Head Swim Coach

1990-present Hometown: Flagstaff, Ariz.

Alma Mater: Northern Arizona University, 1976, B.A. dual major in Spanish translation/journalism, editorial writing. M.A.Ed. in secondary education and journalism, 1981.

The 2011-12 season marks the 22nd year of Chuck Knoles' career at Pitt. It is also his 10th season at the helm of both the men's and women's swimming and diving teams.

Knoles has led the Panthers to 11 Big East Championships on the men's side and 20 finishes among the league's top three. Additionally, the women have won at least nine dual meets five years during Knoles' 10-year tenure.

Numerous Panthers have been named All-Big East selections and 35 boast individual conference titles. Pitt's swimming and diving teams have earned the Universities' Blue and Gold and Panther Awards 15 times in the last two decades

In addition to the Panthers' 11 men's Big East Championships, his teams have a combined 244-109 dual-meet record, while 19 of Knoles'

Pittsburgh swimmers have been either Olympic Trial qualifiers or finalists. He has garnered six Big East Men's Swimming Coach of the Year awards (1991, 1992, 1997, 1998, 2000 and 2002).

Listed as the all-time winningest coach in men's swimming and diving school history, Knoles surpassed legendary coach Ben Grady (125-88-4) on the all-time coaches' list in 2006.

Knoles has guided seven swimmers to All-America honorable mention status, including Randy Gertenbach, Michael Grube, Miah Heath, Kenneth Shelhorse, Max Von Bodungen, Michael Pron and Carolyne Savini.

He has also trained and developed several other high-profile athletes. One of the most recent decorated alumni from the men's swimming team is Warren Barnes. This past October, Barnes placed fourth in the 200M breast at the Pan American Games. Earlier that month, Barnes was named the recipient of the Bob Pirie Trophy (an award given to the top male performer from Ontario, Canada.) Barnes is also a Canadian National Champion and a member of the FINA World Champion Canadian Team. Pitt's Most Valuable Swimmer in 2008, Barnes earned All-Big East honors in both the 100 and 200 breast stroke events.

On the women's side, Knoles led Kristen McMullan to the fastest 50 free of the 2011 Big East Championships. McMullan recorded a NCAA provisional finish of 22.86, which eclipsed the 2009 school record of 23.02. She also advanced to the finals as the No. 3 seed in the 100

McMullan holds a school record as a member of the 400 medley relay team and set the freshmen record in the 100 fly. The 2011 team MVP, McMullan was an ECAC Champion in the 50 and 100 free as a junior. She was also a Big East Academic All-Star and was honored as the team's Academic Award recipient after achieving a perfect 4.0 GPA. In April of 2011, McMullan was named the female Blue-Gold honoree at the University of Pittsburgh Senior Awards Banquet.

Other notable recent graduates include Kristin Brown, Stacie Safritt and Jason Miller who qualified for the 2008 Olympic Trials. Brown finished among the top 35 U.S. swimmers in the 100, 200 and 400 freestyle events.

In 2007, Jeff Leath entered the Big East and Pitt record books with his third Big East crown in the 200 back. Leath became the first swimmer in conference history to accomplish such a feat, in that event.

Similarly, Andrea Shoust swept the backstroke events and became the first Panther to win conference crowns in the 100 and 200 back since 1987. That same year, Brown garnered her second consecutive NCAA berth, which was the first back-to-back bid for a woman in nearly 20 years.

In addition to all of the athletic success, Knoles is committed to the total package his student-athletes receive at Pitt. He values achievements both in and out of the pool. The level of excellence that his student-athletes have accomplished in the classroom illustrates his philosophy that the Pitt experience is far more than just breaking pool records. It involves producing student-athletes that are the best they can be.

True to the student-athlete ideal, Knoles' swimmers have performed exceptionally well in the classroom. The CSCAA has recognized Pitt as an All-American Academic team on both the women's and men's side countless times. In addition, Brown and Amy Miteff, earned ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America honors. In 2008, Jeremy Stultz earned Big East/Aeropostale Scholar Athlete of the Year accolades, joining Brown and Savini as previous honorees. Stultz was also a NCAA Post-Graduate Scholar.

Knoles has recruited studentathletes both nationally and on foreign soil. Pitt is currently represented by 18 international student-athletes, roughly 32 percent of the team. The distance travelled to recruit has proved beneficial, as the Panthers have received votes in the Top 25 College Swimming Coaches Association of America (CSCAA) and Collegeswimming.com dual-meet polls in recent years.

This past season, Pitt was rated No. 25 by Collegeswimming.com with the addition of newcomers Luke Nosbisch, Jonathan Lierley, Kourosh Ahani, Austin Caldwell, Joseph Notarianni and John Pidgeon. This was an improvement upon the men's 2010 class, who were ranked as a group that 'caught the eye,' of Collegeswimming.com.

After Knoles took over the reins of the women's team in 2002-03, the Panther women broke 13 school records in his first season. The following year, more records fell and the women's team received votes in the CSCAA national rankings for the first time in nearly a decade.

During the 2006-07 season, the women's team was led by a strong freestyle core and broke several school records. The crowning moment was when Brown earned an outright bid to the NCAA Championship, where she posted a top-30 performance in the 200 and 500 free events.

Knoles has had extensive experience and success coaching at the collegiate level. As the interim head coach at the University of Arizona in 1988-89, he led both the men's and women's squads to a 15th-place finish at the NCAA Championships, and coached 13 All-Americans, including the school's first NCAA champion in any sport.

from 1977-1988, where he coached both the men's and women's teams. He was named High School Skyline Coach of the Year seven times while leading his squads to an amazing 132-23 combined record.

In 1989, Knoles was the recipient of College the Swim Coaches Association Outstanding Achievement Award. He won the American Swimming Coaches Association Award of Excellence four times from 1990-1994 and was awarded the CSCAA's Master Coach Award in 1996. He has served on the Executive Board of the CSCAA since 2005.

On campus, Knoles is not only recognized as a coach but as a teacher as well. He has been invited to give several lectures, reflecting his view on the importance of education.

Earning his sixth Men's Diving Coach of the Year honor lin 2009, Krug has led Pitt's diving team to dominance in the Big East. Recent graduate and two-time NCAA championships qualifier Alex Volovetski is one of many divers to succeed under Krug. During the 2007-08 season, Volovetski became Krug's eighth All-American and second in the last three seasons.

Additionally, Krug's divers have won the Big East Most Outstanding Diver award five consecutive seasons from 2004-09.

Krug believes that preparing oneself to the best of his or her abilities is the most important thing his performers should strive for, as opposed to focusing on first-place finishes.

"I believe that if you train hard with a positive attitude, winning will take care of itself," Krug said. "When we bring divers to Pitt, we expect them to better themselves every season."

A standout diver himself, in 1974 Krug became the first person to successfully execute a 5½ front somersault dive from 10 meters. He performed the dive at Kimball's Diving Camp in Brandon, Fla. In addition to his coaching experiences, Krug and his wife, Dorothy worked the 2008 Summer Olympic Games in Beijing, as diving advisors for the NBC telecast. They served in a similar capacity at the 2004 Athens Games, 2000 Sydney Games, 1996 Atlanta Games and 1992 Barcelona Games.

From 1997-2003, Krug served as the United States national team coach at the FINA Mexico Grand Prix. He additionally helped develop two Olympic divers in David Pichler (1996, 2000) and Karen LaFace (1992).

In addition to his collegiate coaching duties, Krug also serves as a coaching figure for young and upcoming divers with the Pittsburgh Aquatic Club. This past season, he has developed two national qualifiers, one being a finalist on the one-meter event.

Krug and his wife Dorothy reside in Kennedy Township. The couple serves as diving coaches at the Pittsburgh Aquatic Club. They have two children, Cassidy (24) and Kyle (20). Cassidy was a standout diver at Stanford University where she posted record scores and captured the 2007 NCAA Division I Championships in both the 1M and 3M diving events. She has resumed competing after injury with hopes of to qualify for the 2012 London Olympics.

In 2007, Krug was joined by his wife and daughter as all three became the first family of recipients to earn the prestigious Whosam Inc. Award for commitment to excellence and dedication to the highest physical and spiritual ideals at the United States Aquatic Sports Awards banquet.

