Over 135 years ago, three Rutgers University students organized the first men's lacrosse team and unknowingly initiated a Rutgers sports program that would consistently be among the nation's best.

It was the year 1887. The first squad, which went 0-4 that season, would be the only squad in school history to suffer through a season without a victory.

Rutgers' first team captain was Charles Devine, class of 1890; John Polack, class of 1889, served as the first business manager of the 1887 and 1888 teams. In 1889, player-coach Samuel Lockett paced the Scarlet to the squads' first winning season as the team went 2-1.

Three decades would pass before the game would be witnessed at Rutgers again.

Through the efforts of Harland W. "Tots" Meistrell, lacrosse was reinstated at the University in 1920. In his first and only season as head coach, Frank Graham led the newly re-established Scarlet Knights squad to a 1-5 record.

Over the next five years, Albert Brisotti would occupy the helm of the Rutgers lacrosse program and lead the Scarlet to a 16-21-2 record. He unfortunately has been immortalized in Rutgers lacrosse history as the only coach to hold the reins for more than one season and come away with a career losing record. Regardless of this fact, many noted and successful Rutgers alumni wore the Scarlet on the lacrosse field during the Brisotti years, including the late United States Senator Clifford Case (Class of 1925) and Ozzie Nelson (Class of 1927).

Rutgers' proud winning lacrosse tradition began when former Syracuse All-American Fred Fitch took over the coaching reins in 1926. Since the Fitch years and leading up to the present day, the Rutgers lacrosse program has only suffered 23 losing campaigns in 87 seasons of competition.

While under Fitch's direction, the Scarlet Knights joined the United States Intercollegiate Lacrosse Association (USILA). During the late 1920's and 30's, Fitch transformed Rutgers into a national men's lacrosse powerhouse. In 1928, Rutgers was named co-national champions along with Johns Hopkins, Maryland and Navy. In 1927 and 1932, Rutgers finished fourth in the USILA rankings. The 1932 Scarlet Knights, who netted a 7-2-1 season, were selected to participate in the Olympic tryouts, securing a win over Syracuse in the first round, but losing by one goal (5-4) to Maryland in the second round. A tandem termed "the best attack pair in the country," George Latimer and Joseph "Frenchy" Julien led that squad to national prominence. Both men were eventually inducted into the National Lacrosse Hall of Fame along with their coach, Fred Fitch.

Fitch, who has the honor of being the second all-time winningest coach "On the Banks", recorded 106-71-8 record during his 22-year career which was interrupted by World War II in 1943. He resumed coaching the Scarlet at the conclusion of the war in 1946, and ended his tenure in 1949.

The program reached an even higher level with the arrival of head coach Al Twitchell in 1950. The Scarlet squad only underwent two losing seasons during his campaign, but reached a number of milestones that far outshone those records.

Twitchell's 1955 team won the Laurie Cox Division Championship, a national division championship, which it shared with Hofstra.

The 1955 season was also significant for several other reasons. That year, the Scarlet Knights battled Princeton to a 14-14 tie in an epic, double-overtime war. Rutgers, who went 8-1-1 that year, also defeated Syracuse on the road, 23-19. That Orangemen team featured All-American Jim Brown who, historians recall, was outplayed by RU's Hall of Famer, Bob Kelley.

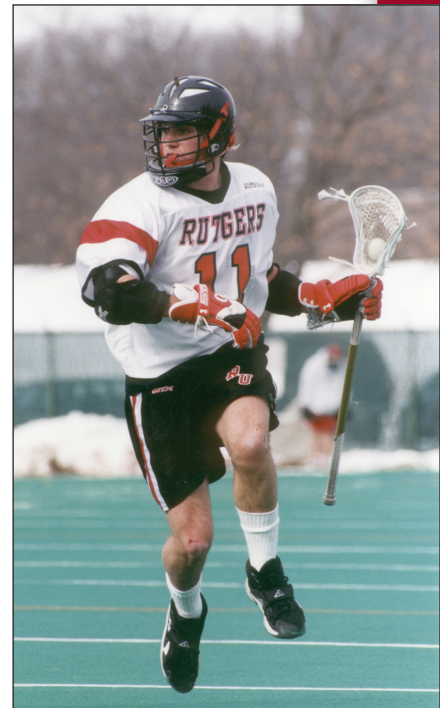

The 1956 Scarlet Knights, captained by Bob Andrews and Kelley, went 9-1, losing their lone contest to Syracuse but finishing third in the nation. Between 1950 and 1961, Twitchell led Rutgers to an impressive 86-39-1 record, including a fourth-ranked finish in 1958. Twitchell was honored by being inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1967.

