Owl Club Annual Report

WELCOME

We are pleased to present the 2012-13 Owl Club Annual Report. This past year was remarkably eventful, and the following pages not only recap the success we enjoyed as a department, but also help set the stage for the great things that lay ahead. We are proud of our student-athletes' continued excellence and dedication in the classroom and community. The annual report will chronicle the many competitive, academic and athletic accomplishments of our student-athletes during the previous academic year as well as provide a look at where some of our graduates are today.

This Owl Club Annual Report is provided yearly to Rice Athletics donors who, through their generosity, provide scholarships and other means of support for more than 350 deserving student-athletes. Our hope for the annual report is to recognize every Rice Owl Club member who played a role in generating $1.815 million during the fiscal year and provide our stakeholders a transparent view as it relates to Rice Athletics finances, fundraising totals by designations, and an overview of the expanded and increased impact of our donors' contributions on the lives of our student-athletes.

This is an exciting time to be a part of Rice Athletics. Please enjoy this year's report as we celebrate the accomplishments of the past while looking forward to the challenges ahead.

Thank you for your continued support. Go Owls!

FROM THE PRESIDENT

Thank you for your contributions to the Owl Club. I am pleased to present you with this report on Rice Athletics and the accomplishments of our outstanding student-athletes, who make us proud on the field and off. Your choice to invest in our student-athletes doesn't just underscore the importance of college athletics broadly, but more so, it reaffirms the educational experience we offer here at Rice — one that is uncommonly great at transforming student-athletes into leaders across the spectrum of the human endeavor.

Being a student-athlete at Rice is not easy, physically or academically. Stepping up to the challenges presented by coaches and professors requires a significant amount of time management, discipline and hard work. Your contributions play an important role in fostering our students' success and helping us prepare them for the next stage of their lives.

Year in and year out, our graduates bring the skills, morals and attributes they developed as student-athletes at Rice into their professional lives, whether they continue their careers in the professional sports arena or represent the newest generation of CEOs, doctors, lawyers, educators, consultants, entrepreneurs and managers. Empowered by their educations, nearly all of them will invent, create and discover ways to improve the world we live in and positively influence others around them.

I hope you enjoy reading this year's annual report, which provides a more detailed look at how gifts like yours are benefiting our student-athletes and the athletic department. Your ongoing generosity to the Owl Club is crucial as we continue to develop future generations of the world's leaders. Thank you again for your support of Rice Athletics.

Warm regards,

FROM THE ATHLETICS DIRECTOR

I am so excited to begin work as your new director of athletics, recreation and lifetime fitness. I have felt welcomed by the Rice community, and I have experienced the passion of those who support our teams. Together, we have exciting work ahead of us.

We will not be successful because of the strength or talents of any single individual. Collectively, however, our coaches and staff, student-athletes, alumni and friends cannot be stopped. Rice Athletics has not reached its full potential, but thanks to your commitment and support, we will begin that journey today.

Certainly, our student-athletes are terrific representatives of the university. They are academically focused, curious and passionate about what they do. They value excellence and work diligently to excel in all facets of their busy lives. We must continue to support our student-athletes by being generous with our resources; attending games, matches, meets and tournaments; and bragging about them to our friends and neighbors. They make us proud each day and deserve our full engagement.

The Owl Club Annual Report was developed for you — our donors, fans, alumni and friends. We believe strongly in sharing the athletic and academic success of our teams with as broad an audience as possible. We also are committed to transparency as a means of building trust with those who support our program.

Thank you for all you have done to enable our success this past year. I look forward to working with you toward an even brighter future.

Best regards,

Joe Karlgaard, Ph.D.
Director of Athletics, Recreation and Lifetime Fitness

FROM THE OWL CLUB PRESIDENT

The Owl Club has had its best year for contributions for Rice's intercollegiate athletic programs. We have continued to add donors and increase contributions to reach even higher levels of excellence in all 16 programs. Thank you for your time, your donations and your attendance in support of Rice Athletics. A special thank you is also due to the athletic department staff who worked tirelessly and with great effort to reach out to our constituents and help make this happen.

