TONIGHT'S GAME: is the third and final of three in this weekend series against Portland... Pepperdine currently holds the No. 3 seed as the postseason picture for the WCC Tournament continues to unfold... Portland is on the edge of the picture as the current number six seed.

POSTSEASON WATCH: Pepperdine currently holds the No. 2 seed by a half-game over Pacific and controls it's own destiny for a first-round bye in the WCC tournament. Games to watch around the league today:

- San Francisco at Saint Mary's (6:00 pm PT, ESPN+)
- Pacific at Portland (6:00 pm PT, ESPN+)

TRACY TO THE BIG LEAGUES: Former Wave baseball player Chad Tracy was named the Interim Manager of the Boston Red Sox on April 25 following the dismissal of Alex Cora and several other coaching staff members. Tracy played three seasons at Pepperdine (2004-06) and earned WCC Player of the Year and First Team All-Conference honors in 2005. Boston beat the Baltimore Orioles on Sunday, April 26, marking Chad's first win as a MLB manager and 500th career win as a manager overall, including minor league. Tracy played his first-ever professional game on June 21, 2006 against current Waves head coach Tyler LaTorre. Tracy was a member of the Spokane Indians, while LaTorre was playing with the Salem Keizer Volcanoes. LaTorre collected his first professional hit, a double off the top of the wall, in that contest.

RUN DANIEL RUN: Daniel Patterson leads the squad with 10 multiple-runs games (37 total runs scored).

GET A FAST START: Pepperdine is 4-1 when leading after the first inning this season.

DOING IT THE RIGHT WAY: The Waves are facing all right-handed starting pitchers this weekend; Pepperdine has faced a right-handed SP in 37 of its 50 contests (14-23 record).

LAXA'S ON THE LOOSE: Since April 14 (15 games), Kai Laxa has racked up nine multi-hit games, raising his season batting average from .261 to a team-leading .315. Laxa's latest multi-hit game was on Sunday against Portland, a two-hit effort.

TIME TO TALK ABOUT TREY: Outfielder Trey Dunn has been part of Pepperdine's revelation at the dish this season. His nine home runs are tied for the second-most on the squad alongside Daniel Patterson, and it also ranks in a three-way tie for the fourth-most in the WCC heading into tonight's matchup. He had a 19-game reached base streak snapped last Saturday against Portland, and it was previously tied for the second-longest on the team this season (Woodworth, 19).

START ME UP: Waves starters posted a 1.31 ERA against San Francisco a couple of weekends ago. Collin Valentine, Casey Euper, and Tommy Scavone surrendered only 3 earned runs in 20.2 innings pitched against the Dons. Euper has a 2.25 ERA in his last five starts (32.0 innings, 8 earned runs), dating back to April 2 at Gonzaga.

GOOD LUCK AGAINST LUCIEN: Lucien Wechsberg extended his career-high in saves with 10 last Sunday, which is tied for the 10th-most in a single season (Derek Wallace in 1990, 28 games). His 4.06 FIP (fielding independent pitching; sabermetric measuring events pitchers have control of and removes results on balls hit into the field of play) also paces the Waves.

SUPER EUPER: Southpaw starting pitcher Casey Euper tied Tommy Scavone last week for the most wins on the team (5), while the blue and orange have won three out of his last four outings, including four of the previous six. Euper made it six consecutive starts that he's gone at least a half-dozen innings following his seven-inning outing last Friday against Portland. It was another quality start, his sixth of the year, as he surrendered only three runs (all earned) while walking a pair and striking out eight. Euper has become a strikeout machine this season, tying for the 13th-most in the league to this point. His 3.02 ERA and 1.23 WHIP rank fifth and fourth in the WCC, respectively.

NO JOSHIN' AROUND HERE: Freshman Joshua Woodworth has been on an absolute tear at the plate in the last few weeks. In that time span (14 games) the Ventura, California native is hitting .410 (25-for-61), including .429 with runners on base (12-for-28) and .545 with RISP (runners in scoring position, 6-for-11). He has 17 RBI with two out this season, the most on the team (next highest is Trey Dunn with 11). He has also reached base safely in each of the last 20 games (team-best) and currently carries a team-best 14-game hitting streak, the longest this season by any Wave.

