QUICK HITTERS

- No. 2 Pitt stays at home this week with a possible ACC regular season championship on the line. The Panthers will host Notre Dame in a rare Wednesday night match, before hosting No. 3 Louisville Sunday at 8:00 p.m. on ESPN2. Louisville is currently 14-0 in the ACC and Pitt is a game behind at 13-1.
- The Panthers have eight wins over teams that were ranked at the time of competition (3-1 vs. #3 Kentucky, 3-1 vs. #15 Kansas, 3-0 vs. #6 Wisconsin, 3-1 at #24 BYU, 3-0 vs. #17 Tennessee, 3-0 vs. #12 Stanford, 3-0 at #6 SMU, 3-0 vs. #20 North Carolina). All eight of those teams remain ranked in the top 25 in the country and four are in the top 10.
- The Panthers are only the fourth team in NCAA Volleyball history to advance to five consecutive national semifinals (2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025).
- Head coach Dan Fisher won his 350th match at Pitt in the regional final against No. 12 Purdue last season. He is 373-75 at Pitt and 448-77 in his career. His .853 career winning percentage is best in the nation among active head coaches.

SETTING THE STAGE

• No. 2 Pitt, now 23-1 overall, hosts Notre Dame Wednesday at 7:00 p.m. before a showdown with No. 3 Louisville Sunday night at 8:00 p.m. Louisville is currently 14-0 in the ACC and Pitt is one game behind at 13-1.
• Both matches will be televised this week with Notre Dame appearing on the ACC Network and the Louisville match being on ESPN.
• Notre Dame enters the week with a record of 6-17 overall and 3-10 in the ACC. The Fighting Irish rank No. 342 out of 343 teams in service aces (0.91 per set) but do have a solid block, averaging 2.08 per set. Maya Evens leads the ACC with 4.26 digs per set.
• Louisville is 24-2 on the season with the Cardinals' only losses coming against top 10 programs Wisconsin and Kentucky. Louisville has won 14 straight and has dropped just two sets in that stretch. The team ranks in the top 10 nationally in hitting percentage (No. 3 at .314), opponent's hitting percentage (No. 4 at .141) and blocks (No. 6 at 2.91 per set).

FISHING FOR WINS

• Pitt Head Coach Dan Fisher has spent more than a decade reeling in wins. He is the winningest active coach, by winning percentage, in NCAA Division I. His .853 win percentage ranks just ahead of Nebraska's Dani Busboom Kelly, who is also at .853.
• Fisher, in fact, is third among all coaches in NCAA Division I history (minimum five years) in winning percentage. He passed long-time Penn State Head Coach Russ Rose with two victories over the weekend.

WELCOME TO THE HEIGHTS

• The Panthers unofficially opened Victory Heights on Aug. 8 for its annual Blue-Gold scrimmage
• In front of 2,341 fans, Team Gold pulled off a reverse sweep. Team Blue won the opening two sets 25-23 and 30-28 before Gold rallied with 25-18, 25-20, 15-7 scores for the win.
• The $240 million state-of-the-art athletics project provides Pitt student-athletes with national-caliber competition, training, sports performance and medicine facilities.
• Announced in 2020, Victory Heights includes a new 2,800-seat arena for the volleyball, gymnastics and wrestling programs. The volleyball team also has its own in-house practice facility.

THE HEIGHT OF VICTORY

• Pitt officially opened Victory Heights Sept. 11-13 for the Panther Challenge. The Panthers swept Jacksonville, High Point and Wright State.
• Following sweeps of Duke and then-No. 20 North Carolina, Pitt is now 9-0 inside Victory Heights and has not lost a set in the building.
• Having previously played most of its home matches inside Fitzgerald Field House (as well as select matches inside Petersen Events Center), Pitt entered the 2026 season with the longest win streak in the country.
• SMU snapped Pitt's 58-match home win streak on Oct. 7, a run that had dated back to Sept. 14, 2023. That streak ties 1990-94 Florida for the seventh-longest in NCAA Division I history.