So why do we do this year after year? We donate to the cause, we attend the athletic events, we attend the development events, and then we come back again. This is not a difficult question — we all know that we continue to come back to support our student-athletes.

Just as Rice University is considered exceptional and unique, our student-athletes are exceptional and in a class with few equals. We thank them for what they do and what they stand for. Year after year, our student-athletes:

- Achieve top graduation rates and exceptional GPAs in all programs.
- Achieve national and conference academic honors.
- Compete at the highest levels of Division I sporting events.
- Sacrifice many hours to improve their athletic skills.
- Represent the university in many community service projects.

For the coming year, please make a special effort to meet and talk with our student-athletes. You will see what exceptional young women and men we have in our programs and why they are outstanding ambassadors for the university. Keep in mind many of our student-athletes are in attendance at our Owl Club events.

When you read about the various scandals and excesses in collegiate sports and the changing conferences, you can be proud that our university, Rice's Athletics department and our student-athletes promote the real purpose and balance of academics and intercollegiate athletic competition.

Please be generous, and go Owls!

Steve Bradshaw '70
Owl Club Board of Directors President

Blake Fox
Baseball
Sophomore
Houston, Texas
Will Rice College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: BLAKE FOX

Rice sophomore Blake Fox is a two-way talent on the Owls' nationally ranked baseball team, contributing as both a left-handed first baseman and also as a relief pitcher. The southpaw from Houston turned his diverse skill set into a sensational college baseball debut season. In addition to posting an undefeated 6-0 record, with a save and a 3.41 ERA in 37 innings on the mound, Fox also worked his way into 14 starts as either a first baseman or as the designated hitter. After the season, he was named to the 2013 Louisville Slugger Freshman All-America Team selected by Collegiate Baseball Magazine.

Fox's on-field success, however, is only a small part of a distinct Rice University story that goes back two generations. Blake's cousin (Matt Fox), father (Mike Fox) and grandfather (Jim Fox) all played for the Owls before advancing to various levels of professional baseball in different minor league organizations. The newest member of the Fox legacy may have had a tough family act to follow when he joined the Owls baseball program last season, but he's already carved out his own distinct niche for the Blue and Gray.

"The scholarship that I received enabled me to pursue my dreams as a student and a ball player at Rice. Since I was a little kid, I always dreamed of being a Rice baseball player. Attending games with my father was always something that I looked forward to. I knew that I was destined to be at Rice because of my family legacy – I wanted to follow in the footsteps of my father, grandfather and second cousin. My scholarship has given me the opportunity to carry on the family legacy and fulfill my dream of being a mighty Rice Owl."

Throughout the year, Fox is involved with Agape, a Christian student organization, where he interacts with peers who share his ideals.

ACADEMICS

Graduation Rates and APR Highlights

For the eighth consecutive year, Rice University's intercollegiate athletic teams continue to shine in the NCAA Division I Academic Performance Program public recognition awards. Rice teams receiving these awards from the NCAA include football, men's golf, women's basketball, women's cross-country, women's soccer, women's swimming and women's tennis. It is the seventh-straight annual award for football, while women's cross-country and women's swimming have each won the award all eight years of its existence.

The Owls ranked sixth among all schools who compete in the Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS), having graduated 95 percent of all student-athletes who enrolled as freshmen from 2002-03 through 2005-06. Rice led schools with a 100 percent graduation rate among its African-American student-athletes, while Rice's football team was ranked fifth among all football teams, with a graduation rate of 93 percent over the same period. Rice's female student-athletes ranked fifth in the country with a 98 percent graduation rate.

The cumulative GPA for all 16 teams at Rice is 3.186.

Lovett College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: MARIAH RIDDLESPRIGGER

Mariah Riddlesprigger has been a fixture on Rice's volleyball squad for four seasons, ranking among the team leaders in both kills and digs each season. The Fresno, Calif., native emerged as one of the team's vocal leaders and even got to play in front of her hometown fans to start her senior season.

