RUTGERS TODAY

Greg Schiano returned to Rutgers in 2000 and has rebuilt this program from the ground up, making Rutgers one of the top-ranked teams in the nation and one of the great destinations for the best players in the country.

SCHIANO
RUTGERS
PERFECT TOGETHER!

RUTGERS TODAY

With four bowl championships in five years, the Scarlet Knights return an immense amount of talent on both sides of the football in 2011.

Rutgers returns nearly 80 percent of its starters from 2010, including over 90 percent of the total offense.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

RUTGERS IS ONE OF THE TOP ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS IN THE COUNTRY, YEAR AFTER YEAR.

The Rutgers football team has achieved the nation's number two ranking in Academic Progress Rate, according to the latest multi-year APR figures released by the NCAA. The impressive accomplishment continues a trend for the Rutgers football program under head coach Greg Schiano of success both in the classroom and on the playing field.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Rutgers football team was ranked in the top three nationally in multi-year APR rates, becoming the only university in the entire nation to earn such a prestigious honor.

The Scarlet Knights, who secured the nation's top APR multi-year figure (992) in 2010, continued their model of success and achievement in the classroom with a multi-year APR figure of 988 in 2011.

"We take great pride in posting the second-highest Academic Progress Rate in the nation for our football team - and in being the only university to be ranked in the top three nationally for four straight years," said Rutgers President Richard L. McCormick.

The top three Football Bowl Subdivision schools in terms of APR are Northwestern (993), Rutgers (988) and Northern Illinois (987). For the fourth straight year, Rutgers has the best APR mark of any state university in the nation.

TOP THREE FOOTBALL BOWL SUBDIVISION APR SCORES

1. Northwestern (993). 2. RUTGERS (988). 3. N. Illinois (987).

NFL KNIGHTS

Under Greg Schiano's leadership, more than 45 Scarlet Knights have signed NFL contracts including 15 in the last two seasons.

Since 2009, more than 30 former Rutgers players have played at the next level, including Pro Bowlers Ray Rice, Shaun O'Hara, Devin McCourty and fellow first-round draft picks Kenny Britt and Anthony Davis.

Rutgers has also been well represented in the Super Bowl, with at least one Scarlet Knight suiting up for the big game in five of the last seven seasons.

COACHING STAFF

Entering his 11th year as the head football coach at Rutgers University, Greg Schiano has continued to make his mark in the annals of the Birthplace of College Football. Rutgers had advanced to a postseason bowl just once in 135 years of football, however, Schiano has made that infrequency a thing of the past as the Scarlet Knights continued their recent bowl tradition, accepting a bid to five bowls over the previous six seasons, including four straight bowl victories during the time span.

Although he has created what he started out to accomplish - building one of the top programs in the nation on a rock solid foundation - both on the field and in the classroom, the ultimate goal remains the same for Schiano. Since the day he accepted the position on Dec. 1, 2000 the vision has always been winning the National Championship.

The longest-tenured coach in the BIG EAST, Schiano has guided the Scarlet Knights to new heights throughout his career "On the Banks" - including four consecutive bowl victories for the first time in school history.

The 2009 campaign featured a nine-win season, another bowl victory with a 45-24 victory over UCF in the St. Petersburg Bowl. Prior to Schiano's arrival at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights had never fielded a receiver who had gained 1,000 yards in a season. In 2009, Tim Brown became the fourth during his tenure to eclipse the mark. Brown also became the school's all-time leader in receiving touchdowns; passing RU's inaugural first round draft pick Kenny Britt.

The 2008 campaign for the Scarlet Knights started slowly, but the program relied on a strong foundation built by Schiano and together as a family Rutgers turned a 1-5 start into seven consecutive victories to close out the season - culminating in a 29-23 victory over NC State in the Papa-Johns.com Bowl.

The on-field success under Schiano has led to attendance records at High Point Solutions Stadium as the program averaged over 40,000 fans per game for the fifth time in 2010.

The Scarlet Knights unveiled their newly-expanded stadium in 2009 and it resulted in two of the highest all-time attendance numbers, including the school record 53,737 fans in attendance for RU's season-opener against Cincinnati.

The program also opened the state-of-the-art Brown Football Recruiting Pavilion and Welcome Center, designed to help enhance the game-day experience for prospective student-athletes looking to make a home "On the Banks."

The Scarlet Knights continue to work towards their ultimate goal after five bowl appearances in the previous six seasons, including a sensational 2006 campaign. Rutgers ended the season with a ranking of #12 in the national polls. The success Rutgers has achieved on the field was something Schiano envisioned from the first day he became the leader of the Scarlet Knights. At his introductory press conference, Schiano stated "We're going to win at Rutgers and we're going to do it the right way."

COACHING STAFF

The 2006 season was complete with a convincing 37-10 victory over Kansas State in the Texas Bowl, the first bowl championship in school history.

Schiano, the 2006 National Coach of the Year and BIG EAST Coach of the Year, has been the architect of transforming the Rutgers program into one of the nation's best. The Scarlet Knights earned their first national top-10 ranking in 2006 and won 11 games for the second time in school history.

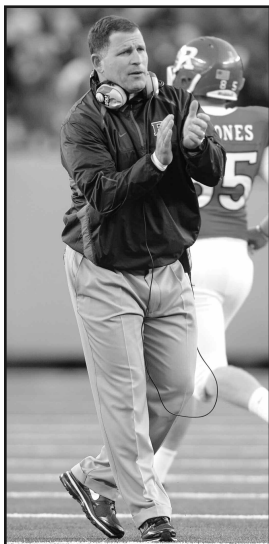

"All along we have said the same thing," said Schiano. "What we're doing here, we're just scratching the surface. The sky is the limit here at Rutgers and we're going to do great things. We've recruited really great young guys in this program and this is home. The same things I said at this podium the first time in this room that were true then are still true now. This state and the New York and Philadelphia metropolitan areas have all started to come together here and that's only going to get better. It's something that's never been tapped, so to me, this is a great, great situation."

A New Jersey native who returned to his roots to take over the reins of the Rutgers football program, Schiano has led the Scarlet Knights throughout his tenure with the energy, passion and boundless enthusiasm that have been the hallmarks of his career.

Schiano's impact as head coach is evident in all aspects of the Rutgers football program. Schiano and his staff have continued to upgrade the level of talent by recruiting student-athletes with outstanding athleticism and great character, all part of the building process that continues to result in on-field success.

Rutgers now boasts one of the nation's finest football complexes, highlighted by an expansive strength and conditioning facility, a state-of-the-art training room and academic support facilities which include classrooms, study rooms and computer labs.

With a state-of-the-art scoreboard and FieldTurf playing surface in place, High Point Solutions Stadium continues to be one of the most scenic settings for college football in the country.

Schiano's arrival signaled a new era at Rutgers, and he continues to guide the program at New Jersey's State University to the elite of the Football Bowl Subdivision. His tireless work ethic, winning attitude and commitment to the University are pillars which generate excitement throughout the "State of Rutgers."

Schiano, who grew up in Wyckoff and graduated from Ramapo High School, took over as the 27th head coach of the nation's oldest college football program on Dec. 1, 2000. On that day, Schiano proclaimed his vision of excellence for Rutgers football. "This program will be built on a rock foundation," he said. "It will take longer than building it on stilts, but when it's built, it will be built forever. This is where I started; this is where I was striving to get back to. I'm thrilled to be here. It's time."

PERSONAL INFORMATION

Full Name: Gregory Edward Schiano
Birthdate: June 1, 1966
Hometown: Wyckoff, N.J.
Education: B.S. in business administration,
Bucknell University (1988)
Wife: The former Christy Mitchell
Children: Joey, John, Matt and Katie

For the first time in school history, Rutgers had two players selected in the first round of the 2010 NFL Draft as offensive lineman Anthony Davis went 11th overall to San Francisco and cornerback Devin McCourty was taken with the 27th pick overall by the New England Patriots. Ryan D'Imperio, who played linebacker at Rutgers, was drafted to play fullback in the seventh round by the Minnesota Vikings to round out the 2010 NFL draft picks for the Scarlet Knights. Rutgers was the only school in the BIG EAST with two first round selections and the first league school since 2004 to have multiple first round picks.

Four Scarlet Knights also joined the professional ranks following the draft as they signed NFL free agent contracts. Wide receiver Tim Brown (New York Giants), fullback Jack Corcoran (Houston Texans), offensive lineman Kevin Haslam (Jacksonville Jaguars) and defensive lineman George Johnson (Tampa Bay Buccaneers) joined the three drafted Scarlet Knights to give RU a total of seven players from the 2009 squad on NFL rosters in 2010.

Three former Scarlet Knights have earned Super Bowl rings over the last six years. Gary Brackett was a captain of the XLI Super Bowl Champion Indianapolis Colts, Giants co-captain Shaun O'Hara won a ring in Super Bowl XLII with New York and Darnell Stapleton started at right guard on Kevin Malast (Chicago Bears) and Jamaal Westerman (New York Jets).

In total, 32 former Scarlet Knights who played under Schiano were on NFL rosters for the 2010 season. In the 2008 NFL Draft, two Rutgers players were selected – Ray Rice in the second round to the Baltimore Ravens and Jeremy Zuttah to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the third round. Both Rice and Zuttah started multiple games during their rookie seasons in the NFL. Rice also earned NFL All-Pro honors in his second year.

Eric Foster (Indianapolis Colts) and Ron Girault (Kansas City Chiefs) also signed professional contracts in 2008. Foster has been a starter the past two seasons for the Colts at defensive tackle. In the 2007 NFL Draft, three Scarlet Knights were drafted, including Brian Leonard in the second round to the St. Louis Rams.

In all, seven players Cameron Stephenson (5th Round, Pittsburgh Steelers), Clark Harris (7th Round, Green Bay Packers), Darnell Stapleton (Pittsburgh Steelers), Derrick Roberson (Houston Texans), Ramel Meekins (Indianapolis Colts), Manny Collins (New York Jets) and Joe Porter (New Orleans Saints) from the 2006 squad signed NFL contracts prior to the 2007 NFL season.

Pittsburgh's Super Bowl Championship team in Super Bowl XLIII.

The 2009 NFL Draft was historic for Rutgers as a school-record five players were selected, including the program's inaugural first-round pick in wide receiver Kenny Britt. The Tennessee Titans selected Britt with the 30th overall pick of the draft.

Quarterback Mike Teel (Seattle Seahawks), cornerback Jason McCourty (Tennessee Titans), defensive back Courtney Greene (Seattle Seahawks) and wide receiver Tiquan Underwood (Jacksonville Jaguars) also had their names called on draft day.

Three additional members of the 2008 team also signed free agent contracts in Kevin Brock (Carolina Panthers), Following the 2005 campaign, five Scarlet Knights who played for Schiano signed with NFL teams, including All-American Ryan Neill (Buffalo Bills), All-BIG EAST standout Tres Moses (Baltimore Ravens), Val Barnaby (Detroit Lions), Chris Baker (San Francisco 49ers) and Sameeh McDonald (Detroit Lions).

Other NFL Knights from Schiano's reign include OL Trohn Carswell (Carolina Panthers), DT Gary Gibson (Baltimore Ravens), DB Brandon Haw (Miami Dolphins), DB Jarvis Johnson (Baltimore Ravens), WR Aaron Martin (Dallas Cowboys), DE Raheem Orr (New York Giants), DT J'Vonne Parker (Cleveland Browns) and RB Dennis Thomas (Kansas City Chiefs).

Another former standout, defensive back Nate Jones of the Denver Broncos, was a remarkable talent on the field and in the classroom while at Rutgers. Jones became Rutgers football's first two-time Academic All-America selection, and was a member of the prestigious National Football Foundation/ College Football Hall of Fame National Scholar Class of 2003, one of just eight Football Bowl Subdivision players honored. Jones was also the recipient of the BIG EAST/Aéropostale 2003 Football Scholar-Athlete of the Year Award, and was the BIG EAST's Co-Special Teams Player of the Year in 2002.

The academic success is not just limited to individual players under Schiano, but the entire team. Rutgers football achieved the nation's number one ranking in Academic Progress Rate in 2010 and the nation's number two mark in 2011. The historic accomplishment continues a trend for the Rutgers football program of success both in the classroom and on the playing field.

For the fourth consecutive year, the Rutgers football team was ranked in the top three nationally in multi-year APR rates, becoming the only university in the entire nation to earn such a prestigious honor.

The Scarlet Knights, who secured the nation's top APR multi-year figure [992] in 2010, continued their model of success and achievement in the classroom with a multi-year APR figure of 988 in 2011, the second-best mark in the country.

Achievement and success are nothing new to Schiano. Wherever he has been in his coaching career, success has followed. During Schiano's two-year stint as defensive coordinator at Miami [1999-2000], the Hurricanes posted a 20-5 record, including an 11-1 mark, the No. 2 national ranking and the Sugar Bowl Championship in 2000. The Hurricanes boasted one of the top scoring defenses in the nation in 2000, and were the stingiest defensive squad in the BIG EAST Conference.

Under Schiano, the Miami defense showed rapid and marked improvement in his two seasons as defensive coordinator. The 'Canes defense closed out the 1999 season by not allowing a passing touchdown in 27 quarters, and was 12th nationally in scoring defense [allowing 17.2 points per game]. In 2000, Miami surrendered just 15.5 points per game, the fewest allowed by any team in the BIG EAST and No. 5 nationally.

Prior to his assignment at Miami, Schiano spent three seasons in the NFL with the Chicago Bears (1996-98). Schiano was a defensive assistant in 1996-97, and was the defensive backfield coach in 1998. The 1997 Chicago Bears' third-down defense showed measurable improvement under Schiano's leadership, finishing first in the NFC and fourth in the NFL as opponents converted just 31.7% of their third-down attempts. In 1996, the Bears' pass defense climbed from 27th to 11th in fewest yards allowed.

Schiano was defensive backfield coach at Penn State University from 1991-95. While at Penn State, the Nittany Lions had 58 wins and made six bowl appearances in his tenure. Overall, in nine seasons as an assistant on the collegiate level, Schiano's teams advanced to eight bowl games.

Schiano's first assignment as a coach in the college ranks came during the 1989 season, when he served as a graduate assistant coach at Rutgers, following a one-year stint as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Ramapo High School. Schiano was a standout linebacker at Ramapo, playing for head coach Mike Miello. After his initial stint at Rutgers in 1989, he moved on to Penn State as a graduate assistant coach in 1990.

Schiano is a 1988 graduate of Bucknell University where he was a three-year letterman at linebacker. He was named to the Sporting News All-America Preseason Team in 1987. He served as team captain his senior year and, as a junior, he topped the team with 114 tackles and was named all-conference. Schiano and his wife, Christy, are the proud parents of four children, Joey, John, Matt and Katie.

BRIAN ANGELICHIO

TIGHT ENDS

Brian Angelichio joins the Rutgers coaching staff for his first season as tight ends coach after a five-year stint on the Pittsburgh sidelines.

During his tenure at Pittsburgh, Angelichio helped develop the tight end position into one of the Panthers' top offensive weapons. In addition to coaching the team's tight ends, Angelichio served as Pitt's offensive coordinator in the BBVA Compass Bowl.

In 2009, Pitt's starting tight ends, and 2010 NFL Draft picks, Nate Byham (San Francisco 49ers) and Dorin Dickerson (Houston Texans), were both named All-BIG EAST and were major assets for the Panthers' potent offense under offensive coordinator Frank Cignetti.

Dickerson, who set a Pitt tight end record with 10 touchdown receptions, was named to the 2009 Football Writers Association All-America Team. Dickerson additionally was a finalist for the prestigious John Mackey Award. Byham was a two-time All-BIG EAST selection under Angelichio's tutelage, becoming the first Pitt tight end to twice earn all-conference honors.

Angelichio also mentored Pittsburgh tight end Darrell Strong, an eventual free-agent signee of the Oakland Raiders in 2008. Strong was invited to the 2008 Hula Bowl, the first Pitt tight end to play in that historic all-star game since 1981.

Prior to his stay at Pittsburgh, Angelichio spent 10 years coaching at Ithaca College (1996-2005). Named Ithaca's offensive coordinator in 2000, Angelichio guided a highly productive unit that set or tied 30 team and individual records over his final five seasons. The Bombers averaged nearly 40 points per game in 2005 to rank 18th nationally on the NCAA Division III level.