THE STREAKS DON'T END THOUGH

• Just because SMU snapped a few streaks, it doesn't mean the Panthers don't have more.
• The Panthers advanced to their fifth consecutive national semifinal with a four-set win over Purdue in 2025. They are one of just four programs in history to accomplish that feat and first since Texas (2012-16).
• Pitt has won outright or shared the ACC championship for four straight years. In 2022, Pitt shared the title with Louisville with identical 17-1 records. In 2023, the Panthers went 16-2 to tie Florida State atop the ACC standings and won the league outright in 2024 with a 19-1 mark. Last year, Pitt and Stanford tied atop the league standings at 18-2.
• Pitt now has an 11-match road winning streak, which is tied for the third-longest in the country, alongside BYU. Only Nebraska (23) and Western Kentucky (18) have longer such streaks. Including three neutral site matches, Pitt has won 14 straight regular season matches outside of Pittsburgh.

NO STARCK CONTRAST

• There's nothing stark about the consistency Izzy Starck has brought to Pitt's lineup.

• The junior setter has earned ACC Setter of the Week honors three times this year.

• The 2024 AVCA Freshman of the Year and a national champion at Penn State, Starck has averaged 10.73 assists per set during her career, which ranks sixth among active players. She is averaging 10.45 assists per set in her first year with the Panthers.

• Starck is guiding an offense that is second in the nation with a .336 attack percentage. Pitt has hit at least .300 in 18-of-24 matches this year and has hit at least .400 four times. Pitt has hit .336 or better in nine consecutive matches.

Division I Active Leaders

Name	Assists/Set
Charlie Fuerbringer (Wisc.)	11.39
Kassie O'Brien (Kentucky)	11.31
Bergen Reilly (Nebraska)	10.85
Reese Messer (Kansas)	10.84
Avery Scoggins (Vanderbilt)	10.78
Izzy Starck (Pitt)	10.73

ON THE ATTACK

• As previously mentioned, Pitt ranks second in the country with a .336 attack percentage. Nebraska ranks first at .346. Only two other teams are hitting even .300 on the season with Louisville third at .314 and BYU fourth at .301.

• The Panthers are simply getting more efficient as the year wears on. Pitt has hit at least .336 in nine consecutive matches. During that nine-match stretch that began following the team's lone loss of the year, Pitt is hitting .372.

• In total, Pitt has hit at least .300 in 18-of-24 matches and at least .400 four times this year, peaking at .476 against Wright State.

• Even more impressively, Pitt is hitting .380 inside Victory Heights this season and has reached at least .303 in all nine contests inside the facility.

THE DAILEY DIFFERENCE

• Entering the year, Jordyn Dailey was considered Pitt's best offensive weapon among a trio of middle blockers. But over the past eight matches, her defense has been a catalyst to a Pitt win streak.

• Through the first 16 matches of the season, Dailey recorded 30 blocks, an average of 1.25 per set. Her playing time was sporadic as she worked to find her place defensively in the Panthers' system.

• Over the past eight matches, Dailey has recorded 34 blocks, an average of 1.70 per set. She had seven blocks in back-to-back contests at Clemson and at Wake Forest.

DIG THIS PROGRESS

• Freshman Trinity Thompson entered Pitt as a highly touted setter, breaking the state of Nevada's all-time assist record. So a transition to libero was expected to take some time. But Thompson's growth has come quickly.

• Through the first 11 matches of the season, Thompson recorded double-digit digs just one time, but she's hit 11+ three times in the last 13 matches, including a career-best 14 against Stanford.

• Thompson is averaging 2.54 digs per set over the past 13 matches after averaging just 1.64 over the first 11 contests.

HARD TO BEAT

• Since the start of the 2021 season, nobody in NCAA Division I women's volleyball has won more than Pitt.

