VERSUS

PLAYOFF SEMIFINAL

SECOND IN WINS

Clemson has an 82-14 record in the last seven seasons, or since the beginning of the 2011 season. The victory against The Citadel on Nov. 18 gave the Tiger program seven-straight 10-win seasons, something only Alabama has duplicated. Only Alabama (87-9) has more wins the last seven years than Clemson.

The Tigers also have the second-highest winning percentage (85.4). Only Alabama has a better winning percentage (90.6).

SEVEN-STRAIGHT 10-WIN SEASONS

Clemson has a streak of seven-consecutive seasons of 10+ wins. That is tied for the sixth-longest streak in FBS history, and only nine programs have had a streak of at least seven 10-win seasons in a row. The record for consecutive 10-win seasons is 14, set by Florida State (1987-00). Alabama is the only other program with an active streak of at least seven straight 10-win seasons.

The Tigers have 14 10-win seasons in their history, so half have come in the last seven years under head coach Dabo Swinney.

Clemson has four seasons with at least 12 wins, and Swinney has three of them.

The Tigers have an 82-14 record in the last seven years, and only Alabama has a better record (87-9) and more wins. With its No. 1 ranking in the AP poll, Clemson has been ranked in 51 straight polls. That is a school record for consecutive polls ranked.

Clemson had a 50-poll streak from 1989-92 and 2012-14. The current streak includes 42-consecutive top-10 rankings, most in Clemson history by far (14 is the second-longest top-10 streak). Clemson and Alabama are tied for the longest current top-10 streak in the nation.

WINNINGEST DECADE IN TIGER HISTORY

With a 12-1 record, Clemson has an 88-21 record in the decade of the 2010s. That computes to an 80.8 winning percentage, the best for any decade in school history. This decade has moved ahead of the 1980s in terms of winning percentage.

In the 1980s, Clemson had a 76.7 winning percentage (87-25-4), the fifth-best winning percentage in the nation. Clemson did not have a losing season in any year in the 1980s under head coach Danny Ford, who coached every game in that decade. Dabo Swinney has coached every game in the decade of the 2010s and has seven winning seasons and one losing season (6-7 in 2010).

WINNINGEST SENIOR CLASS

Clemson's 2017 senior class became the winningest in ACC history with the 38-3 win over No. 7 Miami (Fla.) in the ACC Championship Game. This group of six scholarship seniors has posted a 50-6 record so far. A win over Alabama would tie for the most wins by a senior class in FBS history. Ironically, one of the senior classes that has the mark is the senior class Clemson will face in the Sugar Bowl, Alabama. The current Crimson Tide seniors are 51-5.

The Tigers have had records of 10-3, 14-1, 14-1 and 12-1 the last four years, while Alabama has been 12-2, 14-1, 14-1 and 11-1.

Clemson's current junior class is 40-3 in three years. That is already the fifth-most wins by a Tiger senior class. In other words, the current Clemson juniors could go all of next year without a win and still finish fifth in school history in wins for a senior class.

NINTH ACC TEAM WITH 12 WINS

Clemson became just the ninth ACC school with 12 wins in a season when it defeated No. 7 Miami (Fla.) in the ACC Championship Game. It is the third-straight year Clemson has done it, as the Tigers were 14-1 in both 2015 and 2016.

The Tigers' 1981 national championship team was the first ACC squad to total 12 wins in a season. Florida State did it five times between 1993 and 2014. The Seminoles actually had a streak of three seasons with at least 12 wins from 2012-14. They had a record 14 wins (14-0) in 2013, then Clemson tied the mark the last two years.

Miami and Pittsburgh had 12-win seasons previously, but they were not in the ACC at the time.

11-1 IN TOP-15 MATCHUPS SINCE 2015

Clemson already has top-15 wins over Auburn, Louisville, Virginia Tech and Miami (Fla.) this season. Clemson won all four games and was the first team since the AP poll started in 1936 to beat three teams in the top 15 in September. The last team to beat three top-15 teams in its first five games of the season was Notre Dame in 1980.

The Tigers are very experienced in big games the last three years. The Alabama game will be Clemson's 13th matchup of top-15 teams since the start of 2015. That dates to Oct. 3, 2015, when No. 11 Clemson played No. 6 Notre Dame at Clemson. The Tigers are 11-1 in top-15 matchups during the last three years.

EXCEEDING EXPECTATIONS

Clemson has equaled or exceeded its postseason AP and USA Today rankings in comparison to its preseason rankings each of the last six seasons (2011-16). That was quite an accomplishment in the 2016 season, as Clemson was No. 2 in the preseason of both polls and had to finish No. 1 to exceed the preseason rankings. The Tigers accomplished that by winning the national championship.

The Tigers have exceeded their preseason ranking each of the last six years in the coaches poll and exceeded their preseason ranking in the AP poll five of the six seasons. Clemson was picked No. 8 in the AP preseason poll in 2013 and finished No. 8. Dabo Swinney is the first coach in history with a six-year streak in that area. John Cooper (Ohio State) and Bill Snyder (Kansas State) had five-year streaks.

FIVE STRAIGHT YEARS WITH BOWL WIN

Clemson has won a bowl game five straight seasons dating to the 2012 season, when the Tigers defeated Louisiana State. This is the first time Clemson has won a bowl game five straight seasons since the 1986-90 era, when Clemson won five straight. Clemson has not won five straight bowls, as the Alabama game in the national championship game in January 2016 counts as a bowl game, but the Tigers did beat Oklahoma in the 2015 Orange Bowl and Ohio State in the 2016 Fiesta Bowl.

RECORD-SETTING SEVEN SEASONS (2011-17)

What is special about this run is that Clemson has done it against teams ranked in the top 25 in each game. Clemson beat No. 9 Louisiana State in the Chick-fil-A Bowl at the end of the 2012 season. The next year, Clemson downed No. 7 Ohio State in the Orange Bowl. Then in 2014, the Tigers defeated No. 24 Oklahoma 40-6. In 2015, Clemson added a fourth-straight victory with a 37-17 win over No. 4 Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl. Then in 2016, Clemson defeated No. 2 Ohio State 31-0 in the Fiesta Bowl and top-ranked Alabama in the national championship game.

Clemson is the only team in the nation to win a bowl game each of the last five years against teams ranked in the top 25. All six of the wins (two wins in 2016 season) have come against schools ranked in the top 15 in FBS history in winning percentage as well. All six victories came against coaches who already had a national championship on their resumé as well.

Dabo Swinney is the only coach in college football history to defeat coaches who already had a national championship victory on their resumé five consecutive years in bowl games.

SWINNEY VS. THE BEST

When Dabo Swinney and the Tigers defeated Urban Meyer and Ohio State on New Year's Eve in 2016, it gave Swinney a bowl win in five consecutive seasons. But these are not run-of-the-mill bowl victories. Swinney became the first coach in history to defeat a coach in a bowl game who already had a national championship on his resumé. He then added to the accomplishment by beating Nick Saban and Alabama in the national championship game in Tampa, Fla.

Clemson has five wins in bowl games over teams ranked in the top 10 during the last five years, more than any other school. Alabama is second with four since 2012. Clemson has more top-10 wins in bowl games during the last five years than all the other ACC teams combined. Florida State has two, Georgia Tech has one and Louisville has one since 2012.

SWINNEY'S BOWL WINS (2012-16)

2012	Louisiana State	25-24	Les Miles
2013	Ohio State	40-35	Urban Meyer
2014	Oklahoma	40-6	Bob Stoops

2016	Ohio State	31-0	Urban Meyer

PERSONNEL OVERVIEW

When you consider that Clemson's 2017 roster has just six scholarship seniors and the coaching staff had to replace players who accounted for 77 percent of the offense from 2016, the team's No. 1 ranking entering the College Football Playoff is quite remarkable.

Many of the questions for head coach Dabo Swinney in the summer leading up to this season were about players who had graduated. Deshaun Watson, Wayne Gallman, Jordan Leggett, Mike Williams and Artavis Scott were playmakers who had taken Clemson to the national championship in 2016, and the championship game the previous year.

Swinney proved in 2017 that he has a program built for the long term, and that has certainly been his primary focus since he became head coach on an interim basis in the middle of the 2008 season and on a permanent basis in 2009.

Despite the loss of Watson (who continued to prove his abilities at the NFL level over the first seven games of 2017 before suffering a torn ACL) and the aforementioned skill-position players who accounted for a combined 2,863 receiving yards and 1,770 rushing yards, Clemson has averaged 35.4 points per game in 2017.

Additionally, the Tigers are more balanced than their predecessor and are on pace to be just the third offense in Clemson history to average 200 rushing yards per game and 200 passing yards per game in the same season.

Defensively, Clemson has had one of its best seasons in history and is second in the nation in scoring defense (12.8) behind only Alabama. The Tigers are also sixth in total defense, third in sacks, fourth in yards per play allowed and first in rushing touchdowns allowed. Clemson has scored 40 rushing touchdowns and allowed just five.

The season got off to a great start with three wins over top-15 teams Auburn, Louisville and Virginia Tech in September. Clemson became the first FBS school to have three top-15 wins in September. By season's end, Clemson became the first Power Five school with four road wins over teams that ended the season with at least eight wins.

Overall, Clemson has six top-25 victories, most in school history, with five of the six taking place away from home. That includes a 38-3 victory over No. 7 Miami (Fla.) in the ACC Championship Game, the largest margin of victory in school history against a top-25 opponent.

In terms of All-America accolades, this is a talented team. Eight different players were named to a first, second or third team by at least one service, the most different players on one team in school history. Six Tigers were named first, second or third team by one of the five major All-America teams recognized by the NCAA when it formulates the consensus All-America team.

While Clemson does not have the skill-position players it has had in previous years, it has a school-record six linemen, three on each side of the ball, who were named First-Team All-ACC. Five of the six would be considered an All-American, including four who made at least one first-team All-America squad.

OFFENSE

Clemson has had a balanced offense in 2017. We are talking about balanced in terms of rushing vs. passing, and balanced in terms of spreading the ball around to playmakers.

As stated above, Clemson is averaging 204 rushing yards per game and 244 passing yards per game, and has joined the 2000 team and 2015 team as the only Tiger squads to average at least 200 yards per game in each area.

While Clemson has averaged just under 450 yards per game of total offense, Swinney's team is not close to having a 1,000-yard rusher or receiver. However, this is the first Clemson team in history with three 600-yard rushers and three 500-yard receivers.

The balance is the result of having many young talented players who deserve playing time and the fact that Clemson has had large leads entering the fourth quarter in many games. Only two of Clemson's 13 games have been decided by seven points or less, compared to eight of the 15 contests last year. The Tigers have allowed an average of just 6.2 points per game over the first three quarters this season.

Clemson is one of the few teams nationally that uses four running backs virtually every game. As a result, no running back has played more than 350 of the offense's 978 snaps this year.

First-year freshman Travis Etienne, who has not started a game, is the top rusher with 744 yards and 13 touchdowns. The native of Louisiana has had just 103 carries and 222 snaps to gain those 744 yards, meaning he averages 7.2 yards per carry, 11th best in the nation among players with at least 100 carries. He leads the nation in rushing touchdowns per carry among players with at least 100 carries as well. He is scoring a touchdown every 7.9 carries.

Tavien Feaster has started 10 games and has seen the most playing time with 348 snaps. He has the same amount of carries as Etienne (103), and he has 659 rushing yards, leading to a strong 6.4 yards-per-carry figure and seven touchdowns.

Etienne and Feaster both have explosive speed and both have rushing touchdowns of 80+ yards, the only FBS teammates who can make that claim.

Adam Choice has six rushing touchdowns and 312 rushing yards in 62 carries. He is averaging 5.0 yards per carry and has added eight receptions for 48 yards. C.J. Fuller has played 222 snaps, the same as Etienne, and has 58 carries for 217 yards and three touchdowns.

Quarterback Kelly Bryant has been a big contributor to the ground game with 646 yards and 11 touchdowns on a team-high 173 carries. He is just two rushing touchdowns short of Woodrow Dantzler's (2000) school record for a quarterback in a season.

Bryant has also been efficient as a passer, completing 244-362 passes for 2,678 yards and 13 touchdowns against just six interceptions. That 67.4 completion percentage is fifth best in the nation and just ahead of Watson's 67.0 completion percentage recorded last year. Bryant has thrown just one interception in 149 attempts against AP top-25 teams as well.

Bryant is averaging 206 passing yards per game and 50 rushing yards per game, and he is a big reason the offense has just three turnovers in six games away from home.

The native of Calhoun Falls, S.C., who already has the school record for wins by a quarterback in his first year as a starter (12), has finished strong. In the last three games, he has completed 63-85 passes for 754 yards and six touchdowns against just one interception. That computes to a 74-percent completion mark and nearly nine yards per passing attempt.

Like the running-back contingent, the wide-receiver corps is also balanced in terms of participation, as nine receivers have played at least 149 snaps this year. Three receivers stand out, as Hunter Renfrow, Deon Cain and Ray-Ray McCloud all have at least 46 receptions for at least 500 yards.

Renfrow leads the group with 55 catches for 571 yards and three touchdowns. All three of his scores have come over the last three games, including two in the rivalry win at South Carolina. Renfrow caught the game-winning touchdown pass in the national championship victory from Watson last year, acclaim that has led to him to sign over 3,000 Sports Illustrated covers. In two previous games against Alabama, the former walk-on from Myrtle Beach, S.C., has 17 receptions for 180 yards and four touchdowns.

In 2017, Renfrow has 16 receptions on third down that have gone for a first down, tied for sixth most in the nation. In his career, he has 39 receptions on third down for 394 yards, resulting in 30 first downs.

Renfrow and Cain both were named Third-Team All-ACC in 2017. While Renfrow leads the team in receptions, Cain leads the squad in receiving yards and receiving touchdowns. The native of Florida has 52 catches for 659 yards and six scores. His sixth touchdown came against No. 7 Miami (Fla.) in the ACC Championship Game, and it gave him 20 receiving touchdowns in his career, just the fifth Tiger to reach that number.

McCloud is the third wide receiver in the starting lineup, and he leads the group in all-purpose yards. McCloud has 46 catches for 502 yards and a touchdown, and he has added 30 rushing yards and 303 punt-return yards.

Any of six other receivers could have an impact against Alabama. The most productive of late has been Tee Higgins, a freshman from Knoxville, Tenn., who has 17 catches for 345 yards. That 20.3-yard average is best on the team. He had 84 receiving yards at South Carolina to lead the team. Fellow Tennessean Amari Rodgers is fourth on the team in catches (18).

The tight-end position is led by junior Milan Richard. The junior, who is the nephew of former Heisman Trophy winner Herschel Walker, has 17 catches for 206 yards and a touchdown. Cannon Smith and D.J. Greenlee are two more tight ends who have played 175 snaps and 166 snaps, respectively.

The strength of Clemson's offense might be on the offensive line. The group features All-American Mitch Hyatt, a veteran of 42 games and 41 starts over the last three years. In November, Hyatt was named the winner of the ACC Jacobs Blocking Trophy, Clemson's first recipient of the award presented to the league's top blocker in 30 years. Hyatt was a three-time winner of the ACC Offensive Lineman-of-the-Week award and is the first Tiger offensive lineman in history to be named First-Team All-ACC as a sophomore and junior.

Tyrone Crowder is a graduate starting offensive guard with nearly as much experience as Hyatt. The native of North Carolina has also been named First-Team All-ACC each of the last two years and is a third-team All-American this year.

Justin Falcinelli is a third First-Team All-ACC offensive lineman. The center has actually played the most snaps (862) on the team this year. An honorable mention All-American, Falcinelli earned his degree in just three years and is playing his final two seasons while attending graduate school.

Taylor Hearn is a starting offensive guard who has had an outstanding year. The junior has played 707 snaps and is among the best run blockers in the ACC. He was a Third-Team All-ACC selection.

The right offensive tackle position has been a constant competition between Sean Pollard and Tremayne Anchrum. Pollard has eight starts and 407 snaps, while Anchrum has seven starts and 540 snaps. Both have been big reasons Clemson has 40 rushing touchdowns this year, tied for fourth most in the nation.

This is the deepest offensive line Clemson has had in years. Backups John Simpson (300) and Maverick Morris (401) have not been starters, but they have combined to play 701 snaps.

DEFENSE

Clemson's defense features four defenders who were named first-team All-American by at least one service. Three of the four play on the defensive line. The one starter who did not earn first-team All-America honors was a First-Team All-ACC selection and is considered the most talented of the group.

The Tigers are in the top 15 in the nation in the four major categories of scoring defense (2), total defense (6), rushing defense (13) and passing defense (8), one of four schools (Alabama, Georgia, Wisconsin) that can make that claim. The Tigers are trying to become the first Clemson team in history to lead the ACC in all four of those categories.

Like the offense, the stats for the Clemson defense are balanced. Only two Tigers have more than 62 tackles on the season, and no one has 100. Twenty-eight players have a tackle for loss and 19 players have been involved in a sack.

Clemson is third in the nation in sacks (3.4 per game) and ninth in tackles for loss (8.0 per game). Clemson's front four of Austin Bryant, Clelin Ferrell, Dexter Lawrence and Christian Wilkins have combined for 199 tackles, 43 tackles for loss, 23 sacks and 37 quarterback pressures.

Bryant, a junior from Pavo, Ga., is a first-team All-American by the Football Writers Association. He had a school-record-tying four sacks in the win over No. 13 Auburn and was named national defensive player-of-the-week by every service. He has 54 tackles, including 46 first hits, and 14.5 tackles for loss.

Ferrell, a sophomore from Richmond, Va., is a first-team All-American by AP and a second-team selection by seven other services. The defensive end leads the Tigers in tackles for loss (17) and sacks (8.5). He has 61 tackles to lead the front four, including 12 in the win at No. 20 NC State. He is the only player in the nation with two games with at least five tackles for loss.

Wilkins, a junior athletically who graduated on Dec. 20, is a first-team All-American by Sporting News and AFCA. The native of Springfield, Mass., is a two-time All-American who has 47 tackles this year, including seven in an outstanding performance against No. 7 Miami (Fla.) in the ACC Championship Game. He is the recipient of the Willis Award, which is presented by the Columbus Ohio Touchdown Club to the top defensive lineman in the nation.

