HEAD COACH - 22ND SEASON

Towson, '79

Career Record: 525-543-7

Mike Gottlieb

Coming off one of his most enjoyable seasons as the head coach at Towson University, Mike Gottlieb is entering his 22nd season as the Tigers' coach.

When the Tigers defeated Mount St. Mary's on March 12, 2008, he earned the 500th victory of his coaching career. When he reached the milestone, he became the first Towson coach in any sport to win 500 games.

After 21 seasons, he has a record of 525-543-7, an average of 25 victories per season. To put that number in perspective, before Gottlieb became the Tigers' coach, the school record for wins in a season was 26 victories.

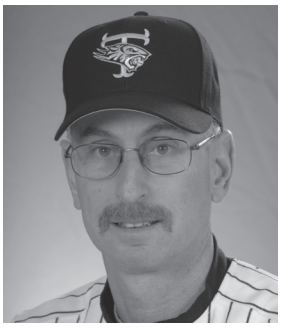

In 2008, the Tigers overcame a 5-12 start to earn a berth in the Colonial Athletic Association Tournament. At the CAA Tournament, the Tigers caught fire and finished as CAA runners-up.

A 1979 graduate of Towson, he spent two seasons as a player on the Tigers' roster. After graduating, he was an assistant coach to Coach Bill Hunter for seven years.

Since becoming the Tigers' head coach in 1988, he has led the program's rise to prominence in the Middle Atlantic region.

Under his guidance, the Tigers have been very competitive in four different conferences over the last 20 years. From 1988 to 1992, he led the Tigers to a pair of East Coast Conference championships. After three seasons in the Big South Conference, Towson joined the America East Conference in 1996.

During six seasons in America East, Gottlieb coached the Tigers to four conference tournament appearances. In 1999, the Tigers won the America East regular season title. Towson was America East runner-up in 1999 and 2001.

In 2002, the Tigers joined the very competitive Colonial Athletic Association. In their fourth CAA season, the Tigers reached the CAA championship game where they lost to Virginia Commonwealth.

In 21 seasons, the Tigers have averaged 25 victories per year and posted 11 winning records. There have been two trips to the NCAA Tournament, three conference titles and six appearances in league championship games.

In addition, 12 Tigers have been drafted by major league teams, including Brian Conley who was chosen by the Baltimore Orioles in the 17th round of the 2008 draft.

In 2003, he reached another career milestone, earning his 400th coaching win when the Tigers beat Drexel, 11-2.

The winningest coach in Towson University baseball history, he runs a program where the players win games and excel in the classroom. The Tigers have had five players named to the College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-America team since 1996.

Last year, senior pitcher Jon Dupski was honored as a third team Academic All-America pick, marking the second straight season that Towson had a player named third team Academic All-America. Catcher Ryan Schreiter was honored as third team choice in 2007, joining previous honorees James Vallillo, Jason Rummel and Gregg Davies.

The last ten seasons have been the winningest stretch in school history. Since 1999, Towson has won 274 games, including a school record 37 victories in 2001.

The 2005 season was one of his most memorable. With an explosive lineup that led NCAA Division I with 105 home runs, the Tigers finished as Colonial Athletic Association runners-up. En route to a 34-24 final record, Towson won 17 of its final 24 games and finished fifth in the CAA with a 13-11 record. In the CAA Tournament at Wilmington, N.C., the Tigers lost their tournament opener to Virginia Commonwealth, 6-5. However, the Tigers bounced back to stun top-seeded UNC Wilmington, 6-1. Then, they reached the CAA finals with a 5-0 victory over Delaware. In the finals, the Tigers lost to VCU again, 13-6.

The 2005 season was an amazing turnaround for the Tigers, who doubled their victory total from the previous year. Towson improved from a 17-35 record in 2004 to a 34-24 mark in 2005.

In 2003, the Tigers were second-year memners of the CAA. Towson responded by posting a 28-25 overall record, its fourth winning season in five years. The Tigers also finished fifth in the CAA with an 11-9 record and qualified for the CAA Tournament.

In 2002, Towson played its first year in the CAA. The Tigers went 9-12 in CAA games, just missing a berth in the league tournament.

In 2001, the Tigers concluded a very successful run in America East. In their final season in the league, the Tigers set a school record with 37 wins. After finishing third in the league's regular season standings, the Tigers finished as America East runners-up for the second time.

COACHING STAFF

In six seasons of America East competition, Gottlieb led the Tigers to four playoff berths and one regular season championship.
In 1999, Towson won the league's regular season title, marking the only time Delaware didn't win the title in a sevcn-year stretch. The Tigers, who were America East runners-up in 1999 and 2001, had a 56-29 league record over their final three years in the league.

The 1999 America East Coach of the Year, he earned the 300th victory of his career when Towson beat Vermont, 2-1, on April 16, 2000.

The Tigers, who are starting their eighth season as members of the Colonial Athletic Association, have also had some impressive success against non-conference teams during the last few years.

During the 2000 season, the Tigers posted one of the most prestigious wins in the history of the program. On March 21, Towson beat North Carolina by 9-8 when the Tar Heels were the sixth-ranked team in NCAA Division I. The win also ended Carolina's 52-game home winning streak against non-Atlantic Coast Conference teams.

In 2003, the Tigers posted another win over a nationally-ranked team when they beat 17th-ranked Richmond, 19-10. Last season, the Tigers pulled out an 8-7 victory over 14th-ranked Virginia.

Four years ago, Casper Wells and Shane Justis were drafted by Detroit and Los Angeles respectively. Wells, the 2005 CAA Player of the Year, was a 14th-round draft choice by the Tigers while Justis, an All-CAA shortstop, was selected by the Dodgers in the 21st round.

Both Wells and Justis are continuing to develop. Wells had a breakout season in the minor leagues last year and went to Spring Training as part of the Tigers' 40-man roster. Justis was selected by the Milwaukee Brewers in the Rule V draft and he will spend this season playing at the AAA level.

Last June, Brian Conley became the most recent Tiger baseball player to be drafted when the Baltimore Orioles selected him in the 17th round.

In 1988, Chris Nabholz was the first Gottlieb-coached player to be drafted. He was a second round draft pick by the Montreal Expos. Nabholz went on to pitch in the major leagues for five years.

In six seasons as members of America East, four different Tigers were named as the America East Scholar-Athlete for baseball. Davies won the award in 2001, joining Jason Sandner (2000), Rummel (1999) and Valillo (1996) as Towson players who earned the honor.

A member of America East from 1996 to 2001, the Tigers nearly won two championships. In 1999, the top-seeded Tigers won the regular season title with a 20-7 record. They advanced to the championship round with a 6-1 win over Maine and a 4-1 victory over Delaware. However, the Blue Hens came back to win twice on the final day of the tournament, earning their second straight America East championship. In 2000, the Tigers finished second in the league and lost their first two games in the tournament.

In 2001, the Tigers battled Delaware and Maine all season for the regular season title. Towson entered the conference tournament as the third seed with a 17-11 record. In the opening game, the Tigers pounded out a school and tournament record 28 base hits in a 20-4 first round win over Maine.

After dropping a 4-1 decision to Delaware in the second round, the Tigers earned a berth in the championship round by beating Northeastern, 7-6. Delaware won the title with a 7-0 win in the final game. It was the only time all season that the Tigers were shut out.

In 1988, Coach Gottlieb enjoyed a very memorable debut season. The first-year coach led Towson to the best season in school history, as the Tigers posted a 31-17-1 record. They went 12-2 in the East Coast Conference, finishing first in the league standings. Towson swept through the 1988 ECC Tournament, beating Hofstra and Delaware twice, to win its first ECC championship. Coach Gottlieb was honored as the ECC Coach of the Year and later earned NCAA Regional Coach of the Year honors.

Making their first NCAA regional appearance, the Tigers did well. After a loss to College World Series-bound Miami, they beat Virginia Commonwealth and finished fourth in the NCAA regional at Miami.

In 1989, Towson took second in the ECC as Rider won the title. In 1991, Towson won its second ECC championship and posted a 28-23-1 record. The Tigers swept three games in the ECC tournament as the number three seed to earn their second NCAA appearance.

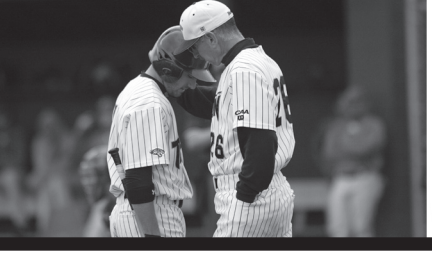

For the second time, Towson finished fourth in an NCAA regional. In the Northeast regional at Maine, Towson lost to Mississippi State and bounced back to beat Princeton. The Tigers' 5-0 win over Princeton was the 100th of Coach Gottlieb's coaching career.

A first baseman for the Tiger baseball team for two years, Gottlieb graduated from Towson in 1979. A native of Lynbrook, N.Y., he spent two years at Nassau Community College on Long Island prior to attending Towson. After graduating from Towson, he remained in the Baltimore area.

From 1980 to 1987, he served as an assistant coach for the Tigers under Coach Bill Hunter. In 1988, Hunter retired from coaching to concentrate on his duties as athletic director. He immediately named Coach Gottlieb as his successor. The Towson coach has led the Tigers to a pair of NCAA Tournament appearances as well as two conference championships.

In November of 2002, Coach Gottlieb was honored as the College Coach of the Year by the Middle Atlantic Regional Scouting Bureau.

Schuerholz Park

The 2009 Towson University baseball team is playing its seventh full season in John B. Schuerholz Park.

On April 29, 2001, the project became a reality when Schuerholz Park was dedicated before the Tigers played a doubleheader against Northeastern University.

The project, which involved a major renovation and expansion to the existing baseball facility, was completed in mid-April. Included in the project are permanent seating, a press box, a concessions area and rest room facilities.

