My favorite memory from last season had to be the game in Seattle vs. Portland. The feeling and the intensity after we scored and the pressure they put on us was surreal. And to be able to come out on top with a man down was just incredible; one of the best feelings ever.

- Jerry Bradford

Seattle was a turning point in the season. It settled the tension between being realistic and dreaming big. You never want to peak too early. I think after that weekend, although nobody said it, we knew that this was going to be the best season of our careers.

Below are some of my favorite moments from this past year ...

- Actually getting to watch the rankings come out every week, knowing we were slowly inching towards the top, and were named #4 at some point. Being one of the four best teams in the country is just insane.
- Winning the Big Ten Tournament, and knowing how it feels to be true champions.
- Realizing the emotions and sadness after losing two of your friends/family/teammates to an injury, but still moving forward and playing for them even harder than before.
- The connection of the 13 seniors to one another, coming to a great end. We're still all together and the bond has only gotten stronger over the years.
- Crossing the water at Snoqualmie Falls, and watching everyone fall.
- Eating at Red Robin, and actually being allowed to order milkshakes!

Evorokon & Bilecky
The All-Americans

Last year was the perfect ending to a long soccer career. The entire season was one suspenseful event after another. Everyone came back from the summer ready to win big and we did. The fall started off with huge wins at the Washington tournament making us the first team to win it other than Portland or Washington in 14 years. Beating #1 Portland was a dream come true and an unforgettable memory.

We went on to take second in the Big Ten Conference and nabbed award after award before sweeping the Big Ten Tournament.

Last season was a dream come true for all of us. We came together as a team and sacrificed for each other on and off the field creating unbreakable bonds between us. The awards, spotlight, television, and interviews were what the public saw, but what I remember best were the songs we sang on the bus, the ice cream stops, the jokes, Halloween outfits, bonfires, Jill trying to do ladders, handstands in Mollenkopf, haunted hotel rooms, Vama's fear of spiders, long deep talks, playing cards on the bus, teammates getting Klatte-eyed, and of course the exuberating feeling one only gets after passing cones. Although my Purdue career has ended I will always look back on my time here and remember it as one of the most extraordinary experiences of my life.

There was one memory that always comes to mind when I think about last season and that was the whole Big Ten trip that Roya, Lauren, Emily, and I took together to watch the team play up in my home state of Minnesota. We spent a majority of our time trying to figure out what we would wear to the next game, which was some pretty crazy stuff.

Even though we weren't on the field, it felt like we were included throughout the whole tournament; the team came to my house for dinner, they did the cheer over the fence with us, and threw us champions hats and tshirts when we won the title. Everything was hilarious and fun about that weekend and definitely the best weekend trip I've ever been on.

-Katie Becker-

My favorite memory was us coming together as a team and facing adversity to win the Big Ten Tournament. Also just all the little things like always begging Rob to get us icecream after every game.

-Jessica Okunaga-

Shauna Stapleton scored a pair of goals off set plays, leading Purdue to a 3-1 win over Washington at the Husky Soccer Field. Stapleton's first score came off a 35-yard free kick in the 18th minute and tied the game at 1-1. Washington goalkeeper Taylor Carr backpedaled to make the catch, but the ball dropped off her fingertips and over the goal line. Stapleton gave Purdue the lead for good in the 31st minute after hooking a corner kick inside the far post. Loredana Riverso recorded Purdue's third and final goal in the 88th minute off an assist from Felicia Schroeder. The Boilermakers were attempting to kill time but were presented the insurance-goal opportunity after catching Carr out of position inside their attacking third. Washington controlled the game early and grabbed a lead in the 13th minute after Dani Bridges slipped a Veronica Perez-Murillo assist inside the near post from eight yards away. Washington recorded five more shots after Bridges' goal, but only one was on target as Purdue goalkeeper Jenny Bradfish finished with two saves. Purdue lost to Louisville 1-0 for the rights to the Boilermaker Challenge Cup. The Boilermakers pressured the Cardinals for 90 minutes, creating 23 shots and nine corner kicks, but a Louisville free kick in the 82nd minute proved to be the difference maker. Following a foul at the corner of the 18-yard box, Louisville midfielder Monique Gjini floated a shot above Purdue's defensive wall and into the far side of the net. The Boilermakers' miscue spoiled an otherwise solid effort on defense as it limited Louisville to four shots. Cardinal goalkeeper Joanna Haig was credited with six saves in the shutout victory.

