GREG RHODENBAUGH

HEAD SWIMMING COACH
SMU, 1984
SEVENTH SEASON

Former SMU head coach and All-American Greg Rhodenbaugh returned to the Hilltop to lead the men's swimming program, and enters his seventh season (2025-26) with the Mustangs.

In 2024-25, the Mustangs embarked on their first season as a member of the ACC. During the season, SMU worked on rewriting the record books, posting 33 new Top-10 times along with new school records in the 100 & 200 back and the 200 free relay, 800 free relay, 200 medley relay and 400 medley relay. The Mustangs also reached NCAA standards in four different relays, competing in three at the NCAA Championships.

The accomplishments weren't just limited to the pool, as 16 Mustangs landed on the All-ACC Academic Team following the season. In addition, four different SMU swimmers earned CSC Academic All-District honors, while Eric Stelmar picked up CSC Third Team Academic All-America accolades.

The 2023-24 season saw the Mustangs win their fourth straight conference championship, this time in the ASUN. SMU won in commanding style, winning 17 events while setting nine new championship record times. Jack Hoagland earned ASUN Most Outstanding Swimmer of the Championship, while Kristaps Mikelsons earned Most Outstanding Freshman Performer. Rhodenbaugh also earned ASUN Swimming Coach of the Year honors, his fourth consecutive season receiving conference coach of the year accolades.

At 2024 NCAA's, SMU earned its best finish since 2008, placing 18th at the Championships. Chris Mykkanen, Jack Forrest and Hoagland all picked up All-America accolades during the event. Following the season, five Mustangs were also named to CSCAA Academic All-American Teams.

In 2023, SMU won its third consecutive American Athletic Conference Championship, defeating Cincinnati 1267-1134. This was the Mustangs third overall AAC title and 44th conference championship in program history. They have won 19 titles since 1997. Rhodenbaugh was named the AAC Swimming Coach of the Year for the third consecutive season.

The Mustangs sent one swimmer and one diver to the 2023 NCAA Championships. Fourteen different Mustangs earned NCAA B Cuts during the season. In the classroom, SMU earned CSCAA Scholar All-America Team honors and four student-athletes earned CSC All-District honors.

For the second straight year, Rhodenbaugh led the Mustangs to an American Athletic Conference Championship in 2022. Eighteen SMU swimmers combined to make 41 individual NCAA B cuts throughout the season. Three swimmers were invited and competed in the NCAA Championships, and Rhodenbaugh was named American Athletic Conference Coach of the Year. SMU notched 34 new times in the all-time school top 10 lists, including two relays.

Rhodenbaugh returned SMU to the top of the conference for the first time since 2013, winning the 2021 American Athletic Conference Championships, and sent a swimmer to the NCAA Championships for the first time since 2017. Ten swimmers posted 19 total NCAA B cuts and a total of 16 times were added to SMU's all-time top 10 lists during the season. At the AAC Championships, four swimmers won seven total conference championships and four of five relays took home top honors.

Connor Dalbo, Colin Feehery, Caleb Rhodenbaugh and Brayden Rudd all posted U.S. Olympic Trials cuts, while Justin Baker posted a Canadian Trials cut.

During the 2019-20 season, the Mustangs produced 14 individual NCAA B cuts, and eight individuals posted 14 times on SMU's all-time top 10 performer lists. Two swimmers, Caleb Rhodenbaugh (100 breast, 200 breast) and Colin Feehery (400 IM), won conference championships, while three individual swimmers and four relays earned eight total all-conference honors.

In the classroom SMU earned CSCAA Scholar All-America Team honors and seven swimmers were named to the SMU honor roll.

Rhodenbaugh previously served as head coach during the 1988-89 season after serving as an assistant and swam for the Mustangs from 1980-84. As a coach, he led the Mustangs to a runner-up finish at the 1989 Southwest Conference Championships, earning Co-Coach of the Year honors, and guided SMU to a 14th-place finish at the NCAA Championships.

