PLAYER TO WATCH: LAUREN DOUGLASS

Senior Lauren Douglass has arguably been one of the most dominant players in Texas Tech history at the middle blocker position. The Flower Mound native set the school with a single-season hitting percentage of .377 last year, while also leading the team in kills and blocks. She is on pace for an even better 2016 clip.

SCOUTING THE SOONERS

Oklahoma comes in hot after a pair of road wins at West Virginia last week got the Sooners off a six-game skid and gave them their first two wins in the Big 12 this season. Junior middle blocker Marion Hazelwood, who picked up Big 12 Defensive Player of the Week honors for her efforts, leads the defense with 1.18 blocks per set to go with 2.47 kills on a .301 hitting percentage. Redshirt-senior outside hitter Madison Ward filled in for injured senior captains Kimmy Gardiner and Micaela Spann to lead the Sooners with 18 kills in each win. Overall, five Sooners are averaging better than 2.40 kills per set.

INSIDE THE SERIES

Texas Tech leads the all-time series with Oklahoma, 35-33, including a split in the series last season. Texas Tech's 3-2 win in 2015 snapped a 19-match losing streak to the Sooners at the time. The Red Raiders hold a 14-11 advantage in the series in Lubbock, including the win at home last season. The series between the two teams dates back to 1976 with Texas Tech winning 19 of the 28 contests prior to the formation of the Big 12.

LAST TIME OUT

The Red Raiders are coming off a loss at No. 6 Kansas in which they went toe-to-toe in the second and third sets before falling 25-8, 25-18, 25-18. Sophomore Kyndal Cowan, an Oklahoma transfer, earned her second start of the year at setter and posted a team-high nine assists. Freshman Toni McDougald and senior Lauren Douglass led the team in kills with six apiece, while McDougald posted a career-high .455 hitting percentage. Sophomore Reyn Akiu and freshman Maggie Sagers led the defense with nine digs each as the Red Raiders dropped their eighth straight loss.

AMONG THE BIG 12'S BEST

A trio of Red Raiders rank among the best in the Big 12 for their position. Senior Lauren Douglass is third in the conference with a .385 hitting percentage, a clip which ranks 37th nationally. Sophomore Tita Akiu leads the conference with 336 total digs and is tied for second in the conference with 4.88 digs/set. Likewise, senior setter Marguerite Grubb is one of five players in the Big 12 averaging double-digit assists/set (10.08).

PROTECT THIS HOUSE

Texas Tech has played well in front of its home fans, amassing an impressive 5-2 record at United Supermarkets Arena matches this year. The Red Raiders started their home slate 5-0 with a win over UTEP in the practice gym, before going 4-0 in the Texas Tech Invitational. Despite dropping its first two Big 12 home matches, Texas Tech has won 15 of 23 sets played at home this season.

DOUBLE THREAT

While sophomore libero Tita Akiu receives much of the praise defensively, senior Lauren Douglass has once again proven to be a force at the net. Along with her dominance on the attack, the veteran is averaging 1.10 blocks/set to rank eighth in the Big 12, while her 77.0 total blocks rank fourth in the Big 12. Among the top 10 block leaders in the Big 12, Douglass's .389 hitting percentage is second in the league.

YOUTH MOVEMENT

Aside from seniors Lauren Douglass and Marguerite Grubb, head coach Tony Graystone has trended towards starting all underclassmen in the last three matches. In fact, sophomore Kyndal Cowan started in place of Grubb at No. 6 Kansas, making Douglass the only upperclassmen in the starting lineup. Sophomores Tita Akiu and Katy Keenan have started every match this season, while fellow sophomore Sarah Redding and freshmen Toni McDougald, Chandler Atwood and Maggie Sagers have been regulars in the starting lineup as well. Atwood (2.31) and McDougald (2.27) rank second and third on the team in kills/set, respectively, while Keenan ranks second on the team in hitting percentage (.288) and Sagers leads the team with 0.26 services aces/set, which ranks ninth in the conference.

