University of North Carolina at Greensboro

ABOUT UNC GREENSBORO

UNC Greensboro has a long history of commitment to education; founded 130 years ago and one of three original NC System institutions, the university receives frequent accolades – listed among the best colleges in the U.S. by the Princeton Review 23 years straight, U.S. News 31 years straight; and No. 3 among NC public universities by Washington Monthly.

UNCG is the sixth-largest university in North Carolina and one of the most diverse universities in the state, with 19,000-plus students and 3,000-plus faculty and staff members representing 90-plus nationalities. With 17 Division I athletics teams, 85 undergraduate degrees in more than 125 areas of study, as well as 74 master's and 32 doctoral programs, UNCG is one of only 40 doctoral institutions recognized by the Carnegie Foundation for both high research activity and community engagement.

UNCG offers 350-plus organizations, including 21 fraternities and sororities, 24 club sports teams, 35 religious and faith-based groups, 83 career and professional associations and 44 performing arts clubs.

The third largest city in North Carolina, Greensboro has a population of about 300,000. (Similar to the size of Cincinnati or Pittsburgh.) A true college town, there are 14 four-year colleges and universities within 25 miles of UNCG's campus, including 45,000 college and university students from four campuses within a mile of downtown Greensboro – a compact, 58-acre area that includes the minor league baseball park, five performing arts spaces, 50-plus restaurants, four breweries, a hip restaurant/bowling alley and a retro arcade/bar, surrounded by a greenway that's part of the 500 miles of hiking and biking trails that run throughout the city.

FROM THE DESK OF NCAA PRESIDENT MARK EMMERT

IN ADDITION TO ADDRESSING THE GLOBAL PANDEMIC, THE NCAA HAS BEEN WORKING ON OTHER ISSUES THAT DIRECTLY IMPACT STUDENT-ATHLETES. MEMBER SCHOOLS AND CONFERENCES HAVE PASSED TEMPORARY POLICIES FOR THE ASSOCIATION TO ALLOW STUDENTS TO BENEFIT FROM THEIR NAME, IMAGE AND LIKENESS, WHICH HAS CREATED NUMEROUS OPPORTUNITIES AND FLEXIBILITY FOR COLLEGE ATHLETES. WE ARE ALSO STEADFASTLY COMMITTED TO ENSURING THAT COLLEGE ATHLETES WHO PARTICIPATE IN NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS HAVE AN EQUITABLE EXPERIENCE THAT HONORS THEIR ACHIEVEMENT.

Welcome to the 2021 fall championship season. We are thrilled to host these events again after the adjusted schedule that many athletes participated in last season due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Though we still face challenges, I am continually impressed by the resilience and fortitude these student-athletes demonstrate to compete at the highest level of their sport.

In addition to addressing the global pandemic, the NCAA has been working on other issues that directly impact student-athletes. Member schools and conferences have passed temporary policies for the Association to allow students to benefit from their name, image and likeness, which has created numerous opportunities and flexibility for college athletes. We are also steadfastly committed to ensuring that college athletes who participate in NCAA Championships have an equitable experience that honors their achievement. Finally, the NCAA is undergoing a constitutional review to improve our core functions, operations and legislation so we can better support today's student-athletes and the generations to come.

These efforts are critically important to upholding our mission of providing educational opportunities to student-athletes. Throughout a difficult year, member schools and conferences continue to find ways to put students' interests first and make improvements to their collegiate experience. I am pleased with our progress thus far and eager to see how else we can support athletes at championships and beyond.

This championship season, we congratulate students for their exceptional accomplishments today and look forward to all they will achieve after earning their degrees. Enjoy the championship.