Lawrence, a sophomore from Wake Forest, N.C., has had an injury-riddled season and would have been in the first-team All-America mix had he not missed a few games with a foot injury. Still, he has 37 tackles in 387 snaps over 11 games and has three tackles for loss and 2.5 sacks. He is a First-Team All-ACC selection and is a third-team All-American by Sports on Earth.

Albert Huggins (21 tackles, five tackles for loss) and Jabril Robinson (19 tackles) are two more contributors in the interior of Clemson's defensive line who would start for many FBS schools.

Clemson's second line of defense also features an All-American. Dorian O'Daniel has made his fifth year special, as he leads the Tigers in tackles (99), including 10.5 tackles for loss and five sacks. His all-around abilities are a great contribution to Clemson's pass and rush defense. He has two interception returns for scores, the first Tiger linebacker in history to do that. Not only is O'Daniel a finalist for the Butkus Award and Bowden Award, he is a first-team All-American by Sports Illustrated.

O'Daniel's cohorts at the second line of defense are Kendall Joseph and Tre Lamar. Joseph is a Third-Team All-ACC player and has 80 tackles, second most on the team. He has 10 quarterback pressures. Lamar has 52 tackles in his 10 games, as he missed three games at the end of the season with a shoulder injury. He has four sacks, including one against Florida State when he caused a fumble and recovered it.

Clemson has had great depth at linebacker. Junior J.D. Davis has started four games and has 48 tackles at an inside linebacker position, while James Skalski has started two contests and has 34 stops. Chad Smith has added 19 stops in a reserve role, and Jalen Williams has 17 tackles.

The Tiger secondary is underrated to some degree. A secondary that is fourth in the nation in yards per pass attempt, sixth in pass efficiency defense and eighth in passing yards allowed does not have an All-American at any level, and does not have a first, second or third-team all-conference selection.

Cornerback Ryan Carter has led the way with three interceptions and a team-high 10 pass breakups. He also has 28 tackles, including 26 solo. His 12-yard pick-six at South Carolina set the tone for the evening in Clemson's 34-10 win.

Cornerback Trayvon Mullen has played over 600 snaps and is an Honorable Mention All-ACC choice. The sophomore has 39 tackles, seven pass breakups and three interceptions.

Van Smith has been a starting safety each of the last two years. He has 54 tackles this year and an interception against Florida State that turned that game around. Tanner Muse and K'Von Wallace have held down most of the time at the other safety position. Muse has 62 tackles in starting nine games, and Wallace has 32 tackles in his five starts.

Other defensive backs who have made contributions are Isaiah Simmons (47 tackles), A.J. Terrell and Mark Fields. Fields has missed the last six games with a foot injury, but hopes to return for the Sugar Bowl.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Clemson's special teams are led by punt returner Ray-Ray McCloud. The junior has averaged 12.1 yards per punt return this year and is ninth in he nation. His 77-yard punt return for a touchdown at No. 20 NC State was the longest by a Tiger since 2009. His 303 punt-return yards are the most in a season since Justin Miller had 339 in 2004. His five returns of 20+ yards are in a tie for fourth in the nation.

Will Spiers has been Clemson's starting punter all year and has a solid 40.8-yard average along with a 38.1-yard net figure. He has 25 punts inside the 20 and 12 punts of 50+ yards.

Greg Huegel started the year as Clemson's placekicker, but the junior, who was previously an All-American, suffered a torn ACL in practice the week after the Louisville game and was lost for the season. Alex Spence took over and has made 7-12 field-goal attempts this year, but he has made five of his last six attempts, including a career-long (by 16 yards) 46-yarder in the ACC Championship Game.

Clemson has been outstanding on kick coverage all year. Opponents have just 176 yards on punt returns and average just 19.8 yards on kickoff returns. The opponents' longest kickoff return is just 33 yards, and Clemson has allowed just two kickoff returns of more than 30 yards all year. Two years ago, Clemson allowed 13 kickoff returns of 30+ yards, second worst in the nation.

BOWL NOTES

CLEMSON VS. ALABAMA SERIES

Clemson and Alabama have two of the top football traditions in the South. They have combined to win each of the last two National Championships and both programs have the most league titles in their respective conference histories. Clemson has won 17 ACC titles, the most in ACC history, Alabama has 26 to lead SEC institutions.

The two schools have met just three on the gridiron since 1975, the regular season opener for the 2008 and the National Championship game each of the last two years.

Alabama has a 13-4 lead in the series that dates to a 35-0 Clemson victory in 1900. College football Hall of Fame Coach John Heisman was Clemson's coach that day. Clemson won the first three games of the series, as the Tigers followed with shutout wins in 1904 and 1905. Alabama won the next 13 until Clemson won last year, 35-31 in the National Championship.

Alabama did not score on Clemson in the first three meetings, then Clemson did not score on Alabama in four consecutive games played between 1934-1966. Alabama won a battle of strong teams in 1935, as Clemson entered the game with a 5-1 record and the Crimson Tide stood with a 5-1-1 mark. Alabama won the game played at Tuscaloosa, 33-0.

The two schools met four consecutive years from 1966-69. It was a series arranged by good friends Frank Howard of Clemson and Bear Bryant of Alabama. Howard was a 1931 Alabama graduate who went to Clemson the fall after he graduated and never left until his death in 1996. Howard is buried in the cemetery behind the South Stands at Clemson Memorial Stadium. His grave site is just 50 yards from the entrance to the press box. Howard was a senior when Bryant was a freshman at Alabama.

They decided late in Howard's career to have a four-game home-and-home series. Clemson went to Alabama in 1966 and 1968 and Alabama came to Clemson in 1967 and 1969. The 1969 season was Howard's final year as head coach.

The 1966 game was a contest between eventual conference champions. Alabama finished that season with an 11-0 record and won the SEC with a 6-0 conference mark. Clemson finished with a 6-4 record, but had a 6-1 record in the ACC. That year Clemson played ninth-ranked Georgia Tech, fourth-ranked Alabama and fifth-ranked Southern California, all on the road, as its non-conference schedule.

Bryant came to Clemson for the first time in 1967 and the two teams did not disappoint the sellout crowd of 49,500 at Clemson Memorial Stadium. The contest ended with a 13-10 Alabama victory. Ken Stabler hit on 9-15 passes for 135 yards, including four connections for 110 yards to All-American Denis Homan. Clemson was led by Buddy Gore, the ACC Player of the Year that season, who had 23-73 rushing. Total offense was as close as the score, 276 for Alabama and 275 for Clemson.

Clemson had the ball in Alabama territory twice in the last eight minutes, but could not get on the scoreboard.

Clemson came close again in 1968, but an Alabama team that finished with an 8-3 record and top 15 national ranking, beat Clemson at Tuscaloosa, 21-14. The following year, Clemson ran up and down the field, but lost, 38-13. Clemson had a 200-yard passer (Tommy Kendrick), a 100-yard rusher (Ray Yauger) and a 100-yard receiver (Charlie Waters), yet lost the game by 25 points.

After the game, then Alabama captain and future Clemson head coach Danny Ford presented Coach Bryant with a game ball that included a sticker with the number 100 on it. (It was the 100th year of college football and teams wore a 100 logo, so all he had to do was take if off of his helmet.). The victory was Bryant's 100th win at Alabama.

It is interesting to note that Bryant won his 100th game in his 126th game at Alabama. Earlier this year Dabo Swinney won his 100th game in his 129th game at Clemson.

Alabama defeated Clemson in the Georgia Dome in the 2008 season opener, 34-10. Clemson was ranked eighth and Alabama was 24th entering the game, but Nick Saban's second Alabama team was outstanding. Alabama finished that year 12-2 and ranked sixth in the nation. The highlight of the game for Clemson was a 96-yard kickoff return for a touchdown by C.J. Spiller. A month and a half after this game, Alabama graduate Dabo Swinney, who was Clemson's wide receiver coach for the 2008 Clemson vs. Alabama game, was named Clemson interim head coach. On December 1 Swinney got the job full time.

The 2015 season meeting between the two teams was a classic National Championship matchup in Phoenix. Alabama won 45-40, but Clemson quarterback Deshaun Watson was outstanding as he threw for 405 yards and ran for 73 as the Tigers gained 554 yards of total offense. An onside kick in the fourth period led to an Alabama touchdown and the Crimson Tide also had a kickoff return for a score. Clemson had the lead going into the fourth period and had won 51 in a row in that situation but Saban and the Tide pulled out the win.

In the rematch last year, Clemson was victorious in thrilling fashion 35-31. Watson connected with Hunter Renfrow on a two-yard touchdown pass with just one second left to give Clemson its first National Championship since 1981. This time Clemson trailed by 10 points going into he fourth period, but outscored Alabama 21-7 in the last period to win. Watson was again brilliant, hitting on 36-56 passes for 420 yards and three touchdowns without an interception. He also had 21 rushes for 43 yards and a score. Renfrow finished with 10 catches for 92 yards and two touchdowns. Clemson broke Alabama's record 16-game winning streak against AP Top 25 teams.

This will be the third straight year Clemson and Alabama play in the postseason. The only previous time that has happened was the 1972-74 seasons when Southern California played Ohio State in three straight Rose Bowls.

LAST YEAR VS. ALABAMA

Playing in his final game as a Tiger, Deshaun Watson completed 36-56 passes for 420 yards and three scores, and added 43 yards rushing and a touchdown to lead Clemson to a 35-31 victory over Alabama in the College Football National Championship game to close the 2016 season.

Watson completed a two-yard scoring pass to Hunter Renfrow with one second left to give the Tigers the win and the school's first national title since 1981.

Watson was named the MVP on offense thanks to his 463 yards of total offense and four total touchdowns. The previous year against Alabama in the title game he had 405 yards passing and 73 yards rushing for 478 yards of total offense and four scoring passes. Alabama entered the game first in the nation in scoring defense and total defense.

Clemson did not have a 100-yard receiver, but had four players between 92 and 95 yards receiving in a game for the first time in history. Renfrow ended the contest with 10 catches for 92 yards.

While the score was close, many of the team numbers were not. Clemson ran 99 offensive plays to 66 for Alabama, and controlled the clock for 34:44. Clemson won the passing yardage 420-155 and total offense, 511-376. Clemson had 31 first downs to 16 for Alabama. Alabama was just 2-15 on third down, meaning Alabama and Ohio State were a combined 5-29 on third down in the two playoff games of the 2016 season.

Alabama jumped out to a 14-0 lead behind the running of Bo Scarborough. He scored on runs of 25 and 37 yards, one in each quarter. Clemson then came back to within a score on an eight-yard run by Watson to make the count 14-7 at the half.

Alabama outscored Clemson 10-7 in the third quarter to take a 24-14 lead entering the fourth quarter. The Crimson Tide had won 97 consecutive games when having a double digit lead in the fourth period.

But the Tigers scored a pair of touchdowns in the fourth to take a 28-24 lead with 4:38 left. Alabama came back on its next possession to go 68 yards for a score. Jalen Hurts scored on a 30-yard run with 2:07 left.

Clemson came back with a 68-yard drive of its own. The drive included a 24-yard pass to Mike Williams, a six-yard completion to Renfrow on third-and-three and a 17-yard pass to Jordan Leggett that brought the ball to the Alabama nine with 14 seconds left.

A pass interference penalty on a pass for Williams in the endzone brought the ball to the two. On the next play Watson hit Renfrow with the game winner.

The victory gave Clemson a 14-1 record to finish the season, the same as Alabama. Both teams tied the national record for wins in a season

1959 SUGAR BOWL

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take a 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

Louisiana State drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its first six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the Louisiana State 27-yard-line on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers. On Clemson's next possession, Louisiana State got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for Louisiana State at the Clemson 11.

Louisiana State picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the endzone for the only score of the game. Cannon, who won the Heisman Trophy that year, kicked the extra point and Louisiana State led, 7-0.

Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the Louisiana State 28, but Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was incomplete. Louisiana State took over on downs and ran out the clock.

In his usual colorful way,Clemson Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said he was pleased with his team.

"Hell! I think we'd have beat them if that boy had held onto that little screen pass," Howard said referring to the fourth-down pass for Usry. "I was going for those two points and beat them. I didn't think we would hold them to one touchdown, but I didn't think they would shut us out, either.

"Louisiana State has a good team, they rate the No. 1 spot in the nation. Cannon is quite a boy. Deserves his All-American rating."

"It was a wonderful victory. They're just as fine when you win 'em, 7-0 as 30-0. I'm very happy that we won," said Louisiana State Coach Paul Dietzel, who won the national championship at age 34.

"Clemson proved tougher than most people figured. But we knew we would have to play at our top peak to beat them. They were a good team."

BOWL NOTES

CURRENT COACHES ON BOTH STAFFS

Clemson assistant head coach, special teams coach and tight ends coach Danny Pearman coached at Alabama from 1990 to 1997. He was a graduate assistant in 1990 and became full-time in 1991. He was on the staff when Alabama won the National championship in 1992. Alabama had four seasons of at least 10 wins when he was there and went to six bowl games.

Current Alabama assistant Burton Burns coached at Clemson. Burns was at Clemson under Tommy Bowden from 1999-06. He was Clemson's running backs coach those years. His final season he coached freshman C.J. Spiller and sophomore James Davis, one of the top running back combinations in Clemson history. Davis finished his career second in school history in rushing yards (3881) and Spiller is third (3547).

ALABAMA CONNECTION

Each of the top three winningest coaches in Clemson history in terms of total victories are Alabama graduates. Frank Howard, Alabama class of 1931, leads the way with a 165-118-12 record from 1940-69. Dabo Swinney moved into second place this year and now has a record of 101-29. He is a 1993 Alabama graduate. Danny Ford, Alabama class of 1970, is third with a 96-29-4 record. Howard and Ford are in the College Football Hall of Fame. In fact, Ford was inducted a month ago.

Overall, five Alabama graduates have been among the 25 Clemson head football coaches over the years. The others are Hootie Ingram, a 1955 Alabama graduate, who was 12-21 from 1970-72, and Charley Pell, a 1961 Alabama graduate, who was 18-4-1 in two seasons, 1977-78.

Clemson has 729 wins in its history and 392 of them have been recorded by Alabama graduates, or 54 percent of Clemson's wins. Not a bad percentage considering Alabama graduates constitute just 20 percent of the different coaches in Clemson history. The five Alabama graduates are a combined 392-201-17 at Clemson, a .657 winning percentage. The 20 Clemson coaches who did not go to Alabama are a combined 337-257-28 for a .564 winning percentage.

This will be Dabo Swinney's first trip to see a game at the Sugar Bowl since he won the National Championship with Alabama against Miami (FL) at the end of the 1992 season.

TWO GREAT DEFENSES

Two of the top defenses in the nation will face each other in the Sugar Bowl. That is most obvious when it comes to scoring defense. Alabama leads the nation in scoring defense, allowing just 11.5 points per game, while Clemson is second, allowing 12.8 points per game.

Clemson is second in scoring defense (12.8), sixth in total defense (277.9), eighth in pass defense (165.1) and 13th in rushing defense (112.9). Alabama is first in scoring defense (11.5), second in total defense (257.8), third in rushing defense (94.1), and seventh in pass defense (163.7).

As you can see by the chart below Clemson is ranked in the top 10 in 15 different categories, while Alabama is in the top 10 in 11.

This Clemson team leads the ACC in scoring defense, total defense, pass efficiency defense and rushing defense. No Clemson team has led the league in all four categories in the same year. It has been done nine times in ACC history with the last time being in 2015 when Boston College accomplished the feat.

SEVEN BOWL WINS IN NINE YEARS

Dabo Swinney has coached in four bowl games the last two years and has won three of them, all over top four ranked teams. Swinney now has seven bowl wins in his relatively short Clemson career, the most in Clemson history and the second most in ACC history.

With the wins over Ohio State and Alabama in the College Football Playoff, Swinney became Clemson's career leader in bowl wins, breaking the previous mark of six held by Danny Ford. Ford and Frank Beamer of Virginia Tech were tied for second behind the 11 of Bobby Bowden entering this year. But Swinney now has seven, including five over top 10 teams over the last five years, most in the nation.

2016, A SEASON TO REMEMBER

- National Champions for the second time in school history, first time since 1981.
- Tigers finished with a 14-1 record after defeating previously undefeated and #1 ranked Alabama, 35-31, in the College Football Playoff Championship game. Clemson's 14 wins tied the FBS record for victories in a season.
- Alabama was defending National Champion and had won 26 games in a row.
- Clemson achieved the National Championship while playing the nation's most difficult schedule according to the NCAA, just the sixth school to do it in 40 years. Clemson beat six teams that finished in the AP Top 25.
- Clemson defeated 11 FBS schools who finished the season with a winning record, including five who won at least 10 games and six who finished in the top 25 of the AP poll.
- Clemson defeated the No 3 (Louisville), No. 2 Ohio State and No. 1 Alabama (rankings at time of the game) for the first in school history in the same year.
- Clemson finished 3-0 vs. the SEC, the first time Clemson has beaten three SEC teams in the same year.

- Clemson joined Alabama as the only schools to advance to the College Football Playoff in consecutive years.
- Seven different players were named first, second or third team All-American, most in school history.
- The Tigers were 7-1 in games decided by seven points or less, and were 8-0 in games away from home. Team won at Auburn for first time since 1950, at Georgia Tech for first time since 2003 and at Florida State for second time since 1989.

FIVE TEAM NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIPS

Clemson has won five national championships in its sports program over the years. The list includes one for football (1981, 2016), two for men's soccer (1984 and 1987) and one for men's golf (2003).

The first football title came at the Orange Bowl against Nebraska at the end of the 1981 season, a 22-15 victory under Head Coach Danny Ford. That was the first title in any sport in school history. Clemson then won a second title last year against Alabama in a game played in Tampa.

The 1984 soccer title was a 2-1 win over Indiana in the Kingdome in Seattle, Washington. Three years later Clemson won the title with a 3-1 win over San Diego State. That year the soccer Final Four was awarded to a team in the final four and Clemson won the bid, so Clemson had the rare opportunity to win an NCAA title in its home facility.

Clemson won its first spring sport title in 2003 when Clemson won the NCAA Men's Golf championship at Oklahoma's State's home course in Stillwater, Okla. Clemson beat the home standing Cowboys by two shots.

CLEMSON'S ACC CHAMPIONSHIPS

With the win over Miami (Fla.), Clemson now has 17 ACC titles in its history, the most in the history of the conference. Florida State is second with 15. The Tigers have won each of the last three titles. It is the first time Clemson has won three in a row since the 1986-88 era. Clemson also won three in a row from 1965-67.