Angelichio coached seven All-Americans at Ithaca, which advanced to the postseason in seven of his 10 years.

A 1995 graduate of St. Lawrence with a bachelor's in physical education, Angelichio was a member of the Saints' football and baseball teams. He was a three-year starter at outside linebacker and also was a captain and four-year starter on the baseball team. He earned his master's from Ithaca in 1997.

JAY BUTLER

ASSISTANT ATHLETIC DIRECTOR FOR STRENGTH & CONDITIONING HEAD FOOTBALL STRENGTH & CONDITIONING COACH

For more than a decade, Jay Butler has spearheaded the efforts to increase on-field performance of the Rutgers football program as he enters his seventh season as Assistant Athletic Director for Strength and Conditioning and 11th year overall as Head Football Strength and Conditioning Coach.

His vast knowledge in the areas of strength and conditioning has helped the Scarlet Knights make remarkable strides in the weight room and on the field. Butler and his staff employ a tireless work ethic and demanding approach to ensure that the members of the Rutgers football program continue to grow and develop during their time "On the Banks." For his steady commitment, Butler was recognized countless times during his career – most notably in the March 2007 issue of American Football Monthly as Samson's Division I-A Strength and Conditioning Coach of the Year.

Butler's drive to push players in the weight room has been embraced and its benefits have paid off for several Scarlet Knights who have made the seamless transition into the National Football League, many of which who continue to train with Butler and his staff during the NFL off-season.

The consistent upgrades on the field as well as in the weight room were clearly evident in the 2009 NFL Draft, with a school-record five former players being selected, including the first-ever first round pick. The unprecedented success continued in 2010 as Rutgers saw a pair of Scarlet Knights taken in the first round of the NFL Draft.

Butler, who earned a Mechanical Engineering degree from Bucknell University in 1991, designed the state-of-the-art, 15,500 square foot strength and conditioning facility in the expanded Hale Center. He incorporated the latest technologies, including digital video analysis, a 60-yard FieldTurf track and other amenities to complete one of the nation's premier facilities. Its use has been integral in developing the complete football player.

Prior to joining the Scarlet Knights' staff, Butler served as the Director of Speed, Strength and Conditioning at Dartmouth College for five years (1996-2000). Before his stint at Dartmouth, Butler worked four years at East Carolina University in the strength and conditioning program. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant for three years at ECU, while earning his master's degree. He was soon promoted to Assistant Director of Strength and Conditioning in 1995.

Butler is a 1987 graduate of nearby Hillsborough High School, where he excelled in both football and baseball. He went on to be a three-year starter and two-time All-American offensive tackle at Bucknell, before playing two seasons on the professional level.

Butler and his wife, Jo Ann, are the proud parents of four daughters, Kylie, Casey, Sydney and Katherine.

FRANK CIGNETTI

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/QUARTERBACKS

Frank Cignetti begins his first season with the Rutgers coaching staff as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the Scarlet Knights.

Cignetti boasts a coaching resume that stretches over 20 years in both the NFL and on the collegiate level. He arrives at Rutgers after serving the previous two seasons at the University of Pittsburgh in the same capacity.

During his tenure at Pitt, Cignetti helped produce some of the most prolific results in Panther history. In total, seven of Pitt's offensive players were named All-BIG EAST selections the last two seasons, including Dion Lewis, who was honored as the league's Offensive Player of the Year and Rookie of the Year in 2009.

In his first year on the Pitt staff, the Panthers had one of their most potent offenses in school history, scoring 32.1 points per game - one of the top five scoring offenses ever at Pitt. The offensive arsenal included a 1,700-yard rusher, a 1,000-yard receiver and a quarterback who threw for more than 2,600 yards and 21 touchdowns.

Prior to joining the coaching staff at Pitt, Cignetti spent the 2008 season as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of California. The Bears averaged nearly 33 points per game en route to a 9-4 record and victory over Miami in the Emerald Bowl.

In 2007, Cignetti spent the season in the NFL as the San Francisco 49ers' quarterbacks coach. Before his stint with the 49ers, Cignetti was the offensive coordinator at North Carolina (2006) and Fresno State (2002-05).

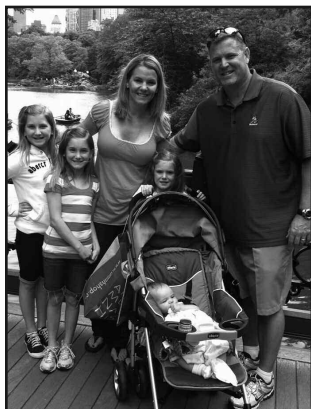

Cignetti led Fresno State to back-to-back top 10 national rankings in scoring offense, ranking fifth in the country in scoring offense in 2004 and seventh in 2005. He helped guide Fresno State to four consecutive bowl games.

In 2004, Fresno averaged 52.8 points over the last six games and became just the sixth team in NCAA history to score 50 or more points in four consecutive contests. Fresno finished that season 9-3, led the Western Athletic Conference in average yards per carry (5.4) and scored 65 touchdowns.

Cignetti has been a part of successful programs at all levels. In the NFL, he won a division championship and a playoff game with the New Orleans Saints in 2000. He was part of three bowl victories at Fresno State, and on the Division II level - at Indiana University of Pennsylvania - he reached the national championship game twice and the semifinals four times.

Before joining Fresno State, Cignetti was the New Orleans Saints quarterbacks coach in 2000 and 2001. In 2000, he helped the Saints earn the NFC West title and the franchise's first playoff win.

Cignetti landed his first NFL position in 1999 with the Kansas City Chiefs. While on the staff Cignetti coached the Senior Bowl that year.

Cignetti was an all-conference safety at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, from where he graduated in 1988.

From 1990-98, Cignetti was on his father's staff at IUP, where he served as IUP's receivers, secondary and quarterbacks coach before elevating to offensive coordinator for his final two seasons.

Cignetti's family has many football ties beginning with his father, Frank, who spent 20 seasons as the head coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, winning 182 games. The elder Cignetti was also the head coach at West Virginia from 1976-79. Cignetti's brother, Curt, is the head coach at Indiana University of Pennsylvania.

Cignetti and his wife Ellen are the proud parents of four children. The couple has three daughters Alyssa, Gabrielle and Ella, and a son Frank III.

P.J. FLECK

WIDE RECEIVERS

P.J. Fleck returns for his second season on the Rutgers coaching staff as the wide receivers coach.

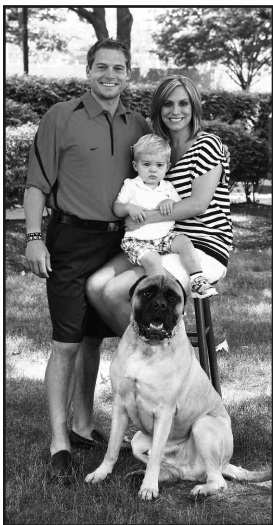

Fleck helped the unit make strides in his first season with the Scarlet Knights, most notable in Mark Harrison, who emerged as a potent offensive weapon under Fleck's guidance. Harrison went on to lead the Scarlet Knights with 829 receiving yards and nine touchdowns. His most impressive outing came in 2010 against Cincinnati as he finished with career-bests in receiving yards (240), receptions (10) and touchdowns (four). The four TDs tied a school record, while his 240 yards receiving was second-most in a game in Rutgers history.

The Sugar Grove, Ill., native arrived at Rutgers after three seasons as the wide receivers coach at his alma mater, Northern Illinois. Fleck also served as the Huskies' recruiting coordinator in his final year with the program.

Fleck spent three seasons tutoring the Huskie wide receivers. Two of his 2008 receivers - Britt Davis and Matt Simon - signed free agent contracts with the New York Jets and New Orleans Saints, following their collegiate careers.

A leader on Northern Illinois' 2003 10-win team, Fleck began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Ohio State in 2006. He worked with the Buckeye tight ends and wide receivers and assisted with the special teams in his one season in Columbus, which culminated in a trip to the BCS National Championship Game in Glendale, Ariz.

Fleck began his coaching career after two seasons as a member of the San Francisco 49ers. After signing with the 49ers as a free agent in 2004, he spent most of that season on the practice squad before making an appearance versus New England late in the year. He was placed on the injured reserve roster in 2005 before retiring from professional football in June 2006.

Fleck earned first-team All Mid-American Conference honors at Northern Illinois in 2003 while helping NIU to a 7-0 start that included upset victories over Maryland and Alabama. As a senior, he led the Huskies with 77 catches for 1,028 yards and six touchdowns, a reception total that still ranks second on the school's single-season list.

Fleck still owns the school record for career punt returns (87), is second in punt return yards (716), ranks third in career catches (179) and is fourth in receiving yards (2,162). He was a second-team Academic All-American as a senior and was twice voted team captain by his teammates.

A 2004 graduate of Northern Illinois in elementary education, Fleck is married to the former Tracie Striebel. The couple has one son, Carter Joseph (C.J.).

KYLE FLOOD

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH/OFFENSIVE LINE

Kyle Flood is in his seventh season on the Rutgers football staff, serving as offensive line coach. He also enters his fourth year as assistant head coach.

During his time 'On the Banks', the Rutgers offensive line has consistently produced top-level talent, including several of which who have gone on to the National Football League. Most recently, Anthony Davis became the highest player ever drafted in Rutgers history as the 11th overall pick of the 2010 Draft. Davis went on to have a solid rookie campaign at right tackle for the San Francisco 49ers, starting all 16 games.

Flood has helped engineer some of the most potent offenses in Rutgers history - evident in a record-breaking 2007 season. The Scarlet Knights' offensive line ranked second in the nation with just 10 sacks allowed in addition to an RU offense that became the first in NCAA history to have a 3,000-yard passer, 2,000-yard rusher and two, 1,000-yard receivers in the same season.

The Rutgers offense was ranked 18th nationally in total offense that season. The offensive line featured two of the top tackles in the nation in Pedro Sosa and Jeremy Zuttah. Both players earned All-BIG EAST honors and were also invited to the NFL Scouting Combine in Indianapolis with Zuttah becoming a third round selection by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers.

Flood added run game coordinator to his duties in 2007 and his offensive line helped pave the way for All-American running back Ray Rice, who rushed for a school and then-BIG EAST record 2,012 yards that season. Rice went on to become one of the most-recognizable faces in the NFL as the 55th overall selection of the Baltimore Ravens.

In 2006, Flood coached an offensive line that helped Rutgers to one of its most productive seasons as the group relinquished the fewest sacks in the nation with just eight. His unit was regarded as one of the best in the country and featured Cameron Stephenson and Darnell Stapleton, both who played in the NFL. Flood's corps of hard-nosed blockers helped guide Rice to an All-America season, as he finished second in the nation with 1,794 yards.

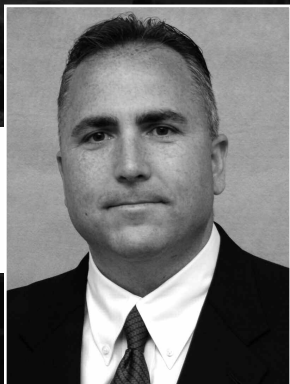

Flood came to Rutgers after three seasons at the University of Delaware, where he helped the Blue Hens to a 30-11 record, including a 15-1 mark, the NCAA FCS National Championship in 2003 and a share of the Atlantic 10 title in 2004. He also served as assistant head coach and recruiting coordinator during his stint.

Prior to his three seasons at Delaware, Flood was offensive line coach at Hofstra from 1997-2001. While at Hofstra, he helped the Pride earn berths in the NCAA FCS playoffs in 1997 and 1999-2001. The Pride were among the top offensive teams in the nation during his tenure, ranking second in total offense, fourth in passing, fifth in scoring in 2001.

Flood, a 1993 graduate of Iona College, was a four-year letterwinner for the Gaels. A high school teammate of former Rutgers All-American tight end Marco Battaglia at St. Francis Prep High School in Queens, N.Y., Flood earned first team All-Liberty Conference honors in 1991 and served as team captain of the Gaels in 1992.

Flood's first college coaching position came in 1995-96 as offensive line coach at Long Island University-C.W. Post. While coaching at C.W. Post, he helped the team to the ECAC Division II Eastern title in 1996. Flood began his coaching career at St. Francis Prep in 1993, as both offensive and defensive line coach in 1993-94.

Flood and his wife, Amy, are the proud parents of a son, Kyle, and a daughter, Isabella.

BOB FRASER

DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR/DEFENSIVE LINE

Bob Fraser enters his sixth season on the Rutgers football sideline. Fraser will resume his duties as defensive coordinator for the third season. He will also move to coaching the defensive line for the first time since mentoring the linebackers for the previous three campaigns.

During his time at RU, Fraser has been instrumental in helping orchestrate some of Rutgers' best defensive units. He brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to the program with more than two decades on the sidelines.

In 2009, his first season as co-defensive coordinator, Fraser helped the Rutgers defense reach great heights as the Scarlet Knights ranked in the top-20 in six categories, including leading the nation in tackles for loss and ranking fourth in sacks. RU was 15th in the country in rushing defense, 16th in scoring defense and 18th in total defense.

During his time "On the Banks", three of Fraser's former pupils have gone on to play professionally in the National Football League. All-BIG EAST linebacker Ryan D'Imperio was a seventh round draft pick of the Minnesota Vikings, while Kevin Malast and Brandon Renkart earned free agent contracts in 2008.

In his first season in 2007, he guided a unit that helped Rutgers achieve national rankings in pass defense (fifth), total defense (17th), sacks (12th), tackles for loss (20th) and scoring defense (30th). Fraser became a member of the Rutgers staff in July 2006 as Assistant to the Head Coach.

Prior to joining the RU staff, Fraser served nine seasons as linebackers coach at Colgate University. During his tenure at Colgate, he coached three Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year honorees, nine All-Patriot League selections and two All-Americans.

Fraser started his coaching career as a graduate assistant coach at his alma mater, Allegheny College for the 1985 and 1986 seasons. He later served in the same role at Rutgers for the 1987 and 1988 seasons, where he worked with then graduate assistant coach Greg Schiano for five months leading up to the 1989 season.

Fraser returned to Allegheny for the 1989 season in his first full-time position, spending three seasons as linebackers coach. The Gators were undefeated for two seasons and in 1990 won the NCAA Division III National Championship.

From 1992-95, Fraser coached the defensive line at Holy Cross and in 1996 was the offensive tackles and tight ends coach at Northeastern.

In a third stint at Allegheny, Fraser spent the 1997 coaching the inside and outside linebackers.

Fraser was a four-year letterwinner at Allegheny where he earned All-America honors on the defensive line as a sophomore and served as team captain in his junior and senior seasons. He was inducted into both the Allegheny College and East Allegheny High School Hall of Fames.

Fraser, a 1985 graduate from Allegheny with a degree in computer science, lives with his wife Cheryl, and their three children, sons Justin and Jason, and daughter Jessica.

PHIL GALIANO

DEFENSIVE LINE

Phil Galiano makes his return to defense as coach of the defensive line after leading the tight ends last season. This is his second stint as an assistant coach on the Rutgers football staff. Galiano previously coached the defensive ends and linebackers in his first term with the Scarlet Knights from 2003-06.

Prior to returning to Piscataway, Galiano most recently served as the defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Florida International. While at FIU, Galiano helped the Panthers achieve marked improvements on the defensive side of the ball. Between the 2007 and 2008 seasons, FIU jumped up 74 spots in turnover margin, 45 spots in pass efficiency defense, 36 spots in scoring defense, 34 spots in total defense and 25 spots in rush defense. The team also ranked 25th nationally in tackles for loss average, moving up 37 spots.

Galiano was a member of the Rutgers staff that saw the Scarlet Knights earn just their second bowl berth in school history and the first-ever victory with a 37-10 win over Kansas State in the Texas Bowl. Galiano's career at RU began as a defensive assistant in 2003 before being elevated to linebackers coach in 2004. He later spent the 2005 and 2006 seasons coaching the defensive ends.