The Boilermakers recorded the biggest win of their 10-year history with a 1-0 shutout of No. 1 Portland at the Nike/Husky Invitational. Shauna Stapleton headed in the game-winner at the 58th minute off a Parrissa Eyorokon corner kick. Eyorokon served her kick to the far post, where it was first popped up by Jessica Okoroafo. Stapleton followed the ball and timed her jump perfectly to smack it right into the side of the net. Purdue scored its goal minutes after defensive back Zarinah Blockton received a red card and was ejected from the game for fighting with Portland's Rachael Rapinoe. Purdue remained focused after Blockton's ejection, bottling up the Portland attackers inside the 18-yard box. The Pilots recorded only 10 shots and just three were on goal as Jenny Bradfish pitched her second shutout of the year. The Pilots rifled off five shots in the last 13 minutes, but two were blocked, two more sailed high and one went wide. Okoroafo led the Boilermakers with three shots. The other two attempts were recorded by Stapleton and Jordyn Shaffer. Natalie Budge and Rapinoe led Portland with three shots, with four others shooting just once.

Eyorokon netted an insurance strike off an assist from Loredana Riverso in the 69th minute, and Burrell buried her first career goal with less than four minutes left in regulation. Purdue's defense held Xavier to two shots, which is among the lowest outputs by a Boilermaker opponent. Purdue fired 19 shots with six on goal, while Michigan blasted 16 shots with two on goal. Both clubs also were presented with six corner kick opportunities. The Boilermakers' defensive effort was led by Kira Bilecky, who made her presence known all over the field. Bilecky played with the aggression of a free safety in football, running up to block shots, heading out corner kicks, and hustling toward the sidelines to keep the ball in bounds. Parrissa Eyorokon led the Boilermakers with four shots and Jordyn Shaffer and Jessica Okoroafo each took three. Purdue posted its third straight unbeaten Big Ten weekend following a 3-1 win over Minnesota. Parrissa Eyorokon set the tone for the Boilermaker offense, scoring 41 seconds after the opening whistle. Eyorokon's goal was initiated by a Shauna Stapleton corner kick. Stapleton's kick sailed wide of the goal mouth where it was played by two Boilermakers before finding its way to Eyorokon, who fired an eight-yard strike past Minnesota goalkeeper Chelsea Turner. Eyorokon later earned her third point of the day, providing one of two assists on Jessica Okoroafo's eventual game-winner in the 34th minute. A season-best crowd of 1,138 witnessed Purdue extend its home winning streak to 11 - and unbeaten streak to 15 - with a 2-1 victory over Illinois. Purdue's goals were scored by Shauna Stapleton and Parrissa Eyorokon in the 65th and 67th minutes. Jessica Levitt lit the Illinois side of the scoreboard with five seconds remaining in the match after the Boilermakers failed to clear a loose ball out of the goal mouth. Stapleton's goal came off a penalty kick, which was her second successful attempt in as many tries this season. The eventual game-winning score was initiated by a throw-in by Liz Secue. Her pass hit Loredana Rivero, who raced the ball toward midfield and split two defenders with a well-timed pass to Eyorokon.

Purdue snapped Ohio State's 11-match home-winning streak with a 3-1 victory at Jesse Owens Memorial Stadium. The Boilermakers' 15th win also established a program record for season victories. Ohio State jumped out to a 1-0 lead in the fourth minute after Keiana Mitchell headed in a Alex Burzynski corner kick from inside the six-yard box, but the Buckeyes' would only record three more shots all game as the Boilermakers scored three unanswered goals. Parrissa Eyorokon provided the game-tying assist to Sylvia Forbes in the 40th minute and scored the game-winner in the 61st. Purdue clinched the match in the 83rd minute when a shot taken by Felicia Schroeder deflected off a OSU defender's shin inside the goal mouth.

