Cynthia Robinson Alexander

Cynthia Robinson Alexander began her tenure as Interim President of Savannah State University on July 1, 2023.

Prior to this appointment by the University System of Georgia (USG) Board of Regents, President Alexander served the USG for 14 years, most recently as the Associate Vice Chancellor of Finance. In that role, she led USG's management of all alternative financing transactions including a $2.7 billion public-private venture program as well as the systems' public-private partnership initiative.

Interim President Alexander has over 30 years of leadership experience in business and higher education, having successfully guided highly complex financial and business initiatives. For more than 14 years she has participated with and led cross-disciplinary teams in implementing creative solutions to address fiscal and facility challenges and opportunities across all USG's twenty-six public institutions. As a fiscal and portfolio expert, she worked closely with institutional presidents, chief business officers, fiscal and facility teams, foundations, internal USG staff and external stakeholders including other state agencies, rating agencies, banks, and financial institutions. Under her leadership, her team oversaw policy, procedure, reporting, and design and construction as it related to financing facilities that are part of the USG Foundation's portfolio.

Prior to joining the Board of Regents, Interim President Alexander worked in various senior level positions including Senior Vice President at Sumitomo Life Realty, where she oversaw fiscal, portfolio management and investment activities in Washington, D.C., Atlanta, and Los Angeles.

Alexander received a Bachelor of Arts degree in Urban Studies from Brown University, where she joined Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. during her freshman year. She went on to earn a Master of City and Regional Planning from the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University and a Juris Doctor from Boston University.

Interim President Alexander is a graduate of Leadership Atlanta and the Board of Regents' Executive Leadership Institute. She has served as a board member of the Atlanta Chapter of Big Brothers Big Sisters and Commercial Real Estate Women (CREW), including serving as president. She is a lifetime member of Jack and Jill of America and for several decades was an active member of her church, Mt. Zion AME Church in Decatur Georgia. Throughout her career she has been recognized as one of the "10 Women to Watch", "Influential Women in Commercial Real Estate," and "Who's Who in Commercial Real Estate."

Interim President Alexander is married to Charles Barnett Alexander, and they have two adult sons.

Opio Mashariki

Throughout his career, Savannah State Director of Athletics Opio Mashariki, a 20-year veteran of athletics, has helped guide multiple college sports programs through the faithful execution of a range of administrative duties.

Beginning at his alma mater, Bethune-Cookman College, Mr. Mashariki worked in Sports Information for a total of 18 years. During his six years at Bethune-Cookman, he furthered the mission of the athletics' department by coordinating press conferences and developing external and internal communications as an intern, then as the Assistant Sports Information Director and ultimately as the Interim Sports Information Director.

In March of 2005, he was named the Assistant Athletics Director for Media Relations at Savannah State University. During his 15 years in that position, Mr. Mashariki oversaw media relations for 15 sports, developed several social media platforms, produced the first ever media guides and publications for SSU Athletics and coordinated all athletic home contests.

Mr. Mashariki was promoted to Associate Athletics Director for Media Relations in 2017 and while maintaining his work in sports information, took over supervision of men's and women's basketball, softball and volleyball. He also directed SSU Athletics training, strength and conditions and equipment management.

In August of 2018, he was selected as the Interim Athletics Director.

He accepted the position of Director of Athletics in January of 2019 and is overseeing the transition from NCAA Division I to Division II.

Mashariki worked closely with the NCAA and the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SIAC), in implementing a new era for the Tigers.

He is a native of Brooklyn, N.Y. and earned his bachelor's degree in Mass Communications and Public Relations from Bethune-Cookman College in 2001.

Aaron Kelton

Savannah State Athletics hired Aaron Kelton as the 27th head football coach on April 5, 2022.

Kelton came to Savannah State from Howard University where he was the defensive backs coach and recruiting coordinator. He also served as interim head coach at Howard in 2019.

Prior to that, the Boston, Massachusetts native was the co-defensive coordinator at Morgan State, and the head football coach at Shorter University.

He also served stints at Williams College, Columbia University, Virginia State University, Concord College, Clarion

University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Through his nearly three-decades of coaching experience, Kelton has served as an intern with four NFL teams and coached over 30 all-conference players.

He earned his bachelor's degree in psychology from Springfield College and is a master's degree candidate at Virginia State University.

Quinn Gray, Sr.