Riddlesprigger's successes haven't been limited to the court, as she's been named to the C-USA Commissioner's Honor Roll three times and is active within the athletic department, often spotted by fans working in the ticket office during baseball season.

"Receiving a scholarship from Rice University has given me the opportunity to turn my dreams into reality. Growing up, I was told that I was not tall enough to play volleyball at the Division I level, but I have been blessed with the opportunity to play the sport I love at a Division I institution. At a young age, I was told that my test scores were too low to go anywhere big, but now I am on track for earning a dual degree from one of the best universities in the nation. My scholarship from Rice has given me more than words could ever explain; it has given me hope, guidance and a future. From the bottom of my heart, I want to thank all of the donors and fans who give student-athletes like me the opportunity to dream big."

Riddlesprigger is passionate about giving back to Rice and the Houston community, so she tries to engage in as many events, games and community service projects as she can fit in her schedule.

Gabe Baker
Football
Redshirt Junior
San Antonio, Texas
Brown College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: GABE BAKER

A redshirt junior from San Antonio, Gabe Baker is a standout on the field as a safety on the Rice football team in addition to becoming one of the most recognizable current student-athletes on campus. Baker bounced back from an injury-shortened sophomore season to reach a career high in tackles. After he took over as the starter in the last five games of that year, the Owls closed with a rush to earn a berth in the Armed Forces Bowl. He provided one of the season's most electric moments when he returned an interception 55 yards for a touchdown against Tulane and then set up the Owls' first touchdown in the Armed Forces Bowl with a fumble recovery. Off the field, he was named Mr. Rice in the annual campuswide competition and is an active member of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. He was one of two current student-athletes who were selected to serve on the search committee for the new Athletics director. He has performed in several talent shows, playing the cello as well as singing.

"My scholarship means very much to me. While I was offered scholarships at other great schools, I knew that having the opportunity to attend a university like Rice is one that not very many people get to have. Coming to Rice has been one of the best decisions I have made in my life. This is because I not only get to play and experience college football at the D-1 level and get a world-class education, but I also have been able to create relationships with my teammates, coaches, classmates, faculty and administration that I know will last a lifetime."

In addition to his athletic endeavors, Baker has played the cello for 10 years. Growing up, he was heavily involved in many sports and also was constantly involved in school orchestras, ensembles and private cello lessons. At Rice, he has been able to reach out to graduate students at the Shepherd School of Music to give him private lessons to continue his music studies. Baker also has taken advantage of the opportunity to achieve a liberal education by taking many courses outside his civil and environmental engineering major — including four semesters of Chinese.

Gabi Iribarne
Soccer
Junior
Mission Viejo, California
Will Rice College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: GABI IRIBARNE

Gabi Iribarne, who holds dual citizenship for the United States and Argentina, was requested to play on the Argentinian national team that was competing at the 2012 FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup. The prestigious international event features the best women's players who are 20 years old and younger. The only small wrinkle where Rice soccer was concerned is that the U-20 Women's World Cup slightly overlapped with the college soccer season in the U.S.

Argentina, a nation that is very passionate about soccer, essentially hand-picked Iribarne right off the Rice soccer field. With the blessings of the Rice soccer program and her professors, Iribarne delivered. The Will Rice College resident scored the game-tying goal against Paraguay in the South American qualifying round and helped her team qualify to go to Japan. Iribarne returned to Rice that fall in time to help the Owls clinch a share of the Conference USA regular season championship.

"My scholarship has given me the opportunity to play in a very competitive environment with girls who love the sport as much as I do. Playing soccer at a Division I school has always been one of my long-term goals, and I feel honored to be given the opportunity to come to Rice and play here on scholarship. Rice is also a great school academically. It challenges me constantly, and it is great to be surrounded by future leaders in the classroom and on the field who inspire me to work harder. I cannot picture myself at any school other than Rice, but without my scholarship it would be very difficult to afford. I am continuously grateful."

