This painting, which commemorates the first college football game between Rutgers and Princeton, hangs proudly in the College Football Hall of Fame. It was produced in 1976, and the Rutgers player depicted is Bert Kosup, ('78), QB of the undefeated 1976 team.

- Rutgers has the oldest tradition in Division 1-A football and plays its home games in the nation's newest stadium .

- Rutgers is 27th in all-time wins with 539.

- Rutgers is the birthplace of college football, having played in college football's first game in 1869.

- Rutgers has produced 54 All-Americans, including Marco Battaglia, a consensus First-Team All-American in 1995.

A Knight in Shining Armor

In the world of college football, which often gets a bum rap because of scandals and NCAA rules violations, a class act still exists - and he's right here at Rutgers.

When the Scarlet Knights lost at frigid cold West Virginia, everything they had worked for was lost. There would be no bowl game. The team stood on the sideline, and witnessed the final minutes tick away as if they were watching their house burn down. Tears stained many players faces.

Rutgers tight end Marco Battaglia was among the seniors paralyzed with grief. Besides being statistically the worst day of his season (two catches for 15 yards), it was a day that severed his dreams of leading Rutgers football to the promised land. It was a dream that was started when Battaglia was an eager rookie out of St. Francis High School in Queens, NY. But it was a dream that ended in a swift three-hour span in Morgantown.

As Battaglia lugged his bruised 6-3, 240-pound frame off the field, bystanders could see tears welling in his eyes. Rutgers had been close several times in his career, but it was now evident that his college career would end without a bowl bid. But as sorrowful as that moment was for Battaglia and his teammates, the tight end demonstrated that no matter how low his spirits were, football was just a game.

The youngster approached the RU star and asked him for his autograph at the lowest point in Battaglia's collegiate career. If there was ever justification for a seven-year old getting a good-old fashioned tongue lashing, this was it.

But, rather than shrug off the fan, the man who has proven to be the diplomat of all Rutgers sports programs flashed a grin and signed the child's hat without hesitation.

"Here you go, kid," Battaglia said, before continuing into the lockerroom.

This wasn't like the TV commercial where famed Pittsburgh Steeler defensive lineman Mean Joe Greene played out the same scenario. This wasn't in front of the cameras. This was real life. And Battaglia proved that he's not only a first-class tight end, he's a first-class guy.

"I know Charles Barkley is not a big fan of it, but you've got to be a figure," Battaglia said. "It showed a lot for that kid, you know. He's a fan of mine."

Battaglia didn't mind the interruption, he welcomed it. In the midst of disaster, with his world crumbling around him, he honestly didn't think it was a distraction.

He was asked if he really wanted to sign it, convinced the kid was merely a nuisance to the nation's number one tight end. But Battaglia went on, undeterred by the pessimism.

"It's an honor, especially after you've played terrible," Battaglia said. "You're still depressed, but it's a big moment for that kid. He ran across the field for that. You can't say no - that's horrible."

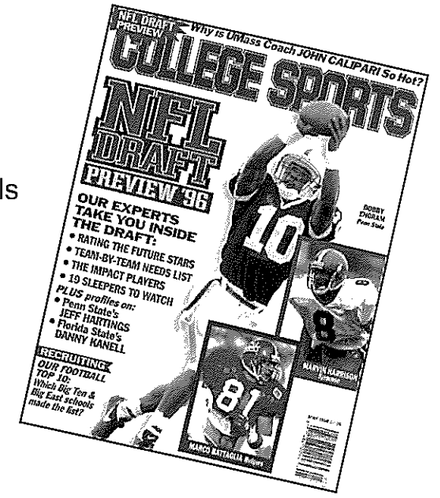

In an age where multi-million dollar athletes often receive top-dollar for their signatures and in a time when owners shift franchises from city to city like pieces in a chess game, there are still some who truly respect their fans.

THE RUTGERS EXPERIENCE

Long recognized for its academic strength, Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, stands at the forefront of America's state universities. The school is consistently ranked among the nation's top universities by Money Magazine and U.S. News and World Report. As a student-athlete at Rutgers, your educational and athletic career will be shaped by the many creative minds you will find here. You will have the opportunity to share in the tradition that has made Rutgers a center of intellectual and athletic excellence for more than 225 years.

Who goes to Rutgers Unversity? Students from many places and backgrounds, all with different perspectives and personal experiences. While most of our undergraduates are from New Jersey, every other state and more than 75 foreign countries are also represented. More than half are women, and about 30 percent are members of minority groups.

As Rutgers has gained recognition as one of thenation's leading comprehensive universities, the quality of our student body has kept pace. A recent first-year class includes 66 high school valedictorians, 19 National Merit scholars and one National Achievement Scholar.

As one of the largest state university systems in the nation, Rutgers can offer many advntages that come with size.

As a student here, you will have access to the tremendous range of people, programs, and facilities that only a large, nationally-recognized research university can provide.

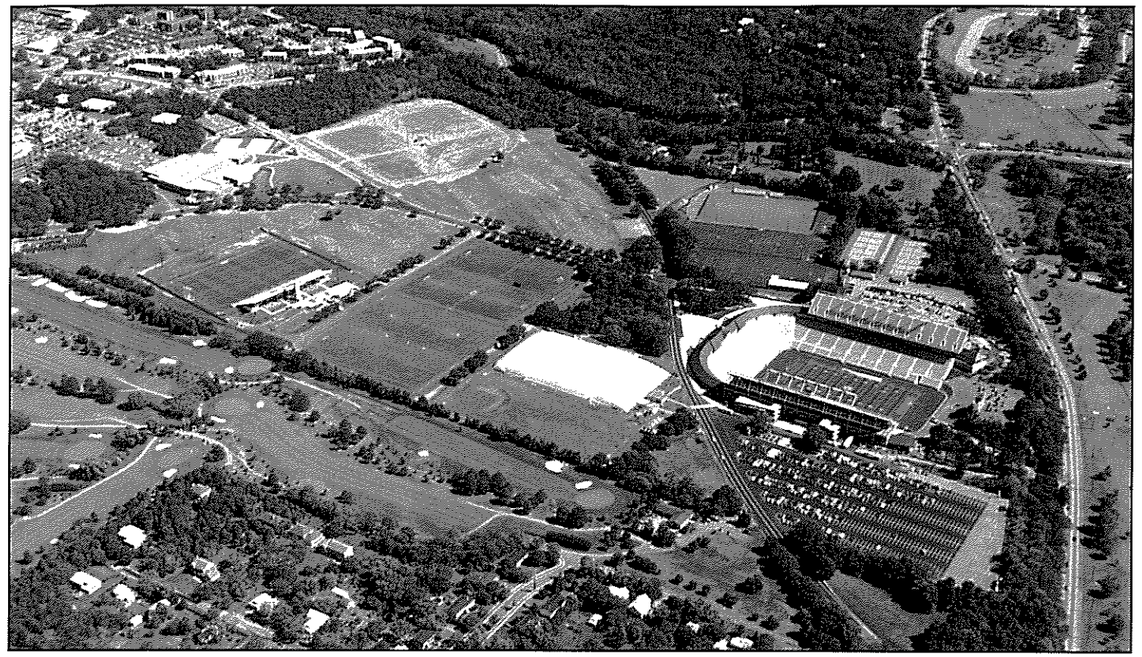

Although Rutgers is a big place, with about 25,000 students on the New Brunswick/Piscataway campuses, you won't get lost in the crowd. The student-faculty ratio at Rutgers is 18-to-1.

- Rutgers is one of just 58 schools in the AAU, the most prestigious organization in higher education.
- The library system contains over 3 million volumes in 18 facilties on three campuses and ranks among the nation's top 20 research library systems.
- Rutgers' graduation rate is ranked 8th among the public AAU schools.
- Rutgers ranks first among AAU institutions in African-American enrollment.

RUTGERS IS...

...40 minutes from Manhattan

...90 minutes from Philadelphia

...located in the center of the greatest metropolitan corridor in the world, with Boston at one end and Washington at the other ...minutes away from the Jersey Shore resorts, including Atlantic City, Wildwood, historic Cape May, and over 100 miles of beaches.

At the Beginning:

Rutgers began its extraordinary history as Queen's College which was chartered in 1766, the eighth institution of higher learning in the colonies.

In 1825, the name of the college was changed to Rutgers to honor the benefactor and Revolutionary War veteran, Colonel Henry Rutgers.

THE SPIRIT OF RUTGERS EXTENDS TO THE COMMUNITY

Rutgers University has a spirit all its own. And Rutgers athletes extend that spirit into the neighboring community.

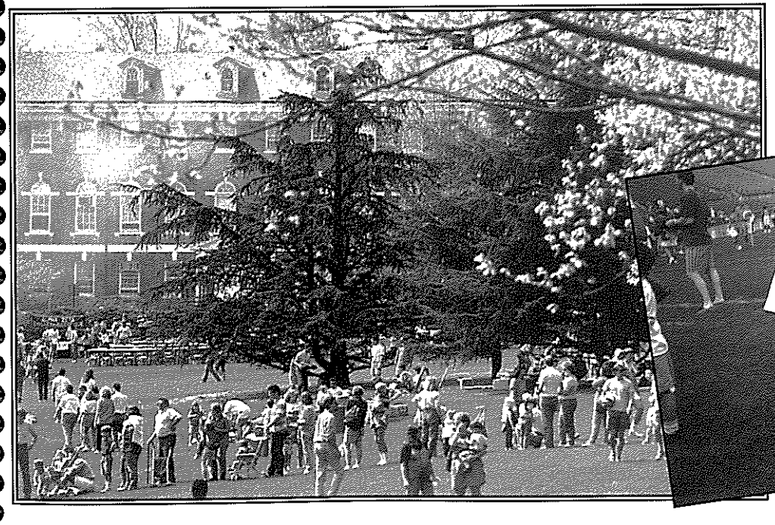

Recognizing their positions as role models and community leaders, Rutgers University student-athletes are extremely active within the Central New Jersey community.

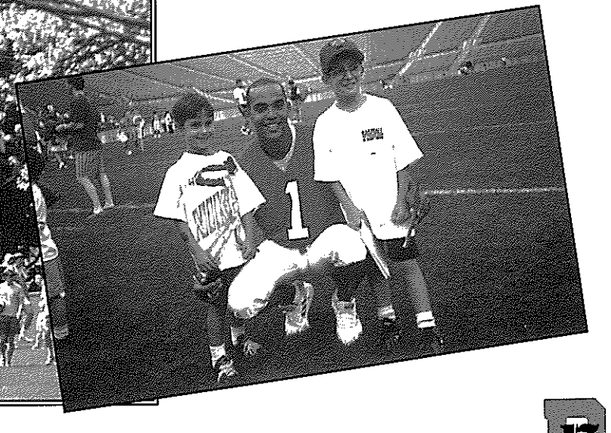

Rutgers athletes willingly give of their time. They recognize that it is a privilege to don the Scarlet uniform on game day. And with that privilege comes responsiblity. Rutgers athletes visit local hospitals, participate in blood drives, volunteer for walk-a-thons, take part in food drives and sit in with local elementary school children where they read books to the children and then take part in discussions. In these discussions, they touch on such topics as nutrition, goal-setting, self-esteeem, motivation, saying no to drugs, anti-smoking and crime prevention.

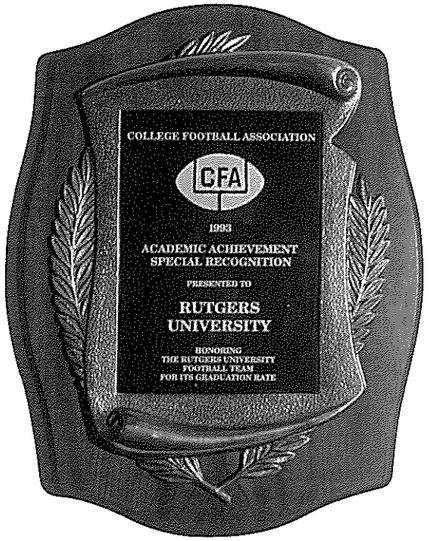

The dynamic spirit of Rutgers is everywhere - whether it be football games, the activities among the various community service organizations, or at Homecoming. This spirit has outlived its originators and will continue to thrive for ages to come.

Rutgers has a rich heritage which spans more than 200 years. These strong roots have generated a long-lasting and passionate sense of tradition and spirit.

"I'd die for dear old Rutgers," is a phrase that has been attributed to Phil Brett, captain of the 1891 Rutgers football team. In six short words, Mr. Brett captured the spirit that still thrives at Rutgers today. And that spirit extends to the community.

RUTGERS UNIVERSITY STUDENT-ATHLETE TOTAL RESOURCE OPPORTUNITIES FOR NECESSARY GROWTH

This program is designed to provide Rutgers student-athletes with the education and experiences to assist them in bridging the gap from college life to professional life, and to assist them in making meaningful contributions to their communities. The program focuses on five commitments viewed as critical to personal growth:

1. Academic Excellence
2. Personal Development
3. Community Service
4. Athletic Excellence
5. Career Development

Throughout the year, RU STRONG focuses on "real life" skills and personal development through a series of scheduled programs. In addition, the final event of the year, the Color Games, is a non-competitive yet activity-filled social event that inspires athletic unity among the 30 varsity sports that Rutgers offers.

A RUTGERS DEGREE = CAREER OPPORTUNITIES

Rutgers is closely located to the storied "high-tech" corporate corridor which dominates the landscape between New Brunswick and Princeton, located 15 miles to the south. Even closer are other corporate headquarters. New Brunswick is home to the world headquarters of Johnson & Johnson, the leading health care products firm in the world. New Jersey is also home to the world headquarters of AT&T, the largest communications company in the world and New Jersey's number one employer.

SUMMER JOBS PROGRAM

In conjunction with the Touchdown Club, the football program's nearly 1,000-member booster club, a summer jobs program is in place where Rutgers football players gain valuable work experience in a professional setting directly related to their academic major. As Rutgers football alumni occupy high-ranking positions in a myriad of different fields, the opportunities are endless.

"Rutgers University is unique in many ways. In addition to the Touchdown Club, we also feature a Football Letterwinners Association...these former RU players blazed the trail that our current teams run through. There is nobody with more credibility or understanding, that our current players can use as a friend, than a former Scarlet Knight. A Rutgers Scarlet Knight football player is a member of a special fraternity. He belongs to the oldest tradition in major college football." - Terry Shea

David Stern ('63), NBA Commissioner

"A Rutgers degree is very meaningful. It helped get me to the NBA!!!

"The education here is second to none, and the players I meet from all over the country know and appreciate the quality of Rutgers Football."

The Statue of Liberty stands proudly off her shores, her welcoming beacon reflecting its ages-old message of hope to people from all walks of life

New Jersey offers...

127 miles of sandy beaches...the glitz and glamour of Atlantic City...arenas and stadiums used for concerts and professional sporting events...highly attractive ski areas...134 modern campgrounds for outdoor recreation... and much more!!!

Something for everyone!!

The Rutgers Experience

The past met the present at the Spring Game

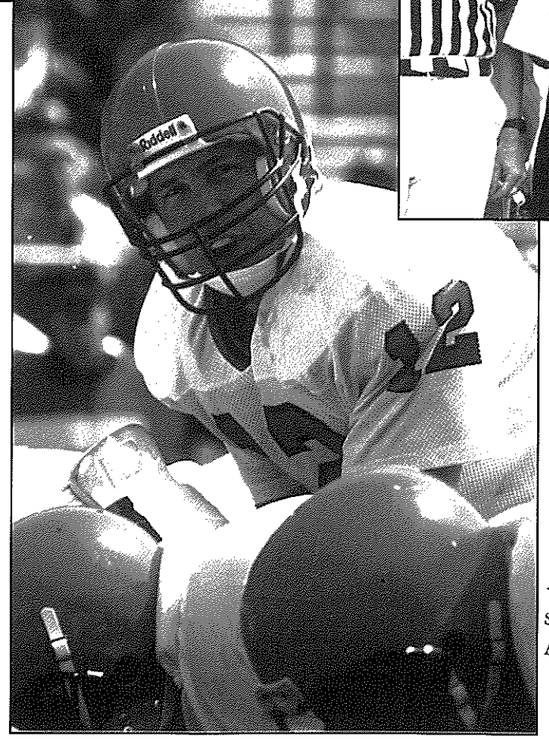

More than fifty former Scarlet Knights, ranging in ages from 23 to 49, returned to campus to compete in the first-ever Alumni versus the Varsity Spring Game. A tradition that began in the spring of 1996 under Terry Shea, it's one which promises to grow in scope each year.

"Having the alumni back is a great idea. It was an honor to put that uniform back on."

- Andrew Beckett ('94)

First-Class Facilities

42,000 seat Rutgers Stadium, built in 1994, is College Football's newest and most modern stadium.

The Hale Center

The Weight Room is a hub of activity on a daily basis. It's a place where good athletes become great athletes and good players become great players.

Rutgers football players achieve their goals in a state of- the-art facility in the Hale Center, housed in the same building as the football locker and meeting rooms. The weight room is a spacious area encompassing 4,500 square-feet. A variety of music blares from the stereo system and words of encouragement are supplied as superior athletes strive to reach their peak performances.

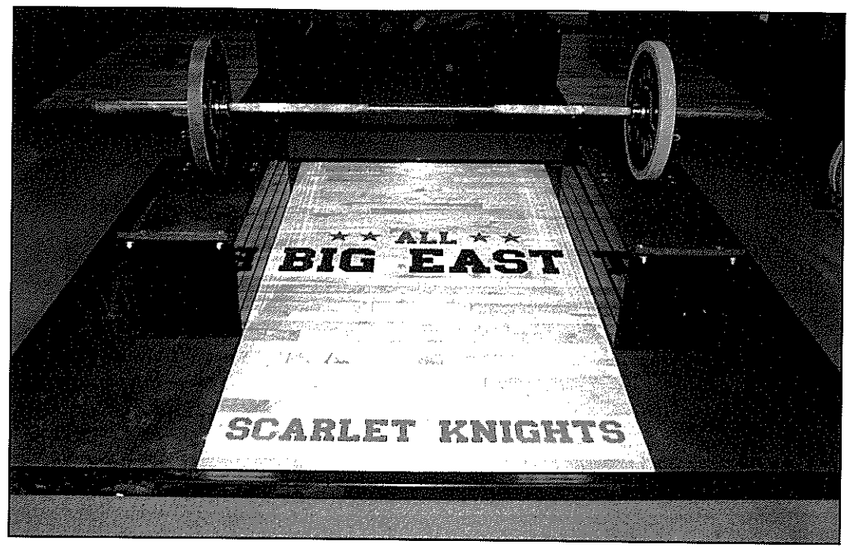

The words of encouragement and guidance are given by Strength and Conditioning coach Skip Fuller and his assistant, Speed Enhancement Coach Mike Johansen, who take a personal interest in each and every Scarlet Knight. Fuller and Johansen tailor a program specific to each player's needs and goals. Their office is located right in the weight room, where they are a part of the action at all times.

FIRST-CLASS FACILITIES

~ Hall of Fame Coach Bill Walsh

The expansive dressing room for the Scarlet Knights is 3,000 square feet and is located on the lower level of the Hale Center. The modern layout allows the coaches to separately address the offense and the defense during practices and on game-day.

Below: Skip Fuller supervises a Scarlet Knight workout.

The Bubble

The Rutgers Indoor Practice and Conditioning Facility, commonly referred to as "The Bubble," is the nation's largest air-supported indoor structure, measuring 430 x 230 feet, at a height of 80 feet. This facility allows the Scarlet Knights to train and conduct practice sessions in all weather conditions. The New York Giants have used this structure as a post-season practice facility on several occasions.

Many Rutgers football players are dual-sport athletes. Two current Scarlet Knights -- defensive back Bobby Orro and offensive lineman Shaun O'Hara -- were All-BIG EAST track and field performers this past spring.

Sonny Werblin Recreational Center

Named for prominent alumnus and benefactor David A. "Sonny" Werblin, this structure houses an aquatic center, featuring an Olympic-size pool with movable bulkheads and two auxiliary pools. Seating is provided for 1,000 spectators, including 400 chair-back seats. Not just a swimming facility, the Recreation Center also includes a fitness center, four basketball, eight racquetball, and two squash courts and a 2,000-square foot multi-purpose room for such programs as instructional dance and martial arts.

1996 Outlook

First-year head coach Terry Shea and his staff have installed a multiple set offense that features a "read" passing game and a two-back set for the running game that highlights the tailback. This system has come to be known as the "West Coast" offense and Terry Shea is one of the nation's best teachers of this attack. Shea will call the plays as offensive coordinator. The attacking-style defense is classified as a 4-4 and will be guided by defensive coordinator Rod Sharpless, who assisted with the tremendous success at nationally-ranked Virginia Tech last year, where he served as co-defensive coordinator. This defense depends on speed and aggressiveness and contains a full blitz package. The secondary could, with certain sets, contain just three defenders.

During the spring practice, the new offensive system was tackled by a group which included only three players who had started in a collegiate game - - Sr C Jack McKiernan, So WR Bill Powell and So OT Pete Donnelly. Shea is looking forward to the return of Sr WR Steven Harper, who missed spring practice to concentrate on academics, and to the hopeful return of Jr WR Chris Hutton, who did not participate in spring drills, as he continued to rehabilitate a fractured leg. Reggie Funderburk, one of the BIG EAST's top receivers, will sit out the '96 campaign as he rehabilitates from knee surgery. He is expected back in 1997.

Shea will not name a starting quarterback until the fall drills, at the earliest. The signal-calling frontrunners are Jr Ralph Sacca and So Corey Valentine, both left-handers. A strong-armed candidate who may emerge in the fall is Sr Mike Stephans. A transfer from the University of Tennessee and a former walk-on QB at Rutgers, Stephans has been a mainstay on the Scarlet Knight baseball team the past two seasons. He took part in a limited number of non-contact drills in spring practice and has been invited to fall camp.

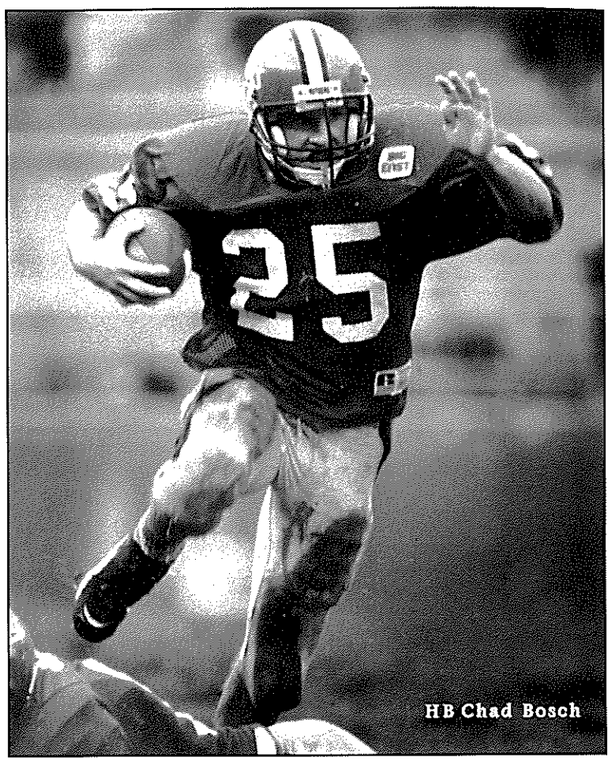

Seniors Chad Bosch and Joe Diggs have the advantage as possible starters in the backfield. The backfield has excellent numbers and the staff will look to solidify the combinations in preseason camp.

Up front, McKiernan, a starter last season at left tackle, will make the move back to center, the position he played in high school. This steady player was singled out for praise on numerous occasions by Coach Shea in the spring.

Note: All players are listed by academic year.

Sharpless' defense is experienced beyond its years. Because of many injuries last season, an inordinate number of freshmen saw game action. Senior DT's Rashod Swinger and Shawn Devlin will anchor the defensive line. Transfer Art Dreher (Georgia Tech) can add some speed to the linebacking corps, which will hopefully be bolstered by the return of Sr Brian Sheridan, who was injured and missed spring practice. Three seniors, Cameron Chadwick, Thomas Kelly, and Derek Ward return to the secondary, the defense's most experienced area, and according to Shea, the fastest group of athletes on the team.

On special teams, Jr Jared Slovan and Sr Nick Mike-Mayer are back to handle the punting and kicking chores, respectively.

OFFENSE
(3 starters and 13 lettermen returning)

A host of household names have been lost on the offensive side of the ball due to graduation. Last year's team featured nine returning starters on offense, thus, this year's unit will be young and largely untested. McKiernan (6-2, 275, 2L), who started 10 of 11 games at left tackle last year, will move to center and will work with So Chris Howe (6-4, 280).

The left guard position will feature Sr Matt Fleming (6-1, 280) and So Ivan Ramos (6-3, 300). Left tackle will be manned by Sr Kerry Ware (6-4, 290) and So Ben French (6-4, 300). On the right side, Jr Bryan Raftery (6-3, 300) and Jr Clint Hunt (6-3, 290) will be battling for the top guard spot. At right tackle, Jr Pete Donnelly (6-2, 300, 1L), and Sr T.J. Spizzo (6-4, 290, 2L) who snapped on placements and filled the breach on the defensive line at the end of last year, are the leading candidates.

"We will make this program the Pride of New Jersey"
- Terry Shea, Head Coach

A large cast will contest for the open tight end slot left by consensus First-Team All-American Marco Battaglia's departure. Sr Jason Curry (6-4, 250, 2L) and Sr Ron Keller (6-4, 240, 1L) are the most experienced players at TE. Junior college transfer Marcus Luna (6-3, 240), Sr Russell Swanson (6-4, 220) and So Jim Mazza (6-4, 220) complete the group to compete at tight end. Curry caught one pass, a 3-yd TD, at Duke last year. Senior Rob Seeger (6-4, 230, 2L), a fullback last year, is a versatile player who may see time at both tight end and fullback in 1996.

WIDE RECEIVERS
Alan Davis (6-1, 170, Jr)
Jarrett Cooper (5-11, 190, Fr)
Reggie Funderburk (5-11, 175, Sr.)
Steven Harper (5-10, 165, Sr)
Andy Holland (6-3, 195, So)
Chris Hutton (6-5, 200, Jr)
Walter King (6-2, 185, Fr)
Bill Powell (6-3, 190, Jr)
Jason Smith (6-1, 170, So)

At wide receiver, Junior Bill Powell (6-3, 190, 1L) had 27 receptions for 314 yards last year, and started three games late in the campaign. His best outings were 6 catches for 80 yards against Temple and a career-high eight grabs for 95 yards against Boston College. Powell's 27 catches in 95 is a Rutgers freshman record. Junior Chris Hutton (6-5, 200) suffered a season-ending broken leg in week two vs. Navy last year and will hopefully be ready for the season. Others in the mix include --Andy Holland (6-3, 195, So), a junior college All-American last season and athletic So Jason Smith (6-2, 170) .

Finding the trigger man for the "West Coast Offense" is imperative. A pair of left-handers -- Jr Ralph Sacca (6-4, 220) and So Corey Valentine (6-1, 185) will vie for the controls of the new offense, along with Sr Mike Stephans (6-1, 210) . Senior Darrell Buffington (6-0, 200), who showed his team spirit by filling in as a nickelback last year, and true freshman Mike Jones (6-4, 210) will provide depth at the QB position.

The tailback slot looks to be a tussle between Sr Chad Bosch (5-9, 160, 1L) and a host of underclassmen. Bosch, who is the leading returning rusher after the departure of Terrell Willis and Bruce Presley (#1 and #3 respectively on the all-time charts), is a small, yet dynamic package of heart and enthusiasm. This hard-nosed, no-nonsense runner was a JUCO All-American at Nassau Community College. He carried 71 times for 356 yards and two TDs (Virginia Tech and Tulane). His 5.0 yds/att average led the team. Senior Damon Hamlin (5-8, 190, 1L) will provide quality depth at halfback. Senior Joe Diggs (6-0, 190), and Jr Marc Demyen (6-0, 240, 1L) are the leading candidates at fullback, along with TE/FB Rob Seeger.

DEFENSE
(6 starters, 20 letterwinners returning)

In contrast to the offense, the defensive unit is experienced beyond its years. A large number of injuries resulted in an inordinate number of true freshman seeing game action. Sharpless and company are looking at that fact as a blessing in disguise as they install their 4--4 scheme.

A 1995 tri-captain, Sr LB Brian Sheridan (shoulder rotator cuff surgery), Jr RT Charles Woolridge (knee surgery), So DB David Griffin (1995 preseason knee surgery) and So DB Marvin Bennett (knee surgery) all missed spring practice. Sophomore DB Peter Clarke (ankle) was limited in the spring because of rehabilitation.

In the new scheme's terminology, left end is called "Stud." Senior Rusty Swartz (6-1, 235, 3L) was slated to be the starter here but a severe knee injury, incurred in the spring, may limit his play until late season, if at all. He started eight games a year ago despite nagging shoulder problems. Swartz would have been the defense's leading returning tackler with 58 stops. A best-case scenario would see Swartz returning for the latter part of the 1996 season. Sophomore Ansel George-Shields (6-3, 235) backed up by Jr Joey Jones (6-3, 215), who returns to the team after a one-year hiatus, are the leaders at that position now.

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS/SAFETIES
Shin Black (6-1, 200, Fr)
Taman Bryant (6-1, 205, So)
Norris Crawford (5-10, 185, Sr)
Thomas Kelly (6-0, 190, Sr)
Gil Ross (6-0, 185, So)
Mike Pridgeon (6-1, 205, Fr)
Roger Wingate (6-1, 180, So)

Left tackle will be manned by Rashod Swinger (6-3, 290) and he will be backed up by So Mike Belh (6-2, 230). Swinger, a two-year starter, is the leading returning tackler among all defensive linemen. Last year, he totaled 51 stops (23 solo) and racked up two sacks. He has started 26 of the last 28 games. Belh played in eight games last year at DE as a true freshman and registered five tackles. Senior Charles Woolridge (6-3, 245), whose flashes of brilliance included an interception for a TD vs. Pitt, is expected to be an important contributor. He had offseason surgery to repair an ACL. Right end features Sr Chris Cebula (6-3, 220, 1L), and Jr Mike Karwacki (6-4, 260), who are among the leading contenders at this "rush end"-type slot. Cebula started three games and logged 14 tackles last year at an outside linebacker slot.

CORNERBACKS
Cameron Chadwick (5-10, 190, Sr)
Peter Clarke (5-9, 170, So)
David Griffin (5-10, 180,So)
Bobby Orro (5-10, 175, Jr)
Mike Sandy (5-9, 180, Jr)
Derek Ward (6-0, 170, Sr)
Kevin Williams (5-10, 175, Sr)

Other players vying for playing time along the defensive front include Sr Shawn Devlin (6-1, 260), So Antonio Horn (6-1, 280), So Shaun O'Hara (6-2, 265), and Jr Matt Washington (6-2, 250). O'Hara is also participating as a discus thrower on the Rutgers track team, where he placed fourth in the BIG EAST Outdoor Championships.

The right inside-linebacker position is called "Backer". Transfer Jr Art Dreher (6-2, 220), who practiced with the team all year after coming to campus from Georgia Tech, has the inside track there backed up by So Aaron Brady (5-11, 200, 1L).

INSIDE LINEBACKERS
Aaron Brady (5-11, 200, So)
Ken Dinolfo (6-3, 240, Jr)
Art Dreher (6-2, 220, Jr)
Lou Grasso (6-0, 230, Sr)
Derrick Griggs (6-1, 220, Jr)
Joe Hynes (6-0, 230, So)
Paul Jovanovic (6-0, 220, Fr)
John Notaro (6-0, 200, Fr)
Brian Sheridan (6-0, 215, Sr)
Anthony Stephans (6-2, 230, Fr.)
Dax Strohmeyer (6-3, 210, So)

In the new scheme, the other linebacker slot is tagged "Mike." Sr Brian Sheridan (6-0, 215), if healthy, will be the starter there. Sophomore Dax Strohmeyer (6-3, 210), who progressed to the point of making the depth chart in 1995, is also a candidate for playing time there.

> "To play in this defense, a young man must master the three R's - Run, Run and Run."
> - Rod Sharpless

In the secondary, the position terminology is as follows: "Knight" (rover), "Rook" (strong safety), and then the traditional free safety and two corners. The backfield dipped into the freshman ranks on four occasions last year to pull first-year players onto the field. They earned their stripes under the fire of plays from scrimmage and should use that experience as a springboard for 1996.

SPECIALISTS
PLACEKICKER
Mike Buchanan (5-11, 175, Fr)
Joe Donato (5-11, 175, Jr)
Lee McDonald (6-0, 195, So)
Nick Mike-Mayer (6-1, 200, Sr)

PUNTER
Mike Buchanan (5-11, 175, Fr)
Jared Slovan (6-4, 200, Jr)

Three returning starters give the secondary a solid blend of youth and experience. Senior Thomas Kelly (5-11, 185, 2L) logged six starts at FS and Sr Cameron Chadwick (5-9, 190, 1L) and Sr Derek Ward (5-11, 170, 3L) were starters at the corners, where they registered four and eight starts, respectively Senior Norris Crawford (5-9, 185, 2L) is coming off a fine spring and So Roger Wingate (6-1, 180), are among the cast at "Rook". Crawford listed 43 tackles in 10 games last year after earning his first letter as a special teamer in 1994. He added four tackles for loss and two fumbles caused.

Kelly, who had two INT in 1995 to go along with 46 tackles and one sack, is joined by Jr Kevin Williams (5-10, 175, 2L), a cornerback last year who led the Scarlet Knights in INT with three, including a clutch TD return against Temple. He also made seven tackles, playing in all 11 games after earning his first letter in 1994 on special teams only.

"Knight", the right outside linebacker spot, is built around a group of young players. So Gil Ross (6-0, 180, 1L), the first true freshman to start last year (vs. Navy), and So Taman Bryant (6-1, 205) are the possibilities. Ross battled through some injuries to play in 10 games and make 17 tackles.

At left corner, Chadwick is the most experienced with four starts. However, injuries (shoulder and foot) limited his effectiveness in the latter stages of the season. He played in 10 games and made 27 tackles and one fumble recovery. His competition is Jr Michael Sandy (5-8, 180, 1L), who improved measurably as the season progressed and registered six starts at corner .

Veteran Ward, who collected 28 tackles, has the inside track at right corner at right corner back. four passes broken up and one fumble caused, has been a contributor in the backfield since his true freshman year. He also had one INT in nine games. Another player in the mix in the secondary is So Peter Clarke (5-9, 190), Clarke played as a true freshman in nickel situations and started two games. He nabbed one INT as well as 22 tackles in seven games.

