plays leading them down the field fast. Goodwin completed a 29-yard pass to Canty and then Joey Giorgi ran for 30 yards to run out the clock.

Continuing on into the fourth quarter, Columbia settled for another field goal by Merry to extend its lead to two possessions at 23-14. After the Red and Blue went three and out, the Lions took over at their own 28, making their way down the field with Merry missing what could have been the dagger.

With half a quarter remaining in regulation, Penn took over with Sayin completing a 25-yard pass to Jared Richardson to get back in Columbia territory. The Quakers couldn't find any luck in the end zone turning to Sam Smith with a 25-yard field goal, getting it back to a 23-17 game. In the last few minutes, Columbia took their time to run down the clock, eventually giving Penn the ball back with just 14 seconds remaining.

Sayin found Owens for 24 yards, who then got out of bounds with six seconds left. Another quick pass from Sayin to Owens went seven yards as the senior QB was sacked for a loss of six yards to end the contest.

PHILADELPHIA – The University of Pennsylvania football team dropped a 31-10 decision to Yale in an Ivy League game played Friday night at Franklin Field. The game aired to a national TV audience on ESPNU.

Penn fell to 2-4 overall and remains winless in Ivy League play at 0-3. Yale won for the first time in Ivy play (1-2) and improved to 4-2 overall.

Yale wasted little time putting points on the board Friday night, receiving the opening kickoff and immediately driving down the field to paydirt. The Bulldogs needed 11 plays to cover 75 yards and got their points when Grant Jordan looked left and found David Pantelis for a 3-yard touchdown pass.

Penn went three-and-out on its opening drive, but got an immediate break when Pantelis tried to handle Albert Jang's line-drive punt as it bounced toward him. The ball flew past him and was recovered by Davis Ellis, giving the Quakers the ball on Yale's 16-yard line. However, on the very first play from scrimmage Abu Kamara forced Sayin to fumble and Kevin Jourdain recovered to give Yale the ball right back.

Having gotten the momentum back, Yale ran roughshod through Penn's defense. The Bulldogs ran five plays and gained first downs on all of them, the last going for 19 yards as Jordan found Chase Nenad up the middle and he bulled the final few yards through a pair of Quaker defenders into the end zone. That made the score 14-0 midway through the first.

Penn went to Liam O'Brien at quarterback on its next drive, and the junior moved the Quakers to their first points early in the second quarter when they got the ball down to Yale's 8-yard line before stalling. Sam Smith kicked a 25-yard field goal to make the score 14-3.

Yale found success passing to the right sideline a few times on its next drive, but the Bulldogs went that way one too many times and Josh Narcisse easily picked off Jordan at the Yale 6. He returned the ball nearly to midfield, but O'Brien was sacked on first down and Penn went three-and-out. Jang's punt was a beauty, however, and good hustle by Jayden Drayton allowed the Quakers to down the ball inside Yale's 5.

Yale went three-and-out, and Penn got the ball into Bulldogs territory. The Quakers had fourth-and-1 and tried some trickery, but Yale's defense sniffed it out and Kamara intercepted O'Brien's desperation throw into traffic right at the line of scrimmage.

Yale turned the turnover into another touchdown. The Bulldogs needed six plays to go 60 yards, a good chunk of them coming when Jordan flung a pass down the right sideline that was just out of reach of a Penn defender before being caught by a diving Pantelis. Three plays later, the Yale QB rolled out of trouble to his left and fired a pass that was caught by a diving Joey Felton—the catch was upheld after a review—for a 20-yard score that pushed Yale in front, 21-3.

Penn had 2:44 left in the half to make something happen. The Quakers only needed two minutes, driving 71 yards on just five plays that started with O'Brien finding Stokes for 12 yards and Alex Haight for 19. The junior QB called his own number on the final two plays, the first going for 12 yards and the second covering the final five yards over the goal line. Yale's lead was 21-10 at the break.

Penn started the second half with the ball but sputtered at midfield and punted. Yale's first drive was far more successful, the Bulldogs going 77 yards on nine plays. On fourth-and-goal at the 1-yard line, Jordan rolled to the right to escape a pair of Penn defenders and found a wide open Luke Foster in the back of the end zone for the score to make it 28-10.

Penn looked like it might answer, driving all the way to Yale's 1-yard line on first-and-goal. However, three straight rushes were stuffed and the Bulldogs took over on downs at the end of the third quarter.

Yale covered nearly all of the 99 yards on the ensuing drive, Penn finally stopping the Bulldogs four yards short of paydirt and forcing a 21-yard field goal that was good. The drive took nearly seven minutes off the clock, though, and less than nine minutes remained with Yale up, 31-10.

That proved to be all the scoring on the night as the Bulldogs kept Penn at bay the rest of the way.

PROVIDENCE, R.I. – The University of Pennsylvania football team survived a frantic fourth quarter on Saturday afternoon, holding off Brown for a 38-28 win at Brown Stadium. The victory marked the Quakers' first Ivy League triumph of the season and snapped a three-game conference slide.

Penn (3-4, 1-3 Ivy) appeared to have the game in hand when it stretched its lead to 38-14 with just over nine minutes remaining, but Brown (3-4, 2-2) refused to go quietly. The Bears scored twice in the closing stretch and even tacked on a safety, cutting the deficit to 10 and putting pressure on the Quakers late. A failed two-point conversion and a timely first down by Penn's offense ultimately sealed the outcome.

The Quakers set the tone in the first quarter. After the defense forced back-to-back three-and-outs, quarterback Liam O'Brien engineered a balanced 67-yard drive. On third down near midfield, he rolled right and hit Bisi Owens on a spectacular toe-tap grab to keep the march alive. Two plays later, O'Brien found Jared Richardson in the corner of the end zone for a 10-yard touchdown and an early 7-0 lead.

Brown answered in the second quarter with an 11-play, 69-yard drive capped by Jake Willcox's 31-yard strike to Mark Mahoney. But Penn quickly regained control thanks to special teams. Jacob Cisneros broke through the line to block a punt, and Cole Olsztyn recovered at the Bears' 25. On the very next play, Malachi Hosley slipped through the right side of the line for a 25-yard touchdown run.

O'Brien added to the lead late in the half, grinding out a 10-play drive in the final three minutes. He picked up a crucial first down with a determined one-yard plunge, then muscled into the end zone on the next snap to send Penn into halftime up 21-7.

The Quakers struck again immediately after the break. Hosley ripped off an 18-yard run into Brown territory, then lined up in the Wildcat formation and dashed 11 yards around the left side for his second score. The sequence highlighted a dominant afternoon for the sophomore, who went over 100 rushing yards for the third time this season.