A large crowd, which included many Tiger baseball alumni, was on hand for the dedication ceremonies. More than 125 college baseball fans, including 50 former Tiger players, contributed toward the completion of the project.

One of the unique features of Schuerholz Park is the distinctive brick work that is a mixture of beige and reddish brown brick.

Schuerholz Park is named in honor of John B. Schuerholz, a 1962 Towson graduate and former baseball player. Recently retired as the executive vice-president and general manager of the Atlanta Braves, he was the driving force behind the project. A Baltimore native and a member of the Towson Athletic Hall of Fame, he was a three-sport standout for the Tigers. He earned all-conference honors in baseball and soccer at Towson.

John Schuerholz is presented with a Towson baseball uniform with his number by Tiger captains Gregg Davies and Bryan Rogers along with Coach Mike Gottlieb.

He provided the lead gift for the Schuerholz Park project and served as the chairman of the fund-raising drive. Schuerholz Park is named in honor of Mr. Schuerholz and his father.

Honored as Towson's Alumnus of the Year in 1986, he was the general manager of the Kansas City Royals from 1981 to 1991 and led the Royals to the world championship in 1985. He joined the Braves organization in 1991 and led the Braves to the 1995 World Series title. In his 16 years as the Braves' general manager, Atlanta won a record 14 straight divisional titles as well as five National League pennants and one World Series.

Soon after graduating from Towson, Schuerholz began a career in professional baseball. After teaching at a middle school for three years, he joined the Baltimore Orioles as an assistant in 1966. In 1968, he joined a new expansion team, the Kansas City Royals. He joined the Royals for the 1969 season, their first season in baseball.

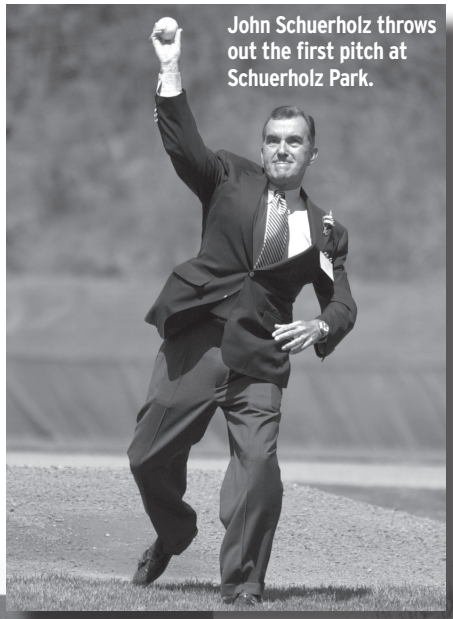

In 1970, he was named as the Royals' Assistant Farm Director and he was promoted to Farm Director in 1975. He became the Royals' Director of Player Procurement and Development in 1976 and was promoted to Vice-President for Player Personnel in 1979. In 1981, the Royals named him Executive Vice-President and General Manager, a position he held for ten years.

During his tenure in Kansas City, the Royals won their only World Series title, two American League pennants and six divisional championships.

In 1991, he joined the Atlanta Braves and directed the Braves' 12-year run of unprecedented success. Since 1991, the Braves have the best record in the major leagues and they won a major league-record 11 straight divisional titles and five National League pennants. The Braves won the 1995 World Series, beating Cleveland in six games.

He was honored as the Major League's Executive of the Year in 1985, an award he also earned with the Braves in 1991. He is the first baseball executive to be the general manager of world championship teams in both the American League and the National League.

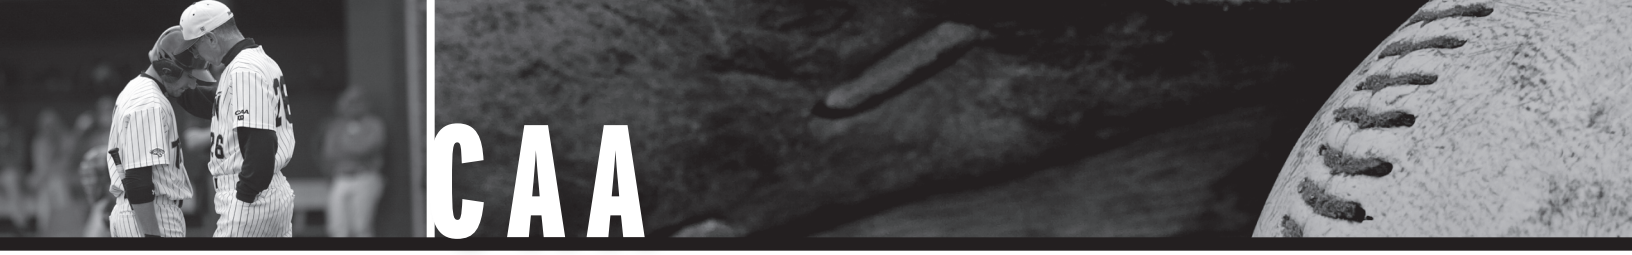

Schuerholz and his wife, Karen, reside in the Atlanta area. They are the parents of a son and a daughter.

Colonial Athletic Association

With more than two decades of success athletically and academically, the Colonial Athletic Association has established a reputation as one of the nation's top collegiate conferences.

The CAA encompasses five of the nation's nine largest metropolitan areas with a geographic footprint that stretches from Boston to Atlanta. The conference has produced 16 national team champions in five different sports, 33 individual national champions, 12 national players of the year, 11 national coaches of the year and 12 Honda Award winners. Even more impressive, however, are the honors accumulated away from competition, which include five Rhodes Scholars and 20 NCAA post-graduate scholars. In 2007-08, the CAA had five ESPN the Magazine Academic All-Americans and more than 1,700 of our 4,000 student-athletes received the Commissioner's Academic Award after posting at least a 3.2 grade point average while lettering in a varsity sport.

The landscape of the conference stretches along the majority of the East Coast, and includes six of the nation's top 25 media markets – New York (1), Philadelphia (4), Boston (7), Washington, D.C. (8), Atlanta (9) and Baltimore (24). The number of television homes in the CAA market exceeds 19.7 million.

The CAA currently sponsors 22 sports with the addition of a 12-team football league in 2007. Male athletes compete for championships in baseball, basketball, cross country, football, golf, lacrosse, soccer, swimming & diving, tennis, track & field and wrestling. Female athletes battle for conference titles in basketball, cross country, field hockey, golf, lacrosse, soccer, softball, swimming & diving, tennis, track & field and volleyball. In 2007-08, 26 teams earned NCAA Tournament berths and 46 student-athletes received All-America honors.

The conference has made its presence known nationally in men's basketball with at least three teams advancing to post-season play for the past five years. Last season, conference champion George Mason earned its third NCAA Tournament trip since 2001, VCU received its fourth post-season berth in five seasons with a spot in the NIT and Old Dominion reached the quarterfinals of the inaugural CBI for its fourth consecutive postseason appearance. In 2006, George Mason became the first mid-major program since 1979 to reach the Final Four, knocking off powerhouses Michigan State, North Carolina, Wichita State and Connecticut along the way. The Patriots were ranked No. 8 in the final ESPN/USA Today Top 25 poll, which was the highest ever for a CAA team.

The CAA has also had at least three women's basketball teams participate in post-season play for the past three years. Perennial power Old Dominion, which has won three national championships (1979, 1980, 1985) and was national runner-up in 1997, captured its 17th consecutive CAA title last season and reached the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 2002. James Madison made its third consecutive post-season appearance and advanced to the third round of the WNIT, while VCU advanced to the second round of the WNIT in just its second post-season trip in school history.

The conference also excels in many other sports. CAA squads have combined to win 10 field hockey national titles since the championship began in 1981. Delaware and Towson have each reached the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Lacrosse Championship. For the first time, three women's soccer teams reached the second round of the NCAA Tournament in 2007 and at least one men's soccer team has advanced to the final 16 of the NCAA Championship in five of the last six years. Hofstra finished 15th overall at the NCAA Wrestling Championship and William & Mary placed 15th nationally in men's cross country. In baseball, the CAA had 23 players chosen in the 2008 Major League draft, which was the second-highest total in league history. Hofstra won its NCAA-record 11th-straight conference title in softball and reached the NCAA regional finals. Individually, the W&M women's tennis duo of Megan Moulton-Levy and Katarina Zoricic reached the quarterfinals of the NCAA Doubles Championship in 2008 to earn All-America status for the second straight season, and Georgia State golfer Joel Sjoholm placed 13th overall at the NCAA Men's Golf Championship.

CAA member institutions are committed to excellence in the classroom. The Colonial Academic Alliance was created in 2002 by the league's presidents with a goal of expanding their partnership to all aspects of university life outside of intercollegiate athletics. Among the programs already established are an undergraduate research conference, coordination of study abroad programs and granting visiting academic status to student-athletes traveling to an away contest so that they have access to libraries, academic resource centers and computer labs.

