NEW YEAR, NEW CULTURE

- The Boilermakers are ALL-IN this season under head coach Katie Gearlds. Gearlds, who took over the program a mere 47 days prior last year, had a full offseason to establish a new culture and bring back elite expectations to this storied program.
- On top of spending the full offseason implementing an overhaul of the offense and defensive principles (rather than adjusting on the fly last year), the squad spent the summer building a culture centered on leadership and excellence on and off the court.
- Prior to the first practice of the year, the coaching staff asked the team for goals. The primary goal was taking the next step for the program and return it to the NCAA Tournament.

STARTING FIVE RETURNS

- The Boilermakers brought back their entire starting lineup from 2021-22 with 145 of a possible 160 starts back in West Lafayette.
- Aided by the NCAA waiver following the COVID-19 pandemic, Cassidy Hardin will become just the third player to play in five different seasons in program history.
- The five returners match the most by a Boilermaker squad in the last 10 years, joining the 2019-20 campaign.
- Even with Rickie Woltman, Cassidy Hardin, Jeanae Terry, Madison Layden and Abbey Ellis back for another year in West Lafayette, transfers Lasha Petree and Caitlyn Harper will enter their names into the lineup, meaning Purdue will have an experienced group coming off the bench.
