ERAS OF VOLLEYBALL

1895: W. G. Morgan (1870-1942) created the game of volleyball in Holyoke, Massachusetts for the YMCA.

1900: A special ball was designed for the sport.

1916: In the Philippines, an offensive style of passing the ball in a high trajectory to be struck by another player (the set and spike) were introduced.

1917: The game was changed from 21 to 15 points and teams must win each game by 2 points.

1920s: There are unconfirmed whispers of men's teams playing on the beach in Hawai'i, but most accounts place the sport's origin in Santa Monica, California where the first volleyball courts are put up on the beach at the playground. Families play 6 against 6.

1920: Three hits per side and back row attack rules were instituted.

1928: It became clear that tournaments and rules were needed, the United States Volleyball Association (USVBA, now USA Volleyball) was formed. The first U.S. Open was staged, as the field was open to non-YMCA squads.

1934: The approval and recognition of national volleyball referees.

1964: Volleyball was introduced to the Olympic games in Tokyo.

1975: Texas Tech's Women's Athletic Department begins to sponsor volleyball as a member of AIAW.

1975: The U.S. national women's team began a year-round training program in Pasadena, Texas (moved to Colorado Springs in 1979, Coto de Caza and Fountain Valley, Calif. in 1980, and San Diego in 1985).

1981: The NCAA begins sponsoring women's volleyball (among other sports), but Tech (and others) join in 1982.

1984: The U.S. won their first medals at the Olympics in Los Angeles. The men won the gold, and the women earned the silver.

1985: In NCAA play, all matches are determined by a best-of-five with side-out scoring to 15 in the first four games and rally-scoring in the final game as the format. Prior to this date, games were decided in two-out-of-three, three-out-of-five (most tournament championships) or occasionally after one game was won. This ultimately failed because fans never knew when they should go home, so someone ambitiously decided to formalize the length of an official NCAA volleyball match.

1986: The Women's Professional Volleyball Association (WPVA) was formed.

1996: Two-person beach volleyball debuted as an Olympic Sport.

1998: For the first time in the FIVB World tour, men and women players are rewarded at the same level with $170,000 in total prize money per open event.

2001: In NCAA play, rally scoring replaces the side-out scoring system and matches are determined by a best-of-five, 30-point game format for the first 4, 15 for the final.

2002: In NCAA play, the libero position is sanctioned, thereby making a paid for college education as a volleyball player truly viable for non-setters who stand less than 5'-6" tall and who don't mind wearing a different uniform than the rest of their teammates. Substitutions for the defensive specialist position are unlimited, but she cannot serve except in really rare situations which are not terribly important to explain because...

2004: In NCAA play, the libero may now serve when that spot in the rotation on the floor is reached.

2008: In NCAA play, games are no longer referred to as games, being replaced by the much shorter word, sets, and sets 1-4 are now determined at 25 points.

Throughout time, there have been as many as 18 substitutions allowed per match and as few as 12, which is the number allowed each match currently.
