MY DECEMBER - FADIMA TALL

•Fadima Tall was honored as the Ivy League Player of the Week on Monday.

•Tall has had a remarkable start to begin the season, posting 24.8 points on 51.6 percent shooting, along with 11.8 rebounds per game.

•Tall had a career-high 29 points and 22 rebounds as Princeton used a 10-0 fourth quarter sprint to separate from Belmont. The last Princeton player to secure at least 25 points and 20 rebounds was Ellen DeVoe vs. LIU on Jan. 7, 1985 (38 points, 23 rebounds).

•There is at least one other recorded 25 and 20 game in Princeton history with Margaret Meier posting 34 points and 24 rebounds vs. Mercy on Feb. 24, 1977.

•According to Jenn Hatfield of IX Sports, Tall is the first Ivy player to record 25 points and 20 rebounds in a game since at least 2008-09.

•She followed that with 27 points and 10 rebounds in a comeback victory over Richmond.

•Tall ended last weekend with 15 points, eight rebounds, five assists, two steals and a block as the Tigers once again rallied to drop Murray State.

•Tall would then contribute 28 points on 8-of-12 shooting, adding seven boards in the decision over Villanova.

•Before the season, Tall was named to the Becky Hammon Mid-Major Player of the Year Award presented by HerHoopStats Preseason Watch List. She was one of 25 players named to the list. This year's watch list includes representatives from 21 teams and 16 conferences.

•Tall is a two-time second-team All-Ivy performer who was the conference tournament's Most Outstanding Player last season.

•She posted a double-double with 11 points and 10 rebounds vs. Brown in the semifinal before leading all scorers with 20 points along with seven rebounds and four steals vs. Harvard in the championship.

•Last year, she improved her shooting percentage (.459), three-point field goal percentage (.361), free throw percentage (.846), rebounding (7.4) and scoring (13.0).

•For her career, Tall has played in 75 games and has averaged 10.7 points, 6.1 rebounds, 1.8 assists and 1.6 steals per game.

BREAKING THE HABIT - DIFFERENT LEADER

•For the first time in eight seasons, the Princeton Women's Basketball Team will be under new leadership as Lauren Gosselin was named head coach in April of 2026 after Carla Berube was hired as the head coach of Northwestern.

•With Gosselin on staff, Princeton has won five Ivy League championships, going 151-29 overall (.838) along with a 77-7 mark (.916) in Ivy play during the regular season.

•During her time with the Tigers, Gosselin has coached three Ivy League Player of the Year selections, three-time Ivy Defensive Player of the Year Ellie Mitchell, three WNBA Draft selections and 21 All-Ivy selections.

•Edwards is in her third season with Princeton in 2026-27 and has been a part of two NCAA squads.

•Ross spent the previous season at Utah where she also played, registering 128 games and four NCAA Tournaments. She was on the Utes' squad that defeated Princeton in the second round of the 2023 NCAA Tournament, scoring 15 points against the Tigers.

•Stone '23 returns to Princeton as the Director of Basketball Operations. Stone played professionally in Australia, Finland and Cyprus before getting into coaching. She was a two-time All-Conference player at Princeton, graduating third all-time in games played (118) and fifth in free throw percentage (.802).

•The Tigers were selected as the No. 1 team in the Ivy League preseason poll. The Tigers earned 15 of the 21 first-place votes and 161 points overall.

•Columbia earned five first place tallies and 149 points while Harvard corralled the other first place vote and 131 points. Penn nabbed fourth place (104) while Brown (74), Cornell (60), Yale (48) and Dartmouth (29) round out the poll.

CASTLE OF GLASS - ABOUT LAST YEAR

•Princeton went 26-4 last year, winning an outright Ivy League regular season championship, claiming the Ivy League Tournament title with a win over Harvard, and making its seventh consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. The Tigers finished at No. 25 in the WBCA Coaches' Poll.

•The Tigers had five All-Ivy selections in Madison St. Rose, Skye Belker, Fadima Tall, Olivia Hutcherson and Ashley Chea while the staff was honored as Ivy Coaching Staff of the Year.

