TU's 230-acre campus is located two miles east of downtown Tulsa, a city with a population of about 400,000 and a metro population of more than 900,000. The city's remarkable cultural, technological and economic resources nourish the university's mission and enrich its life, just as the university, in turn, enriches the city.

In its vibrant urban environment, The University of Tulsa offers a diversity of learning experiences, a balance between career preparation and liberal education, teaching, and research, and endeavors to instill in its students an understanding that stature as an individual and value as a member of society depend upon continual learning.

TULSA OKLAHOMA

Tulsa is nestled in the northeastern quadrant of Oklahoma, right in the heart of "Green Country." The rolling green hills and wooded terrain of the city lies at an elevation of 700 feet above sea level and offers a temperate climate. Tulsans enjoy 227 days of sunshine a year and an average daily temperature of 61 degrees. The rainfall average is approximately 40 inches, and continually changing conditions occur in the city during all four seasons.

What began as Tulsee Town in 1836 under a sturdy oak tree, which still stands today at 18th and Cheyenne Streets, is today the second largest city in Oklahoma. Ask people to describe Tulsa, and you'll likely get many different answers. It was a city forever changed by the discovery of oil in 1901. It is home to art deco treasures and nationally renowned museums. Its African American heritage left its mark, in both the business and music worlds. And it's a city of nostalgia and special memories for countless Americans due to its location on historic Route 66.

Tulsa boasts a widely diversified business base, including aerospace, telecommunications, manufacturing, construction, high technology, healthcare, education, transportation and energy.

Tulsa has the second shortest commute time in the nation, ranks 15th in the nation for the highest rate of high school graduation and boasts a cost of living at 11.5 percent below the national average while the county per capita income is 20.7 percent above the national average.