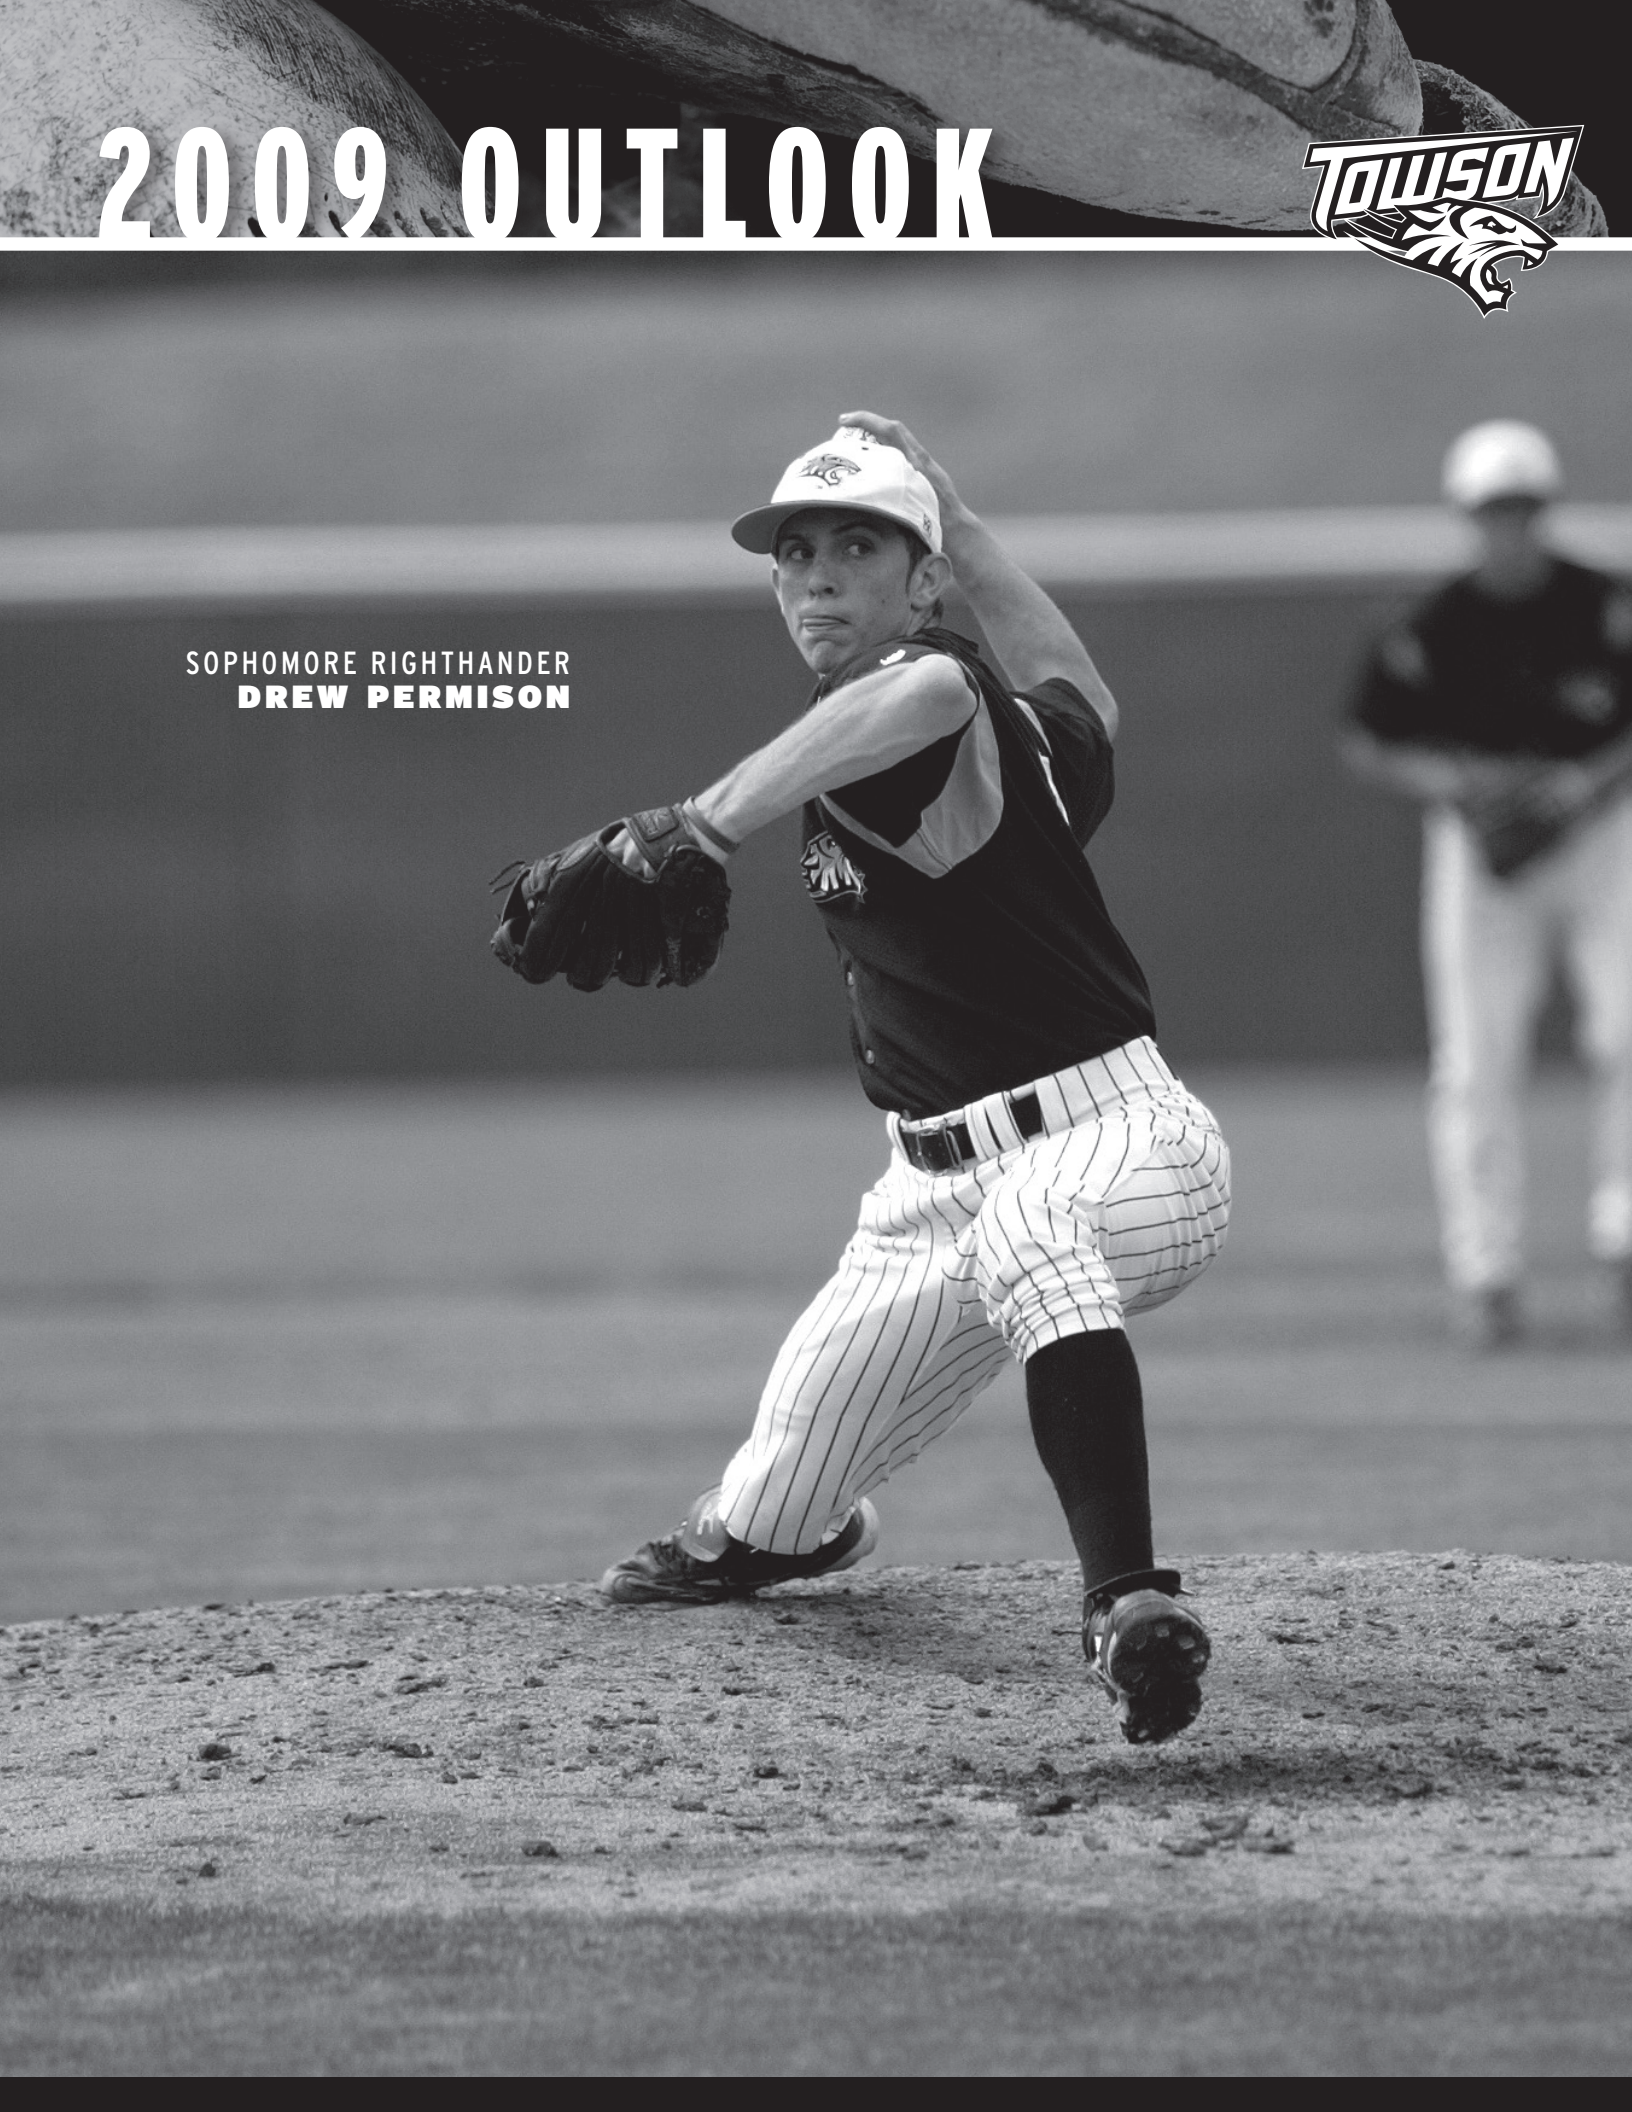

In 2002, two faculty members from CAA institutions were awarded academia's most coveted distinction – the Nobel Prize. John B. Fenn, a research professor in the Department of Chemistry at Virginia Commonwealth University, received the Nobel Prize for chemistry, and Vernon Smith, a professor of economics and law at George Mason University, shared the Nobel Prize in economic sciences.