Director of Operations/Senior Assistant Coach

Clark

Hometown: Wilmington, Del.

Alma Mater: Pittsburgh, 1988, B.S. in exercise science.

arian Clark is in her seventh season as the Director of Operations/ Senior Assistant Coach for both the men's and women's swimming teams. This season marks the 10th year that Clark will work with both squads after serving as head coach of the women's team at Pitt for nine seasons (1993-2002). Her duties include facilitating all home meet operations, maintaining the budget, handling team travel and taking care of administrative work for both teams.

Clark helps facilitate many of the championships meets hosted at Trees Pool the past several years, including the annual Special Olympics, ECAC Championship and Big East Championship meets.

As head coach of the women's team, Clark led the Panthers to 56 victories and two top-three finishes at the Big East Championship meet. She also helped Sunday Lewandowski capture four Big East Individual titles as well as All-American status from 1994-96.

Clark began her coaching career as an assistant coach at Pitt after graduating from the university in 1988. She served as an assistant coach at both Florida

State and Miami before being appointed to the helm of Pitt's women's program in the summer of 1993. Her appreciation for the rewards and benefits intercollegiate athletics can provide for its participants is not lost in her coaching.

"I enjoyed my undergraduate years at Pitt," Clark said. "I learned not only how to set goals within a team structure, but also how to achieve them by working and interacting with team members. A team commitment is essential for success. Obviously, I want individuals to excel, but I also want them to bring the others on the team along with them."

Clark was a major contributor to four Big East Conference championships during her undergraduate years at Pitt. She won Big East titles in the 500 freestyle in 1986 and in the 400 individual medley in 1988.

Her concept of teamwork was also on display when she swam for eight Pitt relay teams that captured Big East first-place finishes. An exercise physiology major, Clark graduated cum laude and understands the main reason a student-athlete comes to college.

The results have been nothing but impressive. Under the guidance of Clark, the Panthers are regularly selected to the College Swim Coaches' Association All-America Academic Team list. Pitt has been ranked as high as 17th in the country among other swimming and diving teams. The team has also been awarded the University's Academic Award several times, which is given annually to the University of Pittsburgh athletic team that boasts the highest grade-point average.

"We take great pride in our academics," said Clark. "I really believe that bright student-athletes find a way to succeed both in the classroom and in the pool.

Clark resides in Squirrel Hill with her husband Todd, daughters Maiti (14) and Mara (13) and son Mac (4).

Berghoff

Hometown: Pittsburgh, Pa.

Alma Mater: Carnegie Mellon, 1994, B.S. in economics.

Teff Berghoff is in his seventh year as the Assistant Head Coach for Women's Swimming, while entering his 13th season on the Pitt swimming and diving coaching staff. He served his first three years as an assistant for the women's team and has been working with both squads for the last nine years. He also assumed the role as a co-coach to Team Pittsburgh, a local swim team at Pitt. Along with his duties as assistant coach, Berghoff is the recruiting coordinator for the women's team.

Berghoff specializes in middle distance events and has helped assist the women's team in securing top-five finishes in the Big East Championships for the past five years. Berghoff also helped guide the men's team to two league titles in 2003 and 2004.

Last season, Berghoff worked closely with Kristen McMullan, who broke the school record of the 50 free at the 2011 Big East Championships with a NCAA provisional finish of 22.86. Later that year, McMullan was honored with the University of Pittsburgh's Blue-Gold Award for her athletic and academic achievement for her four years as a student-athlete.

Additionally, 30 members of the swimming and diving team garnered Big East Academic All-Star accolades. The women's team held the highest percentage of nominees in both men's and women's sports.

From 2007-09, Berghoff was instrumental in the Olympic Trial training of Kristin Brown, who travelled to Omaha, Neb. During Brown's four years as a Panther, he aided in her record-setting and back-to-back NCAA Championship qualifying career.

Berghoff also worked with backstroke standouts Andrea Shoust and Carolyn Savini. In 2007, Shoust swept the backstroke events at the Big East Championships and became the first Panther to win conference crowns in the 100 and 200 back since 1987. Shoust and Brown qualified for the NCAAs that season, marking the first time in nearly 20 years for the program.

A 2003 graduate, Savini left her mark in Pitt history with school records in the 50 back, 200 back and 200 IM during her career. She finished her career as a NCAA All-America honorable mention awardee in the 200 back.

Berghoff first became familiar with the Pitt swimming program due to his involvement with Team Pittsburgh Aquatics since 1996. He was the head coach at nearby Oakland Catholic High School for four years, where he coached 15 different NISCA High School All-Americans and the 1999 Pennsylvania State Championship teams, while coaching former Pitt standout Jordan Wallace as she attended O.C. Wallace would finish her collegiate career at Pitt as the 50 free and 100 free Big East Champion.

A native of Murrysville, Pa., Berghoff returns to Team Pittsburgh Aquatics in his 13th season and his second stint as Head Age Group Coach and has had 12 senior national qualifiers on the team.

In the spring of 2003, his club team went onto win the Speedo Championship Series, recording five individual champions. That summer, the women's 800-free relay became the Summer Sectional Meet record-holder for that event. Team Pittsburgh Aquatics also won the prestigious STAR Summer Invitational in Buffalo in 2003.

Adding to his long list of accomplishments, Berghoff has coached eight Olympic Trials qualifiers, along with one Olympic Games participant and one All-Africa Games participant. Berghoff has coached several Allegheny Mountain Swimming record holders along with two U.S. Open finalists and two senior national finalists. Other swimmers under Berghoff have won the esteemed Got Milk scholarship in addition to a finalist for both the Marshall scholarship and the Rhodes scholarship.

Berghoff earned his bachelor's degree in economics from Carnegie Mellon University in 1994. He lives in Monroeville, Pa. with his wife Mykie and sons; Ryan (18), Justin (11) and Jacob (8).

Assistant Coach Casmera

Wick

Alma Mater: Rutgers, 2004, B.A. in Psychology with a minor in Sociology and a certificate in Criminology.

Casmera Wick is in her first season as a member of Pitt's swimming and diving coaching staff.

"I am ecstatic to add Casmera to our staff," Head Coach Chuck Knoles said. "Casmera brings with her the experience of a Division I All-American honorable mention selection, a Big East Champion and a team captain. Her success as a Division I student-athlete, combined with her success as a college and club coach made Casmera an easy choice for us. She is a great fit for Pitt."

Wick was a three-year NCAA Division I Championship qualifier at Rutgers, where she was a four-year letterwinner and scored twice at the NCAA Championship meet. Wick was also a two-time captain of the Rutgers team and held school records in the 50, 100 and 200 freestyle events. She was also a member of five relays that set school records at Rutgers, which include the 200 and 400 medley relays, and the 200, 400 and 800 free relays.

Last fall, Wick served as the interim head coach at Swarthmore College in Swarthmore, Pa. During that time she managed all aspects of the men's and women's program, organized team travel, organized and ran the Swarthmore December Invitational and taught physical education classes. Prior to that, Wick was the squad's associate coach during the 2009-2010 season.

Wick also spent the last four years as an assistant coach for the Central Bucks Swim Team in Doylestown, Pa. She entered the coaching field as an assistant coach for the Hideaway Swim team in Horsham, Pa., from 2007-10.

Wick graduated from Rutgers in 2004 with a bachelor's degree in psychology, a minor in sociology and a certificate in criminology. Hometown: Dublin, Va. Alma Mater: Columbia, 2006. Indiana , 2010, M.S. in Kinesiology.

Carter Crosby is entering his second year as a member of Pitt's swimming and diving team. He serves directly as the recruiting coordinator for the men's team and assists in the coaching duties for the local swim club Team Pittsburgh, held at Pitt.

"Carter brings expertise and a high level of experience in collegiate swimming to Pitt," Knoles said. "We believe that the addition of Carter to our staff will substantially help us in becoming even more competitive."