In 2006, Galiano's defensive ends were major contributors on a defensive unit that ranked fourth nationally. Rutgers' defense was fifth in the NCAA in both sacks and tackles for loss per game and produced first-team All-America and All-BIG EAST defensive lineman Eric Foster, as well as second-team All-BIG EAST defensive linemen Jamaal Westerman, both current members of the National Football League.

Galiano began his coaching career at Dickinson College, where he worked with the outside linebackers during the 2000 season. He spent 2001 as outside linebackers coach at the University of New Haven before becoming an offensive assistant at Villanova in 2002, working primarily with the tight ends.

A three-year starter at safety for Shippensburg University, Galiano served as a tri-captain during his senior campaign. He helped lead the Raiders to three consecutive winning seasons from 1997-99, when they posted a 21-11 mark over that span.

Galiano, who originally hails from Norristown, Pa., graduated from Shippensburg in 2000 with a bachelor's degree in business administration. He and his wife, Kelly, have a son, Thomas Jeffrey and daughter Taylor Lee.

TODD GREINER

CHIEF OF STAFF/ASSISTANT TO THE HEAD COACH

Todd Greiner serves as chief of staff/assistant to the head coach and is in his eighth year with the Scarlet Knights. Prior to his current post, Greiner worked in the area of player development in 2004 and as a graduate assistant.

After serving as defensive graduate assistant from 2005-06 and coaching the safeties, Greiner was promoted to Assistant to the Head Coach, assisting Greg Schiano with all aspects of the football program.

In 2006, Greiner was instrumental in tutoring All-BIG EAST Second Team safeties Courtney Greene and Ron Girault. The Scarlet Knights ranked sixth in the nation in pass defense and eighth in pass efficiency defense in 2006.

Greiner graduated from William & Mary in 2001, and was a four-year starter at linebacker. He concluded his outstanding career with the Tribe with 380 tackles, including 141 stops in his senior season, ranking seventh in the NCAA Football Championship Subdivision.

Greiner was a team captain, All-Atlantic 10 selection as a senior, and was also named to the NSCA All-American team.

A graduate of Lancaster (Pa.) Catholic High School where he excelled in football and track & field, Greiner was named to his alma mater's Hall of Fame in 2004. He was a two-time defensive MVP of the team and holds school records for most tackles in a season and career and most touchdowns scored in a game with five.

Before his arrival to Rutgers, Greiner was co-owner of Complete Athletic Training (CAT) in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. A Certified Strength & Conditioning Specialist, he trained professional football players and prepped college athletes for the combine and professional play.

Greiner first began coaching football under the legendary George F. Smith at St. Thomas Aquinas High School in Fort Lauderdale as linebackers coach before joining the Rutgers staff.

Greiner and his fiancée Kerri reside in New Brunswick.

JEFF HAFLEY

SECONDARY

Jeff Hafley begins his first season on the Rutgers football staff after joining the program in the winter as the secondary coach.

Hafley, a native of Montvale, N.J., spent the previous five years at the University of Pittsburgh, including three seasons as Pitt's secondary coach.

Over his final two seasons at Pitt, Hafley coached four players that earned All-BIG EAST accolades. In 2009, two of those defensive backs were cornerback Aaron Berry and strong safety Dom DeCicco. It was the second All-BIG EAST honor for Berry, who played in the East-West Shrine Bowl following his successful senior season. Also, free safety Jarred Holley drew accolades as one of the top impact freshmen in the BIG EAST following his productive debut season in 2009.

During his time at Pitt, Hafley established a strong reputation as an excellent recruiter, helping the Panthers assemble a number of highly-touted recruiting classes.

In his first season with Pittsburgh, Hafley worked as a defensive assistant, primarily with the cornerbacks. Hafley helped mentor NFL Pro Bowl cornerback Darrelle Revis in his final season with the Panthers. Revis, who was a Jim Thorpe Award finalist and All-American at Pitt, went on to become the 14th overall selection of the New York Jets.

Prior to Pitt, Hafley served at the University of Albany for four seasons (2002-05), including his final two as defensive backs coach and recruiting coordinator. In his initial two years, Hafley was a graduate assistant who coached Albany's defensive tackles and outside linebackers. During his time at Albany, Hafley also coached a safety Kurt Campbell, who became the first player in the school's history to be taken in the NFL Draft as a selection of the Green Bay Packers.

Hafley coached the running backs at Worcester Polytechnic Institute in 2001. In addition, he also worked significantly with WPI's special teams and coached the kickers.

During his playing days, Hafley was a four-year wide receiver at Siena College from 1997-2000. He began his coaching career at his alma mater while recovering from three separate surgeries that kept him off the field. Hafley was a 2001 cum laude graduate of Siena with a bachelor's degree in history. He earned his master's from Albany in 2003.

Hafley and his wife Gina reside in Somerset.

CHRIS HEWITT

RUNNING BACKS

Chris Hewitt enters his eighth season as an assistant coach on the Rutgers football staff. Hewitt returns to coach the running backs for his second season after spending the previous two in charge of the cornerbacks.

Prior to becoming cornerbacks coach, Hewitt spent three seasons as Director of Speed and Skill Development at Rutgers.

In two seasons as cornerbacks coach, Hewitt's group ranked second in the BIG EAST Conference in passing defense both years. The unit recorded six of the Scarlet Knights' 10 interceptions in 2008.

Hewitt also mentored former cornerbacks Jason and Devin McCourty. In addition to excelling on the defensive side of the ball, the pair were also standouts in the special teams phase under Hewitt's tutelage. Jason went on to be selected by the Tennessee Titans in the 2009 NFL Draft, while Devin was a first-round choice (27th overall) of the New England Patriots in 2010.

During his three-year tenure as Director of Speed and Skill Development, the Scarlet Knights made marked improvements in those areas which translated into great success on the field.

Hewitt, a graduate of Dwight Morrow High School in Englewood, enjoyed a successful collegiate career at the University of Cincinnati (1992-96), before going on to the NFL's New Orleans Saints. At Cincinnati, Hewitt was a three-year starter in the secondary, and a two-time All-Conference USA selection (1995-96). He was also named to the All-Liberty Bowl Alliance team in 1995 and the All-Independent Football Alliance team in 1993.

In 1993, Hewitt was named the team's Newcomer of the Year after averaging 31.5 yards per kick return, the second best single-season return average in school history at the time.

Hewitt joined the Saints as a free agent in 1997, and played four seasons in the secondary and on special teams for New Orleans.

Following his playing career, he joined the Cleveland Browns coaching staff as a participant in the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship Program, and worked primarily with special teams and defensive backs. In 2003, Hewitt was an assistant strength and conditioning coach at the University of Notre Dame. Hewitt also worked with the Baltimore Ravens in 2005 and the Philadelphia Eagles in 2006 as part of the NFL Fellowship Program.

Hewitt and his wife, Tanisha, are the proud parents of daughters Azia, Briana, Christina and son, Christopher.

ANDREW JANOCKO

OFFENSIVE ASSISTANT

Andrew Janocko joined the Rutgers football coaching staff in the spring of 2011 and enters his first season as an offensive assistant with the Scarlet Knights.

Janocko, a former quarterback and holder at the University of Pittsburgh, was a valuable asset in Pitt's offensive preparation and special teams execution. Highly respected among the Panthers' quarterbacks for both his work ethic and extensive knowledge of the game, Janocko was a key part of the Panthers' highly accurate kicking game as a holder.

He spent his first two seasons at Pitt as a walk-on before earning a scholarship prior to the 2008 season. During his time at Pittsburgh, Janocko was an outstanding student who was twice named to the BIG EAST All-Academic Football Team.

In 2009, Janocko played in all 13 games, serving as the team's primary holder for placements, helping Pitt lead the BIG EAST in kick scoring (8.8 points/game) for the second consecutive year. He earned his first letter, playing in all 13 games as Pitt's primary holder in 2008, as the Panthers paced the BIG EAST in kick scoring (7.5 points/ game).

Janocko competed scholastically at Clearfield Area under his father Tim Janocko, who played fullback at Penn State. He was a two-year starter at quarterback, leading Clearfield Area to a pair of District 9 Championships and PIAA Class AAA playoff berths. Janocko passed for 1,947 yards and accounted for 18 touchdowns (13 passing and five rushing) as a senior, earning Pennsylvania Football News All-State honors.

A 2010 graduate of Pittsburgh, Janocko earned a degree in history and political science.

TEM LUKABU

OUTSIDE LINEBACKERS

Tem Lukabu enters his second season coaching the outside linebackers and his fourth overall on the Rutgers sideline. This is his second stint with the Scarlet Knights as Lukabu was previously a member of the RU player development staff from 2006-08.

Prior to returning to Rutgers, Lukabu served as linebackers coach at the University of Rhode Island from 2008-10. While with the Rams, Lukabu mentored a pair of standout players in Matt Hansen, a second team All-Colonial Athletic Association and All-New England Sports Writer honoree. He also coached Rob Damon, a third team Football Championship Subdivision (formerly Division I-AA) All-American and third team All-CAA recipient.

Lukabu began his collegiate coaching career with the Scarlet Knights in 2006, working in the area of player development. He was on staff during two of Rutgers' earliest bowl victories, the Texas Bowl Championship in 2006 and the 2008 International Bowl Championship.

A former linebacker himself, Lukabu was a three-year starter at Colgate. In 2003, he captained the National Runner-up squad that finished 15-1 and ranked second in the nation. That same year, Lukabu was named a third team Associated Press All-American and was also a finalist for the Buck Buchanan Award, given to the National Defensive Player of the Year.

A 2004 graduate of Colgate, Lukabu earned his Bachelor of Arts Degree in History with a minor in Political Science. The Avenel, N.J., native attended Colonia High School where he was an all-county and all-state honoree. Lukabu and his wife Kate reside in New Brunswick.

ROBB SMITH

SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR/LINEBACKERS

Robb Smith is in third season on the Rutgers sideline. Smith will serve as special teams coordinator for the third campaign and will return to coaching the linebackers.

Smith previously coached the cornerbacks last year after spending the 2009 season leading the outside linebackers. The Scarlet Knights have consistently excelled in special teams under the direction of Smith.

In his first season, the Scarlet Knights enjoyed measured success with Smith as the special teams coordinator. After a 2008 season in which RU did not have a special teams touchdown, Rutgers collected four in 2009 on three kick returns and a punt return. The special teams unit also recorded six blocked kicks.

Over the past two seasons, RU has recorded a total of 15 blocked kicks and seven punt/kickoff return touchdowns. The Scarlet Knights combined for just seven blocked kicks and one TD return in the two seasons prior to Smith arriving 'On the Banks'.

Smith joined Rutgers after a seven-season stint on the Maine coaching staff, serving as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator during the end of his tenure with the Black Bears. In addition to his role as defensive coordinator and assistant head coach, Smith also coached the team's linebackers.

Under Smith, Maine was ranked in the top third nationally in the Football Championship Subdivision in total defense in each of his three seasons as defensive coordinator. Smith earned the promotion to assistant head coach after leading one of the finest defenses in the nation in 2006. In his first season as the defensive coordinator, the "Black Hole" defense ranked among the top five nationally in several categories, including: rush defense (first), total defense (second), sacks (third), scoring defense (fourth) and tackles for loss (fifth).

Before joining the staff at Maine, Smith worked as a quality control/defensive graduate assistant at Iowa from 1999-2001. He was with the 2001 Hawkeye squad that defeated Texas Tech in the Alamo Bowl, 19-16.

A native of Pittsburgh, Pa., Smith played at Allegheny College from 1993-97 and was a three-year letterwinner at strong safety. Smith earned his B.A. degree in economics from Allegheny in 1997. He also earned a masters degree in communications from Iowa in 2002. Smith and his wife, Amy, are the proud parents of two sons, Charlie and Jack.

SCOTT WALKER

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL ACADEMIC SUPPORT

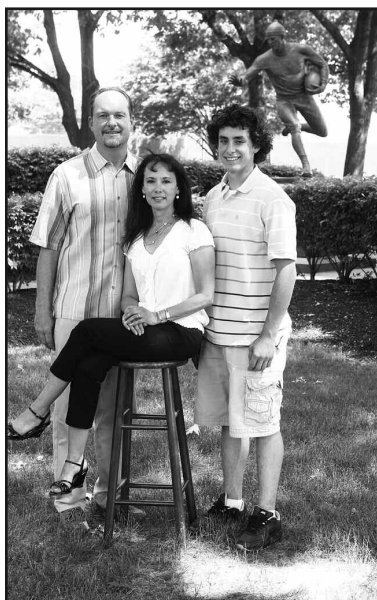

Scott Walker enters his eighth season at Rutgers as the Director of Football Academic Support. In his role, Walker oversees the entire academic program for the Rutgers football team.

During his time at RU, Walker has helped the football program establish unprecedented success in the classroom, further upholding the high academic standards of Rutgers University. The team has stood as a pillar for great achievement both on the field and in the classroom.

In the most recent NCAA Academic Progress Report (APR), the Rutgers football squad received a No. 2 ranking nationally. The Scarlet Knights are the only team in the entire country to boast the prestigious distinction of being ranked in the top three each of the past four seasons. Rutgers has also had the best APR score of any state university during that span.

In 2010, Rutgers ranked first nationally in APR. During the last five years under Walker's guidance, the Rutgers football program has ranked in the top seven nationally and has achieved the top APR of any Football Bowl Sub-division state university in the nation.

Rutgers has had two National Football Foundation Scholar Athletes in Brian Leonard and Brandon Renkart during Walker's tenure. Leonard received the prestigious Draddy Trophy, recognized as the "Academic Heisman," in 2006. He and his staff – Jenna Beverly and Darrick Brown – works diligently at ensuring that every Rutgers football player maximizes their potential in the classroom. They have made academic success a foremost priority for each student-athlete.

Prior to his tenure at Rutgers, Walker spent three seasons as an assistant football coach at Cornell. He was named the running backs coach at Cornell in the spring of 2001. Before joining the Cornell staff, he served five seasons at Georgia Tech, including three as the director of academics for the football team. In 1997, he was the assistant director of football operations. Prior to Tech, Walker was a coach at the University of Maine for six years, including the final two as the running game coordinator. Walker also spent time coaching at Purdue, Iowa and Texas.

Walker graduated from Princeton in 1984 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in geology. During his time at Princeton, he worked as the freshman defensive ends coach from 1982-84. In addition to attending college in New Jersey, Walker spent 15 years recruiting the New Jersey metropolitan area for various universities during his coaching career.

Scott and his wife, Michelle, have a son, Kyle.

TARIQ AHMAD

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL RECRUITING OPERATIONS

Tariq Ahmad is in his second season as Director of Football Recruiting Operations after previously serving as Director of Player Development. Ahmad arrived "On the Banks" in 2007 and is in his fifth season overall as a member of the Rutgers football coaching staff.

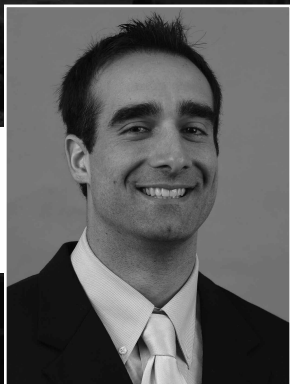

In his current position, Ahmad is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the recruiting department.

During the 2007 and 2008 seasons, Ahmad served in offensive player development, assisting with the offensive line. His responsibilities included the breakdown and analysis of offensive game film and contributing to the operations of practice preparation.

Prior to joining Rutgers, Ahmad worked as an offensive graduate assistant coach at his alma mater Ithaca College. While there, he instructed the running backs with game strategies and techniques. Ahmad began his collegiate coaching career at Ithaca in 2004 as a volunteer assistant coach with the offensive line.

Ahmad also worked as an assistant football coach at Lakewood High School in 2005, guiding the offensive and defensive lines. In addition, he was the head junior varsity basketball coach and assistant track and field coach, overseeing the field events.

A 2005 graduate of Ithaca College, Ahmad was a three-sport star in football, basketball and outdoor track. He was a two-time captain and two-time First Team All-ECAC selection on the gridiron, including earning All-American honors. Ahmad was also a state champion discus thrower on two occasions.

DAVID McCUNE

HEAD ATHLETIC TRAINER - FOOTBALL

For over the past decade, the health and wellness of the Rutgers football team has been the responsibility of Head Football Athletic Trainer David McCune. In his 11th season with the Scarlet Knights, McCune oversees all aspects of athletic training from injury prevention to rehabilitation within the program. McCune also assists with the coordination of the entire athletic department's athletic training staff.