Along with her sister, Iribarne runs a nonprofit organization called Futbol 4 Dreams, which collects soccer balls (new or used), uniforms, cleats and other soccer equipment and delivers them to underprivileged children around the globe. Soccer is the most popular sport in the world, yet many lack the resources to play. Futbol 4 Dreams seeks to give children and their communities the ability to play. Since the start of the organization and with the support of volunteers and donations, the project has sent more than 3,000 soccer balls and sports materials to children in several different countries.

STUDENT-ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT

- The Student-Athlete (SA) Development program focuses on professional development, personal development, community service and leadership. Student-athletes work to become leaders and productive members of society, while being offered comprehensive support services that assist them in their transition into and out of Rice. SA Development empowers student-athletes to develop responsibility, self-reliance, independence, personal values and leadership skills.
- The Leadership Development Program is sponsored by two Rice alums, Bobby Dixon '97 and Terrence Gee '86, and their company, Athenian Consulting Group. The program is designed for student-athletes to enhance their leadership skills to help foster even greater success on and off the field. The program consists of six sessions throughout the year and is led by Leadership Consultant Coach Michael Van Hoozer. Each student-athlete will be matched with a mentor along the way to further enhance their experience. The program concludes with a graduation ceremony in which the student-athletes share their experiences and are congratulated and supported by their mentors, coaches, administrators and peers.
- More than 3,500 community service hours were performed by Rice student-athletes.
- Ninety Rice student-athletes graduated in 2013.
- Student-athletes at Rice have a 92 percent postgraduation placement rate (includes jobs, graduate school and postgraduate scholarships), which is more than 300 percent above the national college average.
- The purpose of the Rice University Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) is to serve as the liaisons between the administration and the campus community. The committee is made up of student-athlete leaders who are assembled to provide insight into their experiences and serve as the voice of the student-athlete population at Rice. SAAC also offers input on rules, regulations and policies that affect student-athletes and plans campus and community events to enhance the overall student-athlete experience.

Jonathan Chang

Wiess College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: JONATHAN CHANG

Not many college tennis players can start as walk-ons and close their careers playing No. 1 singles, but Jonathan Chang '13 accomplished that rare feat during his four-year career. Chang was a freshman reserve when the Owls won the Conference USA title in 2010 and then rose steadily through the lineup over the next three seasons. As a junior, he won a career-best 14 dual matches. During Chang's senior year, new head coach Efe Ustundag '99 asked him to shoulder the difficult load of playing at the top of the lineup – he responded by earning second-team All-C-USA honors. Chang finished the year with a 10–10 record, including a 5–2 record when he took an opponent to three sets. He clinched the Owls' biggest win of the year over No. 33 Oregon with a straight-set win over the Duck's 6–8 Jeff Mullen. Off the court, Chang excelled in the classroom, twice earning a spot on the C-USA Commissioner's Honor Roll.

“The scholarship was more than just simple dollar sign. It not only impacted me financially, but also, more importantly, it helped me pursue my passion and my dream. It made all the long hours of practice worth it, and I am so grateful for the generosity of the donors. I felt someone appreciated my talent and wanted to help me achieve my goals, which motivated me to play harder and helped my tennis improve significantly in just a couple of years. I am now trying to play professional tennis, and the scholarship, along with the support of my coaches and teammates at Rice, is the main reason that is possible. Most importantly, the scholarship gave me confidence and made me believe that dreams are worth pursuing, no matter how big they are.”

Chang adds that one of the biggest achievements of his life so far is advancing on the Rice tennis team to playing Line 1 singles his senior year. Besides tennis, he also enjoys playing basketball.

Jessica Kuster
Women's Basketball
Senior
San Antonio, Texas
Lovett College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: JESSICA KUSTER

A senior from San Antonio, Jessica Kuster has been one of the premier players in Conference USA since arriving on campus in 2010. She is one of only two active players in the nation to have averaged a double double her freshman, sophomore and junior years. The three-time All-Conference USA selection was C-USA Defensive Player of the Year in 2012.