Though Brown responded with a short-yardage touchdown from Qwentin Brown, Penn's offense continued to click. A 30-yard Sam Smith field goal and a 15-yard touchdown strike from O'Brien to Justin Cayenne early in the fourth quarter stretched the lead to 38-14. O'Brien's poise and distribution stood out, as he connected with Owens, Richardson, and Joshua Casilli for chunk plays throughout the game.

Just when it seemed over, the Bears mounted their late rally. Running back Matt Childs scored to trim the margin to 38-20, though the two-point try failed. On the ensuing kickoff, Penn's Julien Stokes fumbled, pinning the Quakers deep in their own territory. A sack in the end zone resulted in a safety, and Brown quickly capitalized with another touchdown—Willcox hitting Solomon Miller on fourth down to make it 38-28 with just over three minutes left.

But Brown's comeback ended there. The Bears' onside kick attempt sailed out of bounds, and Penn turned to its ground game. Hosley carried the load, picking up the first down needed to drain the clock and secure a hard-fought road win.

ITHACA, N.Y. – The University of Pennsylvania football team turned a slow start into a historic afternoon on Saturday, exploding for a program-record 67 points in a 67-49 victory over Cornell at Schoellkopf Field. The win marked the most points Penn has scored in a single game since Ivy League play began in 1956 and capped one of the most prolific offensive performances in school history.

Junior quarterback Liam O'Brien was the star of the day, rewriting the record books with six touchdown passes—breaking the single-game Penn mark—and accounting for seven total scores, also a program record. Behind his arm and a balanced rushing attack, the Quakers outlasted Cornell in the 130th edition of the rivalry, improving to 4-4 overall and 2-3 in Ivy play while extending their edge in the Trustees' Cup series to 21-9.

Cornell came out firing, racing to a 21-7 lead in the first quarter. Big Red quarterback Jameson Wang opened with a rushing score, then added a touchdown pass before Cornell surprised Penn with a fake punt that went 74 yards for another score. O'Brien, however, immediately answered with a long strike to Bisi Owens and a short touchdown pass to Julien Stokes to get the Quakers on the board. He later found Jared Richardson in the end zone for the first of three connections between the duo on the day, cutting into the deficit.

Penn's defense helped swing momentum in the second quarter. Julian Talley intercepted Wang to set up a Sam Smith field goal, and senior Shiloh Means added another pick just before halftime. Smith drilled a 45-yarder in the closing seconds of the half to make it 28-26, keeping the Quakers well within striking distance after 30 minutes of frenetic play.

From there, O'Brien and the Penn offense erupted. The junior scored on a quarterback keeper early in the third to give the Quakers their first lead. After Cornell briefly regained the edge, Malachi Hosley powered in for a 10-yard touchdown run to make it 39-35. O'Brien then found Jacob Cisneros for the senior's first career touchdown catch before connecting with Richardson for a 30-yard score on the next drive.

By the time O'Brien hit Owens for his record-setting sixth touchdown pass, Penn had pulled ahead comfortably. Hosley added his second rushing score of the afternoon to cap the Quakers' tally at 67 points, while the defense forced three interceptions and held strong after a shaky start.

Cornell continued to trade punches—Wang threw for multiple touchdowns, including three to Samuel Musungu—but the Big Red couldn't keep pace. A late touchdown in the closing seconds only narrowed the final margin to 18.

O'Brien finished with over 350 passing yards to go with his six touchdown throws and one rushing score. Richardson hauled in three touchdown receptions, Owens and Stokes each added one, and Cisneros recorded the first TD catch of his career. Hosley complemented the aerial attack with two rushing touchdowns and nearly 200 yards on the ground.

When the dust settled, the two teams had combined for 116 points—the highest-scoring game in Penn history—and more than 1,000 yards of offense.

PHILADELPHIA – The University of Pennsylvania football team led three different times against No. 22/20 Harvard on Saturday at Franklin Field, but the Crimson showed their championship mettle and pulled out a 31-28 win.

Harvard's Dylan Fingersh hit a 21-yard field goal as time expired, allowing the Crimson (8-1, 5-1) to escape Franklin Field with the three-point win and a share of the Ivy League title. Penn fell to 4-5 overall, 2-4 in Ivy play with the hard-luck loss.

Harvard took the opening kickoff and marched down to Penn's 20-yard line. However, Carter Janki sacked Harvard QB Jaden Craig between a pair of incompletions and that forced Kieran Corr to take a 43-yard field goal that was wide left.

The teams traded turnovers near midfield midway through the first quarter, Craig coughing up the ball when he was absolutely leveled by John Lista in the open field, and then Liam O'Brien getting stripped on a QB keeper just three plays later. Things were still scoreless after one.

After utilizing the run almost exclusively in the first quarter, Penn opened it up to start the second. The result was the first score of the game, as O'Brien found Bisi Owens up the middle for a 31-yard strike. The catch was Owens' second of the drive, both of them coming after the switching of ends.

Harvard immediately responded. The Crimson methodically moved the ball down the field, mixing the pass and the run, and leveled things at 7-7 when Shane McLaughlin took it up the gut for the final four yards. The drive took 14 plays and more than six minutes.

Penn used the deep strike to go right back in front. The Quakers looked like they might be in some trouble when a personal foul penalty put them on their own 29, but instead O'Brien aired it out down the right sideline and the ball settled into the arms of an in-stride Owens who was able to take it into the end zone. The 66-yard scoring play was Penn's longest this season and gave the Red and Blue a 14-7 lead at the half.

Hosley then got the second half off a raucous start, taking a handoff, bouncing off the left side and racing 55 yards to Harvard's 15-yard line on the first play of the third period. In the process, he pushed past the 1,000-yard mark for the season. Five plays later, O'Brien rolled out to the right side and found Mike Fraraccio just inside the sideline to double Penn's lead to 14, at 21-7.

Harvard came right back to make it a one-score game again. Charles DePrima was under center at this point—Craig was lost for the game on the big hit in the first—and he proved to be elusive, running three times for a total of 41 yards including a 27-yard scramble. He then hit Xaviah Bascon for a 23-yard scoring pass that made the score 21-14.

Penn's next drive stalled near midfield, and the Crimson kept the momentum going with another scoring drive that tied things at 21-21. Starting on its 13-yard line, Harvard went the wrong way on first down when DePrima was sacked for a two-yard loss. However, that was offset by the next play when he gained 15 yards for a first down and another 15 was tacked on by a late hit. Just four plays after that, Bascon ran it nine yards up the middle for the score.

Penn's ensuing drive rolled into the fourth quarter, and it ended with the Quakers taking their third lead of the day. O'Brien again called his own number, scrambling four yards to paydirt to cap off a nine-play, 75-yard drive that took 5:35 of game time.