ON THE MEND

The Red Raiders have been working several key pieces back into the rotation since the beginning of Big 12 play. Sophomore Sarah Redding started for the fourth time this season against Kansas State after missing 14 matches with an injury, putting up a solid seven kills in the match. Junior Ashley Morgan also received time for just the third time against Kansas State for just the third time this season after spending the majority of nonconference play recovering from injury. Senior setter Marguerite Grubb has started three of the last four matches as she continues to battle back from an ankle injury she suffered at UTSA.

SET UP ARTIST

In 2015, Marguerite Grubb put up 1,007 assists, becoming the first Red Raider to record 1,000+ assists in a single season since Emily Ruetter in 2013. She cracked the school's all-time top 10 list in assists in the Red Raider's first match of 2016, compiling 52 assists against Colorado. The senior has dished out 625 assists in 19 matches this season and ranks fifth in the conference with 10.08 assists/set. Overall, she is inching closer towards the ninth spot on the school's all-time assists list with 2,290, just 50 away from the next slot.

DURING THE WIN STREAK

Over the course of its 10-match win streak, Texas Tech earned five sweeps along the way, including three in the course of a week against North Dakota, UTEP and Abilene Christian. The Red Raiders held its opponents to a hitting percentage of below .200 in all but one match during the run, twice holding foes to under .100.

ON POINT

Texas Tech hit .507 (42-6-71) in a sweep of Abilene Christian, marking the first time since the 1998 season the Red Raiders have hit over .500 in a single match. The .507 hitting percentage matched the fourth-highest hitting percentage in school history and is the highest offensive output in the Big 12 this season.

IN THE RECORD BOOK

Seniors Marguerite Grubb and Lauren Douglas didn't waste any time planting themselves in the Texas Tech record book this season. In the Red Raider's first match of 2016, Grubb compiled 52 assists to crack the school's all-time top 10 list in assists. Douglas made a mark of her own in a win against Portland State, powering her way to 17 kills with a .773 hitting percentage, a clip that ranks as her career-best and sixth all-time in a single match in the Texas Tech record books.

YOUNG PASSERS

Sophomores Reyn Akiu and Katelyn Bryant and freshman Maggie Sagers have stepped in at the libero/defensive specialist position, providing solid play in the back line. Akiu has consistently been one of the Big 12's top performers with a conference-leading 315 digs and ranks second in the Big 12 with 4.92 digs/set. Bryant and Sagers have split time at the position, combining for 226 digs this season while another freshman, Kylie Rittimann has contributed 45 in four starts.

OUTSIDES & RIGHT SIDES

A strong mix of veterans and newcomers complete the outside hitter/right side position for the Red Raiders. Juniors Victoria Hinneburg, Audrey Fragniere and Alyssa Ybanez make up the oldest group of returnees and have been known to pack quite a punch on the attack. The trio combined for 265 kills and 84 blocks in 2015. Ybanez was the star of the Red & Black scrimmage on Aug. 20, tallying 17 kills. Last season, they were flanked by Sarah Redding, who posted a strong freshman season with 173 kills, averaging 2.22 per set. Joining them are freshmen Chandler Atwood, Hannah Henriksen and Toni McDougald, while junior Courtney Ensich returns to the program after not playing last season.

ATTACK ATTACK

The Red Raiders racked up 1,308 kills during the 2015 season, with 931 of those kills back and ready to go for 2016. Tech returns four of their top five attackers from last year in Lauren Douglass (280), Sarah Redding (173), Katy Keenan (128) and Victoria Hinneburg (122). The Red Raiders tallied 15 more kills than their opponents last season, averaging 13.3 per set for an overall hitting percentage of .209.

CONTINUING THE TREND

In each of the last six years, a Red Raiders has cracked the top 10 in single-season digs at Texas Tech. In 2010, Tori Vaughn put up 409 digs, but was knocked out by Eric Ruegg in 2011 with 419 digs. The next three years were dominated by Rachel Brummitt, who set the school record in 2012 (510) and 2013 (604), then posted 510 digs in her 2014 senior season. Those three years also catapulted her to the Texas Tech career digs record with 1,624. Last year, Carlie Foust notched 491 digs, which ranked fourth on the list. Who continues that trend in 2016?