No. 8 PURDUE.....	7

The Boilermakers lost the Big Ten title to Penn State by just two points, so they took out their frustrations on arch-rival Indiana with a 7-0 home victory. The scoring attack was relentless as Purdue recorded two goals in the first six minutes and five in just over a half hour. The Boilermakers then added two more goals within a three-minute span early in the second half. Neither team scored more than two goals over the other in 10 previous meetings, yet it was 3-0 by the 13th minute. The front line of Parrissa Eyorokon, Loredana Rivero and Jessica Okoroafo combined for six goals and four assists in front of 462 fans. Okoroafo's hat trick was only the second in program history and first since Courtney Coppedge accomplished the feat Sept. 7, 2003 vs. Arkansas. Purdue recorded 24 shots, placing 12 on frame. IU goalkeeper Lauren Hollandsworth made only three saves while her teammates were credited with two. Indiana's offense was limited to four shots each half and only put two on goal as the Boilermakers recorded their 11th shutout of the season. Purdue's seven goals matched its output from a 7-0 win at Valparaiso on Sept. 7, 2000. The Boilermakers scored eight times against Evansville at Illinois in September of 2003.

#7 Northwestern.....	1
#2/No. 8 PURDUE.....	3

The Boilermakers advanced to the Big Ten Tournament semifinals following a 3-1 win over Northwestern, but moved on without the services of Parrissa Eyorokon. The senior attacker was injured early in the first half shortly after Northwestern grabbed a 1-0 lead. Kelsey Hans' goal was an 18-yard shot that hit the top corner. Purdue responded with an equalizer in the 13th minute when Shauna Stapleton connected with Loredana Rivero. Stapleton whipped around a defender inside the attacking third and delivered a cross to Rivero inside the six. Rivero scored again late in the second half to put the match out of reach. The game-winning goal was ruled a Northwestern own goal in the 34th minute. A shot taken by Felicia Schroeder from inside the six-yard box was kicked across the goal line by a NU defensive back who was trying to stop the ball. Purdue's defense limited NU to six shots after its goal, three of which were saved by Jenny Bradfisch. Purdue recorded 26 shots, placing 16 on frame. NU's Lauren Johnson was credited with 13 saves.

Purdue blanked Illinois 3-0 in the semifinals of the Big Ten Tournament. The Boilermakers started by connecting on two strikes less than four minutes apart early in the first half. Loredana Rivero scored three seconds into the 11th minute on assists from Sylvia Forbes and Kalie Grambeau, then Shauna Stapleton delivered a top-drawer shot over Lindsey Carstens from beyond the 18-yard line. Jessica Okoroafo's score in the 89th minute clinched the Boilermaker victory as the junior scored on a wide-open goal. The Boilermakers were trying to kill clock late in the match, which forced Carstens to play at midfield and keep the ball in Illinois territory. Okoroafo ran past a defender to block Carstens' punt and returned it over 60-yards for the empty-netter. Carstens finished the match with three saves as Purdue recorded nine shots with six on frame. Boilermaker goalkeeper Jenny Bradfisch came through with four saves on seven shots faced, giving Purdue its 12th shutout of the season.

Purdue received its first Big Ten trophy after defeating Ohio State 3-1 at Robbie Stadium. Shauna Stapleton, who provided two assists, was named Big Ten Tournament Offensive MVP. Defensive MVP honors were presented to midfielder Jordyn Shaffer, who helped the Boilermakers control the point of possession throughout the weekend. Stapleton's first assist came off her corner kick in the ninth minute, which she served to the far side of the six-yard box where it was headed in by Kira Bilecky. Stapleton delivered the eventual game-winning assist in the 25th minute, feeding Jessica Okoroafo, who blasted a shot into the upper corner over goalkeeper Lauren Robertson. Purdue's two-goal cushion was reduced to one in the 68th minute after the Buckeyes banked in a corner kick the Boilermakers could not push outside the 18-yard box. The ball landed at near post, where it was hooked under the crossbar by Caitlin Colfer. Courtney Jenkins and Lara Dickenmann were credited with assists. The Boilermakers pushed their lead back to two after Loredana Rivero redirected a deep ball served forward by Jessica Stellhorn. Purdue outshot Ohio State 13-7 and placed eight shots on frame. Robertson was forced to make five saves, while Purdue's Jenny Bradfisch made three.