He has worked with head coach Greg Schiano for more than a decade, also serving as Coordinator of Athletic Training and Football Athletic Trainer at the University of Miami for four seasons (1997-2000), before accompanying Schiano to the Scarlet Knights for the 2001 season.

McCune, a Virginia native, received his Bachelor's Degree from James Madison, and earned his Master's Degree from Missouri State University. He began his career as an Assistant Athletic Trainer at Missouri State in 1989, where he worked for one year before being named Head Athletic Trainer at the University of Miami's HealthSouth Sports Medicine Clinic (1989-93), and named the Director of the Clinic from 1993-95.

He then returned to his alma mater, James Madison, as Athletic Trainer, where he served from 1995-97 before joining the University of Miami program.

McCune is the proud father of two sons, Devon and Braden.

DR. ROBERT MONACO

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS/SPORTS MEDICINE

Dr. Robert Monaco is in his 16th year as the Associate Director of Athletics/Sports Medicine and has served as Team Physician for the football program since his arrival in 1996. In addition to working with the football team, Monaco oversees the medical treatment for all of the University's sports. His responsibilities also include supervising a group of 11 full-time certified athletic trainers and a support staff in sports nutrition and psychology.

In addition to his work with the Scarlet Knights, Dr. Monaco is a clinical professor in the Department of Family Medicine at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and directs the school's Sports Medicine Fellowship Program.

Dr. Monaco earned his Bachelor's Degree from Columbia University, where he was an All-Ivy League wrestler and team captain in 1986 and 1987. He went on to receive his Medical Degree from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, where he was a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society. He completed his residency at UMDNJ Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick, working with the Department of Family Medicine.

Dr. Monaco has also done postgraduate study and completed a fellowship in Sports Medicine at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, which included work at Princeton University and the Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City. In addition, Dr. Monaco holds a Master's in Public Health from Rutgers and UMDNJ Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

A native of Nutley, N.J., Dr. Monaco comes from a family of physical educators, coaches, and athletes. Dr. Monaco and his wife, Carolyn, are the proud parents of two children, Antonio and Angelina.

WILL GILKISON

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL OPERATIONS

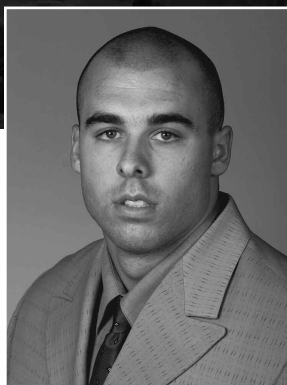

Will Gilkison enters his second season as Director of Football Operations. Gilkison spent the previous year serving as the Director of External Operations and prior to that stint was a member of the Rutgers football staff for three seasons.

A four-year letterwinner at linebacker with the Scarlet Knights, Gilkison captained the 2005 Insight Bowl team and was the recipient of the Paul Robeson Award, presented annually to the individual whose performance, leadership, and dedication on and off the field during his career has had the greatest impact on Rutgers Football.

Gilkison became a member of the staff in 2006 as a student assistant. He was responsible for helping prepare and implement weekly practice schedules. Gilkison also worked as a strength and conditioning assistant during this time, creating and facilitating off-season training programs while instructing players in skill development.

In 2008, Gilkison joined the player development staff, serving as a mentor for first and second year players. He oversaw the transition of these individuals into the college environment, assisting them with basic life skills, time management, goal setting and prioritizing.

A 2007 graduate, Gilkison earned a B.A. in History and completed his graduate degree in elementary and special education in 2008. He and his wife Katie currently reside in Union Beach, N.J. The couple has two children, a one year old daughter, Margaret and two month old son William.

SHAWN TUCKER

ASSISTANT ATHLETIC DIRECTOR/STUDENT-ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT

Shawn Tucker is in his second season as Assistant Athletic Director for Student-Athlete Development.

Tucker, a 2006 graduate of Rutgers University and a former standout at wide receiver on the football team, leads the Life Skills and development program for student-athletes. Through programming and counseling, the Life Skills initiative helps to fortify student-athletes at Rutgers with valuable information and tools to guide decision-making in critical life-shaping areas such as career choice, personal finance, leadership, civic involvement, and healthy lifestyle choices.

Tucker came to Rutgers to play for head coach Greg Schiano from Douglas High School in Parkland, Fla. He was named team captain as a senior and helped lead Rutgers to its first of four consecutive football bowl championships in 2006. A four-year letterwinner for the Scarlet Knights, Tucker was a key member of two bowl squads during his career "On the Banks."

As an undergraduate, Tucker served on the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee. He graduated with a double major in Geography and Labor Studies in May 2007 and began working for the Office of Continuing Professional Education at Rutgers as a program coordinator for their T.E.E.M. Gateway program. While there, Tucker was a member of a staff that received the 2010 Diversity Leadership Award.

T.E.E.M. Gateway serves all parolees in Essex County, providing education and employment to all youth transitioning back into their community. Tucker's specific responsibilities included working with youth in the areas of academic, personal, career and community development. Tucker also participated in the implementation of the YE2S Center, a partnership among Rutgers, Newark Public Schools, the City of Newark and Communities in Schools of New Jersey focusing on providing education and employment services for youth in Essex County. Tucker has also mentored youth in Newark through the Rutgers Green Rangers Mural program, which focused on the beautification and revitalization of Newark through the Arts, while also serving as a key collaborator in the New Jersey High School Dropout Prevention Campaign.

Currently pursuing a master's degree in city and regional planning, Tucker and his wife Maria, reside in New Brunswick.

As Rutgers head football coach Greg Schiano enters his 11th season as the leader of the Rutgers football program, the Scarlet Knights are eager to get back on the field after a disappointing 2010 campaign. A program accustomed to success – as evidence by five consecutive bowl trips from 2005-09, including four straight bowl championships – is ready to return to its winning ways. The first step back is September 1 in the season-opener vs. North Carolina Central.

With 17 starters returning, the key parts are in place for the Scarlet Knights for a successful 2011.

OFFENSE

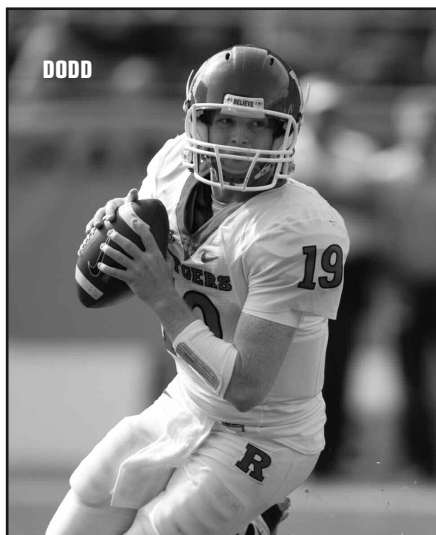

The Rutgers offense returned to its roots as new offensive coordinator Frank Cignetti and the coaching staff installed a Pro Style attack in the spring. With a returning starter at quarterback in sophomore Chas Dodd and an explosive group of wide receivers led by Mohamed Sanu and Mark Harrison, Rutgers has as much talent as any program at the skill positions going into 2011.

Ten starters return on offense, including over 95 percent of the rushing and receiving yards from 2010 as the Scarlet Knights welcome back a key core of talented players with experience.

Dodd returns as the team's starting signal caller after appearing in 11 games as a true freshman, including seven starts. The South Carolina native showed uncanny poise and moxie as a rookie, leading Rutgers to consecutive fourth-quarter victories versus UConn and Army. Dodd ended the season with 1,637 yards passing and 11 touchdowns, including two 300-yard performances under his belt.

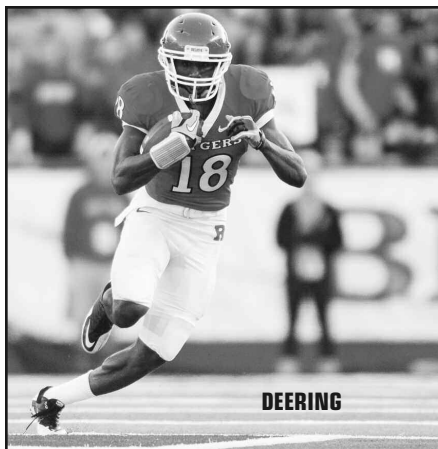

A pair of true freshmen will vie for playing time under center as well in Gary Nova and Mike Bimonte. With junior Steve Shimko's career-ending shoulder injury, it is quite conceivable the No. 2 quarterback spot to open the season could be in the hands of either true freshman.

Running back will have a new look in the fall with promising sophomore Jeremy Deering making the transition from wide receiver. Deering, who looked terrific as a ball carrier in the Wildcat formation in 2010, rushed for 361 yards and two touchdowns. The 361 yards were second on the squad and he averaged 4.6 yards per carry.

Junior De'Antwan Williams has averaged over 5.0 yards per carry over his first two years in Piscataway, but will look to become a more consistent back this fall. Last year, Williams rushed for 111 yards on 19 carries.

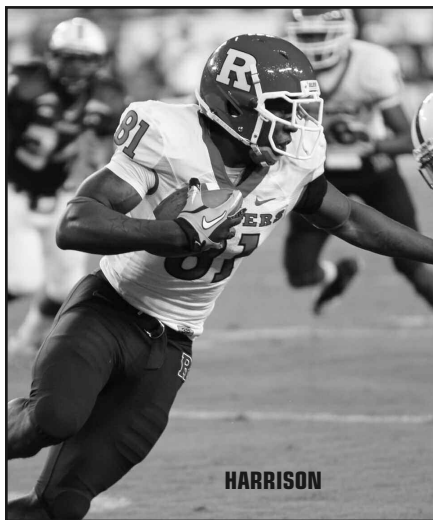

True freshman Savon Huggins and redshirt freshman Jawan Jamison head into fall camp as all four running backs look to land the starting job come September 1 in the season-opener.

Joe Martinek, who rushed for nearly 1,000 yards in 2009, injured his ankle in the second game of the 2010 season and the injury affected him the entire year. He rushed for 276 yards and four touchdowns in 2010. After missing spring drills with the ankle injury, Martinek will move to fullback as the Scarlet Knights look to feature the position again in their Pro Style attack.

Another player to watch at fullback this spring is redshirt freshman Michael Burton. The converted high school tailback displayed the strength and athleticism in the spring to excel at fullback in 2011 for the Scarlet Knights.

Wide receiver must be a position of strength when you are able to move a promising player like Deering from wideout to running back. Rutgers has a stable of skilled wideouts, led by juniors Mohamed Sanu and Mark Harrison. Sanu was another player who battled nagging injuries a season ago, but he still managed to rank second on the squad in receiving yards (444) and third in rushing yards (309).

Harrison was perhaps the biggest breakthrough performer in 2010 for Rutgers as he finished the season with 44 receptions for 829 yards and nine touchdowns. His nine receiving scores ranked second in Rutgers' single-season history.

In addition to Sanu and Harrison, Brandon Coleman showed everyone this spring he is ready to contribute in 2011. The Maryland native gives the Rutgers offense a different style of receiver – a tall, rangy 6-foot-6 athlete who could cause serious matchup problems for opposing defenses. Junior Tim Wright will also return to the field this spring after missing all of 2010 with a knee injury.

The offensive line struggled a season ago as four of the five starters earned major playing time for the first time in their careers. With the loss of just one of the team's top 10 returning linemen, that group returns four starters and six players who logged significant minutes in 2010.

Senior left tackle Desmond Stapleton returns as the starter and had a solid first-year at left tackle for the Scarlet Knights. Other returning players with multiple starts under their belts include senior Desmond Wynn, senior Caleb Ruch, senior Art Forst and sophomore Antwan Lowery. Sophomore Andre Civil, a converted defensive lineman, started the season-finale at West Virginia at right tackle and looks to be another player who can be counted on in 2011 along with junior Devon Watkis.

Sophomore David Osei looks to man the starting spot at center as fall camp opens. One of the most improved players on the roster, the Pennsylvania native proved he is ready for major playing time in 2011 after a strong spring season.

Tight end is a position that should be more involved in the new Pro Style offense. Junior D.C. Jefferson has all the tools to become an elite player in the nation at his position. A one-time quarterback for the Scarlet Knights, Jefferson has all the physical skills to become a force at tight end for RU. Last season, Jefferson caught 10 passes for 166 yards and a touchdown. Sophomores Paul Carrezola and Malcolm Bush enter the spring with a golden opportunity to show the coaches they are ready to make a major impact at tight end and push Jefferson as the starter.

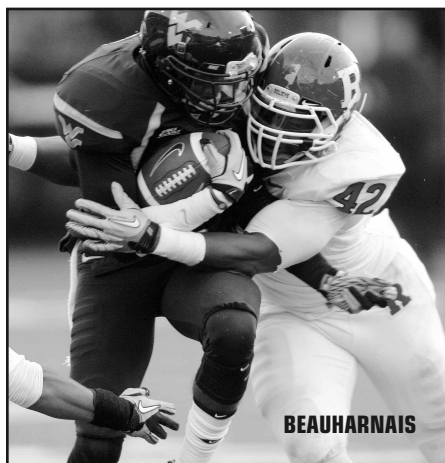

DEFENSE

On defense, Rutgers must replace six starters, including the team's top two tacklers in Antonio Lowery and Joe Lefeged, but the plethora of young talent is evident in scanning the roster.

The defensive line lost three of its four starters – along with co-starter Eric LeGrand – so preseason camp will be critical for some new faces to step up for the Scarlet Knights.

Junior defensive tackle Scott Vallone returns for his third year as the starter at his position and he has shown why he was such a highly-regarded recruit out of St. Anthony's High School on Long Island. Vallone has started all 25 games of his two-year career and totaled 44 tackles [6.5 TFL] in 2010.

Senior Justin Francis looks to seize the opportunity of his first-year as a potential starter at defensive end. The Floridian has played both tackle and end during his career in Piscataway, but he makes the move full-time to defensive end this spring. He is coming off a 21-tackle season in 2010 with four tackles-for-loss and two sacks. Another senior who has played a ton of football for the Scarlet Knights moves to a new position this season as Manny Abreu shifts from strongside linebacker to defensive end. Abreu totaled 48 tackles and five tackles-for-loss last season in 10 games, including eight starts. A knee injury versus Army forced Abreu to miss two games.

The position battles on the defensive line should be the most entertaining to watch in fall camp. Several players with vast physical talent and potential will have the opportunity to become full-time players. Sophomores Mike Larrow, Jamil Merrell, Isaac Holmes along with two freshmen who enrolled in the spring – Kenneth Kirksey and Djwany Mera – are all players to keep an eye.

Junior Steve Beauharnais returns to spearhead the line-backing corps for the Scarlet Knights. A starter for all 12 games at middle linebacker in 2010, Beauharnais is the team's leading returning tackler after 79 stops last season. As a true freshman, Beauharnais played strong-side linebacker, and returns to that position in 2011. Fellow classmate Ka'Lial Claud played in 12 games last year with two starts for an injured Abreu and should look to become a full-time starter in 2011. The South Jersey product had 19 tackles a season ago and enters fall camp as the starter in the middle for Rutgers.

Junior Khaseem Greene, who started all 12 games at free safety in 2010, moved to weakside linebacker in the spring and showed the instincts to excel at the position. The Elizabeth native finished with 77 tackles and a team-leading three interceptions last season and was known as one of the hardest hitters in the BIG EAST.

In the secondary, senior David Rowe returns as a two-year starter at cornerback. He moved to free safety in the spring and showed great range and a true nose for the ball. In 2010, Rowe produced 38 tackles and five pass breakups in 12 starts for the Scarlet Knights.

Junior Marcus Cooper moved from wide receiver to cornerback a year ago and blossomed at his new position. The Connecticut native showed the ability to be a big-time performer at corner for the Scarlet Knights in 2010 and should be a player to watch as he looks to nail down the full-time starting assignment. Sophomore Logan Ryan played in 11 games as a redshirt freshman in 2010 and is another potential impact player at corner for the Scarlet Knights.