Florida State was the last school with three in a row. They accomplished that from 2012-14. So Clemson and Florida State have won the last six ACC titles.

Clemson now has 23 conference championships overall, also the most of any current ACC school. Duke is actually second with 18. The Blue Devils won 11 Southern Conference titles and seven ACC titles.

The Tigers won the 1900, 1902 and 1903 SIAA Conference championship under John Heisman, then 1906 SIAA title under Bob Williams, and won the 1940 and 1948 Southern Conference titles under Frank Howard. Howard won eight conference titles overall, two Southern Conference and six ACC.

POLL STREAKS

Clemson has been ranked in the top 25 in each of the last 51 AP polls, the longest in Clemson history. But, 42 of those rankings have been in the top 10, tied for the most in the nation with Alabama.

Clemson has been ranked in 104 of the 111 polls since the 2011 season, third best in the nation. Only Alabama has been ranked in every poll over the last seven years, 111-111. Oklahoma is second with 107 poll appearances in that period.

In terms of appearances in the College Football Playoff polls, Clemson has been in the top 25 of all 25 held so far in the four years of the system. Clemson, Alabama, and Ohio State, are the three schools that have been in all 25 polls over the last four years. Clemson was ranked No. 1 in all six polls in 2015 and first the last two this year. Ironically, Clemson was never No. 1 in any College Football Playoff poll in 2016, but then won the National Championship.

11 STRAIGHT WINS VS. RANKED TEAMS

Clemson's victory over Miami gave Clemson 11 straight wins over top 25 teams. This includes teams ranked by AP, USA Today or the College Football Playoff poll.

The streak dates to last year's 42-36 win over Louisville at Clemson. Louisville was ranked third by AP and fourth by USA Today entering that game. Clemson's last loss to a ranked team was to No. 2 Alabama in the National Championship game at the end of the 2015 season. The Tigers are 16-1 against ranked opponents (ranked in top 25 of either poll, 13-1 vs. AP) since the 2014 bowl win over Oklahoma.

The previous Clemson mark for consecutive wins over ranked opponents was five set between 2005-07 under Tommy Bowden and 2014-15 under Dabo Swinney.

Clemson's streak includes wins over third-ranked Louisville, second ranked Ohio State and No. 1 ranked Alabama last year. Clemson had never beaten the No. 1 or No 2 ranked teams before last year.

The 11-game streak is an ACC record. The previous best was nine by Florida State on two occasions.

Clemson has won its most recent game against 11 of the 13 other ACC teams and a streak of at least three wins against 10 of the 13. Clemson ran its winning streak over NC State to six games in a row with the 38-31 win over the Wolfpack on November 4 and three in a row over Florida State on Nov. 11 with a 31-14 victory.

11-GAME WINNING STREAK

Clemson had an 11-game winning streak entering the Syracuse game. The Tigers won their last five games of 2016 on the way to the National Championship and the first six in 2017 before Syracuse ended the streak with a 27-24 victory in Syracuse on Friday, October 13.

This was the ninth time in history Clemson had a winning streak of at least 10 games. Recently Clemson had a 17-game winning streak from 2014 to 2015. The Tigers lost the final game of the 2015 season to Alabama in the National Championship game. That ended the 17-game winning streak. The Tigers then won nine in a row before losing to Pittsburgh, 43-42 at home. Then Clemson won 11 in a row. So Clemson has won 43 of the last 46.

This was the second time Dabo Swinney has had a winning streak of at least 10 games. Danny Ford had three separate streaks of at least 10 games, including a 13-game streak from 1980 through the last game of the 1981 season.

Frank Howard had a 15-game winning streak from 1947-49 and was part of a 13-game streak from 1939-40. The first 10-game winning streak took place under John Heisman from 1899 to 1901.

NINE WINS OVER WINNING TEAMS

Clemson has an 8-0 record against teams with a winning record so far this year. That is tied for the second most wins over teams with winning records in school history. The only season that is better is last year when Clemson had 11 wins over teams with winning marks.

Clemson has 82 wins over the last seven years and 47 of them have come against FBS teams that finished with a winning record.

Clemson already has two wins over teams with 10 wins this year (Auburn and Miami). Each of the last two years Clemson has beaten five teams that finished with at least 10 wins. Clemson could still reach that mark again if Virginia Tech wins its bowl game and if the Tigers win the National Championship.

Prior to Dabo Swinney's arrival, the most wins over teams with a winning record in a seven-year period was just 30 between 1986-91.

Clemson wins over teams with a winning record this year are Auburn (10-3), Louisville (8-4), Boston College (7-5), Virginia Tech (9-3), Wake Forest (7-5), NC State (8-4), South Carolina (8-4) and Miami (10-2).

Clemson is 9-0 against bowl teams, as Florida State is going to a bowl with a 6-6 record.

BOWL NOTES

12-GAME ROAD WINNING STREAK

Clemson had won a school record 12 consecutive road games prior to its 27-24 loss at Syracuse on Friday, October 13.

The win at Louisville broke the school record of 10 that had been set in 1939-40 when Banks McFadden was an All-American for the Tigers. The win at Virginia Tech was the 12th in a row on the opponent's home stadium.

Since then, Clemson has won at NC State and at South Carolina, so the Tigers have won 14 of their last 15 on the opponent's home field.

WINNING ON THE ROAD

Clemson defeated a South Carolina team ranked #24 in the College Football Playoff poll by a 34-10 score on November 25. It was the fourth time this year Clemson has beaten a team ranked in one of the polls on the road. Earlier, Clemson won at #14 Louisville, at #12 Virginia Tech and at #20 NC State. This is the first time in history Clemson has gained four wins on the road over top 25 teams in the same year.

According to research by ESPN, Clemson is the first Power Five conference school in the last decade to win four games on the road in a season against teams that would have at least eight wins by the end of the season. Cincinnati did it in 2009. Louisville (8-4), Virginia Tech (9-3), NC State (8-4) and South Carolina (8-4) all have at least eight wins this year.

Clemson is 21-2 in games away from home since the 2014 bowl season when the Tigers beat Oklahoma 40-6 in the Russell Athletic Bowl. That includes a 14-1 record in true road games. That 21-2 record includes three straight ACC Championship victories at neutral sites.

FOUR ROAD WINS OVER TOP-20 TEAMS

Clemson leads the nation in wins over top 25 teams (rank entering the game) with six. Four of the six have come in true road games, at #13 Louisville, at #12 Virginia Tech, at #20 NC State and #24 South Carolina (College Football Playoff poll). Clemson is the only team in the nation with four wins over top 25 teams on the road this season.

Beating ranked teams on the road is difficult. This 2017 Clemson team is the first to have four true road wins over top 25 teams. The 1950 team had three under Frank Howard.

Swinney now has seven wins over top 25 teams in the opponent's home stadium and there have been just 26 in Clemson history.

Overall, Swinney now has a Clemson record 26 wins over top 25 teams, including an ACC-record 11 in a row. Florida State won nine in a row over top 25 teams between 2012-14.

NATIONAL RECORD FOR SEPTEMBER

With its 31-17 victory over Virginia Tech in Blacksburg, Va., on September 30, the 2017 Clemson Tigers became the first team to defeat three Associated Press Top 15 teams in the month of September. This was research provided by ESPN immediately following the conclusion of the game.

How far back are we talking? You can't say the history of college football because there weren't AP polls before 1936. But, since 1936, Clemson is the first to do it.

The Tigers actually came close to the accomplishment in 2011. That year Clemson defeated No. 17 Auburn, No. 19 Florida State and No. 11 Virginia Tech over three consecutive weeks between Sept. 17 and Oct. 1.

As far as winning five games in September against any opponent, this is the first time the Tigers have done that since 2000. The fifth win that year also came on September 30, and it was registered at Duke, a 52-22 win. That was a memorable day because it was Bob Bradley's 500th consecutive game working for the Clemson sports information office.

TIGERS OVERCOME LOSSES ON OFFENSE

Clemson lost players who accounted for 77 percent of the total offense from the 2016 National Championship team. Out of 130 FBS teams for the 2017 season, Clemson ranked 128th in percentage of offense returning. The only two schools behind Clemson were North Carolina and UAB...and UAB didn't have a team in 2016.

That is why Clemson's accomplishments this year, especially on offense, have been remarkable. Clemson's 2017 offense ranks second best in school history in interception avoidance, third in fewest turnovers/game, third in completion percentage, fifth in scoring average, fifth in total offense and fifth in total touchdowns.

The Tigers rank fifth in the nation in completion percentage and sixth in touchdown percentage in the redzone. Clemson averages 35.4 points and 448.2 yards per game.

Clemson has had one of the most balanced offenses in school history. Three different players have at least 600 yards rushing, a first for the program since 1978. Three more players have at least 500 yards receiving.

The Tigers average at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing per game, something Clemson has done for the course of the season just twice previously (2000 and 2015).

BALANCED ATTACK

Clemson has one of the most balanced attacks in the nation in terms of yardage. Clemson averages 448 yards per game, 204 yards rushing and 244 passing. Only two Clemson teams have averaged at least 200 yards a game rushing and passing. The 2000 Clemson team led by Woody Dantzler averaged 224 a game on the ground and 213 passing. The 2015 team averaged 223 rushing and 291.5 passing with Deshaun Watson running the offense.

The Tigers showed their balance against Georgia Tech with 221 yards rushing and 207 passing for 428 total. It was the third time this year Clemson had at least 200 of each in the same game and the 17th time Clemson has done it in the last three years. The Tigers are 34-0 under Dabo Swinney when they have at least 200 yards rushing and 200 yards passing in the same game. All-time in Clemson history the program is 84-0-1 with at least 200 yards of each.

300 YARDS RUSHING & PASSING

Clemson had 665 yards of total offense in the season opening win over Kent State. That broke down to 353 rushing and 312 passing. The total offense figure was the fifth best in school history and it marked just the fourth time that Clemson had at least 300 yards rushing and passing in the same game. Clemson came close at Louisville with 297 rushing and 316 passing.

Clemson returned four starters from last year's offensive line and the group has produced, a big reason Clemson is in the top 35 in the nation in rushing. Clemson's starting five offensive linemen have collectively started 136 games with 193 game appearances and 9,314 snaps. Mitch Hyatt is a junior who has started 41 of his 42 career games, while Tyrone Crowder has started 39 of 47.

IMPROVED GROUND GAME

Clemson has a much more effective running game so far in 2017. Clemson averaged 169.5 rushing yards per game in 2016, but has increased that figure to 204 rushing yards per game in 2017. If the season ended today, that average would be the third best by a Clemson team since 1995 when the Tigers averaged 245 yards per game. Clemson has 40 rushing touchdowns compared to just five by the opposition. The Tigers had 30 rushing touchdowns in 15 games last year.

The Tigers have put together more big plays in the running game as well. The Tigers already have 22 runs of at least 20 yards this year, seven more than the Tigers had all of last year in 15 games.

45-1 WITH 200 RUSHING YARDS

Clemson has some strong indicators of victory under Dabo Swinney. Some records also go against common theories of football.

For instance, Clemson is 14-2 when losing the turnover margin over the last three years. That includes a 3-0 record this year as Clemson lost the turnover margin against Kent State, Auburn and Wake Forest.

Rushing for 200 yards is an indicator of victory for the Tigers. Clemson is 45-1 under Swinney when rushing for at least 200 yards and has won 41 in a row dating to a loss to Georgia Tech in the 2009 ACC Championship game.

The Tigers have also been outstanding when it comes to leading going into the fourth period. The Tigers are 89-5 under Swinney when leading entering the fourth period, including a 73-2 record since beginning of 2011 season.

DOMINANT DEFENSE

Clemson's defense has been dominant so far this season. The Clemson defense ranks in the top 10 in the nation in scoring defense, total defense, fewest yards per play allowed and sacks.

Two defenses stand out in Clemson history and this Clemson team certainly compares. The 1990 and 2014 Clemson defenses led the nation in total defense, the only years Clemson has accomplished that No. 1 ranking in that category. The 2014 defense actually led the nation in 11 different categories and eight players off that defense are now on NFL rosters.

POINTS OFF TURNOVERS

While Clemson is just +5 in terms of turnover margin this year, the Tigers are an impressive +68 points in terms of points off turnovers. Usually those two stats don't go together, but is testimony to Clemson's defense and the offense's ability to take advantage of turnovers.

So far this year Clemson has scored 91 points off turnovers, while the opposition has just 23. Clemson's defense has given up just two touchdowns after a turnover by the Clemson offense all year. In fact that streak goes back five games into the 2016 season.

Over the last 18 games the Clemson defense has given up just two touchdowns and five field goals for 29 points after a turnover.

Auburn and South Carolina are the only opponents to win the points off turnover statistic this year. Both won by three points, Auburn 3-0 and South Carolina 10-7.

Clemson won the turnover margin 3-1 vs. Miami (FL) breaking a nine-game streak in which the Hurricanes won that statistic. Clemson won points off turnovers by a 14-0 margin.

Clemson won its 300th game in Memorial Stadium by a 24-10 count over Georgia Tech. It was not the first time Clemson won a landmark victory over Georgia Tech. In February of 2014, Clemson won its 500th basketball game in Littlejohn Coliseum over Georgia Tech.

- Over the last seven seasons (including 2017), Clemson is 46-3 at Memorial Stadium.

TIGERS RECORD 11 SACKS VS. AUBURN

Clemson had 14 tackles for loss, including 11 sacks in the win over Auburn. That tied for the second most sacks in a game by a Clemson team. The record is 12 sacks against Furman in 1996. The Tigers also had 11 in a win over Utah State in 2004. So, the 11 sacks against Auburn were the most since Dabo Swinney became head coach, and most in school history against a team from a Power Five Conference.

DEFENSE HOLDS OFF JACKSON

Clemson's defense was outstanding against Louisville. Through three periods against Clemson's No. 1 defense, Louisville scored just seven points. With Clemson leading 33-7 entering the fourth period, Lamar Jackson hit his stride against Clemson's reserves, throwing for 199 yards and two touchdowns in the final 15 minutes. He had 201 of his 381 yards of total offense in the fourth period when Clemson was ahead by at least 20 points. The Tigers finished with five sacks by five different players.

One player who stood out was Dorian O'Daniel, who is quickly becoming an ACC Defensive Player of the Year candidate. He had a career-high 15 tackles in the win over Auburn when Clemson allowed Auburn just 117 yards of total offense.

Then, at Louisville, the cerebral graduate student from Maryland had six tackles, one tackle for loss and a 44-yard interception return for a touchdown. It was his first career touchdown and the first Clemson defensive player to have a "pick 6" while wearing No. 6.

FOURTH QUARTER VS. EAGLES

Clemson outscored Boston College 27-0 in the fourth quarter in its 34-7 win on Sept. 23. It was the most points scored in the fourth quarter by the Tigers since Oct. 31, 2009 when the Tigers scored 28 points in the fourth quarter in a 49-3 Clemson win over Coastal Carolina.

It was the most points scored by the Tigers in the fourth period of a conference game since 1988 when the Tigers scored 28 in the fourth period at Maryland in a 49-25 win that clinched the ACC championship.

It was just the sixth time Clemson scored 27 points or more in the fourth period in Clemson history.

Clemson's fourth-quarter offense featured 11 first downs, 21 rushes for 164 yards and 4-6 passing for 49 yards. Clemson ran 27 plays for 213 yards in the fourth period.

94 PLAYERS AGAINST THE CITADEL

Clemson played 94 players against The Citadel in the home finale, the most in a game in Clemson history. The previous high was 93 against South Carolina State last year. The Tigers also played 91 players in the opener this year against Kent State.

38-3 VICTORY OVER MIAMI (FLA.)

Clemson's 38-3 win over No. 7 Miami in the ACC Championship game was the largest in school history over a top 25 team. The previous record was 34 points, first in 1950 at Missouri and then 40-6 vs. Oklahoma in the 2014 Russell Athletic Bowl.

Clemson came close to that record last year in the Fiesta Bowl when the Tigers downed Ohio State 31-0. So Clemson has eight wins by 30 points or more against top 25 teams in its history and Dabo Swinney has three of them.

SENIOR CLASS

There are just six senior scholarship players in this Clemson senior class, the smallest Clemson senior class of scholarship players since 1944 when the school's entire junior and senior classes were fighting WWII. The only year that comes close is the senior class of 1985 that had just seven scholarship seniors.

The accomplishments of the Clemson football program over the last four years fulfills the "mighty" part. Here are a few numbers to back that up:
The current senior class has:

- An overall record of 50-6, the most wins by a senior Clemson and ACC senior class. That .894 percentage is the best in Clemson history. This is the first 50-win class in ACC history. With one more win and it would tie the all-time FBS record for wins at 51.(Note Alabama has tied that record with 51 entering the bowl season.)
- Had a 27-1 record at home the most wins at home in a four year period in Clemson history. The two previous senior classes were 26-2 in Memorial Stadium.
- This group of seniors closed its regular season record against the ACC with a 28-4 mark, tying the record set by the 2015 and 2016 seniors. But including ACC Championship games this group has 31 wins, the most in school history..
- In terms of wins over top 25 teams, this group already has the record with 16. This senior group is 16-3 vs. Top 25 teams, including 11 wins in a row, an all-time ACC record. (That includes ranking in AP, USA Today or the College Football Playoff ranking).
- The class has also been remarkable in close games, posting a 13-3 record in games decided by seven points or less. That includes a 7-1 record last year on the way to winning the National Championship with a 35-31 win over Alabama.
- What is remarkable is the road record. The Tigers are 23-5 away from home the last four years, including an 21-2 mark the last three years (14-1 in true road games). There have been four wins over top 25 teams on the road this year.
- When it comes to top 10 rankings, this group is second to none. The program is ranked in the top 10 in the nation for a 42nd straight week this week, tied for the longest active streak in the nation with Alabama. The second-longest Tiger streak of top 10 rankings is just 14 straight polls in 2013.
- Overall, this senior class has been in the top 25 for 60 of 64 weeks and in the top 10 for 44 of those polls. The Tigers have been ranked in the top 25 for 51 straight polls, tied for the Clemson record.