In his first season with the Panthers, Crosby's recruiting efforts landed Pitt a nationally ranked top-25 incoming freshman class by CollegeSwimming. com. Rated No. 25, Pitt's ranking were a composite score of the team's top six incoming freshmen for the current 2011-12 season, as Luke Nosbisch, Jonathan Lierley, Kourosh Ahani, Austin Caldwell, Joseph Notarianni and John Pidgeon joined the roster. Additionally, Ahani, Caldwell, Lierley and Nosbisch recorded times under the U.S. Olympic Trials standards this past summer.

Crosby arrived at Pitt after spending two seasons as a volunteer assistant at Indiana University. While at IU, he aided the men's and women's swimming program in recruiting, coaching and team travel. Crosby also assisted with the IU swim camp for the past two years. During Crosby's stint at Indiana, the Hoosier women's team captured back-to-back Big 10 Championships in 2009 and 2010.

"His active involvement with those teams gives us a coach who understands success at the highest level of Division I swimming," Knoles added.

As a NCAA Division I student-athlete, Crosby graduated from and competed at Columbia University. He served as the co-captain of the squad in his senior year. Following graduation, he spent two years at Allegheny College as an assistant, and was named the interim head coach there in the spring of 2007.

"We believe we have found the perfect fit for Pitt in Carter," Knoles stated. "He combines a rigorous education in kinesiology with a passion for the sport, and he has substantial collegiate coaching experience as an interim head coach and as a volunteer assistant coach in one of the most competitive conferences in the country. We are excited to have him and his fiancée Emily join us."

Crosby recently earned his master's degree in kinesiology at IU. Crosby married his wife Emily in July.

The University of Pittsburgh campus is a place of delightful contrasts: unabashedly urban, yet dotted with gardens and trees. Situated on the edge of 456-acre wooded Schenley Park, the campus weaves in and out of an exciting section of the city known as Oakland. Pittsburgh's cultural and medical center, Oakland is home to the University's 132-acre main campus that includes more than 90 academic, research, administrative buildings and residence halls.

- Founded in a log cabin in 1787, Pitt is among the oldest institutions of higher education in the United States. The University has more than 275,000 alumni living in all 50 states and territories and 119 foreign countries.
- Among the campus' most impressive attractions is the 42-story structure known as the Cathedral of Learning. The tallest academic building in the western world, the Gothic Revival skyscraper is home to several of the institution's classrooms and the famed 26
 Nationality Classrooms, authentically designed to depict ethnic art and culture.
- Among the new freshmen entering the University in 2010, 57 percent were in the top-10 percent of their high school graduating class and 85 percent were in the top-25 percent.
- Pittsburgh's academic record is outstanding, rating among the leading national and international universities in the United States. Pitt offers 440 distinct degree programs. Its faculty includes many world-renowned scholars, researchers and innovators. A number of academic departments are rated at the top of their respective fields.
- At Pitt, an education can come to life. Learning is not relegated to textbooks and chalkboards. An English writing major can put their studies to use by working at the student newspaper, The Pitt News. Students involved in the sciences can visit the Carnegie Science Center or the Allegheny Observatory. Business students can gain hands-on experience while interning with one of the many corporations headquartered downtown.
- Along with its formal education, Pitt offers a wide range of over 400 clubs and organizations - a spanning from auto racing to the pre-med society - to supplement a student's learning experience.
- One of Pitt's most exciting advantages is its close proximity to downtown Pittsburgh, one of the nation's largest cities. Consistently ranked as one of the most livable cities by various publications, Pittsburgh provides an abundance of opportunities for its students in career exploration from internships at Fortune 500 companies, clerkships and residencies in major law and medical facilities.

Cathedral of Learning

The Cathedral of Learning, which is the tallest educational building in the United States, is a 42-story gothic cathedral. Inspired by the vision of Chancellor John Bowman, the Cathedral was partially funded by 97,000 area school children, each of whom contributed a dime to buy a brick for the cathedral.

"They shall find wisdom here and faith—in steel and stone, in character and thought—they shall find beauty, adventure, and moments of high victory," said former Chancellor Bowman.

Building of the Cathedral of Learning began under Chancellor John Bowman in 1926. It was later dedicated in 1937.

Our City is our Campus

From the "old" Allegheny Observatory on the North Side, to the Applied Research Center in Harmarville, to the state-of-the-art Duratz Athletic Complex on the South Side, it is really true that the city is our campus.

Pitt Arts connect our students to the extensive cultural life of the region, providing free admission to many of our neighboring museums and city events.

About the University

A "World-Class Institution" the University of Pittsburgh is an internationally respected center of learning and research, offering exceptional educational opportunities in the arts, sciences and professions.

Mission

The University of Pittsburgh's mission is to advance teaching, research and public service. This three-part commitment enables the University to serve others by educating diverse students from the region, the nation and the world; expanding boundaries of knowledge, discovery and technology; and enhancing quality of life in the Western Pennsylvania region and beyond.

History

The University began in the Pennsylvania wilderness as the Pittsburgh Academy in 1787, the year the U.S. Constitution was adopted. Thirty-two years later, the Pittsburgh Academy became the Western University of Pittsburgh, and in 1908, the school changed its name to the University of Pittsburgh. Graduate degrees have been conferred since 1836, and the first doctoral program was developed in 1884. A private institution for most of its past, the University of Pittsburgh became state-related in 1966, establishing a relationship with the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that continues to benefit both partners. Today, as an elected member of the prestigious Association of American Universities, Pittsburgh claims its place among the top public research universities in the nation.

The cathedral contains the Nationality Rooms, 26 classrooms, each designed to reflect a distinct culture and providing an overall, multi-dimensional understanding of America's heritage.

At the Pittsburgh campus, over 12,000 employees and 4,800 faculty serve approximately 28,823 students, including over 10,000 graduate and over 17,000 undergraduate students. Alumni accomplishments range from managing Fortune 500 corporations, to writing bestselling novels, to unlocking the secrets of DNA...and more.

Pitt: A Premier Research University

"What distinguishes Pitt from many other organizations struggling to move through the recession is that there is an increasing demand for higher quality higher education and cutting-edge research, our most basic products."

-Chancellor Mark A. Nordenberg in 2009

The Pitt Panther

The University of Pittsburgh adopted the Panther as its mascot at a meeting of students and alumni in the fall of 1909. The Panther was adopted for five reasons:

- •The Panther was a fearsome animal & indigenous to the area.
- •It was historically considered noble.
- •The happy accident of alliteration.
- Panthers can be naturally gold in color, thus matching one of Pitt's colors.
- •No other college or university had a Panther mascot at the time.

Pitt Alma Mater

Alma Mater, wise and glorious, Child of Light and Bride of Truth,

Over fate and foe victorious, Dowered with eternal youth,

Crowned with love of son and daughter, Thou shalt conquer as of yore,

Dear old Pittsburgh, Alma Mater, God preserve Thee evermore!

Key Numbers at the University of Pittsburgh

- The UPMC Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh has been ranked 10th out of 113 hospitals that completed the most recent U.S. News & World Report survey for its 2008 "America's Best Children's Hospitals" issue.
- According to a survey by the Top American Research Universities, Pitt ranked as the nation's No. 25 overall academic institution, the Big East Conference's top public institution and the nation's 12th best public university.
- Pitt's research expenditures during the 2009-10 academic year totaled $654 million—and having claimed some $150 million in stimulus-supported grants, the school expects to pass the $700 million mark in research expenditures this year. Over the past decade, Pitt's research expenditures totaled an astounding $5.33 billion.
- Pitt's community contributions extend far beyond numbers. The University is a dedicated institutional citizen, a commitment evidenced by the fact that Pitt was the country's top-ranked public university in the 2009 edition of Saviors of Our Cities: A Survey of Best College and University Civic Partnerships.
- Pitt's high-achieving faculty also has made the University an internationally respected center of pioneering research. At the close of the decade in 2010, Pitt ranked fifth nationally in terms of funds annually attracted by members of our faculty from the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and also ranks among the nation's top-10 in total Federal Science and Engineering Research and Development support.
- A report from the Middle States Commission on Higher Education called Pitt's undergraduate programs "impressive" in both variety and strength. And with a student-to-faculty-ratio of 14:1 and more than 60 percent of classes with fewer than 30 students, undergraduates at Pitt have the opportunity to interact with world-class faculty.