Kuster's numbers match up against the best competition as well, posting 17.3 points and 8.7 rebounds a game against the Top 25 in 2012-13. She twice led C-USA in rebounding and ranked as high as ninth in the nation in that stat in 2011-12.

"Being able to attend a school as prestigious as Rice University is any student's dream. On top of being given the opportunity to attend Rice, I have been so fortunate to attend for free. It's amazing that there are people out there who want to help student-athletes so much and are willing to provide full scholarships to students who otherwise may not have been able to attend such an amazing university. I know that if I had not been blessed with the gift of a scholarship, I probably would not have been able to attend Rice. I am tremendously grateful for the consideration of receiving a scholarship to one of the top universities in the world."

When she's not playing basketball or studying, Kuster helps coach an AAU team with teammates and works at other basketball camps. In her free time, she enjoys writing, dancing and spending time with her 8-year-old black lab, Kiki.

Harry Sagel
Men's Track and Field
Sophomore
Girona, Spain
McMurtry College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: HARRY SAGEL

Harry Sagel was an immediate contributor to the Rice men's track and field program in 2013, finishing sixth in the 800-meter race at both the Conference USA Indoor Championship and Conference USA Outdoor Championship. He was a member of three relays that scored at the C-USA Championships, including a fourth-place indoor distance medley relay squad. The sophomore from Girona, Spain, posted two event wins in 2013, winning the 800-meter at the Skechers-SFA Alumni Invitational and the mile at the Leonard Hilton Memorial, an indoor meet hosted by the University of Houston.

"Since the age of 12, I knew I wanted to study abroad. I was just starting to stand out at track and field and knew I wanted a higher level of education than that on offer in Spain. So my mind was set – the U.S. was my objective, both for NCAA Division I sports and excellent academics. When six years later I was offered an athletic scholarship from Rice, I realized I had been given a very unique opportunity. My athletic scholarship has become my chance to turn hard work into excellence with the amount of resources that are available here. I am excited to see how much I can achieve, how fast I can run and how much I can learn during my time at Rice."

Sagel was born to British parents but moved to Spain at the age of 3 and lived there until he was 18. He attended a Spanish public school, where he learned to speak Spanish, Catalan and French. He also played the classical guitar for 12 years. As an athlete, he won the Spanish national championship on six occasions. In his spare time, he likes to promote track and field, and sports in general, among children.

Chelsea Fong
Swimming
Senior
Cupertino, California
Wiess College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: CHELSEA FONG

Chelsea Fong heads into her senior season on the Rice swim team with an impressive list of accolades and accomplishments. So far in her career, the sprinter from Cupertino, Calif., has twice won the Catherine Hannah Award as the Rice swimmer of the year. In 2013, Fong helped lead the Owls to their second Conference USA Championship in the last three years. She finished fourth on the team in scoring at the C-USA meet, amassing a total of 61 points by reaching the championship finals in each of her three individual events – the 50-, 100- and 200-yard freestyle. Fong also scored for the team as one of the Owls picked to swim in three of the meet's five relay races.

There isn't much of a secret behind finding Fong's name sprinkled across the swim program's list for all-time best marks. Hard work and dedication in a year-round training regimen have made her a frequent visitor to the medal stand and helped her set two Rice records. It's also no mystery that by applying that same dedication to her studies, Fong has been a three-time selection to the C-USA Commissioner's Honor Roll and a Rice University honor athlete.

"My scholarship has made a tremendous impact on my life. It has allowed me to attend a renowned university and pursue many opportunities within the medical field. I love being at Rice. It's great that I can mingle with my professors, whether in the classroom or getting coffee. Every staff member is willing to go above and beyond to help students no matter the circumstances. Not only are the academics superb, I also get to train at top-notch facilities. It's the best of both worlds. Without the scholarship, I would not have been allowed these wonderful possibilities."

Fong is also part of a Rice organization known as the Baylor College of Medicine Patient Discharge Initiative, a volunteer program based out of Ben Taub General Hospital. The program helps reduce the number of repeat patients by explaining the various social services readily available as well as the patient's discharge instructions. She also volunteers as an EMT with Cypress Creek EMS, a 911 ambulance service.