For the third time in the game, Harvard tied it up. DePrima scored the touchdown, getting around the right side of the line and making a few would-be tacklers miss before diving into the end zone from nine yards out.

Penn's next drive took the game to the two-minute timeout, finishing at Harvard's 24-yard line which set the stage for a 41-yard Sam Smith field goal. Out of the stoppage, Penn was called for a false start which made it a 46-yard kick. Smith pushed it just wide of the right goalpost.

That set the stage for Harvard to march down the field and set up Fingersh for the winning kick, which was snapped with just two seconds left on the clock and went through the uprights as time expired.

PRINCETON, N.J. – The University of Pennsylvania football team ended the 2024 season with a 20-17 loss at Princeton on Saturday afternoon. The Quakers were up 17-10 at halftime, but a pair of third-quarter turnovers turned into 10 Princeton points and another turnover late in the fourth killed a potential game-winning drive in Tigers territory.

Penn's season ends at 4-6 overall while Princeton finishes 3-7, and both teams end the Ivy campaign at 2-5.

The first quarter featured a rarity—scoring plays on the first and last plays of the quarter, with no points in between.

Starting at its own 25 off the opening kickoff, Princeton started the day by handing off to John Volker, who found a seam in the right side of the line and burst through it into daylight. He was in the end zone, untouched, 75 yards later. Penn then committed a self-inflicted wound on the ensuing kickoff return, the returner booting the ball out of bounds at his own 4-yard line. The Quakers went three-and-out but were able to escape further damage.

Things settled down after that, and Penn finally drew level on the last play of the first quarter when Liam O'Brien rolled to his left and hit Julien Stokes with a short ball. The junior turned and took the ball into the end zone, beating a pair of defenders to the left pylon for the seven-yard score. The play capped a 14-play drive that took more than seven minutes off the clock and left things tied after one, 7-7.

Penn used another methodical drive to take its first lead of the game midway through the second. The Quakers used eight plays to march to Princeton's 7-yard line before stalling out, but Sam Smith split the uprights with his 24-yard field goal to make the score 10-7.

Princeton responded on its next drive to tie things back up. The Tigers drove 52 yards, converting a pair of third downs along the way, and threw two balls into the end zone that were well defended by the Quakers defense. As a result, Jeffrey Sexton had to boot a 41-yard field goal that sailed through the uprights and tied things at 10-10.

Penn had 1:38 to work with after the ensuing kickoff, and the Quakers didn't need that much time as they quickly moved the ball down the field for another touchdown. The scoring play was a six-yard throw by O'Brien that found an open Bisi Owens in the middle of the end zone with just 16 seconds left. The nine-play drive allowed the Red and Blue to take a 17-10 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Princeton scored the only points in the second half, all of them coming off a pair of Penn fumbles in what was a mistake-filled half that saw the teams combine for six turnovers.

First, a Penn running back was stripped of the ball on the Quakers' 37 early in the third, giving possession to the Tigers. The Red and Blue defense held strong, stopping Princeton at the 16, but Sexton was good on his 33-yard field goal which made it 17-13.

The Tigers' then scored a defensive touchdown directly off the next Penn turnover. O'Brien was sacked deep in Penn territory and relieved of the ball, which Caden Wright picked up at the 6. He easily rumbled into the end zone and suddenly the Tigers were in front, 20-17.

It was a Princeton turnover right at the end of the period that gave Penn the ball, however, as Shiloh Means settled under an underthrown ball by Blaine Hipa for the interception. The Quakers then moved the ball well into Princeton territory and O'Brien sent a pass toward Josh Casilli in the right side of the end zone. However, Evan Haynie went up with Casilli and snatched the ball away for the interception and touchback.

The Penn defense held, and it looked like they created a massive break when Devin Malloy forced a fumble that Means picked up at Princeton's 38-yard line and returned all the way to the Tigers 7. Incredibly, after a review the referees called the play an incomplete pass and the hosts were able to punt the ball all the way to Penn's 24.

Penn had two more possessions but came up empty both times. The first ended on downs, Hosley unable to get the final yard on a fourth-and-1 on the Penn side of midfield. The second—and, as it turned out, final—possession came after another Means pick but ended when O'Brien was stripped of the ball as he crossed into Princeton territory. The Tigers recovered, then were able to get a pair of first downs from there to run out the final four minutes on the clock.

GEORGE A. MUNGER HEAD COACH RAY PRIORE

Head Coach Ray Priore

10th Season (39th at Penn)
Albany '85, '86
@CoachPriore

IVY LEAGUE CHAMPIONSHIPS:
1988, 1993, 1994, 1998, 2000, 2002, 2003, 2009, 2010, 2012, 2015, 2016

Family First. Championships Will Follow.

Ray Priore officially took over as the 22nd George A. Munger Head Coach of Football at Penn on Dec. 1, 2014 and established a "family first" mantra which enabled his teams to band together and claim championships in each of his first two seasons.

Whether by bringing on board the inspirational Vhito DeCapria, continuing Penn's long-standing commitment to the Be The Match bone marrow donor registry drive, helping launch successful pre-game Fan Fests for the University community or bringing generations of Quakers together for the Penn Football Family Spring Game and BBQ, Priore has made certain that every member of the Penn Football legacy feels connected to the program.

On the field, Priore guided the Quakers to back-to-back Ivy League championships in his first two seasons at the helm – becoming just the second head coach in Ancient Eight history to win titles in each of his first two seasons and the first since 1971-72. In his third season, Priore's team show tremendous resilience and grit to win its final four Ivy League games after dropping its first three by a combined 11 points.

Penn began the 2024 season battling FBS-bound Delaware close on the road before picking up victories against Colgate, Bucknell, Brown, and Cornell. Ten players earned All-Ivy honors, making it three straight seasons with double-digit selections for the first time since 2015-17. The season was highlighted by a standout campaign for sophomore running back Malachi Hosley, who took home Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year and unanimous first-team All-Ivy. Hosley is the third player during Priore's tenure to hoist the Asa S. Bushnell Cup, and for the second consecutive season. In addition, Hosley was a finalist for the Walter Payton Award and earned All-America honors from FCS Football Central (second team) and Stats Perform (third team). Hosley made a start in all 10 games and led the Ivy League in all rushing categories including carries (191), yards (1,192), touchdowns (9), yards per carry (6.2), and yards per game (119.2). The Quakers also enjoyed a strong season on special teams, ranked first nationally in punt return defense (0.20 ypg) and ninth in blocked punts (2), as senior punter Albert Jang earned first-team All-Ivy honors and was named a semifinalist for FCS Punter of the Year.

