Lights, Camera, Action

The 9th-ranked Princeton Tigers will play their 2018 season finale Saturday at 1 pm against Penn. The game will be streamed live on ESPN+, and Cody Chrusciel (play by play), Dave Giancola (analyst), and Jon Mozes (sideline) will broadcast the game. You can also listen to Patrick McCarthy (play by play), Tom Criqui (analyst) live on TuneIn Radio and WPRB 103.3 FM.

Movin' On Up

Princeton is now ranked ninth in the AFCA Coaches Poll, which is the highest Princeton has been ranked in either poll since Division I-AA/FCS level began in 1978. Princeton also moved to #11 in the FCS Stats media poll; both are two spots higher than the previous week.

This is the highest any Ivy League team has been ranked since 1993, when Penn moved to #8 in The Sports Network I-AA poll.

Raising Ivy

With its win over Yale, Princeton clinched a share of the program's 12th Ivy League championship, as well as its second in three years and third in six years. The last time Princeton won three Ivy League titles over a six-year span was 1964, 1966 and 1969.

Going For Seconds

The 1964 Princeton team is the only one in school history to go 7-0 in league play since the Ivy League officially formed before the 1956 season.

Han Solo

Of Princeton's 12 Ivy League championships, only three have come as outright titles (1957, 1964, 1995). The 1995 Tigers clinched the solo championship with a game-tying field goal on the final play of the season finale. Thus, the last team to win its finale to claim an outright title was (you guessed it) the 1964 Tigers.

A TIGER WIN WOULD ...

- clinch Princeton's fourth outright Ivy League title, and 1st since 1995 (12 overall)
- clinch Princeton's first perfect season since 1964 (both Ivy and overall)
- give Princeton its second perfect Ivy mark since league play officially began in 1956
- give Princeton its first season with double-digit wins and no losses since 1903 (11-0)

Top Of The Line

Princeton ranks either first or second in the Ivy League in every major offensive and defensive team statistic; the Tigers are first in scoring, total and rushing offense, and they are second in passing offense, as well as total/scoring/rushing/passing defense.

Point, Counterpoint

Princeton has the nation's top-ranked scoring offense at 47.6 points per game. The Tigers also have the No. 3 total offense and the No. 6 rushing offense, thanks in large part to a 489-yard effort on the ground last weekend against Yale.

Targeting Other Tigers

Princeton has scored 428 points this season, the second-highest total in Ivy League history. The Tigers need nine points to match the Ivy record, which was set by Princeton during its 2013 Ivy championship season. That team was led by Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year Quinn Epperly, a senior quarterback who once mentored a freshman teammate named John Lovett. Let's see how his career progressed ...

You Gotta Lovett

Senior quarterback John Lovett, the 2016 Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year, can set an Ivy League record today with one rushing touchdown. He has rushed for at least one score in 19 straight games, which tied Yale's Mike McLeod (2006-08) for the league record last week.

Lovett is the second player in team history with at least 40 rushing TDs (41); he had two in the win at Yale. Keith Elias '94 has the record with 49. He also has a chance at breaking Princeton's career completion percentage mark; he is currently at 66.0%, while Jason Garrett has the record at 66.5%.

Lovett Or Leave It

John Lovett has played in 25 games since the start of the 2015 season; Princeton is 21-4 in those games, including 17-2 in the last 19.

Lovett has only played in one Penn game, a 28-0 victory in 2016 that helped the Tigers clinch a share of that championship. He rushed for a one-yard touchdown in that game.

Born To Run

Sophomore Collin Eaddy rushed for 266 yards in Princeton's 59-43 win at Yale last weekend, the sixth-highest single-game total in program history. He opened the game with a 75-yard touchdown run on the first play, and he added a 17-yard run on Princeton's next play from scrimmage (following an interception).

He had three career rushing touchdowns entering that game, and he doubled that total by scoring three at the Yale Bowl.

So Close

The single-game team rushing record for Princeton is 491 yards, set Oct. 5, 1957 against Columbia. Princeton rushed for 489 against Yale last week.

Only three players ran the ball at the Yale Bowl. Eaddy led the trio with 266 yards on 25 carries and three touchdowns, while Ryan Quigley added 11 rushes for 113 yards and two touchdowns. John Lovett had 110 yards and two touchdowns on 20 carries.

What A Catch

Senior receiver Jesper Horsted already owns the Princeton record for touchdown catches (25), but he is within striking distance of the record for career receptions. Horsted enters today's finale with 188 catches, while record holder Kevin Guthrie ended his career with 193.

Horsted could also surpass Guthrie into second place on the all-time receiving yards list at Princeton. He currently has 2,538 career yards, which is 108 behind Guthrie. The record holder is Derek Graham, who has 260 more receiving yards than Horsted.

Seeing Red

Princeton has 38 touchdowns in the red zone this season. No other Ivy League team has reached the red zone 38 times.

The Mark Of A Closer

Senior linebacker Mark Fossati had two interceptions in the win over Yale last weekend, including one that ended the Bulldogs' final offensive drive when the lead was trimmed to 16 points. Fossati shares the team lead in tackles with fellow senior co-captain Tom Johnson (58).

We're Honored

Princeton had the Offensive (Collin Eaddy), Defensive (Mark Fossati), and Special Teams (Nicolas Ramos) Players of the Week following Saturday's win at Yale. Ramos went 8-for-8 on PATs and added a field goal; he broke Princeton's single-season extra points record during the win.

I'll Take That

Junior TJ Floyd ranks second in the Ivy League with six interceptions this season. That total is the most for any Princeton player since Jay McCareins had nine during his 2015 All-America season. He is currently tied for sixth-most in single-season history; the Princeton record holder is former Superman/Ripley's star Dean Cain, who has 12 during the 1987 season.