HEAD COACH

@TonyGraystone

TONY GRAYSTONE

18th Season Overall • 1st Season at Texas Tech • University of Louisville '96

Entering his first season at Tech, Tony Graystone has a solid mixture of great newcomers and established veterans

Tony Graystone was named the head coach of Texas Tech volleyball on Thursday, Jan. 21, 2016. Graystone arrives at Texas Tech after serving seven seasons as the head volleyball coach at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi.

"Tony Graystone is a proven winner and a respectful leader and coach with tremendous ties to the state of Texas, specifically in West Texas," Texas Tech Director of Athletics Kirby Hocutt said. "We are so thrilled to welcome him, along with Lauren, Drew and Dylan to the Texas Tech Athletics family."

In seven seasons at Texas A&M-Corpus Christi, Graystone turned the Islanders into one of the premier volleyball programs in the Southland Conference. Last season, the Islanders put together their best season in program history, finishing 31-5 overall, with a spotless 16-0 conference mark. It was also the first NCAA Tournament berth for the Islanders, who faced Texas A&M in first round play. Their win total was the best in school history and was one win short of the winningest season by any Southland program.

Graystone's squads have recorded 20 or more wins in three of the last four seasons, finishing one victory shy of that mark in 2014. He improved his team's win total in each of his first four seasons on the Island, culminating with the 2013 season, which was a historic season for the Islanders. The team finished with a 20-12 record, including a then school-best 13-5 record in Southland Conference play. The Islanders also made history by advancing to the semifinals of the conference tournament for the first time.

"This is a very special day for me and my family," Graystone said. "Lubbock is definitely home for us and there's no place we'd rather be than at Texas Tech. I am looking forward to meeting the team and getting started on the court as soon as possible. We all know the challenges ahead of us to improve the program and take positive steps in the Big 12. But I know I'm starting with a group of talented, committed players and together we will make it happen."

In the last four years, Graystone has collected a 91-44 record, including a 52-16 record in Southland play. In 2015, the Islanders made their fourth consecutive appearance and fifth overall trip to the Southland Tournament. For the second-straight year, the Islanders advanced to the semifinals while finishing with a 19-16 record, including an 11-5 record in conference play.

The squad set a school record in 2012 with a 21-11 mark. The Islanders won 12 Southland matches and finished third in the conference, both first-time accomplishments for Texas A&M-Corpus Christi. Since Graystone took over the program, the Islanders have improved their national RPI by 235 spots, making them the most improved NCAA Division I team in the country over that time.

Prior to coming to the Island, Graystone spent 10 seasons as the head coach at West Texas A&M in Canyon, where he posted a 315-61 record and became the all-time winningest coach in program history. His .837 winning percentage was the third-highest among active NCAA Division II head coaches and he reached 300 victories faster than any other coach in the division's history. He reached 100 wins in 106 matches making him the quickest coach at the time in any NCAA sport or division to reach the century mark in wins. He was named the Lone Star Conference Coach of the Year five times and the AVCA Southwest Region Coach of the Year on four occasions.

At West Texas A&M, he guided the Lady Buffs to five NCAA Regional appearances and eight Lone Star Conference crowns in 10 seasons. He mentored 16 All-Americans and one Division II National Player of the Year in 1999. His 2001 team was ranked No. 1 for seven weeks, while his 2002 team held the top spot for five weeks. In 2003, his team set an NCAA standard with 77 conference wins in a row.

Before becoming the head coach, Graystone was an assistant coach for the Lady Buffs and was part of a coaching staff that won the NCAA Division II Championship in 1997. He also served as the program director for the Amarillo Junior Olympic Volleyball Club. He began his career as a head coach at Waggoner and Ballard High Schools in Louisville, Kentucky.

Graystone earned an M.S. in exercise physiology from the University of Louisville in 1996 after graduating with a B.S. in Health Sciences with an emphasis in exercise science from Grand Valley State (Mich.) in 1992.

He and his wife Lauren, a native of Whitharral, Texas, have two sons, Drew and Dylan.