The city of Pittsburgh has grown and adapted as the world itself has changed. From its days as the "Gateway to the West" to its famous steel-town age and now as a cultural and medical center, Pittsburgh has been hailed as one of the top places to live in the United States.

There is an unmatched beauty as you cross one of the many Pittsburgh bridges and take a look down one of the three rivers- the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio. The view is aweinspiring from the heights of Mount Washington or coming out of the Fort Pitt Tunnel. The rivers surround Pittsburgh, keeping the buildings nestled in the "Golden Triangle," highlighted by the striking fountain at the city's Point.

The city and its numerous neighborhoods are an appealing mix of the old and the new, the classic and the modern. Those neighborhoods are full of pre-modern churches, giving them a nostalgic sense even as more modern architecture is built around them.

The past several years, Pittsburgh has undergone yet another renaissance, as the majestic new stadiums, Consol Energy Center, PNC Park, Petersen Events Center and Heinz Field, have been erected as well as the new David Lawrence Convention Center.

There is something for everyone in Pittsburgh. For children, there is the Children's Festival, the Pittsburgh Zoo and Kennywood Park, rated the sixth-best amusement park in the world even in its second century of existence. For anyone looking to mix learning and excitement, there is the Carnegie Science Center and its World War II submarine that patrons can board and view up close. The Three Rivers Arts Festival and Three Rivers Regatta are perennial events that bring thousands of visitors to the city to enjoy cultural activities in Point State Park. A recent resurgence in the performing arts has welcomed a slew of world-renowned actors, actresses, stage technicians, musicians and opera singers to the numerous cultural centers. The renovated Byham Theater, Benedum Center, Heinz Hall and O'Reilly Theater host a variety of shows and performances throughout the year.

New medical facilities have helped Pittsburgh continue to be on the cutting edge of the health profession. Many of those facilities are housed in Oakland, also the site of the University of Pittsburgh's main campus. Oakland has emerged as a city of its own with museums and the beautiful Schenley Park.

The city of Pittsburgh has provided excitement and thrills for over two centuries, but it has also supplied millions of people with a fabulous place to call home.

"Pittsburgh's industrial past has given way to an enterprising and vibrant present. Pittsburgh has all the charms of a larger city, but lacks many of the usual disadvantages. Crime is low and it's easy to find a neighborhood that perfectly fits your needs. There are a number of things that make it a great place to live, work and play. The abundance of leisure activities create a quality of life in Pittsburgh that is virtually unmatched."

A look at the Sporting News' top-10 best sports cities for 2009

Each year, Pittsburgh ranks among the best sports towns in America. The Panthers are part of a great city sports family that includes professional franchises in football, baseball and hockey. The Steelers of the NFL, the Pirates of Major League Baseball and the Penguins of the NHL all call Pittsburgh home and, along with the Panthers, are an exciting part of the city's flavor.

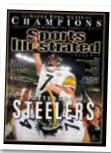

- The Sporting News named Pittsburgh as America's Best Sports City in 2009.
- The 2009 and 2006 Super Bowl Champion Pittsburgh Steelers are one of the most accomplished franchises in professional sports history, winning an unprecedented four Super Bowls during the 1970s.
- Sensational Sidney Crosby currently stars for the Pittsburgh Penguins franchise that won the 2009 Stanley Cup. The franchise has enjoyed NHL Playoff berths in each of the last five seasons.
- PNC Park has been named one of the most beautiful baseball stadiums in the country. It opened in 2001 and boasts a stunning view of the Pittsburgh skyline.
- Over the last 10 seasons (2001-11), Pitt Basketball's .794 winning percentage (273-71) ranks among the nation's top-5 best winning percentages during that span. Pitt has also won six Big East titles in the last 10 years. Pitt Basketball games at the Petersen Events Center have also been sold out for the last nine consecutive seasons.
- Pitt football has enjoyed three consecutive bowl games and accumulated a 27-12 record over the last three seasons.

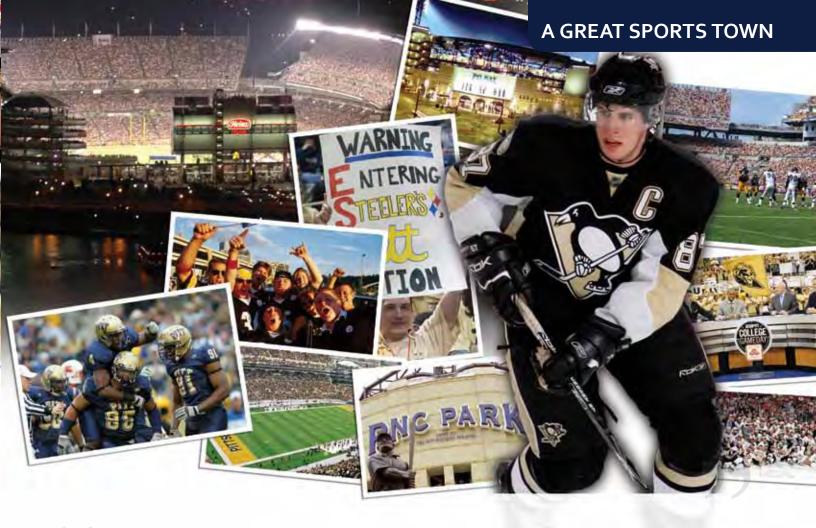

"It is also true that Pittsburgh is above all a place where the priorities are threefold: the Pittsburgh Steelers (six-time Super Bowl champion), the Pittsburgh Penguins hockey club (threetime winners of the Stanley Cup in the last two decades); and University of Pittsburgh men's basketball (a perennial top-20 team). These teams form the heart of civic conversation and, in some respects, drive development for good or bad. This is why when delegates hit the streets downtown after those mind-bendingly serious sessions on world finance, they will see a city dressed cheerfully in uniform. This is not the uniform of commerce—suit, tie, wingtips—but the wardrobe of whatever team is playing that day, week or, for that matter, season. It might be the blue and gold of Pitt, the distinctive yellow and black of the Steelers football team, or the crisp power blue and white of the Penguins' special uniform."

—Cindy Skrzycki, Global Post, 2009, explaining to the world about Pittsburgh

"The way this town is, you live and die by sports. That's crazy, but hats off to the fans. They've really done a great job of making this a tough town to play in."

-Charlie Batch, Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback and Pittsburgh native

"Pittsburgh is "City of Champions" once again. Football, baseball, hockey, basketball. Pittsburgh's sports résumé stacks up with the best. With the Penguins winning their third championship, Pittsburgh becomes the first city to ever hold the Lombardi and Stanley Cup trophies at the same time. The Super Bowl-champion Steelers have a young core and the Penguins have an even younger one. Pitt basketball is now a perennial national title contender. TitleTown USA, City of Champions, whatever you want to call it, it's Pittsburgh, PA."

The Pitt Experience

Pitt is it. It's a place to learn, have fun and make memories that will last a lifetime As a student at the University of Pittsburgh, education isn't limited to the confines of a classroom or the extent of studies; learning encompasses every facet of a college experience. Whether it's joining a student club, trying new foods, attending one of the numerous seminars, obtaining tickets to the latest Broadway production or simply becoming more familiar with the City of Pittsburgh, every day our students are engaged.

"Friendly and diverse, the city is Pitt's campus. Pitt students enjoy all the benefits of a major city—ballet, professional sports, opera, major concert tours, internship opportunities, shopping and restaurants—with few of the problems. Pittsburgh is also one of the safest cities of its size—large enough to offer plenty of activities but small enough to get around in.

Oakland, home to Pitt's main campus, boasts numerous activities within walking distance. Schenley Park, the third-largest urban park in America, provides an escape from the city atmosphere. At the park, individuals can tour Phipps Conservatory and Botanical Gardens, play a game of tennis with friends, catch the latest outdoor movies at "Cinema in the Park," or go ice-skating during the winter. Pitt students have free access to the Carnegie Museum of Art and Natural History, located just a block away from the Cathedral of Learning, where individuals can view and study famous pieces of artwork created by such artists including Monet, Degas and Warhol or mingle alongside the numerous fossils and artifacts within the Oakland is just the beginning for Pitt students. With its central location, it is in walking distance, or just a short and free bus ride (all students get on the city buses for free with their Pitt I.D.) away from various Pittsburgh neighborhoods including Shadyside, Squirrel Hill, the South Side and Downtown; each of which provides students with something different.