Commissioner Thomas E. Yeager has guided the CAA since its inception. The conference traces its roots back to 1983 when three of its current members- George Mason University, James Madison University, and the College of William and Mary - were aligned with East Carolina University, the United States Naval Academy and the University of Richmond as a basketball league (ECAC South). During the next two years, the league added 11 sports, acquired two new members (the University of North Carolina at Wilmington and American University) and decided to form a new association. The transformation from ECAC South to CAA took place on June 6, 1985.

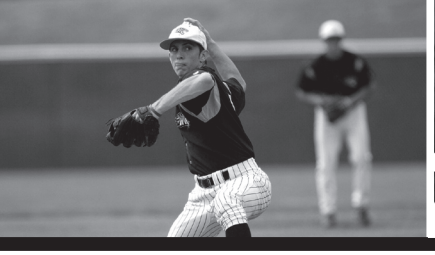

Charter members George Mason, James Madison, UNC Wilmington and William and Mary were joined by Old Dominion University in 1991 and by Virginia Commonwealth University in 1995. The conference added the University of Delaware, Drexel University, Hofstra University and Towson University in 2001. Georgia State University and Northeastern University became members of the conference on July 1, 2005.

From all-star athletes to Nobel Prize winning faculty, the CAA takes great pride in producing performers who stand out both on the playing field and in the classroom.

Talented Tigers Aiming To Climb in CAA

As he enters his 22nd season as the Tigers' coach, Mike Gottlieb believes that the 2009 Tigers could be one of the best teams he's ever coached.

Last season, the Tigers came on strong at the end of the season and qualified for the Colonial Athletic Association Tournament on the final day of the season. Towson entered the final two games of the regular season needing back-to-back wins over Georgia State to make the CAA Tournament. After a 4-3 win and a 7-2 victory, the Tigers had a 14-16 CAA record and were seeded sixth in the CAA Tournament.

In the CAA Tournament, the Tigers posted back-to-back wins over Old Dominion and William & Mary to reach the championship round where they dropped a 6-1 decision to James Madison.

With 22 letter winners returning from the team that had a 30-28 record, the Tigers have high hopes of posting another memorable season.

"We are entering the season with more established positions than any other season I can remember," says Gottlieb, who earned his 500th career victory last March. "We know who our starting catcher will be and we know who our starting infielders will be," he adds. "We're also sure who will be playing rightfield and centerfield."

Included among those seven returning position players are a second team All-CAA selection, two third team All-CAA picks and a CAA All-Rookie choice.

"Although there are no guarantees, every one of our returning players is a proven college hitter," says Gottlieb. "We know that all of them have done it in the past so we are hoping they will continue to put up those same numbers."

Gottlieb feels that the infield could be the strong point of the team.

"There isn't too much guesswork involved with our infield," he says. "We've got four guys who can catch the ball and they can also hit. Plus, all of them have experience."

Junior shortstop Nick Natoli, a two-year starter, anchors the Tigers' infield. An outstanding defensive player, he was named as the CAA Defensive Player of the Year as a sophomore when he made only 12 errors in 257 fielding chances.

While Gottlieb was pleased by Natoli's defense, he admits he was surprised by how much offensive improvement Natoli made as a sophomore.

"We were completely thrilled at how much better he hit last season," admits Gottlieb. "As a freshman, he was almost an offensive liability. But last year, he was one of our best hitters. Plus, he had a great on-base percentage and he's an excellent base runner. In fact, he was our leadoff hitter for most of the season."

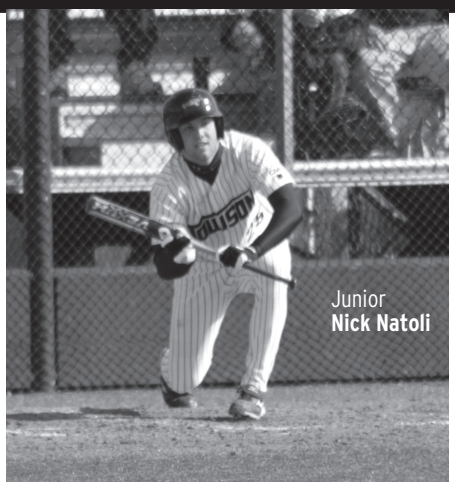

As a sophomore, Natoli batted .349, raising his batting average 129 points over his freshman season. The Tigers' second-leading hitter, he was named second team All-CAA. While leading the team with 54 runs scored, he hit 13 doubles, one triple, three home runs and had 37 runs batted in. The team leader with a .452 on-base percentage, he was second in the CAA with 17 stolen bases in 19 attempts.

"Nick has to be one of the best shortstops in the East," says Gottlieb. "He's been outstanding the last two years and has made a number of tremendous plays. Nick has a great arm and very quick feet. That helps him make some plays that other shortstops can't make."

For the third year, Natoli will be teamed with Gary Helmick as the Tigers' double play combination. The sure-handed Helmick will be a fourth-year starter in the infield. He will be the starting second baseman for the third year. Last year, Helmick had a .960 fielding percentage with 11 errors in 278 fielding chances. Led by Natoli and Helmick, the Tigers turned 55 double plays in 58 games last season.

Helmick was also an improved hitter last season. He batted .279 with eight doubles, eight home runs and 27 RBI's. In the CAA Tournament, he was the Tigers' leading hitter with a .417 batting average. He also had a double, two homers, three RBI's and scored eight runs in four games. Helmick finished the season with a nine-game hitting streak,

"Gary was one of our best hitters over the last weeks of the season," says Gottlieb. "He got some big hits for us and continued hitting in the Cal Ripken League in the summer. Gary made some adjustments and it's made him a more dangerous hitter. He has a chance to have a great senior year and he could be an All-CAA player."

Junior

Senior Matt Collins, a third team All-CAA selection at designated hitter, will be the Tigers' first baseman this season. Last year, he batted .319 with a team high 20 doubles, one triple and seven home runs. He was also second on the team with 50 RBI's.

"Matt really had a great year offensively," says Gottlieb. "He has tremendous power to the gaps and he could hit better than .350. Last season, he split time at first base with Greg Furmanek (who graduated). But, he should be the regular first baseman this season."

Junior Steve Yarsinsky, a .330 hitter last year, is the returning starter at third base. The Tigers' fifth-leading hitter, he had eight doubles, three home runs and 25 runs batted in.

"Yaz is a very steady player who always seems to put the ball in play," says Gottlieb. "One of the things that makes him such a good hitter is that he uses the whole field. Defensively, Yaz catches everything that gets hit near him and he has a very accurate arm."

Sophomore Chris Wychock, who batted .314 as a freshman, will be the Tigers' top infield reserve. He appeared in 33 games last season and hit five home runs with 21 runs batted in.

"Chris has as much talent as anyone on the team," says Gottlieb. "He's a man with many positions. We won't call him a utility player because he is going to be in the lineup every day. He may be the designated hitter or could be in the outfield. We could use him in the infield to give someone a rest. He will play every day. We just don't know where."

While the Tigers' infield is set, they are also set behind the plate with senior catcher Jason Stifler. Stifler emerged as one of the top catchers in the CAA last year, earning third team All-CAA honors.

He was the Tigers' third-leading hitter with a .335 batting average in 2008. He was also third on the team with 10 homers and 40 RBI's. He also tied the Towson single game record by hitting three homers in one game. Stifler also had a terrific season defensively with a .993 fielding percentage. He made only two errors in 291 fielding chances.

"Jason is a talented player who had a great year in 2008," said Gottlieb. "Defensively, he is as good as we've had. Offensively, he can have an even better season. If he can cut down on his strikeouts and use the entire field, he could have a tremendous season for us."

Stifler will be backed up by Brian Wyman, a "red shirt" freshman who sat out last year. Gottlieb says, "Brian has a tremendous amount of talent and he is a very good defensive catcher. He has had some back troubles. But, if he's healthy, he could see some playing time."

Sophomore Eric Weller and junior Max Kelly give the Tigers further depth at catcher. Weller played in 18 games and batted .219 last season. Kelly saw action in six games last year.

"Eric is a good hitter and he could see some action at DH," says Gottlieb. "Max was a good defensive catcher for us last year and he did very well in the Fall."

Junior Kevin Collins, the younger brother of Matt Collins, returns as the Tigers' centerfielder. In 50 games last season, he batted .298 with 37 runs scored. He also had three doubles, two triples, four homers and 20 RBI's. Collins had a .386 on-base percentage and stole 13 bases in 16 attempts.

"Kevin has a chance to be one of the best hitters in the CAA," says Gottlieb. "He has surprising power and excellent speed. He did a great job in centerfield and he covers a lot of ground. He's got a pretty good arm and he's very capable of being an All-CAA outfielder. This could be a 'break-out' season for him."

Sophomore Austin Harclerode, a member of the CAA's All-Rookie team last year, will be the Tigers' rightfielder. He batted .306 last year with five doubles, eight home runs and 26 RBI's as a freshman.

"Austin's best tool is his bat," says Gottlieb. "He has tremendous strength and outstanding power. He also has decent speed and he's a pretty good baserunner. Austin could also see some playing time at first base."

