HONORARY "R" AWARD

Mel and Susanne Morris Glasscock

Mel '61 and Susie Morris Glasscock '62 have been actively involved in the Rice University community for many years. Mel earned his B.S. in mechanical engineering from Texas A&M in 1959 followed by an M.S. also in mechanical engineering from Rice in 1961. He now is president and CEO of Texas Aromatics, a petrochemical marketing company.

Susie graduated from Rice with a B.A. in economics in 1962. Her service to Rice has encompassed many areas of campus, including service on the Rice University Board of Trustees and co-chairing the successful $1 billion Centennial Campaign. In 2006, the School of Continuing Studies was renamed the Susanne M. Glasscock School of Continuing Studies, to honor Mel and Susie's generous endowment to the school.

Alan Shelby

Alan Shelby, a native Houstonian and University of Pennsylvania graduate, began his love of Rice baseball by attending games with friends. On July 22, 2006, he wrote an email about former Rice baseball players turning pro and sent it to five people. That email has evolved into a daily update that covers a variety of Rice Athletics news, specifically baseball. Currently there are more than 1,200 subscribers.

Shelby is a member of the Owl Club and the RBI Club, and he and his wife, Nancy, share a suite at Reckling Park with Annalisa and Kyle Frazier '83. A member of the board of the Rice Historical Society, Shelby received the 2008 Spirit Award, which was presented to him at the Night of the Owl ceremony.

DISTINGUISHED "R" AWARD

O.J. Brigance

A two-time All-Southwest Conference linebacker for the Owls, O.J. Brigance '92 remains Rice's career leader in tackles. Despite his accomplishments at Rice, Brigance was undrafted after college and began his pro career in the Canadian Football League, where he quickly became a standout and won a Grey Cup Championship with the Baltimore Stallions in 1995.

Brigance made his debut in the National Football League with the Miami Dolphins in 1996. In 2001, he signed with the Baltimore Ravens and earned a Super Bowl ring when the team won Super Bowl XXXV.

Brigance retired in 2003 as a player and joined the Raven's front office as director of Player Development and was twice honored by the NFL for his programs to help fellow players with all aspects of managing their career and postcareer plans.

In 2007, Brigance was diagnosed with ALS. He immediately set out to work on research and a cure for the disease, partnering with Johns Hopkins University Packard Center for ALS Research and becoming their ALS ambassador. He also established his own foundation, the Brigance Brigade Foundation (brigancebrigade.org), which raises awareness and money for ALS research and patient services. The Association of Rice Alumni honored him in 2012 with a Distinguished Alumni Award.

DISTINGUISHED "R" AWARD

T. Jay Collins

An All-Southwest Conference selection and co-captain for the Owls in 1967, T. Jay Collins received his B.A. in 1968 and a master's degree in chemical engineering from Rice in 1969 then went on to earn his MBA from Harvard in 1972. In 1968, Collins was the 38th recipient of the Bob Quin Award, given to the top male athlete of the year, and was the co-recipient of the Jess Neely Award for being the top defensive lineman for the Owls.

After college, Collins became a business leader in the offshore and gas industry, becoming president, chief executive officer and director of the board of Oceaneering International Inc. In 2009, he was awarded the Distinguished Alumni Award from the Association of Rice Alumni. A member of the Rice Board of Trustees, Collins has been a leader in efforts to upgrade Rice Stadium, including a recent gift that led to improvements in the current weight room, video operations, training room and locker facilities.

DISTINGUISHED "R" AWARD

David H. Gibbs

A walk-on to the freshman basketball team, David Gibbs received his B.A. and master's degree in chemical engineering from Rice in 1971. Despite his collegiate basketball dreams, Gibbs ultimately chose to concentrate on his science and engineering curriculum. He didn't abandon the court, though, playing intramural basketball and leading his team, the Straight Skinny's, to an intramural basketball championship.

Gibbs began his career with the engineering department at Texaco before partnering with fellow Rice alum Guy Jackson '71 and focusing full time on real estate, assembling multiple Rice Village properties.

An active member of the "R" Association's board of directors, Gibbs has played a vital role in recent Rice University Athletics efforts. Among his many contributions to the Rice community is the Barbara and David Gibbs Recreation and Wellness Center, which opened in 2009.

HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE

Jack A. Turpin

Jack Turpin was born and raised in Dallas and graduated from Rice University with a B.A. in 1951 and a B.S. in 1952, both in electrical engineering. Jack served as an officer in the U.S. Navy during the Korean War. As a Rice student-athlete, Turpin was an All-American, won a Southwest Conference title, was a semifinalist in the NCAA Championships and won the National Junior Indoor Double Championships.

In 1962, Turpin founded Hall-Mark Electronics Corporation and served as its chairman of the board until its sale in 1993. In 1965, he was responsible for bringing the Davis Cup match between the U.S. and Mexico to Dallas. It was the first Davis Cup match ever played on a public facility and in Texas. Turpin received the Malboro Award for service to the sport of tennis at the national level and the Caswell Award for service at the Texas level. He was inducted into the Texas Tennis Museum and Hall of Fame in 1989.

In 1967, Turpin founded T Bar M, Inc., a firm that owns and manages a resort property and Christian sports camp in New Braunfels and Austin, Texas. The co-author of "Beyond the Bottom Line," a book about the application of Biblical principles in the business world, Turpin has spoken for many years throughout the nation and written numerous articles on similar subjects.