The Quakers wrapped up a 6-4 overall record in 2023, going 3-4 in one of the most competitive Ivy campaigns in conference history, in which Penn had a shot to play for an Ivy championship up until the final whistle of the penultimate weekend of the year. The Red and Blue began the season with back-to-back road victories over Colgate (20-6) and Bucknell (37-21) and rounded out the unbeaten non-conference slate with a 42-39 overtime win over Georgetown at Franklin Field. Penn knocked off Columbia, 20-17, and took down Yale, the reigning Ancient Eight champs, for a second straight year, 27-17. The Quakers won on Homecoming by defeating visiting Cornell, 23-8, to hold onto the Trustees' Cup for the second year in a row. Under Priore's guidance, the program saw the emergence of several offensive weapons including freshman running back Malachi Hosley, the Ivy League Rookie of the Year and sophomore wide receiver Jared Richardson, a first-team All-Ivy selection. Thirteen Quakers grabbed All-Ivy honors, while senior defensive lineman Joey Slackman became the program's 10th player to earn the Asa S. Bushnell Cup as Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year and the second under Priore. In addition to becoming Penn's first Rookie of the Year honoree since 1993, Hosley was named Freshman All-America by FCS Football Central, Phil Steele and Stats Perform while Slackman earned All-America laurels from Phil Steele (third team) and the AFCA (second team).

In 2022, Penn completed a very successful season, going 8-2 overall with a 5-2 record in Ivy play. Recording the program's most victories since 2010 and the most with Priore in charge, the Quakers ended the year with a second-place finish in the Ivy standings. Under Priore's guidance, Penn won its first six games, going 6-0 to start a season for the first time since 2003. Victories included a double-overtime, 23-17 thriller against Dartmouth on national television, a 34-14 home win over Columbia, a 20-13 homecoming victory against eventual Ivy champion Yale and a come-from-behind, 20-19 win at #22 Princeton to close out the year. 10 players earned All-Ivy selections, with seven players getting onto the first team, the program's most since 2010. Senior defensive lineman Jake Heimlicher was named a Third-team Associated Press All-American and was a finalist for the Buck Buchanan Award, awarded to the FCS National Defensive Player of the Year. For the second time in his career, Priore was named a finalist for the Eddie Robinson Award, the FCS National Coach of the Year.

In 2017, Priore coached 14 All-Ivy players, including five first-team All-Ivy selections. Justin Watson (Offensive) and Nick Miller (Defensive) were finalists for the Bushnell Cup as Ivy League Players of the Year, giving Priore five Bushnell Cup finalists over his first three seasons as a head coach.

GEORGE A. MUNGER HEAD COACH RAY PRIORE

A 6-4 record in 2018 included a perfect 3-0 record in non-conference games and secured Penn's fourth consecutive winning season -- no other Ivy program has been above .500 each of the last four seasons. Nine Quakers were named All-Ivy, while linebacker Nick Miller was a finalist for FCS Defensive Player of the Year and freshman cornerback Mohammed Diakite was a finalist for FCS Rookie of the Year.

In April of 2018, Watson became Priore's first player as head coach to hear his name called in the NFL Draft when Tampa Bay selected him in the fifth round as Penn's first NFL Draft Pick since 2002. A five-time All-American, Watson blossomed under during Priore's tenure, setting Penn's career records in receptions, receiving yards, receiving touchdowns and all-purpose yards while also establishing new Ivy League records in career 100-yard games, consecutive games with a reception, and consecutive games with a receiving touchdown

Priore coached the Quakers to their eighth back-to-back championship run with a second consecutive 6-1 Ivy League run in 2016. The Red and Blue were a perfect 3-0 on NBC Sports Network in 2016, bringing Priore's all-time record in Friday night showcases on NBCSN to 4-0.

2016 saw Priore defeat a Top-25 opponent for the second consecutive season as the Quakers stunned No. 22/24 Harvard with two touchdowns in the final 15 seconds in a 27-14 win to put Penn back in the title hunt. One week later, Penn's 18th Ivy League crown was secured with a 42-20 drubbing of Cornell in Ithaca.

In 2015, Priore became just the seventh head coach in Ivy League football history to win an Ivy League championship in his first year at the helm as the Red and Blue went 6-1 in the Ivy League – earning Priore Ivy League Coach of the Year honors in the process. In addition, Priore's first season as head coach earned him a selection as a finalist for the STATS FCS Coach of the Year Award.

Priore's first career win as head coach was a signature one. He led his team up the Main Line to No. 4 Villanova and secured Penn's first win over the Wildcats since 1911 -- also the program's first-ever road victory over a Top-5 opponent. Later in 2015, Priore would take his team to Cambridge and knock off No. 12 Harvard, 35-25, to give Penn its first season with two road wins over Top-25 opponents in its storied football history.
Prior to taking the helm of the Quakers, he spent 16 seasons as Penn's defensive coordinator and secondaries coach, and nine as the associate head coach.

While Priore spent his first 28 years as a coach on the defensive side of the ball, he has set up his team to excel on the offensive side as head coach. In 2015, the Quakers were second in the Ivy League -- and 24th nationally -- in scoring offense -- averaging 32.9 points-per-game. First-team All-Ivy quarterback Alek Torgersen was second among all FCS signal-callers in completion percentage (69.1%) while third-team All-American, first-team All-Ivy wide receiver, and runner-up for Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year Justin Watson led the Ivy League in receptions, receiving yards, and touchdowns.

In 2009, Priore finished as runner-up for the National Coordinator of the Year award after guiding Penn's defense to the top of the FCS. How dominant were the Quakers?

* Penn finished the season ranked No. 1 in the nation in total defense, allowing just 217.6 yards per game.
* The Quakers were also tops in the country in scoring defense as the only team in the country that gave up less than 10 points per game (9.6).
* The 2009 season marked the fewest points allowed by a Penn defense in a 10-game season since 1927.
* Penn gave up no more than seven points in any of the last five games, and gave up a total of just 10 points in the fourth quarter all year.
* At home, Penn's defense gave up just two touchdowns all season and just 17 total points in five games (3.2 per game).
* During one stretch, Penn's defense held opponents scoreless for 183 minutes, 42 seconds. A span of more than 12 quarters without giving up a single point.
* The Quakers, who also led the Ivy League in every major defensive category, were second in the FCS in rushing defense and pass efficiency defense. In all, Penn finished in the top 10 in the nation in eight defensive categories.
* Penn was the least penalized team in all of Division I (FBS and FCS). More disciplined than Navy, who finished second.
* Penn led the nation in red zone defense. The opposition did not score on half of its red zone possessions. In fact, on 22 attempts, opponents had five turnovers and just seven touchdowns.