OWL CLUB

The Owl Club's mission is to generate funds for student-athlete scholarships in all 16 of our varsity sports. The annual support of the Owl Club enables student-athletes to perform and experience success on both academic and athletic stages. The cost of scholarships comprises nearly one-third of the entire Athletics budget. Annual gifts to the Owl Club assist in covering such costs. The funds raised through the support of the Owl Club are vital to helping our students compete at the highest level in their sport and in the classroom.

Contributions made to the Owl Club entitle members to certain seating, parking and hospitality benefits. Those benefits will be received in the same year that the gift is made and are only received through gifts made to the Owl Club.

The Owl Club raised $1.815 million this year from 1,146 donors!

Evening for Rice's Honour

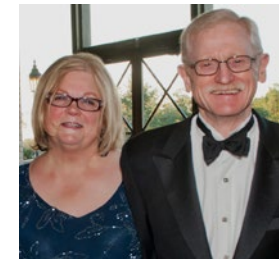

In September 2012, Rice Athletics hosted its 15th biennial Evening for Rice's Honour, celebrating Rice's continuing intercollegiate sports successes. The evening was highlighted by the presentation of the Distinguished Owl Club Award to James W. Crownover '65, Karen Ostrum George '77, and Robert and Elizabeth Bixby, recognized for their outstanding dedication and tremendous leadership in their ongoing support of Rice's athletic programs. All proceeds from the event benefited Rice University Athletics.

Rice 100

The Rice 100 program is designed to facilitate the distribution of tickets purchased by corporations, civic-minded businesses and individuals to donate to local charities or youth organizations who would normally not be able to attend a collegiate game.

Through such distribution of tickets, Rice Athletics aims to raise awareness of Rice Athletics throughout Houston; increase attendance at home football, basketball and baseball games; and create goodwill for the contributors and Rice Athletics.

Simone Martin
Women's Track and Field
Senior
Brampton, Ontario
Brown College

STUDENT-ATHLETE: SIMONE MARTIN

Simone Martin has been an integral part of the Rice women's track and field squad since 2011. She has helped the Owls on two scoring relays at the C-USA Championships and has posted 16 top 10 event finishes in her Rice career. A C-USA Commissioner's Honor Roll student, she's shown versatility on the track, picking up top 10 finishes in the 100-meter, 200-meter, 4x100 relay, long jump and triple jump.

"To me, my scholarship was a door opener. Track itself has allowed me to travel to many different places and meet a lot of people from all over the world. Being awarded a scholarship to do this sport that I love has been a dream come true. Because of this scholarship, I am able to obtain a college degree from a renowned university and set high goals for what I want to do in life. Right now, my plan after graduating is to go to an osteopathic medical school in order to eventually become a sports doctor so that I can help future athletes who want to return to the sport they love after an injury, as I did. Since being at Rice, I have met a lot of positive influences who have been helping me get to these goals. I cannot wait to see what else the future has in store."

This senior from Brampton, Ontario, loves sports in general – and popcorn – and used to participate in and coach gymnastics.

STUDENT-ATHLETE: JAMES RAGAN

After being diagnosed with osteosarcoma, a rare form of pediatric bone cancer, at age 13, James Ragan was faced with major sport and academic obstacles. But he met these challenges with startling resolve and has ultimately come out on top.

In an effort to prolong his life, he underwent a limb-salvaging surgery that rendered him incapable of participating in high-impact sports. So the once nationally ranked tennis star elected to pick up a new sport: golf. By 17, after just three years of cultivating a new skill, Ragan was good enough to earn a spot on a Division I squad. In his inaugural season at Rice, he was selected to compete on the conference squad and secured the third-best scoring average on the team. Ragan's success on the course has not gone unnoticed. In 2010, the Texas Legends Junior Tour created the James A. Ragan Sportsmanship Award to be presented annually in his honor. Ragan averages 76.83 strokes over 12 rounds and has a low round of 73 at Rice.