SPECIAL TEAMS
(2 starters returning)

Incumbent punter Jr Jared Slovan (6-4, 200, 2L) kicked 60 times for a 36.5 average. He will work against walk-on Fr Mike Buchanan (5-11, 180). In the place-kicking department, Jr Nick Mike-Mayer (6-1, 200, 1L) won the battle last year but will engage in heavy competition with Jr Joe Donato (5-11, 175) and So Lee McDonald (6-0, 195). Mike-Mayer was 31 of 34 in PATs and 8-15 in field goals, including a career-long 47-yarder against Penn State.

Long snapper - RFr Jim Mazza (6-4, 220), Jr Jack McKiernan (6-2, 275), Sr T.J. Spizzo (6-4, 290)

Punt returns - Sr Chad Bosch (5-9, 160), Sr Cameron Chadwick (5-9, 190), So Peter Clarke (5-9, 175)

Kickoff returns- Sr Chad Bosch (5-9, 160), Sr Cameron Chadwick (5-9, 190), Jr Kevin Williams (5-10, 175)

The Scarlet Knights

Senior defensive end Rusty Swartz was on pace to be one of the '96 team's defensive leaders when he suffered a serious knee injury in the spring game which required reconstructive surgery. There is a chance this outstanding player's career may have ended that day. His courage and hard work during the rehabilitation process have served as a true inspiration to all of his teammates.

Michael Belh

Defensive Tackle
Sophomore
6-2 • 240
High School: Paulsboro (NJ)
Head Coach: Glenn Howard
Hometown: Paulsboro, NJ

One of just five true freshman to play in 1995…enters fall camp with solid hold on backup spot behind senior Rashod Swinger at LT...coaches like his intensity...has good balance from wrestling background...registered three tackles, including a nine-yard sack in the '96 spring game.

1995 -- Played in a total of eight games as one of five true freshmen to see scrimmage action...consistently on the depth chart in last part of the season...registered five total tackles (four solo), playing at end...best game was three solo stops at Miami...also saw action on special teams.

Scholastic/Personal: An All-South Jersey defensive lineman in 1993 and 1994...last name is pronounced pronounced "BELL"...second-team AP All-State and Star-Ledger defensive lineman as a senior ...Blue-Chip Illustrated Magazine All-American, which rated him 15th-best linebacker in the East...12th-best prospect in New Jersey by SuperPrep Magazine...broke a hand in the third game of the season, yet missed only one start...runs a 4.9 40...Philadelphia Inquirer first-team choice in 1993 and 1994...three-time All-Colonial Conference, three-time All-State Group I and three-time All-County selection...two-time district heavyweight wrestling champion...12 sacks as a junior, 13 as a senior...high school coach Glenn Howard calls him "a controlled fanatic on the field. His motor is always running."…born 11/7/76.

Marvin Bennett

Defensive Back
Junior
5-8 • 175
High School: Clifford J. Scott
Head Coach: William Norwood
Hometown: East Orange, NJ

1995 - A walk-on who competed in the secondary and at wide receiver in practice…will provide depth in the defensive backfield…has excellent speed…strength has improved measurably.

Personal/Scholastic: His team went 9-0, winning the Northern Hills Conference and Essex County Championship in his senior season…led team in sacks and fumble recoveries and was third on the team in tackles…was team captain as a senior…was the varsity special team captain as a sophomore ...also participated in track and field…born 3/6/76.

Shin Black

Quarterback/Defensive Back
Freshman
High School: Etiwanda (CA)
Head Coach: Larry Tisdale
Hometown: Rialto, CA

Scholastic/Personal: Threw for 1,001 yards, rushed for 253 yards and seven TDs in his senior year in tradition-rich program…completed 17-of-29 passes for 329 yards and four TDs in a sectional playoff game…on defense, he recorded 27 tackles in four games with one interception, which he returned for a touchdown…two-year All-League…three-year varsity starter…also lettered three years in baseball…born 7/9/78.

Chad Bosch

Halfback
Senior
5'9 • 175
High School: Connetquot (NY)
Head Coach: Nick Masi
Jr.College: Nassau Community (NY)
Head Coach: George Powers
Hometown: Connetquot, NY

Reports to the '96 fall practice period as the No.1 halfback after a hustling and productive spring session that saw him win most improved offensive player honors...scored the only TD for the varsity in the '96 spring game, when he gained 34 yards on nine carries...also had longest reception of the day (33 yards)...has fire and intensity that belie his physical size...versatility will make him useful in rushing, receiving and as a kickoff and punt returner.

1995 -- In a backfield that featured Terrell Willis and Bruce Presley, Bosch racked up 356 yards on 71 carries for a team-high 5.0 yards/attempt average...led RU in rushing at WVU with 83 yards on 12 carries...his 51-yard catch and 24 yards in kickoff returns gave him a team-best 158 all-purpose yards at WVU...with nine carries for 54 yards against Virginia Tech, Bosch became the first Knight back other than Willis or Presley to lead the team in rushing since Craig Mitter gained 102 yards against Temple in the final game of the 1992 season...for the season, caught four passes for 88 yards and returned 12 kickoffs for 221 yards...scored on a two-yarder vs. Tech and a six-yarder at Tulane.

Scholatic/Personal: First-team Junior College All-American...shifty, durable runner who has a knack for making people miss...All-Long Island choice out of Connetquot High School...runner-up for Hansen Award, which goes to top Suffolk County Player ...excellent receiver out of the backfield...ran back two punts of more than 80 yards for touchdowns ...possesses tremendous cutback ability and has outstanding vision on the field ..."We've been legendary for tailbacks here - Craig Mitter (former Scarlet Knight) among them - and he's probably the most productive back we've had here," said Nassau coach George Powers. "He's a Dave Meggett type of player"...Nassau was 20-2 in his two seasons ...born 3/9/74.

Aaron Brady 11

Inside Linebacker
Sophomore
High School: Southwestern (PA)
Head Coach: Don Seidenstricker
Hometown: Hanover PA

Continued his steady progress in spring practice nd has jumped to the No. 2 slot at RILB ("backer") or the '96 campaign...plays with great intensity ..could be a valuable contributor on special teams gain this year.

995 -- Because of his athletic ability and injuries in he secondary, was used as a nickel back and played n nine games, starting four...totaled 26 tackles (22 olo) with a career best game of eight (six solo) gainst Pitt...one of five true frosh to play in '95 .ferociouss hitter, who relished in his play with he special teams...caused one umble and recovered one.

Scholastic/Personal: First-team AP All-State as a return specialist...three-time first-team All-York Area Interscholastic Association as a defensive back...two-time all-league on offense...league player of the year ...Big 33 choice.....starting three man on basketball team...school record 17 interceptions in three years ...as quarterback in Wing-T attack, threw for 940 yards as a junior, 989 as a senior...varsity starter on baseball team as shortstop/pitcher...scored better than 1,100 on SATs...member of National Honor Society…runs the 40 yard dash in 4.6…born 2/11/76.

Taman Bryant 29

Outside Linebacker
Sophomore
6-1 • 205
High School: Buena (NJ)
Head Coach: Chuck Donahue
Hometown: Newtonville, NJ

1995 -- Worked on the defensive scout team.

Scholastic/Personal: All-State Group 2 selection ...pronounced Ta-MAHN...also standout quarterback...threw for 719 yards and ran for 420 despite being hobbled much of the season with a nagging ankle injury...versatile player, who can play a number of positions...Blue-Chip Illustrated Magazine All-American, which rated him No. 5 defensive back prospect in the East...rated No. 10-best player in New Jersey by SuperPrep Magazine ...played wide receiver until his junior year...first-team all-county choice as a junior and senior...peer counselor at Buena...member of choir and plays drums in concert band...same high school as Bob Sneathen, a second-team All-Big EAST defensive end in 1994...starting center on basketball team ...runs 110-meter high hurdles in under 15 seconds ...runs 200 in under 23 seconds…born born 3/17/77.

Mike Buchanan 26

Kicker
Freshman
5-11 • 175
High School: Somerville (NJ)
Head Coach: Kevin Carty
Hometown: Somerville, NJ

Walked on to the team this past spring

Scholastic/Personal: A walk-on who will provide quality depth at both the placekicking and punting duties…a local product who has excellent potential…possesses strong, accurate leg…was an all-county and all-conference performer in both his junior and senior seasons…for his career, he was successful on 20 of 23 field goal attempts and 48 of 50 on extra points…his longest field goal was 45 yards…he averaged 40 yards per punt for his high school career…team won Central Jersey Group 2 State Championship…also played baseball and wrestled in high school…born 8/18/77.

Darrell Buffington 18

Quarterback
Senior
6-0 • 200
High School: Norwich Free Academy (CT)
Head Coach: Brian Mignault
Hometown: Norwich, CT

After making supreme "team" move to defense in '95, is back as a quarterback for '96...should make a battle of it for time as a backup signal-caller ...completed one of two passes for 18 yards in '96 spring game.

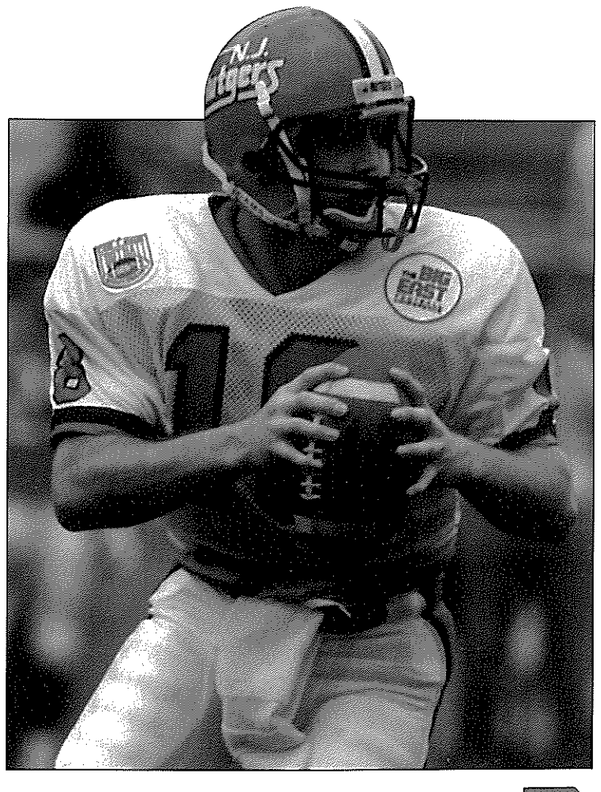

1995 -- Showed extreme loyalty by moving from QB to DB in times of need caused by the rash of injuries in the defensive backfield...proved his worth by efficiently filling in at a nickelback spot, recording a total of five tackles (four solo) in four games on the other side of the ball.

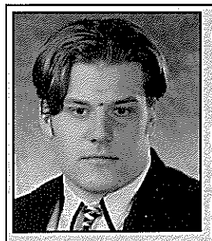

1994 - Served as a scout team quarterback.

1993 - Saw first career action vs. Temple.

1992 - Redshirted…tossed 35-yard touchdown pass to Mario Henry in spring game, which was the longest completion of the game.

Scholastic/Personal: Threw for 1,650 yards and 14 touchdowns, completing 54% of his passes in his senior year…averaged 165 yards passing per game and 19.5 yards per completion…threw for more than one touchdown in six games, rushed for six scores and threw just three interceptions…earned three letters as a baseball pitcher and outfielder …batted .392 his senior year…once passed for over 300 yards and three touchdown passes in one half …has 15-year old twin brothers named Ryan and Bryan…sociology major…born 10/11/73.

Chris Cebula 93

Defensive End
Senior
6-3 • 220
High School: Manville (NJ)
Head Coach: Don Somma
Hometown: Manville, NJ

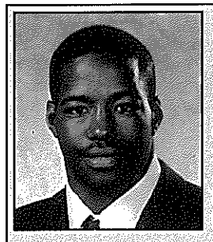

Significant improvement and his speed make him the top candidate for the starting spot at RE...made the adjustment to playing "down" during the spring (despite minor injury problems) after playing as a standup OLB last year.

1995 -- First season of playing time yielded three starts and scrimmage time in all 11 games...logged 14 total tackles (five solo)...had four assisted stops at Duke...playing time diminished due to the more intense use of extra DBs as the season progressed.

1994 - Did not see any game action but made excellent strides in every facet of the game…runs well …registered four tackles in the spring game.

1993 - Redshirted.

TERRY SHEA...

Terry Shea, a former head coach at San Jose State and associate head coach at Stanford, became the 24th head football coach at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, on December 20, 1995.

Shea, 50 (born June 12, 1946), led the San Jose Spartans to a 15-6-2 record from 1990-91, and then joined Bill Walsh as Stanford's associate head coach and offensive coordinator from 1992-94. He was Walsh's first appointment at Stanford. Shea spent the 1995 season as quarterbacks coach for the British Columbia Lions of the Canadian Football League.

In addition to his duties as head coach at Rutgers, Shea will also be the Scarlet Knights' offensive coordinator and quarterback coach. In his first tour of duty as a head coach, at San Jose State, he finished with a 9-2-1 mark in his initial season. That season included a Big West Conference Championship, a California Raisin Bowl victory, and national recognition in two wire service polls. His 1990 squad was ranked 20th by UPI and 26th by AP. He was named the Big West Coach of the Year by the conference coaches and was the Pro Football Weekly National Coach of the Year.

The 1990 team scored 387 points in the regular season - - third-highest in San Jose State school history. In 1991, San Jose State was 6-4-1 and earned a Big West co-championship.

Shea had spent an earlier stint at San Jose State during the 1984 through '86 seasons as offensive coordinator. In those three years, the Spartans won the Pacific Coast Athletic Association title and the 1986 California Bowl. San Jose State ranked first in the country in total offense and passing offense in 1986 and 11th in passing offense in 1984. Shea was the offensive coordinator at California under Bruce Snyder from 1987 through 1989.

A 1968 graduate of Oregon, where he majored in sociology, Shea also earned his master's degree in counseling psychology from his alma mater in 1970. As a collegiate player, he was a quarterback on the 1965 through '67 Oregon varsity teams.

He began his coaching career as a two-year graduate assistant at Oregon. From the 1970 through '75 seasons, he was an assistant coach at Mt. Hood Community College in Gresham, OR. Shea then moved on to the major college ranks. From 1976-83, he coached the defensive secondary, special teams, quarterbacks and receivers at Utah State. In his final two years at Utah State ('82,'83), he was the offensive coordinator.

At the collegiate level, he has worked with nationally-ranked quarterbacks Craig Bradshaw, Eric Hipple, and Bob Gagliano at Utah State; Bob Frasco, Mike Perez ('86 national total offense leader), and Ralph Martini at San Jose State, Troy Taylor at California. Most recently, Shea tutored Stanford and Pac-10 record-setting QB Steve Stenstrom, who is currently a member of the Chicago Bears.

A native of San Mateo, CA , Shea is the author of "The Quarterback", published in 1979. He also introduced a videotape instruction piece, "The Making of a Quarterback" in 1987.

Terry and his wife Susan are the parents of three children - - Jennifer (19), Garrett (18) and Daniel (14).

...RUTGERS HEAD COACH

What They're Saying About Terry Shea

"Terry is the very best. He's sharp and engaging and has one of the best football minds in the country. To be very honest, I would not have come back to college coaching if it wasn't for him...Besides recruiting, his biggest strength is updated, contemporary offense, which is the West Coast offense. He's just a very creative guy who works hard and produces. "

~ Bill Walsh, former San Francisco 49er and Stanford head coach

"Terry is a great friend and a fellow Oregon Duck. He's one of the brightest coaches in college football. He has an outstanding football background and has worked with some fine coaches in the past. I know he'll do a great job at Rutgers."

~ John Robinson, USC head coach

"I am a San Jose State alum. I know what an outstanding job he did there. Had I been able to agree on a contract and return to the Philadelphia Eagles, I would have tried to get him on my staff."

~ Dick Vermeil, TV analyst and former UCLA and NFL head coach

"He gave me some lessons in football after he took that San Jose job that were very difficult for me to accept. He beat us worse at San Jose than any San Jose team ever had beaten us. Talk about total preparation. They dominated us...I've heard him lecture and he has a great understanding of offensive football...what he has learned from Bill Walsh is very important, but he was a great coach before he ever went to Bill Walsh."

~ Jim Sweeney, Fresno State head coach

Terry Shea is carried off the field following San Jose State's 1990 California Raisin Bowl victory.

"Terry Shea has a superior mind for the game of football. His quarterback book is on my shelf and I often refer to it."

"He wanted to come up for a year because his lifelong dream is to coach on the college level..he'll do a super job...you're getting a good football coach."

~ Dave Ritchie, British Columbia Lion head coach

Q & A WITH TERRY SHEA

What is your greatest strength as a coach?
"I know what it takes to win. I have been in this chair for two years in my coaching career. In both seasons, I enjoyed the success of championship football. I know what it takes to lead a football team. A lot of people have said I'm a very good recruiter, but I'm an even better evaluator of talent. I've been with some good teams, and teams that did not always have the pick of the litter."

Are there parallels with Rutgers with any other school that you 've worked?
"The parallels between Rutgers and Cal were startling. The program, the direction, the academic stature, the cynicism. I saw it all there. If anything bad could happen to you at Cal, they used to say, it would. But we helped turn things around there and we're going to get it done here."

"Coach Shea is a tremendous motivator. He never lets us start or end practice on a bad note. He keeps everyone up. He takes people aside and offers instruction, and always does this in a positive way. He really cares about everyone. He wants to make this a positive season for all of us, especially the seniors."

- Rusty Swartz, Senior DE

What is your philosophy as a head football coach?
My players have to understand that they are accountable, they have to be responsible, and they have to be able to shed their individuality for a sense of loyalty to where we want this program to go."

What can a Rutgers fan expect when he buys his ticket and takes his seat at Rutgers Stadium?
"I want that fan to know that this football team is going to take the field and be well-coached and if that person can walk out of this stadium saying 'that is a well-coached football team,' then I feel like my charge as a head football coach has been met. And I guarantee you we will be well-coached. We will have a balanced kicking game and we will do things the right way."

Describe the "West Coast Offense".
"I came to Rutgers with the fullest intention of putting in the offensive scheme that I knew very well. My particular background dates back to my pre-Bill Walsh experience. When I was coaching at San Jose State and so forth, we were running what you might call a rhythm passing game, where the quarterback takes five quick steps, throwing the football on time, hitting the seams and letting the receiver run with the ball after the catch. All of that is a part of my background before I even reached my exposure to Bill Walsh at Stanford, when I got a chance to really understand the 49er style of offensive football. The term "West Coast Offense" is, I think, a media tag they threw on Bill Walsh's era of football while he was with the 49ers. We will do a lot of that, but I will also revert back to some of the things I did when I was at the offensive coordinator at San Jose and Cal-Berkeley. That's the kind of the blend of what we're doing here at Rutgers. This offense involves two running backs in a set backfield most of the time. You'll see some three and four wide receiver sets. We need a good tight end performer. It requires a set of wide receivers who not only can catch the ball, but also do some things after the catch. One of the keys to the offense is that we put our wide receivers in splits that most defenses don't see. We'll put the receivers in tight often times, maybe three yards off the tackle. This allows one of the main themes of the offense to take place. A lot of the offense is predicated on crossing patterns, and not deep crossing patterns - intermediate type passes. These routes can be adjusted based on what the defense gives us. We will also have a receiver sitting down at a 14-yard range. What you have is a layering effect with the routes. We will also release one or maybe both backs into pass patterns with no block protection. What that does is introduce "hot" principles into every pass that we throw. Therefore, we have to have some receiver available in case we get a blitz and the quarterback has to deliver the ball quickly. This offense needs production out of its running game. Every successful team I've been around with this style of offense has had a 1,000 yard rusher. The teams that did not have a 1,000 yard back have not been as successful. The splits of the receivers, the motion, the different formations we can run, that's really the starting point for this offense. Everything in this offense is predicated on what the defense gives you. If they give you zone, for example OK, the receivers have to do something about it and the quarterback has to be on the same page. And that takes a lot of repetitions. The different splits, four, six, eight or 12 yards, that our receivers will take, will put a great burden on opposing defensive backs. And this passing game operates so quickly, in a matter of seconds, that defensive backs often are forced into mistakes."

Nineteen seniors from last year have graduated and 12 of them signed NFL contracts. With such a young team, what are the prospects for the '96 season?
"A lot of it comes down to finding the leadership. We won in my first year at San Jose State with a program that had been down. But we got leadership out of seniors and we put together the greatest single season in school history. I would be disloyal to our seniors if I were not to give them hope that it is possible to reach a bowl game this season."

Bill Walsh at the Rutgers High School Coaches Clinic

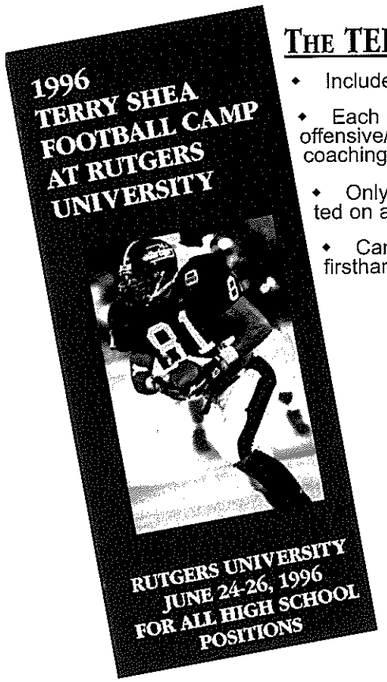

Bill Walsh was the featured speaker at the Rutgers Football Clinic, which was held in May on the Rutgers campus. He offered detailed insight into the "West Coast Offense" to more than 300 New Jersey high school coaches. He also added this message to the New Jersey coaches, the men who annually teach and nurture some of the best schoolboy talent in the entire nation.

"Wouldn't it be something if New Jersey and the surrounding area made Rutgers another Penn State? Do you know how long that would take? Two or three years. Your athletes could be here just like Nebraska's athletes go to Nebraska, just like USC's athletes come from southern California.

You produce as many fine football players here both in quality and numbers as any place in the country. You have a great university with fantastic facilities, excellent coaching...you guys should have pride in your university. They've got everything going for them."

FOOTBALL CAMPS AND INSTRUCTION

THE TERRY SHEA FOOTBALL CAMP

- Includes three days of intense non-contact skill work.
- Each player is schooled in specific skills related to his offensive/defensive position by members of the Rutgers coaching staff.
- Only a limited number of high school athletes are admitted on a first-to-register basis.
- Campers are able to enjoy "The Rutgers Experience" firsthand.

THE SCARLET KNIGHT SHOOTOUT
PASSING CAMP

Under the direction of new head football coach Terry Shea, the Rutgers Football Program was proud to hold it's first-ever "Scarlet Knight Shootout" in June. Rutgers will annually extend invitations to all teams in New Jersey and neighboring states. Each team is scheduled to play at least six games, and the participants range in age from 14 to 18. Seven offensive positions (including a center) and seven defensive positions (linebackers and secondary) will compete on each team.

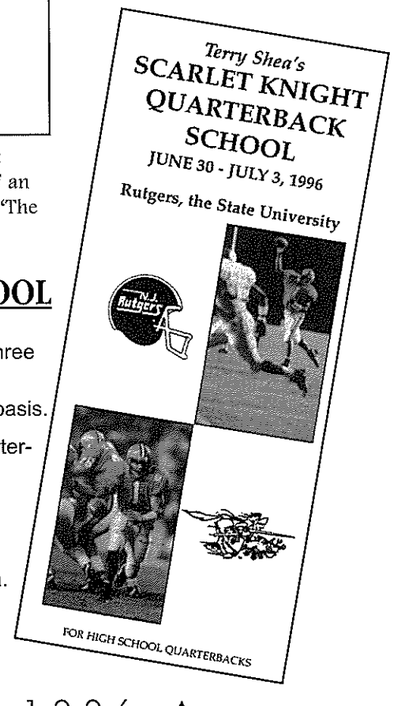

A one-day instructional camp featuring 100 of the best high school players in New Jersey and neighboring states.

HE WROTE THE BOOK: Terry Shea is the author of an instructional book entitled "The Quarterback".

TERRY SHEA'S SCARLET KNIGHT QUARTERBACK SCHOOL

- TERRY SHEA'S Scarlet Knight Quarterback School includes four days and three nights of intense non-contact skill work.
- Highly selective, with only 32-40 quarterbacks admitted on a first-to-register basis.
- Athletes are schooled in every aspect concerning the art and science of quarterbacking, including biomechanics and leadership development.
- The school's mission: to prepare each quarterback for the upcoming season and his overall quarterback development.
- Provides a positive learning environment, utilizing the principles of learning, employing fundamental skill and providing individualized attention and instruction.
- Each quarterback is provided with an appropriate summer workout schedule and an evaluation that is also sent to the high school coach.

Mario Verduzco, who was most recently the head football coach, offensive coordinator, and quarterback-receiver coach at De Anza Community College in Cupertino, CA from 1994-95, previously served as the assistant head coach with the same coaching duties at De Anza from 1991 to 1994. Verduzco began his coaching career as the secondary coach at Soquel High School in 1978 before assuming the duties of defensive coordinator in 1979 and the offensive coordinator/quarterback-receiver coach from 1982 through 1986. He was also the offensive coordinator and quarterback-receiver coach at Gavailan Community College from 1987-88. In his new role, Verduzco will be the chief personnel evaluator and will coordinate the recruiting efforts for the Scarlet Knights.

"Mario is a special individual. He is someone whose evaluation instincts and ability to judge talent will be vital to our program. He is the perfect person to fill this role. I respect and trust his opinions."
- Head Coach Terry Shea

Verduzco has had a passion for coaching quarterbacks and has been doing so since 1987 - his first quarterback at De Anza CC smashed all of the school's passing records, and his 1995 freshman quarterback tied a California Community College single-game completion record with 41 completions. The cousin of former Illinois and British Columbia record-setting quarterback Jason Verduzco, and uncle of former Yale quarterback Bobby Verduzco, he graduated from San Jose State with a degree in Physical Education and a minor in Biological Sciences in 1988. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Epsilon Physical Education honor society, and earned his California Teaching credential while completing his Master's degree in Biomechanics and Exercise Physiology. His book "The Biomechanics of the Quarterback Position: An Integrative Approach" is an in-depth study of the requisite physical and mental skills a quarterback must possess to function in a pass-oriented offensive structure, and also details training methodology.

Verduzco was born and raised in the San Francisco Bay area and has close ties to the San Joaquin Valley in California as well as the California Central Coast. He and his wife, Cathy, have a one-year old son, Charles.

Rod Sharpless, who served as the co-coordinator for the nationally-ranked defense of BIG EAST Champion Virginia Tech in 1995, has the task of shaping the Scarlet Knight defense.

"Rod Sharpless not only brings a history of developing an attacking and aggressive style of defense, but he is the kind of coach who fits our program of molding young men to perform at their highest potential on and off the field," head coach Terry Shea said. "We are convinced that Rod's experience in recruiting and developing players from New Jersey will benefit our Rutgers football program greatly."

"He always tells us that we can't just be BIG EAST players, but that we have to perform at a BIG EAST level. His intensity rubs off on the players and his enthusiasm is contagious."
-- Art Dreher, ILB

In his three seasons at Virginia Tech (1993-95), the Hokies participated in three bowls and were the 1996 Sugar Bowl champions, thanks to a stifling 28-10 win over Texas. They won the 1993 Independence Bowl when he was the defensive line coach, and lost to Tennessee in the 1994 Gator Bowl when he served as outside linebackers coach. The 1995 Tech defensive unit was ranked first nationally against the rush, fifth in scoring and 10th in total defense with Sharpless working with the outside linebackers and rovers.

Rod Sharpless is one of 8 African-American defensive coordinators presently coaching in Division I-A and has participated in 11 bowl games as either a player or a coach.

Sharpless, 46 (born 11/6/49), earned a health and physical education degree from Maryland in 1975, was a three-year starter at both inside and outside linebacker for the Terrapins. The Terps were the 1974 Atlantic Coast Conference champions and he played in the 1974 Liberty Bowl and the 1973 Peach Bowl. He holds a Master's degree in education from Bowie (MD) State in 1981.

Jim Benedict, who earned first-team Associated Press All-East honors as a wide receiver at Rutgers and has over 20 years of high school experience in New Jersey, will serve as wide receivers coach.

Benedict, 48 (born August 24, 1947), was a two-year letterwinner under Scarlet coach John Bateman in 1968 and 1969 when the Knights were 8-2 and 6-3, respectively. A native of New Jersey, who attended Governor Livingston HS in Berkeley Heights, NJ, he led Rutgers in receiving in 1969 with a school-record 48 receptions (in just nine games) for 650 yards and three TDs. The receptions record stood for 12 years. In 1968, he grabbed 19 passes for 315 yards and four TDs. Benedict, who sat out the 1967 season after transferring from VMI with QB Rich Policastro, had two-year career totals of 67 catches for 965 yards and seven TDs.

"He is very knowledgeable about the position. Having played wide receiver, he has a great way of teaching the position, whether it's in running pass routes or blocking. One of the things I really like about him is that he'll give you his ideas but he'll also take the players' input. I think that's important."
--Jason Smith, WR

Most recently, Benedict was the head coach at Westfield HS for the 1994 and 1995 seasons. He was the head coach at West Essex HS in 1986, followed by a seven-year run of success as the head coach at Summit HS. Summit won two state titles -- 1988 and 1993 -- under Benedict's direction and compiled a record of 49-22. The team reached the state finals three times and advanced to the playoffs five times in Benedict's tenure. During that time, he won Watchung Conference and Union County Coach of the Year honors in 1988. He also won Suburban News Coach of the Year honors in 1989, 1992, and 1993.

"He set some records here as a player so he knows what he's talking about. He's very precise in how he wants us to do things."
- Bill Powell, WR

"Jim Benedict's history of success in working with the high school players of New Jersey is a perfect fit for our program," Shea said. "Jim's experience as a high school head coach will benefit the total development of the players in the Rutgers football program."

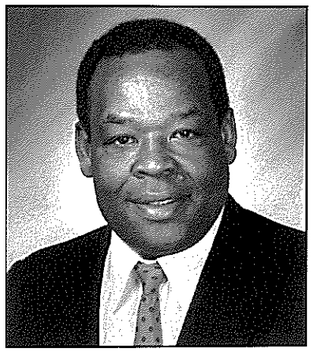

He brings collegiate coaching experience as well, having served as an assistant at Columbia from 1982-85, working with the receivers, secondary and freshman teams. His first collegiate job was a graduate assistant, coaching the wide receivers, at Rutgers during the 1974 season.

Benedict, who has coached in the North-South All-Star game in 1979 and 1989 (secondary) and 1994 (defensive coordinator), worked under New Jersey veteran head coach, the late Lou Rettino, at Union HS from 1977-81 when the school won two state championships.

Benedict earned an undergraduate degree in physical education from Rutgers in 1971. He, and his wife, Patricia, are the parents of two children, Brian, 16, and Sean, 10. They reside in Morris Township.

Wally Gaskins has been coaching the running back position for more than 20 years.

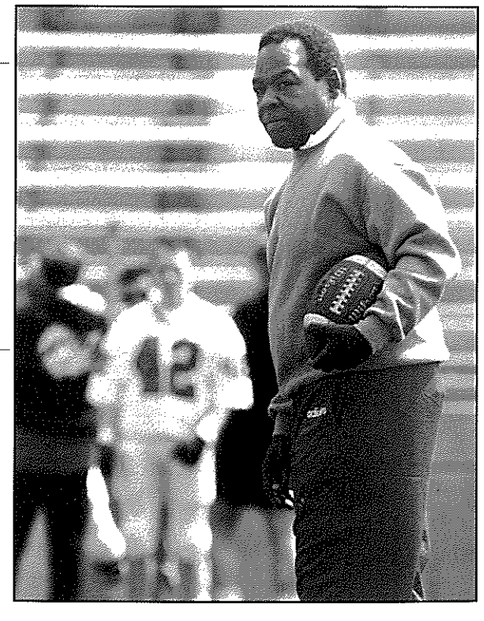

Gaskins, who coached the running backs at San Jose State from 1979-95, was also the director of football operations there. During his tenure at San Jose State, Gaskins coached on four teams that went to bowl games.

"He's very knowledgable, he really knows the position well. He's a perfectionist and he wants his players to do the right things. He's very well- respected and very well-liked."
-- Chad Bosch, RB

A 1973 graduate of Montana with a B.A. in education, Gaskins also owns a Master's in teaching from Whitworth College in Spokane, WA in 1978. A Vietnam veteran, he also coached defensive line at California State-Northridge in 1978 and was the defensive coordinator at Whitworth in 1977.

He spent the first five years of his coaching career (1972-76) working at Montana. In 1972, he was a graduate assistant and in 1973 he became the running backs coach. In addition to that duty, Gaskins also served as the defensive line and special teams coach for three seasons. In 1976, he held the titles of runnning backs, defensive line, and special teams coach with special duties in recruiting and in the off-season and weight program.

"Coach Gaskins is the most knowledgable coach I've ever been around. He demands excellence from all his players. At the end of the day, he pats you on the back and never lets anyone sell themselves short."
-- Rob Seeger, RB

"Wally has a great wealth of experience. He brings with him a high degree of knowledge and enthusiam...he is exactly what I'm looking for in a running back coach and he did just a fantastic job for many, many years at San Jose."
- Terry Shea

A native of Spokane, WA, Gaskins, 51(born 3/27/45) was a junior college All-America halfback at Columbia (WA) Basin College and also played on the nationally-ranked Montana teams of 1969 and 1970. He was also a player-coach with the U.S. Signal Corps from 1965-68.

Gaskins has a son, Erik, who is a senior at Hayward State University.

A veteran coach and recruiter in the East, Mike Gibson, 40 (born 1-22-56), was most recently offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Colgate (1993-95). He has BIG EAST experience, serving as offensive line coach at Temple (1992) as well as special teams and tight ends coach (1989-92). Prior to his appointment at Temple, he served as recruiting coordinator and director of football operations at Rice (1988-89).

"He is very personable, he cares abou the guys. He is also very down to earth and approachable. Technique, footwork and hand positoning are very important to him. We have this saying. After each practice, the tight ends huddle up and we yell "BAM", which stands for "By All Means." --Ron Keller, TE

"I have traced Mike's coaching background at the college level and I have learned that he has an outstanding reputation as a major college recruiter in the East," said Shea. "Add his years of experience in coordinating special teams play on the college level and, I find Mike to be a perfect fit for our coaching staff. Mike's duties will include coaching the tight ends position, which is integral to the success of our offense. He will direct our special teams unit, which will play a major role in our 1996 season."