In 2008, Priore directed a squad that ranked fourth in the nation in total defense and scoring defense, ninth in the country in rushing defense and 13th in pass defense. The Penn defense, which also finished first in the Ivy League in total defense and pass defense, had seven All-Ivy honorees, including first-teamer and All-America defensive back Chris Wynn.

Penn's Ivy title season in 2003 was a typical campaign for the Red and Blue defense under Priore, as the Quakers brought home their seventh Ivy trophy under his direction. They led the Ivy League in scoring and rushing defense (fourth in the NCAA) for the third-straight year and also ranked first in the Ivy League in total defense and turnover margin.

Priore's defenses have always been among the best in the Ivy League and the nation, but perhaps the only one to rival the 2009 team's dominance was his 2002 unit, which held Ivy opponents to 43.6 yards per game on the ground. That year, Penn's title-winning defense also ranked tops in I-AA in rush defense (55.8 ypg) and scoring defense (13.2 ppg) and first in the Ivy League in total defense (275.6 ypg), scoring defense, rush defense, pass efficiency defense (98.6 rating) and fewest first downs allowed (149).

Priore resides in Mt. Laurel, N.J., with his wife, Colleen and daughters, Jenna, Madison and Kristen.

DEFENSIVE/OFFENSIVE COORDINATORS

Bob Benson

Defensive Coordinator/
Associate Head Coach
10th Season
Vermont '86/UAlbany '87
@CoachBobBenson

Bob Benson enters his 10th season with the Quakers in 2025, serving as defensive coordinator and associate head coach.

Benson's defenses helped Penn win Ivy League championships in two of his first three seasons on staff in University City. In 2016, his unit ranked No. 18 in FCS in Scoring Defense – allowing 21.3 points per game. In Ivy League play, his defense allowed just 16.7 points per game – ranked No. 2 in the Ancient Eight.

The Quakers' defense found success again under Benson's tutelage in 2024, ranked fourth in the Ivy League in points allowed per game (26.9), while finishing in the top half in red-zone defense (third at 77.3 percent) and rushing defense (fourth at 147.2 ypg). Four members of the defense—Shiloh Means (first team), Carter Janki (second), John Lista (second), and Jack Fairman (HM)—garnered All-Ivy recognition. While coaching the safeties, Benson mentored Means to another standout campaign, leading the team with three interceptions and a team-high 11 pass breakups, which ranked third among Ivy defenders.

Penn again dominated on the defensive side of the ball in 2023, among the nation's leaders in multiple team statistical categories. The Quakers ranked 12th in rushing defense (102.5 ypg), 13th in total defense (304 ypg), 19th in sacks per game (2.60), 19th in passing efficiency defense (115.94) and 26th in scoring defense (21.7 ppg). Joey Slackman–the Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year–finished the year ranked 27th in the nation for TFLs and was rated the third-best interior defensive lineman in college football, the best in FCS by Pro Football Focus (PFF).

In his first season with the Red and Blue, Benson secured an Ivy League championship as the 2015 Quakers went 6-1 in the Ivy League. Along the way, Benson coached five All-Ivy selections — led by Tyler Drake who put together one of the finest defensive seasons in program history. Drake led the Ivy League in sacks, tackles-for-loss, and forced fumbles en route to winning the Asa S. Bushnell Cup as Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year. His efforts earned third-team AP and STATS FCS All-American nods and garnered a selection as a finalist for STATS FCS Defensive Player of the Year.

Benson started his coaching career as a graduate student at Albany under legendary head coach Bob Ford's tutelage in 1986-87.

At Georgetown, he compiled a career record of 72-64, earning MAAC Coach of the Year honors twice. He led the Hoyas to six straight winning seasons (1994-99), including the team's first eight-win campaign since 1940 and a school record nine wins in 1998 and 1999. In back-to-back seasons (1995-96), Georgetown led the FCS in total defense. Benson won three MAAC titles and departed with the second-most wins (72) in program history.

Benson served as defensive coordinator at Towson in 2006 and 2007, where the Tigers finished second in the CAA for scoring defense. He then spent six seasons (2008-13) as the associate head coach and defensive coordinator at the Colorado School of Mines, where he helped pilot the Orediggers to a 47-19 regular season record, including a bid to the NCAA Division II Playoffs in 2010.

Benson spent 2014 as the defensive coordinator at Albany, which posted a six-win turnaround from prior to his arrival. Much of that improvement was due to Benson's defensive unit which vaulted from 102nd in the FCS before he took over to 42nd.

From 1990-92, Benson was the defensive coordinator at Johns Hopkins University, and also served as the head coach of JHU's track & field team. Before his arrival at Johns Hopkins, Benson was the defensive coordinator and secondary coach at Worcester Polytechnic Institute from 1988-89, and also coached the lacrosse team.

Benson's collegiate career began at Marietta College, where he competed as a wide receiver on the football team before an injury ended his playing days. Benson earned his bachelor's degree in History from Vermont in 1986 and went on to earn his M.E. in History/Education from the University at Albany.

Benson and his wife, Julianne, have a daughter, Kaylyn.

Greg Chimera

Offensive Coordinator/
Quarterbacks
Second Season
Johns Hopkins '09
@Greg_Chimera

Greg Chimera (pronounced kim-AIR-uh) enters his second year as Penn's offensive coordinator and Clarence S. Rockwell, VMD Quarterbacks Coach in 2025.

Chimera brings 14 years of coaching experience at Johns Hopkins University to Penn following a four-year stint as head coach and 10 seasons as offensive coordinator (2014-18), wide receivers coach (2013) and running backs/tight ends coach (2009-2012).

Chimera's offense was potent in his first year with the program in 2024, headlined by a standout sophomore campaign from running back Malachi Hosley, who was named the Ivy League's Offensive Player of the Year with unanimous first-team All-Ivy honors. In addition, Hosley was a finalist for the Walter Payton Award and earned All-America honors from FCS Football Central (second team) and Stats Perform (third team). Hosley made a start in all 10 games and led the Ivy League in all rushing categories including carries (191), yards (1,192), touchdowns (9), yards per carry (6.2), and yards per game (119.2). Chimera also saw wide receiver Jared Richardson earn second-team All-Ivy laurels after leading the Quakers with 684 yards (fifth among Ancient Eight pass-catchers).

Chimera was named JHU's head coach on Feb. 22, 2019 to succeed the late Jim Margraff, the program's all-time winningest coach, who passed away suddenly on Jan. 2, 2019. In four seasons at the helm of the program, Chimera led the Blue Jays to a 40-7 record, two Centennial Conference titles, two trips to the NCAA playoffs, a pair of Centennial-MAC Bowl victories and was the 2023 AFCA Division III Region 2 Coach of the Year.