Ragan also has beaten the odds in the classroom. The salutatorian at Mary Carroll High School, Ragan maintains a 3.86 GPA and was named twice to the President's Honor Roll.

In 2007, Ragan, who is heavily involved in efforts to combat pediatric cancer through fundraising and awareness, co-founded the Triumph Over Kid Cancer Foundation. The foundation is a regionally recognized philanthropic group that works to raise funds for osteosarcoma research. Under his leadership, the foundation has raised a staggering $750,000 dollars for cancer research.

In 2009, he became a national spokeskid for the Sunshine Kids organization, where he provides hope to the newly diagnosed. In 2012, Ragan was elected to be a special ambassador for the UT MD Anderson Cancer Center, which is among the best-known cancer treatment facilities in the country. Prior to Ragan, MD Anderson had never elected a patient to be a special ambassador. But because Ragan was determined to be indispensable to the cause, an exception was made.

"R" ASSOCIATION

Rice Athletics and the "R" Association, which has represented and supported all Rice University letterwinners since it was founded in 1913, have signed an affiliation agreement that will offer every man and woman who has earned a monogrammed "R" enhanced benefits and greater connection to Rice University.

All letterwinners at Rice immediately become members of the "R" Association with no dues required, and there is no longer an "active" or "inactive" designation. However, letterwinners who had achieved Lifetime Member status will forever be acknowledged as such. These individuals are grandfathered in to the "Gray" level of the Owl Club and will receive those benefits.

STUDENT-ATHLETE: NATALIE BEAZANT

It only took a few weeks in her initial semester on campus for Natalie Beazant's teammates to nickname her "The Beast" because of her tireless work ethic. Since then, Rice tennis fans have observed that tenacity on the court, as she has become one of the Owls' most decorated tennis players in history. As a freshman, she took C-USA by storm, becoming the fifth player in conference history and the first Owl to win both C-USA Player and Freshman of the Year in the same season. She qualified for the NCAA championships in both singles and doubles, posted Rice's first win in singles since 1987 and teamed with Dominique Harmath '14 to produce the first-ever win in doubles. One year later, Beazant was even better, leading the Owls to their first C-USA title since 2006 and storming her way into the semifinals of the NCAA women's singles, becoming Rice's first All-American in women's tennis since 1988.

"My scholarship has impacted my life in an extremely positive way. It means that I do not have to worry about the pressures of student loans or ask my parents to fund my college education. It means that I have the ability to focus on my academics and athletics without having to worry about funding. It takes off an extreme amount of pressure and granted me the ability to attend a top school like Rice. It gives me the opportunity to be a part of a community that takes academics and athletics seriously – they compete at the top level of both."

Off the court, Beazant has been an active member of the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and joined Gabe Baker as the student-athlete representatives on the search committee for Rice's new Athletics director.

STUDENT-ATHLETE: AUSTIN RAMLJAK

In 2012-13, his first year to play for Rice, junior guard Austin Ramljak made an immediate impact for the Owls while also shining in the classroom. The transfer from California's Ventura College worked his way into the starting lineup and developed a reputation as one of the top three-point shooters in the league. Ramljak led Rice with 72 three-pointers, which went down as the seventh-highest mark in program history.

"My scholarship means everything to me; it's a representation of all the hard work I've put in since I was young – on the basketball court and in the classroom. Also, it assures me that my dedication throughout was worth it in the end because I get a premier education free of cost. My scholarship has impacted my life drastically – without it, I could not attend college, especially not at a top school like Rice. Being at Rice and a part of the basketball team has opened so many doors for me in terms of my career, and it also has exposed me to some people who have truly changed my life for the better."

Academically, the Thousand Oaks, Calif., native earned the Conference USA Scholar Athlete of the Year Award for men's basketball as a culmination of his numerous scholastic accolades. The psychology major also earned a place on the National Association of Basketball Coaches Honors Court, the C-USA All-Academic team and the C-USA Commissioner's Honor Roll.