In rightfield, he will be replacing Brian Conley, a second team All-CAA pick who was a 17th round draft pick of the Baltimore Orioles in the June draft. Conley led the Tigers in hitting as a senior with a .352 batting average. He also hit 12 home runs with 65 RBI's and was named to the all-tournament team at the CAA Tournament.

In his career, he ranked among Towson's all-time hitting leaders with a .319 batting average, 36 homers and 153 runs batted in.

A solid lefthanded hitter, Gabrielian hit .288 in reserve duty as a junior. However, he was very impressive in the Fall and could claim the starting spot. Says Gottlieb, "Aaron made some mechanical adjustments and had a great Fall for us. He could help us this season."

A line drive hitter with good power, Rice saw limited duty as a sophomore. He appeared in 21 games and batted .234. However, the Tiger coach has high expectations for Rice.

"Steve has a strong arm and some decent power," says Gottlieb. "He had a very good Fall and could see plenty of action for us."

An All-State performer at Centennial High School, Winter batted .400 as a senior. He earned first team All-Metro honors as a junior and senior. He could also pitch for the Tigers.

"Ben is a really good outfielder who is adjusting to college baseball," says Gottlieb. "He has a very bright future for us."

"This has the potential to be an outstanding offensive team," says Gottlieb. "We batted .315 as a team last year and scored 412 runs. With so many veterans returning, we could be even better this year."

While Gottlieb is comfortable with the Tigers' offense and defense, he understands that pitching could be the key to their season.

"We feel our pitching is better in a number of ways," says the Tigers' coach. "We have a lot of pitchers back and experience always has value. The only question marks we have are health issues. We have a number of pitchers that we can count on. Going into the season, our bullpen is more established than any year I can remember."

Senior righthander Josh Squatrito anchors the bullpen after a very impressive 2008 season. Although he didn't move to the bullpen until the mid-point of the season, Squatrito tied for the CAA lead with 10 saves. While converting 10 of 11 saves, he became a dominant closer and was the CAA Pitcher of the Week twice.

Squatrito appeared in 27 games, including 24 relief outings. He had a 2-5 record with a deceptive 7.32 E.R.A. His numbers are deceptive because he was much better out of the bullpen. In his final 22 games, all in relief, Squatrito was 2-3 with a 5.45 E.R.A. and 10 saves.

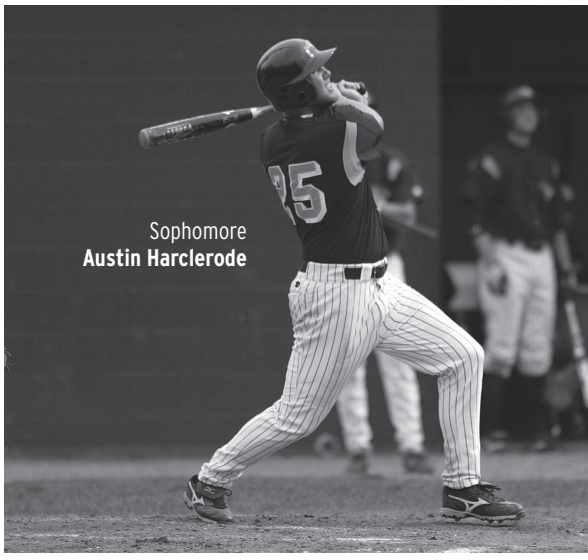

In 2008, Squatrito pitched 51.2 innings and issued 17 walks while striking out 66 batters.

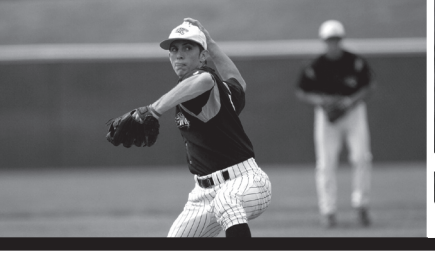

"Josh has had proven success as a closer," says Gottlieb. "He had a great summer pitching in the Valley League and his curveball has improved. There's no question that he had some dominating efforts for us last season and we're hoping for more of the same this season."

Gottlieb feels that the Tigers' bullpen will be one of the strengths of the team. The Tiger coach has high hopes that junior righthander Nate Curd and junior lefthander Wes Shifflett will make some significant contributions.

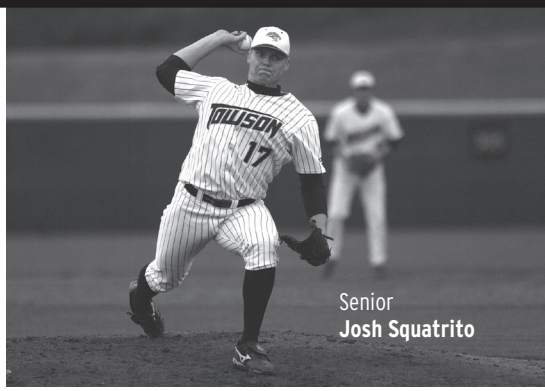

Curd, who missed most of last season with a shoulder injury, has been a starter and reliever during his career. In 2007, led the Tigers with 63 innings pitched while posting a 3-5 record and a 4.43 E.R.A. Due to his injury, he only pitched in seven games last year and was "red shirted."

"Nate is a solid pitcher with a good changeup and he throws strikes," says Gottlieb. "We think he is better-suited for relief work and he is someone who can really help us pitching out of the bullpen. Nate is convinced that this will be the best for him. We are a better team with him pitching in relief."

Senior
Josh Squatrito

According to Gottlieb, Shifflett has the talent to be a dominant pitcher on the collegiate level. However, there have been times he has struggled with his control. Last season, he posted a 3-1 record in 13 appearances but issued 29 walks in 29 innings of work. In his career, has a 6-4 record with two saves.

"Wes has tremendous stuff and throws a wide assortment of pitches," says Gottlieb. "He made some mechanical adjustments and we're hoping that will help him. With his talent, all he has to do is throw strikes to be successful."

The Tigers will be relying on junior righthander Zach Umberger to team with sophomores Spencer Patton and Drew Permison to form the nucleus of their starting rotation.

Umberger was the Tigers' most reliable starting pitcher last year until he suffered a back injury. Umberger posted a 4-3 record with 1 save and a deceptive 6.31 E.R.A. while leading the team with 67 innings. After he hurt his back in the final week of the regular season, he wasn't able to pitch in the CAA Tournament.

Although he only walked 14 batters in 67 innings, he did hit 17 batters with a pitch.

"Zach pitched well for us last year," notes Gottlieb. "But he is capable of pitching much better. When he throws strikes, he is very effective. We made some adjustments nd he could be a very reliable pitcher this year."

Patton pitched well last season and had two very strong performances in the final weeks. He finished the year with a 5-3 record and a 6.97 E.R.A. In the regular season finale, he pitched the Tigers into the CAA Tournament by earning a win over Georgia State with 4.2 innings of 1-hit relief. In the CAA Tourney, he beat Old Dominion with 6 solid innings of relief.

"Spencer has an improved changeup to go with a good fastball and an effective curveball," says Gottlieb. "He has a lot of poise and he pitched well in the Fall. He could be a very good pitcher for us."

Coming off an outstanding freshman season, Permison should be one of the Tigers' top pitchers in 2009. Last year, he became the first Tiger baseball player to be named to the Louisville Slugger Freshman All-America team.

Named to the CAA's All-Rookie team, Permison made 21 appearances and had a perfect 6-0 record and a 5.62 E.R.A. In 48 innings, he walked 15 with 33 strikeouts.

"Drew is a hard thrower who should be a better pitcher than last year," says Gottlieb. "He might have the best fastball of anyone on our team. He also has a good curveball and a good changeup and he's pitching with more confidence now."

Unfortunately, the Tigers will not have two pitchers this season due to injuries. Senior righthander Duane Herr, who was 2-4 with a 5.74 E.R.A. last year, had shoulder surgery and will sit out this season. Another righthander, junior Tyler Bugna, will also miss this season due to a shoulder injury. Bugna is a transfer from Cecil Junior College.

Despite the loss of Herr and Bugna, Gottlieb likes the pitching depth. Sophomore righthander Charlie Cononie returns after turning a solid performance in limited duty last year. The 6-7 Cononie pitched in 10 games as a freshman and had a team low 3.14 E.R.A.

"Charlie should be a spot starter and help us out of the bullpen," says Gottlieb. "He has a good moving fastball and he pitched with a lot more confidence in the Fall."

The Tigers' pitching staff includes seven newcomers who could contribute. Freshman righthanders Tyler Austin, Jeff Randolph and Sean Thompson lead the contingent of first-year pitchers.

Austin earned first team all-conference honors twice at Tunkhannock High School. He could see action as a spot starter. After missing most of his senior season due to appendicitis, he led his high school team to a win in the state tournament by striking out 17 batters.

"Tyler has a very good curveball and he could help us this season," says Gottlieb.

Randolph earned All-Howard County honors twice at Oakland Mills High School. A four-year starter for the Scorpions, he posted a 5-3 record with a 1.12 E.R.A. last year.

"We think Jeff has a tremendous future," says Gottlieb. "He is a pretty hard thrower with a good changeup. He is a hard worker and he is willing to learn."

A two-time All-Metro pick, Thompson led Archbishop Curley High School to a 25-8 record and a number 3 ranking in the Baltimore area last year. In his career, he posted a 20-6 record with a 1.91 E.R.A. In the Brooks Robinson All-Star Game at Oriole Park, he struck out five of the six batters he faced, earning the Most Valuable Pitcher award for the North team.

"Sean has a good curveball and a lot of potential," says Gottlieb. "However, he has had shoulder troubles and he may not be available this season."