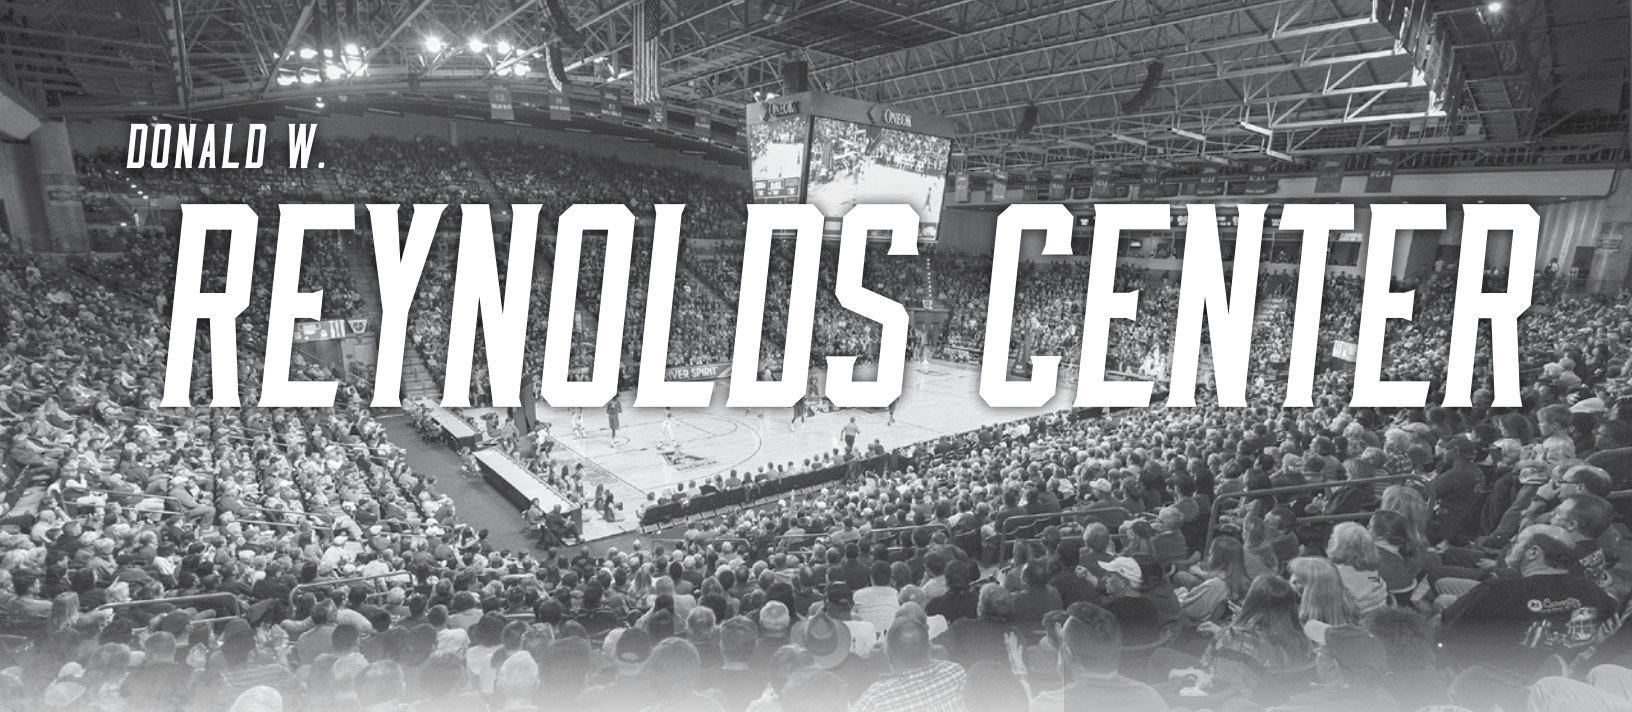

Tulsa, one of "America's Most Livable Communities," is known as the Mecca for arts in Oklahoma. Art deco masterpieces are prevalent in many of our downtown buildings and churches. Spectacular works of art dot the trails of our beautiful River Parks. From the Tulsa Ballet and Tulsa Opera, to Broadway plays and musicals at the Performing Arts Center, to the Philbrook and the largest collection of Western American art at the Gilcrease, Tulsa's rich cultural legacy greatly enhances our citizen's quality of life.

The BOK Center hosts the top names in entertainment, as well as major sporting events including the 2011 NCAA Basketball Second & Third Rounds.

For a great shopping experience, a visit to Cherry Street or Utica Square is a must, and for those who would rather spend the afternoon on the links, Tulsa has several exclusive golf courses to choose from. During summer months, Rodgers and Hammerstein's classic musical, Oklahoma!, is performed at the Discoveryland amphitheater where a barbecue dinner and roping lessons add to the evening's entertainment. Tulsa is also home to several outstanding events too numerous to list, but those worth a mention include Mayfest, Oktoberfest and the Tulsa Pow Wow of Champions.

The Tulsa Port of Catoosa is acclaimed as one of the largest, most inland river-ports in the United States. The Tulsa International Airport offers direct service to most major U.S. cities and is another important contributor to our economic growth.

Ten higher education facilities serve the metropolitan Tulsa area. Options range from community college and vocational studies to undergraduate, graduate, and professional degree programs at both public and private universities.

DONALD W. REYNOLDS CENTER

When the Golden Hurricane steps onto the court at the Donald W. Reynolds Center for the 2015-16 season opener, it will tip-off the 18th year of basketball at the state-of-the–art on-campus facility. Donald W. Reynolds Center attendance topped 1 million fans in the 2007-08 season.

It seems hard to believe, that the Reynolds Center has been home to the Tulsa basketball team for 16 years. Although the first event at the Reynolds Center was The University of Tulsa's mid-year graduation on December 19, 1998, the first athletic event housed in the $32 million multi-use facility was a men's basketball game 10 days later.

The long-awaited on-campus facility for the nationally prominent basketball program pitted the Tulsa Golden Hurricane against the Cleveland State Vikings on Dec. 29. The home team came away with a 79-51 victory in front of a sellout crowd.

The Hurricane men's team proceeded to sell-out six of the next seven games played in the Reynolds Center and posted an overall 7-1 record in their inaugural season.

In 16 seasons, Tulsa basketball has compiled a 193-56 record at the Reynolds Center for a .775 winning percentage. Tulsa has played in front of 41 sellout crowds.

In that first season, Tulsa averaged 8,282 fans for eight games. Tulsa's next highest home attendance average came in 2002-03 when, the Hurricane played in front of an average of 8,250 fans for 14 regular season games. By hosting the Western Athletic Conference Tournament that year, Tulsa's attendance average for 17 games ended at 7,747 fans. Tulsa played three games in the WAC Tournament en route to winning the postseason tournament title in 2003.

Tulsa surpassed the mark of 500,000 fans for home attendance at the Donald W. Reynolds Center in less than five full seasons of competition. The Hurricane surpassed that plateau during the 2002-03 season.