•St. Rose graduated but will do a fifth year at Notre Dame this season. She was a two-time All-Ivy selection including first team honors in 2026. St. Rose graduated 15th all-time in points (1,215).

•It was the second All-Ivy honor for Belker, Tall and Chea while Hutcherson was picked for her first All-Ivy accolade.

•Chea has earned her second All-Ivy selection (first team, 2025) after averaging 9.8 points, 3.8 assists and 2.8 rebounds per game. She set a new personal high with 113 assists along with steals (43) and free throw percentage (.808).

BREAKING THE HABIT - TELEVISION

•Princeton will be on linear television six times this season. The Tigers will have three games on national television with the contest at UCLA (Nov. 15, Big Ten Network), Rice (Dec. 5, ESPNU) and another Ivy game to be announced later.

Head coach Lauren Gosselin's team will play three times on NBC Sports Philadelphia and SNY vs. Villanova (Nov. 10), Penn (Jan. 5) and Yale (Jan. 9).

SHADOW OF THE DAY - NATIONAL RANKED GAMES

•Princeton is 4-33 all-time against nationally ranked teams.

•The program's last ranked win was over No. 20 Oklahoma on Thanksgiving in 2023.

•Before the 2021-22 season, the Tigers had one program victory over a top-25 team, coming on Jan. 5, 1978, a 70-57 decision over No. 18 Rutgers. Princeton proceeded to collect two during that 2021-22 campaign. Carla Berube's crew took down No. 15 Kentucky in the first round of the 2022 NCAA Tournament.

•In December of 2021, the Tigers defeated No. 22 Florida Gulf Coast, 58-55, the program's first top-25 victory in 43 years.

•After the Rutgers game in 1978, the Tigers did not face another top-25 opponent for 24 years until battling No. 7 Stanford on Nov. 29, 2002. Princeton went on to face 24 more top-25 squads and went 0-24, until the 2021 game against FGCU.

WAITING FOR THE END - NCAA TOURNAMENT INFO.

•Last season was the Tigers' 13th trip to the NCAA Tournament and seventh consecutive appearance overall dating back to 2018. All of the program's NCAA bids have been from 2010 on.

•Princeton earned the Ivy League's automatic bid after winning the Ivy Tournament Championship over Harvard, 63-53. The Crimson did not score a basket over the final 4:01 game action as Princeton ended the game with a 12-2 run.

•Fadima Tall was honored as the Ivy League Tournament's Most Outstanding Player, the third Tiger (Bella Alarie twice, Kaitlyn Chen three) to earn that.

Tall posted a double-double against Brown in the semifinal (11 points and 10 rebounds) and 20 points and seven rebounds vs. Harvard in the final. Ashley Chea was selected to the All-Tournament Team as well.

•In 2024-25, the Tigers fell to Iowa State in one of the NCAA First Four contests while the Ivy League earned three bids in the NCAA Tournament. Princeton was a No. 10 seed as one of the last four teams in.

•Columbia was selected as a No. 11 seed while Harvard earned the automatic qualifier and a No. 10 seed. The Lions defeated Washington in one of the First Four games.

•In 2024, the Tigers fell to No. 8 seeded West Virginia, 63-53, in the first round.

•The Tigers reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament for the second consecutive year in 2023 after defeating NC State 64-63 on a game-winning three by Grace Stone with 4.7 seconds to go.

•Princeton fell in the second round to No. 8 nationally ranked Utah, 63-56, finishing 24-6 overall.

•During the 2021-22 season, Berube's unit defeated No. 6 seeded Kentucky, the SEC Champion, 69-62, in the first round, the program's second-ever NCAA victory.

•Princeton would then take No. 3 Indiana to the limit in the second round, falling to the hosts at Assembly Hall, 56-55.

•Before the 2021-22 campaign, the Tigers last appeared in the NCAA Tournament in 2019, dropping an 82-77 decision to No. 17 Kentucky.

•The Tigers' first NCAA Tournament win was an 80-70 decision over No. 9 seeded Green Bay in 2015.