Cornerback will feature two new faces in senior Mason Robinson and sophomore Jordan Thomas in 2011. Robinson settled in extremely well in the spring and had the look of a natural corner while Thomas has top-flight speed and athleticism to become a big-time performer in the secondary.

Junior Brandon Jones showed everyone in the spring he is another player ready to crack the starting lineup at cornerback in 2011. The South Jersey product has the size and speed to become an impact corner in the BIG EAST.

The safety position features the return of several players who have logged significant minutes during their careers. Juniors Duron Harmon, Patrick Kivlehan, Darrell Givens and Wayne Warren will all vie for playing time at safety along with promising redshirt freshmen Lorenzo Waters.

SPECIAL TEAMS

Three-year starting place-kicker San San Te returns for the Scarlet Knights to give Rutgers one of the most experienced kickers in the nation. With the loss of three-year starter Teddy Dellaganna at punter, true freshman Anthony DiPaula along with walk-on punter Justin Dorer should battle it out for the starting punting spot in fall camp. Robert Jones, who started all 12 games at long snapper in 2010, returns this spring along with redshirt freshman Rob Horrell, who missed all of last season with an ACL injury.

THE BIG EAST CONFERENCE

John Marinatto became the third commissioner of the BIG EAST Conference July 1, 2009. He was the unanimous choice of the conference's chancellors and presidents, who announced his appointment in November 2008.

Marinatto follows Michael Tranchese, who had served as BIG EAST Commissioner since 1990, and Dave Gavitt, who served from 1979-1990, as the overseer of the largest Division I athletics conference. Marinatto continues to create the best possible climate for BIG EAST student-athletes to succeed academically and athletically through sportsmanship and ethical conduct.

Marinatto brings a deep-rooted familiarity with the BIG EAST into his role as commissioner. He had served as the conference's senior associate commissioner since 2002 and spent 14 years as Director of Athletics at Providence College. His wide and varied experience on conference and national committees adds to his expertise.

As the league's senior associate commissioner, Marinatto had been the BIG EAST's chief operating officer. He oversaw all administrative operations including NCAA governance, compliance communications, television and championships. Marinatto also served as the conference's treasurer.

Marinatto played a critical role in the creation and development of the strategic plan to reconfigure the BIG EAST into its current 16-member consortium. He has served on committees which have negotiated lucrative contracts with television partners CBS Sports and ESPN, Inc. in football and basketball and with marketing partner ISP Sports.

Rutgers Closes Out Season 4-8, Snaps Bowl Streak

A season that witnessed hardship ended in December of 2010 as Rutgers finished the year 4-8 overall. The Scarlet Knights suffered a major blow to their family with Eric LeGrand's spinal cord injury vs. Army in October.

LeGrand, who continues to make steady progress, was left paralyzed from the neck down following the Army game. He has resumed classes online at Rutgers and continues to be around the program and his fellow teammates at Rutgers.

LeGrand was able to broadcast the third quarter of the Scarlet-White spring game in April, the beginning of a future sports broadcasting career for the charismatic New Jersey native.

Lefeged Named a Semifinalist for the Jim Thorpe Award

Joe Lefeged was named one of 10 semifinalists for the Jim Thorpe Award, an honor given annually to the nation's top defensive back. The Germantown, Md., product was all over the field on defense and special teams in 2010 and was named a Mid-Season All-America by Phil Steele.

The Maryland product was second on the squad with 84 tackles and led Rutgers with six pass breakups. He also forced a team-best three fumbles in 2010.

Lefeged became the first player in BIG EAST history to be named the Defensive and Special Teams Player of the Week, in the same week, the league office announced Sept. 13. Lefeged earned the two awards after an incredible performance in the victory at FIU.

The senior strong safety blocked two punts, forced two fumbles, recorded one interception, broke up a pass and had six tackles in the win.

It marked the second time in two weeks a Scarlet Knight was named Special Teams Player of the Week after Brandon Bing earned the award on Sept. 6.

Lefeged was also named the Jim Thorpe National Defensive Back of the Week for his amazing performance at FIU.

Lefeged Breaks Kickoff Return Record

With 92 yards on kickoff returns versus Louisville, Joe Lefeged became Rutgers' single-season all-time leader in kickoff return yardage with 894 yards. He surpassed Terrell Willis' school record of 813 kickoff return yards during the 1995 season.

Lefeged finished the 2010 campaign with 948 kickoff return yards, the fourth-highest total in BIG EAST single-season history.

Dodd Cements His Place in BIG EAST History

The BIG EAST record book for true freshmen quarterbacks has a distinct Scarlet flavor as four of the top five true freshmen passers in league history are Scarlet Knights.

Freshman Chas Dodd finished second in BIG EAST single-season history with 1,637 yards passing in 2010, trailing former RU quarterback Tom Savage in the BIG EAST annals.

On the Mark

Mark Harrison put together one of the best individual performances in school history in Rutgers' loss at Cincinnati.

The Connecticut native caught 10 passes for 240 yards and four touchdowns vs. the Bearcats.

He tied an 18-year school record for receiving touchdowns in a game with four, joining Chris Brantley in the Rutgers' annals. Brantley totaled eight receptions for 124 yards and the four scores vs. Virginia Tech on Oct. 31, 1992.

2010 SEASON REVIEW

Oh So Close

Mark Harrison's 240 yards vs. Cincinnati was the second-highest total in Rutgers single-game history. He became just the fourth player in school history to break the 200-yard mark for receiving yards in a game and was just nine yards shy of setting a new single-game benchmark at Rutgers.

Current Jacksonville Jaguar WR Tiquan Underwood is the school's all-time leader for receiving yards in a single-game with 248 vs. Buffalo (8-30-07).

1. Chris Brantley	Virginia Tech (10-31-92)	4
3. Kenny Britt	at Pittsburgh (10-25-08)	3

Worth Noting ...

Mark Harrison's 240 yards receiving vs. Cincinnati was the second-best game by a receiver in the nation in 2010, trailing only Michigan's Roy Roundtree (246 yards vs. Illinois) ... Harrison tied a BIG EAST single-game record with his four touchdown catches vs. the Bearcats ... the 240 yards receiving also ranked third all-time in BIG EAST history.

Moving Up the Charts

Mark Harrison led Rutgers and finished second in the BIG EAST with nine receiving touchdowns in 2010. He ended the season tied for second in RU single-season history in touchdown receptions.

Chasing the Top Spot

Chas Dodd produced three of the top seven single-game passing yardage performances by a true freshman in Rutgers school history in 2010.

Dodd threw for 335 yards and four touchdowns at Cincinnati, the second-best single-game yardage total by a true freshman at Rutgers

Finding a Rhythm

Chas Dodd and Mark Harrison quickly became one of the top QB-WR duos in the BIG EAST in 2010.

In eight games with Dodd as the starter at quarterback, Harrison became his favorite target.

Harrison caught 39 passes for 759 yards and nine touchdowns during the eight games Dodd started at QB. Dodd threw seven touchdown passes to Harrison as the starter.

On Target

Chas Dodd set a single-game record for completion percentage by a QB during the Greg Schiano era by going 19-of-22 passing for 139 yards Nov. 3 at USF.

He completed 86.4% of his passes vs. the Bulls, topping the previous single-game record for completion percentage under Schiano set by Ryan Hart in 2005 vs. Navy.

The Comeback Kid

Chas Dodd rallied the Scarlet Knights in the fourth quarter for two victories in 2010. Even more impressive, the two fourth quarter comebacks came in Dodd's first two career starts.

Dodd was 16-of-22 (72.7%) passing for 285 yards and three touchdowns in the victories over UConn and Army in the fourth quarter and overtime. Dodd was 7-of-9 passing for 151 yards and a touchdown vs. UConn in the fourth quarter on Oct. 8 before going 8-of-12 for 128 yards and two scores vs. Army in the fourth quarter and overtime.

Runs like a Deer

Jeremy Deering was the Scarlet Knights' best option on the ground over the second-half of the 2010 campaign.

Deering posted career-highs in rushes (29) and rushing yards (166) and matched his career-long run (22) out of the Wild Knight vs. Syracuse.

The 29 rushing attempts were the most by a Scarlet Knight since Ray Rice's 35 attempts vs. Ball State in the International Bowl (1-5-08).

Deering recorded his first career rushing touchdown with a 19-yard run in the third quarter against Syracuse.

He also caught one pass for 10 yards and completed his first career pass for five yards against the Orange.

In Rare Company

Jeremy Deering rushed for the most yards in a single-game by a non-running back in school history with his 166-yard performance as the Wild Knight quarterback vs. Syracuse.

He broke Mohamed Sanu's school record for rushing yards in a single-game by a non-running back after his 148-yard contest in 2009 at Louisville.

Deering became the fourth player in the Greg Schiano era to rush for at least 165 yards in a game.

Shutout in Five Straight Seasons

Rutgers and Boise State are the only teams in the nation to record a shutout in each of the last five seasons. Here is a look at Rutgers' shutouts over the last five years:

2006: Illinois (33-0); Navy (34-0)
 2007: Norfolk State (59-0)
 2008: Morgan State (38-0)
 2009: Texas Southern (42-0); USF (31-0)
 2010: Norfolk State (31-0)

THE STATE UNIVERSITY

RICHARD L. McCORMICK

PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

Richard L. McCormick is the 19th president of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey. A scholar of American political history who began his academic career on the Rutgers faculty, he returned as president in 2002 after serving as provost of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and president of the University of Washington.

Dr. McCormick's goal is to advance Rutgers within the top tier of American public research universities. His ambitions for the university include an enriched learning experience for every student; teaching and research focused on global human problems; diversity of students, faculty, staff, and programs; and deeper connections with the people of New Jersey.

President McCormick led a major restructuring and reinvigoration of undergraduate education at Rutgers-New Brunswick, the university's largest campus. The plan merged four undergraduate colleges into a School of Arts and Sciences, expanded access to academic programs and learning communities, and established a popular First-Year Seminar program that offers more than 100 courses – each with no more than 20 students – on a wide range of topics taught by top faculty.

Other initiatives undertaken during Dr. McCormick's tenure include:

- * The Rutgers Future Scholars Program, a pilot project to encourage minority and low-income teenagers from the university's host cities to pursue higher education by offering mentorship and college preparation support, and the promise of free tuition to those admitted to Rutgers.
- * Establishment of the first-ever universitywide alumni body, the Rutgers University Alumni Association.
- * Transformation of the Livingston Campus in Piscataway into the model of what the university will become in the 21st century, with an emphasis on professional, executive, and continuing education; state-of-the-art residential and dining facilities; and integration with the Rutgers Ecological Preserve.
- * Rutgers Against Hunger, an initiative that combines volunteerism, research, education, and donations to address food security in the state of New Jersey.

Born in 1947, President McCormick earned a B.A. in American studies from Amherst College in 1969 and a Ph.D. in history from Yale University in 1976. He is married to Joan Barry McCormick, RU '88. Dr. McCormick has three children, Betsy, Michael, and Katie.

A BRIEF HISTORY

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, is one of the leading universities in the nation. The university is comprised of 27 degree-granting divisions; 10 undergraduate colleges, 11 graduate schools, and six schools offering both undergraduate and graduate degrees. Five are located in Camden, eight in Newark, and 13 in New Brunswick and one in Newark and New Brunswick.

Rutgers has a unique history as a colonial college, a land-grant institution, and a state university. Chartered in 1766 as Queen's College, the eighth institution of higher learning to be founded in the colonies, the school opened its doors in New Brunswick in 1771 with a handful of first-year students. During its early years, the college developed as a classic liberal arts institution. In 1825, the name of the college was changed to honor a former trustee and Revolutionary War veteran, Colonel Henry Rutgers.

Rutgers College became the land-grant college of New Jersey in 1864, resulting in the establishment of the Rutgers Scientific School, featuring departments of agriculture, engineering, and chemistry. Further expansion in the sciences came with the founding of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station in 1880, the College of Engineering (now the School of Engineering) in 1914, and the College of Agriculture (now the School of Environmental and Biological Sciences) in 1921. The precursors to several other Rutgers divisions were also established during this period: the College of Pharmacy (now the Ernest Mario School of Pharmacy) in 1892, the New Jersey College for Women (now Douglass Residential College, part of the School of Arts and Sciences) in 1918, and the School of Education (now Graduate School of Education) in 1924.

In 1924, Rutgers College officially became Rutgers University, a reflection of the institution's rapidly expanding number of schools and academic programs. Early in the century, Rutgers had begun offering educational opportunities to women when the New Jersey College for Women was founded in 1918, and to adult learners when University College, an evening division, was established in 1934. After World War II, enrollment exploded as Rutgers admitted all qualified candidates under the GI Bill. Rutgers was becoming an institution for all people, and in 1945 and 1956, state legislative acts formally designated Rutgers as The State University of New Jersey.

RUTGERS

THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW JERSEY

A flurry of expansion ensued. The University of Newark (now Rutgers–Newark) joined Rutgers in 1946, followed by the College of South Jersey (now Rutgers–Camden) in 1950. An ambitious building program added libraries, classrooms, and student housing across the three regional campuses. In 1969, Livingston College opened, providing a coeducational residential experience with a special commitment to diversity. Graduate education in the arts and sciences grew through the establishment of the Graduate School–New Brunswick, the Graduate School–Newark, and the Graduate School–Camden. Professional schools were formed to serve students in the fields of business; communication, information, and library studies; criminal justice; education; fine arts; law; management and labor relations; nursing; planning and public policy; psychology; public affairs and administration; and social work. Meanwhile, as industry and government sought partners in solving problems and advancing knowledge, the concept of the research university emerged.

In 1981, Rutgers adopted a blueprint for its transformation into a major public research university. With increased support from state, federal, and corporate partners, Rutgers' strength in research grew dramatically. In 1989, in recognition of its enhanced stature, Rutgers was invited to join the prestigious Association of American Universities, an organization comprising the top 62 research universities in North America. Today, professors and students work in more than 230 specialized research centers, unraveling mysteries in marine sciences, early childhood education, neuroscience, advanced materials, climate change, nutrition, homeland security, transportation, stem cells, and many other areas that can improve life both in New Jersey and around the world.

A 2007 major reorganization of undergraduate education in New Brunswick reinvigorated the undergraduate experience for both students and faculty by combining the traditions and strengths of four undergraduate liberal arts colleges—Douglass, Livingston, Rutgers, and University—into a single School of Arts and Sciences.

With 27 schools and colleges, Rutgers offers more than 100 undergraduate majors and more than 100 graduate and professional degree programs. The university graduated more than 12,000 students last year, and has more than 390,000 living alumni residing in all 50 states and on six continents. Rutgers also sponsors community initiatives in all 21 New Jersey counties. Universitywide, new degree programs, research endeavors, and community outreach are in development to meet the demands of the 21st century.

Today, Rutgers continues to grow, both in its facilities and in the variety and depth of its educational and research programs. The university's goals for the future include the continued provision of the highest quality education, along with the increased support of research and commitment to public service to meet the needs of society.

RUTGERS AT A GLANCE

- Chartered in 1766 as Queen's College, Rutgers is the eighth oldest college in the nation.
- Rutgers was designated the State University of New Jersey by legislative acts in 1945 and 1956.
- Rutgers is New Jersey's largest public research university and is located on three regional campuses in Camden, Newark, and New Brunswick/Piscataway.

RUTGERS

THE STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW JERSEY

- Rutgers was named New Jersey's land-grant university in 1864 and has a special responsibility for serving the needs of the state.

- Rutgers is a member of the Association of American Universities (AAU), a highly selective organization comprised of the 62 leading research universities in North America.

- There are 27 degree-granting schools and colleges, offering more than 270 total bachelor's, master's and doctoral and professional degree programs.

- Rutgers is one of New Jersey's major employers with more than 9,000 full-time faculty and staff.

- For every dollar New Jersey invests in Rutgers, the university channels $6 into the state's economy. The University's 2009 economic impact report showed that Rutgers and its faculty, staff, students and visitors channel $3.8 billion in direct and indirect spending into the state economy – more than six times the state's $595.3 million investment in the university.

- With holdings of more than 3.6 million volumes, the Rutgers library system ranks among the nation's largest.

- Rutgers enrolls more than 56,000 students, including over 42,000 undergraduates and 14,000 graduate students.

- More than 10,000 students each year earn a degree from Rutgers.