The Reynolds Center is a 138,000-square foot facility that includes an 8,355 seat arena. The facility, located on the northwest corner of Harvard Avenue and 11th Street, east of Skelly Field at H.A. Chapman Stadium, is not only home to the men's basketball program, but also serves as the home site of the women's basketball and women's volleyball teams.

The facility also houses facilities for video editing and strength training; and the state's first accredited academic program in athletic training/sports medicine. In addition, the center directly supports student commencement activities, career fairs, student-sponsored concerts, cultural festivals, student intramural competitions, classroom instruction and campus-related community events.

The center is a crucial component of the university's master plan, approved in 1994, which moved the campus toward a more residential environment.

The center provides the campus with an exceptional indoor event facility where, for the first time in TU's history, the entire university community can gather at once. Further, the facility is a physical anchor for the campus that strengthens TU's community outreach and energize the surrounding community — enabling the university and the city to come together at TU with spirit and pride.

The center has greatly increased the number of visitors to Tulsa and to the university. The school's membership in Conference USA is pivotal in attracting C-USA schools and their fans to the facility, thus heightening both TU's and the city's profile beyond the state of Oklahoma. In addition, the facility supports the university's commitment to its NCAA Division I athletic program while broadening opportunities for increased revenue and decreased rental expense.

The impact that the Reynolds Center has had on student recruiting and TU's national visibility is significant. Since it opened, the Reynolds Center has hosted a variety of concerts and the NAIA National Basketball Tournament, as well as various high school basketball tournaments. The Reynolds Center served as host for the 2001, 2002 and 2003 Western Athletic Conference Men's and Women's Basketball Tournaments and the 2007 and 2010 Conference USA Women's Basketball Tournaments.

The facility was designed by Kansas City-based HOK Sports Facilities Group, Inc., the leader in the field. Other HOK projects include the design of United Center in Chicago, Oriole Park in Camden Yard and Coors Field in Denver.

SEASON PREVIEW

Coming off of a postseason NIT Second Round appearance and a second-place finish in its first season as a member of the American Athletic Conference, the Tulsa basketball team seeks greater success in 2015-16.

Nine seniors lead a team heavy on upperclassmen. The squad also includes four juniors and two freshmen. The Golden Hurricane looks toward once again competing for a conference championship, and a trip to the NCAA Tournament. Haith acknowledges the challenging schedule and improved league, but says the goal of every year is to play in the postseason.

"We have a veteran team that went to postseason last year, but we want to play in the NCAA Tournament," Haith said. "I think this team is very capable. We know our league is even better than it was last year. We have to be better than we were last year in order for that to happen. We have a team that is full of veteran players that knows what it takes to win."

The Hurricane faced little roster turnover, returning 11 players, including all eight players that averaged as many as seven minutes per game last year. With so much familiarity between the players and the coaching staff, the Hurricane is able to carry over much of the momentum from the second half of last season, when the team hit its stride. The returning veteran team presents a unique opportunity.

"We enhanced what we do well, and how we want to play," Haith said. "All in all, we're pretty much the same team. We want to do the things we want to do great. We want it to be like clockwork."

Players

Leading scorers James Woodard and Shaquille Harrison are back to anchor the Tulsa backcourt. The senior guard tandem combined to average 27.6 points per game – 43 percent of the team's scoring. Woodard led the Hurricane with 14.5 points and 88 3-pointers, while adding 4.9 rebounds per contest on his way to first-team All-American Athletic Conference honors. Harrison compiled a breakout season, scoring 13.1 points, with 5.1 rebounds, 3.7 assists and 2.0 steals per game, earning second-team all-conference honors.

Marquel Curtis, Rashad Ray and Nick Wood round out the senior backcourt. Curtis started 27 games, and tallied 7.3 points, 3.3 rebounds, 1.5 assists and 0.6 steals per game. Ray earned seven starts, while seeing action in all 34 games, and put up 7.5 points, 2.9 assists and a 2.5 assist/turnover ratio. Wood saw action in four games last year.

Seniors Rashad Smith, D'Andre Wright, Brandon Swannegan and Emmanuel Ezechinonso hold down the post. Smith scored 8.4 points, and led the team with 6.0 rebounds per game, while Wright averaged 7.0 points and 4.4 rebounds per contest. Swannegan saw an increased role on the court, earning 10 starts and 16.7 minutes per outing, and he put up 3.8 points, 4.0 rebounds and totaled 49 blocks. Ezechinonso saw action in 13 games.