Lefthander Ben Winter could also see action on the mound. A talented player who will also play the outfield, he was the Howard County Player of the Year and compiled a 19-4 record as a pitcher at Centennial High School.

Gottlieb says, "Ben has a good moving fastball and a very good curveball. He could help us on the mound as well as the outfield."

Junior righthanders John Schmeer and Tyler Winch, a pair of junior college transfers, add depth to the pitching staff. A transfer from CCBC Catonsville, Schmeer compiled an impressive 12-1 record at Catonsville. He was an All-Howard County pick at Hammond High School.

A transfer from Frederick Community College, Winch pitched in 31 games at Frederick. He posted a 4-5 record with four saves and a 5.94 E.R.A.

Freshman righthander Sean Bertrand could also help. The North County High School product earned All-Anne Arundel County honors after posting a 3-0 record with a 1.60 E.R.A. He also batted .378 for the Knights.

A "red shirt" freshman lefthander, Andrew Newfield rounds out the pitching staff.

"Last year was very gratifying for us," recalls Gottlieb. "I loved the way we finished the season and it was one of my most enjoyable seasons as coach.

"We have a lot of players back who experienced a lot of success last year and I'm hoping our momentum will carry over to this year. Going into the season, this is the best team we've had since we joined the CAA in 2002.

He adds, "The one thing you can't anticipate is injuries. However, I think we will be a strong contender for one of those six spots in the CAA Tournament. If you look at the CAA, only James Madison and George Mason have as many proven players as we do. At the same time, Old Dominion and William & Mary have lost a lot of players. UNC Wilmington always seems to rise to the occasion so I'm sure they will be involved.

"We are a solid defensive team with good hitting and improved pitching," he added. "This could be another enjoyable season."

2008 REVIEW

2008 In Review

When it was over, Coach Mike Gottlieb called the 2008 season one of his most enjoyable seasons as head coach.

Picked to finish near the bottom of the Colonial Athletic Association, the Tigers overcame a slow start and finished the season as one of the hottest teams in the CAA.

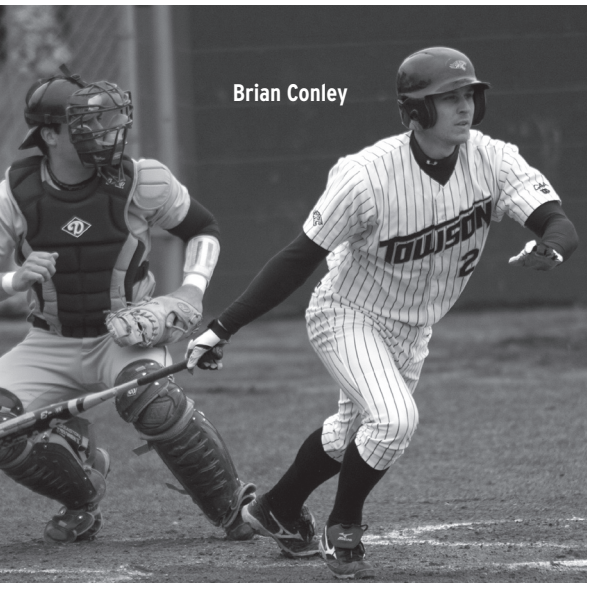

After qualifying for the sixth spot in the CAA Tournament with a dramatic series win over Georgia State on the final weekend of the season, the Tigers reached the championship round of the CAA Tournament where they came up short in a 6-1 loss to James Madison.

After starting their CAA schedule with six straight losses, the Tigers won 14 of their last 24 league games to earn a berth in the playoffs.

But, it wasn't an easy path to the tournament. It was a journey filled with drama, excellent defense, dominant relief pitching, timely hitting and a number of comebacks.

The Tigers' season came down to the final weekend when they needed to win two out of three games from Georgia State to earn the final spot in the tournament.

The weekend started ominously for the Tigers as Georgia State scored seven runs in the first inning of the series opener en route to a 10-6 victory. In the second game of the series, the Panthers took a 2-0 lead into the bottom of the sixth inning. But the Tigers came from behind on a solo homer by Gary Helmick in the sixth inning and a clutch three-run homer by Steve Yarsinsky in the seventh. Jon Dupski and Josh Squatrito combined to hold the Panthers to eight hits in a 4-3 win.

Brian Conley

In the season finale, Spencer Patton and Squatrito combined to pitch 6.1 innings of shurout relief as the Tigers earned a playoff berth with a 7-2 win over the Panthers.

As the sixth seed in the CAA Tournament, the Tigers lost the opener to top-seeded UNC Wilmington, 11-5. But, the Tigers' bats came to life once they were in the losers' bracket. In the second round, Towson banged out 15 hits and had a nine-run third inning en route to a 17-10 victory over Old Dominion. Senior Brian Conley led the way with three hits and five runs batted in.

In their next game, the Tigers faced William & Mary. Towson had another big offensive game, smashing five home runs in a 16-7 win over the Tribe. Senior first baseman Greg Furmanek had a big game with two homers and drove in four runs while Conley had four hits and four RBI's.

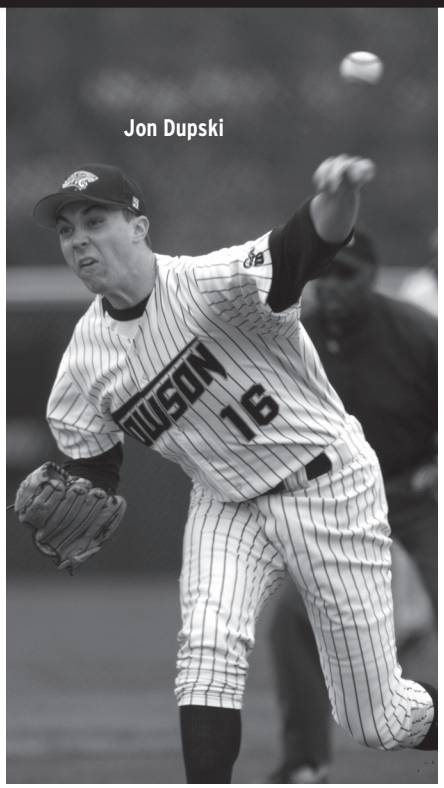

The win over the Tribe enabled Towson to move into the CAA Tournament finals against James Madison. Pitching on two days of rest, Dupski turned in a heroic effort, holding the Dukes to two runs on seven hits through six innings. However, junior righthander Kurt Houck was even more effective for the Dukes as he pitched a complete game four-hitter as JMU won the CAA championship with a 6-1 victory.

Conley and Furmanek were named to the CAA all-tournament team. However, Helmick had a huge tournament and probably deserved a spot on the team. Helmick batted .417 in the tournament with a .588 on-base percentage. In four games, he scored eight runs and hit two home runs and three runs batted in.

Shortstop Nick Natoli led a contingent of four Tigers who were named to the All-CAA team. Natoli, who was named as the CAA's Defensive Player of the Year, was also named second team All-CAA. He batted .349 with 54 runs scored. He had 13 doubles and one triple with 3 home runs and 37 runs batted in. Natoli also stole 17 bases in 19 attempts.

Defensively, he made only 12 errors in 254 fielding chances and had a .953 fielding percentage.

Conley was named second team All-CAA after batting .352 with 16 doubles, one triple and 12 home runs. He also scored 50 runs and had 65 runs batted in. After the season, he was a 17th-round draft pick by the Baltimore Orioles in the Major League free agent draft.

Jon Dupski

Catcher Jason Stifler and designated hitter Matt Collins were named third team All-CAA. Stifler batted .335 with 10 home runs and 40 RBI's. In April, he tied a school record by hitting three homers in one game.

Collins hit .319 with 20 doubles, seven home runs and 50 RBI's.

As a team, the Tigers batted .315 to tie the school record for batting average in a season. With 651 base hits, they also set a school record. Led by Conley, the Tigers nine players bat over .300.

Freshman righthander Drew Permison was a very valuable pitcher and earned Freshman All-American notice. He posted a 6-0 record with one save and a 5.62 E.R.A.

Squatrito tied for the CAA lead with ten saves, converting 10 of 11 save chances. He was named as the CAA Pitcher of the Year twice.

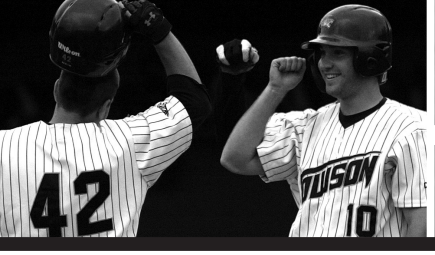

Dupski had a 5-8 record with four saves and a 5.98 E.R.A. He was named as a third team Academic All-America pitcher.

Zach Umberger had a 4-3 record with a 6.31 E.R.A. as the top starting pitcher.

HISTORY

Tigers In Pro Baseball

In the history of Towson baseball, only two former Tigers have gone on to play in the major leagues.

Infielder Al Rubeling, a member of the Towson Athletic Hall of Fame, became rhe first former Tiger to play in the major leagues in 1940. He played five seasons in the big leagues, appearing in 253 games. After a year-and-a-half with the Philadelphia Athletics, he spent the rest of his career with the Pittsburgh Pirates. Primarily a second baseman, he had a career batting average of .249 with 8 home runs and 79 RBI's. An excellent defensive player, he finished his career with a .955 fielding percentage.

One of the top pitchers in school history, Chris Nabholz pitched in the major leagues from 1990 to 1995. A second round pick by Montreal in 1988, he pitched for the Expos from 1990 to 1993. In four seasons as an Expo, Nabholz had a 34-29 record. In 1992, he was 11-12 with a 3.32 earned run average. He made his debut in 1990, posting a 6-2 mark and a 2.83 E.R.A. He pitched for the Chicago Cubs for one year and split the 1994 season between Boston and Cleveland. He retired with a 37-35 career record and a 3.94 E.R.A.

