The Pepperdine men's tennis program has been a dominating entity in the West Coast Conference and reached the pinnacle of its sport by winning the 2006 NCAA championship.

The Waves rolled to 20* consecutive WCC Tournament titles between 1991 and 2010 and have won 43* tournament titles and three regular-season crowns. All-time, the program has won more than 72 percent of its matches, posting a 1,239-486* record since statistics were first kept in 1958.

Pepperdine's distinguished tennis history began in the 1940s, and the Waves found early success when the program won the 1952 NAIA Championships. After the program was elevated to NCAA Division I status in 1966, Pepperdine's national prominence began. Under the tutelage of Allen Fox, the Waves became a household name in collegiate tennis in the 1980s. In 1982, Fox led Pepperdine to its first NCAA championship match. Four years later, Fox again led Pepperdine to the title match.

The third time was the charm for the Waves in 2006. Under then-head coach Adam Steinberg, the Waves reached the NCAA final and broke through for its first national championship in men's tennis with a 4-2 victory over top-ranked and previously unbeaten Georgia in Palo Alto, Calif.

All told, Pepperdine has made 41* appearances at the NCAA Team Championships since 1974. The Waves have made the last four NCAA Tournaments.

Additionally, the Waves have had success in the NCAA singles and doubles tournament. Robbie Weiss won the singles title in 1988 while Kelly Jones was part of both of Pepperdine's NCAA doubles titles (1984 with Jerome Jones and 1985 with Carlos DiLaura).

Since 1945, the Waves have had 51 different student-athletes earn All-American honors a total of 87 times. A Pepperdine student-athlete has been named the WCC's Player of the Year 17 times since the award was implemented in 1998.

Adam Schaechterle took over as head coach ahead of the 2018-19 season and in 2021 he restored the Waves to their previous levels of success by winning a WCC title (the first since 2013) and advancing to the NCAA Tournament (for the first time since 2015). In 2023, he led the Waves to a WCC Tournament title with a dominant 4-0 win over San Diego. Under Schaechterle, the Waves have made four-straight NCAA Tournament appearances and have won at least one match in the tournament three times.

Over the years, the school has produced many remarkably talented players who have moved on to professional careers as players and coaches.

Brad Gilbert is one of Pepperdine's most famous tennis products. A 1982 All-American who reached the NCAA singles final, he won 20 major tournaments as a professional and was ranked as high as #4 in the world in 1990. He won a silver medal at the 1998 Olympics in singles play. As a coach, Gilbert is known as one of the best, guiding both Andre Agassi and Andy Roddick to Grand Slam titles.

A three-time All-American, Glenn Michibata spent 10 years playing as a professional and climbed as high as No. 48 in 1986. He then served as head men's tennis coach at Princeton for 12 years before resigning after the 2012 season.

After his playing days, Weiss turned pro and was a top 100 player. Kelly Jones achieved the world's #1 ranking in doubles with Rick Leach in 1992 and was a finalist in three Grand Slam doubles events.

Four-time All-American Simon Aspelin played professionally from 1998 until his retirement in 2011. He won 12 career titles in doubles, including the 2007 U.S. Open, and finished his career with a 348-303 record. He won a silver medal at the 2008 Olympics for his native country, Sweden.

Robert Lindstedt, who played for the Waves during the 1998 season, reached the doubles final at Wimbledon for three consecutive years from 2010-2012 and was crowned a Grand Slam champion at the 2014 Australian Open. He represented Sweden in the 2012 Olympics in London, where he reached the second round of the men's doubles tournament. He was ranked as high as #3 (2013) in the ATP doubles rankings.

In addition to Gilbert, Aspelin and Lindstedt, other Pepperdine tennis Olympians have included DiLaura (Peru/1984), Martin Laurendeau (Canada/1988), Kelly Jones (USA/1984), Michibata (Canada/1988), Agustin Moreno (Mexico/1988) and Andrew Sznajder (Canada/1992).

(Notes: Pepperdine's program started in the 1940s and Hubert Derrick was the first coach. However, records from pre-1958 are not available. Home, away and neutral court match records are since 1976. 2012 marked the first season Pepperdine played every WCC program during the regular season prior to the conference tournament. The 2020 season was canceled partway through due to the COVID-19 pandemic.)

* Pepperdine later vacated all wins (75), postseason losses (3), West Coast Conference Tournament championships (3) and NCAA Tournament appearances (3) accrued during the 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 seasons due to self-reported NCAA violations by the University. Records marked with an asterisk do not reflect this. Pepperdine's official NCAA all-time record prior to the 2021-22 season is 1,145-456, while Adam Steinberg's official NCAA record at Pepperdine was 190-89. Official season records are as follows: 2008, 0-6; 2009, 0-9; 2010, 0-10; 2011, 0-5.

2006 NCAA CHAMPIONS

The Pepperdine men's tennis program reached the pinnacle of its sport in 2006, as the Waves won the national championship at Stanford's Taube Tennis Center.