BOWL NOTES

SIX TIGERS NAMED AP ALL-AMERICANS

Clemson had a national best and school record six players named to one of the three Associated Press All-America teams. The list included three of Clemson's four starting defensive linemen and four defenders overall.

Clelin Ferrell (DE) was named first-team by AP, while Mitch Hyatt (OT), Christian Wilkins (DT) and Dorian O'Daniel (LB) were second-team selections. Tyrone Crowder (OG) and Austin Bryant (DE) were third team selections.

The previous best for Associated Press All-Americans in a season by the Clemson program is five by the 2016 National Championship team. It marks the first time Clemson has had three defensive lineman named All-American in the same season.

Ferrell, a redshirt sophomore, is fourth on the Clemson team in tackles with 61 and has a team best 17 tackles or loss, including 8.5 sacks. He joins Deshaun Watson (sophomore, 2015) and Sammy Watkins (freshman, 2011) as the only Clemson freshman or sophomores to make first-team AP All-American.

Bryant was a third-team All-American selection by Associated Press, but he was a first-team selection by the Football Writers Association. Bryant is second to Ferrell in tackles for loss and sacks. The junior from Pavo, Ga., has 14.5 tackles for loss and 7.5 sacks.

Wilkins is the only returning All-American from last year's team. A third-team selection by AP last year, the native of Springfield, Mass was a second-team choice by Associated Press on Monday. He was named a first team All-American by the AFCA and The Sporting News this year.

O'Daniel was a second team selection by AP, but was earlier a first-team choice by Sports Illustrated. The graduate leads Clemson in tackles with 99, including 10.5 tackles for loss and a team best four takeaways.

Hyatt is the leader of Clemson's strong offensive line. He has been named second team All-American by nine services and a first-team choice by ESPN and Sporting News. The native of Georgia has started 41 games the last three years. Graduate Tyrone Crowder was named a third-team AP All-American as an offensive guard.

THIRTEEN TIGERS NAMED ALL-ACC

Six Clemson interior linemen, three on offense and three on defense, were named first-team All-ACC on November 27. The first-team selections on offense were tackle Mitch Hyatt, center Justin Falcinelli and guard Tyrone Crowder. The first-team selections on defense were defensive end Clelin Ferrell and tackles Christian Wilkins and Dexter Lawrence.

It marked the first time Clemson had six linemen earn first-team all-conference honors. The previous high was just four set eight previous seasons, including 2016.

Overall, 13 Clemson players were named first, second or third team All-ACC, seven on offense and six on defense.

It was the second consecutive year Clemson had three starting offensive linemen earn first-team honors. Crowder and Hyatt both were first-team selections last year as well. It was the first All-ACC selection for Falcinelli, who is in his first year as a starter.

Wilkins and Lawrence were second-team selections last year on defense, while Ferrell was named for the first time as a red-shirt sophomore. Ferrell leads the team in tackles for loss and sacks.

Dorian O'Daniel, Clemson's leading tackler, made the second team along with Austin Bryant. O'Daniel was the top vote getter on the second team defense and has 99 tackles and two interception returns for scores. Bryant is second on the team in tackles for loss and sacks. He had four sacks in the win over Auburn in September.

Four Clemson offensive players were named third-team All-ACC. Receivers Hunter Renfrow and Deon Cain were both named. Renfrow had two receiving touchdowns in the win over South Carolina, while Cain had nine receptions in the victory at NC State.

Freshman Travis Etienne, Clemson's leading rusher and the ACC leader in yards per rushing attempt at 7.2, was also named to the third team. Offensive lineman Taylor Hearn made an All-ACC team for the second straight year.

Kendall Joseph, Clemson's second leading tackler, was the only Clemson defensive player named third team.

THREE TOTAL 100 PASSING YARDS

Clemson had three different quarterbacks throw for 100 yards at a touchdown in the victory over The Citadel, a first time both have happened in the same game in Clemson history. Starter Kelly Bryant was 17-22 for 230 yards and three scores, Zerrick Cooper was 7-11 for 105 yards and a score, and freshman Hunter Johnson was 7-8 for 144 yards and a score.

Clemson had two players throw for at least 100 yards in a game 10 times previously, including the 1978 game against The Citadel, but never had three in one game.

All three quarterbacks have completed at least 60 percent of their passes this year. Clemson has 17 touchdown passes and just seven interceptions as a team this year.

ELLIOTT & SCOTT SUCCESSFUL

Clemson co-offensive coordinators Tony Elliott and Jeff Scott were teammates at Clemson from 2000-02. In fact, they were pregame stretch partners during that time. Now they have partnered to make Clemson one of the top offenses in the nation.

They began as co-coordinators for the 2014 Russell Athletic Bowl. They succeeded Chad Morris, who left after the 2014 regular season to become the head coach at SMU. In that first game, the Tigers scored 40 points in a 40-6 win over 25th ranked Oklahoma. That tied for the largest margin of victory in school history over a top 25 team.

Elliott and Scott have now been co-coordinators for the Tigers for 44 games and the Tigers are 41-3 in those games. That includes 16 wins over top 25 teams with just one loss (Alabama in 2015 season National Championship game when Clemson scored 40 points and had over 500 yards).

Clemson has been very consistent under the co-coordinators who are Clemson graduates. In 2015, Clemson averaged 38.5 points per game to rank 16th in the nation and last year the Tigers were 14th at 39.2 points per game. Clemson averages 33 points a game so far this year. In terms of total offense, Clemson averaged 514.5 in 2015 for the 11th best figure in the nation, 503.7 last year to rank 12th.

Clemson has been very effective early in games since Elliott and Scott became co-coordinators. The Tigers have scored a touchdown on their first possession 17 times in 44 games. That includes seven of the 13 games this year. In the 44 games, Clemson has scored 17 touchdowns, had 15 punts, 2 made field goal, 2 missed field goals, six turnovers, and two fails on fourth downs on the first possession.

FEASTER & McCLOUD WITH BIG PLAYS

Tavien Feaster and Ray-Ray McCloud both turned in important long plays at NC State in Clemson's thrilling 38-31 victory. Feaster had an 89-yard run and McCloud had a 77-yard punt return, both for pivotal scores.

First, McCloud's punt return tied the score at 7-7 in the first period. It was Clemson's first kick return for a score of any kind since October 11, 2014 when Adam Humphries returned a Louisville punt 72 yards for a touchdown in Clemson's 23-17 victory at Death Valley.

It was the first time Clemson had a punt return for a score on the road in 17 years. You have to go back to the 2000 season when Joe Don Reames had a 69-yard punt return for a score at Virginia to find the last punt return for a score on the road. McCloud's 77-yarder was the longest punt return for a score by a Clemson player since C.J. Spiller had a 77-yard return for six against Boston College in 2009.

McCloud is now 9th in the nation in punt return average at 12.1 and the Clemson team is 23rd. Clemson has not had a player finish in the top 20 in punt returns since Antwuan Wyatt in 1995 when he finished 15th.

Earlier this year McCloud had a 79-yard touchdown reception at Louisville. McCloud and Pittsburgh's Quadree Henderson are the only ACC players with a 70-yard punt return and 70-yard reception this year.

Feaster's 89-yard run for a score on the last play of the third period gave Clemson a 31-21 advantage entering the fourth period. That was Clemson's first double digit lead of the game.

Feaster's burst through the middle of the NC State line was the longest run by a Clemson player since 1993 when Derrick Witherspoon had an 89-yard run against Maryland. Only two runs in Clemson history are longer than Feaster's. Banks McFadden had a 90-yard run against Presbyterian in 1939 and Buck George had a 90-yard run at Furman in 1951.

It was the second run of 80 yards or more by a Clemson player this year. Travis Etienne had an 81-yard run for a score against Louisville in the fourth quarter of the Tigers victory. Clemson is the only school in the country with two different players who have had an 80-yard run.

HYATT & FERRELL EARN ACC HONORS

Clemson linemen Mitch Hyatt and Clelin Ferrell were both named ACC Players of the Week in the win over 20th ranked NC State. It was Clemson's fourth win over a top 25 team (ranking at game time), most in the nation. It was Clemson's sixth win over an FBS team with a winning record (as of November 6), also most in the nation.

Hyatt helped the Clemson offense to 224 yards rushing and 6.4 yards per rush at NC State. The starting left offensive tackle graded 94 percent and had five knockdown blocks in his 80 plays of action. He was a big reason Bradley Chubb, the ACC's leader in sacks, did not have a sack in 38 Clemson pass attempts. The Tigers had just two negative plays all day for just three yards.

Ferrell was the top tackler on the Clemson defense with 12 tackles, including nine first hits and three assists. He had five tackles for loss, including a sack for nine yards. The five tackles for loss were the second most in the nation that weekend and it marked the second time this year Ferrell had at least five tackles for loss in a game.

BRYANT EARNS NATIONAL HONOR

Junior defensive end Austin Bryant was named the National Defensive Player of the week by the Walter Camp Foundation, The Football Writers Association and the Bednarik Award for his performance against Auburn. Bryant had four sacks and seven total tackles in Clemson's 14-6 victory. He tied the Clemson record for sacks in a game with the four as he joined Keith Adams (1999 vs. Duke) and Andre Branch (2011 vs. Virginia Tech).

Bryant was a major reason Clemson had 11 sacks for negative 72 yards in the win over Auburn. Clemson held Auburn to just 117 yards of total offense, just 15 net yards in the second half.

Bryant was the first Clemson defensive player to win the Walter Camp Player of the Week award since Kourtnei Brown was named for his performance against North Carolina in 2011.

BRYANT LEADS OFFENSE

Quarterback Kelly Bryant has been outstanding this season. Against Louisville earlier in the season, Deshaun Watson tweeted, "He will be better than me!"

In some areas he has. So far Bryant is 244-362 , a .674 completion percentage (just ahead of Watson's .670 in 2016), for 2678 yards and 13 touchdowns. He is fifth in the nation in completion percentage. He has thrown just six interceptions compared to 17 by Watson last year. Bryant had a streak of 122 straight passes without an interception end at South Carolina.

Last year in leading Clemson to the National Championship, Deshaun Watson completed 67 percent of his passes for 306 yards per game and averaged 7.9 yards per attempt.

In the win over Louisville, Bryant's first road start and first ACC start, Bryant completed 22-32 passes for a career high 316 yards and a touchdown. He added 26 yards rushing and two scores for 342 yards of total offense, his career high. Most importantly, Bryant was 6-9 passing for 99 yards on third-down plays in that game.

Both quarterbacks are winners. Watson was 32-3 in his career at Clemson as the starter. Bryant is 12-1 to start his career and has set the school mark for wins by a starting quarterback in his first year as a starter.

BRYANT'S HISTORIC FIRST START

Clemson has had some pretty good quarterbacks in recent years, but none had as good an opening day performance as Kelly Bryant did against Kent State in terms of total offense. And he did it playing just the first 48 offensive snaps of the game.

Bryant completed 16 of 22 passes for 236 yards and a touchdown, and added 77 yards rushing in just seven attempts and scored another touchdown. He finished with 313 yards of total offense, one yard more than Tajh Boyd's previous opening day mark of 312 yards in the opening game of the 2013 season against Georgia.

Bryant had a 61-yard touchdown pass to Deon Cain in the first period and Clemson's second possession that was right on the mark. Clemson had just four pass plays of 60 yards or more all of last season, but it took Bryant just six plays to accomplish a 60-yard completion. He also had a 47-yard run in the second period to set up another score and finished with an 11-yard average.

BRYANT RECOGNIZED

Kelly Bryant was named one of the top eight quarterbacks in the nation for week five of the college football season by the Manning Award and the O'Brien Award. Bryant quarterbacked Clemson to a 31-17 win over 12th ranked Virginia Tech on Saturday evening to give the Tigers a 5-0 record.

Bryant completed 12 of 21 passes for 186 yards and a touchdown, and added 94 yards rushing in 19 attempts to finish with 280 yards of total offense. He threw a 60-yard touchdown pass to running back Tavien Feaster for Clemson's first touchdown.

The victory was the third for Clemson against a team ranked in the top 15 of both polls this season. Bryant is the first quarterback in college football history to start three wins over Associated Press top 15 teams in the month of September.

BRYANT ONE INT EVERY 60 PASSES

Clemson quarterback Kelly Bryant has thrown just six interceptions in 362 pass attempts this year. That is one interception for every 60 passes. That ranks as the fifth best season figure in school history (Min of 90 attempts).

Nealon Greene threw just one pick in 94 attempts in 1994 for the best ratio, while Cullen Harper averaged one every 72.2 attempts in 2007. Deshaun Watson's best season in this area took place in 2014 when he had just two interceptions in 137 attempts, or one every 68.5 attempts. Watson averaged an interception every 34 attempts in 2016 and one every 38 attempts in 2015.

Bryant had a streak of 122 passes without an interception until the streak was broken at South Carolina.

BRYANT'S FIRST-YEAR STARTER RECORD

Kelly Bryant has started all 13 games this year and has an 12-1 record. He has already set the school record for wins by a first year starting quarterback. The junior broke the previous record of 10 that had been held by Chris Morocco in 1989 and Tajh Boyd in 2011. Bryant joined Boyd as the only quarterbacks to lead the Tigers to an ACC Championship without starting a game at quarterback in any previous season.

CAIN'S STREAK CONTINUES

Junior wide receiver Deon Cain has caught at least one pass in 36 consecutive games. That is the ninth longest active streak in the nation. Allen Lazard of Iowa State has the longest streak at 47 straight. The Clemson record for consecutive games with a reception is 38 by Artavis Scott from 2014-16.

CAIN WITH CAREER HIGH AT NC STATE

Deon Cain became just the fifth Clemson receiver with 20 touchdown receptions when he had one against Miami in the ACC Championship game. The third team All-ACC player now has six for the year and 20 in his career. He has joined an impressive list of Tigers with 20 touchdown catches.

Cain had a career high nine receptions for 84 yards and the touchdown in the Tigers seven-point win at NC State. He now has 52 receptions for a team best 659 yards so far this year. For his career, Cain has 124 receptions for a 16 yards per reception average.

CARTER'S PICK SIX

Ryan Carter had a 12-yard interception return for a touchdown in the first period of the win at South Carolina. It was Carter's second interception of the year, but his first career touchdown. He added another interception in the Miami game.

The 12-yard pick six at South Carolina was the shortest interception return for a touchdown in Clemson history. The previous shortest was a 15-yard return for a score by defensive lineman Carlos Watkins against Appalachian State in 2015.

Carter's pick six was the first interception return for a score by a Tiger against South Carolina since 2006 when Jock McKissick went 82 yards for a touchdown at Clemson. It had been 20 years since a Clemson player returned an interception for a score in Columbia. Antwan Edwards had a 42-yard interception return for a score at South Carolina in 1997.

ELLIOTT WINS BROYLES AWARD

Clemson co-offensive coordinator and running backs coach Tony Elliott received the Frank Broyles Award on December 5, 2017 as the National Assistant Coach of the Year on college football. The presentation was made at a luncheon in Little Rock, Arkansas by the Frank & Barbara Broyles Foundation.

With Elliott's selection, Clemson became the first school two have winners of the Broyles Award in consecutive years in the 22-year history of the award. Clemson Defensive Coordinator Brent Venables won the award in 2016, and he was on hand Tuesday to present Elliott with the award.

Other finalists for the 2017 award were Kevin Steele of Auburn, Bill Bedenbaugh of Oklahoma, Troy Walters of Central Florida and Jim Leonhard of Wisconsin.

"I am so happy for Tony Elliott,' said Clemson Head Coach Dabo Swinney. "To have back-to-back winners of the Broyles Award speaks to the success of our program. A lot of credit for this goes to our players and staff.

"This is special for me personally because I coached Tony my first year in 2003 when I was receivers coach. I have had a front row seat to his career as a player and a coach and I am so proud to have him recognized as the top assistant coach in the nation."

Elliott has helped Clemson to a 12-1 record so far this year and a No. 1 ranking according to Associated Press, the Amway Coaches Poll and the College Football Playoff Poll. The Tigers have a school record six wins over Top 25 teams and have a 9-0 record against bowl teams in 2017.

Since Elliott and Jeff Scott have been co-coordinators of the Clemson offense, the Tigers have a 41-3 record, including a 16-1 record against Top 25 opponents.

Clemson's offense lost players who accounted for 77 percent of the total offense in 2016, 127th out of 130 FBS teams. But the Tigers have exceeded expectations on offense by ranking fourth in the nation in rushing touchdowns (40), sixth in completion percentage (.670), 10th in total touchdowns (62) and 10th in third down conversion percentage (.476).

Clemson averages 35.4 points per game, 21st in the nation and 449 yards of total offense per game. The Tigers average 205 yards a game rushing and 244 passing and are on pace to be just the third team in Clemson history to average at least 200 rushing and 200 passing in the same season.

ETIENNE BREAKS SPILLER RECORD

Travis Etienne had 14 carries for 97 yards and two touchdowns in Clemson's 31-14 win over Florida State. That is a 6.9 yards per carry average, which is just below his 7.2-yard average for the season. The freshman from Louisiana has a team best 744 rushing in just 103 attempts this season. The true freshman already has four runs of at least 50 yards this year, among the top 10 totals of 50-yard runs this year.

Etienne's 744 yards is the most by a Clemson freshman since Wayne Gallman had 769 yards in 2014. Gallman is also the last freshman to lead Clemson in rushing for a season. But Gallman took 161 carries to get that number.

The Clemson record for rushing yards in a season by a true freshman is 941 by Ronald Williams in 1991. The record for a red-shirt freshman is 973 by Terry Allen in 1987.

Etienne has broken Spiller's mark for rushing touchdowns by a Clemson freshman with 13. Spiller had 10 in 2006.

The next record for Etienne to pursue is Sammy Watkins record for total touchdowns by a freshman. Watkins had 13 as a receiver and kick returner in 2011. Etienne has tied the mark.

FERRELL LEADS DEFENSE AT NC STATE

Clelin Ferrell had a big day from his defensive end position in Clemson's win in Raleigh. The red-shirt sophomore had a career high 12 tackles, including nine first hits. Five of the nine first hits were tackles for loss, including a sack. Ferrell was just one tackle for loss from tying the Clemson single game record.

The tackle for loss total was not a career high for the native of Richmond, Va. Earlier this year he had 5.5 tackles for loss in Clemson's loss at Syracuse. He also had 3.5 sacks in that game.

