Home dual meets CAPS & BOLD

The Panthers have called Trees Pool home since its first meet on January 5, 1963. Over the last 50-plus years, Trees Pool has been one of the premier venues in all of swimming and diving for competition and spectating.

Always keeping up with modern technology and advancements, Trees Pool was equipped with two state-of-the-art LED displays in 2015, made possible by donations from Gertrude Petersen and her late husband, John.

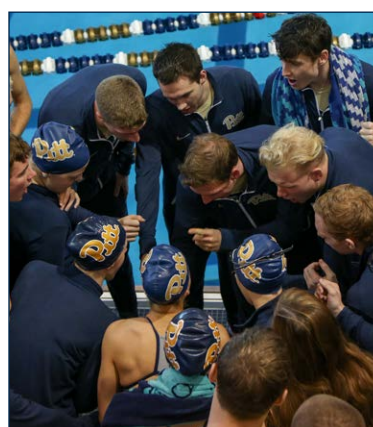

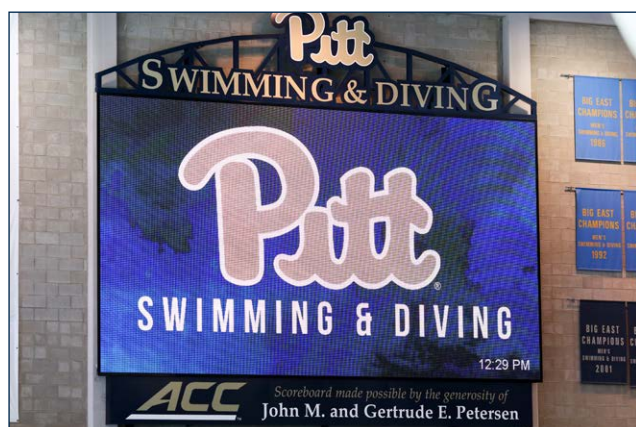

The main LED video display measures approximately 14.5 feet high and 26 feet wide. Variable content zoning will allow the display to show one large image or be divided into different zones to show any combination of live video, instant replays, school records, lap times and advertisements with crystal clarity.

Prior to the 2016-17 season, construction concluded on the largest renovation project in the history of Trees Pool. Updates from the multi-million dollar project include new men's and women's locker rooms and the addition of a team room for the Panthers that features a nutrition center, a lounge and a legacy wall. That project is now complete, giving Pitt swimming & diving a significant asset to aid the program's efforts in recruiting and developing talented student-athletes for years to come.

The 75-by-165 foot Olympic sized pool, also recently renovated, has dual capability of an eight-lane, 50-meter course, or a 20-lane, 25-yard course. Renovations to the pool have allowed it to achieve current NCAA regulations in addition to the installation of new diving board platforms and railings. The circulation, draining and heating systems have also been refurbished to ensure top-level quality.

The diving area is equipped with a pair of 1-meter and 3-meter durafirm stands with maxiflex boards, in addition to multiple diving towers with a 16-foot water depth. A new shower system was also recently installed for the divers.

JOHN HARGIS

- 2nd Year as Head Coach
- USA Gold Medalist at the 1996 Summer Olympics
- NCAA All-American on 12 Occasions at Auburn
- Previously Spent Time Coaching at Auburn, Penn State, UNLV and Arkansas-Little Rock
- Native of Clinton, Ark.
- His Wife, Lauren, is a Graduate of Pitt

Now in his second season at Pitt, John Hargis was named the head coach of the University of Pittsburgh swimming and diving program on April 5, 2016.

Hargis' debut campaign with the Panthers resulted in notable improvements across the board as his vibrant, new swimming staff fostered a fun-yet-extremely-competitive environment on Pitt's pool deck each day at practice. Both Pitt men's and women's swimming & diving teams increased their points total from the previous season at the 2017 ACC Championships, with the men scoring a program-record 513 points at the conference meet.

To cap off Hargis' first season at Pitt, five Panthers, including three swimmers, also advanced to the NCAA Championships, highlighted by Lina Rathsack earning NCAA Honorable Mention All-America honors in the 100 breaststroke with a 13th-place finish in Indianapolis. The Panthers also set a total of 20 school records throughout the 2016-17 campaign.