For six seasons he worked at Boston University (1982-87). From 1986-87, he was the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach and before that coached running backs and served as recruiting coordinator from 1982-85. For three seasons (1979-81) prior to working with the Terriers, he was head freshman coach and recruiting coordinator at Cornell. He began his coaching career at his alma mater, Western Maryland, in 1978 as the assistant offensive line coach and special teams coach.

"He is very detailed in his approach to special teams play. He articulates his ideas in a sensible way and his door is always open if you need to speak with him. He is a very good football coach." - Jared Slovan, Punter

-Thomas Kelly, FS

Mike Gillhamer most recently served as the defensive coordinator University of Nevada in 1995 and the defensive back coach in 1994, He was Shea's defensive backs coach at San Jose State in 1990-91 and coached that position until 1993.

A 1976 graduate of Humboldt (CA) State with a degree in physical education, Gillhamer completed his Master's degree in education at his alma mater in 1981. As a player with the Lumberjacks, he was voted most valuable defensive back in 1975. While at Humboldt State, he also played baseball and participated in track.

"Mike represents a relationship developed in my days at San Jose State," said Shea. "Mike is a fine young coach, is very likeable and is a tremendous recruiter. I am very confident that Mike will do an outstanding job with our defensive backs. He brings a unique approach to this position and I know our safeties and cornerbacks are going to enjoy working under Mike."

"He's a technician. He definitely knows technique and he is very detailed as to what he wants from a technique standpoint. He's also a great motivator."

-Derek Ward, CB

Prior to his work at San Jose State, he was the defensive backs coach at Utah under head coach Jim Fassel from 1985-89. He worked with the DBs at Weber (UT) State in 1984 under current Washington State head coach Mike Price. His college coaching career began with a five-year stay at the College of the Sequoias (Visalia, CA) from 1979-83.

In 1979, he coached the defensive line and from 1980-83 he was the defensive secondary coach. His coaching career started as an assistant at Redwood HS in Visalia, CA in 1978. In 1988, he served as the "guest" assistant coach with the Ottawa Rough Riders in the Canadian Football League.

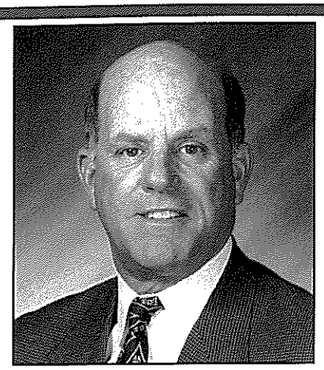

Gillhamer and his wife, Tammy, have two daughters, Meagen (5) and Taylor (2).

"I know our defensive secondary will be well-coached, because every program where Mike has coached, his DB's have played at a championship level."

The intricate offensive system that Terry Shea is implementing at Rutgers requires coaches who have experience with this system. The offensive line in the "West Coast Offense" features agile, explosive offensive linemen who are quick on their feet. In his career, Bill Laveroni has recruited and tutored these type of athletes.

He has coached numerous offensive linemen who have entered the NFL, including Harvey Salem (Detroit Lions), Keith Kartz (Denver Broncos), Doug Risenberg (NY Giants), and Troy Auzenne (Chicago Bears).

"Coach Laveroni is all about hard work, whether it's practice or a walk-through. He's going to take the O-line to the top of the Big East again."

- T.J. Spizzo, G

Laveroni, who worked with the offensive line in Shea's tenure at San Jose State, coached the offensive and defensive line at the professional level for the San Jose Sabercats of the Arena Football League in 1995.

"Bill is an outstanding coach," says Terry Shea. "He is very intense, and is an extremely focused individual. He completely understands what I am looking for in offensive line play. I am excited to have Bill on our staff."

From 1990-94, he worked at San Jose State as the offensive line coach but also had duties with special teams from 1990-92. Laveroni holds an undergraduate degree from California in criminology (1970) and he earned his teaching credential in the Master's program at the University of San Francisco.

A three-year starting center for Cal (1967-69), he began his coaching career at his alma mater, handling the freshman team in 1970. The following year, he joined the San Francisco coaching staff.

"He brings a lot of intensity and energy to the practice field every day. He expects and demands the very best of each of his players and commands a great deal of respect."

- Jack McKiernan, C

From 1972-76, he was an assistant coach at San Francisco's St. Ignatius HS and he was head coach at Piedmont (CA) HS in 1977.

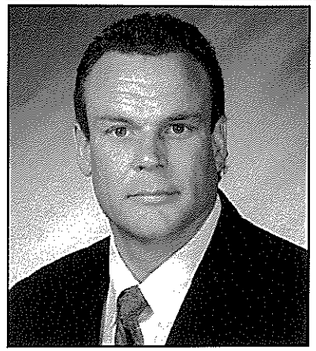

He returned to Cal in 1978 to coach linebackers and tight ends and worked at Utah State from 1979-82 as the linebackers and offensive line coach, where Shea was the offensive coordinator in 1982-83.

From 1983-89, he worked his second stint at California, coaching the offensive line. He overlapped with Shea again for three years (1987-89) when the new RU coach was the offensive coordinator at Berkeley.

Laveroni, 48, (born 7/20/48) is married and his wife's name is Patty.

Steckel comes to Rutgers from Toldeo, which boasted the nation's 12th-ranked defense in 1995.

"Dave brings our team an outstanding winning attitude because of his thorough coaching and enthusiastic motivation of Toledo's defensive front," said Shea. "The Toledo program achieved a ranking of 24th in major college football as well as chalking up an undefeated 11-0-1 record. Dave has a strong reputation for being a fierce motivator and an intense defensive line coach. With these traits, he brings a perfect fit to our defensive staff."

"He's a very, very intense person and is a great motivator. He 's been with winning programs throughout his career and I think he's exactly what we need to lead the defensive line."

--Charles Woolridge, DE

Steckel, 38 (born 10-25-57), was the defensive line coach for the Rockets from 1992-95, a period which includes their historic 41-37 overtime win over Nevada in the Las Vegas Bowl in 1995. During his time at Toledo, he coached an NFL draft pick in Dan Williams, a three-time Mid- American Conference choice now with the Denver Broncos as well as a total of six all-conference picks.

Prior to Toledo, he worked four seasons (1988-91) at Lehigh as linebackers and special teams coach in his last two seasons and defensive line coach in his first two seasons. In 1986 and 1987, he served as assistant head coach and offensive coordinator at Dickinson, where the team rose from last place to conference runner-up in two seasons.

"He really gets after you and he expects the very best from you each time out. He drives you hard, which is great because you know he cares and wants to get the best out of you."

- Shawn Devlin, DT

A native of Fullerton, PA where he attended Whitehall-Coply HS, Steckel graduated from Kutztown in 1982 with a degree in elementary education. He earned a Master's in physical education from Miami (OH) in 1984.

In 1985, he served as a graduate assistant defensive line coach at Minnesota under Lou Holtz. The previous year, he coached at Ball State as a defensive line specialist. His first collegiate coaching job was as a defensive backs graduate assistant at Miami (OH) in 1983.

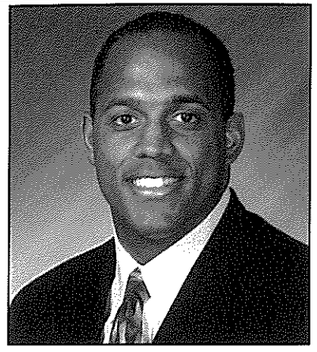

In 1982, he was the defensive coordinator and offensive line coach at Governor Mifflin HS in Schillington, PA. His coaching career began in the spring of 1982, when he served as a student assistant at Kutztown, working primarily with the offensive line.

After a three-year period of service with the Marine Corps (1975-78), he was discharged with the rank of corporal. He taught physical education at Dickinson in 1986-87 and at Ball State from 1984-85.

Thompson, a former New Jersey All-State football selection at the Pennington School for coach William Long, spent the last five years (1991-95) as a coach with Boston College, his alma mater.

"He expects the best from you all the time. He takes a great interest in each of his players, he'll praise you when you've done well and he'll get on you when you've done something wrong. And the players respect that because we know we'll perform at a higher level and we'll be better off in the long run."

--Roger Wingate, OLB

His primary responsibility was coaching the linebackers and his recruiting areas were southern New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Washington D.C. and Virginia. Thompson earned a B.S. in marketing from BC in 1988.

"Billy is an outstanding football coach who fits our needs of having New Jersey roots and having a recruiting history in our state," Shea said. "His ability to work with young people and players makes him very attractive to the Rutgers football program."

Thompson, 30, began his coaching career in 1988 as a graduate assistant at Dartmouth College working for head coach Buddy Teevens (now at Tulane). Coupled with his responsibilites as a varsity coach, Thompson also served as the defensive coordinator of the freshman team. The following year (1989), he was named head football coach and head track coach at the Pennington (NJ) School, where he was a three-sport captain (football, basketball, track).

In 1990, he returned to the college coaching ranks as outside linebackers coach at Northeastern before returning to his alma mater in January of 1991. While at BC, he worked with the linebackers/defensive ends as the Eagles participated in the 1993 Hall of Fame Bowl, the 1995 Carquest Bowl, the 1995 Aloha Bowl and the 1995 Kickoff Classic at the Meadowlands.

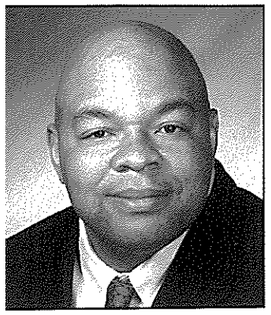

Thompson was a three-year starter at defensive end at Boston College, which included victories in the 1984 Cotton Bowl and the 1986 Hall of Fame Bowl. He also played and started at the first collegiate game of the Meadowlands Kickoff Classic in 1985. Following his senior season, Thompson was invited to appear in the 1987 Blue-Gray game and he eventually signed a free agent contract with the New England Patriots before embarking on his coaching career.

In the summers of 1994 and 1995, he was a coaching intern with the New England Patriots, working with the defensive line and special teams. In 1992, he was a coaching intern with the New York Giants working with the outside linebackers (rookies and free agents) and special teams.

Thompson, a native of Trenton, NJ, is married to the former Kimberly Budd.

"Coach Thompson is very intense and very focused on what he wants. He coaches like he wants his players to play, with great intensity. After each practice, he brings us together to tell us what we've done well and what we need to work on and gives us an overview on what needs to be done."

--Gil Ross , OLB

Named the strength and conditioning coach in August of 1993, Skip Fuller begins his fourth season as the director of that vital portion of the football program.

Fuller (28) was a graduate assistant coach at RU in the 1990 and 91 seasons, working with the defensive and offensive lines and coordinating the offensive scout team. Following Fuller's first two years at Rutgers, he taught physical education at Elizabeth High School and joined his former scholastic coach, Jerry Moore, as an assistant coach. He worked with both lines and supervised the strength and conditioning program for the Minutemen.

Fuller is a 1990 graduate of West Virginia, where he earned three letters as a defensive lineman for the Mountaineers. In 1989, he claimed the Highest Mountaineer Award, given to an unsung offensive and defensive lineman each year.

Skip Fuller demonstrates the power and technique that enables him to bench press more than 500 pounds.

Another New Jersey bred staff member, Fuller was a tight end at Somerville High School and earned all-county, all-area and all-Midstate Conference honors and played in the New Jersey North-South All-Star game at Rutgers Stadium.

A physical education and sports management major at West Virginia, he is working towards a Master's degree in education administration.

REGGIE SIMS

Assistant To The Director - Football Operations

Reggie Sims, who served for two seasons as a graduate assistant in the football office, enters his second season as the Administrative Assistant to the athletic director with major responsibilities in football.

Sims' responsibilities include serving as game and travel liasion, and coordinating clinics and coaches conventions, in addition to assisting in a variety of other day-to-day administrative duties.

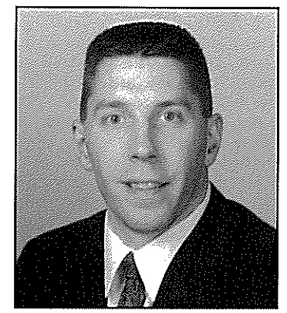

Sims, a 1989 graduate of Ashland (Ohio), assumed his new duties in March, 1995. He is the chief aide in the day-to-day, off-the-field operation and has various responsibilities both in the football program and in other operations.

A resident of Freehold, NJ, Sims previously served as an assistant coach at Freehold Township HS for four years. His most recent position there was defensive coordinator. Prior to that, he was involved in all facets of the Freehold program, serving as defensive line coach, linebacker coach, assistant offensive line coach, wide receivers coach and secondary coach.

Sims (28) was married to Delilah Adams in May, 1996.

MIKE JOHANSEN

Speed Enhancement

Terry Shea has placed a major emphasis on developing speed. Heading that charge is Mike Johansen, who is entering his fourth year on the Rutgers strength and conditioning Staff.

A 1992 graduate of Montclair State College, Johansen earned a degree in physical education, with an emphasis on adult fitness.

He has experience in the cardiac rehabilitative area of Mountainside Hospital and the Montclair State Adaptive Physical Education Program.

BILL BARRALLE

Graduate Assistant

Bill Barrale is in his second season as a graduate assistant on the offensive side of the ball at Rutgers. Barrale, a native of Landisville, NJ, is a 1994 graduate of Northeastern University where he earned a degree in political science.

Prior to his arrival at Rutgers, he served as varsity defensive backs coach and as head jayvee coach at Hamilton (NY) College. While at Hamilton, he also served as an assistant baseball coach in the spring.

Barrale's coaching background also includes work with the Northeastern University Husky baseball camps and clinics.

SPORTS MEDICINE

Dedicated concern is the hallmark of the Sports Medicine, the Strength and Conditioning, and the Athletic Training programs at The State University. Headed by a full-time head physician, the staff has six full-time trainers and more than two dozen student trainers. The staff is also assisted by orthopedic consultants, dentists and drug education counselors, in addition to many other branches of medical consultants.

Treatment and rehabilitation are done in one of four separate training rooms. The latest modalities for heat, cold, electrical stimulation and progressive resistance are available. Computerized testing and many forms of aerobic conditioning apparatuses are also available so that the Sports Medicine Staff can tailor a specific program of rehabilitation for each individual.

With tireless work and cooperation between coaches, strength staff, consultants and sports medicine staff, the Rutgers athletes receive professional attention around the clock. These health care providers work all year round to enable the athletes to return to their full potential with minimal chance of re-injury.

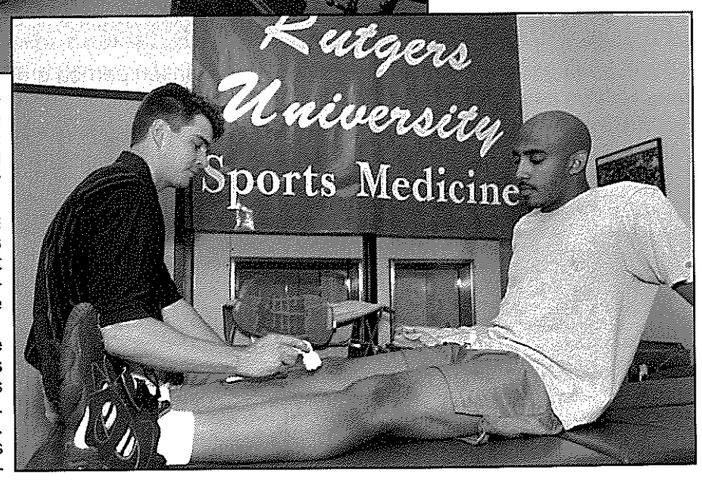

The Rutgers Sports Medicine staff provides full service health and medical care for all the athletes' needs from their first physical participation to their follow-up on bills for post-operative insurance questions.

Don Kessler is entering his ninth season as Coordinator of Athletic Training Services. He came to Rutgers after having worked at Princeton University, the U.S. Naval Academy and Delran High School. Originally a member of the Rutgers Class of '69, Kessler received a BS degree from the University of the Ozarks and earned his Masters in Education from the University of Arkansas. Kessler is a past president of the New Jersey Trainers Society and is the current president of the Eastern Athletic Trainers Association.

Kessler directs a training staff that includes both full- and part-time assistants whose chief focus is on educating the student-athlete in correct health care practices. All work out of offices located on the dressing room level of the Hale Center.

Rutgers athletics is continuing its relationship with the loyal and hard-working group of orthopedic doctors headed by Dr. Joseph Zawadsky. The following list of doctors also contribute heavily to the surgical and rehabilitative end of the Scarlet Knights who are injured: Dr. Joseph Leddy, Dr. Michael Coyle, Dr. Aldred Tria, Dr. Stephen Cook, Dr. Timothy Hosea, Dr. Mark Butler and Dr. David Hardwood.

A fully-equipped exercise and strength training room covers 4,750 square feet of space and includes treatment and rehabilitative care area with the most modern of equipment. An X-ray room and a state-of-the-art immersion tank are special features of the room.

Kessler is assisted by Eric Nussbaum, a Millersville (PA) University graduate, who also holds a Masters degree from the University of Virginia. He has worked with the Philadelphia Eagles, the U.S. Olympic Festival and the U.S. World Lacrosse Team.

The State University also has its own Rutgers Athletic Substance Abuse Program, which is a far-reaching program aimed at instructing administrators, staff and athletes. The program works closely with the university's Drug and Alcohol Education Program, headed by Dr. Robert Pandina.

The Substance Abuse Education and Testing Program is mandatory for all intercollegiate athletes. With the assistance of Dr. Pandina, the program provides education and counseling in conjunction with drug screening. Experts on drugs, alcohol, medicine and law enforcement are brought in to speak to the athletes. Pandina's lectures are central to the program and his talks are supplemented by discussions with the coaches. A former soccer, lacrosse and baseball player, Pandina is an Associate Professor of Psychology and is the Scientific Director of the Center for Alcohol Studies. He holds degrees from Hartwick College and the University of Vermont.

A main component in the Athletic Training Services area is the strength and conditioning program, headed by James "Skip" Fuller. A former defensive lineman at West Virginia University, Fuller is supported by two assistant strength coaches.

In support of these indispensable programs are the University's First Aid Squad, the University's Health Services and other related staff groups.

DON KESSLER
Coordinator of Athletic Training Servuces

Appointed in 1987, Kessler holds a bachelor's degree from the University of the Ozarks in Arkansas and a master's degree from the University of Arkansas.

A past president of the New Jersey Athletic Trainers Society, he is a member of the state's Athletic Trainers Advisory committee, which is appointed by the Governor.

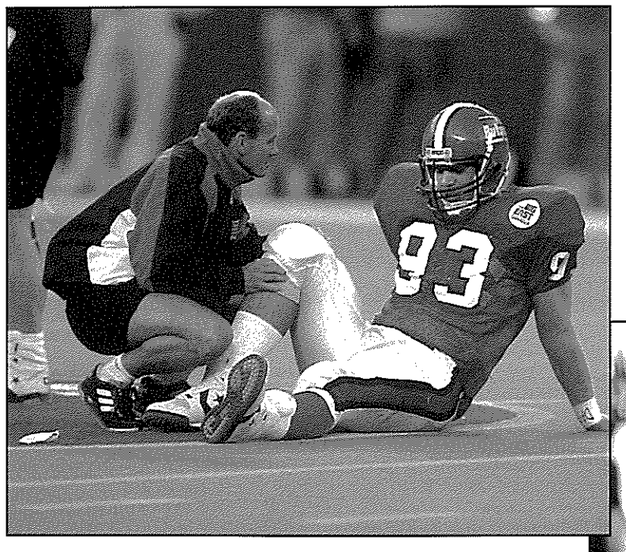

He directs a staff that includes a team dentist and five full and part-time assistants, whose chief focus is on educating the student-athlete in correct health care practices. He is in a six-year term as president of the Eastern Athletic Trainers Association.

ERIC NUSSBAUM
Assistant Athletic Trainer

A graduate of Millersville University with a master's degree from the University of Virginia, Eric Nussbaum assists Don Kessler with the athletic training program. He is also in charge of the training efforts for the men's lacrosse team. Nussbaum's related training experience outside of Rutgers University includes working with the Philadelphia Eagles of the NFL, the U.S. Olympic Festival and the U.S. World Lacrosse Team. He also teaches in the exercise science program. Nussbaum, who is in his eighth year at the State University, was married to Jodi Gleiberman in June, 1995.

"The medical and training staff are always trying to push us one step ahead of where we are. Every staff member brings a different approach to rehab. They change up the stretching and exercises so our recovery period does not become monotonous."

Pat Manning

PAT MANNING & JOHN REARDON
Equipment Managers

John Reardon

The task of equipping the football team belongs to the team of Pat Manning and John Reardon. With nearly 30 years experience between them, the two are responsible for the care, repair and distribution of the equipment for the football squad.

Manning, a 1972 Rutgers graduate with a degree in physical education, has traveled worldwide with the U.S. lacrosse team. He has had stints at Purdue University and Metuchen High School as a certified trainer. Pat and his wife, Carla, reside in Highland Park.

Reardon, a 1983 graduate of Marietta (Ohio) College with a degree in radio and television, worked at radio station WMOA in Marietta. He has been an announcer at the College Baseball World Series and may be found at the public address announcer's microphone for many Scarlet Knights events. Reardon was recently married this past summer to Scarlet Knight ticket manager, Meg Blomquist, in June, 1996.

The new Rutgers Stadium is a model of state-of-the-art video capabilities, comparable to the new Coors Field in Denver and the two new NFL stadiums in Charlotte and Jacksonville. With the addition of video machines in the Hale Center meeting rooms, Rutgers now stands shoulder-to-shoulder with the best in college football. A top-flight video operation is an essential ingredient to a football team's on-field success.

DR. MICHAEL MAHAN
Assistant Athletic Director for Academic Support Services

Heading up the Academic Support Services area is Dr. Michael Mahan. Mahan came to Rutgers in September, 1995 from Auburn University, where he had served as director of student academic and compliance services since 1992.

Mahan, who holds an Ed. D in science, a master's in student personnel administration and an undergraduate degree in biology from Ball State, was also an instructor/professor at Auburn, teaching classes in physical education, health, biology, zoology and anatomy.

His academic and athletic advising resume includes numerous national and regional presentations and publications and he has nearly 20 years of experience in the field of advising.

From 1987-92, he coordinated the Athlete Advising Resource Center at Ball State and served as an academic adviser for athletics from 1985-87. From 1978-85, he was an academic adviser at Ball State for science majors and also with the general student population.

Mahan's teaching career began at Delta HS in Muncie, IN (1973-76) and he was granted graduate faculty rank at Ball State in 1990. At Auburn, he was elected first vice president of Sigma Xi honor society in 1994.

MARK PETERSON
Academic Support Services

A four-year letterwinner in basketball at Rutgers, Peterson returned to his alma mater in 1994 to assist with the academic support system.

He was graduated from the State University in 1989 with a degree in journalism and sociology.

Prior to joining the Scarlet staff, Peterson played with four Continental Basketball Association teams — Omaha Racers, Wichita Falls Texans, Fort Wayne Fury and Fargo-Moorhead Fever. He has also played professionally in Europe, South America, Africa, Asia and Spain.

Fluent in Spanish, Peterson was the team's scholar-athlete in 1987-88 and worked as a tutor. A native of Oak Hill, WV, Peterson was a two-time All-State player in high school.

1995 SEASON REVIEW

The 1995 football season had its share of compelling moments. The highlight, without doubt, was the extraordinary play of senior tight end Marco Battaglia, who became the most honored player in the 126-year history of Rutgers football.

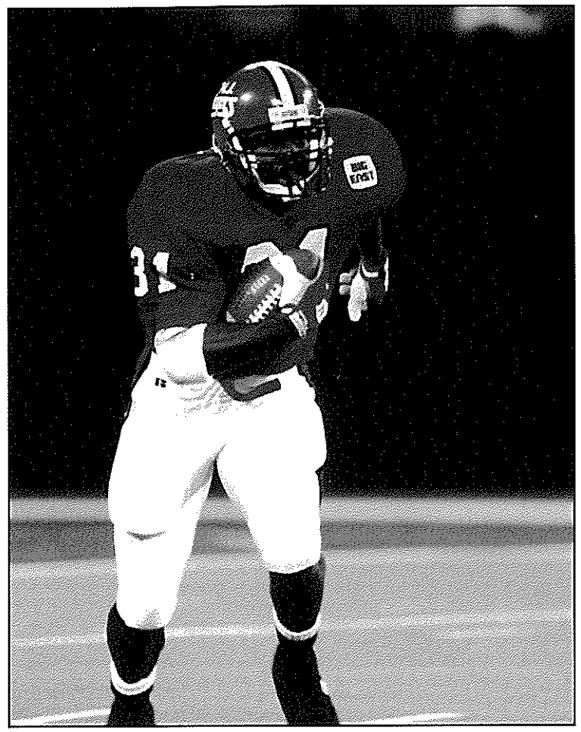

Battaglia was a consensus first-team All-America, having earned first-team honors by the Football Writer's Association, the Walter Camp Foundation, the Associated Press and the American College Football Coaches Association.

The 6-3, 245-pound Queens, NY native led all the nation's tight ends in receptions, touchdown catches and receiving yards. In the process, he wound up setting numerous Rutgers single-season and career receiving yards and also set the BIG EAST single-season reception mark.

Battaglia was also named the BIG EAST Offensive Player of the Year and to the BIG EAST Offensive First Team.

From a statistical standpoint, the 1995 Scarlet Knights were the BIG EAST's top offensive team. Rutgers led the league in total offense (427.4 yards per game) and passing offense (235.3 yards per game) and first downs per game (23.2). The 1995 offense set the school record in for single-season total offense with 4,701 yards.

Individually, junior running back Terrell Willis became Rutgers' all-time leading rusher. He was already the school's all-time leader in all-purpose yardage heading into the season.

Terrell Willis became RU's all-time leader in rushing and all-purpose yardage

* - BIG EAST Conference Games

Senior quarterback Ray Lucas became the Rutgers all-time leader in touchdown passes and finished his career second in yards passing, completions and attempts. His 16 touchdown passes in 1995 tied the school record.

LUCAS LED BIG EAST IN TOTAL OFFENSE

QB Ray Lucas led the BIG EAST in total offense with 223.3 yards per game. His 2,456 total offense yards is the second-best figure since Rutgers started keeping this stat in 1957. QB Scott Erney had 2,675 yards of total offense in 1989.

SHERIDAN CRACKS TOP 10 IN SEASON TACKLES

Junior MLB Brian Sheridan led or tied for the lead in tackles each of the last 10 games of the season. His career-high game was against Navy when he recorded 18 tackles, including 10 solo.

He had a team-leading 132 tackles, which is the 8th-best single-season mark in RU history. He is the first Rutgers player to record 100 tackles in a season since Pat Udovich had 140 in 1989.

A SALUTE TO THE SENIORS

The Rutgers-BC game marked the emotional last game for 19 Scarlet Knights. These 19 players represent the first whole group of RU seniors to have played their entire careers in the BIG EAST Conference. On the offense, 13 players will be lost to graduation while four will be lost from the defense and two from the special teams.

This group has been nationally-recognized. Bruce Presley was a freshman All-American as well as the BIG EAST Rookie of the Year. Marco Battaglia was an honorable mention All-American last season and a consensus pre-season All-American in 1995. Ray Lucas was a candidate for the Johnny Unitas Golden Arm Award and Mark Washington was a second-team All-BIG EAST choice in 1994. They hail from four different states - New Jersey, New York, Maryland and Pennsylvania - and Canada. Together, they have started nearly 225 games.

Junior MLB Brian Sheridan was also a captain; OL Jason Rosenow was a medial redshirt*

RIVERS RETURNS FUMBLE 100 YARDS FOR TD; IN NCAA RECORD BOOK

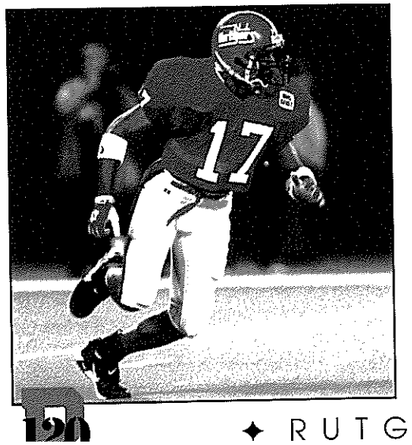

Sophomore DB Paul Rivers found himself in the right place at the right time and made the most of his opportunity vs. Pitt.

Rivers scooped up a third quarter fumble by Pitt's Curtis Anderson in the end zone and worked his way up the sideline. Thanks to some great vision and a equally great blocking, most notably a late block by DB Darrell Buffington, Rivers was able to meander his way for a 100-yard TD.

The potential 14-point swing gave RU a 35-16 lead and was the key play in the game. It is believed to be the longest fumble return in RU history.

Prior to 1992, a forward fumble in college football could not be returned. Since that rule went into effect, Rivers' 100-yarder is the longest.

On a sad note, later in that Pitt game, Rivers suffered serious nerve damage to his shoulder which required surgery and he will miss the 1996 season.

Ray Lucas set the school record for career touchdown passes with 43 and is second in career passing yardage

HARPER HAS NOSE FOR END ZONE; TIED FOR 3RD IN SEASON TD CATCHES

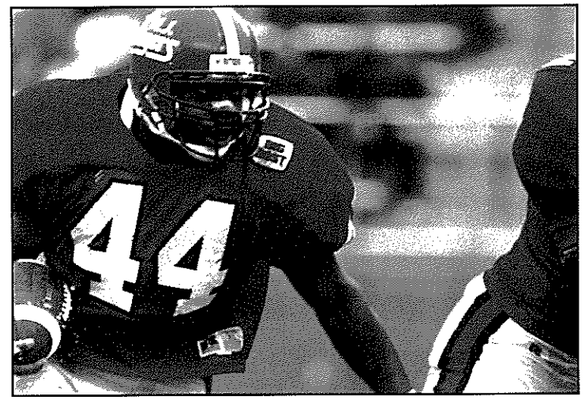

Sophomore WR Steven Harper caught a TD pass in five of the last six games. He had two TD grabs vs. West Virginia, including a career-long 77-yard first quarter catch and run and he had two TD grabs vs. Temple.

Harper's seven TD grabs in 1995 placed him in a tie for 3rd on the single-season list.

PRESLEY ENDS PRODUCTIVE CAREER

Senior running back Bruce Presley finished 2nd all-time in all-purpose yardage with 3,832 yards and 3rd all-time in career rushing with 2,792 yards.

He capped his career in fine style, rushing for 151 yards on 26 carries and two touchdowns in the season finale vs. Boston College.

Bruce Presley is RU's third-all-time leading rusher

Duke/ Navy

Game 1: September 9, 1995
Wallace Wade Stadium
Duke 24, Rutgers 14

Seven costly turnovers, two in the fourth quarter, overshadowed a heroic performance by the Scarlet defense as Duke rallied for a 24-14 win. Despite outgaining the Blue Devils 426-284, with TB Terrell Willis getting 140 yards on 28 carries, Rutgers provided scoring opportunities deep in its own territory and Duke capitalized. Down 14-0 on two Laymarr Marshall runs, Rutgers evened the score at halftime on a 1-yard run by FB Ezra Johnson on his first collegiate carry and a 3-yard toss from QB Ray Lucas to TE Jason Curry. A scoreless third period set the stage for two late Scarlet turnovers -- a fumble and an INT -- that Duke turned into the winning 10 points. The unheralded Scarlet "D" turned in a gem sparked by SS Mark Washington (8 tackles, 1 sack, 1 FC), MLB Brian Sheridan (7 tackles, 1 FR), OLB Rahsaan Giddings (6 tackles, 1 INT) and DTs Rashod Swinger and Jim Guarnera. All-American TE Marco Battaglia became the career leader in catches for his position (108) with 6 grabs for 56 yards. Lucas tied Rich Policastro for 2nd in TD throws with the 29th of his career. Willis has 2,481 career yards and needs 455 yards to surpass all-time leader "JJ" Jennings. Fourteen Scarlet Knights saw their first collegiate action and 51 players entered the game.

Rutgers 27, Navy 17

RB Terrell Willis reached second position on the career rushing charts at RU with 207 yards on 35 rushes and 2 TDs (25 and 72) as the Scarlet Knights opened their home slate with a 27-17 win over Navy. For the second straight week, the Scarlet offense logged over 425 yards with Willis pulling most of the load. After taking a 14-0 lead in the second quarter, Rutgers could not hold off the intricate wing-bone offense of the Middies as the visitors knotted the score at 14-14 and then used a late drive to even the count at halftime at 17-17. The defense, however, shutout the Mids in the second half behind the spirited play of MLB Brian Sheridan, who posted a career-high 18 tackles. DE Rusty Swartz added 10 stops and true freshman SS Gill Ross knotched 8. DE Charles Woolridge added a sack and a FC in the second half . QB Ray Lucas moved into 2nd on the career TD passing list with a nifty 25-yarder to TE Marco Battaglia to break the 17-17 tie. PK Nick Mike-Mayer was perfect on FGA of 21 and 43 yards. Willis, at this point, has accumulated 2,688 career rushing yards and needs 248 to become the all-time leader past "JJ" Jennings (2935). The home season opener drew 33,820, the third largest crowd at the Stadium.

Giants Stadium
Penn State 59, Rutgers 34

In the last of 24 meetings between the schools, records galore were broken as Penn State emerged with a 59-34 victory under the national TV lights of ESPN. The 6th-ranked Nittany Lions overrode the All-American performance of RU TE Marco Battaglia (13 catches, 184 yards, 3 TDs) and substitute QB Robert Higgins (22-38-281 yards, 3 TDs) and continually had an answer for the Scarlet offensive firepower. Penn State WR Bobby Engram opened the scoring with the first of his four TDs on a bizarre fumble recovery that bounced through the hands of Rutgers CB Cameron Chadwick. The All-American candidate dashed 58 yards as Penn State jumped out to a 17-0 lead after a field goal and a 47-yard Wally Richardson to Engram TD toss. RU's Bruce Presley opened the Scarlet scoring with a three-yard dash with under a minute remaining in the opening quarter. Rutgers pulled to within 24-17 at the half Battaliga's 17-yard TD reception from Higgins, who replaced starter Ray Lucas (lacerated index finger on his left hand). After Engram and Battaglia traded TDs to make it a 31-24 Penn State lead, K Nick Mike-Mayer's second FG of the game narrowed the margin toto 38-27 following a Whitman TD. Penn State then broke the game open on the next series as Kim Herring picked off a Higgins pass in the flat intended for Battaglia, and raced 21 yards for a TD, which put the Lions up 45-27. Engram and Battaglia, a pair of NFL prospects, entertained the 58,870 Giants Stadium fans and a national TV audience as the 93 points was the most combined points scored in this 24-game series.