Before coming to the Hilltop, Rhodenbaugh served as head coach at Missouri, a position he took over in May of 2010. During his time at Mizzou, Rhodenbaugh drastically increased the Tigers' presence on the National stage. Overall, Rhodenbaugh's tenure with the Tigers saw 23 women earn 124 All-America honors, while 23 men picked up 103. As a team, the men posted the top six NCAA finishes in school history, while the women made it seven.

In just his second season, he led the Mizzou men to a 19th-place finish at the 2012 NCAA Championships, its highest ever, an improved to 14th in 2013. That season, the Tigers produced their first NCAA individual All-American since 1979 and their first All-American relay in program history.

In 2014, the men posted a program-record 95 points at the National event, garnering four First-Team All-America honors, while the women picked up their first individual All-America honor for a freshman since 1978.

Success continued for both programs during the 2014-15 season, with record setting performances at the NCAA Championships. Both teams turned in top-15 finishes, with the men coming in 11th and the women 14th. The men posted five top-seven finishes, while earning six individual and four relay All-America nods. For the first time in school history, two of the women's relays earned All-America honors, including a program record in the 400 medley relay.

Rhodenbaugh guided Mizzou's first individual National Champion in program history, Fabian Schwingenschlogl, to victory in the 100-yard breaststroke at the 2016 Championships. In total, six men and women earned All-America accolades helping the men to an eighth-place finish and the women to 11th that year.

The teams held steady the next season as the men finished within the country's top 10 again at ninth, and the women were 13th. The 2018 Championships saw the Mizzou women finish 15th, earning five total individual All-America honors as well as three relay accolades.

Prior to his time at Mizzou, Rhodenbaugh served as an assistant at Arizona under Frank Busch, helping both the men and women to 2008 NCAA National Championships.

Rhodenbaugh has also served as a member of both the U.S. Swimming National Team and U.S. National Junior Team staffs. He mentored two-time Olympic Gold Medalist Amanda Beard, as well as Mustang medalists Ryan Berube, Ricardo Prado and Lars Frolander.

During his time at SMU as a student-athlete, Rhodenbaugh earned All-America honors in the 100-yard breaststroke (1983, 1984), 200-yard breaststroke (1983) and as part of the 800-yard freestyle relay (1983, 1984). SMU earned four top-10 NCAA finishes, including runner-up honors in 1983.

In addition to his collegiate swimming success, Rhodenbaugh won the 200-meter breaststroke at the 1982 U.S. National Sports Festival and was a member of the U.S. team at the 1983 World University Games in Canada.

Rhodenbaugh and wife Lisa, also a graduate of SMU, have eight children.

The success would continue on 1-meter, with Sitz earning Bronze to earn the second medal of his career.

The Prosper native would later punch his ticket to the NCAA Championships on 1-meter and 3-meter and placed seventh on 1-meter to earn First Team All-America honors. The seventh-year coach helped the duo of Tyler Coffey and John Dymond secure conference championships in both the 1-meter (Coffey) and 3-meter (Dymond) in 2024. Dymond went on the qualify for NCAA Zone Diving in Houston.

Schmidt help lead Hardigree to All-America honors in 2022, marking the first time a Mustang has achieved the honor through competition, 2020 accolades were based on qualification due to COVID-19 pandemics cancelation of the Championships, since Klein in 2018.

In 2020, Smithson became the first Mustang to earn automatic bids to the NCAA Championships in multiple events since 2015, when Devin Burnett did so on 1 meter and platform. In 2023, Smithson also became the first Mustang diver to qualify for the NCAA Championships all four years since Bryce Dumais (2000-2003). On the women's side, Holloway became the first diver to qualify for the NCAA Championships since Audra Egenolf in 2010.

In 2021, Smithson automatically qualified in all three diving events and became the first men's diver to qualify for multiple NCAA Championships since Klein (2016 & 2018), and the first to earn back-to-back bids since Burnett (2012-13). It was also the first time a duo (Smithson, Hardigree) qualified for the Mustangs on the diving side since Philip Griffin and Brice Dumais did so in 2003.

Five Mustangs have won 20 conference championships including a sweep of men's events in 2021 and 2022. In 2019, the Mustangs qualified multiple divers for the NCAA Zone Championships on the women's side for the first time since 2010. Overall, Schmidt has helped Mustang divers to 63 all-conference honors.