Shadyside is home to Ellsworth Ave. and Walnut St. which guarantee great shopping with nationally recognized brands and local boutiques. Squirrel Hill offers that "small town feel" with its main street set-up along Forbes and Murray avenues. There, one can find various specialty shops ranging from kosher delis, shoe shops, book stores and numerous vintage stores. Just across the Monongahela River is the vibrant South Side, which is renowned for its endless amount of entertainment venues that line East Carson Street. The 15 block stretch provides numerous shops, eateries, cafes, art galleries, live music venues, novelty shops and the best nightlife Pittsburgh has to offer. Also located adjacent to downtown is Station Square, where individuals can ride one of Pittsburgh's two inclines to Mount Washington, the best view of Downtown Pittsburgh.

Just three miles from Oakland is Downtown Pittsburgh which essentially provides students with that "urban, big city" lifestyle. Home to eight Fortune 500 companies it's the perfect place for students to begin their careers with fantastic internship opportunities just minutes away from the University of Pittsburgh. Not only is it a place to jumpstart your future, but it provides great entertainment for students; with the growing cultural district, five different sporting venues including PNC Park, Mellon Arena, Heinz Field, Petersen Events Center and the brand-new Consol Energy Center. Pittsburgh has become a frequent stop for big-time entertainers. Within the last year, students have had the opportunity to see Dane Cook, Kenny Chesney, Britney Spears, Green Day, Taylor Swift, U2, Paul McCartney, and Lady Gaga just to name a few.

"Pitt students enjoy a fun, beautiful and urban campus that is secluded enough to feel like college and at the same time, fully integrated into the vibrant, affordable and extremely friendly city of Pittsburgh."

Only Big Dreams

"Pitt fans are very passionate about the school and its teams. It's a special bond that comes from dedicating four years of your life to a school, of spending so much time on the campus and of interacting with members of the athletic teams who also have classes to attend, term papers to write and final exams to study for. Besides athletics, the University of Pittsburgh has so much to offer. Many of its undergraduate, graduate, and professional programs are among the best anywhere."

—Beano Cook, ESPN

Every athlete dreams, but at Pitt we only dream BIG.

Kristy Borza and Elizabeth Adams : PITT Record Holders

The University of Pittsburgh has a valued, championship athletic tradition. One that, since it's beginning has thrived off of one thing: big dreams. Big dreams have led our teams to numerous national, conference and regional titles and fueled individual athletes into their own realm of success.

While the dreams of our past have been marked in the record books, it hasn't stopped our current pursuit for even bigger dreams. They are what push our athletes to excel during practice, perfect their routine down to the most minute detail, hit the weight room and exceed their own expectations when there is no audience to impress. So when the right moment comes they are able to quicken their feet as they near the finish line, extend their arms as they reach for that extra inch on a fourth and goal and push themselves to the limit as the clock works its way down to zero.

By accepting only big dreams in each endeavor that we take and aspiration we pursue, we get the greatest return: immense successes.

Varsity Walk

On the University of Pittsburgh campus, between the Cathedral of Learning and Heinz Chapel, is a sidewalk known as the Varsity Walk. There, embedded in the stones, are the names of former Pitt athletes who have promoted the University through their athletic or academic achievements.

The Varsity Walk was conceived in 1950 as a way to honor Pitt's top student-athletes. New members are added each year. The distinctive hand-carved stones were first presented as the Athletic Committee Award and the Charles C. Hartwig Award. The Athletic Committee recognized the best athlete from any sport. The Charles Hartwig Award was given to the senior athlete who promoted and sponsored the best interests of Pitt athletics, in honor of the 1934 All-America tight end. In 1971 the award's names were changed to the Panther and Blue-Gold awards, respectively.

The Panther Award is presented to the graduating senior-athlete who has promoted Pittsburgh athletics through his/her outstanding athletic achievement. The Blue-Gold Award is given to the seniors who represent the student-athlete ideal based on academic scholarship, athletic achievement, leadership qualities and citizenship.

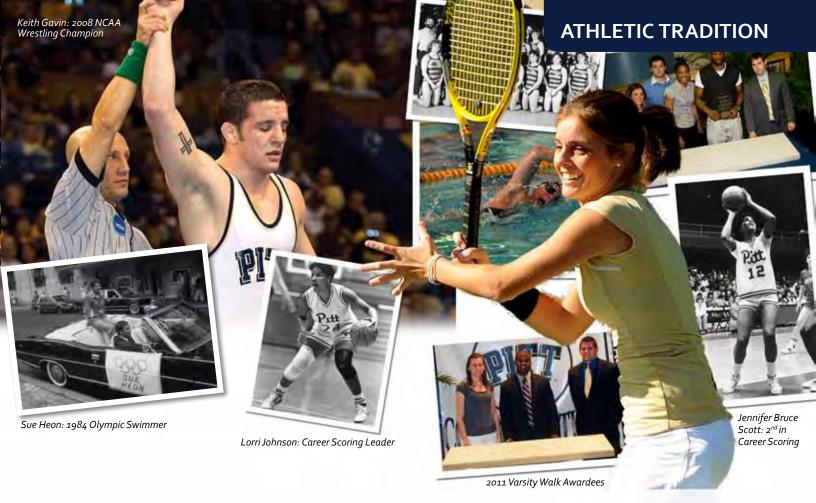

The awards were expanded to include women in 1975.

Century of Change

One hundred years has passed since the graduation of Pitt's first-ever African-American student-athletes. The University of Pittsburgh honored the growth and achievements with a monumental celebration on Tuesday, May 10, 2011 at the Petersen Events Center.

The gala, hosted by famed broadcaster Bob Costas, was highlighted by the attendance of more than 200 former Pitt athletes and featured short films and live interaction in the form of a Q&A with many Panther greats. All former student-athletes attending this epic evening were asked to sign a commemorative banner, which will placed on display in the Petersen Events Center.

Fantastic Facilities

"With the Petersen Events Center, Pitt now has the finest set of athletic facilities in the Northeast corridor. The University of Pittsburgh has made two major improvements to its campus, both designed to give the athletic program a competitive advantage. The UPMC football complex and the Petersen Events Center are both state-of-the-art and palatial and have taken Panther athletics to another level."

Game day accommodations include four luxury courtside suites, 12 luxury club level suites, a luxury courtside special event suite and the finest club lounge in college basketball.

The Petersen Events Center serves as the home of the Pitt Athletic Department and Hilda M. Willis Center for Academics for student-athletes. The academic center includes a computer lab with 27 computers, writing lab, math/science area, individual tutor rooms, counseling offices, career resource area and media room.

It additionally houses the McCarl Panther Hall of Champions, a walking museum of Pitt Athletics both past and present.

The building's Restaurant Row has nine major concession areas with 66 total points of sale, featuring a five-store food court that is open daily as well as on game day.

The Baierl Student Recreation Center boasts 40,000 square feet of recreation space including four racquetball courts, two squash courts, Cybex weight machines, a large freeweight area and state-of-the-art aerobic areas.

Charles L. Cost Center

The Charles L. Cost Center is spacious enough to house a regulation football field or nine tennis courts

It was recently resurfaced with new Astroturf and serves as an indoor practice facility for the Panther baseball, soccer, softball and track and field teams.

The center is named after former running back Charles L. "Corky" Cost who donated an excess of $1 million for its construction.

Heinz Field

One of the nation's finest football venues, Heinz Field is home to Panther football. The horseshoe stadium seats 65,050 people and provides a stunning view of Pittsburgh's breathtaking skyline.

Pitt has a private locker area (the Duratz Locker Room) and competes on a heated grass playing surface.

Fan amenities include more than 400 television monitors, two video walls, 32 concession areas, club seating and 122 luxury suites.

Located on Pittsburgh's North Shore, the stadium is also home to the six-time Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

UPMC Sports Performance Complex

The UPMC Complex is a state-of-the-art training facility, which includes Pitt's Duratz Complex, serving as the Panthers' football practice facility.

Its features include expansive training rooms, team meeting and film-viewing rooms, weight rooms and dining facilities.