Four players won a total of five Centennial Conference major awards during Chimera's tenure including Luke Schuermann as Defensive Player of the Year (2021-22), Ryan Stevens as Offensive Player of the Year (2022), Michael Nwosu as Rookie of the Year (2022) and Cole Crotty as Rookie of the Year (2023).

In 2023, Chimera led Hopkins to one of its most successful seasons in program history. The Blue Jays finished 12-1, with a Centennial Conference title and a trip to the NCAA Quarterfinals. The 12 wins tied a program record for single-season victories and the 12-0 start is the best-ever at JHU. Earning Centennial Conference Staff of the Year honors for the first time, Chimera was also named AFCA Division III Region 2 Coach of the Year for his leadership.

Under Chimera's guidance, Hopkins went 10-1 in 2022, finishing 8-1 in Centennial play. The Blue Jays started the year 7-0 featuring back-to-back shutout victories over Juniata (70-0) and Moravian (54-0). JHU topped Stevenson, 27-7, in the season finale to claim the Centennial-MAC Bowl. The program led the nation with six Academic All-Americans with a program-record five players earning All-America honors.

The 2021 season saw the Blue Jays post a 10-2 record with a share of the Centennial title and an appearance in the second round of the NCAAs. Hopkins, which ended the season with final national rankings of 13th (AFCA) and 14th (D3football.com), produced three All-Americans and a national-record eight CoSIDA Academic All-Americans on the year.

In his first season at the helm in 2019, Chimera guided the Blue Jays to an 8-3 record and a 51-28 victory at Stevenson in the Centennial-MAC Bowl Series; the eight wins are the most ever for a first-year Johns Hopkins coach. With a 17-12 win at Randolph-Macon in the 2019 season opener, Chimera also became the first Johns Hopkins head coach in 99 years to earn a win in his debut (Ray Van Orman - 1920).

Chimera spent ten seasons as a member of the Blue Jay coaching staff prior to being elevated to head coach, including five as offensive coordinator from 2014 to 2018. In the 14 seasons since he joined the staff in 2009, Hopkins posted a 130-23 (.850) record, won twelve Centennial Conference titles (2009-18, 2021, 2023) and lost just 13 regular season games.

Chimera played fullback and was a regular on special teams throughout his playing career at Johns Hopkins. He scored five touchdowns in his career and started 16 games over his final two seasons.

He graduated from JHU in 2009 with a bachelor's degree in psychological and brain sciences, minoring in entrepreneurship and management.

Chimera comes to University City by way of Towson, Md. with his wife, Allison and sons, Teddy and Charlie.

Jon Dupont

Linebackers/Recruiting Coordinator
19th Season
St. Lawrence '02
Trinity '06
@CoachDupont

Jon Dupont enters his 19th season with the Quakers in 2025. He served as the cornerbacks and assistant secondary coach for seven years and has led Penn's inside linebackers for 11 seasons. 2025 marks his second as the program's recruiting coordinator.

Under Dupont's direction in 2024, two Quakers—John Lista and Jack Fairman—earned All-Ivy honors, including a second-team selection for Lista, who tied for fifth in the conference in solo tackles with 55 and had a team-leading 5.0 TFLs and six hurries. In addition, Kadari Machen led the team with 71 total stops, adding 5.0 TFLs and a sack.

The Quakers wrapped up a 6-4 overall record in 2023, Linebacker Jack Fairman earned second-team All-Ivy honors after an impressive senior season, in which he led all Penn defenders with 73 total tackles, averaging 7.3 tackles per game (ranked eighth in the Ivy League). In addition to his work on the field, Fairman was named a semifinalist for the prestigious William V. Campbell Trophy for his commitment in the classroom.

Penn again dominated on the defensive side of the ball in 2023, among the nation's leaders in multiple team statistical categories. The Quakers ranked 12th in rushing defense (102.5 ypg), 13th in total defense (304 ypg), 19th in sacks per game (2.60), 19th in passing efficiency defense (115.94) and 26th in scoring defense (21.7 ppg).

In 2019, Dupont mentored a pair of student-athletes All-Ivy honors. The Quakers ranked fourth in the Ivy League and 62nd in all of the FCS in tackles for loss (6.2 TFLs PG).

In 2018, Dupont worked with Miller on a second consecutive first-team All-Ivy season and a selection as one of 25 finalists for FCS Defensive Player of the Year.

In 2017, Dupont coached Nick Miller to a season where he earned first-team All-Ivy honors and was a finalist for Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year. Miller led the country with four fumble recoveries and his 10.4 tackles-per-game ranked No. 10 among all FCS defenders.

Dupont helped Penn to its fifth Ivy League championship with him on staff in 2016. The Red and Blue were No. 18 in the country in Scoring Defense in 2016, limiting opponents to 21.3 points per game. Dupont coached a pair of players -- Nick Miller and Colton Moskal -- to second-team All-Ivy honors.

Dupont's defense was second in the Ivy League and No. 8 among FCS programs in turnover margin in 2015, picking off 14 passes and recovering 11 fumbles to help Penn finish +1.00. The Red and Blue led the Ivy League and were No. 13 nationally in sacks-per-game with 2.9.

In his first two seasons with the linebackers, Dupont led Dan Davis to back-to-back All-Ivy seasons. In his seven years in charge of the defensive backfield, the Quakers had 15 All-Ivy defensive backs. During the 2012 Ivy League championship season, Dupont's defensive backfield consisted of three All-Ivy players in Sebastian Jaskowski, Dave Twamley and Dan Wilk.

Dupont also turned a pair of former offensive standouts into All-Ivy defensive backs. In their first seasons under Dupont in 2010, former running backs Bradford Blackmon and Matt Hamscher each turned in All-Ivy performances. Blackmon, who had spent his first three season on the offensive side of the ball, started all 10 games as a senior cornerback, while Hamscher led the team in sacks. Hamscher then returned in 2011 and was named second-team All-Ivy as senior.

Prior to Trinity, Dupont served two years as a defensive assistant coach at Worcester Polytechnic Institute.

Dupont was a four-year starter at linebacker and defensive back at St. Lawrence.

Dupont and his wife, Heather, reside in Drexel Hill, Pa., with their son, Bradley, and daughter, Katelyn.

David Josephson

Wide Receivers/Pass Game Coordinator
Second Season
Johns Hopkins '15
@David_Josephson

David Josephson enters his first season as wide receivers coach and pass-game coordinator in 2025, following a season as tight ends coach.