LaTORRE LEADS THE WAVES

- Selected as the 18th head coach in Pepperdine baseball program history.
- Nine years of coaching and 10 years of professional playing experience with the San Francisco Giants organization, and he was most recently the head coach at Division II Westmont College where he led the Warriors to the 2023 NAIA National Championship.
- In his first year at Westmont, he won the 2023 NAIA National Championship — finishing with a 48-9 record — and was named the 2023 NAIA National Coach of the Year, the American Baseball Coaches Association Coach of the Year, and GSAC Coach of the Year.
- In 2024, LaTorre was named Pac-West Coach of the Year after leading Westmont to a 33-15-3 record in the program's Division II debut season. All told, LaTorre had a 81-24-3 (.750) overall record at Westmont while overseeing the program's move from the NAIA ranks to Division II.
- Before Westmont, LaTorre was the recruiting coordinator at Sacramento State and San Jose State, where he was awarded the 2018 San Jose Assistant Coach of the Year and the 2019 Fellowship of Christian Athletes Coach of the Year after spending two years as the associate head coach at Division II San Francisco State.
- As a recruiter, LaTorre has helped six players get selected in the MLB Draft. Most notable are Kellen Strahm, a right fielder drafted to the Texas Rangers in the fourth round and Travis Adams, a pitcher taken by the Minnesota Twins in the 2021 MLB Draft. At San Jose State, LaTorre coached Kellen Strahm, Andrew Mitchell, and Fineas Del Bonsta-Smith, who were all part of the 2019 MLB draft class.
- The following two years at Sacramento State, LaTorre was an integral part of three pitchers signing professional baseball contracts, including Parker Brahms in the 2020 MLB Draft as well as Travis Adams and Scott Randall, who were selected by the Minnesota Twins and Arizona Diamondbacks, respectively, in the 2021 MLB Draft.
- Prior to coaching, LaTorre played professionally in the San Francisco Giants organization from 2006-15. During his nine-year stint with the team, the Giants went on to win three World Series titles ('10, '12 and '14). He was also a member of the Italian National Baseball Team, catching in the 2012 European Championship as well as the 2013 World Baseball Classic.
- As a team captain at UC Davis, LaTorre helped the Aggies make the 2003 Division II World Series. LaTorre was a first-team All-CCAA selection in 2004 and an All-Independent league selection in 2006. He graduated from UC Davis in 2006 with a bachelor's degree in communications before earning his master's degree in coaching and athletic administration from Concordia University Irvine in 2018.
- Coach LaTorre is married to his wife, Stacey. They have one daughter, Arabella.

EDDY D. FIELD STADIUM >>>

Pepperdine's home baseball games are played at Eddy D. Field Stadium, one of the nation's most picturesque collegiate facilities.

Original field construction was completed prior to the 1973 season, and the facility was then known as Waves Park. Pepperdine won the first game played at Waves Park, defeating Whittier by a final score of 5-2 on Feb. 16, 1973.

Bleacher and stadium seating was added in 1980, and the facility was officially dedicated as Eddy D. Field Stadium on March 30, 1980. Pepperdine defeated Nebraska by a final score of 5-4 on that date.

Eddy D. Field Stadium has seating for up to 1,800 fans. The facility includes a fully equipped press box, self-contained clubhouses underneath the grandstands, restrooms and a concessions booth.

The facility has undergone continual improvements over the years, adding a video scoreboard in 2007, plus enhancements to the locker rooms, batting cages, fencing and more.

Pepperdine has posted a winning record at Eddy D. Field Stadium every season but one since 1974 and the Waves have won roughly 70 percent of their home games over the years.

The 2006 season marked a first in program history as Eddy D. Field Stadium was selected as the host site for an NCAA Regional.

The Eddy D. Field Stadium complex has been used extensively for the filming of several commercials and movies and has been the site for the University's commencement exercises.

The winning team of the inaugural California Strong Celebrity Charity Softball Game in 2018, held at Eddy D. Field Stadium. Celebrities pictured include actors Charlie Sheen, Jamie Foxx, Fox Sports personality Alex Curry, former MLB players Ryan Braun and Justin Turner, Barstool personality Jared Carrabis, Jack Flaherty, Matt Leinart, music star Brad Paisley, and NBA legend Reggie Miller. California Strong - formed by Christian Yelich, Ryan Braun, Mike Moustakas, Jared Goff, and Mike Attanasio - was developed in 2018 to raise immediate financial assistance after major disasters in California. Charity softball games were held at Eddy D. Field Stadium in 2018 and 2019, and California Strong has raised over 2.6 million dollars to households throughout the state.
