GET IN THE GAME WITH EA SPORTS

EA SPORTS, the premier developer of interactive sports entertainment, is set to elevate the college football gaming experience once again with EA SPORTS College Football 26 this summer. Building on the success of its inaugural release, EA SPORTS continues to enhance the college football simulation, delivering an even more authentic, entertaining, and high-quality gameplay experience that captures the rich tradition and excitement of college football.

This year, the game will again feature all 136 NCAA Division 1 Football Bowl Subdivision schools, and EA SPORTS remains committed to including football athletes from these institutions. For the second consecutive year, EA SPORTS invites you and over 11,000 of your fellow college football athletes to have your name, image, and likeness (NIL) showcased in the game, with the opportunity for compensation.

Through a straightforward and transparent opt-in process, you can choose to grant EA SPORTS permission to use your NIL in the game, allowing you to earn a one-time payment along with a free game code each year your NIL is included in EA SPORTS College Football. The same equitable terms apply to all athletes.

IMPORTANT REMINDERS

This is an exciting opportunity to be featured in the highly anticipated second installment of one of the most beloved video game franchises of all time.

Here's what you need to know:

- The initial opt-in window is open from February 22nd until April 30th. Athletes must opt-in by April 30th to be eligible for the game launch.
- In EA SPORTS College Football 26, each school will feature an 85-man roster based on replicating as authentic of a gameplay experience as possible, so opting in does not guarantee your NIL will be included in the game
- If your NIL is included in the game, you will be compensated through the COMPASS NIL app