•It was the second Ivy League victory (Harvard in 1998 over Stanford) in the NCAA Tournament. Princeton finished that season at 31-1 overall.

•The program has been seeded as low as No. 12 and as high as No. 8. The Tigers' No. 8 seed in 2015 is the highest seed ever by an Ivy school in the NCAAs.

•Despite finishing second in the conference, Princeton became the first Ivy school to earn an NCAA at-large bid in 2016. The Tigers lost a 74-65 contest to No. 6 seed West Virginia. Columbia became the second Ivy squad in 2024.

NEW DIVIDE - IVY TOURNAMENT INFO.

•The Tigers have won six Ivy League Tournament titles (2018, 2019, 2022, 2023, 2024, 2026). Princeton lost to the eventual champion, Harvard, in the 2025 Ivy Semifinal.

•Bella Alarie (twice), Kaitlyn Chen (three times) and Fadima Tall (2026) have won six Tournament Most Outstanding Player awards for Princeton.

•Princeton has had 18 All-Tournament selections in Alarie (three), Abby Meyers (twice) Leslie Robinson (twice), Chen (three), Gabrielle Rush, Carlie Littlefield, Julia Cunningham, Ellie Mitchell, Madison St. Rose, Skye Belker, Fadima Tall and Ashley Chea.

CRAWLING - KAITLYN CHEN

•Kaitlyn Chen '24 was a vital bench piece for the WNBA Champion Golden State Valkyries. She's averaged 7.2 points per game in 15.3 minutes off the bench becoming the first Ivy League women's player to ever win a WNBA crown.

•A three-time Ivy League Tournament Most Outstanding Player, Chen was the gold standard during the best stretch of Princeton Women's Basketball history. In just three playing seasons, Chen led the Tigers to three Ivy League titles, three Ivy League Tournament crowns and three NCAA Tournament appearances.

•The true definition of a student-athlete, Chen was named a College Sports Communicators Second Team Academic All-American as a senior, the program's first since 2016, after finishing her Tiger career with 1,276 points and 359 assists.

•In her graduate season Chen started every game for the 2025 National Champion UConn Huskies, averaging 7.1 points, 3.2 assists and 1.8 rebounds per game. The former Tiger would later be drafted by the Valkyries in the 2025 WNBA Draft.

•She became the ninth Ivy League player overall and fourth Princeton alumnae (Abby Meyers, Bella Alarie and Leslie Robinson) to be picked in the WNBA draft.

•After being cut by the Valkyries during her rookie season, she would later come back and play in 24 games for the team, helping them reach the playoffs in 2025.

•Chen will also play in the Unrivaled League for the second consecutive year.

BLEED IT OUT - NUGGETS

•Princeton's overtime victory on the road at George Mason on Dec. 20, 2025 was the first time the Tigers have won in overtime on the road since a 92-83 decision at Harvard on Feb. 7, 2016.

•Princeton finishes each shootaround on the day of a game with a half-court shot. Skye Belker led the team with seven last season. Grace O'Sullivan hit the first one, followed by Skye Belker and Ava Yoon.

IN THE END - #PRINCETONPROS

•Parker Hill '25 is playing professionally in Germany with Saarlouis. Last season, she played with Helios Basket of the SB Women's League in Switzerland in the summer. She was the sixth Princeton alumnae to play professionally in 2025-26.

•She joined Blake Dietrick Seifert '15 (3XBA), Carlie Littlefield Friberg '21 (Elitzur Holon), Abby Meyers '22 (Maccabi Bnot Ashdod), Grace Stone '23 (Perry Lakes Hawks) and Kaitlyn Chen '24 (Golden State Valkyries).

• Abby Meyers '22 is currently with Maccabi Bnot Ashdod in Israel. Meyers got some playing time in the WNBA with the Washington Mystics and Dallas Wings. She was drafted in the first round of the 2023 WNBA Draft by the Wings.

•Friberg '21 is currently playing for Panteras in the Mexican LNBPF. Friberg played in Israel last year and has seen action in Slovakia and Belgium.