In addition, it houses coaching and administrative staff offices for the football program as well as the Panthers' Hall of Fame, housed in the Duratz Athletic Complex.

UPMC Sports Medicine facilities are also on site, providing Pitt athletics with some of the best care in the world.

Fitzgerald Field House

This facility serves as the competitive venue for several of Pitt's sports, including volleyball, gymnastics and wrestling. It is also used as an indoor partial practice facility for the track and field team. Built in 1951, it was named for Rufus H. Fitzgerald, Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh from 1944-1945.

The Field House contains offices for many of Pitt's coaches and includes locker rooms, training rooms and weight rooms for the Panther student-athletes.

Also located within Fitzgerald Field House is the Pitt Wrestling Room Pitt's wrestling room. The wrestling room is twice the size of the previous training facility while containing new floors and wall mats. The room is equipped with new ventilation system and lighting. Also included is a video and recruitment room as well as a cardio are on a balcony above the surface.

Fitzgerald Field House Locker Rooms

The locker rooms in the Fitzgerald Field House are custom designed for Pitt's Olympic sports teams.

Added in 1999, the locker rooms include pro-style individual wooden lockers and audio-visual systems for exclusive use by the Panthers.

The Fitzgerald Field House is home to the following Pitt sports: Baseball, Gymnastics, Soccer, Softball, Swimming and Diving, Track and Field, Volleyball and Wrestling.

Olympic Sports Weight Room

One of Pitt's newest facilities, it opened in 2005 as part of the athletic department's "Quest for Excellence."

It covers the entire east balcony of the Fitzgerald Field House and is large enough to train approximately 70 student-athletes at one time.

With nearly 10,000 pounds of free weights, the weight room also includes new treadmills and stationary bikes. There is also an open area for stretching and focusing on specialized muscle groups.

Trees Hall and Trees Pool

Trees Pool serves as the Panthers' swimming and diving teams' home pool. Pitt has hosted 15 Big East Conference Championships in the facility and is set to host the 2010 conference meet.

A new high-tech scoreboard was added in 2002 and dedicated to Ben Grady, a former Pitt head swimming coach, at the 2003 ECAC Championships.

The newly renovated 75-by-165 foot Olympic sized pool has the dual capability of an eight-lane, 50-meter course or a 20-lane, 25-yard course. This past summer, renovation to the pool brought it up to current NCAA regulations in addition to the installation of a new diving board platform and railings. The circulation, drainage and heating systems were also refurbished.

The diving area is well equipped with two 1-meter and two 3-meter durafirm stands with maxiflex boards in addition to multiple diving towers with a 16-foot water depth.

Also located in Trees Hall is the Gymnastics Training Facility. At almost 12,000 square feet, Pitt's gymnastics training facility ranks as the second largest in the Eastern Atlantic Gymnastics League and one of the largest in the Northeast Region. The facility houses seven balance beams, an oversized floor exercise area, tumbling pit, personal equipment storage, bench seating, cardio equipment and a music center.

Trees Hall is also home to many of the University's sports and recreation classes as well as providing a home to all intramural sports including basketball, soccer and lacrosse.

Petersen Sports Complex

"We now believe we have facilities which are among the best in the country."

-Steve Pederson, Athletic Director

Petersen Sports Complex

The Petersen Sports Complex is a state-of-the-art facility made possible by a generous and substantial gift from alumnus John Petersen and his wife Gertrude for the construction of the Panthers' new stadiums.

The Petersen Sports Complex was built on 12 acres at the peak of Pitt's upper campus, and provides homes for the Panthers' baseball, softball and men's and women's soccer teams. The Petersen Sports Complex not only gives Pitt student-athletes nationally competitive facilities, but it rejuvenates a previously untapped area of land that neighbors the University of Pittsburgh campus.

The Petersen Sports Complex includes three competition and practice venues, Charles L. Cost Field, Ambrose Urbanic Field and Vartabedian Field. In addition, the complex includes a support building that houses locker rooms for each sport as well as dedicated equipment and athletic training facilities. An indoor batting practice facility, serving both the baseball and softball teams, is also contained within the facility and is located adjacent to baseball's Charles L. Cost Field. Each field also has a scenic view of Downtown Pittsburgh as its backdrop.

Charles L. Cost Field (Baseball)

The baseball facility includes a press box, team dugouts and hitting and pitching practice areas. Synthetic grass will allow the Panthers to play and practice throughout the year and lighting will allow for evening games.

Ambrose Urbanic Field (Soccer)

The men's and women's soccer stadium is a practice and competition venue, complete with synthetic grass field, lighting and a press box.

Vartabedian Field (Softball)

Softball has a skinned infield with an artificial grass outfield, along with lighting. The stadium includes team dugouts, hitting and pitching practice areas and a press box.

Charles L. Cost Field

"I have had the honor and privilege to experience firsthand the rich tradition of Olympic sports at the University of Pittsburgh. My Pitt experience continues to impact my life to this very day, so I want to ensure that current and future generations of studentathletes have that same lifelong benefit."

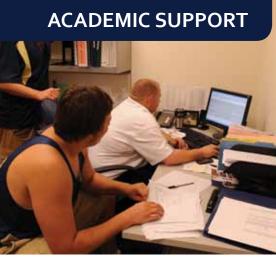

> - Herbert Douglas Jr., (EDUC '48, M.Ed. '50), 1948 Olympic Bronze Medalist in the long jump, Pitt track and football letterman.

Mark A. Nordenberg

Chancellor of the University and Distinguished Service Professor of Law

Chancellor Nordenberg has long been a strong and enthusiastic supporter of Pitt athletics. He is a past Chair of the Big East Conference and a past member of the NCAA's board and executive committee. He continues to serve on the Big East executive committee and recently served as co-chair of its search for a new commissioner. Chancellor Nordenberg also serves as the Big East Conference representative to the Presidential Oversight Committee of the Bowl Championship Series.

The past academic year was Mark Nordenberg's 16th year of service as Chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh. Under Chancellor Nordenberg's leadership, the University has achieved new levels of quality and impact on virtually every front. Undergraduate applications have increased dramatically, and the academic credentials of enrolled undergraduates have soared. Pitt currently ranks fifth nationally in terms of grants competitively awarded to faculty members by the National Institutes of Health. Pitt now attracts nearly $800 million annually in support for research projects. Using standard national conventions, that $800 million in research spending supports, directly and indirectly, more than 28,000 local jobs.

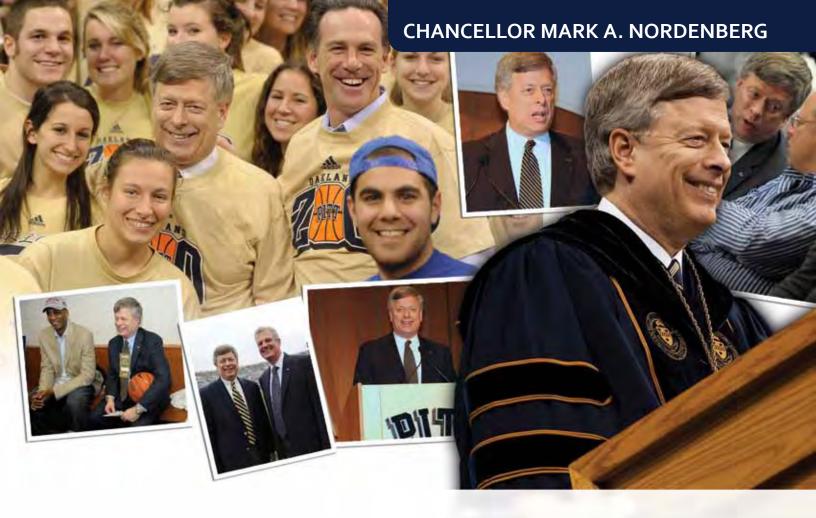

Over the course of his years in office, Chancellor Nordenberg has received many forms of professional recognition for his own accomplishments. Among other honors, he has been named Pittsburgh's Person of the Year by both Vector's Pittsburgh and Pittsburgh magazine. Even more recently, he was named a History Maker by the Senator John Heinz History Center, was awarded the Homer S. Brown Law Association's Spirit Award, received the Presidential Leadership Award from six national foundations and professional organizations for his efforts to promote a vibrant intellectual and social campus climate that de-emphasizes alcohol, and was honored by the Community College of Allegheny County as a 2011 Legend in Leadership.