There have been just 13 times this year that an FBS player has had at least five tackles for loss in a single game and Ferrell has two of them, the only player in the nation with more than one.

For the season, Ferrell has 61 tackles, including 17 tackles for loss and 8.5 sacks.

HIGGINS' CAREER DAY

Freshman Tee Higgins finished the regular season with a terrific two game set. Against The Citadel the native of Tennessee had six receptions for 178 yards and two scores in the 61-3 Clemson win. His day included a 78-yard touchdown reception from Hunter Johnson, the longest reception by a Clemson freshman since C.J. Spiller had an 82-yard catch at Boston College in 2006. Higgins also had a 32-yard catch and a 39-yard reception in the contest.

He added three catches for 84 yards in the win at South Carolina, giving him nine receptions for 262 yards over the last two games. He had just eight catches for 83 yards in the first 10 games.

Higgins 178 receiving yards against The Citadel were the second most by a Clemson freshman. The record remains 185 receiving yards by Artavis Scott vs. South Carolina in 2014.

HYATT WINS JACOBS BLOCKING TROPHY

Clemson junior offensive tackle Mitch Hyatt has been voted the winner of the 2017 Jacobs Blocking Trophy. The honor is voted on by the defensive coaching staffs of the ACC. Hyatt becomes the eighth student-athlete from Clemson to receive the honor and the first since offensive guard John Phillips in 1987.

"Mitch is very deserving of this award," said Clemson head coach Dabo Swinney. "I was surprised to find out that a Clemson player had not won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy since 1987. But what Mitch has accomplished this year and over the last three years has been significant, and winning this award just adds to his significant resumé.

"He has been so consistent in everything he does. We have only lost three games in the three years he has been in our starting lineup, and he has a lot to do with that."

The trophy is given in memory of William P. Jacobs, who served as president of Presbyterian College from 1935 to 1945. Hyatt will be recognized during activities surrounding the 2017 Dr. Pepper ACC Football Championship Game.

Hyatt, a 6-foot-5, 295-pound native of Suwanee, Georgia, is a three-year starter for the Tigers. A third-team All-ACC selection as a freshman two years ago and a first-team honoree in 2016 and 2017, Hyatt earned the Jacobs Blocking Trophy this season for his role in a Clemson offense that averages more than 35 points and close to 449 yards total offense per game. The defending national champion Tigers (12-1 overall, 7-1 ACC) rank second in the ACC in each of those categories.

The standout left tackle earned consecutive ACC Offensive Lineman of the Week honors, first on Oct. 30 for his play in the Tigers' win over Georgia Tech, and again on Nov. 6 following Clemson's road victory at NC State. In each of those contests, Hyatt graded out at 93 percent while delivering five knockdown blocks without allowing a sack.

Hyatt amassed 15 total points in the coaches' voting to capture the 64th ACC Jacobs Blocking Trophy (no award was given in 1996). Virginia Tech's Wyatt Teller placed second with 12 points, while Pitt's Brian O'Neill was third with 10. A total of 23 players earned at least one first-, second- or third-place vote.

In addition to Hyatt and Phillips, previous Jacobs Blocking Trophy winners from Clemson have included fullback Doug Cline (1959), tackle Wayne Mass (1966), guard Harry Olszewski (1967), guard Joe Bostic (1977), tackle Lee Nanney (1981) guard James Farr (1983) and John Phillips in 1987.

McCLOUD PLAYED BOTH AT NC STATE

Clemson wide receiver Ray-Ray McCloud played three snaps, all on NC State's last drive, at cornerback in the Tigers win over the Wolfpack. He was the first wide receiver to play cornerback in the same game since Adam Humphries played both sides of the ball at Wake Forest in 2014.

Ironically, McCloud did not catch a pass in the NC State game, but contributed on defense and had a 77-yard punt return for Clemson's first score.

McCloud switched his uniform number to 21 for the NC State game in anticipation of him playing some snaps on defense. The move was made because Clemson already has a starter on defense wearing No. 34 in Kendal Joseph, the team's second leading tackler.

McCloud continued to wear No. 21 vs. Miami and had two tackles on defense.

O'DANIEL A BUTKUS AWARD FINALIST

Clemson linebacker Dorian O'Daniel was named one of five finalists for the 2017 Butkus Award on November 20. The award, named in honor of former Illinois All-American and All-Pro Dick Butkus, is presented to the top linebacker in college football.

O'Daniel is the fourth Clemson linebacker to be named a finalist for the award, which began in 1985. The previous three Clemson finalists were Levon Kirkland (1990), Ed McDaniel (1991) and Keith Adams (2000). No Clemson player has won the award.

O'Daniel is Clemson's leading tackler with 99 stops so far this year, 19 more tackles than any other Tiger. He has led Clemson in tackles in four of the 13 games played so far, including wins over Auburn (15), Virginia Tech (14) and Georgia Tech (11).

The Clemson graduate student from Olney, Maryland has two interception returns for touchdowns in big Clemson victories on the road this year. First, he had a 44-yard interception return for a score against Lamar Jackson and 14th ranked Louisville on September 16, then had a 22 yard interception return for a score at 12th ranked Virginia Tech on September 30.

In the win at Virginia Tech he also had a fumble recovery, a sack, and 14 tackles plus a sack and a fumble recovery. He is the first player in Clemson history with at least 10 tackles, an interception return for a score, a sack and a fumble recovery in the same game.

O'Daniel is one of just three linebackers at the FBS level with two interception returns for scores this year. The others are Justin Phillips of Oklahoma State and Auggie Sanchez of South Florida. He is the only linebacker in Clemson history with two interception returns for touchdowns in the same season.

Among O'Daniel's 99 tackles are 10.5 tackles for loss, five of which are sacks for 35 yards.

RENFROW PERFORMS IN THE CLUTCH

After not scoring a touchdown in the first 10 games of the season, Hunter Renfrow now has three in the last three games. His 61-yard touchdown reception on the first play of the third period at South Carolina was the longest of his career. Renfrow now has 14 career touchdown receptions, two at home and 12 away from home.

BOWL NOTES

The South Carolina game was the third time Renfrow has had two touchdown receptions in a game, each of the last two National Championship games against Alabama and against South Carolina.

Renfrow does his best work in big games. Over the last three years in 10 games against South Carolina, the ACC Championship game and College Football Playoff games, Renfrow has 41 receptions for 487 yards and eight touchdowns. In his other 28 games combined he has just six touchdowns.

RENFROW EXCELLING ON THIRD DOWN

Wide receiver Hunter Renfrow has 55 receptions for 571 yards and three touchdowns. Nineteen of Renfrow's 55 receptions have come on third down and 16 of the 19 have given Clemson a first down. The 19 third-down receptions rank tied 21st best in the nation. The 16 third-down receptions for first down are 6th most in the nation.

Renfrow now has 40 receptions in his career on third down for 400 yards and 30 first downs. He had 13 third-down catches last year for 177 yards and 10 of those went for first downs.

Last year Mike Williams ranked second in the nation in third down receptions with 32 for 436 yards and 23 first downs.

RENFROW FAMILY HERITAGE

Hunter Renfrow comes by his athletic ability naturally. Renfrow's dad, Tim Renfrow was one of the best athletes in the history of Wofford, a school just 60 miles from Clemson in Spartanburg, SC.

When Clemson won the 1981 National Championship the Tigers opened the season against Wofford. Tim Renfrow was a starting defensive back in that game for Wofford and had an interception of starting quarterback Homer Jordan, who would lead Clemson to the national title at season's end.

Tim Renfrow was a two-sport start at Wofford and was inducted into the Wofford Athletic Hall of Fame in 1992 for his accomplishments in football and baseball.

The older Renfrow was an NAIA All-American in football in 1981 and 1982. He was the team MVP both years and one of two team captains in 1982. He still holds the school record for interceptions with 19, including a record eight in 1981. He also has the school record for career punt return yards with 507. He was named to Wofford's all-time team as a defensive back.

He also started three years on the Wofford baseball team and still holds the school record for stolen bases in a season with 39 in 1981 and for a career (84).

RICHARD'S FIRST CAREER TOUCHDOWN

Tight end Milan Richard caught his first career touchdown pass in Clemson's 24-10 win over Georgia Tech on October 28. It was a special night for Richard who caught the pass with his uncle, former Heisman Trophy Winner Herschel Walker, attending the game. It was the first time Walker had been in Death Valley since he played in an exhibition NFL game for the New York Giants against the Carolina Panthers in 1995.

Richard, a junior, was a backup to Jordan Leggett (now with the New York Jets) the previous two seasons. He has had a solid season with 17 catches for 206 yards in 12 starts. He is fifth on the Clemson team in receptions and reception yards.

SPENCE TAKES OVER

Clemson lost starting placekicker Greg Huegel to a torn ACL on the last play of practice on Wednesday, September 20. He was attempting a field goal at the end of a two minute drill, something he had done many times and was run into by an on coming rusher. Huegel is eighth in Clemson history in scoring and has been Clemson's top scorer in 2015 and 2016. His 138 points and 27 field goals as a freshman in 2015 are school records.

The next man up is Alex Spence, a scholarship kick who is a red-shirt junior from Florence, SC and West Florence High School. Spence scored four points on PATs against Boston College in his first game and was not asked to attempt a field goal. He made his first career field goal at Virginia Tech on a 34-yard attempt. He kicked four extra points in the win over Boston College. He did miss field goals of 35 and 38 yards and made one from 30 against Syracuse.

Spence has come on of late. He has made field goal in six of the last seven games and made six of his last seven attempts. His only miss was a 39-yarder when a timeout was called just as he made the kick. He made a 46-yarder in the ACC Championship game. He is 41-43 on extra points and has scored 62 points, third on the team.

SWINNEY FINALIST FOR AWARDS

Clemson Head Coach Dabo Swinney is one of four finalists for the George Munger Collegiate Coach of the Year. The announcement was made by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia, who has presented the award since 1989.

Swinney won the award in 2015 when he took the Tigers to the National Championship game against Alabama. He was a finalist last year.

Swinney has guided the Tigers to an 12-1 record so far this season and a No. 1 ranking in the latest polls,. The Tigers are the only team in the nation with six wins over AP top 25 teams (rank entering the game), including five away from home. Clemson also has a national best eight wins over FBS teams with a winning record.

Swinney has a record of 101-29 in his 10 seasons at Clemson. That is the second most wins in school history, trailing only the 165 Frank Howard had in his 30 seasons between 1940-69.

SWINNEY ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- With the win over Alabama last year, Dabo Swinney moved into third place in ACC history in winning percentage. Now 101-29 (.777) at Clemson, he moved ahead of Danny Ford with the National Championship win over Alabama and is Clemson's winningest coach on a percentage basis among coaches with at least five years at Clemson. In terms of total wins Swinney is second behind Frank Howard (165),
- Swinney moved into second place on the ACC coaching list for bowl victories with the Alabama win. He now has seven wins (7-4) and trails only the 11 bowl wins Bobby Bowden won as an ACC coach (1992-2009).
- Swinney joined Bud Wilkinson as the only people to play on and serve as head coach of a team that won the Associated Press National Championship. Wilkinson played on the 1936 Minnesota team that was the first AP National Champion, and was head coach of Oklahoma teams of 1951, 1955 and 1956 that won titles. Swinney played on the 1992 Alabama team that won the AP national title.
- Swinney is the first coach to beat his alma mater in a postseason game to win the National Championship. At 47 at the time of the victory, he was the youngest coach to win the National championship since Urban Meyer was 44 when he won the title with Florida in 2008.
- Swinney has 26 wins over top 25 teams as Clemson head coach, the most in Clemson history. He broke Danny Ford's record of 20 when he beat Auburn on September 9. Swinney has 16 top 25 wins the last three years, more than Jess Neely and Frank Howard had combined in their 39 years as Clemson coach. He is second to Nick Saban in wins over top 25 teams the last three years. Saban has 19 since 2015.
- Swinney is the first Clemson coach to beat the nation's #1 and #2 teams. He did it in consecutive games to win the National Championship in the College Football Playoff.
- With the victory over Alabama, Dabo Swinney has won six bowl games over coaches who already had a national championship on their resume over the last five years. He is the only coach in college football history to do it in bowl games.

SWINNEY MOVES AHEAD OF FORD

With the Tigers 38-31 win over NC State, Dabo Swinney became the second winningest coach in Clemson history. Swinney is now 101-29 and Danny Ford finished his Clemson career 96-29-4. Ford was inducted into the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame this year and was honored for that accomplishment at Clemson on October 28, the day that Swinney matched his win total.

What is just as amazing is that Frank Howard had 96 wins in his time at Clemson as an ACC Coach. Howard coached Clemson from 1940-69 and won 165 games, but he won 96 from 1953-69 as an ACC Coach. So Ford, Swinney and Howard were all tied with 96 wins after Clemson's win over Georgia Tech.

On a percentage basis, Swinney is second in ACC history in winning percentage with a .777 mark off a 101-29-0 record. Jimbo Fisher is first at .783 percent as he is 83-23 for his 106 games as Florida State head coach.

SWINNEY REGISTERS 100TH WIN

Head coach Dabo Swinney is the sixth among active coaches in terms of winning percentage (min. 5 years). Swinney has a 101-29 overall record as a head coach, a .777 percentage. Urban Meyer is first at .852 and Chris Petersen of Washington is second at .827.

It is interesting to note that Swinney defeated three of the five coaches ahead of him in the rankings last season, Meyer, Fisher and Saban. Those three coaches were ranked in the top three of the preseason poll for 2017 and Swinney and the Tigers handed each their final loss of 2016 .Swinney has defeated six of the other nine coaches on the list since 2013.

With 12 wins this year, Swinney has become just the fourth coach to win 100 games in his first 10 years. Only Bob Stoops, Chris Petersen and Urban Meyer have had 100 wins in their first 10 years.

SWINNEY EARNS RARE DISTINCTION

When Dabo Swinney won the National Championship as head coach over Alabama, he joined Bud Wilkinson as the only coaches to have played on an AP National Championship team and served as head coach of an AP National Championship team.

Swinney played on Alabama's 1992 season National Championship team as a wide receiver. That team defeated Miami (FL) for the title in the 1993 Sugar Bowl. Now Swinney has a chance to lead Clemson to the national title as head coach.

Wilkinson played as a quarterback on the University of Minnesota's 1936 team that was proclaimed national champion by the Associated Press in 1936. That was the first year of the AP poll. As a head coach at Oklahoma, Wilkinson led the Sooners to AP national titles in 1950, 1955 and 1956.

Two other coaches have national championships as players and as coaches on their resume's, but the titles are not recognized by the Associated Press.

Frank Leahy played at Notre Dame under Knute Rockne from 1928-30 and the Irish won the national championship in 1929 and 1930 according to the Helms Foundation, the top poll in that area. The AP poll had not started yet. He later coached Notre Dame to AP national titles in 1943, 46, 47, 49.

Bear Bryant played on an Alabama team in 1934 that was recognized as a national champion by some organizations, but again the AP poll hadn't started yet. He coached Alabama to AP titles in 1961, 64, 65, 78, 79.

SWINNEY'S 26 TOP-25 WINS

Dabo Swinney has 26 wins over top 25 teams in his Clemson career. He broke Danny Ford's record of 20 with the win over Auburn on September 9. Ford had a 20-12-2 record against Top 25 teams from 1978-89.

Swinney has recorded 15 wins over top 25 teams over the last three years, four in 2015, five in 2016 and six this year. That includes seven top 10 wins, four of whom are top five. It includes four true road wins over top 25 teams this year, the first time Clemson has done that.

For his 10 seasons as Clemson coach, Swinney has six top five wins, 13 top 10, 18 top 15, and 19 top 20. Only 8 of the 26 have been at home, seven on the opponent's home field and 10 at neutral site.

Swinney is 15-1 over the last three years against top 25 teams with the only loss coming to Alabama by five points in the National Championship game at the end of the 2015 season.

The 47 points scored against Louisville were the most for the Clemson program against a ranked opponent since 2001 at Georgia Tech.

SWINNEY VS. THE SEC

Dabo Swinney has 13 wins over SEC teams since he became Clemson's interim head coach during the 2008 season. Swinney has more non-conference wins over SEC teams than any other coach over that time. Jimbo Fisher, formerly of Florida State, is second with 10 (including beating Florida this year) and Paul Johnson of Georgia Tech is third with eight. No other non-SEC coach has more than five.

Swinney's 13 non-conference wins over SEC teams includes two this year and a streak of five over the last two years. Clemson was 3-0 vs. the SEC last year, the first time in school history Clemson defeated three SEC teams in the same year. So a win over Alabama would make this the second Clemson team with three wins over SEC teams in the same season.

Swinney's list of SEC victims includes South Carolina five times, four over Auburn and one each over Kentucky, LSU, Georgia and Alabama.

Swinney's list of wins over SEC teams includes seven wins over top 25 teams, including two this year. The Tigers defeated Auburn at home in September and South Carolina on the road in November. South Carolina was ranked 24th in the College Football Playoff Poll.

SWINNEY PLAYED FOR ALABAMA

Clemson head coach Dabo Swinney is a two-time Alabama graduate. He earned his undergrad in 1993 and his Masters degree in 1995. He was a football letterman for the Crimson Tide from 1990-92 when the Crimson Tide had a 31-6 record. He was a reserve receiver on Alabama's 1992 National Championship that won the title with a victory over Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl.

This year's Sugar Bowl game will be the first time Swinney has been to a football game in the Super Dome since the night the Crimson Tide won that 1992 National Championship.

This year was the 25-year anniversary of that 1992 Alabama National Championship team. The celebration of that season took place on Saturday, October 14 and Coach Swinney was able to attend the celebration because the Tigers had played at Syracuse the previous evening. That Syracuse game is Clemson's only loss of the year.

Swinney played in 25 games over three years at Alabama and had seven career receptions for 81 yards. The sum of his receptions and reception yards equals 88, his uniform number at Alabama.

Swinney also served as an assistant coach for eight years at Alabama, four years under Gene Stallings and four under Mike DuBose. The Tide was 12-1 and ranked fifth in the final poll in 1994 when Swinney was a graduate assistant. They ranked eighth in the final AP poll of 1999 when the Tide was 10-3 under DuBose.

SWINNEY SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

Clemson University head coach Dabo Swinney agreed to a new eight-year contract through the 2024 season, the athletic department announced Aug. 25, 2017. The terms of the contract were approved by the Clemson University Board of Trustees Compensation Committee.