"At the end of the day, being part of that transition from Conference USA to The American, that's a pretty nice legacy to have," Haith said. "But wouldn't it be neat for those guys to finish off with a championship in The American, as they did in Conference USA. That would be something those guys would all be able to talk to their kids and grandkids about."

Junior TK Edogi also saw an increased role, with 7.4 minutes of action per game, and tallied 1.7 points and 1.6 rebounds per game. Guard Corey Haith is available at TU for the first time this year, after redshirting last year following his transfer from the University of Missouri.

"TK, if he doesn't do what he did in the first half at Memphis, we probably don't win that game. He scored six straight points when all our post guys had foul trouble," Haith said. "It's been a fun group, which makes our practices very competitive, because there's no drop-off. Nick and Corey fight like crazy at practice. We couldn't have two better walk-ons than those two guys. I think we have depth because of that. It helps our practices, knowing our practices are very competitive."

The newcomers include: juniors Pat Birt and Junior Etou, and freshmen Kajon Brown and Sterling Taplin. Birt, a native of Plano, Texas, is a 6'5" guard from South Plains College in Texas. He averaged 11.5 points and 3.9 rebounds, and knocked down 66 3-pointers in 21.7 minutes over 32 games last year at SPC.

Brown, a 6'4" guard, averaged 14 points and 7.5 rebounds per game last season as a senior at Helen Cox High School in Harvey, La. Taplin is a 6'1" guard from Williamsville, N.Y., and averaged 22.6 points, 3.9 rebounds, 4.9 assists and 3.1 steals as a senior, while earning All-Western New York honors three times at Williamsville North High School. Etou will sit out the 2015-16 season after transferring from Rutgers University.

"I think the pieces we're adding can help us win games," Haith said. "Kajon Brown is a developing guy, but I think he has had a great summer and fall. He's a hard-worker, committed, wants to be a great player. I can see the next two guys being rotational guys right away, in Pat Birt and Sterling Taplin. Pat can really shoot the ball. Sterling is a true point guard, he can see the floor, passes well, and I think he's a very capable shooter. The reason those guys will be rotational guys, is because they help us in an area that we were not great at last year, and that's shooting the basketball."

Schedule

Tulsa opens the season with a pair of exhibition games at the Donald W. Reynolds Center, Nov. 7 against Haskell Indian Nations, and Nov. 10 against Rogers State. The season opener is Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. against Central Arkansas, followed by a visit from preseason No. 12 Wichita State on Nov. 17. TU then travels to the U.S. Virgin Islands for Paradise Jam, where it will play three games, beginning with Ohio, and then either Indiana State or Norfolk State. Florida State, South Carolina, DePaul and Hofstra are also in the field.

The Hurricane plays Little Rock at home on Nov. 28, at Oklahoma State on Dec. 2, and then the PSO Mayor's Cup against Oral Roberts on Dec. 5 at the Reynolds Center. Home games against Iona (Dec. 8) and Northern Arizona (Dec. 22) sandwich a road contest at Missouri State (Dec. 13) and a neutral-site game in Portland, Ore., against Oregon State (Dec. 13).

"We don't (have any easy games)," Haith said. "Our second game of the year, we play Wichita State, who will probably be a top-10 team. We go to play Oregon State on the road. We play Oklahoma State on the road, a Big 12 team. Not to mention the trip to the Virgin Islands. It's a very challenging schedule, one that will get us ready for the AAC."

Tulsa opens American Athletic Conference play at home on Dec. 29 against SMU. TU's 18-game conference slate includes nine home games, and home-and-away contests against SMU, UConn, Cincinnati, Temple, Tulane, East Carolina, UCF and Houston. TU will play a single home game against USF and a single road game at Memphis.

"You're talking about, from SMU, who returns basically everybody and the Player of the Year in Nic Moore, to UConn, to Cincinnati, who returns everybody from an NCAA Tournament team," said Haith. "I think Houston will make a huge jump from where they were last year, based on their recruiting. Temple is going to be very good. Even the teams that people think, based on what they were last year, East Carolina, Central Florida, Tulane – they all got better because they got older. It's going to be a very competitive league. I said this last year: Our league was good, it was just young. A year older, I think you'll see this league get 5-6 teams in the NCAA Tournament."

The final home game for this senior class will be Saturday, March 5 against USF. Tulsa basketball in 2015-16 should be appointment viewing, whether on TV on the road, or particularly in person.

