BY THE NUMBERS

Scoring is the key to winning, of course. The Red Raiders have yet to be beaten in a matchup where the squad scored at least one goal (5-0-3).

The Red Raiders enter Thursday night riding a 10-match unbeaten streak (9-0-1) and having won 13 of the last 15 matchups against Iowa State (13-1-1)

36

Texas Tech has taken 36 more shots than its opponents. On average, Tech is holding opponents to 8.2 shots per contest while firing off 10.9 shots.

QUICK KICKS

- Madison White enters the weekend ranked fifth in Tech's career goals against record (0.92), third in career shutouts (22) and sixth in career saves (178).
- The Red Raiders boast a young roster with the addition of 10 freshmen. Freshman Kylie Bahr is the only freshmen to have started every games so far this season while freshman Peyton Parsons has also seen a significant amount of starts in the midfield.
- This season's captains are super senior Charlotte Teeter and fourth-year senior Hannah Anderson. Teeter opened up her last season as a Red Raider with a goal in the opener against Troy while Hannah Anderson netted her first goal of the season at North Texas.
- After a rocky start to the season and early injuries, the Red Raiders have hit their stride and are unbeaten in six of their last seven matchups.
- Last season, Texas Tech was led by primary goal scorer Kirsten Davis. With the loss of Davis, the Red Raiders have become a score by committee style offense with eight different goal scorers on the season thus far.
- Keeper Madison White ranks first in the league in goalie minutes played (1170:00), third in goals-against average (.769) and second in shutouts (5).
- The Texas Tech defenders have gotten in on the scoring action this season. Tech freshman Molly Skurcenski recorded her first collegiate goal against West Virginia on the first shot attempt of her career. Defender Elise Anderson then netted her first career against Oklahoma State last week.
- As team's begin to shorten their substitution list heading into conference play, Tech still relies on its bench depth. The Red Raiders have played 16 or more players in each conference matchups.

RED RAIDERS IN THE NWSL COLLEGE DRAFT

Since the inception of the National Women's Soccer League in 2012, Texas Tech has been represented at the NWSL College Draft five times. Jaelene Daniels stands as the highest-selected Red Raider in draft history, while 2016 marked the first time Tom Stone heard two of his players' names called on draft day.

A PROGRAM OF CONSISTENCY

A perennial bottom-dweller in the early 2000s, Texas Tech has evolved over the last 13 years into one of the top programs in both the Big 12 Conference and the national landscape of college soccer. Under the direction of head coach Tom Stone, Texas Tech has become a program of consistency - not just in winning and NCAA Tournament appearances, but in the production of players ready for the professional game upon the completion of their collegiate careers.

Currently, there are 11 Red Raider alumni playing professionally, the most of any Big 12 institution. These 11, spread across the globe, have all come in the past decade under the coaching of Stone and his staff. Two of Tech's classes have produced three pro players each: the 2018 and 2015 classes, the latter of which led the Red Raiders to the first Big 12 Championship in program history.

JOHN WALKER SOCCER COMPLEX

Finished in 2008, the John Walker Soccer Complex features a 1,500-seat grandstand designed to keep fans close to the action and includes a soccer house outfitted with team locker rooms, athletic training facilities, coaches' offices, coaches' lounge, the Red Raider lounge (a public lounge), a team lounge equipped with a state-of-the-art video system for film study, a team weight room and an Under Armour equipment room. Players enjoy a "boot room" located immediately inside the facility as a place dedicated to their footwear.

The $5 million facility is the only soccer pitch in the Big 12 Conference equipped with FieldTurf, a mix of synthetic blades of grass supported by an infill of sand and rubber. FieldTurf was the first synthetic turf system to receive FIFA recommended status according to the manufacturer's website. The state-of-the-art playing field surface is currently used at 50 NCAA facilities and 21 NFL stadiums nationwide. Ample outdoor warm up areas are ensured by virtue of a separate practice pitch south of the main complex.

Construction of the soccer complex began in 2006 with the soccer pitch installed in time for the 2008 season and the rest of the facility completed in time for the 2009 campaign. The John Walker Soccer Complex was designed by Parkhill Smith and Cooper, and features an iron entry gate emblazoned with the Double T. The gate, designed by Lars Stanley Metalworks of Austin is part of the university's award-winning public art collection. Lee Lewis Construction served as the contractor for the project.

John Walker is CEO and president of EnerVest Management Partners in Houston. He graduated from Texas Tech University in 1968 with a bachelor of business administration degree in finance.

The John Walker Soccer Complex was completed in September 2009 and was dedicated on Oct. 2, 2009, after he, his wife, Lisa, and their family contributed $2.25 million toward the project, earning the naming rights.