Sack Exchange

Princeton and Penn enter today's game as the Ivy League leader in sacks (Penn first with 29; Princeton second with 26). Mike Wagner (4.5) and Samuel Wright (4.0) are the individual sack leaders for Princeton this season.

Right Turn

Princeton ranks second in the Ivy League and third in the nation with a +14 turnover margin, a figure that includes a +4 performance in the win at Yale last weekend. The Tigers have 19 takeaways this season and have only committed five turnovers over nine games.

Coach Speak

Head coach Bob Surace, a three-time finalist for FCS Coach of the Year honors and one of two men to win an Ivy League title as both a coach and player, went over the .500 mark as a Princeton head coach for the first time in his career with the win over Brown. That is made all the more remarkable by the fact that Surace went 2-20 in his first 22 games at his alma mater.

Working Sundays

Seth DeValve '16 became Princeton's highest-drafted player in the modern era when the Cleveland Browns selected him in the fourth round of the 2015 NFL Draft. He entered his third season with 70 catches and three touchdowns for the Browns, where he plays tight end. Chad Kanoff '18, the reigning Ivy Offensive Player of the Year, signed a contract with the Arizona Cardinals in the offseason and made the team's practice squad. Earlier this season, Caraun Reid '14 signed a contract with the Dallas Cowboys, and he had a sack in the Monday Night game against Tennessee.

The Crystal Ball

Princeton's next home game will be Sept. 21, 2019, when the season opens at home against Butler. The University will hold its annual bonfire to celebrate the sweep of Harvard and Yale tomorrow evening on Cannon Green.

Covering Princeton Football

@PUTigerFootball

The Princeton Football Class of 2019 has already made history, clinching at least a share of the program's 12th Ivy League championship last weekend. Now the senior members of this team feel greedy. They have won two of the last three Ivy League titles, but they can finish off a season unlike any other in more than 100 years of program history by completing a 10-0 season this Saturday. Their efforts on the field, in the classroom, and around campus have made them a credit to the University, and we ask that you join us in honoring them this Saturday at Powers Field before they play their final collegiate game.

Bob Surace '90, a man who both won an Ivy League title as an All-Ivy center and met his future wife while at Princeton, returned to his beloved alma mater on Dec. 23, 2009 with the goal of restoring the program to its past glory.

Over his first eight seasons, he has achieved that mark in record-breaking fashion.

Surace, a three-time finalist for the Eddie Robinson Jr. National Head Coach of the Year award, led Princeton to both the 2013 and 2016 Ivy League championships despite being picked to finish fifth in the preseason media poll both seasons.

Surace was named the Ivy League Head Coach of the Year in 2016 after leading Princeton to the program's 11th Ivy League championship. His team led the Ivy League in scoring, total and rushing offense, as well as scoring, total and rushing defense. Princeton had two All-America honorees, the Ivy League Offensive Player of the Year, a finalist for Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year, and 18 All-Ivy League players.

That championship performance came three seasons after the memorable 2013 championship season, when Princeton set Ivy League records in both total offense and scoring offense. Despite being picked to finish fifth in the league, and only two years removed from a 1-9 season, Surace guided Princeton to an 8-2 season and road victories over the top three teams in the preseason poll. Princeton, which averaged 43.7 points per game, saw quarterback Quinn Epperly earn the Bushnell Cup as the league's Top Offensive Player.

Surace, who is now in his ninth season at Princeton, has placed 99 players on the All-Ivy League throughout his tenure, and he has coached a Bushnell Cup recipient in five of the last six seasons, the most for any coach in the Ivy League. He has seen a quarterback win the Offensive Player of the Year honors in each of the last two seasons — John Lovett in 2016, and Chad Kanoff in 2017.

A former NFL assistant coach at Cincinnati, Surace has also seen three of his graduates — Mike Catapano, Caraun Reid, and Seth DeValve — get selected in the NFL Draft over the last six years.

DeValve (Cleveland, 4th round, 2016) and Reid (Detroit, 5th round, 2014) are the two highest-drafted Princeton players of the modern era of the NFL draft, and both have scored multiple touchdowns in their young NFL careers.

Reid also made Princeton history in two impressive ways. He became Princeton's first two-time First-Team All-America honoree in 20 years when he was named to the 2013 All-America team by The Sports Network, and he became the second player in program history to earn an invitation to the Senior Bowl.

In 2016, Lovett became the first offensive player to earn First-Team All-America honors since Keith Elias; incidentally, Lovett broke Elias' single-season rushing touchdown record during the 2016 Ivy championship season. Last season, Kanoff broke the Ivy League record for single-season passing yards while rewriting the Princeton record book in both single-season and career marks.

The 22nd head coach at Princeton, Surace was a first-team All-Ivy center when he helped the 1989 Tigers to a 6-1 league mark and a share of the Ivy title. In addition to his tenure with the Bengals, Surace was also the head coach at Division III Western Connecticut State University, where he put together an 18-3 record in 2000 and 2001.

Surace (pronounced "suh-RACE") had served as assistant offensive line coach for the Bengals for the last six years of his time with Cincinnati; prior to that, he served two seasons as an offensive staff assistant. In addition to his work with the line, he played a key role in the entire offensive staff's game preparation. In 2009, that offense helped the Bengals to a 10-6 record and a sweep of their AFC North rivals, including the defending Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers.

His wife, Lisa, was a four-time letterwinner in women's soccer at Princeton and is a member of the Class of 1992. She holds a Ph.D. in psychology and is now the Lower School Head at Princeton Day School.

They have a daughter, Alison, and a son, A.J.