A 1996 Olympic Gold Medalist and a 12-time NCAA All-American during his own swimming career, Hargis spent the previous three seasons as the associate head coach at his alma mater, Auburn. Additionally, he was previously the head coach at Penn State from 2008-13.

At Auburn, Hargis helped lead a program that annually contended for top honors in the Southeastern Conference and nationally. In 2016, the Tigers' men's team finished 10th at the NCAA Championships. The swimmers under Hargis' direction broke three school records and won five titles at the SEC Championships.

As head coach at Penn State, Hargis established the Nittany Lions as perennial contenders in the Big Ten. In five seasons, his student-athletes produced 74 All-America performances. In Hargis' final season, the Penn State men and women combined for 20 All-America citations at the 2013 NCAA Swimming and Diving Championships.

Prior to Penn State, Hargis spent the 2007-08 season as head women's coach at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. He also spent time as the head coach and the chief executive officer of the Little Rock Arkansas Dolphins swim club, which enjoyed unprecedented championship success. Hargis served as a collegiate assistant coach at Arkansas-Little Rock (2006-07), Penn State (2003-06) and UNLV (2002-03).

A native of Clinton, Ark., Hargis is a 1999 graduate of Auburn with a degree in health promotion/sports management. One of the most decorated swimmers to come out of the state of Arkansas, he was inducted into the Arkansas State Swimming Hall of Fame in 2001 and was selected as one of Arkansas' 100 Greatest Athletes of all-time.

Hargis was part of Auburn's first NCAA championship team in 1997 as well as the Tigers' initial SEC championship squad in 1994. In addition to a dozen All-America citations, he was a three-time SEC champion in the 100 butterfly. Hargis won an Olympic Gold Medal at the 1996 Games in Atlanta as a member of the 400 medley relay team.

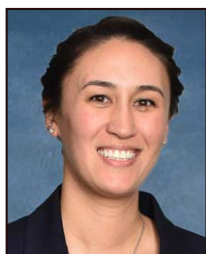

He and his wife Lauren, a Pitt graduate, have three children: daughter Faith and sons John and Nathan.

2017-18 SEASON PREVIEW

#H2oP #H2P

The Men:

Coming off a winning season that saw the Panthers also post a program-record points total at the ACC Championships, the Pitt men are looking for even more in 2017-18.

The Panthers may be one of college swimming's youngest teams, with only one senior - Boris Kulizhnikov - and just three juniors comprising the entirety of Pitt's upperclassmen.

Young they may be, the Panthers are also immensely talented. Distance swimmer Aaron Sett, one of those juniors, and sophomore diver Joe Ference both recorded top-10 finishes in their preferred events at last year's ACC Championships and are seeking even better conference placements as well as berths to nationals come this spring.

Other notable names to watch out for on the Pitt men's swimming & diving team for the 2017-18 campaign include junior freestyle sprinter Brian Lovasik, sophomore breaststrokers Samy Helmbacher and Brian Ramsey and sophomore butterfly and freestyle specialists Eben Vorster and Luke Smutny.

Meanwhile, Pitt's roster features 14 newcomers, including 13 true freshmen, this season. Rio 2016 Summer Olympian Armin Remenyi of Hungary headlines the group, which also brings a corps of talent from local, national and abroad reaches to the city of Pittsburgh and Coach Hargis' program.

The Women:

The Pitt women improved their ACC finish last season, moving up to ninth after placing 10th the previous year. And now the goal is place in the top half of one of college swimming's top conferences.

The Panthers return three senior All-America candidates on the women's side: returning NCAA All-American breastroker Lina Rathsack, distance freestyle and IM specialist Amanda Richey and diver Meme Sharp, a past ACC 3-meter champion and NCAA qualifier on multiple boards.

Beyond those three standout seniors, Pitt will rely on its talented youthful corps of 12 sophomores and 10 freshmen to get the job done this season, both in championship meets and during dual season, where the Panthers will aim for another winning season.

Pitt's roster features several sophomores capable of making an impact all season: backstroker Valerie Daigneault, distance freestyle swimmer Sarah Giamber and divers Krista Jones and Cortnee Williams.

While still on the youthful side, this season could be a great springboard into the future as Pitt hopes that its seniors fulfill their All-American potential while the underclassmen also lift the program up and make a name for themselves on the conference and national scene as well.