Also on the property is the Gerald Myers Indoor Soccer Facility, a 37,800 square foot soccer-specific, climate-controlled training facility which sits directly south of the playing field at the John Walker Soccer Complex. The facility has coaches offices as well as player meeting rooms.

TRANSFORMING A PROGRAM

On May 25, 2007, Tom Stone was named the fourth head coach in Texas Tech soccer history. Prior to his arrival at Texas Tech, the team had a record of 6-63-1 in Big 12 play and had gone 0-10-0 in conference four of the previous six seasons. In Stone's first year and half as coach, the team quickly matched that win total, going 6-5-1 in conference play. In 2010 - Stone's fourth year with the team - the Red Raiders went 11-8-1, marking the program's third-ever winning record and first in 15 seasons. Two years later, the Red Raiders made the NCAA Tournament for the first time in program history and beat North Texas, 2-0, in the program's debut in postseason play. They would lose to Florida State, 2-3, in double overtime in the second round.

In 2013, the Red Raiders made another appearance in the second round after recording a program-record 18 wins. In 2014, Stone's squad won 16 games and climbed as high as sixth in the national coaches' polls before advancing to the program's first-ever Sweet Sixteen. For the breakout campaign, he was named the NSCAA Central Region Coach of the Year. In 2015, the Red Raiders won their first-ever Big 12 Championship, defeating Kansas, 1-0. The year also saw Stone pick up his 100th win at the helm of the Red Raider program when the team beat South Florida, 2-1.

The Red Raiders went .500 the following two seasons - and missed the tournament altogether in 2017 - but came back to go 14-5-3 in 2018, beating a program-record four ranked opponents and leading the nation in shutouts with 14 in the process. In 2019, the squad nearly captured its first Big 12 regular season crown ever, coming just two points from the title while going 6-1-2 in conference.

PRIOR TO TECH

Stone's first coaching job was as a part-time assistant at the University of Denver in 1996 and as a volunteer assistant at Duke in 1997. Then, from 1997-2000, Stone coached girls' soccer for the Colorado Rush youth soccer club. Under his leadership, the team won 35 state cups, 12 regional championships and eight national championships. He left the Rush to coach professionally in the Women's United Soccer Association. He led the Atlanta Beat to the league's inaugural championship game, losing in overtime on penalty kicks to the Bay Area CyberRays. He also provided soccer commentary for Fox Sports, ESPN and CBS College Sports Network.

Stone returned to college coaching in 2006 when he was hired as an assistant for the Clemson Tigers. He spent one year there, helping the Tigers to an 11-8-4 record and an appearance in the Elite Eight of the NCAA Tournament.

A STORIED CAREER

After being named an All-American in high school, Stone played for Duke from 1984-1987. He was a three-time First Team All-ACC selection, picking up the honors his freshman, junior and senior seasons. Stone's breakout year came in 1986 as a junior when he tallied 16 goals - the second-most in a season in program history. He also assisted on four goals to bring his points total to 36, the ninth-most in program history.

It was this season he made history, where just a minute into the second half of the NCAA Championship game Stone went bar-down after receiving a pass from teammate Joey Valenti. The goal stood as the only one scored that day, giving the Blue Devils the 1-0 win over the Akron Zips and the school's first national championship in any sport. For the accomplishment, Stone and his 1986 team were inducted into the North Carolina Soccer Hall of Fame in January 2019.

Gibbs Keeton started with the Tech soccer program as a volunteer and has since become instrumental to building a stingy Red Raider defense that has led the Big 12 in goals allowed for two consecutive seasons.

2019 saw a historic year for his defense and goalkeepers. Tech allowed just five goals to Big 12 opponents, while breakout freshman Madison White posted six clean sheets. In 2018, his goalkeepers allowed just 0.53 goals per game the entire season, ranking second in program history and again leading the conference.

Some of the best in program history, his keepers find their names littered throughout the Tech record books: Victoria Esson, Lauren Watson, Marissa Zucchetto, and now, current starter Madison White, who was the conference's Freshman of the Year and a First Team All-Midwest selection last season. Both Esson and Watson graduated Tech and have since found themselves playing professionally.

Keeton, who holds a United States Soccer Federation 'B' license, earned his undergraduate degree in health, exercise and sports science from Texas Tech before receiving his master's degree in exercise physiology – also from Texas Tech. While a volunteer assistant, he was a professor in Texas Tech's Department of Health, Exercise and Sports Sciences.

Keeton lives in Lubbock with his wife, Sydney, and children, Sophie Jae and Cruz.