In 2024, Josephson played a big role in the final year for senior tight ends Bryce Myers and Justin Cayenne. Both players played all 10 games with nine receptions and a touchdown each.

Josephson begins his tenure with the Quakers after serving in the same position at Yale during the 2023 season. Under his guidance, tight end Jackson Hawes earned second-team All-Ivy honors and the Bulldogs won their second consecutive Ivy League title.

Before he arrived in New Haven, Josephson served three seasons as Johns Hopkins' offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach under Penn offensive coordinator Greg Chimera.

At JHU, Josephson directed an offense that averaged nearly 44 points and 500 yards per game in 2022, both of which ranked sixth in the nation. The Blue Jays finished with a 10-1 overall record winning the Centennial/Mac Bowl Game. Four Blue Jays earned Academic All-America honors, three earned D3football.com All-America honors, five earned All-Region honors and nine were selected to the All-Centennial Conference team. Josephson's quarterback, Ryan Stevens, was selected as both the conference and region player of the year on offense. Over a two-year span, Josephson guided Stevens to completing 69 percent of his passes for 6,570 yards and 68 touchdowns against just 14 interceptions.

In 2021, the Blue Jays set school records for points per game (46.5) and passing yards per game (346.8), ranking eighth nationally in scoring offense and third in passing offense. The Blue Jays finished with a 10-2 record advancing to the NCAA Sweet Sixteen. Five Blue Jays earned D3football.com All-Region honors, eight earned All-Centennial Conference honors and four of Johns Hopkins' national-record eight CoSIDA Academic All-Americans played offense in 2021.

In his first season as offensive coordinator in 2019, Josephson led a Blue Jay offense that averaged 36.4 points and 459.3 yards per game. Both of those averages rank among the top 10 in program history as the 459.3 yards rank ninth and the 36.4 points rank 10th. Josephson's offense also cracked the program's top 10 in passing yards (3,530/4th) and touchdown passes (27/T5th) while five of his players earned All-Centennial Conference honors.

Josephson originally joined the Johns Hopkins coaching staff in 2013 after his playing career was cut short by an injury. Undaunted, he continued his contribution to the program by quickly becoming a valuable student assistant - immersing himself in all aspects of the coaching staff. He also spent the spring of 2017 as an offensive assistant at Yale.

A native of Old Greenwich, Conn., Josephson graduated from Johns Hopkins with honors and a degree in economics and a minor in entrepreneurship and management.

RUN GAME/SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATORS

Kyle Metzler

Offensive Line/Run Game Coordinator
Eighth Season
Yale '02
@CoachMetzler

Kyle Metzler begins his eighth year with the Penn Quakers in 2025. He is in his fifth season as offensive line coach and second as run game coordinator.

In 2024, Metzler mentored All-Ivy honorees Netinho Olivieri (first team) and Will Bergin (second team), who both blocked for Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year Malachi Hosley. As run-game coordinator, Metzler guided Hosley, who led the Ancient Eight in all rushing categories, racking up nearly 1,200 rushing yards. The offensive line as a whole allowed just 15 sacks, the ninth-fewest number in FCS football.

In 2022 and 2023, Metzler mentored four All-Ivy offensive linemen in Trevor Radosevich (first team), Ben Hoitink (second team), Jake Ligos (first team) and Jack Purcell (second team). His line also played a tremendous role in the running game, aiding Malachi Hosley to the Ivy League Rookie of the Year award.

In 2019, Metzler saw Gren Benoche cap his career by being a First Team All-Ivy honoree. As a group, the offensive line that was second in the Ivy League and ranked No. 31 among all FCS teams in sacks allowed-per-game (1.6).

In 2018, the offensive line ranked No. 12 in FCS in tackles for loss allowed-per-game (4.2) No. 20 in FCS in sacks allowed-per-game (1.1).

In 2017, Metzler worked with a group led by second-team All-Ivy selection Nicholas Bokun. The tight ends accounted for 26 catches, 386 yards and three touchdowns last season - increases in all three areas from the year before.

No stranger to the Ivy League, Metzler spent the past five seasons as offensive tackles/tight ends coach at Dartmouth College. In addition to his positional duties, Metzler served as run game coordinator and recruiting coordinator. While on staff in Hanover, Metzler was a part of the Big Green's 2015 Ivy League championship – which was shared with Penn – and coached honorable mention All-Ivy tight end Cole Marcoux in 2013.

Metzler joined the Big Green's coaching staff after a pair of coaching stints at his alma mater – Yale – sandwiched around a four-year run as offensive coordinator at the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy.

His second stint with the Bulldogs saw Metzler serve as tight ends and fullbacks coach in New Haven from 2010-11. Yale went 9-5 in the Ivy League over those two seasons, finishing in second place each year. In 2010, Metzler coached tight end Chris Blohm to second-team All-Ivy honors.

Before returning to New Haven, he spent four seasons as offensive coordinator, offensive line coach, and recruiting coordinator for the Mariners.

Twice an All-Ivy selection as a guard at Yale from 1998-2001, Metzler helped Yale to an Ivy League title in 1999 and would go on to earn honorable mention All-Ivy honors in 2000 and second-team All-Ivy honors in 2001.

Metzler graduated from Yale in 2002 with a degree in history. He would go on to begin his coaching career in April of 2003, joining his alma mater's staff video coordinator and going on to serve as tight ends/assistant offensive line coach during the 2004-05 seasons.

Rick Ulrich

Running Backs/Special Teams Coordinator
22nd Season
West Chester '85, UAlbany '86
@Coach_RU

Rick Ulrich enters the 19th year of his second tenure at Penn in 2025. He previously coached the Quakers from 1995-99 and currently serves as running backs coach and special teams coordinator. He spent 16 seasons as the Quakers' wide receivers coach.

In his final season coaching the wide receivers in 2024, Ulrich coached Jared Richardson to his second-consecutive All-Ivy selection, earning second team honors following another strong season. Richardson finished the year with 46 receptions for 684 yards—fifth among Ivy receivers—and seven touchdowns. He became the first player in program history to record a pair of three-touchdown games in a career when he caught nine passes for 141 yards and three scores at Cornell. Ulrich also oversaw the production of Bisi Owens, who broke out with 35 catches, 538 yards, and five TDs.

In 2023, Ulrich was instrumental in the development of sophomore Jared Richardson, who broke out and turned into a first-team All-Ivy receiver by season's end. Richardson totaled 67 receptions (2nd in Ivy) for 788 yards (2nd in Ivy, 31st in FCS) and eight touchdowns (2nd in Ivy, 12th in FCS) with four 100+ yard receiving games. A two-time Ivy League Offensive Player of the Week selection, he averaged 7.4 receptions per game, ranked fourth in the nation, and 87.6 yards. His career performance came on the road at Yale, catching a single-game record 17 passes for 191 yards and a TD.