• Pitt and Nebraska enter the week atop the NCAA volleyball world for wins since 2021 with 176 each. Pitt is 176-21 (.893) over that span, while Nebraska is 176-20 (.898). The Panthers are also a remarkable 98-10 (.907) in conference play during that span.

• Louisville is third in the country during that stretch with 170 wins, a full six victories behind Pitt and Nebraska.

• In non-conference play, Pitt has gone undefeated three times in the last six years, doing so in 2021 (11-0) and 2024 (10-0) prior to another unbeaten (10-0) non-conference slate this year.

STILL GETTING BETTER?

• How does the best player in college volleyball get better? Well, for Olivia Babcock, the increase in efficiency has been jaw-dropping.

• Babcock leads the country in points per set and ranks fifth in kills per set despite being just 62nd in the country in attacks per set.

• She is hitting .367 this year, a steep improvement from .334 a year ago, .323 as a sophomore and .306 as a freshman.

• Very few players in the country are attacking as efficiently as Babcock with as much volume as she has. Among the 125 most efficient hitters in the country, Babcock has the highest volume of swings.

• Only one player among the top 150 most-efficient players in the country has more attacks than Babcock. Penn State's Kennedy Martin has 940 attacks but is hitting just .343.

• Despite being the focal point of every defense Pitt faces, Babcock's .367 attack percentage ranks fifth among pin hitters.

STREAKING FROM THE START

- Pitt began the 2026 season by winning 14 consecutive matches, tying for the fourth-longest win streak to open a season in program history.
- Following a loss to SMU, Pitt has reeled off nine straight victories to improve to 23-1. No Pitt team has ever had a better record through 24 matches in the volleyball program's history.
- The team's .958 win percentage this year would break the program's single-season win percentage record, which was set in 2024 when the team went 33-2 (.942).

THE BAYLESS BUILD
• Blaire Bayless didn't arrive at Pitt fully built. She built herself here.
• Bayless has become the exception in this era of college athletics -- a player who has stayed at the same program for four years and made steady, continual growth throughout her career.
• As a freshman in 2023, Bayless played in just seven sets at Pitt with 13 kills. A year later, she saw much more action, playing in 33 matches and 89 sets.
• As a junior in 2025, Bayless truly blossomed. She played in 34 matches and 120 sets, increasing her production in almost every area, averaging a career-best 2.65 kills per set on .296 hitting with career-highs in digs (115/0.96 per set), blocks (58/0.48 per set) and points (349/2.91 per set).
• But Bayless didn't stop there. In 2026, she is averaging 3.38 kills per set, 1.71 digs per set, 0.56 blocks per set and 3.69 points per set -- each of which are on pace to be career highs. She has become one of the most important pieces to finding balance offensively while also contributing defensively.
• Bayless was named to the National Player of the Year Watch List on Oct. 8, becoming the third Pitt player on the list -- along with Olivia Babcock and Izzy Starck.

D-FENCE

• Head Coach Dan Fisher said this could be the best defensive team he's coached. With 24 matches down, it's hard to argue against him.
• Pitt has outdug 21-of-24 opponents in 2026 and is averaging 1.5 per set more than their opponents.
• Up front, Pitt ranks No. 2 nationally in blocks at 3.15 per set, which is on pace to shatter the program's single-season record. Abbey Emch is No. 6 in the country at 1.53 blocks per set and Maaike Heilig is No. 10 at 1.47. Jordyn Dailey does not qualify for the leaderboard as she has not played in 2/3 of all sets but is averaging 1.45 per set.

BLOCK PARTY

• While Abbey Emch and Maaike Heilig have block totals that rank among the top 10 in the country, Pitt truly has used a team effort in leading the country in blocks per set.
• Six players have at least 40 blocks this year, led by Emch with 95. Heilig adds 85 and Olivia Babcock has 82. Jordyn Dailey has posted 64 blocks and Izzy Starck has 60.
• Since the team's run to five straight Final Fours, Pitt has never had more than four players with at least 60 blocks in a season, but the Panthers already have five this year. Blaire Bayless needs 16 more blocks on the year to become the sixth Panther this year with 60.