To celebrate the remarkable progress achieved during his first decade as Chancellor, University trustees, alumni leaders and special friends contributed $2.5 million to endow a faculty chair in his name. At the time of that announcement, the late Chief Justice Ralph J. Cappy, then the Chair of the University's Board of Trustees, stated: "This endowed chair indicates the extraordinary esteem in which we hold Mark Nordenberg, not only as an individual and a leader who has brought the University to an unprecedented level of success and achievement but also as a true academic at heart. And for a person who is a true academic, the highest honor one can bestow is to endow a faculty chair in his or her name in perpetuity."

Chancellor Nordenberg joined the faculty of Pitt's School of Law in 1977 and quickly built a reputation as an outstanding teacher. He was the initial recipient of the Excellence in Teaching Award now presented annually by the School's graduating class. He also was one of the first faculty members to receive the Chancellor's Distinguished Teaching Award, recognizing teaching excellence university-wide. His area of academic specialty is civil litigation, and he has served as a member of both the U.S. Supreme Court's Advisory Committee on Civil Rules and the Pennsylvania Supreme Court's Civil Procedural Rules Committee.

Earlier in his career, Chancellor Nordenberg served as Dean of the School of Law and Interim Provost of the University. In 1994, he was elevated to the special faculty rank of Distinguished Service Professor. In 1995, he was elected Interim Chancellor by the University's Board of Trustees, and in 1996, following a national search, he was elected Chancellor.

Chancellor Nordenberg has long been an active contributor to the broader community, leading efforts focused on such key issues as the proposed consolidation of city and county governments, the challenges facing the state's urban schools, the work force development needs of the region, and issues of governance in the city's public schools. He served as the founding chair or co-chair of such technology-driven economic development initiatives as the Pittsburgh Digital Greenhouse, the Pittsburgh Life Sciences Greenhouse, the Robotics Foundry, and the Technology Collaborative. He is a past Chair of both the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities and the Pittsburgh Council on Higher Education. He also is a member of the board and executive committee of the Allegheny Conference on Community Development and a Director of Bank of New York Mellon.

Chancellor Nordenberg is a strong supporter of Pitt athletics. He is a past Chair of the Big East Conference and currently serves on its executive committee. He is a past member of the NCAA's board of directors and its executive committee. He also serves as the Big East representative to the Presidential Oversight Committee of the Bowl Championship Series.

Chancellor Nordenberg has long recognized that a vibrant athletic program not only serves as a unifying force within the University but provides a critical link to the broader community. He also recognizes that success in competition is just one measure of a program's worth. Pitt student-athletes also are a source of pride because of the way that they represent our University, contribute to the broader community, and achieve academically. During the last year, 160 Pitt student-athletes earned a grade-point-average between 3.0 and 3.49; 130 earned GPA's between 3.5 and 3.99; and 25 student-athletes achieved a perfect 4.0 grade-point-average.

Born in Duluth, Minnesota, Chancellor Nordenberg first moved to this region as a high school senior, when his father was transferred to Pittsburgh by U. S. Steel. He is an honors graduate of North Allegheny High School, Thiel College and the University of Wisconsin Law School. He has been married for more than 40 years to Nikki Pirillo Nordenberg, who earned her Ph.D. at Pitt. The Nordenbergs have three adult children – Erin, Carl and Michael – each of whom is a graduate of the University's Falk Laboratory School. Erin also earned a graduate degree from Pitt's School of Information Sciences. This spring, the Nordenbergs welcomed three grandchildren into the family – Julian, son of Carl and Diya, and Finnian and Leo, twin sons of Erin and Tucker.

Chancellor Nordenberg recognizes that a vibrant athletic program not only serves as a unifying force within the university but provides a critical link to the broader community.

Under Chancellor Nordenberg's leadership, the university has achieved new levels of quality and impact on virtually every front.

Steve Pederson

Athletic Director

The role of the 21st century athletic director is increasingly being viewed in business terms. Once seen as educational extensions of the larger institution, athletic departments these days are considered by some to be separate corporate entities.

While Steve Pederson certainly understands his CEO responsibilities in this age of collegiate athletics, he works diligently to ensure the Pitt athletic department remains a direct reflection of the University of Pittsburgh and its guiding values of education, commitment and mentoring.

"We will work hard to win," Pederson likes to say. "But we will work harder to win the right way. We want Pitt Athletics to reflect the very best attributes of this great university and its educational mission.

In speaking to Pitt's graduating senior student-athletes this past spring, Pederson said, "When you come to a great university like Pitt and earn your degree, the world is open to whatever you want

"In athletics, you learn quickly that nothing is handed to you – you earn everything you get. That will serve you well in life. That will separate you from the rest – the drive that it takes to achieve at the highest level."

The key to accomplishment, Pederson believes, is a spiration – the Panthers will work hard and aim high in every endeavor. That philosophy resonates with each Pitt student-athlete and staffer, and is the driving spirit behind his department mantra of "Only Big Dreams."

Using those values as a foundation, the Pitt Athletic Department under Pederson's watch continues to thrive and grow. His ability to galvanize people and programs prompted Pitt chancellor Mark Nordenberg to say, "In my judgment, and this assessment is shared by countless others, Steve Pederson is one of this country's most talented and accomplished athletic directors."

By any measure – be it victories on the field of play, student-athlete graduation rates or rising attendance figures – the Panthers are enjoying a highly accomplished era.

The past academic year provided much excitement and achievement for Pitt Athletics. Men's basketball added to its trophy case by winning the Big East Conference championship and earning a No. 4 ranking in the final Associated Press poll. The Panthers advanced to their 10th consecutive NCAA Basketball Tournament, the longest active streak in the rugged Big East. The wrestling team also raised championship banners, winning the Eastern Wrestling League dual and tournament titles. Moreover, the football team earned its eighth bowl berth since 2000, the softball team won a record 34 games while baseball won 30-plus games for the third consecutive year.

Individually, Pitt student-athletes earned All-America and Academic All-America honors, while continuing to graduate and achieve in the classroom at unprecedented levels. An impressive 290 student-athletes earned grade-point averages of 3.0 or above this past year, including 25 who achieved perfect 4.0 GPAs.

Each of Pitt's 19 intercollegiate athletic programs met or surpassed the NCAA's Academic Progress Rate (APR) standards. Two Pitt teams, men's basketball and gymnastics, received special recognition for ranking among the top 10% in their sport among Division I programs

And Pitt student-athletes again made their presence felt in the community, contributing more than 2,600 hours of charitable work for various organizations around Western Pennsylvania in 2010-11.

While Pitt student-athletes were achieving on the field and in the classroom, Pederson continued to orchestrate important initiatives from an administrative standpoint, including

The opening of the sparkling new Petersen Sports Complex, a state-of-the-art home for Pitt's baseball, softball and men's and women's soccer teams. Built on 12 acres at the peak of upper campus, the facility not only gives Pitt student-athletes nationally competitive facilities, but it also has rejuvenated a previously untapped area of land that neighbors the university.

- A record $7.6 million raised in donations to the Panther Club annual fund, which subsidizes scholarships for Pitt student-athletes. The record total was achieved despite the recently challenging economic times that all supporters of collegiate
- The hiring of new football coach Todd Graham. One of the rising stars in the collegiate coaching ranks while building a perennial contender at the University of Tulsa, Graham has the Panther Nation excited about his "high-octane" style of football. "When you consider a new job, you have to make sure the situation is the right fit," Graham said. "Upon meeting Steve Pederson, it was obvious that the University of Pittsburgh would absolutely be the right fit. I'm incredibly excited about the future of not only Pitt football but our athletic department as a whole."
- A new media partnership with CBS Radio Pittsburgh, providing Pitt football and basketball with a 50,000-watt flagship home in Sportsradio 93.7 "The Factorian Company" in Factorian Cartesian Partnership with CBS Radio Pittsburgh, providing Pitt football and basketball with a 50,000-watt flagship home in Sportsradio 93.7 "The Factorian Cartesian" in Sportsradio Pittsburgh, providing Pittsburgh, Women's basketball also has a new radio home in 1320 WJAS-AM, which provides live play-by-play action of each regular-season and postseason game, marking the first time the women's program has enjoyed such coverage.
- An athletics apparel partnership with NIKE, making the Panthers one of the finest outfitted programs in the country. Each of the Panthers' 19 intercollegiate sports teams wear NIKE footwear, uniforms, practice gear and equipment. The long-term agreement outfits more than 450 student-athletes at Pitt.
- Rapidly rising attendance figures. Men's basketball once again enjoyed a strong homecourt advantage with the 12,508-seat Petersen Events Center soldout for a ninth consecutive year, while attendance for Pitt football at Heinz Field has jumped nearly 60% over the past three years.