- The university has more than 390,000 living alumni; 220,000 alumni reside in New Jersey.

- In 2008, the Middle States Commission on Higher Education reaccredited Rutgers for the next 10 years.

TEACHING AND LEARNING

- Rutgers faculty include Fulbright Scholars, Guggenheim Fellows, members of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and winners of many other prestigious awards and grants.

- Rutgers History Professor Annette Gordon-Reed was awarded the 2009 Pulitzer Prize in history for her landmark work, The Hemingses of Monticello: An American Family (W. W. Norton, 2008).

- The graduate philosophy department is ranked second in the English-speaking world by the Philosophical Gourmet Report.

- Rutgers Business School-Newark and New Brunswick (RBS) is uniquely positioned at the epicenter of global business – just under 20 minutes from New York City – giving students easy access to leading global corporations to build lasting relationships. RBS delivers cutting-edge curricula that combine the mix of business and science required by today's employers.

- RBS is consistently ranked as the top business school in New Jersey and among the top three in the Greater New York Metropolitan area. The Executive MBA is ranked 33rd in the U.S. by The Financial Times and the Master of Quantitative Finance is among the top 10 programs nationally, as ranked by Wall Street executives. The MBA program was ranked 17th in the country for the employment rate of its graduates three months after graduation by U.S. News & World Report. To meet rising demand, a new on-year MBA track was created for students with advanced standing.

- In Newark, the business School resides in a new state-of-the-art building which opened in 2009. And in New Brunswick, a new building will open in 2013 as the center of a new Livingston Professional Campus, accommodating the massive growth in the new four-year undergraduate program.

- The Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy is ranked third among the nation's top graduate programs in urban planning according to a survey by Planetizen, a Los Angeles-based planning and development network.

RESEARCH

- Streptomycin, the first effective cure for tuberculosis, and other potent antibiotics were discovered at Rutgers by Professor Selman Waksman and his students in the 1940s. Waksman received the Nobel Prize for his important contributions to medicine.

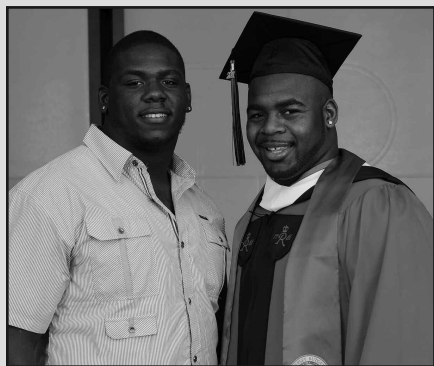

- The Rutgers Stem Cell Research Center, part of the Division of Life Sciences of the School of Arts and Sciences, is located in Nelson Laboratories on the New Brunswick campus where its mission is to support research with human embryonic stem cells for Rutgers University researchers and collaborators.

- The Rutgers Cell and DNA Repository is a valuable resource for researchers around the world studying the role heredity plays in such complex genetic diseases as schizophrenia, bipolar disorder, autism, Alzheimer's, alcoholism, diabetes, and Tourette's syndrome.

- The Protein Data Bank, based at Rutgers, is the international repository of three-dimensional protein structures. With $30 million in federal funding, the data bank provides vital information on more than 73,000 proteins and other macromolecules for scientists working to design more effective treatments for disease.

- Rutgers' Institute of Marine and Coastal Sciences ranks among America's top 15 marine research organizations based on peer competition for all federally funded oceanographic research.

- The Ernest Mario School of Pharmacy, the only pharmacy school in New Jersey and one of the top institutions of its kind in the nation, ranks in the top 10 percent among pharmacy schools nationwide in research dollars awarded by the National Institutes of Health with $8.8 million of funding awarded to the school in 2009.

- Rutgers holds more than 550 United States patents, 325 of which have been issued since 2000. Since 1989, Rutgers has licensed more than 65 start-up or early-stage companies.

- Rutgers is a partner in the Southern African Large Telescope, one of the world's largest optical telescopes and the southern hemisphere's newest eye-on-the-sky.

SERVICE TO NEW JERSEY

- Rutgers' Center for Government Services trains New Jersey's municipal employees to better serve their constituents and trains approximately 8,000 annually through 18 separate programs and 150 courses.

- In 2005, the Division of Continuing Studies offered 3,700 course sections to more than 45,000 individuals. Courses are offered in every county in New Jersey.

- The Office of the New Jersey State Climatologist at Rutgers is the state's official weather resource.

- Each year on a single Saturday in the Spring, Rutgers opens its doors to the world for "Rutgers Day." More than 200,000 people have visited the five New Brunswick campuses during the event the last three years to celebrate the institution's three-part mission of teaching, research and service. In what started as the New Jersey Folk Festival and Ag Field Day, evolved into "Rutgers Day" in 2009.

SERVICE TO THE NATION

- Rutgers New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station has offices in all 21 New Jersey counties and serves the residents of the state through research, education and service programs that run the gamut from 4-H Youth Development to family and community health. Research from the Experiment Station has led to renowned Jersey tomatoes, disease-resistant dogwoods, improved coastline management, new forms of mosquito control and world-famous turfgrass varieties that have been used everywhere from the new Yankee Stadium to the Augusta National Golf Club.

- Rutgers School of Environmental and Biological Sciences builds on a tradition of hands-on learning and research excellence in areas that cover the biological spectrum from organisms to ecosystems. Students and researchers alike are dedicated to finding solutions to the problems that most concern our state's residents, particularly in the areas of environmental sustainability, alternative energy, food, health and nutrition.

- Such nationally respected institutes at Rutgers, including the National Transit Institute, the National Institute for Early Education Research and the Institute for Health, Health Care Policy and Aging Research, are helping to shape national and state policy in critical areas.

- Rutgers is the nation's primary source for anti-terror security training for public transit workers.

- In April of 2009, Rutgers was selected by the United States Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to co-lead a new DHS Center of Excellence in Command, Control, and Interoperability (CCI) to conduct research into the technological issues involved with maintaining homeland security. It is one of 12 DHS Centers of Excellence in the nation.

- The Edward J. Bloustein School of Planning and Public Policy's National Transit Institute is one of seven academic institutions around the nation that will make up a new National Transportation Security Center of Excellence.

- Most meals ready to eat (MREs) manufactured for our nation's troops are produced using Rutgers-developed technology.

- The Douglass Developmental Disabilities Center is a pioneer in developing effective methods to help autistic children.

PAUL ROBESON

TIM PERNETTI

DIRECTOR OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

A New Jersey native with a strong passion for his alma mater, Tim Perneti has come full-circle in becoming one of the nation's youngest leaders in college athletics.

A former student-athlete "On the Banks", Perneti was named Rutgers' sixth Director of Intercollegiate Athletics on February 26, 2009. He oversees 24 men's and women's intercollegiate teams in New Brunswick, a larger number than fielded at most of the university's peer institutions. Perneti has been influential in the world of college athletics since he received a bachelor's degree in journalism and mass media from Rutgers in 1993, and a master's degree in communication in 1995.

Perneti's influence on Rutgers Athletics has been immediate – from the key coaching hires of Mike Rice (men's basketball), Dan Donigan (men's soccer) and Brett Brecht (men's lacrosse) – to securing the first two naming rights partnerships in Rutgers Athletics history.

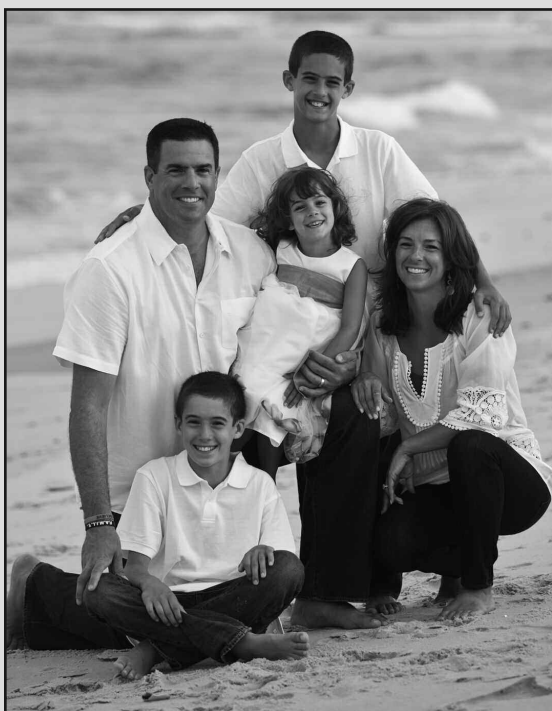

Under his leadership, Rutgers inked a 10-year naming rights deal with High Point Solutions to acquire the naming rights for Rutgers Stadium, along with a 10-year contract with Audi for the Audi Rutgers Club at High Point Solutions Stadium. Both deals have netted the Department of Athletics nearly one million dollars in new revenue to the annual budget.

During his introductory press conference, Perneti spoke about his vision to build a broadband network to deliver hundreds of live events. That promise has blossomed into KnightVision, powered by ScarletKnights.com, as KnightVision has streamed hundreds of live events per year, including unprecedented live game coverage for many of the Scarlet Knights Olympic Sports.

Prior to returning to Rutgers, Perneti was the Executive Vice President, Content, for CBS College Sports Network. In that role, he oversaw the rights and relationship business, on-air talent, and all network programming and content on air, online and across all screens for the nation's first company dedicated to college sports.

Perneti helped to build the CBS College Sports Network, previously CSTV, prior to its launch in 2003, and has played a critical role in establishing it as the multi-media leader in college sports programming, content, news and information. He was a recipient of the prestigious Sports Business Journal Forty under Forty Award, and the Multichannel News 40 under 40 Award both in 2008.

Charged with developing relationships, acquiring rights and creating multi-platform original programming for the first ever 24-hour sports college sports network, Perneti successfully navigated through a complicated web of media rights deals to come up with new ways to serve college sports fans.

Pernetti worked closely with the NCAA and hundreds of schools in every major conference, securing over 2,500 hours of event programming each year and multiple NCAA Championships across 35 men's and women's sports. Pernetti was in charge of the CBS College Sports Network exclusive long-term agreements with the US Naval Academy, Mountain West Conference, Conference USA, and the Atlantic 10. Further, he managed company relationships with more than 30 conferences and thousands of institutions.

Pernetti remains most proud of establishing a strong relationship in women's collegiate sports including the establishment of a women's basketball game of the week package in 2004 with the BIG EAST Conference.

In 2006, Pernetti spearheaded a landmark multi-media partnership with the NCAA to make CBS College Sports Network the home of Division II Sports. The innovative deal effectively increased the scope and reach of NCAA Division II sports with hundreds of games now available nationally via the broadcast network and online.

Pernetti's commitment to providing greater exposure to women's and under-served sports is evidenced by the network's unprecedented coverage of lacrosse and volleyball, among others. He has also been at the forefront of the development and creation of the Collegiate Nationals, which crowns champions in dozens of high endurance sports, and innovative original production including CBS College Sports Network's groundbreaking NCAA March Madness Central, NCAA March Madness Highlights on CBS College Sports, and the WIRED franchise which gives viewers an inside look at games and events through wireless microphones on coaches during game action.

Prior to joining CBS College Sports Network, Pernetti served eight years at ABC-TV and ABC Sports most recently as Director of Programming, where he was integral in acquiring, managing and developing several ABC Sports properties including college football, the Bowl Championship Series, and college basketball.

For five years, Pernetti handled relationships and negotiated television rights with all of the major collegiate conferences. As a student at Rutgers, Pernetti was a four-year letterwinner at tight end on the Rutgers football squad. He was also the color commentator for Rutgers Football on the Rutgers Football Radio Network and announced weekly NFL games nationally on Sports USA Radio.

A resident of Oakland, N.J., Pernetti is married to the former Danielle Bahto. His wife also graduated from Rutgers and was a letterwinner on the women's lacrosse team. Danielle and Tim are the proud parents of their three children - Max, Conor and Natalie.

"Old" Rutgers Stadium

Dedicated on November 5, 1938 at the Rutgers-Princeton game, the Stadium had its first game two weeks earlier as Rutgers hosted Hampden-Sydney. The season finale against Lafayette was the third game in the Stadium. Rutgers won all three contests and did not lose at the site until the sixth game in 1940, a 7-6 loss to Lafayette. Rutgers won the first 13 Stadium games, including seven straight in 1939.

HISTORY & TRADITION

Rutgers and Princeton played the first game of intercollegiate football on Nov. 6, 1869, on a plot of ground where the present-day Rutgers gymnasium now stands in New Brunswick, N.J. Rutgers won that first game, 6-4.

The game was played with two teams of 25 men each under rugby-like rules, but like modern football, it was "replete with surprise, strategy, prodigies of determination and physical prowess," to use the words of one of the Rutgers players.

At 3 p.m. on that memorable afternoon, the 50 competitors and about 100 spectators gathered on the field. To distinguish themselves from the bareheaded visitors, 50 Rutgers students, including players, donned scarlet-colored scarves which they converted into turbans.

Events leading up to the game were described by John W. Herbert, Rutgers '72, who was one of the players: "To appreciate this game to the fullest you must know something of its background," Herbert wrote in 1933. "The two colleges were, and still are, of course, about 20 miles apart. The rivalry between them was intense. For years each had striven for possession of an old Revolutionary cannon, making night forays and lugging it back and forth time and again. Not long before the first football game, the canny Princetonnians had settled this competition in their own favor by ignominiously sinking the gun in several feet of concrete. In addition to this, I regret to report, Princeton had beaten Rutgers in baseball by the harrowing score of 40-2. Rutgers longed for a chance to square things."

A challenge for the game was issued by Rutgers. Three games were to be played that year. The first, played at New Brunswick, was won by Rutgers. Princeton won the second game, but cries of "over-emphasis" prevented the third game in football's first year when faculties of both institutions protested on the grounds that the games were interfering with student studies.

An analytical account of the game appeared in the November, 1869 issue of the Targum, Rutgers' undergraduate newspaper.

"To describe the varying fortunes of the match, game by game, would be a waste of labor for every game was like the one before," wrote the student reporter. "There was the same headlong running, wild shouting, and frantic kicking.

"To sum up, Princeton had the most muscle, but didn't kick very well, and wanted organization. They evidently don't like to kick the ball on the ground. Our men, on the other hand, though comparatively weak, ran well, and kicked well throughout. But their great point was the organization, for which great praise is due to the captain. The right men were always in the right place."

One of the Princeton players, William Preston Lane, in 1933 contended in a newspaper interview that Rutgers "ran us Princeton men out of town. I never found out why they did that," he related. "But we don't ask any questions. When we saw them coming after us, we ran to the outskirts of New Brunswick and got into our carriages and wagons and went away as fast as we could."

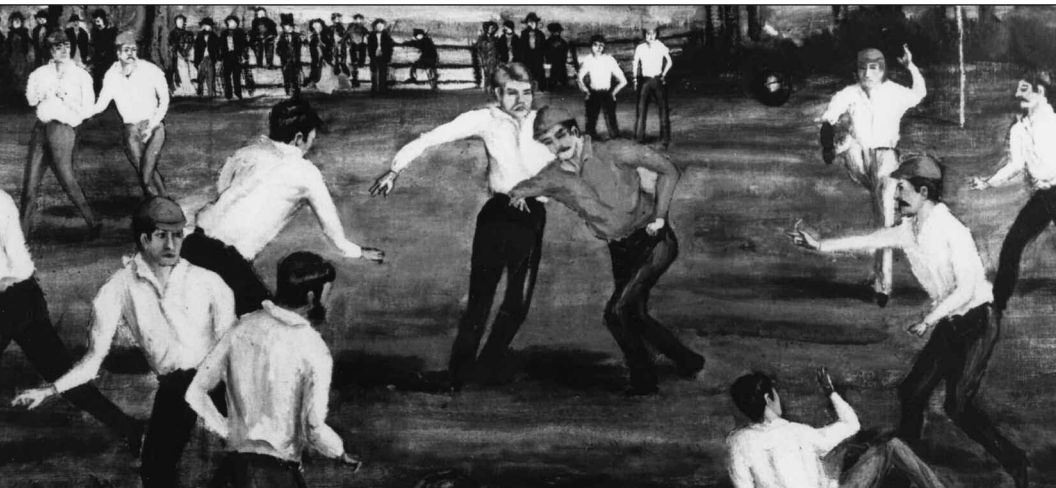

Lane's contention is refuted in the Targum account. "After the match the players had an amicable 'feed together,'" the paper reported. "At 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, thirsting to beat us next time, if they can."