Although there have only been two former Tigers in the major leagues, Towson has another big league connection.

From 1979 to 1987, the Tiger baseball program was coached by Bill Hunter, a former major league manager and player. Hunter, who compiled a 144-166-3 record in his nine seasons as the Tiger baseball coach, had a seven-year career as an infielder with the St. Louis Browns, the Baltimore Orioles, the New York Yankees, the Cleveland Indians and the Kansas City Athletics. The Orioles' starting shortstop in 1954, he was a member of the 1953 American League all-star team. He also played for the Yankees' World Championship team in 1956.

After his retirement, he joined the Orioles' organization in 1962 and managed Bluefield in the Appalchian League for two years, leading the team to a pair of league titles. In 1964, he joined the Orioles as the third base coach, a position he held for more than 13 seasons. During those years, the Orioles won two world titles and four American League pennants. In mid-1977, he was named as the Texas Rangers' manager. In two years, he led the Rangers to a pair of second place finishes in the A.L. West.

After his retirement in 1978, he became the Tigers' baseball coach. He was also the Towson University athletic director from 1984 to 1995. Inducted into the Orioles' Hall of Fame in 1997, he became a member of the Towson Athletic Hall of Fame one year later.

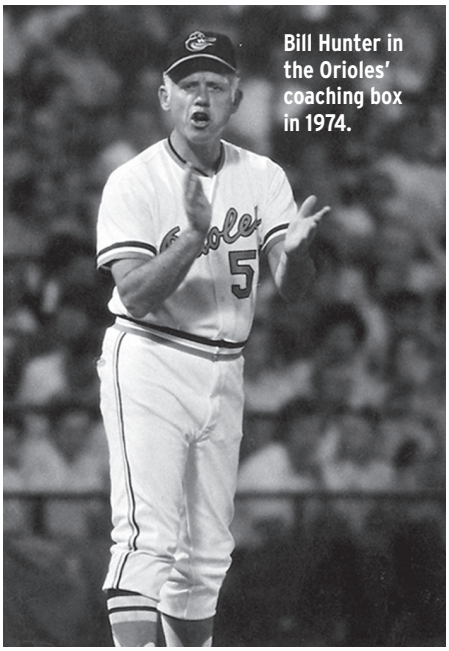

Since 1995, Towson has had 11 players drafted by the major leagues.

Most recently, outfielder Brian Conley was drafted by the Baltimore Orioles in the 17th round of the June, 2008 draft. Conley batted .248 while playing for Bluefield.

In 2005, outfielder Casper Wells and infielder Shane Justis were drafted. The Colonial Athletic Association Player of the Year, Wells was a 14th round pick by Detroit while Justis was chosen in the 21st round by the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Wells has played four seasons in the Detroit system and he had his finest minor league season last year when he was named to the Eastern League all-star team. While playing for three different teams last year, he batted .277 with 35 home runs and 102 runs batted in. In the off-season, he earned a spot on the Tigers' 40-man major league roster.

After three years in the Dodgers' organization, Justis was picked by Milwaukee in the Rule V Draft in December. He hit .266 for Jacksonville in the Southern League last year and will play in Triple-A this seaosn.

Bill Hunter in the Orioles' coaching box in 1974.

Pitcher Derek Hasselhoff, '95 came very close to reaching the major leagues. Hasselhoff, a member of the Chicago White Sox organization for five years, pitched for the Class AAA Pawtucket Red Sox in 2002. In 1999, he helped the Charlotte Knights win the International League title, posting a 6-0 record with 4 saves and a 4.82 E.R.A. In 2001, he pitched to a 6-1 record at Charlotte with a 2.03 E.R.A. and six saves. In three years at Charlotte, he had a 19-5 record with 16 saves.

A third round pick by Texas in 2000, Chris Russ had an impressive start to his career before injuries took their toll. In 2000, he pitched at Pulaski in the Appalchian League and had a 2-0 record with a 0.83 E.R.A. After being promoted to Savannah in the South Atlantic League, he had a 3-1 record and a 2.43 E.R.A. In 2001, he had a 5-2 record with a 3.47 E.R.A. at Charlotte and was named to the Florida State League's All-Star team. However, a back injury sidelined him for the rest of the season.

In 2001, Bryan Simmering was picked by Oakland in the 27th round. He had an impressive season for Phoenix in the Arizona League, posting a 2-2 record with a 2.40 E.R.A.

In 2002, Gregg Davies was drafted by Baltimore in the 21st round. He played for the Aberdeen Ironbirds in their first season and hit .224. In 2003, he split the year between Delmarva and Frederick and hit .270 for Frederick.

TOWSON UNIVERSITY

In the decades following the Revolution, Americans clamored for free public schooling for their children. Maryland's elected officials and others who valued a literate citizenry also recognized that public school systems would require qualified and dedicated teachers. They pressed for a systematic, reliable means of producing teachers, and in 1865 - the final year of the Civil War - the legislature allocated funds for Maryland's first teacher-training school. On January 15, 1866, the State Normal School opened its rented quarters in Baltimore with a principal, M.A. Newell, 11 students and three faculty. (''Normal School'' is the English translation for Ecole Normale, the term used by the French teacher-training schools that served as models for U.S. educators.) Today, Towson University is an institution of higher learning with a president, Dr. Robert Caret, an enrollment of 19,758 students (16,219 undergraduates) and a faculty numbering 1,375 (728 full-time).

Dr. Robert Caret, President

Robert L. Caret became Towson University's 12th president in 2003. Dr. Caret served as a faculty member, dean, executive vice president and provost of Towson University for 21 years before leaving to assume the presidency of San Jose State University in 1995. Returning to his Towson University roots, President Caret reestablished connections and created new partnerships with business, nonprofit and civic organizations.

In addition, Caret provided leadership and committed resources to the athletic programs at Towson University. As a member of the NCAA Presidential Task Force on the Future of Intercollegiate Athletics, Caret urged university presidents to be involved with the academic and budgetary components of college athletics and work to preserve and enhance the academic success of student-athletes. Under his direction, the renovation of the Towson Center Arena will move forward in 2008-09, and other improvements are in the planning stages.

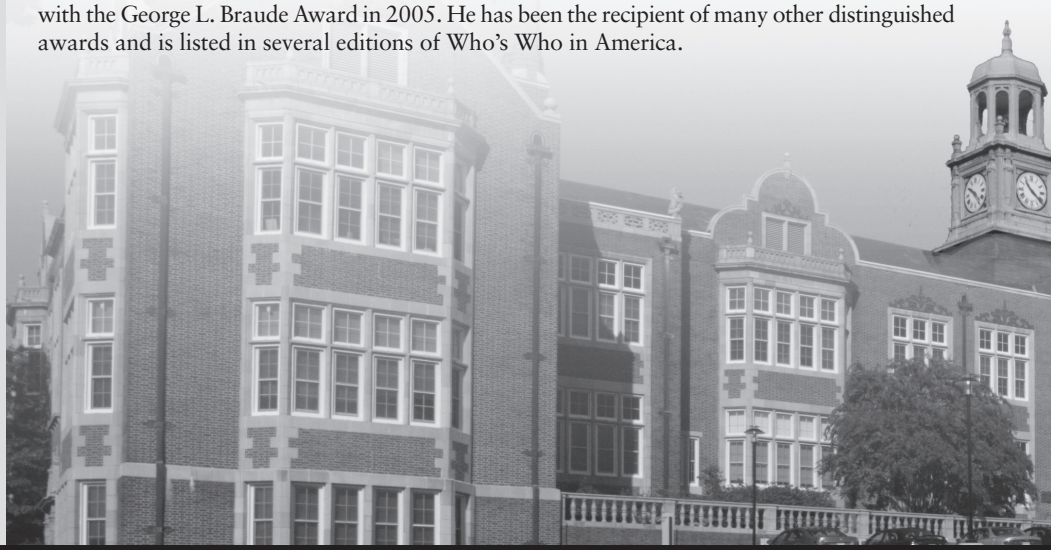

Caret's vision of Towson University as Maryland's Metropolitan University was instrumental in relocating the national headquarters of the Coalition of Urban and Metropolitan Universities (CUMU) to Towson's campus. Caret serves as president of that organization. Metropolitan Universities focus on education and service that positively impacts the communities in which they reside. Towson's involvement with K-12 initiatives, community and business partnerships, and preparing students for success in the work force are examples of that focus.

Caret is involved with a wide variety of professional organizations. He is a founding member of the Maryland Business Council (2004). He serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the CollegeBound Foundation (2004), a member of the Board of Governors for the Center Club (2004) and chairs the Education Industry Initiative Steering Committee of the Governor's Workforce Investment Board (2007). He serves on the Board of Directors for 1st Mariner Bancorp (2006), the American Flag Foundation Board of Directors (2006), as well as the Baltimore Area Convention and Visitor's Association (2007). He was inducted into the Baltimore County Chamber Business Hall of Fame in 2006.

As president of Towson University, he serves on the University of Maryland Foundation Board of Directors as well as the Board of Directors for the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU) and the American Council on Education (ACE). He recently served on the NCAA Presidential Task Force on the Future of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Caret received his Ph.D. in organic chemistry from the University of New Hampshire in 1974 and his Bachelor of Science degree in chemistry and mathematics from Suffolk University in 1969. His honorary degrees include a Doctor of Humane Letters from San Jose University (2004) and National Hispanic University (1997) and a Doctor of Science degree from Suffolk University (1996).

Caret has authored many articles and co-authored four textbooks in the fields of organic chemistry, chemical education, allied health chemistry and higher education. The Maryland Chapter of the American Chemical Society recognized Caret's achievements by honoring him with the George L. Braude Award in 2005. He has been the recipient of many other distinguished awards and is listed in several editions of Who's Who in America.