This success – on the field, in the classroom and various other areas – comes as no surprise to those familiar with Pederson's track record. His return to Pitt in November 2007 gave the Pitt Athletic Department an instant shot of adrenaline that continues to be felt, and built upon, four years later.

His initial Pitt tenure, from 1996-2002, was characterized by a dramatic revitalization of the Panthers' fortunes, building the foundation for the success the Pitt Athletic Department enjoys

During his first Pitt tenure, Pederson hired six Big East Conference Coach-of-the-Year honorees (football, men's and women's basketball, baseball, track and field and volleyball), an unprecedented achievement by a Big East athletic director.

In 1999 he charged an unknown coach from Northern Arizona University with the task of resurrecting the Panthers' struggling men's basketball program. That coach, Ben Howland, would build Pitt into a Big East power and was named the consensus National Coach of the Year in 2002.

Pitt, which had not been to the NCAA Tournament in nine years, advanced to the "Sweet 16" in 2002 after posting a school-record 29 victories. The following season, Pitt would reach No. 2 in the polls, capture its first Big East Tournament championship and again advance to the NCAA regional semifinals. Since that time, Pitt basketball has become one of the nation's most consistent winners.

Pitt basketball coach Jamie Dixon, a three-time National Coach of the Year, recalled how instrumental Pederson was in helping to lure him to Pittsburgh to serve with Howland a decade ago. "Steve was the person who originally convinced me to come to the University of Pittsburgh back in 1999," said Dixon, who enters his ninth year as Pitt's head coach and 13th overall.

"Steve is not only a tremendous professional but also a valued friend," Dixon said. "I rely on him heavily for advice and direction. Our athletic department is incredibly fortunate to have his leadership, passion and vision."

Pitt football also was renewed under Pederson's watch. Upon his arrival, the Panthers were coming off seven consecutive seasons without a bowl. By the end of his tenure, Pitt earned four bowl berths in six years, including back-to-back postseason wins in 2001 and 2002.

One of the stars of that 2002 team was receiver Larry Fitzgerald, who would become a unanimous All-American and now is an All-Pro performer for the Arizona Cardinals. "When I decided to go to Pitt, it was for many reasons — a great school, a great football tradition and great people," Fitzgerald said. "Steve Pederson was one of those great people who made me feel like Pitt was the place for me."

While Pederson was instrumental in helping to revive Pitt football's present, he was very attentive to honoring the program's historic past. One of his first major steps as athletic director was to retire the jerseys of all-time Pitt greats Mike Ditka, Marshall Goldberg and Joe Schmidt. Pederson later initiated the Pitt jersey retirement of Mark May, the Panthers' lone Outland Trophy winner.

Pitt enjoyed tremendous achievements in attendance under Pederson. In NCAA Division I men's basketball, Pitt ranked among the nation's top five schools in attendance increase for two consecutive years (2001-02 and 2002-03). The 2002-03 basketball season – the inaugural campaign in the 12,508-seat Petersen Events Center – was sold out. Capitalizing on the exciting and unanticipated success of the 2001-02 basketball team, Pitt held a highly successful "select your seat" campaign for prospective season-ticket holders that simultaneously achieved customer satisfaction as well as enhanced fundraising.

In football, Pederson formed a marketing and ticket pricing plan that resulted in record attendance for the 2003 season. Season tickets were soldout for the '03 campaign as the Panthers averaged an all-time record 59,197 fans for their home season, surpassing the previous mark of 54,818 set in 1082.

Pederson's tenure has witnessed a major strengthening of Pitt's athletic infrastructure. With Chancellor Nordenberg, he helped shape the vision of the Petersen Events Center, the state-of-the-art convocation center that dramatically revolutionized Pitt's campus upon its opening in 2002. The Events Center is widely considered one of the finest college basketball venues in the country and has also been a major asset for student life, providing outstanding recreational facilities and a fitting place for graduation ceremonies.

Pederson was at the forefront of the football program's move into the UPMC Sports Performance Complex, which included the forging of a unique relationship between UPMC, a professional sports franchise and college athletic program. He personally oversaw the design and layout of the Panthers' Duratz Athletic Complex, which houses Pitt's football offices and training areas, and has been described as the finest facility for a college football program in the country.

Pitt football gained a new state-of-the-art home stadium in Heinz Field under Pederson's watch in 2001. The Panthers gained a prominent presence at the new stadium with their logos on the seating, gates and signage. Pederson additionally initiated the renaming of Martindale Street to "Tony Dorsett Drive" to further enhance Pitt's identity on the North Shore.

During his five years at Nebraska (2002-07), Pederson was also at the forefront of significant facilities construction, including a $51 million expansion to Memorial Stadium. The project resulted in new football facilities as well as new strength, sports medicine and indoor facilities for baseball, softball, soccer and sand volleyball. Additionally, the women's volleyball, gymnastics and rifle teams received a new office complex. Athletics fundraising doubled over his final four years, going from $9 million annually in 2003 to $16 million his final year.

Nebraska achieved at exceptional levels athletically and academically during his tenure. In 2006-07, the Cornhuskers won the national championship in women's volleyball, while the football team won the 2006 Big 12 North title and advanced to its first New Year's Day bowl game since 2001. Overall, 15 Nebraska teams earned NCAA invitations. Academically, Nebraska earned a school-record 94% graduation rate, the highest in the Big 12 as Cornhusker student-athletes achieved a combined 3.0 grade-point average during the 2007 spring semester.

In addition to his duties as athletic director at Pitt, Pederson serves on the board for the Crohn's & Colitis Foundation in Pittsburgh. He is also a community leader for the American Heart Association's Heart Walk.

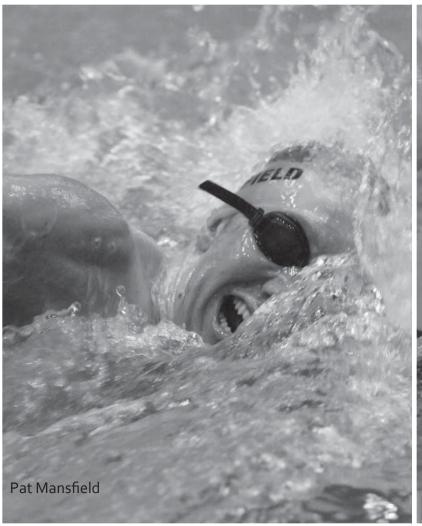

He and his wife Tami have three children: Mark, Kari and Kristin. Mark is married to the former Brooke Gillette.

"As great as the past has been at Pitt, the future is even brighter. I get up every morning so excited to come to work at this great university."

Ben Grady Head Coach -- Swimming and Diving University of Pittsburgh (1939-1966)

Ben Grady was a three-time All-America diver in high school and a three-time All-American at the University of Michigan as well. In 1937, Grady was the NCAA 3-meter springboard champion in his senior year with the Wolverines.

During his coaching career at Pittsburgh, with the exception of 1942-45 (served as an officer in the U.S. Navy), Grady molded one strong team after another at Pittsburgh. He had 14 winning seasons and led the 1948 team to an undefeated season.

From 1939-59, Grady's teams finished no lower than third place in the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association Championships and won an unprecedented five straight ECSA titles from 1952-56. He accomplished it all without a pool of his own until 1962 when he spearheaded the planning and design of Trees Pool.

At the 2003 ECAC Championships, the Panthers' new Daktronics scoreboard was dedicated to Grady, for his commitment to the swimming and diving program.