"Dabo's impact on our football program, our university and our community is immeasurable and goes well beyond the on-field successes and national championship," said Director of Athletics Dan Radakovich. "This new agreement demonstrates our strong commitment to Dabo and our confidence in his leadership now-and in the future-and his long-term commitment to Clemson. We are thrilled that he and his family will be a part of the Clemson Family for years to come."

During Swinney's nine seasons, 157 of 162 senior lettermen have earned their degrees, including eight current members of the football team. His teams have finished among the nation's Top 10 in the NCAA's Academic Progress Report five of the past six years, and a school-record 58 football student-athletes posted a grade point average of 3.0 or above during the 2017 spring semester.

SWINNEY IN NFL STADIUMS

This will be Clemson's eight game in an NFL Stadium in the last three years. Clemson has won three in a row and nine of the previous 10 with the only loss coming at Glendale, Arizona in the National Championship game of the 2015 season. Clemson then defeated Ohio State in the same stadium last year.

Clemson have 12-5 record in NFL stadiums under Dabo Swinney. That includes a 38-3 victory over Miami (FL) in Charlotte at Bank of America Stadium at the ACC Championship game.

WATSON VS. ALABAMA

While we know Deshaun Watson is no longer a member of the Clemson Tigers (see Houston Texans first seven games of 2017), we figured it would be a common question as to his passing stats against Alabama each of the last two seasons.

In 2015, Watson played 85 snaps and completed 30 of 47 passes for 405 yards and four touchdowns. He threw one interception. He also rushed the ball 20 times for 73 yards. He finished with 67 total plays for 478 yards of total offense.

In 2016, Watson played all 99 snaps and completed 36-56 passes for 420 yards and three touchdowns without throwing an interception. He also rushed 21 times for 43 yards and a touchdown, giving him 77 plays for 463 yards.

So for the two games combined, Watson completed 66 of 103 passes (.641) for 825 yards and seven touchdowns with just one interception. He had 41 rushes for 116 yards and finished with 144 total offense plays for 941 yards in the two games combined.

WILKINS NAMED TO NINE WATCH LISTS

Clemson defensive tackle Christian Wilkins was on watch lists for an ACC high nine national postseason awards in 2017. Second was Derwin James of Florida State with six, while Harold Landry of Boston College, Jordan Whitehead of Pittsburgh and Quin Blanding of Virginia had five apiece.

Wilkins is listed as a preseason candidate for the Bednarik, Lott and Nagurski Awards that go to the top defensive player in the nation. He was a finalist for the Nagurski last year. He is also on the watch list for the Wuerffel Award and for the AFCA Goodworks team that combine excellence on the field, in the classroom and community service.

The junior who expects to graduate in December is also a candidate for the Maxwell and Walter Camp Awards that go to the national player of the year, and the Outland Trophy, which goes to the top interior lineman in the nation. Finally, he is a candidate for the Paul Hornung Award, which goes to the nation's top all-purpose player.

Six other Clemson players are on at least one watch list. Sophomore defensive tackle Dexter Lawrence is a candidate for the Bednarik, Nagurski, Walter Camp and Outland Trophy. Deon Cain is on the list for the Biletnikoff (top wide receiver) and Greg Huegel is on the list for the Groza Award, which goes to the nation's top kicker.

Tyrone Crowder and Mitch Hyatt are on the watch list for the Outland Trophy and Kendall Joseph is on the list for the Butkus Award, which goes to the nation's top linebacker.

WILKINS NAMED TO ACADEMIC TEAM

Clemson defensive tackle Christian Wilkins has been named to the Academic All-District team according to the College Sports Information Directors of America. Wilkins is a junior athletically, but a senior in the classroom who will graduate in December.

Wilkins was named to the Academic All-ACC team in 2015 and 2016, but this is the first time he has been named Academic All-District. He boasts a 3.32 GPA in Communications.

The native of Springfield, Mass., was named a first-team All-American on the field last year when he helped the Tigers to the National Championship. So far this year Wilkins has 47 tackles, including 8.5 tackles for loss and 4.5 sacks. He has 10 quarterback pressures and four passes broken up.

HEAD COACH DABO SWINNEY

There is a strong coaching heritage over the 121 years of Clemson football that dates to the early 1900s, when John Heisman led the program. Jess Neely, Frank Howard and Danny Ford continued the winning and joined Heisman in the College Football Hall of Fame.

Dabo Swinney has been at Clemson for just 10 years as head coach, but he cemented himself as a coaching legend when he led the Tigers to the 2016 national title, the second in school history (1981).

The Tigers have maintained that elite status in 2017 despite having only six scholarship seniors and losing most of their offensive firepower from 2016. The 2017 season might be his best as Clemson head coach for Swinney, who was a Eddie Robinson Coach-of-the-Year finalist. That is saying something for someone who has been named national coach-of-the-year by at least one service four of the last six years.

Offensively, Swinney had to replace players who accounted for 77 percent of the offense during the 2016 national championship season.

While Clemson was ranked No. 5 in the preseason AP poll, few expected the Tigers to be ranked No. 1 in both polls and the College Football Playoff ranking entering the bowl season.

In fact, Clemson was not even the preseason choice to win the ACC Atlantic Division. But the Tigers won that title for the third year in a row (a first for the program since 1986-88) and leads the nation in wins over top-25 teams (6).

Clemson's school-record six wins over top-25 teams includes a school-record four on opponents' home fields and five away from home. Clemson defeated top-15 teams Auburn, Louisville and Virginia Tech in September, the first team in FBS history to record three top-15 wins in September.

While many have focused on the play of the offense, led by quarterback Kelly Bryant, the defense has once again been among the nation's best. The front four features three players who have earned first or second-team All-America honors. All four have made at least one all-conference team.

The defense features four players who were named All-American, and they are a big reason Clemson is in the top 10 in the nation in scoring defense and total defense. Clemson leads the ACC in the four major defensive categories (scoring, total, rushing, passing), something it has never done.

Clemson defeated the top-two teams in the national polls in consecutive games in the College Football Playoff at the end of the 2016 season. The Tigers blanked Ohio State 31-0 in the Fiesta Bowl, the first shutout suffered by head coach Urban Meyer in his career and the first for Ohio State since 1993.

The Tigers then earned a rematch with No. 1 Alabama, and for the first time in school history took down the top-ranked team in a second epic battle with the Crimson Tide. Deshaun Watson's touchdown pass to Hunter Renfrow with one second left gave Clemson a 35-31 win in Tampa, Fla. Swinney won the Bear Bryant Award as national coach-of-the-year for the second consecutive season.

With a preseason No. 2 national ranking, the 2016 Tigers lived up to the hype after compiling a 14-1 record and earning a spot in the College Football Playoff for the second-straight year. Along the way, Clemson knocked off five top-25 foes, including No. 3 Louisville. The Tigers exorcised several road demons, winning at historically tough places such as Auburn, Georgia Tech and Florida State.

Swinney coached Watson to two record-setting seasons. The two-time Heisman Trophy finalist became the first player in FBS history to total 4,000 passing yards and 1,000 rushing yards in a season in 2015, and he followed by setting an ACC record with 41 passing touchdowns in 2016.

Watson was named ACC Player-of-the-Year in 2015 and MVP of the ACC Championship Game in both 2015 and 2016. He won the Davey O'Brien Award and Manning Award in back-to-back seasons and was named MVP of Clemson's Fiesta Bowl and national championship game wins.

From 2011-17, Clemson has compiled an 82-14 record, the most wins in a seven-year period in school history. Fifty-three of the victories have come against ACC teams. The 2017 seniors have a school and ACC-record 50 wins as well.

Clemson was in the top 10 of APR scores and the final top 25 of the AP and USA Today polls from 2011-15, the only FBS program that could make that claim.

In 10 years (nine full seasons) as the Tigers' head coach, Swinney has directed Clemson to a 101-29 overall record (.777, best by a Tiger coach) and 61-16 ACC regular-season mark (.792). He has also led the Tigers to the ACC Championship Game five times, won four ACC titles, won or shared six ACC Atlantic Division titles and won seven bowl games (five against top-10 teams). His teams have compiled 26 wins over ranked teams in his head-coaching career, including 13 over top-10 opponents.

Swinney guided Clemson to the No. 1 national ranking in every College Football Playoff poll in 2015 and led the Tigers to their first national championship game appearance under the new format after his team defeated Oklahoma 37-17 in the 2015 Orange Bowl. The Tigers led Alabama in the fourth quarter of the championship contest, but came up just short (45-40) in an epic game in Glendale, Ariz.

Following the team's 14-1 record and No. 2 final ranking, he was the recipient of 10 national and two ACC coach-of-the-year honors. The Tigers defeated four teams that finished the season in the top 15 of both polls.

In 2015, a Tiger-record 17 players were named to one of three All-ACC teams, including all five starting offensive linemen for the first time in school history. In 2016, 15 players were honored, including a school-record three First-Team All-ACC offensive line selections.

The 2012, 2013 and 2014 seasons were also noteworthy, with three top-15 final rankings in the polls. Clemson joined Alabama, Florida State, Ohio State and Oregon as the only schools in the nation to make that claim. Each of Clemson's teams from 2011-17 has also registered double-digit victories, the first time the program has done it seven straight seasons. Only Alabama has duplicated the feat.

With the 2014 Russell Athletic Bowl victory (40-6) over Oklahoma, Swinney became the first and only coach in history to win three bowl games in consecutive seasons over teams whose head coaches had previously won the national title. He has now done it five years in a row (entering the 2017 season).

Clemson capped off the 2013 season with a thrilling 40-35 victory over No. 6 Ohio State in the Orange Bowl. Clemson had an 11-2 record after finishing 7-1 in ACC regular-season games. It marked Clemson's first back-to-back 11-win seasons in school history. For the fourth time in his first five full seasons as head coach, Swinney was a finalist for the Liberty Mutual National Coach-of-the-Year award in 2013.

The 2012 season (11-2) was a groundbreaking year for Swinney's Tigers when looking at the overall consistency of the program. The seven conference wins in the regular season were then a school record, while Clemson was co-champion of the ACC Atlantic Division.

With Clemson's thrilling 25-24 win over No. 7 Louisiana State in the 2012 Chick-fil-A Bowl, the Tigers finished the season ranked No. 9 in the USA Today poll. It was Clemson's first top-10 finish in one of the two major polls since 1990. Clemson also reached the 11-win mark for the first time since its 1981 national championship season. The Tigers finished No. 14 in the final BCS standings as well.

Swinney's 2011 squad, which ended the season ranked No. 22 in the nation, captured Clemson's first ACC title since 1991 when it beat No. 3 Virginia Tech 38-10 in the ACC Championship Game in Charlotte, N.C. The Tigers' second win over the Hokies in 2011 gave Clemson its first 10-win season since 1990.

For his efforts, Swinney was named Bobby Dodd National Coach-of-the-Year in 2011 to become the first Tiger head coach to win a national coach-of-the-year award since 1981, when Ford directed Clemson to the national title.

Swinney became just the second Tiger coach to lead Clemson's program to a bowl game in his first two full years as head coach, joining his predecessor, Tommy Bowden. The 2010 schedule was one of the most challenging in school history, as nine bowl teams were on the regular-season slate and two of the four non-conference opponents were ranked in the top 25.

In 2009, Swinney's first full year as head coach, he led the Tigers to their first title of the ACC Atlantic Division. The Tigers came just six points short of winning their first ACC title in 18 years. Swinney was named ACC coach-of-the-year by Sporting News and was a finalist for the Liberty Mutual Coach-of-the-Year award.

In October 2008, Swinney was named Clemson's interim head coach, replacing Bowden, who had been his position coach as a player at Alabama and was Clemson's head coach since 1999. He led the Tigers to a 4-2 record during the remainder of the 2008 regular season, including a win over South Carolina in the regular-season finale. That strong finish led to a Gator Bowl bid against Nebraska.

On Dec. 1, 2008, the interim tag was removed from the title and he was named the program's head coach.

At the time, there had been 28 interim head coaches at the FBS level since 1970, and those coaches had combined for a record of 26-86-2. Only one of those 28 interim coaches posted a winning record, and that was Swinney. When he was hired as head coach, he became just the second interim coach to be elevated to the head coach position at the same school during that time period.

Swinney hit the ground running in his first week as interim head coach, as he prepared for a 5-1 Georgia Tech team. He had to reorganize his staff and regroup his team and the fanbase in just five days. While the Tigers lost by four points, he accomplished many goals in that first week through his outstanding leadership. One of the most impressive demonstrations of unity came during the team's "Tiger Walk."

Swinney has demonstrated his community involvement through Dabo's All In Team Foundation, which made the first contribution to the cancer fund established for former Boston College linebacker Mark Herzlich. Many schools followed his lead during the remainder of the season.

The 1993 Alabama graduate joined the Clemson staff prior to the 2003 season. In his first 14 years as an assistant or head coach, the Tigers finished in the top 25 of the polls 10 times and totaled 29 wins over top-25 teams, including victories over Florida State (7), Virginia Tech (3), Auburn (2), Miami (Fla.) (2), Ohio State (2), Oklahoma (2), Alabama (1), Georgia (1), Louisiana State (1) and Tennessee (1) during his tenure in Tigertown.

Swinney coached his wide receiver position to a level of consistency that had not been seen previously at Clemson. He had a wideout finish first or second in the ACC in catches in five of his six years as an assistant coach. In his first year, he had three of the top-10 receivers in the ACC, a first in Tiger history. He has coached a First or Second-Team All-ACC wideout (Derrick Hamilton, Airese Currie, Chansi Stuckey, Aaron Kelly, Jacoby Ford, Sammy Watkins, DeAndre Hopkins, Artavis Scott, Mike Williams) in 13 of his 15 seasons in Tigertown, also unprecedented at Clemson.

The Alabama native has a reputation as one of the top recruiters in the nation. In 2006, he was listed as the No. 5 recruiter in the nation by Rivals. He signed 38 players in his five recruiting seasons as an assistant coach and was a major reason Clemson's 2008 recruiting class was rated No. 2 in the nation by ESPN when he signed 11 players.

When Swinney accepted the interim head coaching position at Clemson on Oct. 13, 2008, he described his feelings as "bittersweet," because he was taking over for Bowden, who had been his first position coach at Alabama during the 1989 season. He had also brought Swinney back to the coaching profession in 2003 and has had a profound effect on Swinney's life. Both had followed similar paths as players, as Bowden was a walk-on at West Virginia and Swinney was a walk-on at Alabama.

Swinney received a commerce & business administration degree from Alabama in 1993 after lettering three times (1990-92). A walk-on who went on to earn a scholarship, Swinney was a wide receiver on Alabama's 1992 national championship team. He was also named Academic All-SEC along with being an SEC Scholar-Athlete Honor Roll member in 1990 and 1992.

Along with his appearance in the 1993 Sugar Bowl, his Alabama teams played in the 1990 Sugar Bowl, 1991 Fiesta Bowl and 1991 Blockbuster Bowl. Both Sugar Bowl appearances came after winning the SEC title game.

After his playing career, Swinney served as a graduate assistant at Alabama from 1993-95. In December 1995, he received a master's degree in business administration from Alabama.

He became a full-time assistant coach at Alabama in February 1996 under head coach Gene Stallings and coached a total of five seasons there on a full-time basis. Swinney was assigned to coach the Crimson Tide's wide receivers and tight ends in 1996, a season that saw Alabama win the SEC Western Division title. The following year, he solely coached the tight ends.

In 1998, he coached Alabama's wide receivers, a position he held for three seasons. At the end of the 1999 campaign, Swinney coached the Crimson Tide in the 2000 Orange Bowl after winning the SEC Championship Game.

During his time at Alabama, Swinney was a part of six teams with double-digit wins, five top-10 finishes, one national title (1992), three SEC championships (1989,92,99) and five SEC Western Division titles (1992,93,94,96,99) as a player and coach.

Swinney married the former Kathleen Bassett in 1994. They have three sons, Will (19), Drew (17) and Clay (14). Will is a freshman on the 2017 Tiger football team.

WHY I WEAR #___

In all sports, many athletes have a relationship with their jersey number. There is a history or a reason why players have or request certain numbers. It might have started back in 1948, when the New York Yankees retired Babe Ruth's #3 just before the great baseball player died of throat cancer. No one has worn #3 since for the greatest professional sports franchise in our nation's history.

There have been many stories in Clemson history. For instance, did you know that former Clemson All-American Vic Beasley wore #3 at Clemson because Christ rose on the third day? He cannot wear that number in the NFL, because the league has strict rules about players wearing numbers that correspond to their position, so he wears #44.

Speaking of former Tigers who made the Pro Bowl, Trevor Pryce was a defensive tackle at Clemson in 1996 who wore #8. He wore that number because he thought a single-digit number made him look faster, and thereby more intimidating for his position (and more impressive for NFL scouts). He went on to be a first-round draft pick, Super Bowl champion and four-time Pro Bowl selection. Maybe there was something to it.

Some numbers seem to have excellence attached to it. The #4 was retired in honor of Steve Fuller at Clemson in the spring of 1979 after his All-America career. Then, it was unretired for Deshaun Watson, and he went on to be a two-time Heisman Trophy finalist who led Clemson to the 2016 national title.

Here are a few accounts of number history with current Tigers:

#3 AMARI RODGERS

He is the son of Tee Martin, who led Tennessee to the 1998 national championship as the quarterback. Martin wore #17, but Rodgers wears #3.

"When I went to my first pee-wee football team, I was the last one in line to get a uniform. The only jersey left was #3, so I took it. I have been able to keep that number ever since."

#5 TEE HIGGINS

He wears #5 in honor of his cousin, Seth Davis, who was a standout football player and has been like a brother.

#7 AUSTIN BRYANT

He wore #91 his first two years at Clemson, but really wanted to wear #7 all along. He wore the number in high school, because he wanted to honor his grandfather, Charlie Bryant, who died in the seventh month of the year.

#9 TRAVIS ETIENNE

He wore #8 when he was in high school in Lousiana, but when he came to Clemson, the number was already assigned.

"Coach (Dabo) Swinney asked me if I would take #9 because it meant I was going to step it up a notch (from #8 to #9) at Clemson."