BRING 'EM BACK

• On Sept. 26, Olivia Babcock and Blaire Bayless announced that they will return to Pitt for a fifth season in 2027, due to new NCAA rules enacted over the summer.
• Babcock and Bayless made the announcement during a timeout at Pitt football's Homecoming victory over Bucknell in Acrisure Stadium.
• The duo has led Pitt to three straight trips to the Final Four with an overall record of 115-13. Babcock and Bayless have lost just two home matches in four seasons at Pitt.

THE RPI

• The NCAA releases the official RPI rankings each Monday. After ranking No. 1 for each of the first three weeks, Pitt is No. 2 in the country for the second straight week.
• Nebraska is No. 1 overall, followed by Pitt, Wisconsin, SMU and Florida. BYU, Louisville, Kentucky, Penn State and Oregon round out the top 10.
• As far as the upcoming week is concerned, Notre Dame is No. 172 and Louisville is No. 7.

THEY'VE GOT THEIR EYES ON US

• Senior Olivia Babcock and junior transfer Izzy Starck were two of 30 players named to the AVCA Preseason Player of the Year Watch List.
• Babcock is the two-time defending AVCA Player of the Year and Starck was named AVCA Freshman of the Year in 2024.
• Blaire Bayless was added to the list on Oct. 8, giving Pitt three of the 46 current nominees for the award.

LIV'S BUSY SUMMER!

• Olivia Babcock competed with the USA Senior National Team for the third straight summer.
• For the second straight year, she was a nominee for an ESPY award for Best College Athlete in Women's Sports along with UCLA basketball's Lauren Betts, Northwestern lacrosse's Madison Taylor and Oklahoma gymnastics' Faith Torrez.
• Babcock wrapped up the summer in New York City for the second consecutive year to attend the CWSA Honda Award Banquet on Aug. 27. During the live broadcast, she was named a top three finalist, along with eventual winner Betts and Nebraska's Jordyn Frahm.
• She is now the two-time defending Honda Award winner for volleyball and the only Panther in Pitt Athletics history to receive the prestigious award.

In January 2025, Fisher signed a contract extension that ensures his leadership of the Panthers through at least the 2030 season, as announced by Director of Athletics Allen Greene.

Fisher and the team look forward to competing in Victory Heights for the first time this fall. The state-of-the-art athletics project provides Pitt student-athletes with national-caliber competition, training and sports performance and medicine facilities. Announced in 2020, the plan includes a new 2,800-seat arena for the volleyball, gymnastics and wrestling programs. The volleyball team also has its own in-house practice facility.

"For us to have our own practice facility and a competition facility, is an absolute game-changer for volleyball," Fisher said at the unveiling. "The training environment is going to be better, having everything in the same spot…this means that we're going from a good experience to a great experience."

A three-time ACC (2017, 2018, 2024) and five-time American Volleyball Coaches Association (AVCA) East Region Coach Region of the Year (2017, 2018, 2022, 2024, 2025), Fisher has elevated the Panthers to new heights. He has guided the team to the NCAA Tournament more than any coach in program history (2016-25). He was instrumental in Pitt's bid to host NCAA Volleyball Tournament matches at Petersen Events Center (2018, 2019, 2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025), and led the Panthers to their highest postseason seed in program history at No. 3 in 2024. Most recently, Fisher guided Pitt to its fifth consecutive National Semifinal (2021, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2025).

An accomplished coach at every level of the game, Fisher's coaching resume includes an NAIA National Championship at Concordia (2012) with two national title match appearances (2011, 2012). Additionally, he earned a gold medal with Team USA at the 2015 Pan Am Games. Over the last 20 years his involvement with USA Volleyball has been extensive, ranging from his time as a player (2000, 2001), to an assistant coach (2006, 2007, 2012) to a head coach (2015, 2016, 2019, 2020, 2021).