Quinn Gray, Sr. was named the 14th head football coach for the Albany State University Golden Rams on December 19, 2022. In his first year, the team posted a 6-5 overall record, 6-2 in SIAC play, and advanced to the conference title game. Under his leadership, four players were named to the SIAC All-Conference First Team, three to the Second Team, and Frederick Gaines was honored as SIAC Freshman of the Year. The Golden Rams triumphed in all three classics they participated in: the NYC HBCU Classic, Coastal City Classic, and the Fountain City Classic.

Before Albany State, Gray was a senior offensive analyst at the University of Memphis. He coached quarterbacks at Alcorn State University from 2020-2022 and was an associate head coach, offensive coordinator, and quarterbacks coach at FAMU from 2011-2014. At Lincoln High School in Florida, his leadership produced nine FACA All-District Players and multiple Tallahassee Quarterback Club Player of the Year awards in 2019.

As an NFL player, Gray was a quarterback for the Jacksonville Jaguars and Kansas City Chiefs and played for the New York Sentinels in the United Football League, as well as leading the Frankfurt Galaxy to the 2003 World Bowl Championship in NFL Europe.

At FAMU, Gray set records in passing yards, attempts, completions, and touchdown passes. He was inducted into the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference Hall of Fame and FAMU Sports Hall of Fame in

A Fort Lauderdale native, Gray holds a Bachelor of Science in Health and Physical Education from FAMU (2006) and a Master of Science in Sports Commerce from the University of Memphis (2023). He and his wife Shemeka have six children: Quine, Destiny, David, Quinn Jr., Ashton, and Londyn.

Theodore "Ted" Wright coached at Savannah State from 1947-62.

Wright came to Savannah State in 1947 and developed the school's first varsity track and field team. He also served as head coach of the football and men's basketball teams. Wright served as track coach from 1949-56. While track coach, he won seven SEAC track titles.

He served as head football coach from 1947-49. From 1948-62 he was head coach of the men's basketball team. Wright's teams won 10 SEAC basketball championships. His 1958 - 1962 "Chicago Five" won 118 games with only 18 defeats, and won the NAIA District 6 basketball title for three consecutive years.

He was named SEAC Coach of the Year in 1959-60. In 1962, his last coaching season, Savannah State was the number one scoring team in the NAIA, averaging 97 points a game. Redell Walton, in 1962, was the first Savannah State basketball player to be named All - America.

In 1989, the SIAC awarded Theodore Wright (posthumously) its outstanding Pioneer Award for his contributions to the development of the SIAC.

Wright received a baccalaureate degree in history in 1925 from Baker University in Baldwin City, Kansas and his master's degree from the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

He was inducted (posthumously - with his brothers Elbert and Giles) into the Baker University Class of 1989 Athletic Hall of Fame as a football and basketball player in Baldwin City, Kansas. The SSU football stadium, which was built in 1970, was named after Wright. Ted Wright died in 1974.

He was inducted into the Savannah State Hall of Fame posthumously in 2010.

The Savannah State Tigers will be playing their 47th season in Theodore A. Wright Stadium.

In 2011, the Tigers played their first game in newly renovated T.A. Wright Stadium on October 1, after a $6 million revitalization project in 2010 that included new professional style locker rooms, ticket booths, concession areas, brick front, and field turf.

The 2010 renovations added 500 seats to the stadium for a total capacity of 8,500, and heralded the inaugural season of competition in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference. In 2009, a new press box was added, featuring a president's box. The stadium has undergone three major renovations since it was built in 1969.

The most significant of these was the 1995 renovations that added the current track. In the 2009 a new press box was built prior to 2010's complete renovations. The original stadium's construction was part of massive school building project that spanned from 1964 to 1971.

The new stadium was built at a cost of $133, 665 and John McGlockton, a 1935 graduate was instrumental in securing the lighting at no expense to the college. Prior to the current location in T.A. Wright Stadium the SSU football team played in several different locations in the over 100 hundred years of competitive football. From 1902 to 1940, the Tigers played where the King-Frazier building now stands on the Savannah State campus. From 1940 to the 1970, they played on the grounds that the A.H. Gordon Library sits on today.

The SSU Track and Field team has competed in the stadium since 1995. The Tigers host multiple track and field events each year, utilizing the multiple fields inside and around T.A. Wright Stadium for events such as discuss, javelin throw, high jump, triple jump, and long jump.