Regardless of what actually happened after the first game, football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia University started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the colleges and universities in the East were represented on the gridiron.

THE BIRTHPLACE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL

The following is an excerpt from an article that was written by John Bruns, former long-time sports writer for the Home News, and the Easton Times-Express.

When Rutgers defeated Princeton in the first intercollegiate football game ever played in 1869, the setting was quite different than it is today. The game was contested on a field along College Avenue in New Brunswick. There weren't tens of thousands of cheering fans in a multi-million dollar stadium. There was no manicured grass field or electronic scoreboard. There was no elaborate athletic equipment or television cameras. But on that fall day in 1869, those students established a tradition of quality football programs, competitiveness and school spirit that continues at Rutgers, the birthplace of intercollegiate football.

Rutgers won six of 10 games in 1882, but played only one game in 1885. Similarly, the Scarlet Knights went 8-6 in 1891, but two years later played only four games. By the early 1900's, scheduling had become more consistent and football became more popular across the country.

The eight wins of 1891 weren't matched until Rutgers went 8-1 in 1947 with one of the most successful teams of coach Harvey Harman in the Golden Era immediately following World War II. That team, quarterbacked by Frank Burns, who would later become Rutgers' most successful coach, lost its opener to Columbia and then swept through eight straight opponents.

In 1913, coach George Foster Sanford began a tradition of success among Rutgers coaches in their inaugural year by leading his team to a 6-3 mark. He then flirted with two perfect seasons, improving the team to 7-1 in 1915 and 7-1-1 in 1917. Those two seasons, which featured All-American Paul Robeson, were among Rutgers' best.

Sanford, a member of Rutgers' Hall of Fame, also helped to introduce Rutgers to the New York metropolitan area, playing games at the Polo Grounds against teams like Notre Dame, Nebraska, Louisiana State and West Virginia. A few years later, in 1924, two-time All-American end and fullback Homer Hazel helped coach John Wallace continue the tradition of first-year coaching success, as Rutgers posted a 7-1-1 mark.

Harvey Harman also had a successful first season, going 7-1 in 1938, the year Rutgers dedicated the original Rutgers Stadium. Rutgers won the dedication game, 20-18, over Princeton. Harman, however, was replaced by former coach Harry Rockafeller during World War II. His tenure included an 8-1 season in 1947 when Rutgers, dominated by WWII veterans, registered a combined record of 27-7 from 1945-48.

When John Stiegman coached Rutgers from 1956-59, he brought back the single-wing formation to the Scarlet Knight offense, and led Rutgers to an 8-1 mark in 1958. The only loss of that season, 13-12 to the Quantico Marines, came when All-American tailback Billy Austin had to miss a game due to a broken hand.

Another first-year coach got off to an impressive start when John Bateman went 8-1 in 1960. That campaign was followed by Rutgers' first undefeated season in 1961, when the team went 9-0, capping the season with a fourth-quarter, 25-point comeback win over Columbia. That team included All-American center Alex Kroll, and was ranked 15th nationally. In his 11 seasons, Bateman led Rutgers to 73 wins in 124 games.

In 1973, Frank Burns took the reins of Rutgers football and became the most successful Rutgers coach ever by building teams recognized for fundamentals and defense. Burns himself was also known as a fierce linebacker and won the Most Valuable Player Award in the 1949 College All-Star game, when he made 17 tackles against the New York Giants. The Burns defenses were led by linebackers Ed Steward, Jim Hughes, Jim Dumont and defensive end Nate Toran. Burns' first team went 6-5, while running back "JJ" Jennings set single-season records for rushing yardage (1,353) and touchdowns (21) that still stand.

Over the next five seasons, Burns' teams won at least seven games each season, including a five-season stretch from 1975-79 when Rutgers' winning percentage was .803 with a record of 45-11. The jewel in the crown of Burns' tenure as Rutgers' coach was the 1976 season, when the team was perfect at 11-0, establishing the best season ever at Rutgers. During Burns' 11 seasons at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights won nearly two-thirds of their games (78-44). He also took Rutgers to its first bowl appearance, the Garden State Bowl, at Giants Stadium against Arizona State in 1978.

Doubtless, the biggest win of the Burns era was the 13-7 upset of Tennessee on November 3, 1979 at Knoxville. Burns called it "the greatest of my coaching career."

The following year, 1980, Rutgers had one of its great "near-misses" of its long history when the Scarlet bowed, 17-13, to a highly-favored and No. 1-ranked Alabama team coached by Bear Bryant at Giants Stadium. In a post game comment, Bear Bryant said, "We didn't beat Rutgers. All I can say is we won."

In 1984 when Dick Anderson was named head coach, a renewed commitment to football at Rutgers was backed by a

$3 million state-funded package. Those funds helped finance the artificial surface practice fields, the practice "Bubble" and the Hale Center, which includes lockerrooms, offices, a weight-training area and medical facilities for the football team.

Anderson won seven of 10 games in his inaugural season and his teams produced some of the most exciting players in Rutgers' history, including record-breaking passer Scott Erney, career tackles leader Tyrone Stowe and career kick-off return leader Eric Young.

Doug Graber became the Scarlet Knights' 23rd coach in 1990 and placed an emphasis on recruiting the best talent in the state of New Jersey. His first recruiting class included three first-team All-State selections and two second-team All-State selections among the 12 recruits from New Jersey.

Another major boost for Rutgers came in 1991 when it joined the BIG EAST Football Conference. The team went 13-9 in its first two years in the BIG EAST, including a 4-2 BIG EAST mark in 1992, before slipping to 4-7 the following season.

The 1994 season celebrated not only the 125 years of college football, but also the return of the newly-renovated and expanded Rutgers Stadium.

A new stadium has been quite a different setting than that of the first college football game played over 130 years ago. The Scarlet Knights are playing for their own place in history as they continue the college football tradition that was born "On the Banks of the Old Raritan." After a less than stellar run through the mid-1990's under 1998 BIG EAST coach of the year Terry Shea, the Scarlet Knights opted to take the program in a different direction.

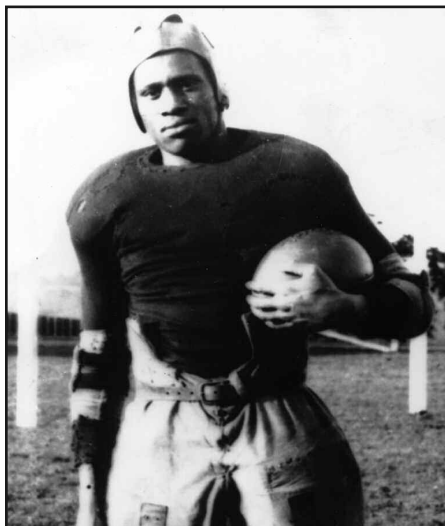

On December 1, 2000, then Director of Athletics Bob Mulcahy introduced the newest coach in the storied history of Rutgers Football - Greg Schiano.

Under Schiano's leadership, "it's time" for Rutgers Football to regain the nation's attention.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

PAUL ROBESON

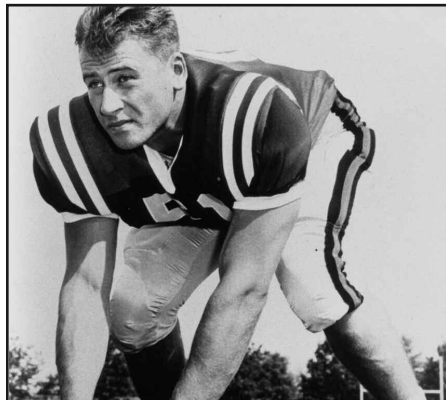

Paul Robeson played four years for the famous coach, G. Foster Sanford. Rutgers had a 22-6-3 record in that time. In 31 games, Rutgers scored 941 points to opponents' 191. Robeson was a powerful contributor to that record.... Robeson was a two-time All-America end. Frank Menke named him All-America in 1917 and 1918. Walter Camp picked him in 1918. [Camp did not name an All-America team in 1917.] Following college, Robeson played three years as a pro - 1920 with Hammond, 1921 with Akron and 1922 with Milwaukee - in the American Professional Football League...

He obtained his law degree in 1923. At Rutgers, Robeson was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was valedictorian of the class of 1919. He won the college oratorical contest four straight years and gave the commencement address at graduation. Robeson won 12 letters in four sports - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. He stood 6-3 in height and his weight was listed at 191 in early years, at 215 his senior season. This man of many talents became an actor, singer and lecturer. He was on Broadway and in the movies. His rich basso made his signature song "Ol' Man River" a classic. He starred in plays, such as "The Emperor Jones", "Othello", "Showboat", as well as many others, in the U.S., Europe and Africa. In 1925 he made a recording that sold 55,000 copies in four months. In 1972 he received the Whitney Young Memorial Award. Ebony Magazine called him "one of the 10 most important black men in American history..."

Paul Robeson was born April 9, 1898, in Princeton, N.J. His father, Rev. William Robeson, had escaped slavery in 1860 in North Carolina at age 15. His mother, Maria Bustill, was a teacher. When Paul was a high school senior, he won the statewide academic test and received a scholarship to Rutgers. In 1915 he was the third black to enter Rutgers and the first to play football. He died January 23, 1976.

A true renaissance man, Robeson won 12 letters in four sports at Rutgers - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. After his tenure at Rutgers, he became an accomplished actor, singer and lecturer, and was recently commemorated on a US postal stamp.

ALEX KROLL

Alex Kroll, a consensus All-American center on Rutgers' first undefeated football team in 1961, is the Scarlet Knights' sixth inductee into the College Football Hall of Fame, as a part of the Class of 1997.

Kroll followed end Paul Robeson, halfback Homer Hazel and coaches George Foster Sanford and Harvey Harman into this most cherished of college football's honors. Former athletic director George Little is also among the all-time honorees.

Kroll, a 6-2, 228-pound center and linebacker, was a major force in Rutgers compiling a 17-1 record in his two years of play "On the Banks." In 1960, the Knights under coach John Bateman were 8-1 and followed up with the school's first undefeated campaign, going 9-0 in 1961. Team captain of the lauded 1961 squad, Kroll was a two-time first-team All-ECAC choice and won first-team All-American honors from Associated Press, United Press International, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Look, and the American Football Coaches Association. Known as a "coach on the field," he was credited with making the quarterback sneak an offensive weapon as Rutgers scored seven TDs on that play in 1961 with Kroll clearing the way into the endzone for the signal-caller.

He was also a first-team All-East choice by the AP in 1961 and played in the North-South game and the Senior Bowl. In 1960, he was an honorable mention All-American. Following his senior season, he was a second-round draft pick of the New York Titans, playing for one season in 1962.

Kroll earned a BA in English Literature in 1962 and was a Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade point average in his major. He received a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Post-Graduate Scholarship in 1961. In 1986, he was awarded the Silver Anniversary Award from the National Collegiate Athletic Association for his collegiate achievements.

Immediately following his last game with the Titans, he joined the workforce at Young & Rubicam, the world's largest independent advertising agency, as a copywriter. After a succession of writing and supervisory jobs in the creative department, he was named executive vice president and worldwide creative director in 1970. He was named president and chief operating officer in 1982 and, four years later, Kroll became chairman of Young & Rubicam. He is retired but still serves as Chairman Emeritus of Young & Rubicam.

HARVEY HARMAN

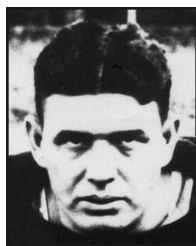

Few men loved the game with the fervor of Harvey Harman, a huge man with a grand smile and a fierce dedication to the sport.

A former president of the American Football Coaches Association, Harman received that group's Amos Alonzo Stagg Award, symbolic of outstanding service to the profession. It was not surprising that Harman achieved such acclaim, for he learned his football lessons from two of the game's mentors - Glenn "Pop" Warner and Jock Sutherland - while at Pittsburgh. Harman was a starting tackle for the Panthers before taking his first coaching assignment at Haverford. From there he moved on to Sewanee [the University of the South], Pennsylvania and Rutgers.

It was at Rutgers that he had his greatest success, directing the Scarlet Knights to a 26-7-1 record before interrupting his career to serve in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Harman returned to Rutgers after the war and led the Scarlet Knights for another 10 seasons before accepting a position as Executive Director of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, Inc. In that capacity, Harman became known as the goodwill ambassador for football, continuing to serve the game until his death in 1969. His career record lists a slate of 140-104-7.

HOMER HAZEL

He parted his dark hair down the middle, in the fashion of the day, and his deep-set eyes glowed with a competitive fire. Homer Hazel, Rutgers' first Hall of Famer, was, without doubt, the most versatile player the Scarlet ever produced.

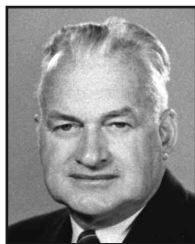

A natural athlete, Hazel excelled in various sports and was most successful as a track and field star. His speed and quickness served him well, for he once recovered his own kickoff in the enemy end zone for a touchdown.

Homer led Rutgers to identical 7-1-1 records in his final two seasons, earning All-America laurels in each. He was an end in 1923, when the only Scarlet loss was to West Virginia (27-7). He had Rutgers on the way to an unbeaten finish in 1924 - this time as a hard-hitting fullback - when Bucknell untracked the Scarlet in the final game of the season, 12-7. During the 1924 campaign, Homer Hazel established school records for most points after a touchdown and longest completed pass.

He could do it all. Carrying 226 pounds over a 5-foot-11 frame, Homer lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track at Rutgers. He later served as Athletic Director, football and basketball coach at the University of Mississippi for more than five years. He was a golf pro for four years, and a labor relations manager for more than 20 years. Hazel won his first letter in football at Rutgers in 1916. He left school because of a lack of funds. Hazel worked at various jobs and, at age 28, played football again at Rutgers. Walter Camp named him All-America end in 1923, All-America fullback in 1924. Hazel was born June 2, 1895, and died February 3, 1968.

GEORGE LITTLE

A graduate of Ohio Wesleyan, George Little opened his coaching career at the University of Cincinnati and produced a two-year record of 10-8-0 before moving up the road to Oxford, Ohio, home of the Miami Redskins, in 1916. There, Little brought the Redskins their first Conference Championship and a 7-0-1 mark.

After service in World War I, Little returned to Miami and directed the Red and White to yet another league crown and a three-year post-war record of 20-3-1. He also coached the Miami basketball and track teams, claiming a conference crown in the latter sport.

The 1922 and 1923 seasons found Little at Michigan under head coach Fielding Yost, the man he replaced in 1924. That year, Little's Wolverines were 6-2. The next season, Little was in Wisconsin as the new Athletic Director and head coach of the Badgers, and he led his charges to a two-year mark of 11-3-2. His teams displayed imagination and strength on offense, a unique ruggedness on defense.

Little wound up his collegiate career as the Athletic Director at Rutgers, and then served as executive secretary of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

GEORGE FOSTER SANFORD

At the entrance to Rutgers Stadium, inscribed upon a bronze plaque, is a tribute to George Sanford. It was financed and installed by his players, the men "...he inspired to deeds beyond themselves."

Undoubtedly, Sanford was an inspirational leader of men, a gentleman who excelled as both player and coach. Sanford played center on the 1891 and 1892 Yale teams which held each of their 26 opponents scoreless. Though he was never chosen to an All-America team, a 1927 poll named him the all-time Yale center.

Sanford began his coaching career at Columbia (1899-1901), called in to revive the football program which had been abandoned after the 1891 campaign. His 1899 team defeated Yale for the first time ever, and it was at Columbia that Sanford developed the famous "Flying Hurdle Play" which saw Harold Weekes catapulted over the scrimmage line. Moving to Rutgers (1913-23), Sanford had marked success as his club rolled to a 56-32-5 record. He was hailed as a "miracle worker" in 1917, after his Rutgers team beat the heavily-favored Newport Naval Reserve All-Stars, 14-0. Between his teams at Columbia and Rutgers, Sanford devoted his energy toward a successful insurance brokerage business.