#12 K'VON WALLACE

He did not wear #12 in high school, and the number had no history with him when he came to Clemson. But when he came to school as a freshman, Swinney told him he would have #12 because he reminded him of former Tiger Marcus Gilchrist, a seven-year NFL veteran with the Houston Texans. Swinney said Wallace's all-around abilities in the secondary reminded him of Gilchrist.

Wallace has already shown that ability this year, especially in the last two plays of the win at NC State when he had a pass breakup and an interception.

#13 HUNTER RENFROW

When he walked on to the team in 2014, he was given #35. Walk-ons usually do not have the opportunity to request a number. When he started to progress and was given a scholarship in the summer of 2015, assistant coach Jeff Scott suggested that he wear #13, because he was going to fill the same wideout role as Tyler Grisham (2005-08) and Adam Humphries (2011-14), who both wore #13.

"When we started fall camp in 2015, I had #13 in my locker. They wanted me to continue that tradition."

He has done that, and then some.

#21/34 RAY-RAY McCLOUD

He is one of the few Tigers to wear two different numbers in the same season. He wore #34 his first two years and eight games. But for the NC State game on Nov. 4, he wore #21 so he could play on defense at the same time as Kendall Joseph, who also wears #34. You can't have two players with the same number on the field at the same time.

So, McCloud wore #21 for the NC State game and promptly responded like another #21 all-around player of a few years back, Deion Sanders. Sanders wore #21 for Florida State against Clemson in 1988 and had a 76-yard punt return for a touchdown to key the Seminole win. McCloud had a 77-yard punt return for a touchdown in that NC State game.

McCloud prefers to wear #34 because it is a family tradition. McCloud's father wore it when he played at Arkansas, and his grandfather wore it whenever he played sports.

#24 NOLAN TURNER

He wears #24 in honor of his father, Kevin Turner, who wore the number at Alabama when he was a teammate of Swinney. Kevin passed away in 2016 after a heroic battle with ALS.

#34 KENDALL JOSEPH

When he was a freshman at Belton-Honea Path High School, he was given #34 because the coaching staff expected him to follow in the footsteps of Jeremiah Garrison, who went on to play for South Carolina.

Joseph had an affinity for the number also because he was a running back and linebacker in high school, and as a running back, he knew the history of #34, which was worn by Herschel Walker, Bo Jackson and Walter Payton.

#42 CHRISTIAN WILKINS

He wears #42 in honor of his grandfather, Eurie Stamps, Sr., who had a strong influence on him when he was a child. Tragically, Stamps died when Wilkins was starting out on the gridiron and never got to see his grandson play at Clemson. So, Wilkins wears #42 in his honor, because Stamps was born in 1942.

#44 NYLES PINCKNEY

He wears #44 in honor of his favorite football player of all-time, Ernie Davis. This is fascinating in that Davis played in the 1960s for Syracuse, well before Pinckney was born. But he watched the movie on Davis' life when he was young and was touched by it, so he chose to wear that number in honor of the former Heisman Trophy winner who contracted Leukemia and died before he played for the Browns.

#49 RICHARD YEARGIN

He wore #4 in high school.

"That number wasn't available," he said with a smile, because Deshaun Watson had it when he got to Clemson and it had to be unretired for that to happen. "I thought nine was a good number for sports, so I combined the two to get 49."

#80 MILAN RICHARD

He wore #81 in high school, but it was worn by Stanton Seckinger when he came to Clemson, so it was not available. After Seckinger departed following the 2013 season, Richard's freshman year, it was available.

"I couldn't switch because all my family had already bought #80 jerseys to wear to the games. I didn't' want to make them buy a new jersey, so I stayed with #80."

#81 KANYON TUTTLE

The walk-on wide receiver is the son of former Tiger All-American Perry Tuttle. Perry wore #22 at Clemson and played on the 1981 national championship team. Thus, Swinney thought it appropriate that Tuttle wear #81.

#84 CANNON SMITH

He wears the same number his father, Bill Smith, wore at Clemson from 1977-81. Bill was a defensive end who had 10 tackles in the national championship game victory over Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl and is now a member of the Clemson Board of Trustees. Father and son #84s both have national championship rings.

#90 DEXTER LAWRENCE

He wears #90 because it reminds him every time he suits up that football is 90-percent mental preparation.

#99 CLELIN FERRELL

He wears #99 because he patterned his game as a child and in high school after Aldon Smith, a former Missouri player who was the No. 7 selection of the 2011 NFL draft. He led the NFL in sacks in 2012 with 19.5. Smith wore #99 at Missouri and in the NFL.

KENT STATE 3

CLEMSON 56

SEPT. 2, 2017 • MEMORIAL STADIUM • CLEMSON, S.C.

The No. 5 Clemson Tigers opened the 2017 season in grand fashion by defeating the Kent State Golden Flashes 56-3 at Memorial Stadium, with the 56 points marking the highest scoring output by the Tigers in a season opener since 1990.

Led by junior quarterback Kelly Bryant, who was making his first career start, Clemson compiled 665 yards on offense in the Tigers' first game as defending national champions. Bryant was especially efficient on the day, accruing 313 total yards, a program record for an opening game. Going 16-22 through the air for 236 yards, Bryant set the tone early by marching the offense down the field on three consecutive scoring drives.

Running back C.J. Fuller struck first, scoring on a 26-yard run. On the ensuing drive, Bryant connected with wide receiver Deon Cain up the seam for a 61-yard touchdown, putting Clemson up 14-0.

Late in the first, running back Adam Choice capped off a 10-play, 54-yard drive with a three-yard rushing touchdown, one of six rushing scores on the day for the Tigers. With 353 yards on the ground and four rushers clearing the 50-yard mark, the running game was an integral factor behind Clemson's commanding victory.

Bryant was effective with his feet, as well as his arm, as the quarterback amassed 77 yards rushing and scored on an eight-yard run late in the second quarter to send the Tigers into the half leading 28-3.

The second half saw several new faces for Clemson become involved in the offensive action as part of another 28-point half. Running back Travis Etienne burst onto the scene with an impressive 54-yard carry and a four-yard score. Finishing as the game's leading rusher, Etienne compiled 81 yards on the ground.

Freshman quarterbacks Zerrick Cooper and Hunter Johnson made an impact, with the two newcomers splitting time in the second half and playing well. Cooper, who went 4-6 for 37 yards, made a splash with a 14-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Cornell Powell in the third quarter, which served as the first career touchdown for both Cooper and Powell.

The running game continued to pay dividends for the Tigers out of the half, as the Tigers increased their lead to 42-3 early in the third quarter by way of Fuller's second rushing score of the contest and a 47-yard dash to the endzone by sophomore running back Tavien Feaster soon afterward.

CLEMSON 14

SEPT. 9, 2017 • MEMORIAL STADIUM • CLEMSON, S.C.

Powered by a defense that sacked Auburn's quarterback 11 times, the No. 3 Clemson football team defeated No. 13 Auburn 14-6 at Death Valley on Saturday night. With the win, Clemson improves to 2-0 on the year, while Auburn drops to 1-1.

Junior quarterback Kelly Bryant led the offensive charge for Clemson, passing for 181 yards and rushing for 68. On defense, Clemson was sparked by Dorian O'Daniel, whose 14 tackles—10 in the first half—were a career high for the redshirt graduate linebacker. Junior defensive lineman Christian Wilkins added another 10 tackles, and junior defensive end Austin Bryant had four of Clemson's 11 sacks.

Auburn scored the only points of the first quarter just under eight minutes in on a Daniel Carlson 24-yard field goal that capped off the first drive. They doubled their lead early in the second quarter, this time on a 28-yarder by Carlson.

Clemson took its first lead with less than a minute left in the first half on a three-yard touchdown rush by junior quarterback Kelly Bryant. The 12-play scoring drive was highlighted by 29-yard pass from Bryant to junior receiver Ray-Ray McCloud on third down, and Clemson found the endzone two plays later. Following the Bryant score, Clemson had a 7-6 lead at halftime.

Bryant opened the scoring in the second half, capping off Clemson's first drive of the half with a 27-yard rushing touchdown to give his squad a 14-6 lead early in the third quarter. That proved to be the final score, as Clemson's seven second-half sacks limited Auburn to 15 total yards with -25 rushing yards in the second half.

LOUISVILLE 21

SEPT. 16, 2017 • PAPA JOHN'S CARDINAL STADIUM • LOUISVILLE, KY.

Six different Tigers scored at Papa John's Stadium as No. 2 Clemson defeated the No. 14 Louisville Cardinals 47-21 in the Tigers' first road game and ACC opener. With the win, Clemson remains undefeated at 3-0 overall and 1-0 in conference play, while Louisville drops to 2-1 overall and 0-1 in the ACC.

Junior quarterback Kelly Bryant powered Clemson's offense on Saturday, passing for a career-high 316 yards and rushing for 26 yards with two touchdowns in his first road start. Junior wide receiver Ray-Ray McCloud was Bryant's most popular target, totaling a career-high 115 yards with a touchdown on seven catches. Redshirt junior kicker Greg Huegel, graduate linebacker Dorian O'Daniel, redshirt junior running back Adam Choice and freshman running back Travis Etienne also put points on the board for the Tigers.

The Tigers struck first, scoring on their opening drive on a Bryant eight-yard touchdown run five minutes into the first quarter. After two three-and-outs in their first two drives, Louisville tied the game late in the first quarter on an 11-yard scoring pass from Lamar Jackson to Charles Standberry. A Huegel 31-yard field goal gave the Tigers a 10-7 lead just over midway through the second quarter, and that lead increased to 16-7 after a Bryant 79-yard touchdown pass to McCloud with a missed extra point. The first half ended with a career-long 49-yard field goal by Huegel that put the Tigers up 19-7 at the break.

O'Daniel opened the second half scoring when he returned an interception 44 yards for his first career score, and Bryant ran in a one-yard quarterback keeper for a touchdown to give the Tigers a 33-7 lead in the third quarter.

Jackson found Jay Smith for a 36-yard touchdown to start the fourth quarter to cut the Clemson lead to 33-14, but the Tigers responded with a 39-yard scoring run by Choice on the ensuing drive put Clemson at the 40-point mark. The Cardinals found the endzone on an eight-yard touchdown pass from Jackson to Dez Fitzpatrick, but the Tigers had the last word with their longest score of the day, an 81-yard scoring run by Etienne with just over 6 minutes remaining in the game.

BOSTON COLLEGE 7

CLEMSON 34

SEPT. 23, 2017 • MEMORIAL STADIUM • CLEMSON, S.C.

Four fourth-quarter touchdowns led the No. 2 Clemson Tigers to a 34-7 win over the Boston College Eagles on Saturday afternoon at Death Valley. With the win, Clemson remained undefeated at 4-0 overall and 2-0 in the ACC, while Boston College dropped to 1-3 on the year and 0-2 in conference play.

On offense, the Tigers were powered by the run game, as all five of their touchdowns came on foot. Kelly Bryant rushed for a career-high 106 yards and two touchdowns on 22 carries, and Travis Etienne, who ran for 113 yards and two touchdowns on nine carries.

Defensively, Clemson was sparked by Trayvon Mullen and A.J. Terrell, who both hauled in their first career interceptions, and Kendall Joseph, who had 10 first-half tackles.

The Tigers struck first, breaking a scoreless tie midway through the second quarter on a 94-yard drive that was capped by a Bryant 11-yard touchdown run. Taylor Hearn, an offensive guard, had a key 12-yard run on third down when he recovered a fumble. It was the longest run by a Tiger offensive lineman since 1966.

That proved to be the only scoring of the first half, and Clemson took a 7-0 lead into the break. Boston College evened the score at 7-7 late in the third quarter when AJ Dillon ran in a one-yard touchdown, and the Tigers and Eagles entered the fourth quarter tied.

Clemson took the lead for good on its opening drive of the final quarter on a six-yard touchdown run by Adam Choice, set up by a 23-yard pass from Bryant to Diondre Overton on the previous play. An Etienne 50-yard rushing touchdown put Clemson up by 14 late in the fourth quarter, and Bryant scored on a four-yard quarterback keeper with just under three minutes left in the game.

The Tiger offense was not done, however, as Terrell's interception set up a 41-yard scoring drive that saw Etienne find the endzone on a 10-yard scoring run with less than a minute remaining in the contest.

VIRGINIA TECH 17

SEPT. 30, 2017 • LANE STADIUM • BLACKSBURG, VA.

Capped off by fourth quarter interceptions by Dorian O'Daniel and Austin Bryant, the No. 2 Clemson Tigers defeated the No. 12 Virginia Tech Hokies 31-17 at Lane Stadium.

With the win, Clemson remained undefeated at 5-0 on the year and 3-0 in the ACC, while Virginia Tech dropped to 4-1 overall and 2-1 in conference play.

Offensively, the Tigers were led by Kelly Bryant, who threw for 186 yards and a touchdowns on 12 completions. Bryant also rushed for 109 yards on 19 carries. O'Daniel piloted the Tiger defense, recovering a Hokie fumble, returning an interception 22 yards for his second pick six of the season and completing 10 tackles, including one of the Tigers' two sacks.

Clemson struck first, holding Virginia Tech to a three-and-out on its first drive before taking a 3-0 lead on an Alex Spence 23-yard field goal just over five minutes into the first quarter. After the Tiger defense forced another three-and-out on the ensuing Hokie drive, Clemson took a 10-0 lead on a Tavien Feaster 60-yard touchdown reception, the running back's first career receiving score.

The Hokies put their first points on the board with three minutes left in the second quarter on a Joey Slye 43-yard field goal that cut Clemson's lead to 10-3. The Tigers scored the last points before halftime, though, finishing a drive in which Deon Cain mustered 55 receiving yards with a C.J. Fuller one-yard touchdown run. Virginia Tech attempted and missed a 45-yard field goal as time expired in the first half, and Clemson took a 17-3 lead into the break.

The Tigers also opened the second half scoring, as Feaster gave the Tigers a 24-3 lead on a one-yard rushing score after O'Daniel recovered a Hokie fumble. The Tigers maintained that lead entering the final quarter, as the defense stopped a Virginia Tech fake field goal attempt in the final seconds of the third quarter.

Virginia Tech narrowed the Clemson lead to 24-10 a minute into the first quarter when it scored its first touchdown, a Sean Savoy two-yard run. O'Daniel's pick six came on the Hokies' next drive, putting the Tigers up 31-10. The Hokies scored the final points of the matchup with less than two minutes left in the game on a Josh Jackson 30-yard touchdown pass to Savoy.

WAKE FOREST 14

CLEMSON 28

OCT. 7, 2017 • MEMORIAL STADIUM • CLEMSON, S.C.

No. 2 Clemson continued its undefeated season in Saturday's homecoming matchup against Wake Forest, defeating the Demon Deacons 28-14 at Death Valley.

With the win, Clemson improved to 6-0 overall and 4-0 in the ACC, while Wake Forest dropped to 4-2 overall and 1-2 in conference play.

Offensively, Kelly Bryant, Zerrick Cooper and Hunter Johnson split time at quarterback for the Tigers, with Bryant completing 21 of 29 passes for 200 yards and a touchdown. Johnson went 5-for-5 for 42 yards and a touchdown, marking the freshman's first career scoring pass. Austin Bryant powered the defensive performance, garnering two of Clemson's eight tackles for loss, and Tanner Muse led the team with eight total tackles.

The Tigers scored on the opening drive of the game when Bryant connected with Deon Cain for a 28-yard touchdown just two minutes into the first quarter. Six minutes later, Clemson found the endzone again on a four-yard scoring run by Adam Choice. One missed field goal attempt by each team later, and the Tigers took a 14-0 lead into halftime.

The Demon Deacons missed another field goal to start the second half, and then Clemson upped its lead to 21-0 midway through the third quarter when Travis Etienne ran in a one-yard touchdown. Johnson found Cannon Smith in the endzone early in the fourth quarter for both players' first career touchdown, giving Clemson a 28-0 lead.

Wake Forest scored its first points with just over eight minutes remaining in the game on a 16-yard touchdown pass from Kendall Hinton to Scotty Washington. Hinton threw an 11-yard touchdown pass to Cam Serigne six minutes later, doubling the Demon Deacon point total and putting the final score at 28-14 in favor of the Tigers.

CLEMSON 24

SYRACUSE 27

OCT. 13, 2017 • CARRIER DOME • SYRACUSE, N.Y.

The No. 2. Clemson Tigers (6-1, 4-1) lost their first contest in 11 months as part of a 27-24 upset victory by the Syracuse Orange (4-3, 2-1) at the Carrier Dome, ending a 20-game win streak for the Tigers over ACC Atlantic Division foes.

Outgaining the Tigers by 123 total yards, the Orange were led by a dominant showing from quarterback Eric Dungey, who went 20-32 for 278 yards and three touchdowns. Dungey and the Orange offense fired on all cylinders from the start, as Syracuse converted a 10-play, 72-yard drive into points on the game's opening possession. Connecting with running back Dontae Strickland on a 23-yard touchdown pass, Dungey provided the Orange with an early 7-0 lead.

Clemson was quick to answer the bell with a three-play, 62-yard scoring series taking place on the Tigers' first possession. With a 37-yard burst into the endzone, Clemson running back Tavien Feaster knotted the game up at 7-7. Feaster finished with 57 yards on seven carries.

Trailing 17-14 at halftime, Clemson was forced to go without starting quarterback Kelly Bryant in the second half due to injury, as he exited the game late in the second quarter. Therefore, Zerrick Cooper was under center for the Tigers for the remainder of the game, going 10-14 for 88 yards.

Cooper and the Tiger offense used ideal field position on a series early in the third quarter to convert it into points, with Clemson kicker Alex Spence tying the game up at 17-17 with a 30-yard field goal.

Syracuse quickly regained the lead, however, driving 82 yards in four plays thereafter to take a 24-17 lead. Highlighted by a 45-yard run from Dungey, the possession was capped off by a 30-yard touchdown pass from Dungey to wideout Steve Ishmael with just over seven minutes remaining in the third quarter.

Clemson then reciprocated with an electrifying drive of its own, as running back Travis Etienne broke free for a 52-yard dash to the house, leveling the score at 24-24. The rush marked Etienne's fourth run of over 50 yards this season and also provided him with his sixth touchdown on the year.

Clemson attempted a pass on a fake punt just inside of Syracuse territory on its final possession but failed to convert, leading to a six-minute drive by the Orange that featured a critical conversion on third and 11, which ultimately enabled Syracuse to run out the clock.