NUMB - BREAKFAST

•This is year six of the team ranking breakfast meals at each road trip's hotel. Emily Eadie '28 is in her second season as the ranker. Katie Thiers '25 did it in 2023-24 and 2024-25. Maggie Connolly '23 started it in 2021-22. Fort Myers (2023-24) and Harvard (2023-24) at 9.4 are the top two rankings of all-time.

•Last year, Eadie's top breakfast rankings were Harvard, LA (NCAA Tournament) at 9.0 followed by Yale at 8.2, Cornell at 7.2 with Dartmouth (6.8) and Georgia Tech (6.7) and Brown (6.4) rounding out the top five. Eadie ranked the Richmond breakfast at 6.9.

ONE STEP CLOSER - WRITER NOTES

•Since OAC contact Warren Croxton had his first child, Teresa, in March of 2022, the Tigers are 99-24 (.800) winning percentage) with two NCAA wins. The program produced only a .571 winning percentage and only one NCAA victory prior to Teresa's birth. The Tigers are also 75-17 (.815) since the birth of his son, Michael, in October of 2023.

•Each headline is a Linkin Park song since lead guitarist Brad Delson graduated from UCLA.

LAUREN GOSSELIN • HEAD COACH
1ST YEAR AS HC • 8TH YEAR OVERALL • BENTLEY '14

Lauren (Battista) Gosselin was named head coach of Princeton Women's Basketball on April 8th, 2026. She will begin her eight year with Princeton in 2026-27.

In six + seasons played with Gosselin on staff, Princeton has won five Ivy League championships, going 151-29 overall (.839) along with a 77-7 mark (.916) in Ivy play during the regular season.

During her time with the Tigers, Gosselin has coached three Ivy League Player of the Year selections, three-time Ivy Defensive Player of the Year Ellie Mitchell, three WNBA Draft selections and 21 All-Ivy selections.

2025-26 was another banner campaign for the Tigers as they went 26-4, winning an outright Ivy League regular season championship, claiming the Ivy League Tournament title with a win over Harvard, and making its fifth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. The Tigers finished No. 25 in the final WBCA Poll and had five All-Ivy selections. Gosselin was part of the staff that was named Ivy League Coaching Staff of the Year.

Princeton has maintained its consistent presence in the postseason with Gosselin on the sidelines as she helped the program win four Ivy Tournament championships, earn five NCAA Tournament bids – with a sixth likely to have come in the COVID-shortened 2020 season and win two NCAA Tournament games against No. 6 seed Kentucky in 2022 and No. 7 seed NC State in 2023.

Princeton went 21-8 in 2024-25 and collected a Net Ranking of 46, adding four combined quad 1/2 victories. The Tigers placed second in the Ivy League and received an at-large bid in the NCAA Tournament. Princeton had four earn All-Ivy selections highlighted by Ashley Chea's unanimous First-Team honor.

The 2023-24 season saw the Tigers win their fifth consecutive Ivy League Tournament title, nabbing a No. 9 seed in the NCAA Tournament. Princeton finished with a Net Ranking of 35 overall and had one of the toughest non-conference schedules in the country, taking on No. 3 UCLA on the road in addition to No. 20 Oklahoma and No. 19 Indiana on a neutral floor. The Tigers' victory over Oklahoma was the fourth top-25 win in program history.

The 2022-23 season had Women's Basketball go 24-6, advancing to the Second Round of the NCAA Tournament for the second straight year becoming the first Ivy team to do that since Harvard men's team in 2013 and 2014. After starting the Ivy campaign 0-2, the Tigers ripped off 12 straight before sweeping both games at home in the Ivy Tournament for their second straight crown and earning a bid to the NCAAs. With the team's victory over NC State in the first round of the NCAA Tournament, it marked the first time an Ivy League school has had its men's and women's teams both win in the NCAA in the same year.

The 2021-22 season saw Princeton finish with a 25-5 record, advancing to the Second Round of the NCAA Tournament for just the second time in program history. After a second consecutive undefeated regular season championship in the Ivy League, the Tigers swept both games of the Ivy League Tournament to claim the Ivy Tournament title and earn an automatic bid to NCAAs.