1978 GARDEN STATE BOWL

EAST RUTHERFORD - In its first postseason action in program history, Rutgers faced Arizona State at Giants Stadium in the inaugural Garden State Bowl in 1978. The Scarlet Knights pulled ahead in the first half on a touchdown by David Dorn and field goal from Kenan Startzell to take a 10-0 lead. However, the Sun Devils closed the gap just before the end of the first half when Mark Malone found Bob Weathers in the end zone. In the third quarter, Arizona State claimed the lead with two Malone touchdown passes and in the final quarter added another score with a rushing TD to make the score 28-10. Ted Blackwell brought the Scarlet Knights to within 10 points with his five-yard rushing touchdown and successful two-point conversion. Rutgers had a final chance to take over the game when an offside kick came bouncing its way, but an off-side flag on the kickoff erased the Scarlet Knights good fortune. Arizona State tacked on two touchdowns to secure the 34-18 victory.

2005 INSIGHT BOWL

PHOENIX - Rutgers and Arizona State met for the second time in a bowl game, this time at Phoenix's Chase Field. The Scarlet Knights came up just short in the contest, losing 45-40 to the Sun Devils. RU scored the game's first touchdown on a pass from Ryan Hart to Clark Harris, but ASU quickly responded with a TD of its own, evening the game at 7-7. Both teams traded a number of scores but back-to-back touchdowns in the fourth quarter helped ASU to a 45-33 lead and the eventual victory. Rutgers engineered a 63-yard TD drive in the final 51 seconds, but it was not enough as the Sun Devils held on for the 45-40 win.

2006 TEXAS BOWL

HOUSTON - Rutgers' most memorable season ended with the program's biggest milestone - the first bowl victory in the history of Scarlet Knight football. Ray Rice rushed for 170 yards and a touchdown, while Tim Brown hauled in two TD passes as the 16th-ranked Scarlet Knights defeated Kansas State 37-10. Rice eventually went on to be named the Texas Bowl's Most Valuable Player. In the first quarter, Mike Teel hit Brown in the end zone on a 14-yard touchdown pass and the pair later connected, this time with a 49-yard strike to give Rutgers a 14-0 lead. Jeremy Ito sent a 37-yard field goal through the up-rights with less than a minute remaining in the first half to take a 17-10 lead at halftime. In the opening minute of the third quarter, Rutgers extended its lead on an interception returned for a touchdown by Quintero Frierson. The Scarlet Knights scored the final 23 points of the game as Rice added a 46-yard touchdown run and Ito converted a pair of field goals to give RU the 37-10 victory.

2008 INTERNATIONAL BOWL

TORONTO - In its third-consecutive bowl game, Rutgers pulled off another program milestone with its second-straight postseason victory as the Scarlet Knights defeated Ball State 52-30. Ray Rice had one of the finest individual outings in college football history, rushing for a career-high 280 yards and four touchdowns en route to being named the International Bowl's Most Valuable Player; his second-consecutive MVP honor in a bowl game. Rice's 280 yards were the third-most rushing yards in NCAA Bowl history. He entered the game with 1,732 yards on the ground and ended his season with 2,012 yards rushing to become the 13th player in NCAA history to amass more than 2,000 yards. The rushing total also set a BIG EAST and school single-season record. The 52 points scored were the most in Rutgers' bowl history. Including both individual and team marks, RU set a total of nine bowl records at the International Bowl.

2008 PAPAJOHNS.COM BOWL

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. – Fitting that Rutgers would end the 2008 season with a come-from-behind win. After winning only one of their first six games, Mike Teel and the Scarlet Knights erased an 11-point second half deficit to defeat North Carolina State 29-23 in the PapaJohns.com Bowl.

Leading the comeback – as he did all season – was Teel, who passed for 319 yards and two touchdowns, including a 42-yard scoring toss to Kenny Britt to give the Scarlet Knights (8-5) the lead for good in the fourth quarter. Teel's pass to Britt with 8:30 to play proved to be the winning touchdown. Britt, a third-team All-American, made a juggling catch as he crossed the goal line and finished with six catches for 119 yards.

Teel, a senior, was the game's most valuable player. He ended his career on a seven-game winning streak after being booed at home when he was struggling earlier in the season. NC State (6-7) held a 17-6 halftime edge, led by quarterback Russell Wilson who was 11-for-23 for 186 yards and a score. But Wilson left the game with a strained knee late in the first half and did not return.

The Scarlet Knights scored 10 consecutive points in the third quarter on a 31-yard field goal by San Te and an 11-yard pass from Teel to Tiquan Underwood. Rutgers took a 19-17 lead with 13:31 to play on a 28-yard field by Te after a 10-play 70-yard drive. The Wolfpack came right back as reserve quarterback Daniel Evans drove them 64 yards in eight plays and hit Anthony Hill with a 16-yard touchdown pass to give NC State a 23-19 lead. But it was only two plays later when Teel hit Britt for the go-ahead score.

2009 ST. PETERSBURG BOWL

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. – Rutgers (9-4) capped off its fifth-straight bowl appearance with its fourth-consecutive bowl victory, defeating Central Florida 45-24 in the 2009 St. Petersburg Bowl on Saturday, Dec. 19 at Tropicana Field.

The Scarlet Knights showed a great display of balance in all three phases of the game, recording touchdowns on offensive, defensive and special teams. RU ended the night with two rushing touchdowns, two passing touchdowns, one interception and one kickoff returned for scores.

Rutgers gained 380 yards of total offense behind a career passing day from freshman quarterback Tom Savage who completed 14-of-27 passes for 294 yards and two touchdowns. Fellow true freshman Mohamed Sanu also enjoyed a career-best evening as he accounted for three of RU's five touchdowns. Sanu had 13 carries for 41 yards and a pair of touchdowns, in addition to catching four passes for 97 yards and a TD.

For his performance Sanu was awarded the Most Outstanding Player trophy, joining past bowl honorees Ray Rice (2006 Texas Bowl, 2008 International Bowl) and Mike Teel (2008 PapaJohns.com Bowl).

RUTGERS ATHLETIC COMMUNICATIONS

The Rutgers Athletic Communications Office is available to assist you with coverage of the Rutgers football program. The primary media contact for the Rutgers football program is Jason Baum while Doug Drabik will assist during the 2011 season.

The Athletic Communications Office is located in the Rutgers Athletic Center. For information regarding credentials, interviews, statistics, press conferences, etc., please call the Athletic Communications Office at 732-445-4200, visit CollegePressBox.com or e-mail Baum at jbaum@scarletknights.com.

To assist in your coverage throughout the year, please read the media information on this page. Briefly, all interviews must be arranged through the Athletic Communications Office at least one day in advance and all players, coaches and support staff will not take part in an interview unless scheduled by the Athletic Communications Office.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS

Rutgers will utilize an online credentialing system in 2011. For more information, visit www.sportssystem.com/rutgers or contact Kathleen Conlin at 732-445-7868.

Admittance to the High Point Solutions Stadium Press Box is limited to working media members only. Credential requests must be made through Rutgers' online credentialing system.

Please request credentials at least two weeks in advance of the game to permit sufficient time for mailing. Media credentials which cannot be mailed will be left at Media Will Call (Media Entrance) beneath the press box at High Point Solutions Stadium at Gate A.

Working space in the Rutgers Press Box is allotted on the following basis: (1) daily newspaper writers covering for next-day publication; (2) sports editors of newspapers in New Jersey, New York and Eastern Pennsylvania; (3) radio personnel for broadcast origins; (4) official school student daily newspaper; (5) approved special coverage; (6) press and TV working photographers; (7) weekly press representatives; non-originating radio representatives of AM news stations; and Internet writers for sites affiliated with established, nationally-recognized media outlets will be considered on a game-by-game basis as space permits. Visiting freelance and amateur photographers are not eligible for media credentials.

PHOTOGRAPHERS

Sideline photographers and media members must follow NCAA guidelines, which prohibit entry to the bench areas.

PARKING

Media parking is located on field E-4, which is located behind the Indoor Practice Bubble. To enter the E-4 lot, take River Road to Sutphen Road. Once on Sutphen, make your first left at Fitch Road and attendants will direct you to the E-4 lot. You should request your parking at the same time you request your game credential. If time permits, both will be mailed to you. There is no day-of-game media parking list and therefore members of the media must have a media parking credential in advance of the game.

PRESS BOX SERVICES

Complete NCAA statistics, play-by-play, and quote sheets from both teams are all regular services on gameday. Upon your arrival, you will receive a press folder with game program, flip card, updated stats and game day notes.

The press box has wireless internet access. Login information will be provided on gamedays.

POST-GAME INTERVIEWS

Coach Schiano and players, following the designated cooling off period, will be made available after each game to members of the media. Coach Schiano's press conference will take place in the team meeting room of the Hale Center, which is located opposite the playing field from the press box.

With approximately five minutes remaining in the game, members of the media will be escorted across the field towards the Hale Center.

Rutgers' locker room is open to the media following the cooling off period. The visiting team's press conference will be held in the field hockey locker room, inside the Hale Center.

MEDIA INFORMATION

PHONES

A limited number of courtesy phones are available in the press box at Rutgers Stadium. The phones are all operator-assisted calls, or third-party billing calls can be made. Should you wish to have a phone installed at High Point Solutions Stadium, contact Verizon at 1-800-564-9911 or 9922.

PLAYER INTERVIEWS

All player interviews must be arranged through the Athletic Communications Office at least one day in advance. Players are available in person on Mondays at the weekly Rutgers Football Luncheon, and following practice on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, pending class schedules/availability.

Please consult with Jason Baum regarding availability. Player availability at other times will vary from week to week. A time mutually convenient for the player and the member of the media can be set up by the Athletic Communications Office. During a traditional game week, there will be no player interviews after Wednesday until following the game.

COACH SCHIANO INTERVIEWS

All interview requests must be arranged through Jason Baum. Coach Schiano will be available to the media every Monday at 10:40 a.m. at his weekly news conference in the team meeting room of the Hale Center, Monday at 11 a.m. on the BIG EAST Coaches Conference call at 11 a.m., and after practice on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

COVERING PRACTICE

Rutgers' preseason practices begin August 5. Throughout the season, practice will be open to the media for the first 30 minutes on Tuesday and Wednesday. Practice is closed to the media on Sunday and Thursday.

FILMING AT PRACTICE

On Tuesday and Wednesday, video and photo access is available during individual periods of practice. Tripods are not permitted on the practice field and media members must stand at least five yards off the sideline.

WEEKLY PRESS LUNCHEON

Selected players will be available each Monday at the Rutgers Football Luncheon from 11:15-12 noon in the Audi Rutgers Club.

CollegePressBox.com

Collegepressbox.com is the official media website for BIG EAST football. Access and download weekly game notes, quotes, statistics, media guides and more for the conference and each of its eight member schools throughout the season. Login information will be distributed to accredited media or you can apply for a password by sending an e-mail to password@collegepressbox.com.

RUTGERS RADIO NETWORK

All Rutgers football games will be broadcast over the Rutgers Radio Network to 50,000 watt WOR 710-AM in New York City, Central Jersey's WJTC 1450-AM and 97.5 FM The Fanatic in Philadelphia and South Jersey.

Play-by-play announcer Chris Carlin is well known to sports radio fans throughout the State of Rutgers. The 38-year-old Carlin is in his 11th year with the Rutgers Radio Network, including his eighth as the play-by-play voice of Rutgers Football. Carlin is also the play-by-play voice for Rutgers Basketball and is the host of the New York Mets pre-game and post-game shows on SportsNet New York and serves as co-host of "Loud Mouths" on SNY.

Former Rutgers standout quarterback Ray Lucas begins his third season as the color analyst on the Rutgers Radio Network. The seven-year NFL veteran has also been an analyst for SNY on their New York Jets programming since 1996 and won a New York Emmy for best analyst last year for his work on SNY.

Anthony "Fooch" Fucilli returns for his eighth season as the Rutgers Radio Network sideline reporter. Fucilli is also a field producer and reporter for MSG Network since 1989.

Marc Malusis returns for his third year as the pre-game and post-game host on the Rutgers Radio Network. The pre-game shows starts one hour prior to kickoff while the post-game show stays on the air one hour following the game.

"R FOOTBALL"

The 30-minute, feature-oriented television show, showcases the Rutgers football program, includes show narrator Bruce Beck of WNBC-4. "R Football" will air on SNY, The Comcast Network, MAGN and Sun Sports. For show dates and times, visit ScarletKnights.com.

RUTGERS FOOTBALL ON SNY

SNY, the television home of the Mets and Jets, is the exclusive TV home of Rutgers football, which encompasses a weekly sit-down interview with head football coach Greg Schiano, his Monday morning news conference live, the Rutgers coaches show entitled "R Football" as well as exclusive re-air rights to Rutgers games.

SNY's studios are based in Manhattan and the network reaches over 11 million homes. The network is available nationally on DirecTV and Dish Network.

SNY will air "Rutgers Rush Hour," a 60-minute condensed version of the previous game Sunday mornings. SNY will also replay the entire game with "Tuesday Knight Football" on Tuesday nights throughout the season.

SNY airs Rutgers' National Signing Day Press Conference in February.

Rutgers was one of 11 schools named to the Football Writers Association of America "Super 11" field of sports information departments. The award was given to the best sports information departments in the NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision during the 2010 season. Rutgers was one of just five schools to be named to the "Super 11" list in both 2009 and 2010.

(&) - Denotes Thursday night game

The Rutgers Department of Intercollegiate Athletics announced that High Point Solutions has acquired the naming rights to Rutgers Stadium, the 52,454-seat home of the Rutgers Football program.

The crown jewel venue of Rutgers Athletics will now be called High Point Solutions Stadium. The first event taking place in High Point Solutions Stadium will be on September 1, 2011, when Rutgers hosts North Carolina Central as the 2011 college football season begins nationally.

"We are very pleased to announce the first naming rights agreement for Rutgers' football stadium," said Rutgers University President Richard L. McCormick. "This partnership, with an innovative corporation rooted in the State of New Jersey, provides new revenue for our athletics program in a challenging economic climate. Rutgers looks forward to a very productive relationship with High Point Solutions, Inc."

The 10-year agreement between Rutgers Athletics and High Point Solutions was reached as a result of the partnership formed between Rutgers Athletics, Brooklyn Sports & Entertainment and IMG College to secure a naming rights partner.

"Forging relationships within the community is a significant part of what defines High Point Solutions," said Tom Mendiburu, Co-Founder, High Point Solutions. "We are truly honored to be associated with the fine traditions of Rutgers University and consider it a privilege to support New Jersey education and athletics. We look forward to this long term partnership."

Formed in July of 1996, High Point Solutions, Inc. was created to meet the specific needs of the Fortune 500 and service provider industries and has rapidly become known as a leader in the Information Technology and service sectors. As a specialist IT Services and Solutions provider, High Point partners with clients in planning, building and supporting their IT infrastructures.

High Point Solutions, Inc. is located in Sparta, N.J.

"When we began this process, we were looking for a very specific fit, and we have found that in the company, the people and the core values of High Point Solutions," said Rutgers Director of Intercollegiate Athletics Tim Pernetti. "It is very special to create this partnership between one of New Jersey's most innovative and successful corporations and Rutgers University."

"This partnership is mutually beneficial and makes sense," said Rutgers head football coach Greg Schiano. "We look forward to many great memories in High Point Solutions Stadium."

"This alliance will provide High Point Solutions with an extensive platform in which to continue to build its brand and business, and aligns Rutgers with a respected New Jersey-based technology company," said Brett Yorrmack, President and CEO of Brooklyn Sports & Entertainment. "This is Brooklyn Sports & Entertainment's third naming rights deal in the No. 1 media market in the country, which truly sets us apart from anyone in the industry."

Rutgers, the Birthplace of College Football, began playing at the "Old" Rutgers Stadium on November 5, 1938 in Piscataway. Rutgers Stadium was then built on the site of the "Old" Rutgers Stadium as the Scarlet Knights began play in their new 41,500-seat stadium in 1994.

The stadium was expanded in 2009 to its current seating capacity of 52,454. Rutgers, which has appeared in five bowl games over the previous six seasons, won four consecutive bowls during the time span.