Syracuse 27, Rutgers 17

The visiting Orangemen overcame a 17-3 halftime deficit and scored 24 unanswered points on the Rutgers defense to take the BIG EAST opener for both schools, 27-17. The Scarlet offense looked sharp in the first half as it outgained Syracuse 293-67 and got scores from RB Bruce Presley (1 run) and QB Ray Lucas (4 run) as well as a 32-yard FG by Nick Mike-Mayer. However, in the second half, Rutgers could not contain SU QB Donovan McNabb and WR Marvin Harrison. The duo hooked up for scoring passes of 8 and 66 yards and the Orange added a 7-yard score from Malcolm Thomas (the game's leading rusher with 126 yards). Meanwhile, RU's offense generated no more scoring while the defense allowed Syracuse to convert 10-13 3rd down situations and gain 264 yards. Lucas, who started after lacerating his left hand against Penn State, was effective at 21-38 for 209 yards. RB Terrell Willis was the Knights top rusher with 18 carries for 93 yards. He needs just 72 to become the career leader at RU. The loss marked only the second time in 17 games (over six seasons) that Doug Graber's Knights had lost on campus.

Orange Bowl
Miami 56, Rutgers 21

Miami used a 35-point explosion in the second quarter to propel them to a 49-14 halftime lead and eventually a 56-21 win in the rain-soaked Orange Bowl. Miami's QBs were just 9-19 in the passing category but those completions were good for 248 yards, and more importantly, 4 TDs. Ryan Clement, making his first start, threw scoring passes to Jammi German (59 yards), Yatil Green (28 yards) and Danyell Ferguson (46 yards) and was 6-13-157 yards. Scott Covington threw a 61-yard TD to Magic Benton. The Hurricanes also scored after Tremain Mack blocked a Jared Slovan punt and Nick Ward carried it into the end zone. UM LB Ray Lewis also returned a Robert Higgins pass 64 yards for Miami's only score in the second half. TE Marco Battaglia opened the scoring on a 7-yard pass from QB Ray Lucas but Miami followed with seven straight scores. Lucas ran a draw 11 yards for the halftime score and then threw a 3-yard score to WR Steve Harper to finish the scoring.

Virginia Tech 45, Rutgers 17

Virginia Tech broke open a close game in the second half and took a 45-17 decision before a rain-drenched Homecoming crowd at Rutgers Stadium. The highly-ranked Tech defense held the conference-leading offense of the Scarlet Knights to just 78 yards rushing and 223 total yards and made two huge defensive plays just when the Knights were making a patented vs. Tech comeback. RU had climbed back to a 31-17 deficit when Tech returned a Robert Higgins fumble off a blindside sack 51 yards for a score and Myron Newsome returned an RU aerial 71 yards to paydirt in the fourth quarter. Tech held a 14-10 halftime lead but added 17 third-quarter points. Tech QB Jim Druckenmiller completed 16-29 passes for 235 yards and two scores. RU RB Chad Bosch led Scarlet runners with 54 yards, including a 2-yard TD run, the first of his career.

Rutgers 42, Pittsburgh 24

Rutgers scored three times on offense, twice defensively and once by special teams and RB Terrell Willis became the school's all-time career leader in rushing yards as the Scarlet Knights posted their first BIG EAST win of the year, 42-24 over visiting Pittsburgh. TE Marco Battaglia scored twice on throws from QB Ray Lucas, who also tossed a TD pass to Steve Harper. Willis, who passed "JJ" Jennings with a 12-yard scamper in the 3rd quarter, finished with 68 yards on 19 carries and has 2960 career yards. He also gave RU a 14-13 lead with an 83-yard KOR for a score in the 2nd quarter. Five TDs were scored in an elapsed time of less than a minute during the game. RU's SS Paul Rivers picked up a fumble at the goal line and rambled 100 yards for a score and DE Charles Woolridge returned a Pitt pass 25 yards for six points.

Mountaineer Field
West Virginia 59, Rutgers 26

West Virginia broke from an offensive slump with a 59-26 triumph over an injury-riddled RU squad. Mountaineer QB Chad Johnston enjoyed the finest day of his career completing 16 of 21 passes for 334 yards and 4 TDs as WVU won the offensive battle 570 total yards to 511. WVU TE Lovett Purnell caught three balls for 134 yards and two scores and WR David Saunders had 8 catches for 149 yards and a pair of TDs. 'Eer RB Jimmy Gary totaled just 77 yards but registered three scores. The West Virginia defense was able to hold down the production of RU All-American Marco Battaglia (2-15) but WR Steve Harper caught 2 passes for 105 yards and two scores. His 77-yarder in the 1st quarter from QB Ray Lucas was a career and season long for both players. On a cold and snowy day, WVU capitalized on a young RU secondary as well as four Scarlet turnovers to keep Rutgers winless in 10 attempts at Morgantown.

GAME 9: NOVEMBER 11, 1995
THE SUPERDOME
RUTGERS 45, TULANE 40

Rutgers made critical offensive and defensive plays late in the game to pull out its first road win of the campaign, 45-40 over Tulane at the Superdome in New Orleans. DB Kevin Williams intercepted a Shaun King pass in the endzone as time expired to keep the Green Wave from a miracle comeback. Tulane had scored with 38 seconds left to pull within 45-40 and then recovered a perfect onsides kick to set up Williams INT but it took a Rusty Swartz strip of the ball on a Jared Slovan punt and a fumble recovery by Jason Curry with the score knotted at 28-28 to set up Nick Mike-Mayer's career long 48-yard FG that gave RU the lead for good. The Knights led 45-34 on a 1-yard dive by QB Ray Lucas with 1:58 left that set up the dramatic finish. TE Marco Battaglia, after an 8-102 and 2 TD night, became the career leader in receptions and continues to close on many significant receiving records. TB Bruce Presley, who left the game with ankle and shoulder injuries, recorded his first 100-yard game since Cincinnati in 1994 with 102 yards and a score on 20 carries. WR Reggie Funderburk collected his first TD of the year at 4:44 left and QB Lucas threw 3 TDs and was an efficient 18 of 27 for 198 yards.

VETERANS STADIUM
RUTGERS 23, TEMPLE 20

QB Ray Lucas led a critical fourth-quarter drive and tossed a 13-yard TD to WR Steve Harper with 1:28 left to rally Rutgers to a 23-20 win over Temple. Lucas, who set career highs by completing 28 of 47 passes on the day, was 6-8 for 64 yards in the final drive. With the TD toss to Harper he became the RU career leader in scoring passes with 42, passing legendary Scott Erney. Harper also caught another TD pass (8 yards in the first quarter) and had 7 catches for 63 yards. With Temple concentrating on taking away the receiving talents of TE Marco Battaglia, Lucas was able to make connections with his trio of wideouts -- Harper, Reggie Funderburk (9-91) and Bill Powell (6-80) -- 22 times for 234 yards. Lucas surpassed the 300-yard mark for only the second time in his career. The day began well for the RU defense as DB Kevin Williams, making his first career start, picked off a Temple pass on the game's third play and went 43 yards down the sideline for a score. He later added another INT and the defense picked off four Burris passes -- the first time an RU defense had completed that feat since the Virginia Tech game of 1992.

GAME 11: NOVEMBER 24, 1995
RUTGERS STADIUM
BOSTON COLLEGE 41, RUTGERS 38

An endzone interception by BC's Rob Clifford sealed a 13-point comeback for the Eagles and secured a 41-38 win over Rutgers in the season finale for both schools. BC QB Rick Hartsell threw for 4 TDs, including a 7-yarder to Tom Pollack with 1:21 left. In an offensive show for the ABC regional TV cameras, BC won despite being outgained 525-461 yards. The difference was also spelled out in the special teams by Kenyatta Watson's 63-yard punt return for a TD after RU's first possession of the game. For RU the seniors on offense made the most of their last appearance at Rutgers Stadium. All-American TE Marco Battaglia finished his career with the RU records for single season receptions, yards and TDs with a 9-121-1 performance. QB Ray Lucas completed 26-44 for 327 yards and a TD and ran for two scores while RB Bruce Presley gained a career-high 151 yards and scored twice. Seniors Battaglia, Lucas and SS Mark Washington were named captains for season along with junior MLB Brian Sheridan.

Rutgers Administration

President
Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey

Francis L. Lawrence became the President of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, in the fall of 1990. To improve the efficiency and service orientation of the university in a time of fiscal constraint, he took immediate steps to streamline the administration, reduce red tape, and encourage TQM-style teamwork. An independent management audit assisted the university in developing long and short-term goals for improvement in its operations. At the same time, a strategic planning process was instituted for both administrative and academic units, culminating in a university-wide strategic plan completed this year.

The vision that President Lawrence has proposed for Rutgers is its transformation into a new model of the land-grant university that responds to the pervasive, continuing demand of our society for advanced knowledge. Rutgers is meeting this challenge by building a comprehensive, statewide network of outreach; educating a broader, more inclusive spectrum of our society; strengthening the learning community with additional supports for teaching and learning; taking the scholar-mentor as a model in the learning community; and building unity within its diversity.

One of the president's first initiatives in sharpening the focus of the university's mission was to place more emphasis upon teaching in promotion and tenure review and in hiring. Improvement of the quality of undergraduate education is among the president's foremost concerns. A teaching evaluation was administered university-wide. Teaching Excellence Centers were set up on all three regional campuses to offer teachers support in enhancing instruction. Several Learning Resource Centers were opened throughout the university to offer students assistance ranging from study skills and computer-assisted instruction to tutoring. "Rutgers Dialogues," the report of the university-wide Curriculum Review Committee, is being implemented in new and revised undergraduate courses throughout the university. With financing from a student fee, the university, and the state, new student-access computing facilities have been opened and student computing accounts made available to all Rutgers students.

The increase in quality of the 1980s, which was capped by the admission of Rutgers to the Association of American Universities in 1989, has gained momentum in the 1990s. The Rutgers faculty is winning impressive national honors for high distinction in scholarly accomplishment. A total of $141.5 million was raised in externally sponsored research in 1995. The innovative Rutgers strategic plan, A New Vision for Excellence, selected thirteen interdisciplinary areas of strength for cooperative development by the university's three geographically separated campuses. More than 250 faculty from all three campuses have worked together to solicit, to formulate, and to choose proposals that bring departments, bureaus, centers, and institutes together in new multidisciplinary alliances that make effective use of the university's resources to serve the people of New Jersey by creating new knowledge and transmitting in through excellent instruction and distinguished public service.

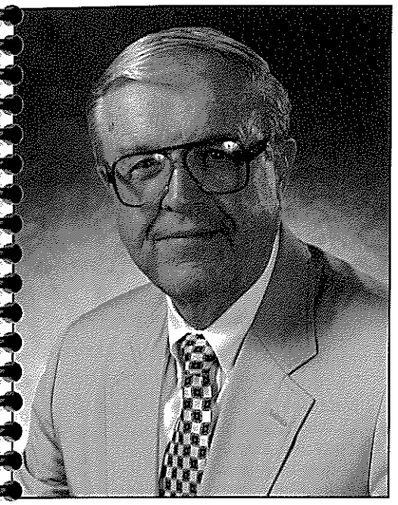

Increased diversity in the university community has also been among the president's primary areas of priority for Rutgers. The university's enrollment of minorities has risen from under 23 percent in 1987 to more than 31 percent. Admissions recruitment efforts have succeeded in ranking Rutgers first among 29 public AAU schools in African-American enrollment, third in Latino enrollment, third in Asian-Pacific Islander enrollment, and first in total minority enrollment. Rutgers was recognized nationally in two successive years for its graduation of the second largest number of African-American students among predominantly white universities.

Dr. Lawrence served on the Governor's Panel to Restructure Higher Education and on the quality Education Commission. He was the first elected chair of the forty-six member New Jersey Presidents' Council and served as a member of the New Jersey Commission on Higher Education. He is also a member of the New Jersey Commission on Science and Technology and the New Jersey-Israel Commission.

On the national level, Dr. Lawrence has been the president of the Association of Graduate Schools of the Association of American Universities and served on the Board of Directors of the Association of American Colleges and Universities. He is currently a member of the Kellogg Commission on the Future of State and Land-Grant Universities of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges; the Association of American Universities Committee on the Future of Graduate Education; and the American Council on Education's Commission on International Education. Dr. Lawrence received his bachelor's degree in French and Spanish from St. Louis University in 1959 and his Ph.D. in French Classical Literature from Tulane University in 1962. He and his wife Mary Kay have four children and nine grandchildren.

Frederick E. Gruninger

Director of Athletics

As Director of Athletics at the State University, Frederick Gruninger has established a widely-recognized reputation as a respected and tireless leader. He has continually endeavored to enrich the quality of life for student-athletes and maintain the reputation of academic and athletic excellence for which Rutgers has become renowned, while centering his attention on constant improvement and expansion.

In 1995-96, Rutgers competed for the first time in the BIG EAST as an all-sports member in its 19 championship sports, which signals the University's commitment to a comprehensive program for men and women. The baseball, field hockey, men's and women's soccer, men's and women's track and field, men's and women's swimming, men's and women's tennis, softball, men's and women's fencing, gymnastics, volleyball, wrestling and women's lacrosse teams competed successfully at conference post-season events. Individuals from fencing, track and field and wrestling were spotlighted at NCAA Championship events. Record-breaking performances in several sports, a consensus All-American in football and a coaching staff of the year in men's track were complimented by the NCAA fencing championship in men's team epee.

Top-notch facilities are considered vital to the success of any athletic program and under Gruninger's direction, Rutgers' facilities have been improved and expanded so that they are now known as some of the finest in the nation. The most recent major project is the new Rutgers Stadium, a state-of-the-art, lighted, 42,000-seat facility that was completed in the summer of 1994. The Hale Center, which has been lauded as among the best in the nation, provides a modern training facility for several men's and women's teams, and furnishes the football program with a necessary support facility for academic and athletic needs. The 8,600-seat Louis Brown Athletic Center, and the surrounding sports complex, are areas of concentrated in-season activity for the Lady and Scarlet Knight teams.

Other areas that have seen significant growth under Gruninger are the academic support program and the athletic awards system. Both of these programs have become widely-appreciated adjuncts and continually provide athletes with deserving recognition and support. In addition to a wide spectrum of awards for its over 1,000 student-athletes, Rutgers athletics reaches back to honor its storied past. Annually, the Football Hall of Fame, the Basketball Hall of Fame, and, the Olympic Sports Hall of Fame, all established under Gruninger's guidance, spotlight the memorable individual and team achievements of the past. Each year, Rutgers' "best and brightest" are honored at separate team awards banquets and, then, collectively, at the marquee event — the Scholar-Athlete/Most Valuable Player celebration.

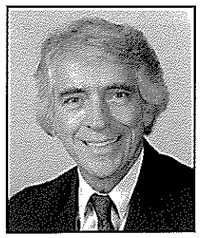

Under Gruninger, Rutgers has continued its tradition of hosting numerous prestigious conference, regional and national championships, that bring the best college athletes to the New Brunswick campus and the state of New Jersey. With Rutgers playing more than a major role, the 1996 Final Four was a large success. Rutgers has co-hosted the NCAA East Regional Basketball Championship an unprecedented eight times over the last 10 years. Finally, Rutgers will host the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championships in 1997 and 1998. The University also continues to provide a place for sports championships at the Olympic, AAU and New Jersey interscholastic levels as well as national clinics and training camps.

In conjunction with the University's overall thrust in community service, Rutgers athletes are developing a meaningful relationship with local communities, particularly hospitals, schools and charitable organizations in central New Jersey. The commitment of the student-athlete's time and talent further signifies Rutgers' desire to be linked with neighboring communities and charities.

Gruninger, who holds both bachelor's and Master's degrees from Rutgers, was appointed an Assistant Athletic Director in 1966, and in 1971, was named Associate Athletic Director. He became Athletic Director in 1973. He served as golf coach from 1963-1971.

He has served as a member of the NCAA Council and was recently elected as second vice president of the National Association of College Directors of Athletics. Gruninger has also been a committee officer on several conference, state, regional and national athletic associations. The College Athletic Administration of New Jersey, an organization which he helped form, recognized his leadership and dedication by presenting him with the Garden State Award. He continues to serve in numerous other capacities that promote athletics in the state and the nation.

A native of Fanwood, NJ, Gruninger and his wife, Barbara, reside in Martinsville. They have three married children and one grandchild.

Malcolm McLaren
1929-1996

For many, the name Malcolm McLaren had become synonymous with Rutgers University. His concern for all Rutgers student-athletes was always apparent. Mal served as the university's faculty representative to the NCAA for 23 years.

A Rutgers football letterwinner from the Class of 1950, Mal kept all Rutgers sports close to his heart. He spent 25 years as chair of the university's ceramics engineering department. Respected throughout the world for his work in the ceramic industry, Mal united the ceramic societies of various European countries into one organization.

The First Football Game

Rutgers University and its neighbor, Princeton, played the first game of intercollegiate football on Nov. 6, 1869, on a plot of ground where the present-day Rutgers gymnasium now stands in New Brunswick, N.J. Rutgers won that first game, 6-4.

The game, which bore little resemblance to its modern-day counterpart, was played with two teams of 25 men each under rugby-like rules, but like modern football, it was "replete with surprise, strategy, prodigies of determination, and physical prowess," to use the words of one of the Rutgers players.

William J. Leggett, captain of the Rutgers team who later became a distinguished clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church, suggested that rules for the contest be adopted from those of the London Football Association. Leggett's proposal was accepted by Captain William Gunmere of Princeton, who later became Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of New Jersey.

At 3 pm on that memorable afternoon, the 50 combatants and about 100 spectators gathered on the field. Most of the assemblage sat on a low wooden fence and watched the athletes doff hats, coats and vests and use suspenders as belts. To distinguish themselves from the bareheaded visitors, 50 Rutgers students, including players, donned scarlet-colored scarfs which they converted into turbans.

The teams lined up with two members of each team remaining more or less stationary near the opponent's goal in the hopes of being able to slip over and score from unguarded positions. Thus, the present day "sleeper" was conceived. The remaining 23 players were divided into groups of 11 and 12. While the 11 "fielders" lined up in their own territory as defenders, the 12 "bulldogs" carried the battle.

Each score counted as a "game" and 10 games completed the contest. Following each score, the teams changed direction. The ball could be advanced only by kicking or batting it with the feet, hands, heads or sides.

Events leading up to the game were described by John W. Herbert, Rutgers '72, who was one of the players: "To appreciate this game to the full you must know something of its background," Herbert wrote in 1933. "The two colleges were, and still are, of course, about 20 miles apart. The rivalry between them was intense. For years each had striven for possession of an old Revolutionary cannon, making night forays and lugging it back and forth time and again. Not long before the first football game, the canny Princetonians had settled this competition in their own favor by ignominiously sinking the gun in several feet of concrete. In addition to this, I regret to report, Princeton had beaten Rutgers in baseball by the harrowing score of 40-2. Rutgers longed for a chance to square things."

A challenge for the game was issued by Rutgers. Three games were to be played that year. The first played at New Brunswick and won by Rutgers. Princeton won the second game, but cries of "over-emphasis" prevented the third game in football's first year when faculties of both institutions protested on the grounds that the games were interfering with student studies.

Herbert gave this detailed account of the play in the first game: "Though smaller on the average, the Rutgers players, as it developed, had ample speed and fine football sense. Receiving the ball, our men formed a perfect interference around it and with short, skillful kicks and dribbles drove it down the field. Taken by surprise, the Princeton men fought valiantly, but in five minutes we had gotten the ball through to our captains on the enemy's goal and S.G. Gano, '71 and G.R. Dixon, '73, neatly kicked it over. None thought of it, so far as I know, but we had without previous plan or thought evolved the play that became famous a few years later as 'the flying wedge'."

Herbert then related that his teammates failed to note a conference the Princeton's captain was holding with the giant of the Tiger team, J.E. Michael, '71, known to his mates as "Big Mike."

"Next period Rutgers bucked, or received the ball, hoping to repeat the flying wedge," Herbert's account continues. "But the first time we formed it Big Mike came charging full upon us. It was our turn for surprise. The Princeton battering ram made no attempt to reach the ball but, forerunner of the interference-breaking ends of today, threw himself into our mass play, bursting us apart, and bowing us over. Time and again Rutgers formed the wedge and charged; as often Big Mike broke it up. And finally on one of these incredible break-ups a Princeton bulldog with a long accurate, perhaps lucky kick, sent the ball between the posts for the second score.

"The flying wedge thus checkmated, Rutgers might have been in a bad spot had not Madison Ball, '73, come through. He had a trick of kicking the ball with his heel. All the game he had been a puzzle to the Princetonians. The ball would be rolling toward the Rutgers goal, and, running ahead of it instead of taking time to turn, he would heel it back. He made several such plays, greatly encouraging his team. Then he capped all this by one tremendous lucky backward drive directly to Dixon, standing squarely before Princeton's goal...Dixon easily scored, giving us a one-goal lead. Big Mike again rose, however, in a berserk endeavor, and, getting the ball, he called the Princeton men into a flying wedge of their own and straight-away they took the ball right down the field and put it over."

It was at this point that a Rutgers professor could stand it no longer. Waving his umbrella at the participants, he shrieked, "you will come to no Christian end!"

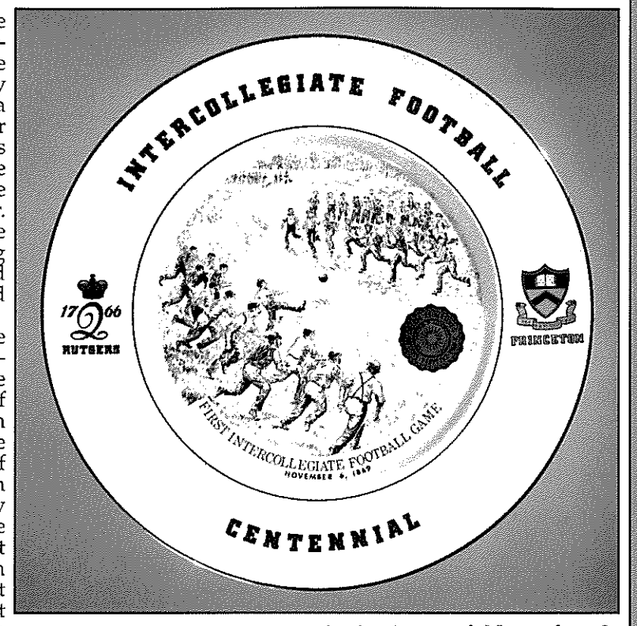

Herbert's account of the game continues: "The fifth and sixth goals went to Rutgers. The stars of the latter period of play, in the memory of the players after the lapse of many years, were "Big Mike" and Large (former State Senator George H. Large of Flemington, another Princeton player). Someone by a random kick had driven the ball to one side, where it rolled against the fence and stopped. Large led the pursuit for the ball closely followed by Michael. They reached the fence on which students were perched, and unable to check their momentum, in a tremendous impact they struck it. The fence then gave way with a crash and over went the band of yelling students to the ground.

"Every college probably has the humorous tradition of some player who has scored against his own team. This tradition at Rutgers dated from this first game, for one of her players, whose identity is unknown, in the sixth period started to kick the ball between his own goal posts. The kick was blocked, but Princeton took advantage of the opportunity and soon made the goal. This turn of the game apparently disorganized Rutgers, for Princeton also scored the next goal after a few minutes of play, thus bringing the total up to four all."

At this point Leggett introduced strategy to turn the tide in favor of Rutgers. Noticing that Princeton obtained a great advantage from its taller players, Leggett ordered his men to keep the ball close to the ground. Following this strategy, Rutgers kicked the ninth and tenth goals, thus winning the match.

The First Football Game

"To describe the varying fortunes of the match, game by game, would be a waste of labor for every game was like the one before,"wrote the student re-porter. "There was the same headlong running, wild shouting, and frantic kicking.

"In every game the cool goal-tenders saved the Rutgers goal half a dozen times; in every game the heavy charger of the Princeton side overthrew everything he came in contact with; and in every game, just when the interest in one of those delightful rushes at the fence was culminating, the persecuted ball would fly for refuge into the next lot, and produce cessation of hostilities until, after the invariable 'foul', it was put in straight.

"To sum up, Princeton had the most muscle, but didn't kick very well, and wanted organization. They evidently don't like to kick the ball on the ground. Our men, on the other hand, though comparatively weak, ran well, and kicked well throughout. But their great point was the organization, for which great praise is due to the captain. The right men were always in the right place."

One of the Princeton players, William Preston Lane, in 1933 contended in a newspaper interview that Rutgers "ran us Princeton men out of town. I never found out why they did that," he related. "But we don't ask any questions. When we saw them coming after us, we ran to the outskirts of New Brunswick and got into our carriages and wagons and went away as fast as we could."

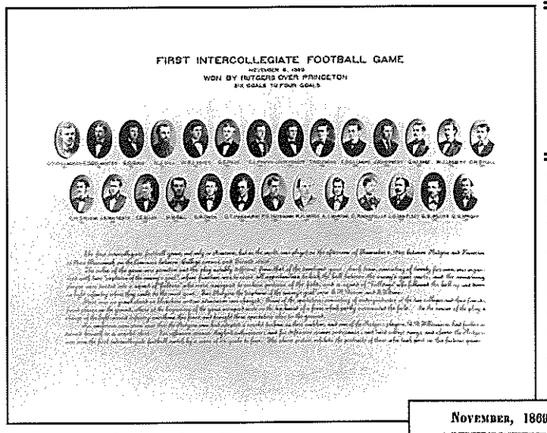

Lane's contention is refuted in the Targum account. "After the match the players had an amicable "feed together," the paper reported. "At 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, thirsting to beat us next time, if they can."

The Daily Fredonian, a New Brunswick paper of that era, supported the Targum account in its issue of November 9, 1869.

"Though the generous liberality of the students of Rutgers College," the Fredonian reported, "a bountiful entertainment was prepared for our Princeton friends, at the favorite resort in Church Street known as Northrop's where 'mine host' and his estimable lady know how to get up a good supper."

Regardless of what actually happened after the first game, football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia University started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the East's colleges and universities were represented on the gridiron.

The foregoing account of America's first intercollegiate football game was prepared from material obtained from reliable sources. Previous drafts of the account were authenticated by surviving members of the first Rutgers and Princeton teams. The last surviving Princeton player, Robert Preston Lane (Class of 1872) died November 5, 1938. The last surviving Rutgers player, George H. Large (Class of 1872) died in the spring of 1939.

But on that fall day in 1869, those students established a tradition...at Rutgers, the birthplace of intercollegiate football.

by John Bruns

When Rutgers defeated Princeton in the first intercollegiate football game ever played in 1869, the setting was quite different than it is today. The game was contested on a field along College Avenue in New Brunswick. There weren't tens of thousands of cheering fans in a multi-million dollar stadium. There was no manicured grass field or electronic scoreboard. There was no elaborate athletic equipment or television cameras. But on that fall day in 1869, those students established a tradition of quality football programs, competitiveness and school spirit that continues at Rutgers, the birthplace of intercollegiate football.

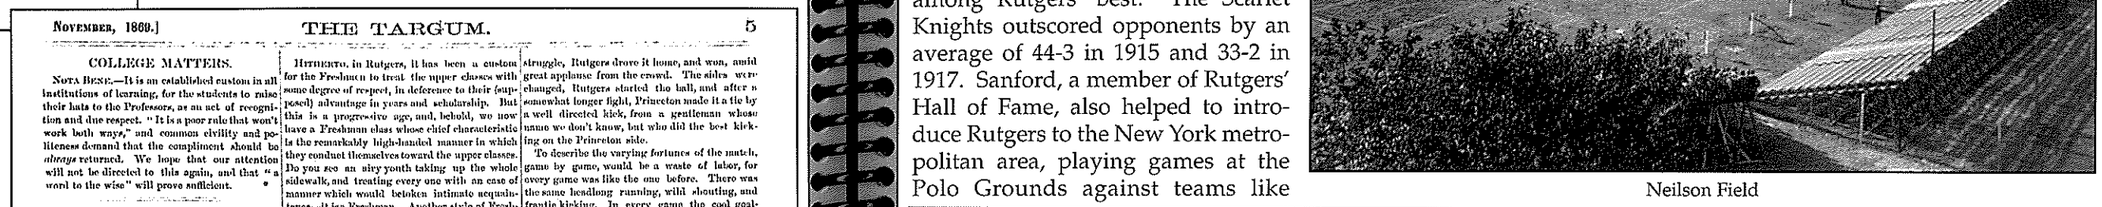

On October 1, 1994, Rutgers celebrated that first team and all the teams that followed, as the 1994 squad played only its third game in the spectacular new Rutgers Stadium, hosting perennial national power Miami.

The game also continued 125 years of historical moments, outstanding athletes and memorable triumphs.

However, those historic moments were difficult to predict during the early years when intercollegiate football scheduling was inconsistent. For example, Rutgers won six of 10 games in 1882, but played only one game in 1885. Similarly, the Scarlet Knights went 8-6 in 1891, but two years later played only four games. By the early 1900's, scheduling had become more consistent and football became more popular across the country.

The eight wins of 1891 weren't matched until Rutgers went 8-1 in 1947 with one of the most successful teams of coach Harvey Harman in the Golden Era immediately following World War II. That team, quarterbacked by Frank Burns, who would later become Rutgers' most successful coach, lost its opener to Columbia and then swept through eight straight opponents.

In 1913, coach George Foster Sanford began a tradition of success among Rutgers coaches in their inaugural year by leading his team to a 6-3 mark. He then flirted with two perfect seasons, improving the team to 7-1 in 1915 and 7-1-1 in 1917. Those two seasons, which featured All-American Paul Robeson, were among Rutgers' best. The Scarlet Knights outscored opponents by an average of 44-3 in 1915 and 33-2 in 1917. Sanford, a member of Rutgers' Hall of Fame, also helped to introduce Rutgers to the New York metropolitan area, playing games at the Polo Grounds against teams like Notre Dame, Nebraska, Louisiana State and West Virginia. A few year later, in 1924, two-time All-American end and fullback Homer Hazel helped coach John Wallace continue the tradition of first-year coaching success, as Rutgers posted a 7-1-1 mark.

Harvey Harman also had a successful first season, going 7-1 in 1938, the year Rutgers dedicated the original Rutgers Stadium. Rutgers won the dedication game, 20-18, over Princeton. Harman, however, was replaced by former coach Harry Rockafeller during World War II. His tenure included an 8-1 season in 1947 when Rutgers, dominated by WWII veterans, registered a combined record of 27-7 from 1945-48.

When John Stiegman coached Rutgers from 1956-59, he brought back the single-wing formation to the Scarlet Knight offense, and led Rutgers to an 8-1 mark in 1958. The only loss of that season, 13-12 to the Quantico Marines, came when All-American tailback Billy Austin had to miss a game due to a broken hand.

Another first-year coach got off to an impressive start when John Bateman went 8-1 in 1960. That campaign was followed by Rutgers' first undefeated season in 1961, when the team went 9-0, capping the season with a fourth-quarter, 25-point comeback win over Columbia. That team included All-American center Alex Kroll, and was ranked 15th nationally. In his 11 seasons, Bateman led Rutgers to 73 wins in 124 games.

In 1973, Frank Burns took the reins of Rutgers football and became the most successful Rutgers coach ever by building teams recognized for fundamentals and defense. Burns himself was also known as a fierce linebacker and won the Most Valuable Player Award in the 1949 College All-Star game, when he made 17 tackles against the New York Giants. The Burns defenses were led by linebackers Ed Steward, Jim Hughes, Jim Dumont and defensive end Nate Toran. Burns' first team went 6-5, while running back "JJ" Jennings set single-season records for rushing yardage (1,353) and touchdowns (21) which still stand.

COLLEGE MATTERS.

NOTA BENE.—It is an established custom in all institutions of learning, for the students to raise their hats to the Professors, as an act of recognition and due respect. "It is a poor rule that won't work both ways," and common civility and politeness demand that the compliment should be always returned. We hope that our attention will not be directed to this again, and that "a word to the wise" will prove sufficient.

A SCHOLASTIC and erudite Freshman designed to bring his acute and lofty faculty of criticism to bear upon J. G. Whittier's "Garibaldi," which we published in our last issue, and pronounced it considerably below par. If the illustrious poet should see this how badly he would feel. Perhaps this luminous friend will hereafter supply our poetical column from the rich effusion of his gigantic and symmetrical brain. We fear that the names of Whittier, Longfellow, Tennyson, and Bryant, may yet be eclipsed by this rising star.

WHAT WE WANT.

EVERY one is willing to admit the power of music; the feelings and emotions which it is capable of producing; how it softens and subdues. Music speaks to us in tones of gentleness and love; it steals its way into the innermost soul, and the whole being soon gives way to its potent influence. And yet, in the face of all this, how few cultivate this art. How sensibly do we feel the want of it in our College. Brothers, we are greatly deficient in this respect; we have scarcely musical talent enough to sustain our College choir. Out of one hundred and fifty students, we verily believe that ten cannot be found who understand the first principles of music. Where are our glee clubs? our college songs? Sophomores, awake! let us hear your voices. Don't be afraid of College Professors—they won't hurt you. Give us "Three blind crows," if you can't do any better. Oh, that the dignity and self-respect of seniors would encourage them to sustain "their choir," instead of bringing disgrace upon it and themselves, as a certain few of them have done and are attempting to do. '70.

HERTZOG HALL.—In pursuance of the action of the Standing Committee on Hertzog Hall, the Rev. P. J. Quick has taken his place as Rector of the building, and is discharging his duties in an earnest, faithful, and efficient manner.

Ample provisions have been made for the care and comfort of the students, and good board provided for those desirous of taking their meals in the building. A well prepared table, and a genial company invite thither, and the kind demeanor of the "Pater Familias," gives dignity and a home-like influence to the "Hertzog Family."

O TEMPORE! O MORES!—The Senior Class, before THE TARGUM reaches the public, will have appeared in beaver hats, thus establishing a precedent which we hope will be followed by the classes coming after. We anticipate that this will be a very imposing affair if the weather proves propitious. 1869, Annus Mirabilis.

HITHERTO, in Rutgers, it has been a custom for the Freshmen to treat the upper classes with some degree of respect, in deference to their (supposed) advantage in years and scholarship. But this is a progressive age, and, behold, we now have a Freshman class whose chief characteristic is the remarkably high-handed manner in which they conduct themselves toward the upper classes. Do you see an airy youth taking up the whole sidewalk, and treating every one with an ease of manner which would betoken intimate acquaintance—it is a Freshman. Another style of Freshman goes around as if the College was run for him, and him alone; he answers all questions, either with an easy stare, or as if his breath was too precious to waste on Seniors or Juniors. A third type, travels decidedly on his muscle—goes around like a prize fighter; swaggers through the halls, vowing destruction and death on any one who may in any way offend him, and turns out, as such gentry generally do, a much worse barker than biter.