Mike Hermann was appointed as the seventh Director of Athletics in Towson history in July 1, 2006. Since his arrival the focus has been on the program's strategic goals - providing an outstanding student-athlete experience, developing programs that challenge consistently for CAA championships, increasing the partnership of the athletics program with the community and developing a marketing strategy that will create an enthusiastic and supportive audience for Tiger sports.

Mike Hermann, Director of Athletics

Entering this third year, progress is visible in all areas. Student-athletes excel in the classroom. Graduation rates for the student-athletes remain more than 10 percent higher than the student body, and all 20 Tiger sports meet the NCAA Academic Progress Rate (APR) standard. This past spring, the semester GPA for the department exceeded 3.00 for the first time.

In the past two years, the Tigers have earned NCAA berths in women's lacrosse, men's soccer (3rd round) and men's lacrosse. Women's basketball set season records for most wins each of the last two years, totaling 39 victories. Women's swimming won its first CAA title in 2008. Gymnastics, which has won four straight conference titles, captured the 2007 USA Gymnastics National Championship. Corporate partnership participation has increased. Attendance records have been set in both football and men's basketball.

And he's just getting started.

Mike is clearly focused on initiatives to enhance Towson's athletics facilities, including the planning for a multi-million dollar companion arena adjacent to the Towson Center. This past summer a state-of-the-art high-definition video display board system was installed designating Johnny Unitas Stadium as the premier venue to see a college game in the region. He continues to oversee ongoing fund-raising efforts for capital improvement projects for the soccer, field hockey and softball venues, as well.

Towson hosted the 2008 NCAA Women's Lacrosse National Championship in Johnny Unitas Stadium, setting an attendance record for the event. Towson is host to the 2009 championship as well. Towson also served as a co-host for the 2007 NCAA Men's Lacrosse National Championship at M&T Bank Stadium.

Mike completed a four-year term on the NCAA Men's Golf Committee in 2007, including three years as committee chair.

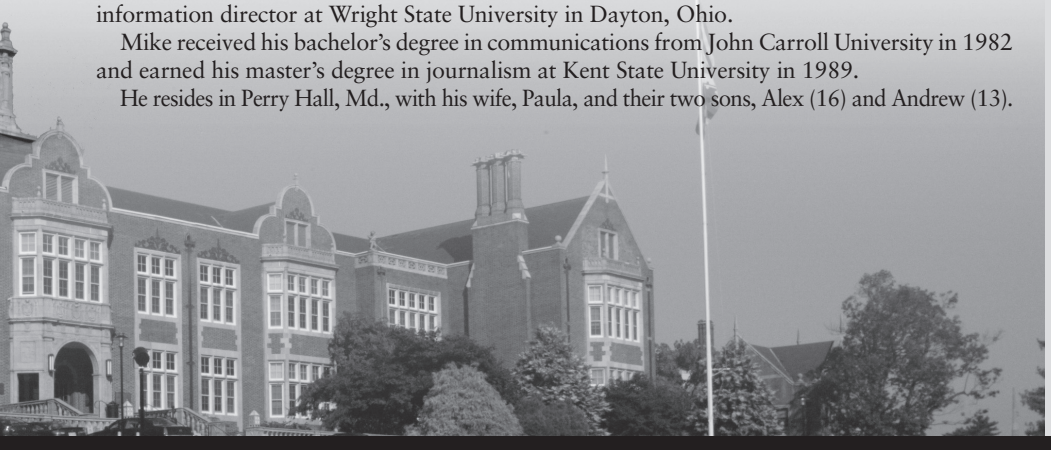

Prior to his appointment at Towson, Mike spent eight years as the director of athletics at Niagara University. During his tenure, the men's basketball, men and women's hockey and women's tennis teams all earned NCAA bids. Fan support grew as the men's basketball and men's hockey teams both set records for average attendance. Niagara's athletics teams maintained a graduation rate 10 percentage points higher than its student body.

Mike was the tournament director for two NCAA men's basketball first and second-round events in Buffalo and the 2003 NCAA Frozen Four. No stranger to NCAA championships, he had previously served as co-tournament manager of the 1997 NCAA Women's Final Four in Cincinnati and was the local media coordinator for the 1991 NCAA Final Four in Indianapolis.

Before Niagara, Mike spent five years as an associate AD at Xavier University in Cincinnati. He came to Xavier after four years as assistant commissioner with the Midwestern Collegiate Conference (Horizon League) in Indianapolis. His first full-time job in athletics was as sports information director at Wright State University in Dayton, Ohio.

Mike received his bachelor's degree in communications from John Carroll University in 1982 and earned his master's degree in journalism at Kent State University in 1989.

He resides in Perry Hall, Md., with his wife, Paula, and their two sons, Alex (16) and Andrew (13).

TOWSON UNIVERSITY

Discover Towson–The Community

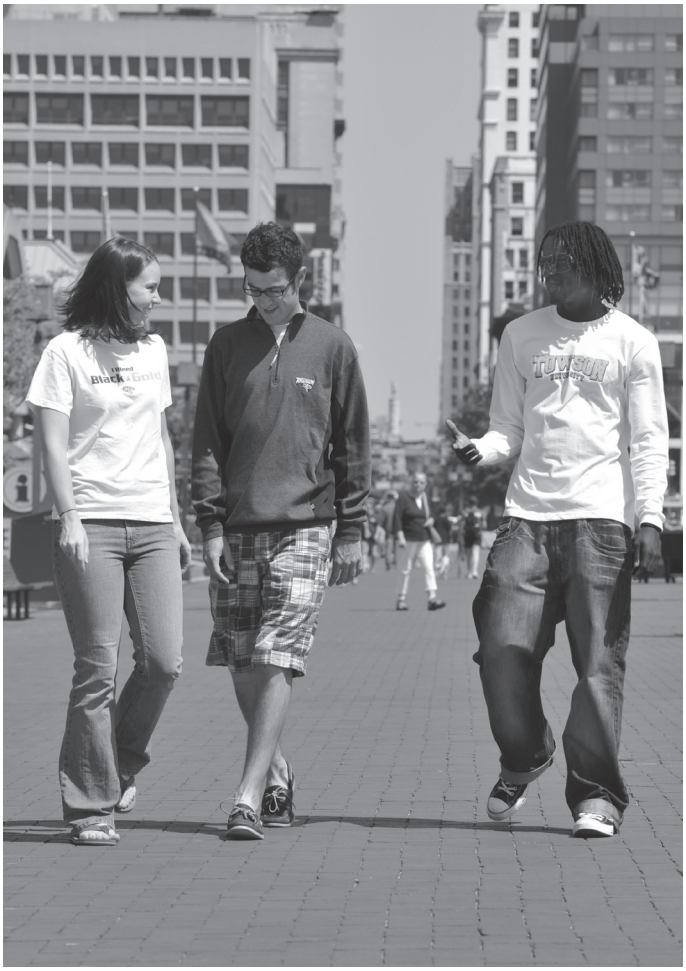

Towson University is more than classes, papers and projects. It's the place to decide what you want to be.

Find yourself in one of our more than 60 majors. If you can't pick just one, you can take on a double major. The most popular majors at TU are business administration, psychology, mass communication, nursing and elementary education. What will yours be?

You don't even have to know what you want to major in when you come to Towson. Many of our students don't decide on a major until they take a class that excites them. Through TU's program of General Education requirements, you can uncover interests and acquire broad-based critical thinking, writing and reading skills while figuring out your major. Who knows? You may be an art history or biology major and just not know it yet!

No matter what you choose, you will be earning a great education from a prestigious university. We are nationally recognized for excellent programs in the arts and sciences, business, communications, fine arts, health professions, education and computer information systems. We also have seven colleges to choose from: the College of Business Economics, College of Education, College of Health Professions, College of Liberal Arts, College of Fine Arts and Communication, the Jess and Mildred Fisher College of Science and Mathematics, and the Honors College for highly motivated students.

Sure, you know what class is like in high school, but how about at Towson? Our students love the small class sizes—about 20 students per class—and appreciate the personal connections they get to make with their professors. With a student-faculty ratio of 18:1 your professors will get to know you as you work toward your degree. Many students credit a professor with pointing them in the direction of a significant internship or career-oriented experience, or graduate program.

EXPRESS YOURSELF

Do you bleed black and gold? Towson Tigers do. With 20 NCAA Division I sports, Towson has something for every student-athlete. Wear your stripes on the field or court while your classmates cheer you on. We also have more than 40 intramural and club sports at TU. These activities are a great way to meet new people—more than one-third of TU students belong to sport clubs or intramural teams. Plus, the facilities on campus are excellent.

Another way to show your school spirit is by joining one of our student organizations. Express yourself as a member of more than 200 academic, professional, cultural, Greek, honor, religious, service or special interest clubs. You can also write for The Towerlight student newspaper. A lot of student organizations are designed with your future professional life in mind. Test your business skills in the Wall $treet Investors Investment Club, which earned $60,000 in the stock market this year alone. Prove yourself a leader at LeaderShape, a highly selective program for freshmen, sophomores and juniors that takes place off-campus in January for six intensive, life-changing days. You can even join a club with other students in your major, helping each other excel in your discipline and prepare for jobs or graduate school

When your student organization isn't keeping you busy, check out the other events happening on campus. The Center for the Arts hosts more than 200 performances, exhibits and events every year! We also have big-name concerts at the Towson Center Arena and Tigerfest is a huge event on the lawn outside Burdick Hall each spring.

The more involved you get, the more you will learn that Towson has a long-standing commitment to creating a multicultural campus, and encourages an environment that provides equal educational and social opportunities for our multicultural and multiracial student body. Many campus resources serve TU's diverse community, including the International Education Office, the Center for Student Diversity, Hillel at TU, the African American Cultural Center, the Newman Center and others.