Alice Falaiye

The top long jumper in Rice University women's track and field history, Alice Falaiye '03 attained athletic success collegiately as well as competing for her native Canada. In her superlative career with the Owls, she earned All-American honors at the 2001 and 2002 NCAA Indoor Championship meets. Additionally, she was the NCAA runner-up in the long jump at the 2002 NCAA Outdoor Championship and again garnered All-American accolades.

Falaiye holds Rice's long jump record in both indoor and outdoor track and won five conference titles (three indoor, two outdoor) in the event. She was the 2002 Fred J. and Florence Stancliff Award winner as the top Rice women's track and field athlete. In 2003, Falaiye won the gold medal at the 2003 Pan American Games, followed by a gold medal at the 2010 Commonwealth Games for her long jump of 6.5 meters.

Ryan Harlan

One of the most versatile athletes in Rice University men's track and field history, Ryan Harlan '04 notched nine conference championships, three program records, two All-American selections and the 2004 NCAA Outdoor Decathlon title. Harlan swept the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) Indoor Pentathlon competition all four years, including a program best 4,058 points in 2003. He also won an indoor league title in both the 55- and 60-meter hurdles and holds the Rice record in the 60-meter hurdles at 7.85 seconds. In outdoor WAC competition, Harlan won the decathlon three times and earned All-American honors twice, culminating with his record 8,171 points to win the 2004 NCAA Outdoor Championship.

Harlan showed off his range as he ranks in the program's top five in the 110-meter outdoor hurdles (13.86) and high jump (7-0.5, which ranked third in school history at the time) and stands fourth in the javelin throw at 200-4. He won the 2001-02 Fred Walcott Award, honoring Rice's most versatile track athlete; the 2001 Fred J. and Florence Stancliff Award for top Rice track and field athlete; and the 2004 Emmett Brunson award, given to the most outstanding Rice senior track and field athlete.

On the national stage, Harlan finished 14th in the decathlon at the 2004 Olympic Trials. In 2011, he placed second in the decathlon at the USA Outdoor Championship.

HALL OF FAME INDUCTEE

Cristy McKinney

Rice's all-time coaching wins leader, Cristy McKinney amassed a 216-138 record from 1994-2005. In 2004-05, her final season at Rice, McKinney led the Owls to the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) title and a 24-9 record, earning WAC Coach of the Year accolades. In all, McKinney led the Owls to six 20-win seasons, two NCAA Tournament appearances, four Women's National Invitation Tournament appearances and two WAC titles.

In 1999, McKinney led Rice to the second round of the NCAA tournament after upsetting fourth-seeded University of California at Santa Barbara in the first round.

Prior to leading Rice, McKinney was an assistant coach at Western Kentucky University for nine seasons (1982-84, 1986-93). She helped the Lady Toppers make seven NCAA Tournament appearances, including three berths in the Sweet 16 and a runner-up finish in the 1992 National Championship. McKinney was the head coach at the University of Montevallo from 1984-86, where she was named District Coach of the Year.

A 1979 graduate of North Carolina State, McKinney scored 1,359 points and grabbed 600 rebounds and still holds the freshman scoring record there. She shot 78.3 percent from the free-throw line during her playing career and was a member of NC State's first ACC regular-season championship team.

Stahlé A. Vincent

Stahlé Vincent '72 was never looking to be a trailblazer, only for the best offer to combine his desire to play football and earn his college degree. In fall 1968, Vincent joined 2011 Rice Hall of Famer Rodrigo Barnes '73 and Mike Tyler '72 as the first African-Americans to sign football scholarships at Rice. One year later, all three were in action, and Vincent earned the distinction of becoming the first African-American to play quarterback in the Southwest Conference.

He completed 51 percent of his passes and threw for 556 yards. In 1970, Vincent moved to running back and ranks 14th on the Rice career chart with 1,675 yards, while setting additional Rice records, including most rushing plays for a season, most total plays (rushing and passing) and most rushing plays in a game. In 1971, Vincent received the George Martin Award as the Owls' Most Valuable Player, while earning All-Southwest Conference honors. In 1972, he was the 42nd winner of the Bob Quin Award, given to the most outstanding all-around senior athlete.

Later that year, Vincent was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers but suffered a career-ending knee injury in his second season. He went on to earn a master's degree in management from the University of Massachusetts and currently is director of human resources and labor relations at Cone Denim.

2003 National Champions

From its inception until 1995, Rice baseball had never won a conference championship. But when head coach Wayne Graham took the helm in 1992, previously unachievable goals were soon the norm, with the team winning its first SWC title in 1996 and reaching the College World Series for the first time in 1997. By 2003, reaching Omaha was no longer a singular accomplishment, and a veteran team was poised to take the program to its ultimate height.

With players such as starting pitcher Philip Humber '05, Vincent Sinisi '05 at first base, shortstop Paul Janish '05, outfielders Chris Kolkhorst '04 and Austin Davis '04, and catchers Justin Ruchti '05 and Jeff Blackinton '03, Rice was primed for a run at Omaha. A 30-game winning streak during the year served notice to the nation, and a sterling pitching staff led by Humber, Jeff Niemann '05 and Wade Townsend '05 set the stage.

An opening win over Missouri State and a pair of wins over rival Texas placed the Owls with Stanford in the best-of-three final format. Kolkhorst's highlight-reel catch against the left field wall in game No. 1 would help spark a dramatic 4-3 win in 10 innings. After the Cardinals took game No. 2 with an 8-3 decision, Rice put it all together with pitching, hitting and defense to claim a 14-2 win and the school's first national championship. Rice University's first national championship team proved that Rice Athletics can, and will continue to, compete at the highest level.