Now, gentlemen of '73, just accord to the poor upper classmen a degree of respect nearly equal to that which you wish for yourselves. Treat them personally with a moderate degree of civility, and they will be contented. The Sophomores must take care of themselves.

THE FOOT-BALL MATCH.

ON Saturday, November 6th, Princeton sent twenty-five picked men to play our twenty-five a match game of foot-ball. The strangers came up in the 10 o'clock train, and brought a good number of backers with them. After dinner, and a stroll around the town, during which stroll billiards received a good deal of attention, the crowds began to assemble at the ball ground, which, for the benefit of the ignorant, we would say, is a lot about a hundred yards wide, extending from College Avenue to Sicard-street. Previous to calling the game, the ground presented an animated picture. Grim-looking players were silently stripping, each one surrounded by sympathizing friends, while around each of the captains was a little crowd, intent upon giving advice, and saying as much as possible. The appearance of the Princeton men was very different from that of our own players. They were almost without exception tall and muscular, while the majority of our twenty-five are small and light, but possess the merit of being up to much more than they look.

Very few were the preliminaries, and they were quickly agreed upon. The Princeton captain, for some reason or other, gave up every point to our men without contesting one. The only material points were, that Princeton gave up "free kicks," whereby a player, when he catches the ball in the air is allowed to kick it without hindrance. On the other hand, our practice of "babying" the ball on the start was discarded, and the ball was mounted, in every instance, by a vigorous "long kick."

Princeton won the toss, and chose the first mount, rather oddly, since it had been agreed to start the ball against the wind. At 3 P. M., the game was called. The Princetonians suffered from making a very bad "mount," or "buck" as they call it; the effects of which were not remedied before the sides closed, and after a brief struggle, Rutgers drove it home, and won, amid great applause from the crowd. The sides were changed, Rutgers started the ball, and after a somewhat longer fight, Princeton made it a tie by a well directed kick, from a gentleman whose name we don't know, but who did the best kicking on the Princeton side.

To describe the varying fortunes of the match, game by game, would be a waste of labor, for every game was like the one before. There was the same headlong running, wild shouting, and frantic kicking. In every game the cool goal-tenders saved the Rutgers goal half a dozen times; in every game the heavy charger of the Princeton side overthrew everything he came in contact with; and in every game, just when the interest in one of those delightful rushes at the fence was culminating, the persecuted ball would fly for refuge into the next lot, and produce a cessation of hostilities until, after the invariable "foul," it was put in straight.

Well, at last we won the match, having won the 1st, 3d, 5th, 6th, 9th, and 10th games; leaving Princeton the 2d, 4th, 7th, and 8th. The seventh game would probably have been added to our score, but for one of our players, who, in his ardor, forgot which way he was kicking, a mistake which he fully atoned for afterward.

To sum up. Princeton had the most muscle, but didn't kick very well, and wanted organization. They evidently don't like to kick the ball on the ground. Our men, on the other hand, though comparatively weak, ran well, and kicked well throughout. But their great point was their organization, for which great praise is due to the Captain, Leggett, '72. The right men were always in the right place.

After the match, the players had an amicable "feed" together, and at 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, but thirsting to beat us next time, if they can.

PRINCETON vs. RUTGERS.

THE second of the three games of Foot Ball between Princeton and Rutgers was won by the former at their ball-grounds, on Saturday, the 13th inst. Eight out of fifteen was the game, but as Princeton won the first eight the other innings were not played. The style of playing differs, materially, in the two Colleges. A fly, or first bound catch, entitles to a "free kick," a la Princeton. We bat with hands, feet, head, sideways, backwards, any way to get the ball along. We must say that we think our style much more exciting, and more as Foot Ball should be. After the regular game two innings were played after our fashion, and we won them. It is but fair to our twenty-five to say that they never have practised the "free-kick" system. At half-past six we sat down to a very fine supper, prepared for us by our hosts. Speeches and songs, accompanied, of course, by the study of practical gastronomy, passed the time pleasantly until the evening train bore us Brunswickwards. We hope soon to welcome Princeton to New-Brunswick for the third game, and beat them. Their cheer, sounding as if they meant to explode, but for a fortunate escape of air, followed by a grateful yell at the deliverance of such a catastrophe, still sounds in our ears as we thank them for their hospitality. If we must be beaten we are glad to have such conquerors. D.

Rutgers Football, Circa 1910

Over the next five seasons, Burns' teams won at least seven games each season, including a five-season stretch from 1975-79 when Rutgers' winning percentage was .803 with a record of 45-11. The jewel in the crown of Burns' tenure as Rutgers' coach was the 1976 season, when the team was perfect at 11-0, establishing the best season ever at Rutgers. During Burns' 11 seasons at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights won nearly two-thirds of their games (78-44). He also took Rutgers to its only bowl appearance, the Garden State Bowl, at Giants Stadium against Arizona State in 1978.

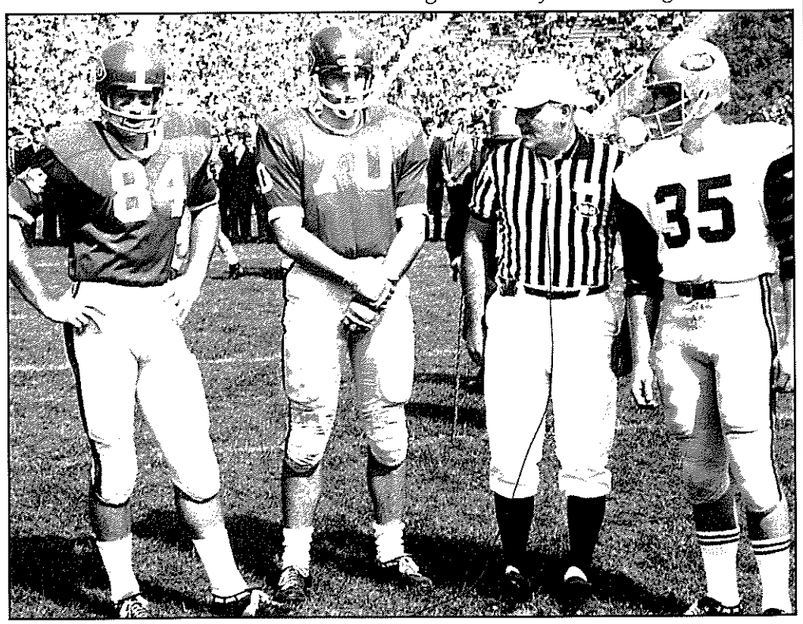

Doubtless, the biggest win of the Burns era was the 13-7 upset of Tennessee on November 3, 1979 at Knoxville. Burns called it "the greatest of my coaching career."

The following year, 1980, Rutgers had one of its great "near-misses" of its long history when the Scarlet bowed, 17-13, to a highly-favored Alabama team coached by Bear Bryant at Giants Stadium. The gracious Bryant said, "We didn't beat Rutgers. All I can say is we won."

"We didn't beat Rutgers. All I can say is we won." -Paul "Bear" Bryant, following Alabama's 17-13 victory over Rutgers

In 1984 when Dick Anderson was named head coach, a renewed commitment to football at Rutgers was backed by a $3 million state-funded package. Those funds helped finance the artificial surface practice fields, the practice "Bubble" and the Hale Center, which includes locker-rooms, offices, a weight-training area and medical facilities for the football team.

Anderson won seven of 10 games in his inaugural season. Other highlights of his years at Rutgers include upset wins over such nationally-ranked teams as Penn State and Michigan State, and a nationally-televised victory over Northwestern in the program's 1,000th game. Anderson's teams produced some of the most exciting players in Rutgers history, including record-breaking passer Scott Erney, career tackles leader Tyronne Stowe and career kickoff return leader Eric Young. Anderson's last game at Rutgers, although a loss to Pittsburgh, was a memorable one. It was the 1989 Emerald Isle Classic in Dublin, the first time a Rutgers team played overseas.

Strong Safety Mark Washington was second-team All-BIG EAST in 1994

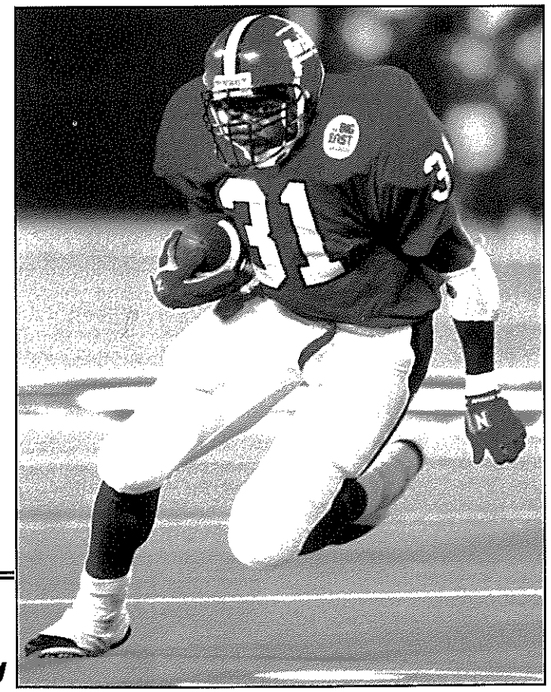

Doug Graber became the Scarlet Knights' 23rd coach in 1990 and placed an emphasis on recruiting the best talent in the state of New Jersey. His first recruiting class included three first-team All-State selections and two second-team All-State selections among the 12 recruits from New Jersey.

Another major boost for Rutgers came in 1991 when Rutgers joined the BIG EAST Football Conference. The team went 13-9 in its first two years in the BIG EAST, including a 4-2 BIG EAST mark in 1992, before slipping to 4-7 the following season.

The 1994 season celebrated not only the 125 years of college football, but also the return of the newly-renovated and expanded Rutgers Stadium. The return was a welcome one. Rutgers teams have been at their best at the stadium, compiling a 174-57-4 record here. .

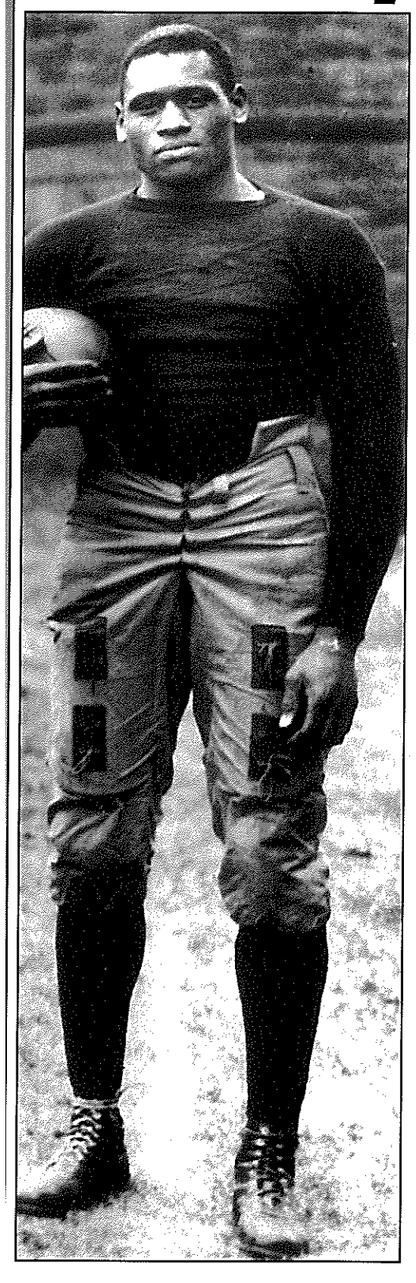

A brand new stadium is quite a different setting than that of the first college football game played 126 years ago. The Scarlet Knights are playing for their own place in history as they continue the college football tradition that was born "On the Banks of the Old Raritan." With Terry Shea bringing his modern "West Coast Offense" to the Banks in 1996, a new chapter of Rutgers history is about to be written.

Hall of Fame Doors Finally Swing Open for Robeson

Editor's Note: Paul Robeson was elected to the College Football Hall of Fame on January 7, 1995 and was inducted on August 25, 1995 in South Bend, Ind. On December 12, 1995, the 13-member class of 1995 was enshrined at the Hall of Fame's 38th Annual Awards Dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel in New York City. Robeson is Rutgers' fourth member of the College Football Hall of Fame, joining Homer Hazel (1951), George Foster Sanford (1971) and Harvey Harman (1981).

(This article, written by national syndicated columnist Jerry Izenberg, appeared on the eve of Robeson's election to the College Football Hall of Fame. It is re-printed with permission.)

"He is the greatest end to ever trod the gridiron." - Walter Camp, player, coach, football historian, when he named Paul Robeson to his All-American team for the second time in 1918.

"I am invisible, understand, because people simply refuse to see me."- Ralph Ellison ("The Invisible Man" 1952)

From the moment Paul Robeson first walked onto the practice field at Rutgers University in 1915 to the day he was graduated as a Phi Beta Kappa, senior honor society member and valedictorian, no college football player ever had to climb a higher mountain. Afterward, he continued to climb it on the concert stage and in the theater. Politically, he spoke of the "real" America he had experienced, refusing to serve as confirmation for the "perfect" America in which much of the country preferred to believe. When that angered some and embarrassed others, America did what it often does when it neither understands nor questions: it created its own Paul Robeson.

The mainstream press took the odd quote or two out of context and tailored and twisted it until it fit the public's preconceived notions. Conversely, the Communist Party's Daily Worker quoted him regularly with a persistent inaccuracy designed to pander to its own fantasy version of history.

Rarely, if ever, were the words of a man of such deep integrity and courage so manipulated by twin self-serving political systems - from the hearing room of the House Un-American Activities Committee to the newsrooms of Tass and Izvestia. In the wake of both sides' rhetoric, the real Paul Robeson simply dissappeared.

So did his football history.

When Robeson died in 1976, Tiny Tim, crutches and all, had a better shot of getting elected to the College Football Hall of Fame.

But, fortunately, William Shakespeare, had it right when he wrote: "Time's glory is to calm contending kings, to unmask falsehood and bring truth to light."

For the electors to the College Football Hall of Fame, this is that time.

What follows is simply the evidence.

He walked onto the practice field at Rutgers for the first time in 1915, saw the cold, hard stares in the eyes of the men who he hoped to call teammates and never flinched. He may not have known it, but, as far the records show, in all of the East and probably most of America, he was one of three black men who had come this close to playing college football. There was Fritz Pollard at Brown, who along with the janitor was one of just two black men on campus, there was a guy at Harvard, and now there was Paul Robeson, the son of a runaway slave who had fled the South to become a minister in highly segregated Princeton, and one of two black students at Rutgers.

The coach was a man named George Foster Sanford. Traditionally, his weeding-out procedure for newcomers was to run play after play at them to see how they stood up. But this time, the physical contact was laced with malice. Years later, Robeson recalled it like this.

"They ran the first couple of plays right at me. After the third one, I was stretched out on the ground with my hand extended palm up. One of the players walked by me and deliberately stepped on it. I thought all the bones were broken. They weren't. But a couple of fingernails came off."

Robeson got up and took his position. He was furious. He moved forward to meet them. Players scattered like tenpins. After each sequence, they limped to their feet and Robeson smiled at them. Finally, Sanford had had enough. He cupped his hands around his mouth and hollered around across the field.

"Hey Robey, you just made the varsity."

He was spectacular.

On offense, he played end. He caught passes and occassionally he ran the ball out of the backfield. But mostly he served as the point blocker, coming at the defense from as many as seven different positions, shredding the wall of flesh and opening enormous holes. On defense, he played a position that Sanford called "defensive quarterback," the rough equivalent of a middle linebacker today. He kicked off, he kicked extra points, he called the plays.

In his junior year, West Virginia came up to play Rutgers and Greasy Neale, the coach, warned Sanford that "we've got a lot of Southern boys on this team, and they don't want to play against your man Robeson."

A year earlier, Sanford had bowed to pressure from a Virginia school, Washington & Lee, and had declared Robeson injured and out of the game. This time, the Rutgers coach stood his ground. "If they don't like it, let them go home," he said.

All through the first half, the West Virginia players assaulted Robeson, whose defensive play was primarily responsible for their inability to score. At halftime, Neale, using the tortured logic of 1916 America, actually told his team:

"Any player who can take that beating, give as good as he gets, and isn't squealing to the refs, isn't colored. He's a white man. Go out there, play like hell, but give him a break."

At game's end Robeson was so battered that when he pulled down his socks, slices of skin came down with them.

The New York Sun's football columnist compared Robeson to Carlisle's Jim Thorpe and Army's Elmer Oliphant and said Robeson might even be the best of the three. His crowning moment may have come at Ebbets Field in 1917 when Rutgers upset the undefeated Newport (R.I.) Naval Reserve, a wartime service team heavily laced with the previous season's All-Americans. Robeson was the difference, shutting down their offense, catching a touchdown pass and unleashing the block that led to a second touchdown in the 14-0 victory.

Now, 77 years later, Paul Robeson finally appears on a College Football Hall of Fame Ballot. In life, he never lost his dignity even though he faced a wall of bigotry reminiscent of the words of the old spiritual:

"So high you can't get over it. So deep you can't get under it. So wide you can't get around it. You must go in through the door."

It is time that the College Football Hall of Fame electors allow that door to swing wide open.

Paul Robeson National College Football Hall of Fame - Class of 1995

(The following is the inscription found on Robeson's plaque in the National College Football Hall of Fame in South Bend, Indiana.)

Paul Robeson played four years for the famous coach, G. Foster Sanford. Rutgers had a 22-6-3 record in that time. In 31 games, Rutgers scored 941 points to opponents' 191. Robeson was a powerful contributor to that record. In 1915 against Rensselaer he recovered an opponent's fumble and set up a touchdown. In 1917 he scored on 40-yard and 37-yard pass plays against Fort Wadsworth. Against Syracuse the same year he caught passes on two key plays and, on defense, intercepted a pass. Also in 1917 against Newport Naval Reserve he caught one touchdown pass, set up a second touchdown by taking the ball to the 5-yard line after catching a pass, and was outstanding on defense. This game was played November 24. Newport was undefeated and heavily favored because it had an All-Star lineup of former college stars. Rutgers won 14-0. Robeson was a two-time All-America end. Frank Menke named him All-America in 1917 and 1918. Walter Camp picked him in 1918. (Camp did not name an All-America team in 1917.) Following college, Robeson played three years as a pro - 1920 with Hammond, 1921 with Akron and 1922 with Milwaukee - in the American Professional Football League. Robeson was reported to make as much as $500 a game, and he used the money to pay his way through law school at Columbia University. He obtained his law degree in 1923. At Rutgers, Robeson was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was valedictorian of the class of 1919. He won the college oratorical contest four straight years and gave the commencement address at graduation. Robeson won 12 letters in four sports - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. He stood 6-3 in height and his weight was listed at 191 in early years, at 215 his senior season. This man of many talents became an actor, singer and lecturer. He was on Broadway and in the movies. His rich basso made his signature song "Ol' Man River" a classic. He starred in plays - "The Emporer Jones", "Othello", "Showboat" and others - in the U.S., Europe and Africa. In 1925 he made a recording that sold 55,000 copies in four months. In 1972 he received the Whitney Young Memorial Award. Ebony Magazine called him "one of the 10 most important black men in American history." Rutgers named three buildings for him - a library on the Camden campus, a student center on the Newark campus and the Paul Robeson Cultural Center on the New Brunswick campus. A play, "Paul Robeson," was staged in 1982 with a Rutgers professor, Avery Brooks, in the title role. A biography, "Paul Robeson," by Martin Duberman was published in 1989. Paul Robeson was born April 9, 1898, in Princeton, N.J. His father, Rev. William Robeson, had escaped slavery in 1860 in North Carolina at age 15. His mother, Maria Bustill, was a teacher. when Paul was a high school senior, he won the statewide academic test and received a scholarship to Rutgers. In 1915 he was the third black to enter Rutgers and the first to play football. He died January 23, 1976. He was named to the Rutgers Sports Hall of Fame in 1988.

Harvey Harman

A former president of the American Football Coaches Association, Harman received that group's Amos Alonzo Stagg Award, symbolic of outstanding service to the profession.

It was not surprising that Harman achieved such acclaim, for he learned his football lessons from two of the game's mentors - Glenn "Pop" Warner and Jock Sutherland - while at Pittsburgh.

Harman was a starting tackle for the Panthers before taking his first coaching assignment at Haverford. From there he moved on to Sewanee (the University of the South), Pennsylvania and Rutgers.

It was at Rutgers that he had his greatest success, directing the Scarlet Knights to a 26-7-1 record before interrupting his career to serve in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Harman returned to Rutgers after the war and led the Scarlet Knights for another 10 seasons before accepting a position as Executive Director of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, Inc. In that capacity, Harman became known as the goodwill ambassador for football, continuing to serve the game until his death in 1969. His career record lists a slate of 140-104-7.

Homer Hazel

He parted his dark hair down the middle, in the fashion of the day, and his deepset eyes glowed with a competitive fire. Homer Hazel, Rutgers' first Hall of Famer, was, without doubt, the most versatile player the Scarlet ever produced.

A natural athlete, Hazel excelled in various sports and was most successful as a track and field star. His speed and quickness served him well, for he once recovered his own kickoff in the enemy end zone for a touchdown.

Homer led Rutgers to identical 7-1-1 records in his final two seasons, earning All-America laurels in each. He was an end in 1923, when the only Scarlet loss was to West Virginia (27-7). He had Rutgers on the way to an unbeaten finish in 1924 - this time as a hard-hitting fullback - when Bucknell untracked the Scarlet in the final game of the season, 12-7. During the 1924 campaign, Homer Hazel established school records for most points after a touchdown and longest completed pass.

He could do it all. Carrying 226 pounds over a 5-foot-11 frame, Homer lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track at Rutgers. He later served as Athletic Director, football and basketball coach at the University of Mississippi for more than five years. He was a golf pro for four years, and a labor relations manager for more than 20 years.

Hazel won his first letter in football at Rutgers in 1916. He left school because of a lack of funds. Hazel worked at various jobs and, at age 28, played football again at Rutgers. Walter Camp named him All-America end in 1923, All-America fullback in 1924. Hazel was born June 2, 1895, and died February 3, 1968.

George Foster Sanford

At the entrance to Rutgers Stadium, inscribed upon a bronze plaque, is a tribute to George Sanford. It was financed and installed by his players, the men "...he inspired to deeds beyond themselves."

Undoubtedly, Sanford was an inspirational leader of men, a gentleman who excelled as both player and coach. Sanford played center on the 1891 and 1892 Yale teams which held each of of their 26 opponents scoreless. Though he was never chosen to an All-America team, a 1927 poll named him the all-time Yale center.

Sanford began his coaching career at Columbia (1899-1901), called in to revive the football program which had been abandoned after the 1891 campaign. His 1899 team defeated Yale for the first time ever, and it was at Columbia that Sanford developed the famous "Flying Hurdle Play" which saw Harold Weekes catapaulted over the scrimmage line.

Moving to Rutgers (1913-23), Sanford had marked success as his club rolled to a 56-32-5 record. He was hailed as a "miracle worker" in 1917, after his Rutgers team beat heavily-favored Newport Naval Reserve All-Stars, 14-0. Between his teams at Columbia and Rutgers, Sanford devoted his energy toward a successful insurance brokerage business.

First Team All-Americans

Heisman Candidate Bill Austin

Bill Austin, a Fanwood, N.J. native and graduate of nearby Scotch Plains High School captured the imagination of the college football community in the late 1950's. His twisting, elusive running style helped him lead the Scarlet Knights in rushing for three straight seasons.

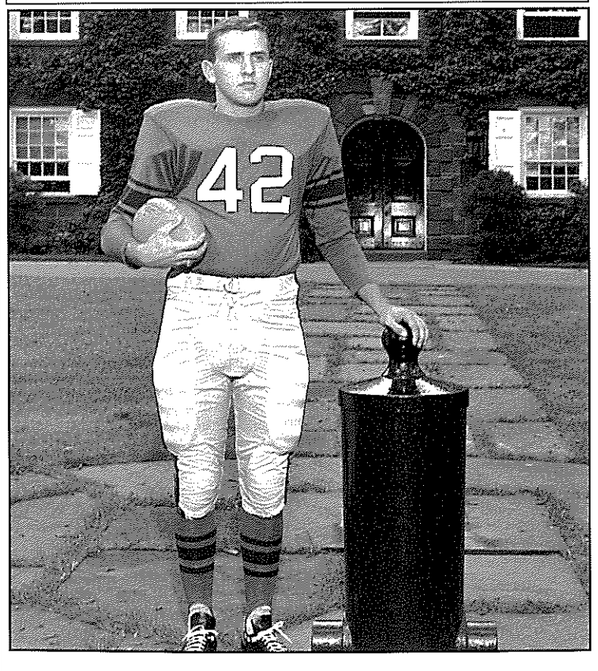

Not blessed with great size at 5-11, 170, the speedy Austin amassed 2,073 yards rushing and scored 204 points. He was a prototype single-wing tailback who, in his day, had few peers. His 32-touchdown career ranks second in the Rutgers annals among all-time scorers and he had 13 interceptions from his defensive back position, which is one short of the all-time mark.

A member of the inaugural Rutgers Football Hall of Fame Class in 1988, Austin was a first-team AP All-American selection in 1958. The 1958 Rutgers football media guide referred to Austin as "a natural leader with an even temperament."

The Scarlet's team captain in 1958, Austin led Rutgers to an 8-1 record with the lone blemish being a 13-12 defeat at the hands of the Quantico Marines. Rutgers fans from this era will recall that Austin was forced to sit out the Quantico Marines game with a hand injury. The Scarlet's first undefeated season came in 1961. The 1976 team also posted a perfect record. If not for an injury suffered by the team's best player, 1958 may have been Rutgers' first undefeated season.

An honorable mention lacrosse player for two seasons, Austin was selected by the Washington Redskins in the 1959 NFL draft.

Note: In 1995, Marco Battaglia became Rutgers' third First Team All-American

All-American Alex Kroll

The great Alex Kroll took a rather circuitous path on his way to Rutgers football stardom. The 6-2, 228-pound center excelled for two seasons at Yale before serving two years in the Army. After forming a friendship with 1957 Scarlet co-captain Art Robinson at Fort Campbell, Ken., Kroll transferred to Rutgers.

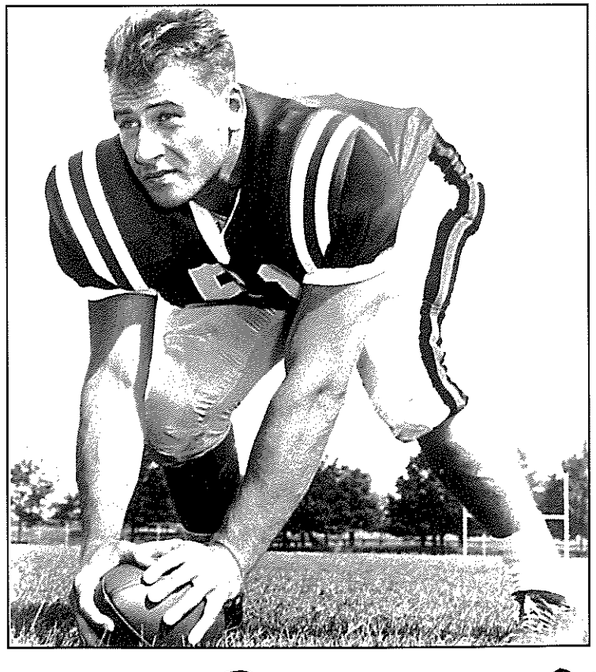

The Leechburg, Pa., native immediately gained the notice of the Rutgers coaching staff with his physical prowess, an asset that was only overshadowed by his keen intellect. The captain of the undefeated 1961 team, Kroll's senior biography in the 1961 Rutgers football media guide included the following anecdote: "his performance and leadership in 1960 helped Rutgers to a season which surpassed even the most optimistic of the previews. He has size, speed, hustle, and an uncanny ability to call defenses best equipped to stop the enemy."

It is no small coincidence that, in his two years "On the Banks," the Scarlet Knights amassed a 17-1 record.

An AP first-team All-American in 1961, Kroll, who was also a top-notch linebacker, was regarded as the finest center in the nation. A draft choice of the AFL's New York Titans, Kroll had a brief professional football career. However, his uncanny intelligence, leadership qualities and savvy, traits that he honed on the gridiron, have served him well in his long and prosperous business career.

A Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade-point average, Kroll served as the president and CEO of Young and Rubicam, the world's largest advertising company and credits much of his success to his football days at Rutgers.

Rutgers Hall of Fame-1996

Elmer "Toady" Bracher
Class of 1918

A halfback for his three years "On the Banks", Bracher also played baseball and basketball before the First World War cut short his career. The diminutive Bracher, at 5-5, 140-pounds, left Rutgers after his junior year to join the United States Army Infantry. During the 1913 season, he totaled 11 touchdowns. In 1915, he carried 183 times for 1,021 yards (for seven TDs), which stood as the Rutgers single season mark for 52 years until broken by Bryant Mitchell in 1968. That 1915 total still stands as the fifth-best single season and garnered him All-American mention. He held the school single-game rushing record which he set with 220 yards against Stevens in 1915. As a senior, he also gained over 1,000 yards. Bracher, native of Rahway, was named to "mythical" Rutgers Athletic Hall after a career which spanned 1913-16 and saw him score 26 touchdowns. Contemporary resident historian Pop Hart's statistics credited him with over 3,000 career rushing yards.

Tim Odell
Class of 1981

An honorable mention All-American and first-team Associated Press All-East pick in his record-setting senior season of 1980, Odell was also an honorable mention all-East selection in 1979. In 1980, he set the school mark with 49 catches (for 718 yards), which now holds the eighth spot on the single seasons list. His receiving yards that year are still the seventh-best single season performance. His 112 career receptions stands fifth-best on the all-time list as does his 1,702 career receiving yards. At the finish of his career in 1980, he was the career leader in receptions and receiving yards. A speedy and reliable receiver, his nine career scoring receptions ranks in a tie for nninth all-time. A four-year starter, the Summit, NJ native signed a free agent contract with the Cincinnati Bengals. The New Jersey Sports Writers Association named him their Amateur Athlete of the Year in 1980.

Bill Pickel
Class of 1983

Recently retired from the NFL after a successful 13-year career with Raiders and Jets, he holds the longest NFL tenure of any Rutgers football player. A starter with the Raiders and Jets, he is the owner of a Super Bowl championship ring with the Raiders in 1984. Pickel won four letters at Rutgers from 1979-82. He earned honorable mention Associated Press All-East honors in his junior year (1981), despite missing five games with a back injury but recorded 58 tackles and four sacks. The defensive lineman followed it up with a 40-tackle, 3-sack year in 1982, which was also shortened by his nagging back injury. In his sophomore campaign, he recorded 90 tackles and six sacks and also earned honorable mention AP All-East laurels. Selected in the second round of the NFL draft (54th pick overall) in 1983 by the Raiders, he was a Scarlet Knight tri-captain in 1982. The winner of the David Bender Trophy as the team's best lineman in 1982, the Cronin Trophy (most improved) in 1980 and the Touchdown Club Trophy in 1982, he ranks sixth in career sacks with 16 as well as 10th on the career unassisted tackles list with 160.

Earl Read
Class of 1950

A stalwart, starting offensive guard on the "Golden Era" teams, Read won three letters from 1947-49. During that time the Knights compiled a sterling 21-6 record when he blocked and opened holes for the likes of Frank Burns, Herm Hering, Harvey Grimsley and Hank Pryor. During the 1947 season, Rutgers won eight games by a margin of over three touchdowns per contest. His speed and power earned him an All-East selection by nationally-known writer Stanley Woodward. The coaches of the time recognized his play when he was chosen to play in the North-South All-Star game, for the nation's top college seniors. He was converted from tackle in his freshman year and played at 215 pounds. A Merchant Marine veteran and a native of Phillipsburg, he was captain of the 1949 Scarlet squad.

Steve Simms
Class of 1962

A first-team all-ECAC selection in 1960, Simms led the 1960 and 1961 teams in rushing with (613) and (614) yards, respectively. Described as the East's best fullback in his senior year, his best asset was his power running ability. He paced the 1960 team in scoring with six TDs, five via the rush with one scoring catch. In 1960, he scored five times to give him 10 rushing scores for his career. Perhaps his most famous end zone appearance came when he scored the go-ahead touchdown vs. Columbia to ensure the win and preserve the undefeated season in 1961. With 205 career rushes, he gained 1,240 career yards for an astounding 6.0 yards per attempt. Usually counted on to come through with the tough yardage, Simms rarely failed to pick up the necessary ground and lost only 15 yards in three seasons. Two older brothers, Gene and Bob, attended Rutgers and Bob was standout receiver and is a 1990 Hall of Fame inductee. A native of Charleston, WV, Simms earned three letters as Rutgers went 23-4 from 1959-61.

Scott Erney
Class of 1989

By far the most prolific passer in Rutgers football history, Erney was an honorable mention AP All-American in 1988. This Mechanicsburg, Pa., native was a three-time Homer Hazel Award winner and a co-winner of the Leslie Coursen Award. Erney holds every Rutgers major passing category record - yards (7,188) and completions (614). He holds the school record with 436 yards passing vs. Vanderbilt in 1988. He threw for more than 300 yards in a game on four occasions. He is also the single-season leader in attempts (374 in 1989), completions (208 in 1989) and yards (2,536 in 1989). A starter for the final three and a half years of his Rutgers career, Erney earned the starting quarterback spot with the Barcelona Dragons of the World League before a leg injury ended his professional career.

Jim Hughes
Class of 1978

One of the best linebackers in Rutgers history, Hughes was a heady ballplayer who had a real nose for the football. The Verona, N.J., native was an honorable mention AP All-American selection in 1976 and was a first-team ECAC selection in 1976 and 1978. He was the co-captain of the team in 1977 and has 10 career interceptions for 222 yards. Hughes' 113 tackles made him the leading tackler on the undefeated 1976 team and he added five interceptions (eighth-best single-season mark) for 133 yards. The 1976 Scarlet defense led the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense. He was named the ABC Defensive Player of the Game in the season-ending win over Colgate. Hughes was also the 1976 Cronin Trophy winner.