Three-time Scarlet All-American Bob Naso, who played under Twitchell from 1956-1959, took over the program from his mentor in 1962. In his 13 seasons, which spanned 1962 to 1974, Naso led the squad to 10 winning campaigns. He recovered from an inaugural 3-7 season and completed his coaching career with an impressive 95-59-1 record. The highlight of Naso's career came in 1972 as he directed Rutgers to its first-ever NCAA playoff appearance. The NCAA playoff system was instituted in 1971. He repeated the feat with his 1974 squad.

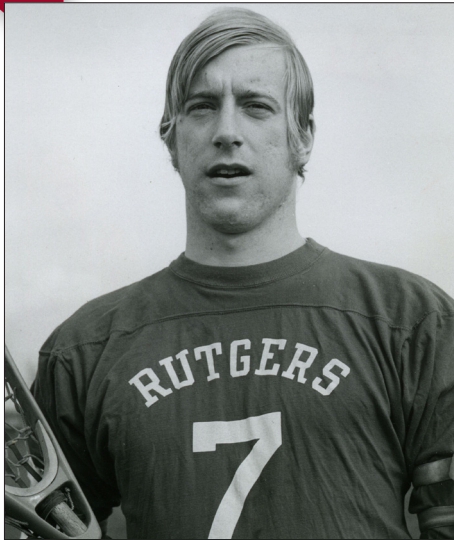

Tom Hayes moved into the leadership role in 1975. Hayes led the Scarlet Knights to 21 winning seasons and to final Top 20 rankings for 24 straight years.

Under Hayes, Rutgers lacrosse teams established a 194-156 record, including five NCAA appearances, two of which occurred in back-to-back seasons. Three of Hayes' teams earned national rankings of seven, occurring in 1975, 1982, and 1986. During the Hayes era, 55 All-Americans were selected from Rutgers and 30 North-South All-Star game participants, as well as an international player in Brody Bush, who played with the United States team that won the international championship in 1996. Scarlet Knight firsts which occurred under Hayes include the first team to win 11 games in a season (1986), the first victory in an NCAA tournament game (1986), and the longest winning streak of nine (1982).

Hayes brought international distinction to the Scarlet Knight lacrosse program by traveling his squads around the world. In addition to bringing teams to British Columbia and Australia for exhibition tournaments, Hayes took his 1992 squad to Bermuda for the first-ever Bermuda Lacrosse Invitational, and his 1996 squad to England for a two-week round of games, camps, and clinics.

Keith Cromwell was a three time All-American at RU ('99, '00, '01). Cromwell was inducted into the Rutgers Hall of Fame in 2015.

John E. Danowski was a member of three RU teams that advanced to the NCAA Tournament ('72, '74, '75)

In 2001, Jim Stagnitta took over as head coach. In just his second year, he guided RU to an NCAA Tournament appearance, as Rutgers improved from 2-12 in 2002 to 10-5 and hosted Georgetown in the first round of the tournament. Stagnitta was named the ECAC and USILA National Coach of the Year.

Hall of Fame. Four coaches have been honored, including former coaches Al Brisotti in 1958, Fred Fitch in 1961, Tom Hayes in 1990, as well as former player and later coach Albert Twitchell ('32) in 1967. Former Rutgers players include Joseph Julien ('32) in 1965, George Latimer ('32) in 1972, Willis Bilderback ('30) in 1973, Robert Kelley ('56) in 1985, John Valestra ('64) in 1996 and most recently John Danowski ('76) in 2000. In addition, the man responsible for reinstating the Rutgers lacrosse program in 1920, Harland Meistrell, in 1962.

Since its inception, the lacrosse program at Rutgers has produced 621 victories and 216 All-Americans. In keeping the university in the national spotlight for almost three-quarters of a century, the Scarlet Knight laxmen truly have established a proud tradition.

Building upon the foundation put down before him, head coach Brian Brecht took over the Rutgers men's lacrosse program for the 2012 season. Brecht has produced multiple all-conference and All-American players. In the final years of the BIG EAST, that list includes 2012 BIG EAST Midfielder of the Year (Will Mangan), the 2013 BIG EAST Goalkeeper of the Year (Kris Alleyne) and a 2013 Second Team All-BIG EAST honoree (Joe Nardella), and four 2014 Second Team All-BIG EAST honorees (Nardella, Scott Bieda, Nick Contino and Anthony Terranova).

Brecht led the charge in RU's final year in BIG EAST play, leading the Scarlet Knights to its best season in 10 years. RU posted an 8-8 record, its most wins since 2004. Rutgers made its first BIG EAST Championship since joining the conference, their first postseason appearance since 2004.