From 2014-17, Ulrich helped guide Justin Watson to record-breaking heights. A three-time STATS FCS All-American, three-time unanimous first-team All-Ivy selection, and three-time finalist for Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year, Watson set Penn's single-season record for receptions (89) and receiving yards (1,115) in 2016 and graduated as Penn's all-time leader in receptions (286), receiving yards (3.777), receiving touchdowns (33) and all-purpose yards (4,116) while twice being named a finalist for the Walter Payton Award as FCS Offensive Player of the Year. In April of 2018, Watson would go on to be drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the fifth round of the NFL Draft.

Ulrich's wide receiver corps was dangerous because of its depth in 2016. In addition to Watson's prolific campaign. Christian Pearson caught 40 passes (7th in the Ivy League) and his 7 touchdown passes were tied for second in the Ivy League behind Watson's 8.

• Prior to 2014, where he spent time with the tight ends and guided Ryan O'Malley to second-team All-Ivy accolades, Ulrich spent 12 seasons with Penn's wide receivers.

• En route to the 2009 Ivy League title, Kyle Derham earned All-Ivy status as he led the team in catches, receiving yards and touchdown receptions. But it was the depth created at the position that resulted in Penn's success. Three Quakers caught 24 or more passes and seven different players had at least 10 receptions.

• Prior to rejoining the Red and Blue in the spring of 2006, Ulrich spent two seasons as the offensive coordinator at Ursinus and took his team's offense from last in the league to ranking in the top three in nearly every offensive category. He was the offensive coordinator at Georgetown in 2001 after spending four seasons at Penn, where he was a major part of the Quakers' NCAA record 24-game winning streak.

• Before coaching tight ends at Army (1994) and quarterbacks/receivers at Fordham (1993), Ulrich spent three seasons at Rocky Mountain College in Montana where he was first an offensive coordinator and later promoted to head coach. He was named Frontier Conference Coach of the Year in 1991 after leading his team to the conference championship.

• Ulrich was running backs coach at Princeton from 1987-88 and was a graduate assistant coach at Albany in 1985-86. He received a Bachelor of Science degree in health/physical education from West Chester University, where he was a four-year letterwinner and a second-team All-Pennsylvania Conference running back.

• Ulrich received his Master's of Science degree in general education from Albany in 1986. Ulrich lives with his daughter, Alyson, in Fort Washington, Pa.

Marvin Clecidor

Defensive Backs
Second Season

Lafayette '09
@CoachCless

Marvin Clecidor enters his second season as Penn football's defensive backs coach in 2025.

In 2024, Clecidor played a big part in preparing young Penn cornerbacks Josh Narcisse and Devin Malloy during their first season in starting roles. Narcisse broke out in a big way, securing two interceptions which ranked second on the team. Malloy finished just outside the top 5 in total tackles with 40.0 and had the second-most pass breakups (7) on the roster.

Clecidor oversaw the production of Temple graduate student Tywan Francis in 2023, finishing second on the team in total tackles with 78 and also had a team-high two interceptions with five pass breakups. The safety finished third in the AAC in solo tackles with 58.

In 2022, Clecidor's safety room was led by Alex Odom. The sophomore was third on the team in tackles with 75, while co-leading the team with two interceptions. Jalen Ware had his best collegiate season in his only year under Clecidor, recording a career-high 35 tackles, three TFLs, and his first career sack.

Clecidor was a member of the Western Michigan coaching staff from 2020-21 as an assistant coach, mentoring the squad's cornerbacks. Patrick Lupro made 28 tackles, including two for loss, while breaking up three passes leading the Bronco cornerbacks during the abbreviated 2020 COVID campaign. Dorian Jackson was the unit's leader in 2021 when he paced the Broncos with two interceptions and 12 pass breakups.

Clecidor arrived at WMU after spending three seasons at Princeton. He was with Princeton as the co-defensive coordinator and defensive backs coach from 2017-19. In 2019, the Tigers posted an 8-2 record and went 5-2 in Ivy League competition. Under his watch, opponents scored just 18.1 points per game and were limited to 113.1 rushing yards per game. Individually, defensive back Delan Stallworth ranked third on the team with 60 tackles and paced the squad with four pass breakups en route to earning first team all-league honors. Clecidor helped linebacker Jeremiah Tyler receive unanimous first team all-Ivy accolades in 2019.

The 2018 campaign was a record breaker for Princeton as it turned in the second unbeaten season in program history at 10-0 and 7-0 in Ivy action. Clecidor helped the Tigers rank among the top 10 nationally in scoring defense (fourth, 13.0 points per game) and total defense (10th, 297.3 yards per game). He coached a trio of all-Ivy defensive backs during the season in T.J. Floyd (first team), Stallworth (second team) and Ben Ellis (second team).

In his first season, Clecidor oversaw the development of a young defensive backfield that included two freshman starters, C.J. Wall and Trevor Forbes. Wall was a two-time Ivy League Rookie of the Week, while Forbes earned the Harland "Pink" Baker Award as the team's top defensive freshman.

Prior to Princeton, Clecidor spent the 2015 and 2016 seasons at William & Mary. With the Tribe, he coached one of the top FCS defensive backs in DeAndre Houston-Carson, who was the 2015 Colonial Athletic Association (CAA) Co-Defensive Player of the Year and a consensus first-team All-America. Houston-Carson was drafted in the sixth round by the Chicago Bears and played eight games for the Bears during his rookie season. Clecidor also guided cornerback Trey Reed to multiple All-CAA honors during his time at William & Mary. In 2016, W&M led the nation (FCS) in pass defense.

Clecidor joined the William & Mary staff after serving as the secondary coach and director of player development and personnel at Monmouth for three seasons (2012-14). During his tenure with the Hawks, he helped develop cornerback Tevrin Brandon, a New York Jets' signee, as well as first-team all-conference safety Mike Basile.

During the 2011 season, Clecidor worked as a defensive graduate assistant at Rutgers and helped the Scarlet Knights post a 9-4 record, which ended with a win in the New Era Pinstripe Bowl. During his time with Rutgers, he coached first-team All-Big East safety Duron Harmon and second-team All-Big East cornerback Logan Ryan.

Clecidor's other coaching stops include one-year stints at Wagner (2010) and Wilkes University (2009). At Wagner, he coached cornerbacks and helped develop a pair of all-conference standouts as the Seahawks ranked 15th nationally in pass defense in 2010.

Springfield ‘79
@CoachHughesUP

Hank Hughes enters his seventh season as defensive line coach with the Quakers in 2025.