John "By" O'Hearn
Class of 1954

O'Hearn was rated as one of the East's outstanding linemen. The sturdy 6-0, 210-pounder was an honorable mention AP All-American as a center in 1954. O'Hearn was a Collliers' first-team All-East in 1954 and was the winner of the David Bender Trophy, emblematic of the team's top lineman. He served as co-captain of the 1954 team and played three years at guard before switching to center as a senior. Throughout his Rutgers career, O'Hearn was also a key cog in the Rutgers defense from his linebacker position. O'Hearn was known as a quick-charging blocker on offense and covered plenty of territory at linebacker. A native of Maplewood, N.J., O'Hearn was regarded as a powerful, aggressive player, supplying important punch up front on offense and steady, consistent play on defense.

Kennan Startzell
Class of 1980

A reliable placekicker who combined great accuracy with tremendous leg strength, Startzell parlayed these assets into becoming Rutgers' all-time leading scorer with 261 career points. The Levittown, Pa., native is also the school's all-time leader in field goals with 46. His field goal percentage of .590 (46-of-78) is sixth-best all-time. Startzell led the Scarlet Knights in scoring in 1976 and 1978 and was the Touchdown Trophy recipient in 1979, a year where he was named first-team AP All-East. Throughout his Rutgers career, Startzell was a poised, intelligent athlete who was one of the Knights' most valuable players. The four teams he played on posted a combined record of 36-9. Startzell's kicking exploits played a major role in many of those wins.

John Toohey
Class of 1915

Regarded as a rugged, intense performer, Toohey was an All-American defensive tackle in 1914, a season which saw him serve as captain of the Rutgers team. Toohey played both offensive and defensive tackle and excelled on both sides of the line. Toohey possessed all of the attributes needed to be an outstanding tackle. He had great size and was a rangy athlete as well. He was selected to the Rutgers Athletic Hall of Fame by the Committee of Six. Toohey was named to the Rutgers All-Time Football Team in the 1940's along with fellow Rutgers Hall of Famer Bob Nash.

Alan Andrews
Class of 1985

A second-team AP All-American selection as a tight end in 1984 and a second-team AP All-East choice in 1983, his 106 career receptions is the fifth-best mark all-time and his 1,224 yards receiving is the eighth-best total in school history. He also caught nine touchdown passes, which is tied for the eighth-best total in school history. His 48 receptions in 1983 is tied for the fifth-best mark. A co-captain of the 1984 team, Andrews came to Rutgers as a quarterback and was also a fine punter.

Larry Christoff
Class of 1973

An honorable mention All-American in 1972 as a tight end, he shared the Homer Hazel Award in 1972 with "JJ" Jennings as team's Most Valuable Player. He was a first-team AP All-East selection in 1972, and hauled in 68 career passes, and snared eight touchdown passes in 1970, which is tied for tenth in the single-season chart. He also caught three touchdown passes vs. Holy Cross. He signed a free agent contract with the Baltimore Colts in 1973.

Dan Gray
Class of 1978

A defensive tackle, Gray won the David Bender Trophy, emblamatic of the team's top lineman, in 1977. He was an integral member of the 1976 undefeated team. His 29 career quarterback sacks is second-best all-time and his 224 yards lost on those sacks is also second-best. He totaled 80 tackles in his senior season, including seven quarterback sacks. A durable performer, Gray started all 33 games over his last three seasons.

Frank Kelley
Class of 1919

Kelley was a third-team Walter Camp All-American in 1918 and was an honorable mention choice on the mythical Rutgers Athletic Roll of Honor by the Committee of Six. He scored 10 touchdowns in 1917, including four in one game. One of those scores was a six-year sneak through center in a tough, exciting 7-7 Neilson Field tie with West Virginia. He transferred to Yale in 1920 but returned in 1921 to become an assistant coach at Rutgers under George Foster Sanford.

Sam Mudie
Class of 1962

One of the most versatile players in Rutgers history, Mudie passed for 23 touchdowns in three seasons. He began his career as a single-wing tailback for two years, he also punted and was the leading pass defender with six interceptions. He completed 23-of-64 passes for 300 yards and four touchdowns in the 1961 undefeated season. He also gained 403 yards on 80 carries, scored 70 points, had six interceptions for 167 yards and returned a kickoff for 20 yards. Mudie was the Homer Hazel Award Winner in 1961, was president of his junior class and president of Phi Gamma Delta. He was the 1962 Coursen Award winner and also served as co-captain of the 1961 lacrosse team.

Henry Pryor
Class of 1950

Pryor was one of the top players in the late 1940's, the "Golden Era" of Rutgers football. He played and won a letter in 1946, left school for the 1947 season and returned to play in 1948 and 1949. He entered Rutgers after serving two years in the Marines. He averaged 6.1 yards and led team with 340 yards in 1948. He ran back 24 punts and six kickoffs for total of 643 yards, averaging 21.3 yards on runbacks, and led team in scoring with 36 points.

Lee Schneider
Class of 1970

A rugged linebacker, Schneider served as co-captain of the 1969 team and played in the famed Centennial Game vs. Princeton. He was a defensive mainstay for three years "On the Banks." He was an honorable mention AP All-East selection in 1969 and winner of the 1969 Touchdown Trophy Award. He later played with the New York Giants and the New York Titans of the AFL. An assistant coach at Rutgers from 1970 to 74, Schneider is currently the Dean of Students at Cook College.

Deron Cherry
Class of 1980

A second-team AP All-East selection in 1979 and 1980, a 1980 co-captain and the Homer Hazel Award winner as the team MVP in 1979, Cherry recorded nine career interceptions and punted for a record 39.4 career average. His 12-year career with the Kansas City Chiefs was highlighted by six Pro Bowl appearances, all as a starter. His commanding presence made the Chiefs' secondary the NFL's top unit. The Palmyra native received the Byron White Humanitarian award for his distinguished service to his team, community and country.

Ed McMichael
Class of 1980

A second-team AP All-East selection in 1980 after receiving honorable mention All-East honors in 1979. He engineered the stunning 1979 victory over Tennessee and established new passing marks in a two-year career. Also at the helm in the 1980 thriller against Alabama, McMichael passed for 3,584 yards and completed 292 passes for 61.6 completion percentage. A 1980 squad captain, he threw for 20 career touchdowns, four of which came in the 1980 Princeton game, the last scheduled against the Tigers. He also played briefly for the New Jersey Generals in the USFL.

John Powers
Equipment Manager
(1931-75)

Powers enjoyed a Rutgers career that encompassed four athletic directors and eight head football coaches. Considered "an institution of the University" by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics, he was a one-man staff proud of the services he warmly provided to thousands of athletes. His close relationships with coaches and players and his continuing interest in Scarlet Knight football endeared him to all as a gentle man in all respects.

Harvey Grimsley
Class of 1950

The leading scorer with 168 points for four varsity seasons during the "Golden Era" between 1946 and 1949, Grimsley tallied eight touchdowns in three of his four seasons, when the Scarlet Knights posted a 28-8 record. In 1947, the 26-year old Army veteran averaged over five yards per carry and scored 48 points for the third time in an outstanding career. He capped his career by racing 63 yards in characteristic fashion for a touchdown against Fordham in his final contest. He scored two or more touchdowns in a game 11 times.

Sam Picketts
Class of 1972

A tri-captain of the 1971 Scarlet Knights, won first-team ECAC linebacking honors in 1970 and 1971, along with second-team AP notice that year. The Homer Hazel Trophy winner in 1971, he was a prototype of the modern linebacker and he made the width of the field his province. He recorded seven career interceptions and led the team with five in 1971. He returned a theft 54 yards for a score against Harvard and also blocked a punt for a safety in a 9-0 victory over Lehigh in 1970.

Arnold "Arnie" Truex
Class of 1936

An honorable mention All-American and an All-East selection in 1934 as a triple-threat tailback, he went on to a remarkable 39-year teaching and coaching career in New Jersey. One of the nation's top punters and field goal experts during his playing career, he posted a 137-51-6 scholastic coaching record with six undefeated seasons and six state and conference titles. Co-founder of the Shore Conference, he also coached basketball, profoundly influencing thousands of students and athletes.

John Alexander Class of 1977

Alexander achieved honorable mention All-America honors in 1975. A first-team All-East selection in 1976, he teamed with Hall of Famer Nate Toran to head a Scarlet defense which was first in the nation in rushing defense, total defense and scoring defense. Alexander played on teams that amassed a 33-10-1 record, including the 11-0 mark in 1976. Drafted by the Miami Dolphins, he began his short-lived professional career with a broken foot and then had a career-ending shoulder operation in 1978.

Herman Hering Class of 1950

Hering led the Scarlet Knight rushers in 1946 and 1947, a period known as the "Golden Era" of Rutgers football. He gained 510 and 528 yards in back-to-back seasons and was named an honorable mention All-East tailback in 1947. His 80 points in 1946 ranked third-best in the East ahead of both of Army's Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside tandem of Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard. A four-year letterwinner as a baseball outfielder, he won 11 games as a pitcher, including two victories in the 1950 College World Series. His son, Bob, was the Knights' starting quarterback in the late 1970's.

Leon Root Class of 1951

The recipient of the David Bender Trophy twice as the team's leading lineman, Root was named the senior athlete of the year in 1950 and was presented with the Donald Leslie Coursen Award. An honorable mention All-East selection in 1950, Root played in the 1950 North-South Shrine game. Considered one of the nation's top centers after beginning his career as a running back, Root was also a top-notch linebacker. He served as president of the Class of 1950 and captained the 1950 squad.

Jack Emmer Class of 1967

An honored lacrosse coach for 25 years, he once held the game, season and career records for receptions. While his record for catches in a game has been tied (by Eric Young with 13 against Vanderbilt in 1988), his 237 receiving yards in the 1966 Holy Cross game remains a Rutgers record. Emmer, currently the lacrosse coach at Army, was a second-team lacrosse All-American in 1967 and was an All-East selection in football, as well as the team captain and MVP in 1966.

Dino Mangiero Class of 1980

Now a restauranteur in Staten Island, Mangiero co-captained the 1979 Scarlet squad and was a key force in the celebrated victory at Tennessee that season. A third-team Associated Press All-American and a first-team All-East pick, Mangiero contributed 288 career tackles and 26 quarterback sacks, figures that rank eighth and third, respectively, on the all-time lists. He went on to play with four NFL teams in Kansas City, Seattle, San Francisco and New England.

Ed Steward Class of 1981

Steward was an AP honorable mention All-American and a first-team All-East pick in 1978 as a middle guard. Asked to move to a linebacking post for his final two seasons, he played with the same intensity that won him those honors. A veteran of Desert Storm and still in the U.S. Army, he had two key interceptions in the victory over Tennessee in 1979 and also had 15 tackles in the Garden State Bowl game against Arizona State in 1978. In his three seasons, Rutgers posted a 25-9 record as he contributed 222 career tackles and 13 quarterback sacks.

Dr. Joel Fertig Team Dentist for 45 Years

A fixture on the Rutgers athletic scene for nearly a half-century, Fertig entered the Hall of Fame for his impact on the program. A Mississippi State graduate, he is credited with being the first dentist in the East to introduce mouthpieces to high school athletes. He endowed a football scholarship and was a past president of the Touchdown Club.

Bryant Mitchell Class of 1969

Mitchell led Rutgers in rushing and scoring for three consecutive seasons and gained 2,286 career rushing yards, running 495 times, scoring 21 touchdowns and scoring 132 points, all marks still among the top 10 in Scarlet history. A first-team AP All-East selection in 1968, he was the Homer Hazel Trophy winner as a senior. In 1968, Mitchell gained over 100 yards in nine of 10 games, averaging an even five yards a carry and completing his career with a 4.6-yard average.

Walter Winika Class of 1936

He was considered one of the East's top ends during the 1930's, is a member of the all-time All-Rutgers football team which was selected in 1940. He scored the only touchdown allowed by the celebrated 1933 Princeton team and was credited with winning, virtually single-handedly, the Boston University game in 1935. Compared often to Paul Robeson, Winika was killed in a plane crash at Trinidad in 1942, the first varsity athlete from Rutgers to perish in World War II.

Andrew Baker Class of 1984

Known as "Shake and Bake," the Trenton native graduated as the all-time record holder for reception yardage (2,268) and receptions (127). The yardage record still stands and his 127 catches now places him third all-time. Baker, an Associated Press Honorable Mention All-American and first-team All-East selection in 1984, received the Homer Hazel Trophy as the team's most valuable player that year. His 857 receiving yards in 1983 is still the all-time single-season record. Baker was known for the acrobatic, leaping catches that he routinely made.

Al Garrett Class of 1919

Garrett captained the 1919 Rutgers squad and starred at several positions on both offense and defense. Tabbed a "human bullet" by his coach, George Foster Sanford, Garrett was a third-team Walter Camp All-American in 1916. He later played and coached at the professional level and taught at Rutgers-Newark for 20 years while also gaining fame as an official.

Mike Stang Athletic Trainer for 33 Years

Stang was revered for his concern for the athletes under his care. Stang coached baseball at St. Peter's High School and was also a highly-respected and well-known official for many years. Retiring in 1966, he was twice given testimonial dinners attended by hosts of former Rutgers athletes.

John Bateman Head Coach (1960-72)

Now living in New Hampshire, Bateman directed the Scarlet Knights to an 8-1 record in his first season and followed that with an unblemished 9-0 mark in 1961, the first undefeated season for Rutgers. In his 13 seasons as head coach, Rutgers posted a mark of 73-51. Fondly known as "Dr. John," Bateman had a storied coaching career, which was highlighted also by the 1969 Centennial Game victory over Princeton.

William "Bucky" Hatchett President of the Class of 1950

Hatchett established records in football, basketball and track and is considered one of Rutgers' greatest all-around athletes. The first basketball player to score over 1,000 points and a record-setter in the high hurdles and the high jump, Hatchett shared the record with three touchdown receptions in a game for more than 40 years. He was inducted into the Rutgers Basketball Hall of Fame in 1994. He currently lives in Spotsylvania, Va.

Vinnie Utz Class of 1942

Utz captained the 1941 Rutgers squad and was an honorable mention All-American that season, when he led Rutgers in rushing and keyed a 7-2 season. One of the most colorful of Rutgers athletes, "The Wizard of Utz" was also a member of the 7-1-1 team in 1939. A decorated war hero, he remained a flamboyant follower of Rutgers football during his professional career at Johnson & Johnson.

Philip Brett Class of 1892

Brett captained the 1892 Rutgers team and later served as acting president of the University in 1930-31. A longtime Trustee, he was, at one time, identified as the author of the famous statement, "I'd die for dear old Rutgers." Brett embraced the University and was singularly influential in major decisions made by the State University.

Mike Kushinka Class of 1949

Kushinka was the first recipient of the David Bender Trophy as the top lineman on the 1949 squad. An All-East selection in 1947, he played on teams that combined for a 22-5 record. Kushinka now serves the Bender Trust as treasurer. He and his family have close ties to Rutgers. His wife has a Rutgers doctorate and two daughters have master's degrees from the State University. One daughter earned two letters as a Rutgers football manager and another covers Rutgers football for radio station WCTC. The Kushinkas live in Bridgewater.

Bruce Van Ness Class of 1970

Van Ness was the ECAC Football Sophomore of the Year in 1967 and played sensationally at five different positions for the Scarlet Knights. He accounted for 2,216 all-purpose yards over his collegiate career, which was capped by his selection as the most valuable player in the 1969 North-South All-Star game. Van Ness, now living in Rumson, was named Rookie of the Year in the Canadian Football League in 1970 and enjoyed an outstanding career with the Montreal Alouettes.

Thomas Turner Barr Class of 1913

Judged too small to play football at Rutgers after a tryout as a freshman, he became a manager of the team as a senior in 1913. Upon his death in 1949, Barr bequeathed much of his estate to Rutgers. The fortune was held in trust for his wife with the stipulation that, upon her death, the money would go to the university to provide football scholarships. Mrs. Barr died in 1966. In 1967, the first Barr scholarships were awarded to four student-athletes - Murray Bakst, Steve Ferrughelli, Leo Smith and Kevin O'Connor. He originally established his trust fund, it is said, in 1931 with the thought of helping Rutgers build a football stadium.

David T. Bender Class of 1925

A native of Bethlehem, Pa., Bender entered Rutgers in 1921 and played four years of football and lacrosse. He was a tackle and center on the famed 1923 and 1924 squads, which posted identical 7-1-1 records. He received All-America recognition in lacrosse in 1924. He later became an assistant coach at Rutgers under both Harry Rockafeller and Harvey Harman. The David Bender Trophy has been awarded each year since 1947 to the squad's top offensive and defensive linemen. He was elected posthumously.

John DeWitt Class of 1886

DeWitt captained the 1884 football squad and earned seven letters in two periods of play. The New Brunswick native played on teams between 1883 and 1886, and, returning from railroad work in Iowa to become a mathematics instructor and an assistant in English composition, played again between 1889 and 1891. The gifted athlete also captained the baseball team as a shortstop, was a talented tennis player and was a "first rusher" on the polo (roller hockey) team. On the gridiron, DeWitt gained fame as a runner and dropkicker and starred in the first game on Neilson Field in 1891.

James Dumont Class of 1984

A third-team All-American linebacker in 1983, he was a co-captain of the 1983 Rutgers football team and received Associated Press first-team All-East honors in 1982 and 1983 after receiving honorable mention All-East recognition in 1981. He was an honorable mention All-American in 1982. Dumont, whose twin brother, Bob, won three football letters as a Scarlet Knight defensive end, arrived at Rutgers as a 170-pounder. His career produced 405 tackles, a Rutgers record until broken by Tyrone Stowe in 1986. Drafted by the Cleveland Browns in 1984, Dumont played in 17 games for the Browns that year and then with the New Jersey Generals of the USFL in 1985.

Harvey J. Harman Head Coach (1938-41, 46-55)

A native of Selingsgrove, Pa., Harman was a four-year starter as a tackle for Pittsburgh (Class of 1922) teams under Glenn "Pop" Warner. He arrived at Rutgers in 1938 and produced a 25-7-1 record in his first four seasons before receiving a commission as a lieutenant commander in the U.S. Naval Reserve and serving in several sea campaigns in the Far East. Harman returned to Rutgers in 1945 as head football coach and, in the next 10 seasons, posted a 48-37-1 mark. Overall, his record for 14 seasons at Rutgers was 73-44-2. Active in football for over half a century, Harman retired in 1955 and headed the National Football Foundation, then located in New Brunswick, until his death on December 17, 1969.

Edward Jones Class of 1975

The Middletown (N.J.) HS graduate still shares the Rutgers all-time interception record with 14. A co-captain of the 1974 squad, Jones was an Associated Press Honorable Mention All-East selection in 1972. and a second-team AP All-East choice in 1973. He led the Scarlet squad with seven interceptions in 1974 and was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys in the ninth round in 1975. He started at strong safety for the Buffalo Bills in 1975 and continued his brilliant career in Canadian football with the Edmonton Eskimos and the British Columbia Lions from 1976 until 1985. He led the league with 11 interceptions in 1980, was an All-Conference choice for four consecutive seasons and played on five Grey Cup championship teams.

James F. Monahan Class of 1952

"Mighty Mo," who was named to the first-team All-East squad in 1951 by Collier's Magazine and by the American Football Coaches Association, captained the 1951 Rutgers team and was the squad's leading rusher in 1950 and 1951. His 81-yard run against Temple in 1951 remains the longest run from scrimmage in Rutgers football history. The West Haven, Conn., native earned three letters in baseball and helped Rutgers post a 17-5 record in 1950, when the diamond squad won the District 2 title and finished as co-runner-up in the NCAA Tournament.

Richard F. Policastro Class of 1970

A first-team All-East selection in 1969, he tossed 14 touchdown passes that season and led Rutgers to a 29-0 victory over Princeton in the nationally-televised Centennial Game, celebrating the 100th anniversery of football. A year earlier, in his first season after transferring from VMI, Policastro established six passing marks - 15 touchdown passes, 994 yards, four TD passes in a game, 17 completions and 30 pass attempts in a game, and 309 yards in a game. In 1969, the Highland Park native threw a record five TD passes against Colgate.

Robert Simms Class of 1960

Simms led the Scarlet Knights in reception yardage for three consecutive seasons, gaining 180, 468 and 345 yards for the years between 1957 and 1959. The 993 career yards ranked eighth-best on the all-time Scarlet charts for years. In 1958, Simms caught a single-season record nine touchdown passes and was second on the charts with 13 for his career. His 64 points in 1958 ranked 10th in the nation. A first-team All-East selection after getting honorable mention recognition in 1957, Simms was a ninth-round draft choice of the New York Giants as well as a fourth-round choice of Houston of the AFL, in 1960.

William Tranawitch Class of 1940

Known as "Big Train," the Norwood, Mass., native captained the 1939 Rutgers team and was the nation's third-leading scorer with 90 points that year. He was the author of numerous memorable performances and in the Rutgers Stadium Dedication Game in 1938, he scored the first Rutgers touchdown in the celebrated 20-18 victory over Princeton. The Knights went on to post a 7-1 record, the best-ever to that point in Rutgers football history.

Henry Benkert Class of 1925

A consensus newspaper All-American in 1924, "Heinie" led the East in scoring with 100 points. He was also a second-team All-American in lacrosse, Benkert gained 2,124 yards during his career, still the sixth-best figure in Rutgers history. He served on the Rutgers football staff between 1944 and 1949 and played professionally with the New York Giants and three other pro teams. Benkert was elected posthumously.

Frank Burns Class of 1949

The winningest coach in Rutgers football history, "Flinging Frank" quarterbacked the Scarlet Knights to a four-year, 27-7 record in the late forties. An honorable mention All-American, he was named the MVP of the 1949 College All-Star game, amassing 17 tackles as a linebacker against the New York Giants. As head coach between 1973 and 1983, he recorded a masterful 78-43-1 mark.

Dr. Hyman B. Copleman Class of 1929

"Copey" gained the respect and admiration of thousands of Rutgers athletes in his 50 years as team physician. One of the nation's most highly-decorated physicians of World War II, the humanitarian and philanthropist became known as the Dean of Sports Medicine in New Jersey. "Copey" received the Rutgers Medal and the Loyal Son of Rutgers Medal and established the Copleman Scholarship Fund for scholar-athletes majoring in the biological sciences and pre-medical studies. Copleman was elected posthumously.

John "Jack" Grossman Class of 1932

A prototype triple-threat tailback, Grossman, now living in Chile, received honorable mention All-American recognition in 1931 and went on to play with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the NFL for four seasons. He also played professional baseball and soccer in Latin America. Grossman captained the 1931 Rutgers squad.

James "JJ" Jennings Class of 1975

This crunching runner led the nation in scoring in 1973, tallying 128 points, earning All-America honors and establishing Rutgers records with 2,935 career yards, 605 attempts and 33 touchdowns. He also owns the single-game marks of 40 attempts, and held the record of 230 yards for nearly 20 years. Still a resident of Holyoke, Mass., Jennings, who played professionally with the Memphis Southmen and the Philadelphia Bell of the World Football League, was the league's Rookie of the Year in 1974.

William T. Leggett Class of 1872

Leggett served as captain of the first Rutgers football team. While many of the Rutgers and Princeton players were socializing before the inaugural game on November 6, 1869, Leggett and the Princeton captain, William S. Gummere, developed the afternoon's rules of play. Under Leggett's leadership and tactical guidance, the Scarlet eked out a 6-4 victory. Leggett later became a distinguished clergyman of the Dutch Reformed Church.

Harry Rockafeller Class of 1916 Head Coach (1927-30, 42-45) Dir. of Athletics (1953-61)

"Rocky" recorded a 33-26 overall mark. One of the founders of the Eastern Intercollegiate Lightweight Football League, he coached the 150-pounders between 1933 and 1937, posting a 22-3-1 record. Associated with the university in various capacities for nearly 40 years, the 1915 All-American end served as director of athletics between 1953 and 1961. Affectionately known as "Mr. Football," Rockafeller also served as mayor of Piscataway for two years. Rockafeller was elected posthumously.

George Foster Sanford Head Coach (1913-23)

Sanford was elected to the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame in 1971. A legend for his innovations and strategies, he also coached at Columbia at the turn of the century and is remembered with a plaque at Rutgers Stadium for his lasting influence on the character of his players. From 1913-1923, he led Rutgers to a fine 56-32-5 record. This period is recognized in Rutgers sports lore as the "Sanford Era." Sanford was elected posthumously.

Howard Parker Talman Class of 1916

"Tal" captained the 1915 Rutgers squad and scored a single-game record of 48 points on six touchdowns and 12 extra points against RPI. That season, he scored 138 total points, at the time, a Scarlet record. On various All-America teams, Talman was recognized as a guard in 1913, as a halfback in 1914, and as a fullback in 1915. The versatile athlete played professionally for the Detroit Heralds and the Massillon Tigers. Talman was inducted posthumously.

William W. Austin Class of 1959

A first-team All-American in 1958, Austin, though diminutive at 5-11, 170, amassed 2,073 yards and scored 204 points as he led the Scarlet in rushing for three years from his single-wing tailback spot. His 32 touchdowns rank second among the all-time scorers and he had 13 interceptions. Austin was also a two-time honorable mention lacrosse All-American at Rutgers.

Homer H. Hazel Class of 1925

Hazel was elected to the National Football Hall of Fame in 1951. He won All-America honors in 1923 as an end and repeated in 1924 as a fullback. The father of three children, "Pop" was an honor society member and president of his class and performed Bunyan-esque feats on the field. Hazel was elected posthumously and the Rutgers Team MVP is named in his honor.

Alexander Kroll Class of 1962

An All-American at center and linebacker in 1961, Kroll led the Scarlet to its first undefeated season in 1961 (9-0) and spearheaded a two-season mark of 17-1. He was known for his smarts, toughness and savvy in the trenches. A Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade-point average, Kroll was the president and CEO of Young and Rubicam, the world's largest advertising agency.

George E. Little Dir. of Athletics (1932-53)

Little was inducted into the coaching ranks of the National Football Hall of Fame in 1955. He coached at four colleges, including Michigan and Wisconsin, before coming to Rutgers where he was the dynamic force in the construction of the original Rutgers Stadium. Little was elected posthumously.

Robert A. Nash Class of 1916

Known as "Nasty," Nash was named to Walter Camp's 1914 second-team All-America list in his junior season and went on to a superb 10-year professional career. In 1921, he was traded by Akron to Buffalo in the first such NFL transaction and later had the distinction of being the first captain of the New York Giants in 1925. Nash was elceted posthumously.

William Pellington Class of 1952

A versatile player for the Scarlet for two years, Pellington earned major acclaim as a 12-year member of the Baltimore Colts. Pellington was the Colts starting middle linebacker in the famous 1958 NFL Championship game, which saw Baltimore defeat the Giants in overtime at Yankee Stadium. Also a member of the 1959 World Champion Colt squad, he played through the 1964 season, when the Colts again went to the title game, however, losing to Cleveland. He operated a Baltimore restaurant for 20 years. He died in 1994.

Paul L. Robeson Class of 1919

A 12-time letterwinner at Rutgers, Robeson was chosen an All-American in 1918 by Walter Camp, who called him the greatest end to "ever trod the gridiron." The second-highest ranking student in his graduating class, he was the first Rutgers player chosen a first-team All-American. After receiving a law degree from Columbia, Robeson went on to become a world reknown singer, athlete and social leader. Robeson was elected posthumously.

Nathaniel Toran Class of 1977

A third-team All-American in 1975, Toran was a second team choice in 1976 and a Kodak first-team All-American when he led the Scarlet to an undefeated season. He captained a defensive unit that topped the nation in three defensive categories and his 52 sacks in three seasons seems a career record beyond the reach of mere mortals.

David A. "Sonny" Werblin Class of 1931

The former president of the Rutgers Foundation, Werblin launched his business career as a free lance newspaper reporter while still a student and went on to become president of the Music Corporation of America from 1952 until 1965. After serving as president of the New York Jets until 1968, he was the guiding light of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority for seven years and then took over the leadership of Madison Square Garden in 1978. He died in 1991.

The Garden State Bowl

Prior to Garden State Bowl I, there had been only a few attempts to stage a post-season bowl game in the Northeast because of unpredictable weather conditions in mid- or late-December. The Liberty Bowl was started in 1960 in Philadelphia and was staged there through 1964, then moved indoors in Atlantic City in 1965 before going to warmer climates in Memphis, Tenn., in 1966. The Gotham Bowl was held in the Polo Grounds in 1961, with Baylor defeating Utah State, 24-9, and, in its second try in 1962 in Yankee Stadium, Nebraska defeated Miami, 36-34, reportedly in 17-degree weather.

But, on Dec. 16, 1978, the thermometer in Giants Stadium read an unseasonable 40 degrees. And, despite the pre-game hope by the Rutgers squad that it would be much colder as it entertained an Arizona State team accustomed to playing in warm weather, Rutgers was hot at the start.

A two- or three-touchdown underdog to the 8-3 Sun Devils (who had defeated rival Arizona in the regular season finale and also owned a victory over the otherwise undefeated Southern Cal), Rutgers gained possession after an Arizona State punt at its own 32 and moved to the Sun Devil 47 in four plays. David Dorn then went off his right tackle, reversed his field and raced the distance down the left side for the game's first score. Kennan Startzell's extra point made it a 7-0 ball game early and the visitors were shocked further when Ed Steward recovered a fumble and Startzell booted his longest-ever field goal to that point in his career. The 46-yarder gave the Scarlet a 10-0 lead.

On the next Arizona State possession, Bob Hynoski intercepted a Mark Malone pass and raced 36 yards to the Sun Devil four-yard line. The count might have gone to 17-0 but Dorn fumbled at the two and the visitors took over.

Unable to add to the lead, Rutgers gave up the ball at the Scarlet 44 with 1:53 remaining in the half and the Sun Devils got on the scoreboard when Malone hit Bob Weathers in the end zone from the 14. A play earlier, Malone was trapped on a fourth and 10 play but shook loose to connect for a first down. Instead of 17-0 or 10-0, it was a 10-7 game at the half.

Malone tossed 26 and 47-yard touchdowns in the third period to MVP John Mistler and Chris DeFrance to give Arizona State a 21-10 lead in the third period and ran in from the one early in the final frame for a 28-10 lead. Lethargic for a period and a half, Rutgers rebounded with 5:49 left in the game when Ted Blackwell scored on a five-yard run and then caught a two-point conversion pass from Ed McMichael.

"They were on their way to a nice, neat orderly finish," wrote syndicated columnist Jerry Izenberg. "And then, Kennan Startzell kicked the ball.

"Mechanically, it was the perfect squibbler. It had been done on a million football fields and when it works the kicking team recovers. The ball bounced off of Arizona State's Morris Williams...it bounced off of Rutgers' Mark Freeman...it skidded under the belly of Arizona State's Henry Pollard and came to rest underneath Rutgers' Craig Nielsen - in the Arizona State endzone. This is not unlike bunting for a home run.

"One official signalled touchdown - six points for Rutgers. A second apparently signalled touchback - Arizona's ball on its own 20. A third signalled toward the heavens with outstretched hands, which according to the annotated NCAA Hymnal and Prayer Book means: Why me, O Lord?

"But, back upfield lay a yellow flag. Rutgers was said to have been offsides on the kickoff and that ruling held. Instead of a 28-24 count and a possible 28-26 ballgame, the score reverted to 28-18 with 4:44 to go. In the game's final minute, Malone scored on a four-yard run for the closing 34-18 scoreboard count.

The weather had cooperated, the 33,402 fans had had their fill, the ball had nearly bounced in Rutgers' favor and it was a devil of a day. The Garden State Bowl would continue for three more years and would give way to the current post-season classic format.

All-Time Greatest Games

Over the past 125 years, Rutgers has been involved in more than 1,000 football games. To determine the 10 greatest games is a subjective and perhaps unfair task. The members of the Office of Sports Media Relations recently put their collective heads together and came up with the following selections.

Among the other games considered were: Rutgers 20, Princeton 18: Nov. 5, 1938 (dedication of Rutgers Stadium); Rutgers 22, Columbia 19: 1961 (the game which clinched RU's first unbeaten season); Rutgers 20, Boston College 13:1991 (first BIG EAST football game); Rutgers 21, Pittsburgh 16, Sept. 17: 1992 (the first night game and ESPN telecast from Rutgers Stadium); Rutgers 17, West Virginia 12: Sept. 10, 1994 (dedication of the "new" Rutgers Stadium).

There are countless other games from various eras which are worthy of mention. Any suggestions are welcome and encouraged. Please call John Beisser, Assistant Director of Sports Media Relations, at (908) 445-4200.

1 - November 6, 1869
Rutgers 6, Princeton 4
New Brunswick, N.J.

As the first college football game ever played, this contest gets the nod as the No. 1 game of all time on the basis of its historical significance. The game bore little resemblance to its modern counterpart. The teams were comprised of 25 members each and the game was contested under rugby-like rules. Princeton had more muscle but Rutgers executed better throughout. In an account in the school newspaper, The Daily Targum, it was written that "Rutgers' great point was its organization, for which great praise is due to the captain (William J. Leggett). The right men were always in the right place." After this day, college football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia University started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the East's colleges and universities were represented on the gridiron.

2 - November 3, 1979
Neyland Stadium, Knoxville, Tenn.

Rutgers has posted its share of monumental upsets in its long and proud tradition, but this one ranks right at the top. Ranked 17th in the nation, the overwhelmingly-favored Volunteers were expected to make short work of Rutgers on Homecoming Day. Knoxville Journal sports editor, Ben Byrd, in his game day column, repeatedly asked the question "what are Rutgers?" A few hours later, Byrd, along with the 84,265 fans on hand, had their answer. Quarterback Ed McMichael was nothing short of brilliant. On this day, the slender and crafty signal-caller had his cannon-like right arm primed and ready for action. His pinpoint accuracy was uncanny as he connected on 11-of-12 passes for 174 yards. McMichael hit David Dorn on a 37-yard touchdown toss with five seconds left in the first half to forge a 7-7 tie. Middle guard Ed Steward, who would come up with a huge second quarter interception, led a spirited Scarlet defense. A pair of Kennan Startzell field goals (43 and 32 yards) in the third quarter proved the difference. Head coach Frank Burns called it the greatest win of his coaching career.

3 - October 31, 1992
Rutgers Stadium, Piscataway, N.J.

This is one Rutgers fans will talk about for all eternity while Hokie fans still try to put it behind them. The first lead Rutgers ever had in the game came as time expired. More on that later. At one point in the first quarter, the Knights trailed 28-7. The Homecoming Day fans at Rutgers Stadium had no idea at this point what was in store. Behind the passing of Bryan Fortay (24-of-45, 338 yards, four touchdowns) and the running of Craig Mitter (17 carries, 148 yards), Rutgers stormed back. Trailing 49-44 with just 1:32 left in the game, the Scarlet moved to the Hokie 15-yard line on the strength of five Fortay completions. With five seconds remaining, Fortay hit wide receiver Chris Brantley (8 catches, 24 yards) in the back right corner of the end zone and pandemonium broke out. The teams combined for 1,164 yards and 99 points. Every fan in the stadium that day knew they had witnessed something very special.