Early in the tournament, the Waves swept aside Montana State (first round), TCU (second round), Florida (Sweet 16) and UCLA (quarterfinals).

The Waves had lost their only two matches of the regular season to Texas and Georgia. In the semifinals, the Waves beat the Longhorns, 4-1, and in the championship, Pepperdine upset the top-ranked and previously unbeaten Bulldogs, 4-2.

Head coach Adam Steinberg's squad led the Waves to an incredible 36-2 season, which marks the most wins ever accumulated by a national championship team.

Pedro Rico, Ivor Lovrak, Andre Begemann and Omar Altmann were named to the All-Tournament Team in singles, while all three of Pepperdine's doubles teams earned the honor. Lovrak was named the tournament's Most Outstanding Performer. In 2011, the team was enshrined into the Pepperdine Athletics Hall of Fame.

NCAA TOURNAMENT RESULTS

Dating back to 1974, Pepperdine has appeared in the NCAA

Championships on 42* occasions, with a national championship in 2006, runner-up finishes in 1982 and 1986, a third-place standing in 1984 and fourth-place finishes in 1980 and 1983. Since the tournament went to a dual-match format, Pepperdine has posted a record of 62-40 (.607)*.

The Waves had three top 15 finishes from 1974-76 under the old format, where teams earned points based on individual wins. In 1977, the format was changed with the nation's top 16 teams playing a single-elimination tournament to determine the NCAA champion. From 1994 to 1998, Pepperdine competed in Region VIII, with the winner of each regional advancing to the NCAA Championships. In 1999, the NCAA Tournament moved to a 64-team format that requires teams to win six matches for the team title.

Since the 64-team format began, Pepperdine has been in the event in all but six years and played host for the first two rounds in 2000, 2002, 2005, 2006, 2008, 2012 and 2013.

The 2006 NCAA title marked the University's ninth overall title and the team's 36 victories was the most ever for an NCAA champion since the team championship format was established in 1977.

NCAA SINGLES CHAMPIONSHIP RESULTS

The Waves have had considerable success in the NCAA Singles Tournament, highlighted by Robbie Weiss, whose memorable 1988 season came to a climax by winning the championship. He remains the only Wave that has won the singles title.

The Waves have finished second at the NCAA singles event twice (Brad Gilbert in 1982; Alex Sarkissian in 2014).

Since 1978, Pepperdine individuals have made 80* appearances in the singles tournament. Of those 80, 51 have advanced to the second round, while 30 have gone on to the Round of 16. On 13 occasions, there has been a Pepperdine representative in the quarterfinals with eight of those student-athletes advancing to the semifinals.

NCAA DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIP RESULTS

The Waves have sent 39* different doubles teams to the NCAA Doubles Championships since 1978. Kelly Jones took the top prize home twice, first with Jerome Jones (no relation) in 1984, and again in 1985 with partner Carlos DiLaura.

In 2006, just days after winning the NCAA Championship team title, Andre Begemann and Scott Doerner nearly won the doubles national title, but fell just short and settled for second place. Kelly Gullett and Robert Lindstedt also finished as runner-up in 1988.

\ Pepperdine later vacated all wins (75) and postseason losses (3) accrued during the 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 seasons due to self-reported NCAA violations by the University. Records marked with an asterisk do not reflect this.*

RALPHS-STRAUS TENNIS CENTER

The Pepperdine men's and women's tennis teams play all of their home dual matches at the picturesque Ralphs-Straus Tennis Center.

The nine-court, fully lighted facility served as the host site for the 1995 and 2000 NCAA Division I Women's Tennis Championships.

The Ralphs-Straus Tennis Center has also hosted the 1996 women's NCAA West Regional Championships, the 1997 men's NCAA Region VIII Championships, men's NCAA First/Second Rounds action seven times (2000, 2002, 2005, 2006, 2008, 2012, 2013) and women's NCAA First/Second Round play 10 times (1999, 2000, 2006, 2016, 2017, 2018, 2019, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024), as well as the newly implemented Super Regional in 2019 (which the women also hosted in 2022 and 2024).

In addition to resurfaced courts and improved lighting, the refurbished complex includes seating for nearly 2,000 people. The beautifully landscaped facility offers many excellent vantage points for fans, and a large patio overlooks Raleigh Runnels Memorial Pool and has a breathtaking view of the Pacific Ocean. During the summer of 1998, the 800-seat Harilela International Grandstand was added to the facility.

The Ralphs-Straus Tennis Center is enhanced by a large lounge in addition to team meeting and locker room facilities and office space for the men's and women's tennis coaching staffs.

The Pepperdine men have won nearly 90 percent of their home matches since 1976 (602-100, .857)*.

*Pepperdine later vacated all home wins (48) accrued during the 2008, 2009, 2010 and 2011 seasons due to self-reported NCAA violations by the University. Records marked with an asterisk do not reflect this. Pepperdine's official NCAA home record is 539-92 (.854). Official home records are as follows: 2008, 0-1; 2009, 0-4; 2010, 0-3; 2011, 0-3.