Savannah State football began on Thanksgiving Day 1902 when Georgia Industrial College won its only game of the year. GIC held another one-game season on Thanksgiving Day in 1907.

Georgia Industrial College became Georgia State in 1932. In 1938, Georgia State celebrated their first football championship. The Tigers led the South Atlantic Athletic Conference with a 6-2 record. In 1947, Georgia State became a charter member of the Southeastern Athletic Conference. In 1950, the school became Savannah State College.

The second conference title came to the institution in 1967 when Savannah State College finished with a 6-2-1 record.

Savannah State joined the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference in 1969 as a Division III participant and under the leadership of Coach John Myles, SSU had the best record in 1972 at 6-3-1.

1981 saw Tiger athletics move from Division III to Division II and 2000 saw them move to Division I-AA (NCAA).

The move to Division II opened a new era in Savannah State Football. Savannah State University took her lumps through the first four years in the new division, but in 1996, along came William R. “Bill” Davis.

The Davis era lasted until 1992. During that seven year span, the SSU football program enjoyed a string of successes. Davis led the Tigers to their best ever records of 8-2 in 1988 and 8-1 in 1989.

In 1992, the Tigers played in their first ever NCAA Football Playoff. They finished the regular season with an 8-3 record.

Savannah State opted to move to Division I-AA in 1998, playing as independents. 2000 marked the first year that the university was a counter at the I-AA level. Full membership was granted in 2002.

The 2000s were not kind to the Savannah State football program as they struggled to compete at the NCAA Division I level. Their best year came under Robby Wells in 2008 when they finished 5-7.

The 2011-12 season marked the first year of competition for Savannah State University in the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference (MEAC). The football program, steered by Steve Davenport and then Earnest Wilson won only four games between 2011 and 2015.

Erik Raeburn took over the program from 2016 to 2018 and finished 3-7, 3-8 and 2-8.

Shawn Quinn was hired on March 7, 2019. Quinn found success immediately. In his debut season in 2019, the Tigers posted an historic 7-3 overall record—the first winning schedule since 1998. In the program’s first year of competition back in NCAA Division II and the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SIAC), Quinn led the Tigers to an incredible 5-0 conference record. The team finished 8-2 in the 2021 season, marking one of the best seasons since 1994.

Shannon Sharpe was born on June 26, 1968, in Chicago, Ill., but grew up in Glennville, Ga. He led the 1988 and 1989 Tigers to a combined 15-4 record including 8-1 in 1989. He was the 1989 Co-Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SIAC) Offensive Player of the Year and All-SIAC First Team Offense as a flanker. Sharpe was the second Savannah State football player selected to the Kodak Small College All-America team. He was the first Savannah State football player to play in the Blue-Gray Bowl (1990) in Mobile, Ala., and the East-West Shrine Game (1990) in Palo Alto, Ca. He was also named College Player of the Year in Georgia. A three-time All-SIAC selection, Sharpe owns SSU single-season receiving records for yardage (1,312), touchdowns (18) and yards per catch (21.5).

Sharpe graduated from Savannah State with a degree in criminal justice in 1991.

Shannon Sharpe's NFL career spanned 14 years: 12 seasons with the Denver Broncos and two with the Baltimore Ravens. He was voted to eight Pro Bowls (1992-98, 2001), as well as to the NFL's first All-Decade Team for the 1990s. Sharpe is one of only five tight ends in NFL history to post more than one, 1,000-yard receiving season (1994: 1,010 yards; 1996: 1,062 yards; 1997: 1,107 yards) and one of four to amass 6,000 receiving yards. A three-time Super Bowl champion, Sharpe won back-to-back with the Broncos in 1997 and 1998 and with the Ravens in 2000. He holds the NFL post-season record for longest reception, a 96-yard catch and run for a touchdown in the 2000 AFC Championship Game. He played in 12 post-season contests as a Bronco, all starts, and ranks No. 2 in franchise playoff history in receptions (47) and No. 3 in receiving yards (505).

Sharpe is a member of the Colorado Sports Hall of Fame, Georgia Sports Hall of Fame and the Broncos Ring of Honor.

Savannah State retired his No. 2 jersey in 2009. Sharpe was inducted into the Savannah State Hall of Fame in 2010.

Sharpe co-hosts "Undisputed" on Fox Sports.