4 - September 24, 1988
Rutgers 21, Penn State 16
Beaver Stadium, University Park, Pa.

On this day, Rutgers finally slayed the giant. Fans listening to radios up and down College Avenue let out a huge roar when Penn State quarterback Tony Sacca's fourth-down pass into the end zone fell harmlessly incomplete. A pair of third-quarter touchdown runs by Mike Botti and a heroic goal-line stand in the final seconds gave Rutgers its first win over Penn State in 70 years. The Lions had won 15 straight games in the series. Rutgers took a 14-10 lead on a third quarter 11-yard scamper by Botti. With 4:30 left in the period, Botti raced 57 yards for a touchdown which staked Rutgers to a 21-10 lead. Penn State cut the deficit to five with a fourth quarter score. The Lions took over with just over three minutes to go. At the 53-second mark, Penn State had a first-and-10 at the Scarlet three-yard line. The Rutgers defense then held off two running plays and then successfully defended two passes, taking over on downs with just 12 seconds to play. Botti finished with 112 yards on 18 carries. Quarterback Scott Erney completed nine passes, including a 38-yard touchdown strike to Eric Young.

5 - October 11, 1980
Alabama 17, Rutgers 13
Giants Stadium, East Rutherford, N.J.

Rutgers, led by future NFL defensive stalwarts Deron Cherry and Dino Mangiero, played its heart out against the No. 1-ranked team in the nation before coming up a tad short. Don Jacobs fired consecutive passes of 23 and 49 yards to James Mallard, the latter producing a third quarter touchdown, as 'Bama survived a major scare en route to its 26th straight victory. Jacobs' strike to Mallard gave the Tide a 17-6 lead. A crowd of 58,107 watched on in near disbelief as Rutgers middle guard Ed Steward recovered an Alabama fumble on the Crimson Tide 26 late in the third quarter. Rutgers converted the turnover into a touchdown two plays later when McMichael tossed a nine-yard pass to Albert Ray. Trailing by four points with less than eight minutes to play, Rutgers' Ken Smith returned a punt 41 yards to the 'Bama 33, but defensive back Ricky Clements blitzed McMichael for a 13-yard loss on third down to end the threat. Afterwards, Alabama coach Paul "Bear" Bryant graciously said, "We didn't beat Rutgers, that's for sure. All I can say is we won."

All-Time Greatest Games

6 - November 18, 1976
Rutgers 17, Colgate 9
Giants Stadium, East Rutherford, N.J.

Thanksgiving Night, 1976. Every long-time Rutgers football fan will remember where they were on that fateful evening. The Scarlet Knights took a 10-0 record into the Colgate game, 15 years to the date that Rutgers had first put together a perfect season on the gridiron. With Rutgers leading, 17-9, following Mark Lassiter's five-yard touchdown run with just 1:12 remaining, Colgate moved from its own 33 to the Scarlet eight in eight quick plays. On second-and-10, Red Raider quarterback Bob Relph passed into the end zone with one second showing on the clock. It is believed that large numbers of Rutgers fans, of the 33,405 assembled on that chilly evening, missed the play because of closed eyes and impassioned prayer. Many more television viewers watching the game on ABC probably also missed the play. What they missed in the season's final second was Scarlet cornerback Don Harris going high to knock down the pass in front of the goal post and thus averting a possible tie (with the two-point try). Rutgers had its second undefeated season in 108 years of football. Giants Stadium rang out with bells, courtesy of the huge message board which pictured the famed tolling bells of Old Queens. Bedlam broke loose.

7 - September 27, 1969
Rutgers Stadium, Piscataway, N.J.

The ABC-TV cameras made their way to the Rutgers campus for the very first time. The cameras, along with an overflow crowd of 31,000, were on hand for the game which celebrated the centennial of college football. It was the most lopsided Rutgers win in the 60 games played between the teams and was accomplished via great defense (Princeton's new Wing-T got only two first downs in the first half) and Rich Policastro's accurate right arm. Policastro hit 12 of his first 14 passes and Rutgers led, 21-0, at halftime. Policastro scored first on a rollout, Bruce Van Ness scored on a plunge and Policastro passed to Bob Stonebraker to complete the first half scoring. The game's other touchdown was on a pass from Mike Yancheff to Joe Barone. As was the case 100 years earlier, the northern rival hard by the Raritan River, came up victorious.

8 - December 6, 1978, Garden State Bowl
Arizona State 34, Rutgers 18
Giants Stadium, East Rutherford, N.J.

The thermometer in Giants Stadium read an unseasonable 40 degrees for Rutgers' first bowl game appearance. And, despite the pre-game hope by the Rutgers squad that it would be much colder as it entertained an Arizona State team accustomed to playing in warm weather, Rutgers was hot at the start. A two- to three-touchdown underdog to the 8-3 Sun Devils (winners over Arizona and USC). Rutgers clung to a 10-7 halftime lead following a well-played first half. The Sun Devils, behind the passing combination of quarterback Mark Malone and wide receiver John Mistler, a pair of future NFL players, opened a commanding 28-10 fourth quarter lead. Rutgers rebounded with 5:49 left in the game when Ted Blackwell scored on a five-yard run and then caught a two-point conversion pass from quarterback Ed McMichael, who had replaced starting signal-caller Bob Hering. The ensuing Rutgers onsides kick somehow found its way into the ASU end zone. Rutgers thought it had recovered it for a touchdown, which would have sliced the deficit to 28-23. Following a long conference by the officials, it was ruled that Rutgers was offsides on the play. No touchdown, no comeback prayer. The Devils then punched in the final score to make it 34-18.

9 - September 10, 1988
Rutgers 17, Michigan State 13
Spartan Stadium, East Lansing, Mich.

Opening day, 1988. Rutgers caught a break when it was learned before the game that Tony Mandarich, the Spartans' Goliath-sized All-American offensive tackle was unavailable. At game time, the Scarlet Knights started making their own breaks. There were heroes galore in the road victory over the Rose Bowl champion and 15th-ranked Spartans. Quarterback Scott Erney was sharp, hitting on 25-of-36 passes for 239 yards. He found flanker Eric Young on a 61-yard score in the second quarter and came back with an 18-yard touchdown strike to split end Brett Mersola off a deflection. Young caught nine passes for 124 yards. Carmen Sclafani rounded out the day's scoring for RU with a 39-yard second quarter field goal. Spartan quarterback Bobby McAllister tallied the lone MSU touchdown on the day on a third-quarter one-yard keeper. Clinging to a four-point lead, the tired Rutgers defense was on the verge of bucking when linebacker Doug Kokoskie recovered a Blake Ezor fumble. The Scarlet offense ran out the clock. Eight years earlier, Rutgers shocked Tennessee of the SEC. On this day, the Big Ten learned a little more about Rutgers football.

10 - September 14, 1985
Rutgers 28, Florida 28
Florida Field, Gainseville, Fla.

The odds would have been stacked against the Scarlet Knights if one simply considered the stifling heat coming off the astroturf and the more than 71,000 rabid, orange-clad 'Gator fans. Throw in the fact that Rutgers was facing the No. 2-ranked team in the nation, well, let's just say the odds were stacked. Rutgers jumped out to a 7-0 lead on a one-yard first quarter run by Albert Smith. Florida, behind All-American quarterback Kerwin Bell, then reeled off the next 21 points to go up by 14 at the half. The 'Gators opened the lead to 28-7 in the third quarter. With the game seemingly in hand, Florida coach Galen Hall took Bell out of the game. Rutgers sprung into action at this point. Defensive end Todd McIver returned an interception 48 yards for a touchdown - Florida 28-Rutgers 14. Rutgers came up with a big defensive series which led to a one-yard Smith touchdown - Florida 28-Rutgers 20. Amidst the nervous grumblings in the stands, quarterback Bell was rushed back into the game but Rutgers had already regained all of the momentum. Rutgers got the ball back again and quarterback Joe Gagliardi found tight end Bruce Campbell over the middle for a 16-yard score with just 35 seconds to play - Florida 28, Rutgers 26. "Gags" then hit fullback Curtis Stephens for the two-point conversion with 35 seconds left - Florida 28, Rutgers 28! Rutgers, incredibly, then had a great chance to recover the ensuing squibbed kickoff deep in Florida territory which would have set up the potential game-wining field goal. But the 'Gators somehow managed to corral the bouncing ball. A host of Rutgers fans toasted the Knights' gallant effort as the players departed the plane back at Newark Airport.

The Old...

Rutgers celebrated its 55th and final season in Rutgers Stadium in 1992 and, at season's end, had played 225 games in the revered facility which was undoubtedly one of the most aesthetic in the country. Of special significance is the fact that Doug Graber-coached teams were a perfect 10-0 on the grass at the stadium. Dedicated in 1938 on November 5, the original Rutgers Stadium seated 23,000, but in 1988 the Temple game attracted a record 31,219 (a Homecoming gathering), and the 1989 Homecoming game with Syracuse was seen by 29,276. The 1969 Rutgers-Princeton clash had 31,000 in the stands and the 1947 game with the Tigers drew 30,426. In 1987, the Boston College game attracted 30,253 and the Army game in 1966 drew an even 30,000.

The completion of the Hale Center in the spring of 1987, has significantly altered the complex. Attached to the Stadium, this multi-purpose Athletic Training Center provides Rutgers with a comprehensive facility that includes a state-of-the-art training area, coaches offices and player accommodations.

The rich history of Rutgers Stadium includes 168 victories with just 53 losses and four ties. Forty of the campaigns, including 1992's 4-0 mark, were winning ones and there were 10 stalemated seasons. The venerable old horseshoe saw 12 undefeated seasons, the 7-0 and 6-0 campaigns in 1975 and 1941 topping the win chart. This record includes 1946 (4-0), 1947 (5-0), 1950 (3-0), 1961 (4-0), 1976 (4-0), 1977 (4-0), 1982 (2-0, 1984 (4-0), 1990 (2-0), 1991 (4-0), and1992 (4-0). There have been just four losing seasons - 1951, 1953, 1955 and 1989.

Between 1974 and 1978, the Scarlet Knights won 20 consecutive stadium games. At the start of play in 1938, Rutgers put together a 19-game non-losing streak (including a 1939 tie with Richmond) through 1942. Rutgers has not lost more than once a season in the stadium since 1980 and the most recent three-loss season was in 1971. There were 22 single-loss seasons, nine dual-loss campaigns, three years in which Rutgers lost three games and one four-game losing season (1954).

While this commanding edifice may be intimidating at first, once through the gate, one realizes that it's still the same house, and even cozier.

This is the most important aspect of the new stadium, the aura it creates. It's still the same - only better. During the 1994 spring game festivities, coach Graber brought 40 letterwinners onto the construction sight to get their impressions. What he received was unanimous approval.

"They all said the same thing," revealed Graber. "It's still Rutgers Stadium - and that was very important to me."

The track which used to surround the field was relocated and the field itself was moved 25 feet to the west in order to bring the fans even closer to the action. The first row of the lower deck is only a few yards from the action and the steeper angles make for much-improved sightlines.

The upper decks, twin monoliths, are the most visible difference between the old and the new. A seat upstairs not only bestows a perfect angle to view the action, it allows for a revealing glimpse of the sprawling landscape. From the top of the east deck, one can the hills of Pennsylvania, the top of the World Trade Center and gaze across the Raritan River all the way out to Raritan Bay. All over the stadium, there are signs that this is a stadium of the future.

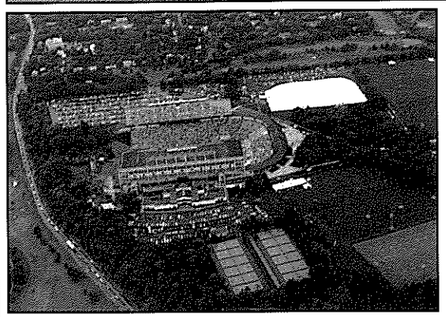

- Looming above both upper-decks are light stantions that allow for network television broadcasts.

- A two-level press box on the west mezzanine, immediately identified by the glass facade, holds up to 125 print and broadcast media people.

- Eight 1,000 square-foot concession stands are strategically located throughout the stadium.

There is nothing physical that remains from the old structure. But this sparkling new facility still keeps its majesty in the natural ravine which only serves to enhance the stadium's beauty. It has been, and will remain, a great place to watch exciting college football.

The New...

In the year of college football's 125th anniversary, it was fitting that the place where it all started opened a new stadium which ushered in the future of Rutgers football.

Rutgers Stadium has always been a place where students, alumni and friends could get together on a crisp Saturday afternoon in the fall, and cheer on their Knights. In recent years, the stadium has become affectionately known as "ouR hoUse," referring to not only the family atmosphere that has always been there, but also the winning record that Rutgers fashioned there.

With great care and attention, the same Rutgers atmosphere still exists. That's not to say things haven't changed, though. The new Rutgers Stadium holds 42,000 fans and etches itself high into the New Jersey sky. This striking new structure can be seen rising majestically above the treetops as one travels from New Brunswick to Piscataway via the John Lynch Bridge.

Old 1938-1994; New 1995-Present

by Bob Smith

Far removed from mid-western corn fields where Hollywood created a baseball dream, Rutgers realized a football dream when the new Rutgers Stadium opened for the 1994 season. The completion of the stadium, expanded to accommodate 41,500 fans, coincided neatly with the celebration of the 125th year of the game which Rutgers and Princeton inaugurated in 1869.

The new stadium, financed by a New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority bond issue proposal, which was approved by the legislature and then Governor Jim Florio in January of 1992, was kicked off officially on March 9, 1993.

The historic groundbreaking ceremony drew over 500 as a host of state dignitaries spoke glowingly of the meaning for the University and the state. The stadium project would include expansion to nearly 42,000 seats with all the amenities of a first-class facility. Permanent lights, lit to a level of 150 foot-candles, will make possible night games and television broadcast. A two-tiered press box seats over 200. The main concourse includes eight concession stands and the stadium will be equipped with a state-of-the-art sound system. A huge, new scoreboard towers over the south endzone.

Perhaps not readily noticed is that the field, itself, has been moved. The field, in order to make the playing surface large enough for national and international soccer matches, add seating and get fans closer to the action, was shifted 25 feet to the west.

At the groundbreaking ceremony, then-governor Jim Florio said "there is no doubt that what is good for Rutgers is good for New Jersey." Rutgers president Francis L. Lawrence noted that "this grand old stadium...has been of great service to the people of New Jersey and this new project will provide 800 jobs in New Jersey. New Jersey is a great state that deserves the best in every aspect, in every area, including athletics." Athletic Director Fred Gruninger called the event a "real happening."

Former Rutgers head coach Doug Graber was "awestruck" and declared "the sky is the limit for this program." Later, as the project proceeded, Graber would remain awestruck. Standing in the last row in the upper deck of the nearly completed stadium, Graber told a group of touring writers, "It's unbelievable. The view from up here is something else. You can see all the way out west to the Watchung Hills and to the Verazzano Bridge the other way. It's breathtaking."

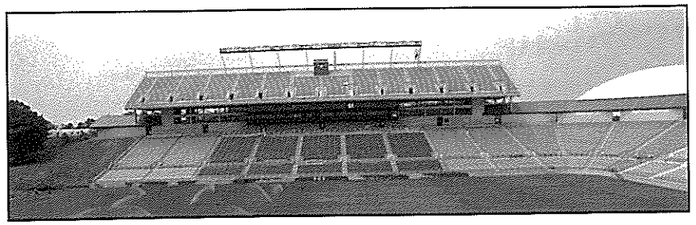

In addition to the stadium, the $28 million Rutgers portion of the $418 million NJSEA bond refinancing, provided a soccer/lacrosse complex on the Busch Campus and a track and field facility on the Livingston Campus. These two cutting-edge facilities have already drawn rave reviews from athletes and coaches as top-notch bases from which to train and compete. State, regional and national championships on the intercollegiate and scholastic levels can now find a home on the Rutgers campus.

"Old man winter" almost disrupted the stadium construction schedule with an extra dose of harsh elements. However, spring and summer climes cooperated and major progress was made. One of many important steps was accomplished when the final concrete stands were put in place by a giant crane. Next came the sophisticated drainage and irrigation systems for the actual playing surface. Finally, the sod was installed, ahead of schedule, in late June.

Rutgers Stadium

The turf, a blend of Kentucky bluegrass and Bermuda, has as its major component, a blend called Princeton 104. And, given the oft-told tale of football's early days and the rich history of the long-standing Rutgers-Princeton football rivalry, that's entirely fitting.

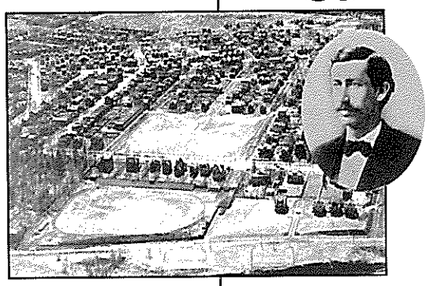

One hundred and twenty-five years ago on November 6, 1869, Rutgers and Princeton played the first intercollegiate football game in New Brunswick on College Field, which is now the site of the College Avenue Gymnasium and its parking lot. And, while Rutgers won that initial contest, 6-4, Princeton would dominate the early days of this intrastate rivalry.

The Tigers won the second game at home a week later and went on to win the next 24 games through 1897, holding the Scarlet Knights scoreless in 22 of the 25 victories. Getting together again in 1911, Princeton added five more wins before the series lapsed in 1915. A leap of 18 years, a tumultuous time in this country's history, elapsed before the next meeting, but the pattern did not change as Princeton took the 1933, 1935, 1936 and 1937 games, all on its home grounds, as were all but six of the 34 games.

Those six games had been played at the site of the original game, College Field, where contests were staged through 1891, after which Neilson Field became the home of the Scarlet until 1938.

The stage was set for "the game that would live forever" (according to Jimmie Fleming, sports editor of the New Brunswick Home News) and a game that a New York news commentator rated one of the four principal historical events of 1938, along with the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, the Munich agreement and the wars in China and Spain. But, the story began a few years earlier.

Aerial view of the site of the first intercollegiate game (open area) with Neilson Field in foreground. [Inset] Plaque at College Ave. Gymnasium honoring participants in 1869 Rutgers-Princeton game and William Leggett, 1872, Rutgers' first football captain

Through the presidency of John Martin Thomas (1925-30) and the brief 18-month tenure of Philip Milledoler Brett, Rutgers experienced a severe identity crisis. "For a quarter of a century," wrote historian Richard P. McCormick, "Rutgers had been in the throes of transformation from a small college to a multi-dimensional university, from an essentially private institution to an instrumentality of the state." That drama would continue even while the athletic picture began to improve. It would play itself out against a background generally called the Great Depression.

Robert C. Clothier was named president in December, 1931, and George E. Little became the athletic director in April, 1932. It is with these two visionaries that the story of Rutgers Stadium begins.

Both saw that the effectiveness of the instruction in physical education was being seriously hampered by lack of space and deteriorating facilities. Neilson Field, the football home site that had replaced College Field and the home of the Rutgers football since 1892, was in disrepair. Though indoor facilities were sufficient (College Avenue Gymnasium was completed in January 1932 and held athletic contests as well as a concert by Paul Robeson '19) but if the overall program was to be strengthened, space had to be found.

Feeling that the University had weathered the initial phases of the Depression, Clothier dispatched Little on a survey of suitable land and on November 7, 1934, the determined athletic director recommended the purchase of a tract of land covering 256 acres across the Raritan River that included the disbanded New Brunswick Country Club golf course and the Adrian Vermeule properties. The Board of Trustees, noting that it was a daring move, nevertheless adopted the proposal and bought the land for less than $100,000.

Clothier would prove to be profoundly prophetic when he said, "In years to come, units of the University may be transferred to this new location. New buildings and stately towers may rise from the heights across the river...It is at one time an outlet for our program of physical education, a financial investment which we expect to increase in value with the return of good times, and a pledge to that future of which we can now be only dimly aware, but in which we have unwavering confidence."

Though the stadium area, a natural ravine, was included in the purchase, the original proposal did not include construction of a stadium. The development of the area would provide recreational areas for students and considerable acreage for future needs. The Federal government approved an initial grant of $320,000 on November 13, 1935, and workmen began the enormous job of developing the River Road campus. The project was to carry a cost of $418,514 with the University contributing $98,390. It would provide work for 387 workers for one year.

The Depression Years

A year later, November, 1936, a second Works Progress Administration grant of $143,841 was approved with Rutgers adding $107,530. In January, 1938, an additional grant of $237,000 was made by the WPA which brought the total of the three grants to $995,707 while Rutgers had appropriated $239,000, including the cost of the site.

All this played out against the background of the Depression. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Second New Deal had created the Works Progress Administration, a massive relief program that derived from the administration's belief that "human dignity was diminished under direct relief programs but enriched by programs that provided work in exchange for relief."

Though controversial, the WPA program was far more comprehensive than earlier relief efforts. The program would spend more than $411 billion before it was canceled in 1943. According to historian Edward Ellis, the WPA, employing more than 8.5 million people on nearly a million and a half projects, "built 651,087 miles of highways, roads and streets; constructed, repaired or improved 124,031 bridges; erected 124,110 public buildings; created 8,192 public parks; built or improved 853 airports."

With Little monitoring the project so closely that the site virtually became his office, the stadium neared completion as the 1938 season approached. John J. Hall, for his sports column for the Elizabeth Daily Journal, had visited the construction site and wrote of the finishing stages: "Then the other day I went back to New Brunswick and met Harry Rockafeller at the Rutgers gymnasium. We crossed Landing Bridge and hurried along River Road to the project office, where Mr. Little was found still huddled over his beloved blueprints with Mr. Clifford V. Barrett, project engineer, who has played such an important part in the work since it was just a dream...

"The men had laid aside their hand shovels and their picks and were piling into big motor trucks...Here, sure enough was a great dream coming true and you forgot time until finally lights began to twinkle in the university buildings a mile away across the Raritan River, lending new enchantment to the scene...You could hardly hold back a cheer for a vast job that will have been completed before the next football season."

The Big Mud Hole

The "big mud hole," after three years of construction and an even longer period of research and planning, was a transformed marvel. The Class of 1939, dubbed "The Stadium Class," would honor Little by dedicating its yearbook to him. The dedication reads, in part, "We acclaim all that George Little has done - Sponsored large-scale intramurals to provide 'athletics for all' - conceived and developed a vast athletic plant...traveled, dreamed, and fought for Rutgers...thoughtful, creative, impulsive, dynamic, generous - bubbling over with ideas and enthusiasm - unflagging in labor and effort - a champion of progress." A plaque in Little's honor would later adorn the stadium entrance beneath the press box.

The 1938 season would open not only with a new stadium but also with a new coach. Upon the resignation of J. Wilder Tasker, who had been the head coach since 1931, Harvey Harman took over the reins. Arriving from the University of Pennsylvania, one of his first efforts, in concert with President Clothier and athletic director Little, was to have Princeton agree to shift the game from Palmer Stadium. The Tigers had not visited the Rutgers campus since 1888 and a span of 17 games, but they agreed to make the short trip on November 5, the seventh game of the season for the Scarlet. The Rutgers-Princeton clash would come one day short of the 69 years since the historic first intercollegiate game between the teams. It would fall also on Harman's 38th birthday.

Rutgers opened the season with four games on Neilson Field defeating Marietta (20-0) and Vermont (15-14) before losing to NYU (25-6) and then edging Springfield, 6-0. The first game in the new stadium was against Hampden-Sydney before an estimated crowd of 10,000. Rutgers took an early 7-0 lead on a Burt Hasbrouck two-yard run and Len Cooke added the extra point for the first scores in the stadium. The game's most exciting play came after the Scarlet took a 26-0 halftime lead. Art Gottlieb hit Moon Mullen on a short pass at the Rutgers 43-yard line and the senior end raced 57 yards for the game's final score. A Hampden-Sydney threat was turned away on a Gottlieb interception in the Scarlet end zone at the end of the third period and the final score was Rutgers 32, Hampden-Sydney 0.

On October 29, Rutgers traveled to Bethlehem and came home with a 13-0 victory over Lehigh. Meanwhile, Princeton would enter the Dedication game coming off a loss to Harvard which put the Tiger record at 3-2 to go against the 5-1 Rutgers mark.

At halftime of the Dedication game, Judge George H. Lane, the sole Rutgers survivor of the first contest in 1869, would be honored. On a sad note, William Preston Lane, the only Princeton survivor of the first game, passed away that very morning.

"These Fine Enthusiasms"

At halftime also, President Clothier delivered a telling address that defined what he felt to be the athletic ideal. He looked both backward and into the future as he expressed the idea of athletics-for-all.

"For today we welcome our friends from Princeton again to New Brunswick as we did in 1869, and today we dedicate these new playing fields and this stadium...

"We are happy in the possession of this new stadium and these surrounding playing fields which will do so much to strengthen our program of `athletics-for-all'. We thank, with deep sincerity, every man who has planned and worked for it. We are proud of the simplicity and beauty of the stadium itself and its environment. As the years pass and trees and ivy grow, we trust that its present newness will yield to a mellow age which will in turn add to its charm.

"On these playing fields our students will compete in intramural sports. There is room for all...What the lecture hall and the laboratory are to the student in the academic and professional development, these playing fields will be in his development in health and physical vigor. This program of athletics for all will stress the enjoyment of the participant as well as his physical well-being; one goes with the other. Mens sana in corpe sano!

"The importance of athletics must be apparent to everyone who has an understanding of the love of physical activity and of competition in skill which is the heritage of our young American manhood, it is our responsibility to capture these fine enthusiasms, guide them into wholesome channels, and utilize them in the student's own educational development...

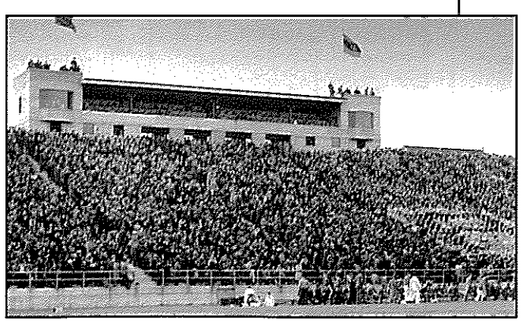

"We have said goodbye to Neilson Field with gratitude to the donor and with a touch of nostalgia, for great teams have represented the Scarlet there in years gone by and Rutgers athletic history was made there. But with a quick look back, we turn to face the future. We are happy in the possession of this new stadium...And always, we have faith, it will prove the theater of athletic competition which is amateur in spirit as well as in letter, in which emphasis will be placed on sportsmanship rather than on the statistics of victory and the welfare of the player esteemed above everything else."

Fittingly, he concluded his remarks with these words: "...Only one name will suffice to pay honor to al those whom honor is due.

"And so, on behalf of the people of the state of New Jersey and the Trustees, alumni and faculty of Rutgers University, I dedicate this, the RUTGERS STADIUM and these adjacent playing fields..."

The Dedication Game

First-half play, before a crowd of 22,500, had been as masterful as the words. But, in the halftime dressing room, the Scarlet squad, at an 18-13 deficit, wondered if the 69-year-old jinx would continue to hold. One writer's account of the game imagined that "Over them hung the most grotesque hoodoo in the history of football."

Princeton had opened the scoring after blocking a punt and recovering the ball at the Rutgers seven-yard line. Jack Daniel scored the game's first TD two plays later, but the extra point was partially blocked and the score read 6-0. Hope was revived for Rutgers when Art Gottlieb returned the ensuing kickoff to the Princeton 40 and then completed a pass to Parker Staples at the Tiger eight-yard line. Bill Tranavitch then tied the game with an off-tackle one-yard run. Len Cooke's placement gave the Scarlet the first-period lead. Princeton scored twice in the second period, on a recovered fumble in the end zone by Dick Purnell and on a short plunge by Stan Pearson following his own 40-yard pass completion. Both extra point tries were missed.

Down 18-7, Rutgers stormed back as Herm Greif, who had worked on the WPA crew three years before, replaced Gottlieb and quickly completed a pass to Joe Varju who was tackled at the Princeton one-yard line with just 59 seconds remaining in the half. After three passes, Greif ran for the score to bring the Scarlet to within five points at halftime.

The day deserved a storybook ending and that was to follow. Princeton penetrated to the Rutgers 15-yard line in the third period but the drive was stopped by the Scarlet. The game's golden moment came with five minutes remaining. Rutgers center Doug Hotchkiss recovered a Princeton fumble at the Tiger 12. But, in two plays, Rutgers had lost 10 yards. Gottlieb and Tranavitch combined on a nine-yard pass completion and, on fourth down, Gottlieb found Mullen at the goal line for the go-ahead score. The extra point by Walt Bruyere was good, Rutgers had taken a 20-18 lead.

The ensuing Princeton possession saw the Tigers take to the air, but Mullen shut down the drive at the Rutgers 30 with an interception. That left time for only a last line plunge and the game was over, the hex was gone. Rutgers had defeated Princeton for the first time in 69 years.

Harman, who was named among the nation's top coaches for the year by a coaches' poll, summed up the victory by telling his team that it "was the supreme moment of my life."

Associated Press writer George Bowen struggled to write an appropriate beginning for his newspaper and settled on "Ring the bells of Old Queens College, Paint the town as ne'er before," an obvious steal from 'Loyal Sons', the favorite postgame song. He agreed that the best composed by Dan Parker of the New York Mirror - "The Raritan flowed upstream yesterday for the first time in 69 years."

Though anticlimactic, Rutgers concluded its season by defeating Lafayette in the Stadium by a 6-0 score for a 7-1 record for the season, the best to date and the first of 13 undefeated seasons in the stadium.

The Coaches

Under Harman, Rutgers would go 14-1-1 in its first two years including an undefeated string of 13 straight games, including a tie, before losing at Brown in 1939. He then tacked on seven consecutive stadium victories before entering the Navy in 1942, going 26-7-1 overall and 21-1-1 in the stadium.

Only six other coaches have taken the Scarlet into stadium battles. They combined to win 170 of the contests while losing just 60 and tying four. All had winning records in stadium games during their tenures and their teams produced a host of memorable moments.

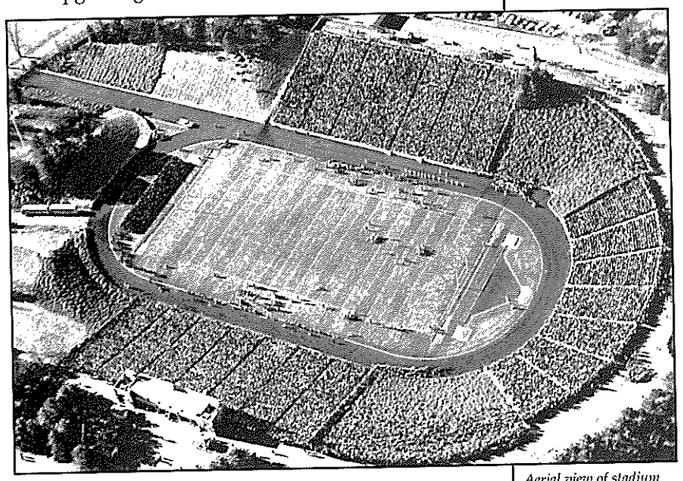

When Harman entered the Navy, his place was taken by Harry Rockafeller, returning for a four-year period after having coached Rutgers between 1927 and 1930 and then later guiding the Rutgers lightweight football team to national prominence. "Rocky" posted an overall 14-10-1 record during the war years and was 8-5-1 in stadium games. Harman returned to resume his coaching duties in 1946 and remained through 1955, totaling 50 victories and a 29-14-1 stadium mark.

John Stiegman succeeded Harman and between 1956 and 1959, had a 22-15 record with a 13-7 slate in Rutgers Stadium. He was followed by John Bateman, who would give Rutgers its first undefeated season in 1961.

Bateman came on board in 1960 and posted a 17-1 record in his first two years with seven of the victories (and the lone defeat) coming in the stadium. During his 13 year tenure, Bateman's squad were 73-51 overall and 44-18 in the stadium. Seven of his teams lost just once on the home grounds and three, the 1968, 1969 and 1972 squads, won five times before the home crowd.

Frank Burns, who quarterbacked Rockafeller's final squad and three of Harman's teams between 1945 and 1948, and who led the Scarlet to a 27-6 record, succeeded Bateman in 1973. His 11-year overall mark of 78-43 made him the winningest coach in Scarlet history and his 36-10 record in stadium games included 20 straight victories between 1974 and 1978. The winning streak included three consecutive unbeaten years with seven victories in 1975 and four each in 1976 and 1977. Burns' 1976 squad gave Rutgers its second undefeated season, going 11-0 and finishing with a 17th-place national ranking.

Dick Anderson took the helm in 1984 and in six seasons won nine of 15 games in Rutgers Stadium with one stalemate. His overall mark was 27-34. During his tenure, Rutgers football facilities underwent a large-scale upgrading with the addition of new practice fields (including AstroTurf), the indoor practice facility commonly known as the "Bubble" and the Hale Center, which incorporates the entire football operation. The Hale Center is named for contributing alumnus Dick Hale, whose father W. Robert Hale, was a member of the Middlesex County Board of Chosen Freeholders that worked closely with the construction of the original Rutgers Stadium in 1938.

Former head coach Doug Graber fashioned a fine 16-4 record at Rutgers Stadium. His teams were a perfect 10-0 in the "old" Rutgers Stadium and 6-4 in the "new" stadium.

Stadium Sensations

The 1938 Dedication game was certainly of storybook stature, but there have been many more that rival that first contest.

None more so, perhaps, than that on another Princeton visit. Never has there been such preparation for a game in Rutgers Stadium that there was for the Centennial contest in 1969. All the elements of great sports drama were there - proclamations were issued; a special commemorative stamp was issued; a re-enactment of the first game drew 10,000 fans; pennants from some 350 football-playing colleges waved above the stands; an unscheduled protest march by Afro-Americans; introductions of celebrities, including the oldest living Rutgers football captain, William VB Van Dyck and Master of Ceremonies, Ozzie Nelson; the coin toss, or rather the three coin tosses, first with a 1869 silver dollar and then with a pair of Centennial medallions.

The Centennial Game

A crowd of 31,000 was on hand for the game, the largest in Scarlet history to that point, and later eclipsed only by the 31,219 for the Rutgers-Temple game in 1988, a Homecoming affair.