CLEMSON 24

OCT. 28, 2017 • MEMORIAL STADIUM • CLEMSON, S.C.

The No. 7 Clemson football team picked up its 300th all-time win in Death Valley on Saturday, defeating the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets by a score of 24-10. With the win, Clemson improved to 7-1 overall and 5-1 in the ACC, while Georgia Tech fell to 4-3 on the year and 3-2 in conference play.

Offensively, the Tigers were led in both rushing and passing by quarterback Kelly Bryant, who ran for 67 yards on 12 carries and threw for 207 yards and two touchdowns on 22 completions. The Clemson defense, who held the Yellow Jackets to negative passing yardage until late in the fourth quarter, totaled 11 tackles for loss by eight different players.

The Tigers jumped out to an early 7-0 lead just two minutes into the game after Van Smith recovered a Georgia Tech fumble on the Yellow Jackets' first drive, and Bryant connected with Deon Cain for a 38-yard score two plays later. Georgia Tech cut into the Tigers' lead with five minutes remaining in the first quarter on a 25-yard Brenton King field goal, set up by a KirVonte Benson 65-yard run earlier in the drive. Milan Richard hauled in a 20-yard touchdown pass three minutes later to put the Tigers up 14-3. It was his first career touchdown.

Clemson scored the only points of the second quarter with just over three minutes left in the half when Travis Etienne punched in the endzone from two yards out, and the Tigers took a 21-3 lead into the break.

An Alex Spence 29-yard field goal made up the only points of the third quarter, and a TaQuon Marshall 22-yard touchdown run with just under five minutes left in the game rounded out the scoring.

NC STATE 31

NOV. 4, 2017 • CARTER-FINLEY STADIUM • RALEIGH, N.C.

The No. 6 Clemson football team handed No. 20 NC State its first ACC loss of the year on Saturday, defeating the Wolfpack 38-31 at Carter-Finley Stadium on Saturday. With the win, Clemson improved to 8-1 overall and 6-1 in the ACC, while NC State slipped to 6-3 on the year and 4-1 in conference play.

Offensively, the Tigers were sparked by Deon Cain, who was Kelly Bryant's favorite target and amassed 84 yards on a career-high nine catches, and Tavien Feaster, whose 89-yard rushing touchdown in the third quarter was tied for the third-longest run in Clemson history. Defensively, Ryan Carter had three pass breakups and hauled in a fourth-quarter interception that set up the Tigers' final score of the game.

NC State got on the board less than two minutes into the game, turning a Tim Kidd-Glass interception at the Clemson 40 into a touchdown three plays later, when Ryan Finley connected with Kelvin Harmon for a 40-yard scoring pass. Clemson evened the score on Ray-Ray McCloud's 77-yard punt return touchdown, the Tigers' first since 2014.

The Tigers found the endzone less than a minute into the second quarter when Kelly Bryant ran for a 10-yard touchdown, bringing the score to 14-14. NC State regained the lead a few minutes later, as Finley connected with Samuels for a seven-yard touchdown that put the Wolfpack up 21-14. An Alex Spence 26-yard field goal cut the Wolfpack's lead to 21-17 with five minutes remaining in the first half. Each team missed a field goal, and 21-17 was the score at halftime.

Cain opened the third quarter scoring with only three and a half minutes left in it on a 12-yard scoring pass from Bryant, putting the Tigers up 24-21. As time was expiring in the quarter, Feaster broke loose for his 89-yard touchdown run, giving Clemson its largest lead of the game heading into the final quarter.

Finley found Jakobi Meyers for a 15-yard score just two and a half minutes into the fourth quarter, narrowing Clemson's lead to three points. On the Wolfpack's next drive, Carter's interception allowed for the Tigers to drive down and retake a 10-point lead on Bryant's second rushing touchdown of the day. A Kyle Bambard 22-yard field goal left Clemson's lead at a touchdown with just under two minutes remaining in the game, and the game ended with K'Von Wallace intercepting Finley's final pass with no time left on the clock.

CLEMSON 31

NOV. 11, 2017 • MEMORIAL STADIUM • CLEMSON, S.C.

The No. 4 Clemson football team clinched a spot in the 2017 ACC Championship game after defeating the Florida State Seminoles by a score of 31-14 in Death Valley.

With the win, Clemson improves to 9-1 overall and 6-1 in the ACC, while Florida State drops to 3-6 overall and 3-5 in conference play.

Offensively, the ground game powered the Tigers, as all four of Clemson's touchdowns were via a run, one each from Kelly Bryant and Adam Choice and two by Travis Etienne. Bryant finished the game with 60 yards on 19 carries, and Etienne ended with 97 yards on 14 carries. On the defensive side of the ball, Van Smith led the way with an interception on what could have been the Seminoles' go-ahead drive. Smith also had five tackles, and J.D. Davis and Christian Wilkins topped the Tigers with seven tackles apiece.

Clemson scored the only points of the first quarter with just under three minutes left in it when Bryant pushed two yards for his 10th rushing touchdown of the season.

Etienne found the endzone with six and a half minutes left in the second quarter, breaking through traffic and powering 28 yards to cap off a one-play drive, set up by a Ray-Ray McCloud 35-yard punt return. The Tigers finished the first half with a 26-yard Alex Spence field goal and took a 17-0 lead into halftime after limiting Florida State to just 46 yards in the first 30 minutes.

The Seminoles tallied their first points with just over a minute left in the third quarter when Jacques Patrick rushed three yards for a score that cut the Tigers' lead to 17-7. Florida State then cut Clemson's lead to just three points midway through the fourth quarter when James Blackman connected with Ryan Izzo for a 60-yard touchdown pass.

On the ensuing Clemson drive, the Seminoles forced and recovered a fumble, but Smith's interception regained Clemson possession just one play later and paved the way for another Etienne rushing touchdown that put the Tigers up 24-14 with three minutes remaining in the game. Choice scored the Tigers' final points of the matchup on a 10-yard touchdown run that ended a drive in which he amassed 28 of his 40 rushing yards on three carries.

THE CITADEL 3

CLEMSON 61

NOV. 18, 2017 • MEMORIAL STADIUM • CLEMSON, S.C.

Playing in front a Memorial Stadium crowd for the final time in 2017, the No. 2 Clemson Tigers raced to a dominant 61-3 victory over The Citadel Bulldogs, accruing a season-high 479 passing yards in the process.

Living up to the hype surrounding the Senior Day and Military Appreciation Day festivities, the Tigers used a balanced offensive attack to improve to 10-1 on the year while dropping The Citadel to 5-6.

The Tigers took a 21-0 lead in the first quarter, as quarterback Kelly Bryant connected with wide receiver Deon Cain on a 53-yard bomb during Clemson's first possession, putting the Tigers up 7-0. Bryant was very effective under center, going 17-22 for 230 yards and three touchdowns. As for Cain, he experienced one of the best games of his career, compiling a career-high 140 receiving yards on five catches.

On the next series, The Citadel turned the ball over, as Trayvon Mullen picked off a pass. Soon afterward, Tigers running back Travis Etienne punched it into the endzone from six yards out. Mere minutes later, Bryant capped off an eight-play, 69-yard drive with a 12-yard touchdown pass to wideout Hunter Renfrow, marking Renfrow's first score of the season.

Early in the second quarter, Clemson increased its lead to 28 points when receiver T.J. Chase found the endzone for the first time in his Clemson career on a 13-yard strike from Bryant. Clemson kicker Alex Spence sent a 26-yard field goal through the uprights on the ensuing Clemson drive, and, with under a minute to play in the first half, quarterback Zerrick Cooper threw a touchdown pass to wideout Tee Higgins to provide the Tigers with a commanding 38-point advantage.

Higgins experienced a breakout performance in the contest, with the freshman amassing 178 receiving yards, the most for any Clemson player this season, on six receptions, two of which resulted in touchdowns. The aforementioned score came on a spectacular catch in which Higgins was somehow able to corral the ball after it was tipped in double coverage.

Not to be outdone, Tavien Feaster opened up the second half with a 61-yard burst to the house for six, finding open space up the middle for his fifth rushing score of the season. Etienne answered with his second touchdown of the afternoon on Clemson's next series, scoring on a seven-yard carry for the 11th rushing touchdown of the season, the most in program history for a freshman.

CLEMSON 34

SOUTH CAROLINA 10

NOV. 25, 2017 • WILLIAMS-BRICE STADIUM • COLUMBIA, S.C.

Using a balanced offensive attack, the No. 3 Clemson Tigers toppled the South Carolina Gamecocks 34-10 at Williams-Brice Stadium, marking the fourth consecutive victory for the Tigers in the Palmetto Bowl.

Outgaining South Carolina by 262 yards and accruing 17 more first downs, Clemson was the aggressor on offense. The Clemson defense was stellar as well, shutting out the Gamecocks through the first three quarters and keeping South Carolina quarterback Jake Bentley in check for most of the contest.

In fact, a defensive highlight for the Tigers resulted in the first score of the evening, as Clemson cornerback Ryan Carter picked off a pass for the second time this season and sprinted into the endzone on a 12-yard return, providing Clemson with a 7-0 first-quarter lead.

The Tigers tacked on 13 more points in the second quarter to push their lead to 20-0, as quarterback Kelly Bryant led Clemson on two scoring drives. Bryant was rather effective in the game, going 23-34 for 272 yards and two touchdowns, also adding 26 yards on the ground.

On a drive that featured multiple long pass plays, Tavien Feaster scored a rushing touchdown, powering across the goal line midway through the second quarter to give Clemson a 14-0 advantage. Later in the period, Clemson converted three third downs on a touchdown-scoring drive, including a third-and-goal that saw Bryant connect with Hunter Renfrow for a four-yard score.

Renfrow provided the Tigers with more breathing room in the second half, scoring on the first play from scrimmage in the third quarter on a riveting 61-yard receiving touchdown. Complete with several impressive evasive moves that fooled defenders, Renfrow's run put Clemson ahead by 27 points, providing Renfrow with his first multi-touchdown game of the season.

On the next series, the South Carolina offense continued to struggle, as Trayvon Mullen stepped in front of a pass to secure an interception, marking the Gamecocks' second turnover of the night. A few possessions later, Clemson put together a 13-play, 69-yard drive that featured a critical 13-yard run by Bryant on fourth down to extend the drive deep in South Carolina territory.

Soon after, the series was capped off by a five-yard rushing touchdown by Travis Etienne, giving Clemson a 34-0 lead that it carried into the fourth quarter. The Gamecocks scored 10 points in the final period, though, converting a pair of Tiger interceptions into points.

MIAMI (FLA.) 3

CLEMSON 38

DEC. 2, 2017 • BANK OF AMERICA STADIUM • CHARLOTTE, N.C.

Fueled by a balanced offensive attack and a stifling defensive performance, the No. 1 Clemson football team won its third straight and 17th all-time ACC Championship, defeating the No. 7 Miami Hurricanes 38-3 on Saturday at Bank of America Stadium. With the win, Clemson improved to 12-1 overall, while Miami moved to 10-2.

Offensively, the Tigers were sparked by Kelly Bryant, who completed his first 15 passes for 164 yards and finished the game with 252 yards and one passing touchdown on a career-high 23 completions after connecting with 10 different receivers. The ground game proved strong as well, as four different Tigers rushed for scores. The Clemson defense held Miami to just 22 yards of offense in the first quarter and 214 for the whole game while also forcing three Hurricane turnovers in the third quarter alone.

Travis Etienne put Clemson on the board first, darting four yards for a touchdown just under five minutes into the matchup. The score was set up when Bryant connected with Renfrow on third down for a 23-yard gain a few plays earlier. A Miami 46-yard field goal attempt then sailed wide left, and on Clemson's ensuing drive, Bryant broke free for an 11-yard scoring run that gave the Tigers a 14-0 lead near the end of the first quarter. The junior quarterback was also a perfect 9-9 passing for 124 yards during the first 15 minutes.

Adam Choice upped Clemson's lead to 21-0 two minutes into the second quarter with a one-yard touchdown run. That proved to be the halftime score, and the 21-point advantage was good for the largest halftime lead in ACC Championship game history.

Five minutes into the second half, an Alex Spence 46-yard field goal pushed the Tigers' lead to 24-0, and Ryan Carter forced a fumble that was recovered by Dorian O'Daniel on the Hurricanes' next drive. The Tigers did not score on that possession, but Carter halted Miami again a few minutes later with an interception in Hurricane territory. Clemson did find the endzone then, with Tavien Feaster powering 11 yards and putting the Tigers up 31-0.

Kendall Joseph caused Miami's third turnover of the third quarter with just under two minutes left in it when he intercepted a Malik Rosier pass, and Bryant connected with Deon Cain for a 27-yard score two plays later. Miami scored its only points on a 22-yard by Michael Badgley with three and a half minutes remaining in the game.

1959 SUGAR BOWL

LOUISIANA STATE 7

CLEMSON 0

JAN. 1, 1959 • TULANE-SUGAR BOWL STADIUM • NEW ORLEANS, LA.

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take a 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

Louisiana State drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its first six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the Louisiana State 27 yard line on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers. On Clemson's next possession, Louisiana State got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for Louisiana State at the Clemson 11.

Louisiana State picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the endzone for the only score of the game. Cannon kicked the extra point and Louisiana State led 7-0.

Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the Louisiana State 28, but Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was incomplete. Louisiana State took over on downs and ran out the clock.

In his usual relaxed way, Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said he was pleased with his team.

"Hell! I think we'd have beat them if that boy had held onto that little screen pass," Howard said. "I was going for those two points and beat them. I didn't think we would hold them to one touchdown, but I didn't think they would shut us out, either.

"Louisiana State has a good team, they rate the No. 1 spot in the nation. Cannon is quite a boy and deserves his All-American rating."

"It was a wonderful victory. They're just as fine when you win 'em, 7-0 as 30-0. I'm very happy that we won," said Louisiana State Coach Paul Dietzel.

"Clemson proved tougher than most people figured. But we knew we would have to play at our top peak to beat them. They were a good team."

2016 CFP NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

ALABAMA 45

CLEMSON 40

JAN. 11, 2016 • UNIVERSITY OF PHOENIX STADIUM • GLENDALE, ARIZ.

Clemson fought valiantly and held a fourth-quarter lead, but late special teams plays by Alabama proved to be the difference in the College Football Playoff National Championship as the Crimson Tide prevailed, 45-40. The Tigers finished the 2015 season with a 14-1 record.

Deshaun Watson was brilliant in defeat, accounting for a career-high 478 yards of total offense and four touchdowns through the air. Defensively, Kevin Dodd was a bright spot with a career-high five tackles for loss.

The Tigers lost for the first time in their history when producing at least 500 yards of total offense. Clemson finished with 550 yards to Alabama's 473, but the Crimson Tide scored on a kickoff return for touchdown in the fourth quarter that provided momentum.

Derrick Henry struck first, scoring on a 50-yard scamper in which he went untouched over the right side of the Tiger defense. But Clemson answered quickly when Watson found former walk-on Hunter Renfrow on a beautiful 31-yard touchdown pass into the right corner of the endzone to knot the score at 7-7. The two connected again a drive later when Watson hit him in the middle of the endzone to give the Tigers a 14-7 advantage after the first quarter.

Watson was intercepted on the Tigers' ensuing possession, which gave Alabama great field position. The Tide took advantage, with Henry plunging in from a yard out with 9:35 remaining in the second. Neither team scored again, with Alabama blocking a 44-yard field goal try by Greg Huegel in the final seconds.

The Crimson Tide posted the opening score after halftime. Following a Clemson three-and-out, Jake Coker lofted a 53-yard touchdown pass to O.J. Howard.

As he did all night, Watson had the answer. First, he drove the Tigers down for a field goal. Then, he weaved through traffic time and again to set up Clemson's go-ahead score, a one-yard rush by Wayne Gallman that made the lead 24-21 heading into the final quarter.

Alabama tied it on a field goal early in the period, and then executed a perfect surprise onside kick to recover at midfield. Two plays later, the Tide went up 31-24 on a second touchdown pass from Coker to Howard.

After the lead stretched to 38-27 on the kickoff return for a touchdown, Watson went back to work. He got Clemson in scoring position and hit Artavis Scott and Jordan Leggett on easy touchdowns that cut the deficit to 45-40, but it was too late for a Tiger comeback.

2017 CFP NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME

CLEMSON 35

ALABAMA 31

JAN. 9, 2017 • RAYMOND JAMES STADIUM • TAMPA, FLA.

Playing in his final game as a Tiger, Deshaun Watson completed 36-56 passes for 420 yards and three scores, and added 43 yards rushing and a touchdown to lead Clemson to a 35-31 victory over Alabama in the College Football National Championship game to close the 2016 season.

Watson completed a two-yard scoring pass to Hunter Renfrow with one second left to give the Tigers the win and the school's first national title since 1981.

Watson was named the MVP on offense thanks to his 463 yards of total offense and four total touchdowns. The previous year against Alabama in the title game he had 405 yards passing and 73 yards rushing for 478 yards of total offense and four scoring passes. Alabama entered the game first in the nation in scoring defense and total defense.

Clemson did not have a 100-yard receiver, but had four players between 92 and 95 yards receiving in a game for the first time in history. Renfrow ended the contest with 10 catches for 92 yards.

Alabama jumped out to a 14-0 lead behind the running of Bo Scarborough. He scored on runs of 25 and 37 yards, one in each quarter. Clemson then came back to within a score on an eight-yard run by Watson to make the count 14-7 at the half.

Alabama outscored Clemson 10-7 in the third quarter to take a 24-14 lead entering the fourth quarter. The Crimson Tide had won 97 consecutive games when having a double digit lead in the fourth period.

But the Tigers scored a pair of touchdowns in the fourth to take a 31-28 lead with 4:38 left.

Alabama came back on its next possession to go 68 yards for a score. Jalen Hurts scored on a 30-yard run with 2:07 left.

Clemson came back with a 68-yard drive of its own. The drive included a 24-yard pass to Williams, a six-yard completion to Renfrow on third-and-three and a 17-yard pass to Leggett that brought the ball to the Alabama nine with 14 seconds left.

A pass interference penalty on a pass to Williams in the endzone brought the ball to the two. On the next play Watson hit Renfrow with the game winner.

The victory gave Clemson a 14-1 record to finish the season, the same as Alabama. Both teams tied the national record for wins in a season.