Seeded No. 11, the Tigers knocked off No. 6 Kentucky -- the SEC Tournament champion -- in the First Round, 69-62. Princeton would then take No. 3 Indiana to the limit in the Second Round, falling to the hosts at Assembly Hall, 56-55.

The win over Kentucky was one of two Princeton victories over Top-25 opponents during the 2021-22 season. In addition to the win over the Wildcats, who were ranked No. 15 in AP Poll at the time, Gosselin and the Tigers knocked off No. 22 Florida Gulf Coast on the road, 58-55, for the program's first win over a Top-25 opponent in 43 years.

During the 2021-22 season, Gosselin again coached the Ivy League Player of the Year in unanimous selection Abby Meyers who was also named unanimous first-team All-Ivy. Ellie Mitchell was named Ivy League Defensive Player of the Year, while Julia Cunningham (first team) and Grace Stone (honorable mention) also garnered All-Ivy honors.

The Tigers went 26-1 overall in 2019-20 and finished with a 22-game winning streak. The Tigers' streak was the second longest in the country behind No. 1 South Carolina. The unit wrapped up the campaign with a RPI of No. 9, the best mark in Ivy history and went undefeated in conference play before the postseason was cancelled due to the Coronavirus. Bella Alarie was one of three players to be named All-Ivy as she was honored with her third straight Ivy Player of the Year award. Carlie Littlefield was first-team All-Ivy for the second consecutive season while Julia Cunningham was honored with honorable mention accolades.

Gosselin came to Princeton from Tufts University, where she served as an assistant coach under Carla Berube during the 2018-19 season. During that season, the Jumbos went 28-3 and won their 3rd NESCAC Championship, beating undefeated and top-ranked Bowdoin in the final. Tufts also advanced to the NCAA Division III Elite Eight.

Prior to her time at Tufts, Gosselin was a graduate assistant at Boston College while securing her master's degree in Leadership and Administration. Before BC, Gosselin was at the NCAA office in a postgraduate internship program, helping the women's basketball staff with the NCAA Tournament and Final Four.

Gosselin graduated from Bentley University in 2014. She was a 4-year starter, 3-time All-American, and 2-year team captain for the nationally ranked Falcons. Her senior year was spectacular as she led the team to the Division II national title with an undefeated 35-0 season. She earned national recognition as the WBCA Division II National Player of the Year, the Capital One Academic All-American of the Year, CWSA/Honda Division II Athlete of the Year, and an NCAA Today's Top 10 Award honoree. She graduated as the all-time leading scorer in Bentley history, scoring over 2,100 points. Gosselin graduated summa cum laude with a degree in marketing and minor in finance.

Gosselin resides in Princeton with her husband, Andrew, and son, Lucas.

LINDSAY WERNER - ASSOCIATE HEAD COACH

Werner begins her first season with Princeton Women's Basketball in 2026-27. She was hired in May of 2026.

Werner spent the previous season at Holy Cross where she helped the Crusaders to a Patriot League Tournament title. Werner was key in the development of the guards on the roster while also playing an active part in recruiting, practice structure and scouting.

"I couldn't be more excited and honored to be joining Princeton Women's Basketball at such an incredible time," said Werner upon her hiring. "The success the program has already achieved speaks for itself and maintaining that expectation of excellence is the clear goal. I truly believe in Lauren and the vision she's building - she's a proven winner, but even more importantly, an amazing person who brings out the best in everyone around her. I'm fired up to get started and be part of what's next!"

"Lindsay and I have gotten to know each other as our paths crisscrossed over the past decade, and I am thrilled to finally team up with her," said Princeton head coach Lauren Gosselin. "She brings valuable experience to our staff, having worked with successful, high-academic programs throughout her career and alongside head coaches whom I admire and respect. She is someone you want on your team and your staff–passionate about the game, high-energy, relationship-driven, and committed to the holistic student-athlete experience. Winning seems to follow Lindsay wherever she goes, and I can't wait for her to contribute to our success here at Princeton."

Prior to her time at Holy Cross, Werner was at Vermont where she helped the Catamounts to the American East Championship. Previously, she was an assistant at the University of New Hampshire and Harvard.