Princeton provided the game's opening salvo as Robinson Bordley returned the kickoff 63 yards to the Scarlet 24-yard line. Rutgers successfully repulsed the attack. Both teams missed field goal tries, but, after an interference call at midfield, Rutgers took a 7-0 lead on Rich Policastro's rollout and Chris Stewart's PAT near the end of the first period. The Scarlet upped the lead to 21-0 by halftime on a Bruce Van Ness TD and Bob Stonebraker's reception from Policastro. Rutgers scored again on a 27-yard Mike Yancheff-to-Joe Barone pass, and, because the goal posts had already been dismantled, the Scarlet scored on a two-point conversion by Yanceff. The 29 points were the highest ever recorded by a Rutgers team against Princeton. The victory was Rutgers 10th in the 60-game series. The teams would go into their second centuries, once again having made football history.

One certainly worthy of recollection is the finale of the 1961 season, the victory that preserved the first undefeated campaign. After eight straight victories, the Scarlet hosted a twice-beaten Columbia team in the season finale before 25,000 in Rutgers Stadium. The Lions had spoiled the perfect season bid in 1947 and, leading 19-7 on a field goal, a deflected pass and an interception return, appeared ready to repeat that role. But, as football historian Larry Pitt wrote, "Then came 12 minutes of the most explosive and thrilling football the Stadium has ever seen."

At the start of the fourth period, Dave Brody's 58-yard kickoff return set up a Bill Speranza-to-Lee Curley TD. Moments later, Pierce Frauenheim intercepted a Lion pass and the Scarlet scored on the last of six line bursts to make it a 19-19 game.

Rutgers then went 60 yards in 10 plays with Steve Simms scoring from three yards out with 3:32 remaining. Frauenheim then raced into the end zone with an interception for the 32-19 triumph and the first unblemished season in Scarlet football history. Coach Bateman received Coach of the Year honors from the Washington D.C. Touchdown Club and center Alex Kroll became the fourth Rutgers first-team All American.

Rutgers fans were treated to a fantastic offensive show in the 1974, 62-21 win over Colgate, rolling to a school record 781 yards which was also the nation's highest total for the season. Among other noteworthy stadium games was the 20-13 victory over Boston College in the BIG EAST inaugural contest. And, for another storybook finish, the 1992 Rutgers-Virginia Tech game ranks high among the stadium's most exciting games.

This game offered Rutgers fans everything that a football contest can possibly deliver - a Rutgers record for points in a game; passing, receiving and interception records; well over 1,000 total yards; and, other storybook ending — on Halloween - no less.

The visiting Hokies led throughout the game until Chris Brantley caught his fourth TD pass as time ran out to give the Scarlet a 50-49 Homecoming victory. Brantley's scores came on passes of 26, 22 and 15 yards from Bryan Fortay and on a three-yard toss from Ray Lucas. Fortay added a seven-yard TD pass to Lance Evina to tie the record for touchdown passes, while also tying the record of 15 for a season. His 338 passing yards also established a stadium record. Malik Jackson's three interceptions was also a record-tying effort. Rutgers amassed 606 total yards and Virginia Tech 558.

Though it would have been highly appropriate for the Virginia Tech game to close out play in the old Rutgers Stadium, that came two weeks later when West Virginia entered for a BIG EAST contest. Devoid of the TD onslaught of the earlier game, it was not without its thrills particularly a late defensive stand following a blocked punt which gave the Mountaineers the ball at the Rutgers 15 with 2:47 remaining.

The 13-9 Scarlet lead, gained on a Ray Lucas-to-Jim Guarantano pass and a pair of John Benestad field goals, seemed in certain jeopardy. But, Rutgers stopped two running attempts and successfully defended a third-down pass. A fourth-down pass completion gained just two yards and the Scarlet held on for a victory.

In celebration, the Scarlet Knights revealed T-shirts that held the message - "ouR hoUse, Nov. 14, 1992." Trivia experts may want to reread the above for the answer to a future question about the stadium's final TD, just as they will recall the first by Bert Hasbrouck against. Hampden-Sydney.

In late June of 1994, Doug Graber again led writers on a tour of the stadium. As the last sod was being laid, Graber, peering out from the back row of the stands and trying to locate the New York skyline off to the north, put this cap on the construction. "It's like going from black and white to color television."

And so, the new Stadium story began. It promises to continue to be colorful.

Giants Stadium

The Scarlet Knights hold the distinction of having played in the first college game in Giants Stadium, 20 years ago, defeating Columbia in that debut contest, 47-0, in 1976. In addition, Rutgers met Arizona State there in Garden State Bowl I in 1978.

Rutgers has a 20-27 record in this magnificent structure which seats 76,000. In 1994, Rutgers topped Army in a 16-14 contest. Quarterback Rob Higgins, stepping in for the injured Ray Lucas, tossed a pair of touchdown passes as Rutgers posted a come-from-behind win.

In 1993, Giants Stadium - because of expansion at Rutgers Stadium on campus - was Rutgers' "home away from home." Rutgers posted a 3-3 record that season at the Meadowlands, posting wins over Colgate, Duke and Temple, while dropping contests to Boston College, Pittsburgh and Syracuse.

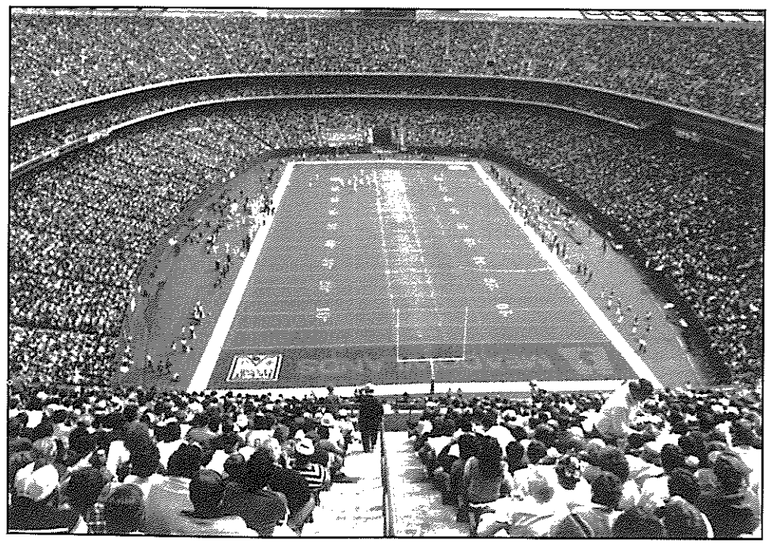

In 1992, the Knights lost to Penn State and toppled Army. In 1991, Rutgers split games with Army and Syracuse, defeating the Cadets, 14-12, and losing to the Orangemen, 21-7.

In 1990, Rutgers defeated Kentucky (24-8) and lost to Michigan State (34-10) and to West Virgnia (28-3). In 1989, Rutgers defeated Boston College (9-7) and lost to Penn State (17-0).

In 1988, the Scarlet Knights lost to Vanderbilt (31-30), Army (34-24) and West Virginia (35-25). In 1987, Rutgers defeated Kentucky (19-18), and Duke (7-0) in back-to-back games and lost later to Pittsburgh (17-0).

Seventeen different opponents have been entertained by the Scarlet in East Rutherford. Army and Rutgers have met eight times and West Virginia has been a visitor five times. Penn State made its sixth appearance against Rutgers in 1995 and Boston College has made four appearances. Pittsburgh and Syracuse have met Rutgers squads three times each and Columbia has visited Giants Stadium on two occasions.

The Scarlet Knights have recorded seven shutouts in the 20 victories. The shutouts have come over Columbia in 1976 (47-0), Princeton in 1978 (24-0), Columbia in 1978 (69-0), Army in 1979 (20-0), Virginia in 1981 (3-0), Duke in 1987 (7-0) and Temple in 1993 (62-0). Rutgers has been shutout three times, by a 7-0 margin to Tennessee in 1983 and by 17-0 counts by West Virginia in 1987 and by Penn State in 1989.

Scarlet Scrapbook

Why Scarlet?

Rutgers was a pioneer in establishing a college color, and a pioneer in using a color on the field of sport.

The color scarlet was first proposed in the campus newspaper, The Targum, in May, 1869. It was adopted shortly thereafter. This color was chosen because it is a striking color and because a good scarlet ribbon could be easily obtained. From the time of its choice by the students, the scarlet has been the Rutgers color.

College and university colors and coats of arms were not unusual in the old world but had been little-used in the new world. They came into large and vivid use only when athletics began to take rigorous hold in this country.

In the historic first collegiate football game on November 6, 1869, the Princeton team members watched the Rutgers men don turbans and kerchiefs as close to scarlet as possible for team identification.

Even without scarlet shirts, the headwear alone had added another "first," the custom of wearing caps of a team's college, one long-copied over the years of football uniform development.

Sports lore at Rutgers has also known terms such as "Scarlet Scourge" and the lasting "Upstream Rutgers!" from the first "big-time" grid venture under George Foster Sanford.

Through the years, scarlet has become embodied in the literature and songs of the college. Scarlet is identified with its sons and daughters, and is highly emblematic of the college itself.

Why Knights?

Since its days when the school was officially known as Queen's College, the athletic teams were referred to as the Queensmen. Officially serving as mascot figure for several football seasons beginning in 1925 was a giant, colorfully felt-covered, costumed representation of an earlier campus symbol, the "Chanticleer." Though a fighting bird of the kind with which other colleges have found success, to some it bore the connotation of "chicken." It is also a little-known fact that the New Brunswick-based broadcast station, WCTC, which serves as the flagship station of Rutgers athletics, had its call letters derived from the word "ChanTiCleer." Chanticleer remained as the mascot and Queensmen as the nickname for some 30 years.

In the early 1950's, in the hope of spurring both the all-around good athletic promise and RU fighting spirit, a campus-wide selection process changed the mascot to that of a Knight.

By 1955, the Scarlet Knight had become the new Rutgers mascot. The Scarlet-garbed knight, riding a spirited white charger, came to represent a new era - the rejuvenation of first class football "On the Banks."

The Ringing of the Bell

Rutgers began its extraordinary history as Queen's College, which was chartered in 1766, the eighth institution of higher learning founded in the colonies. In 1825, the name of the college was changed to Rutgers. Its athletic teams have long competed in proud association with colonial Queen's College and "Old Queens'" building traditions. The bell in the latter's cupola, an 1826 gift of namesake donor Colonel Henry Rutgers, along with tolling the change of classes, was, and still is, rung on special occasions, including those of prized athletic success. Most recently, the bell was rung when the women's basketball team won the 1982 AIAW National Championship, and when the 1990 men's soccer team reached the championship game of the NCAA Tournament.

Rutgers Alma Mater

My father sent me to old Rutgers,
And resolv'd that I be a man;
And so I settled down,
In that noisy college town,
On the banks of the old Raritan.

Her ardent spirit stirred and cheered me
From the day my college years began;
Gracious Alma Mater mine;
Learning's fair and honored shrine;
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

I love her flaming far-flung banner
I love her triumphs proud to scan,
And I glory in her fame
That's immortalized her name.
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

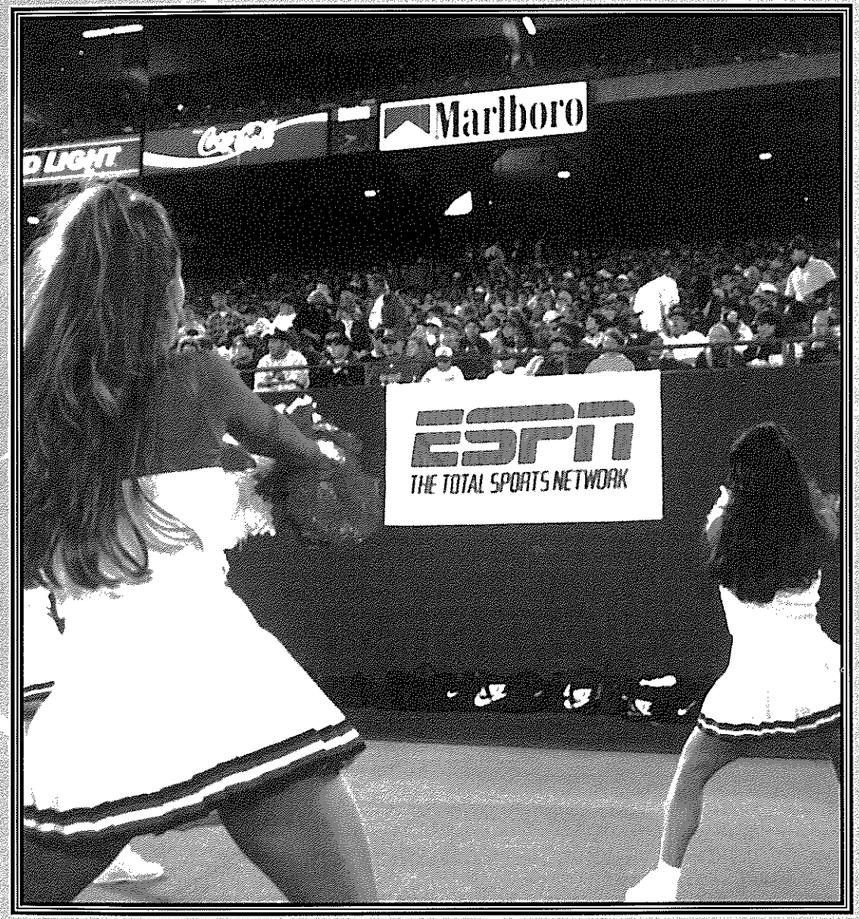

My heart clings closer than the ivy
As life runs out its fleeting span,
To the stately, ancient walls
Of her hallowed, classic halls
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

Then sing aloud to Alma Mater,
And keep the Scarlet in the van;
For with her motto high
Rutgers' name shall never die,
On the banks of the old Raritan.
(Chorus)

Chorus:
On the banks of the old Raritan
(my friends)
Where old Rutgers evermore shall stand,
For has she not stood
Since the time of the flood,
On the banks of the old Raritan.

Media Information

Credentials - All members of the media covering the game in a working capacity must seek appropriate credentials in advance from the Office of Sports Media Relations for all home games (Rutgers or Giants Stadium). We would appreciate receiving these requests as early as possible. Requests for working space in press box and photo passes for the sidelines will be honored from sports editors of daily and weekly newspapers and sports directors of television stations only. Requests for working credentials must be made in advance in writing on company letterhead to Sports Media Relations. Working media only will be admitted and the code of conduct of the Football Writers' Association of America is strictly enforced.

Parking - Parking is located next to the Bubble, across the street from Rutgers Stadium or in lots 9-11 at Giants Stadium. You should request your parking at the same time you request your game credential. If time permits, both will be mailed to you.

Press Box Services - Complete NCAA statistics, play-by-play, and quote sheets from both teams are all regular services on game day. Upon your arrival, you will receive a press folder with game program, flip card, updated stats and game day notes.

Post-Game Interviews - Coach and players, following a 10-minute cooling- off period, will be made available after each game to members of the media in an interview room. (Room 227 of Hale Center at Rutgers Stadium or Jets Interview Room at Giants Stadium). A member of the Sports Media Relations Department will get the names of those players requested for interviews by the media during the fourth quarter. Members of the media will be escorted to the interview room by a member of the Office Sports Media Relations with about two minutes remaining in the game.

Phones - A limited number of phones are available in the press box at Rutgers Stadium. The phones are all operator-assisted phones. Only credit card, collect calls, or third-party billing calls can be made. Should you wish to install a phone at Rutgers Stadium, contact New Jersey Bell at 1-800-564-9911 or 9922. If you wish to order a phone at Giants Stadium, contact Debbie Wilkinson at (201) 460-4355. Only pay phones are available at Giants Stadium unless requested.

Player Interviews - All player interviews must be arranged through Sports Media Relations at least one day in advance. Players are available in person on Tuesday and Wednesday nights from approximately 6:00-7:00 pm at the Davidson Dining Hall. Player availability at other times will vary from week to week. A time mutually convenient for the player and the member of the media can be set up by the Office of Sports Media Relations. Please contact Sports Media Relations and we will make every effort to accommodate your requests. There will be no player interviews on Fridays.

Terry Shea Interviews - All interview requests must be arranged through Sports Media Relations. Coach Shea will be available to the media every Monday on the BIG EAST coaches conference call, Tuesday at the Rutgers Stadium press box or the New York Metropolitan Football Writers Association luncheons at Giants Stadium (the luncheon begins at noon), Wednesday following practice at the Dining Hall, and on a Sunday conference call following each game that begins at approximately 5:00 pm. To be on the conference call, please contact Sports Media Relations. Coach Shea's availability at other times will vary from week to week.

Practice - Tuesday and Wednesday practices during the season are open to the media. All practice sessions in August are open as well. If you wish to attend a practice session, please contact Sports Media Relations. Photographers taking pictures or video at practices must get clearance through Sports Media Relations.

Highlights - Highlights of all Rutgers home games and selected road games will be made available to the networks at ABC, CBS, and NBC. The newsfeeds are designated News One (ABC), Newsfeed (CBS), and A-News (NBC). Each network will make two minutes of highlights available to all affiliates. Call the Office of Sports Media Relations at Rutgers, (908) 445-4200, for further information.

Media Relations Staff

Pete Kowalski
Sports Media Relations Director

Kowalski, who enters his ninth year as the director of sports media relations, joined the Rutgers staff in November of 1988. Prior to his arrival at Rutgers, he served five seasons as an assistant SID at Penn State, where he worked primarily with football and basketball and staffed two national championship bowl games, as well as NCAA (cross country and volleyball), conference and regional championships. A 1978 Penn State journalism graduate, he earned four letters in lacrosse for the Nittany Lions. He worked two years as a sportswriter (Chambersburg [Pa.] Public Opinion) before returning to Penn State to pursue a Master's degree in physical education (adminstration emphasis), which he completed in 1980. He was also an assistant lacrosse coach, physical education instructor and local Associated Press stringer for four seasons.

At Rutgers, he has served as media coordinator for five NCAA Men's Basketball East Regional Championships and the 1990 Men's Lacrosse Championship. This past March, he served as the Media Coordinator at the 1996 NCAA Men's Basketball Final Four.

He has also supervised the publicity efforts for four post-season Scarlet Knight basketball berths. His main responsibilities are in football and men's basketball, as well as budget and administration and the Halls of Fame and awards system for Rutgers athletics.

An avid golfer, he has worked in media operations for four USGA events, including three U.S. Opens. He worked at the 1990 Olympic Sports Festival in Minneapolis. Vice President on the CoSIDA Board of Directors, he is also a member of the FWA and the USBWA.

He and his wife, Sandy Miller, have two sons, Patrick (3) and Sean (1). They live in Milltown.

John Beisser
Asst. Sports Media Relations Dir.

Beisser, now in his fifth year as an Assistant Sports Media Relations Director, is responsible for coordinating the sports information and publicity duties for the Scarlet Knight men's basketball team while also serving as the chief aide in the day-to-day football media operations efforts.

The 1986 Rutgers graduate returned to his alma mater in November, 1990 as a graduate assistant. He is the managing editor of the football and men's basketball media guides and is an editor and contributing writer for the football and basketball game programs.

Beisser, who also serves as the media liaison for the nationally-ranked men's lacrosse program, has assisted Kowalski in the 1991, 1993 and 1995 NCAA Men's Basketball Regionals. Beisser, who serves on the Rutgers Basketball Hall of Fame Committee, has in the past headed the media relations responsibilities for the men's and women's soccer teams.

Beisser has received six awards for excellence in publications from CoSIDA, including a "Second in the Nation" citation for his 1992 men's soccer poster. Three of his publications were named "Best in the District": 1994-95 Men's Basketball Media Guide; 1992 & 1993 Men's Soccer Media Guides. The 1994 & 1995 Football Media Guides were judged "Second in the District."

While an undergraduate at Rutgers where he received a B.S. in Marketing and Journalism/Mass Media, Beisser was the sports director of WRSU. Prior to returning to Rutgers, Beisser was a sportswriter for three years with the Princeton Packet newspaper chain where he won five New Jersey Press Association writing awards. He also worked for one year as an account executive with AT&T.

Beisser is a native of Scotch Plains and currently resides in Piscataway.

Marla Rodriguez
Asst. Sports Media Relations Dir.

Rodriguez joined the Rutgers sports media relations staff in October, 1995, after a three year stint as the associate Sports Information Director at Temple University.

She directs the publicity and information for the Rutgers women's basketball team as well as several other sports, including field hockey, volleyball, softball, and women's lacrosse. She also oversees the sports media relations department's intern program. In March, 1996, Rodriguez served as chief media liaison at the NABC All-Star Game, hosted by Rutgers.

In over seven years in the field, Rodriguez has amassed an impressive assortment of varied experiences. Prior to her tenure at Temple, Rodriguez served as the assistant director of public relations for the Ohio Glory, a franchise in the World League of Professional Football, and assisted the then NFL's Los Angeles Rams' training camp.

She was an assistant in sports information at Marshall (1990-91), Florida (1989-90) and St. Thomas in Miami, FL. During her stint at Florida, sheassisted in NCAA championship events including regional gymnastics and the 1990 NCAA tennis championships.

Rodriguez has produced several award-winning publications, including the 1994-95 Temple women's basketball media guide, which was judged second in the nation by the College Sports Information Directors of America (CoSIDA). Her 1994 Temple Fencing guide was judged "Best In the Nation."

A varsity swimmer and Iowa state champion, Rodriguez earned a bachelor's degree in journalism/public relations from Iowa State in 1988 and a master's degree in sport administration from St. Thomas in 1990.

Scott Novak
Sports Media Relations Assistant

Novak enters his fifth year as a sports media relations assistant. His primary responsibilities are to work as the media relations director for the nationally-ranked men's soccer program, as well as the baseball and men's track teams. He works closely with the football and basketball teams, specifically in game-day operations and statistical managment areas. Novak also serves as the managing editor of the football and basketball game programs.

Novak has traveled with the soccer team to a pair of NCAA Tournaments, including a trip to the Final Four at Davidson College in 1994. He has also traveled to the 1993 NCAA Baseball Tournament in the Mid-East Regional in Knoxville, Tenn.

Along with his responsibilities as media relations assistant, Novak oversaw the introduction of desktop publishing in the Office of Sports Media Relations, which currently produces 12 media guides and a host of athletic department-related projects. Currently, Novak is working to improve the Office of Sports Media Relations' communications ability through the addition of sophisticated modem technology.

While at Rutgers, Novak has worked as a host at four NCAA Basketball tournaments, three NCAA soccer matches, three international soccer matches and has served as a Venue Press Officer for U.S. Cup '95. He has also served as the host SID for multiple Atlantic 10 Tournaments and one ECAC Soccer Tournament.

A 1992 graduate of Seton Hall University, Novak earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in communications. As an undergraduate, Novak worked in the Pirate SID office for three years, assisting in the publicity of 19 Division I sports. While an undergraduate, Novak interned in the publicity department of Sports Illustrated for a semester.

Karyn Dziemian
Sports Media Relations Assistant

Dziemian, the newest member of the Office of Sports Media Relations, joined the Rutgers staff in November, 1995. In addition to serving as the primary media contact for the women's soccer, women's gymnastics, and wrestling programs, Dziemian is responsible for the design and layout of ten publications produced by the Division of Intercollegiate Athletics. She also assists in the operation of all home basketball and football games.

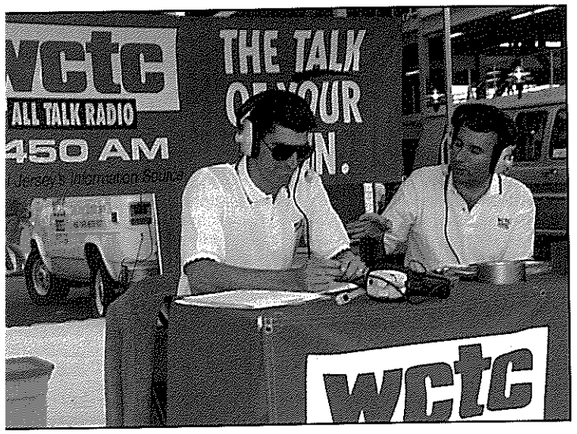

A 1993 graduate of Trenton State College where she earned a B.A in Psychology, Dziemian also earned her MEd in Physical Education with a specialization in Athletic Management from TSC in 1995. During her six-year stint with the Trenton State College Office of Sports Information, Dziemian served as the primary contact for the two-time NCAA Division III National Champion women's soccer team, in addition to assisting with TSC 21 other varsity sports. She served as assistant Media Coordinator for six NCAA Championships hosted by Trenton State College, and also attended two women's soccer Final Fours in 1993 at William Smith College and in 1994 at UC San Diego.

Dziemian also worked in the press corps volunteers of the 1994 World Cup, and has also been a volunteer at the NJ Special Olympics, held annually at Trenton State College.

A native of Bayonne, NJ, Dziemian briefly served as Director of Promotions and Sponsorships with the New Jersey Rockin Rollers professional roller hockey team prior to coming to Rutgers. In addition to assisting the Media Director in coordinating media relations, she worked with the teams' numerous corporate sponsors on various fan-appreciation and community-awareness programs.

Currently working toward her Certificate in Desktop Publishing at Mercer County College, Dziemian resides in East Windsor, NJ. She and her fiance, David Olsen, are planning a December, 1996 wedding.

THE BIG EAST FOOTBALL CONFERENCE

When the BIG EAST Football Conference was born in 1991, Commissioner Michael Tranghese said the new group wanted to compete at the highest level immediately. Certainly, the league has enjoyed a national presence since its inception. A BIG EAST team battled for a claim to the national championship on New Year's Day in the league's first four years.

Off the field, Tranghese wanted the conference to be a leader as well, especially with television and bowl relationships. The BIG EAST was a charter member of the Bowl Coalition which improved the quality of major bowl matchups and increased the chances of a national title game. The Bowl Alliance, which began in 1995, is a hybrid of the Bowl Coalition. Again, the BIG EAST is an original partner.

Television prominence has always been a staple of the BIG EAST. For football, the league established its own regional television package in 1991 before the league played a game. The BIG EAST Television Network immediately was the largest regional college football network in the country.

In 1996, the BIG EAST begins new deals with CBS and ESPN. CBS will telecast up to 12 games per year. ESPN and ESPN2 will carry at least 12 games each season. Both agreements, which run through 2000, will mean that CBS and ESPN will telecast a BIG EAST game virtually every week of the season.

The BIG EAST assigned rights to all games not telecast by CBS or ESPN to Creative Sports of Charlotte, NC, a subsidiary of ESPN. For the second consecutive year, Creative Sports will produce and distribute additional games for syndication, local markets and pay-per-view.

The BIG EAST has always assured itself of prestigious bowl invitations. The league champion will attend the Fiesta, Orange, or Sugar Bowls as part of its membership in the Bowl Alliance. An agreement with the Toyota Gator Bowl will allow that bowl to choose a second BIG EAST team. For the fourth straight season, the Carquest Bowl will select a third BIG EAST team. Last fall, the league signed a contract with the St. Jude Liberty Bowl which will choose a fourth BIG EAST team.

The BIG EAST fared well in the bowls last season. League co-champion Virginia Tech won the Nokia Sugar Bowl and Syracuse captured the Toyota Gator Bowl.

BIG EAST teams have enjoyed plenty of success in recent years. Miami won national titles in '83, '87, '89 and '91. The Hurricanes played on New Year's Day every year from 1986 to 1995. Syracuse has been to the postseason in seven of the last nine years. Virginia Tech is on a three-year bowl streak for the first time in school history. Boston College has gone "bowling" three of the last four years. West Virginia has gone to bowl games in two of the past three seasons.

Some of the same elements that were in place when the BIG EAST Conference was born in 1979 are present in BIG EAST football. The football members are a group of schools that, for the most part, were traditional rivals, but were never a formal league. The BIG EAST Football Conference alignment includes four schools that have been full members of the The BIG EAST Conference. They are: Boston College, University of Miami, University of Pittsburgh, and Syracuse University. Rutgers University and West Virginia University became full members of the BIG EAST on July 1, 1995. These six institutions are joined in the football group by Temple University and Virginia Tech.

MICHAEL TRANGHESE, COMMISSIONER

The BIG EAST Football Conference is only in its sixth year of existence. Mike Tranghese made sure the league became a national player immediately in the world of college football and maintained that status.

The league was born on February 6, 1991. Since then, college football has undergone significant changes in conference membership, bowl agreements and television. Tranghese has positioned the BIG EAST to be a proactive participant in all facets of the sport.

He initiated the formation of BIG EAST football and immediately went to work, making the BIG EAST part of the unique Bowl Coalition which guaranteed prestigious bowl appearances for two conference teams. That agreement began in the 1992 season and ran through the '94 season.

Now, the BIG EAST is part of the Bowl Alliance, which is a hybrid of the Bowl Coalition. The Bowl Alliance guarantees the league champion a bid to the Fiesta, Orange or Sugar Bowls.

Tranghese secured agreements with the Toyota Gator Bowl and the Carquest Bowl which assures the conference or two more prestigious bowl invitations. In 1994, he negotiated a deal with the St. Jude Liberty Bowl for a fourth BIG EAST team to land in the postseason.

Tranghese has long been considered one of the industry's forward thinkers in television. When BIG EAST football began, the league started the BIG EAST Football Television Network which immediately became the nation's largest regional college football network.

In positioning the league for the second half of this decade, Tranghese made new deals with CBS and ESPN which will begin in the 1996 season. Both agreements, which run through 2000, will mean that CBS and ESPN will telecast a BIG EAST game virtually every week of the season.

In 1995, Creative Sports of Charlotte, NC began producing and distributing additional games for syndication, local markets and pay-per-view. The BIG EAST has assigned the rights to all games not telecast this season by ABC, CBS or ESPN to Creative Sports, a subsidiary of ESPN, Inc.

Tranghese, 52, became the Commissioner of The BIG EAST Conference on June 21, 1990 and promptly was faced with an unprecedented membership realignment among some major collegiate conferences. He responded by coordinating an expansion which included the University of Miami becoming a full member of the BIG EAST and being a key addition to the new and unique BIG EAST Footbal Conference.

In 1994, Tranghese guided the league through what many thought to be a critical stage that could have resulted in a permanent split among its members. In March, the conference added Rutgers University and West Virginia University as its 11th and 12th members and maintained its structure. Just four months later, Tranghese and The BIG EAST added the University of Notre Dame. All three new members began BIG EAST competition in 1995-96.

BIG EAST athletic directors were unanimous in the decision to choose Tranghese as Commissioner after his 11 years of impressive service to the league, the last nine as associate commissioner. Tranghese was the BIG EAST's first full-time employee in 1979.

Tranghese has lived up to his promise of keeping the BIG EAST an aggressive consortium while adhering to the principles which have marked the league's explosive rise to prominence: a cohesive structure, a "dare to be different" administrative approach, a staunch commitment to excellence in performance and a continuing emphasis on academic integrity.

Tranghese's career has flourished over the last two decades, coinciding with the focus upon Eastern college basketball and the proliferation of sports events on television. His first athletic department position was at American International College in Springfield, MA.

As the sports information director at Providence College, he publicized the immensely successful Friar teams of the seventies. Upon moving to The BIG EAST in 1979 as assistant commissioner for public relations and marketing, he engineered the tremendous campaigns in radio and television which made the league -- and its marquee coaches and players -- household names.

Under his direction, the BIG EAST championship slate expanded from seven men's championships in 1979 to 18 men's and women's events in 1989 and 19 each in 1993.

Tie-Breaker Now in Effect

The BIG EAST Football Conference has adopted a tie-breaking procedure to determine its league representatives in the Bowl Alliance

The BIG EAST champion automatically qualifies for one of the three Bowl Alliance games - the Tostitos Fiesta, FedEx Orange and Nokia Sugar Bowls. Previously, the Bowl Allliance had the ability to choose any BIG EAST that tied for the championship.

The tie-breaker will employ head-to-head competition combined with rankings in the polls.

Tie-Breaking Procedure:

The champion is the team that finishes the season with the highest winning percentage in conference games. If more than one team has the same winning percentage, the tied teams are declared co-champions.

In order to determine the conference's representative to the Bowl Alliance, the procedures listed below will be followed. All references to rankings refer to the average ranking combining the AP and CNN/USA Today polls released after the regular season is completed for all BIG EAST members. For example, a #11 ranking would be achieved if a team was ranked #10 in one poll and #12 in the other. A #11 ranking would be six spots below a #5 ranking, 5 spots below a #6 ranking, and four spots below a #7 ranking.

Two-Way Tie (between Teams A & B)

1. Team A defeats Team B and is higher ranked - Team A earns bid.

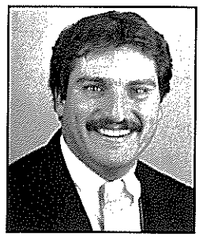

2. Team A defeats Team B and is ranked lower, but in top 10 - Team A eearns bid (*except if Team B is ranked #1 or #2 in either poll, then Team B earns bid)
3. Team A defeats Team B and is ranked lower, but no less than five positions below Team B - Team A earns bid
4. Team A defeats Team B and is ranked lower, and more than five positions below Team B - Team B earns bid.

If the two teams have the same ranking, or both are unranked, the bid goes to the team that has won the head-to-head game.

THE BIG EAST

In an effort to assist Rutgers football players in handling the intense media attention they will receive while playing for a BIG EAST institution in a major media market, the Rutgers Football program annually holds discussion panels, featuring members of the media and moderated by Director of Sports Media Relations Pete Kowalski.

In this unique format, the players are given the opportunity to ask questions of the media members. The players leave these panels with a better understanding of the interview process.

Jim Guarnera

Did You Know???

In 1995, the Rutgers Football program placed the second highest number of players on the BIG EAST All-Academic team with four - Chris Anzidei, Jim Guarnera, Ron Keller and Jared Slovan. For Keller, it was the third straight year he earned this distinction.

BIG EAST FAXBACK

This is an automated Fax-on-Demand System that sends the latest in sports information from the BIG EAST and its member institutions to your fax machine - instantly. Information is available in every conference-sponsored sport by calling from the handset of any fax machine. Up to five different documents may be ordered with one phone call.

The football categories are broken down into separate document files. "Press Release" is the entire release for the week, including notes, statistics, schedule and results. "Notes Only" contains just the notes portion of the release. "Stats Only" is just the statistical pages of the release. NCAA leaders will be available in the BIG EAST "Stats Only" file on Mondays. The "Schedule/Results" file contains the schedule and starting times for the season and the week-by-week results. "Box Scores" includes the scoring summary and team and individual statistics from the most recent game.

Once a release and/or statistics are completed by the conference office and the individual sports information offices, files are updates and are immediately accessible. The BIG EAST Football Conference release will be on FAXBACK by 5:00 pm every Sunday afternoon. Each school release should be available by 11:00 am Monday mornings.