In 2015, Rutgers lacrosse embarked on a new journey. The Scarlet Knights were part of the inaugural season of Big Ten Conference Lacrosse. Rutgers joined Maryland, Michigan, Penn State, Ohio State, and affiliate member Johns Hopkins as the Big Ten sponsored men's lacrosse for the first time. RU earned its first Big Ten win with a 17-10 upset of No. 10 Ohio State.

The Scarlet Knights had a landmark campaign in 2016. The team tied its program record for wins with an 11-5 record, defeated three ranked foes (No. 9 Johns Hopkins, No. 17 Penn State and No. 10 Johns Hopkins), and was nationally ranked in 10 weekly polls, finishing as the No. 16 team in the nation. Brecht was named Big Ten Coach of the Year, mentoring Big Ten Offensive Player of the Year and Third Team All-American Scott Bieda, Honorable Mention All-American Zack Sikora, Big Ten Freshman of the Year Adam Charalambides, and First Team All-Big Ten Selection Jules Heningburg.

The 2017 season saw continued success for the program. The team began 8-0 for the first time since 1955, and reached No. 1 in the media rankings. RU finished 10-4, recording back-to-back 10-win seasons for the first time in program history. They defeated four ranked teams, including No. 15 Princeton to earn the Tots Meistrell Cup for the first time since 2005. The season finished with a win over No. 3 Ohio State, tied for the highest ranked win in program history. Michael Rexrode (Third Team) and Jules Heningburg (Honorable Mention) were named All-Americans.

Under coach Brecht's guidance, the successes continued in 2018. Three more All-Americans (Rexrode, Heningburg and Christina Mazzone) joined the ranks. The team became the first in the history of the program to record at least nine wins in three consecutive seasons, as RU downed four ranked programs.

In 2019, Rutgers had a number of accomplishments, including a 14-6 trouncing of No. 4 Ohio State. The team had three All-Americans in Max Edelmann, Kieran Mullins and Kyle Pless and a record four All-Big Ten players (Adam Charalambides, Edelmann, Mullins, Pless). The Scarlet Knights also had four players at the USILA North/South Game, where Brecht and his staff coached the South Team.

The 2020 season was notable for being shortened due to the COVID-19 pandemic. RU played only six games before the season was cut short to ensure health and safety.

In 2021, the team returned back on the field, competing in a Big Ten only schedule. RU had a landmark campaign, finishing the regular season with an 8-2 mark. RU earned an at-large bid to the NCAA Tournament, qualifying for the NAAs for the first time since 2004 and subsequently winning an NCAA Tournament game for the first time since 1990. RU claimed four ranked wins (No. 6 Penn State, No. 6 Ohio State, No. 14 Johns Hopkins, No. 14 Ohio State) had its most ever Big Ten wins, best Big Ten winning percentage and tied for its highest ever finish in the Big Ten standings. Rutgers qualified for the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2004, and defeated No. 8 seed Lehigh to advance to the Quarterfinal Round. It was the program's first NCAA Tournament victory since 1990. RU then took No. 1 seed UNC to the brink in an overtime loss. Rutgers had a program record seven All-Americans and program record six All-Big Ten selections.

The Scarlet Knights' 2022 season was historic and filled with broken records. RU smashed the previous program record for wins, grabbing 15 victories. The team won back-to-back NCAA Tournament games for the first time, downing No. 14 Harvard and No. 3 Penn to advance to the Final Four for the first time.

RU set a record with six ranked wins this season, included matching the highest ranked win in program history with the win over No. 3 Penn and three top-10 wins for the second consecutive season. RU is 12-7 over the past two seasons against ranked teams and the became the first RU men's program to make the Final Four since 1994. Rutgers finished the season with a 15-4 record.

Rutgers lacrosse prides itself on the storied history and tradition of the program. Part of that tradition are the awards that are given out annually.

Head Coach Al Twitchell introduced the William Miller, Frederick Fitch and Alfred Sasser Tophies during the 1950 season. Tom Hayes brought the Robert Collett and Scholar-Athlete Awards as well as the Knight Cup during his tenure as head coach.

Later, Jim Stagnitta added two more awards to the rich history of RU lacrosse; the Al Twitchell Award for top freshman and the Collins Award for improvement in GPA.

Head Coach Brian Brecht re-named the Scholar Athlete Award as the Campbell Sode award, following his graduation, as the four-time winner earned a perfect 4.0 GPA his entire career. The Doc Peterson Award was added in 2014, recognizing the team's unsung hero.