Werner graduated from Merrimack College in 2019, where she was a four-year starter and was a two-time All-Northeast 10 player. She registered over 1,100 points and broke the program record for most career three-pointers (190) and single-season mark for three-pointers (70).

JORDAN EDWARDS - ASSISTANT COACH/ RECRUITING COORDINATOR

Edwards is in her third season with Princeton Women's Basketball in 2026-27.

2025-26 was another banner campaign for the Tigers as they went 26-4, winning an outright Ivy League regular season championship, claiming the Ivy League Tournament title with a win over Harvard, and making its fifth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. The Tigers finished No. 25 in the final WBCA Poll and had five All-Ivy selections. Gosselin was part of the staff that was named Ivy League Coaching Staff of the Year.

Princeton went 21-8 in 2024-25 and collected a Net Ranking of 46, adding four combined quad 1/2 victories. The Tigers placed second in the Ivy League and received an at-large bid in the NCAA Tournament. Princeton had four earn All-Ivy selections highlighted by Ashley Chea's unanimous First-Team honor.

Edwards comes from High Point where she spent the previous season as an assistant coach/Director of Operations. The Panthers won 20 games and reached the WBIT in 2023-24.

Previously, Edwards played for three seasons at High Point, helping the Panthers to its first NCAA Tournament in 2021.Edwards averaged 7.1 points, 4.2 assists and 3.1 rebounds per game in 87 contests. She also saw action in 61 contests at Niagara before transferring to High Point.

JENNA ROSS - ASSISTANT COACH

Jenna Ross will begin her first season with Princeton Women's Basketball in 2026-27. She was hired in May of 2026.

Ross spent the last season as an assistant at Utah where she helped developed post players, assisted in recruiting activities, directed the summer youth camp and managed alumni relations.

"I'm grateful for the opportunity that Coach Gosselin has given me to join the Princeton women's basketball program," said Ross upon her hiring. "To be a part of such a prestigious university and storied program is exciting. I can't wait to work with this incredible group of coaches and players and continue competing for championships. Go Tigers!"

"Jenna is a rising star in the coaching profession, and I am excited to work with her to unlock her full potential as a coach," said Gosselin about Ross. "She is bright, driven, loyal, and ready to make an impact. After a fantastic playing career, she seamlessly transitioned into an assistant coaching role at her alma mater, and I can't wait for her to bring that wealth of knowledge and experience to Princeton. What stands out immediately when you speak with Jenna is her maturity and confidence. She will bring tremendous value to our student-athletes as she helps them build that same confidence on and off the court."

Ross graduated from Utah in 2025, having played 128 games with the Utes. She led Utah to four NCAA Tournaments, securing over 1,300 career points and 600 rebounds. Ross collected three All PAC-12 honors.

GRACE STONE '23 - DIRECTOR OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

Grace Stone '23 begins first season with Princeton Women's Basketball in 2026-27. She was hired in May of 2026.

Stone played professionally in Australia, Finland and Cyprus before getting into coaching. She was a two-time All-Conference player at Princeton, graduating third all-time in games played (118) and fifth in free throw percentage (.802). She posted 807 points, 408 rebounds and hit the biggest shot in Princeton history, the game-winning three-pointer vs. NC State in the first round of the 2023 NCAA Tournament.

"I am incredibly excited to be back with Princeton Women's Basketball," said Stone when hired. "My four years as a player were the best four years of my life. I can't wait to step back into the winning culture that is Princeton Women's Basketball and help the continued success of a program that has made me who I am. It feels good to be back and Go Tigers!"

"I am beyond thrilled to welcome Grace back to Princeton after a successful professional playing career," said Gosselin about Stone. "Having walked in our student-athletes' shoes not long ago, she will be an invaluable resource for our staff and team as we enter this new era. Grace is a winner who brings passion, energy, and a deep love for Princeton to this role, and I can't wait to see her thrive. She was part of some of the most successful teams in program history, and I know she will continue to make a meaningful impact in this new position. I am certain that all Tiger fans share my excitement about this hire!"