The Hurricane, which was picked to finish fifth in its first season of competition in the American Athletic Conference, finished second in the league with a 14-4 record, and advanced to the semifinals of The American Conference Championship. TU boasted a 12-game winning streak during the season, which included a 10-0 start to conference play – its best league start since 1968-69.

Haith coached two all-conference guards in 2014-15 – first-team selection James Woodard and second-team selection Shaquille Harrison. Last season, the Hurricane won 20 games for the 22nd time in program history, and advanced to the postseason for the 28th time. TU also held 17 opponents below a .400 field goal percentage, collected eight road victories, and defeated Memphis twice in the same season for the first time since 1970-71.

Haith, 49, was the 2012 Associate Press and USBWA National Coach of the Year, and was a National Coach of the Year finalist in 2005. He spent the previous 10 seasons as a head coach at two universities. His first seven seasons were spent at the University of Miami and the following three years at the University of Missouri.

Haith has transitioned all three programs into new conferences, moving Miami from the Big East Conference to the ACC and Missouri from the Big 12 Conference into the SEC. Tulsa transitioned into the American Athletic Conference from Conference USA on July 1, 2014.

In his three seasons at Missouri, Haith's teams posted a 76-28 record, while advancing in consecutive seasons to the NCAA Tournament and this past year moving to second round action in the postseason NIT. His first team at Missouri recorded a 30-5 mark during the 2011-12 campaign, and finished with a 23-11 record in 2012-13 and 23-12 mark this past season.

Haith became the fastest Mizzou head coach to post 50 wins and was the winningest coach at Missouri through two seasons with a 53-16 record for a .768 winning percentage. He led the basketball program during Missouri's transition from the Big 12 Conference to the Southeastern Conference (SEC) in 2012-13.

Missouri was the lone college basketball program in the 2012-13 season to advance to NCAA Tournament play with just one returning starter. During Missouri's NCAA Tournament run that year, the Tigers enjoyed its second undefeated season in Mizzou Arena history, going 17-0 at home with wins over a pair of nationally-ranked opponents, including No. 5 Florida.

Picked fourth in the 2011-12 Big 12 Conference preseason coaches' poll, Missouri won a school-record 14 league games, and finished second in the conference standings with a 14-4 mark. The Tigers won the school's final Big 12 Tournament Championship with a 3-0 run in Kansas City, before advancing to the NCAA Tournament.

In 2011-12, Haith received recognition in the form of numerous coaching accolades, including the prestigious Henry Iba National Coach of the Year honor, as well as the Associated Press National Coach of the Year. He was also named the Big 12 Coach of the Year and was the U.S. Basketball Writers Association District VI Coach of the Year. As a first-year coach, Haith guided his team to more regular season wins than any other Mizzou coach before him, and became the first Tiger head coach since 1920-21 to win his first 14 games.

During Haith's tenure, Missouri posted a 10-7 record against top-25 teams, including a 5-5 mark vs. schools ranked among the top-10 nationally. In his first of seven seasons at Miami, Haith guided the `Canes to seven ACC victories (despite being picked last) and qualified for postseason play in 2004-05. He was named a Naismith National Coach of the Year finalist and NABC District 6 Coach of the Year in 2005.

Miami returned to postseason play the following year (2005-06) as the Hurricanes won 18 games and advanced to the quarterfinals of the NIT, recording the program's first postseason wins since 2000. Over his final four seasons, Haith's Miami squad averaged 21 wins per season, with four consecutive postseason trips and had three of the school's six all-time 20-win ledgers. His Miami teams won six total games in the NCAA and National Invitation tournaments, including a memorable run to the second round of the Big Dance in 2008. The `Canes went 23-11 in Haith's fourth season, just one win shy of the school record and he was named a finalist for ACC Coach of the Year and the Skip Prosser Man of the Year honors.

During his time as a head coach, Haith's players were visible in the community, while he also saw an incredible 31-of-33 seniors walk across the stage to receive a diploma.

Haith paid his own way through Elon and graduated in 1988, while beginning his coaching career as a student assistant coach at the school in 1986. Haith helped the Phoenix twice win 20 games and earned the opportunity to coach at Wake Forest in the 1989-90 as a graduate assistant.

His first full-time coaching position on the Division I level came at UNC-Wilmington from 1990-92, and then went on to a three-year stop at Texas A&M from 1992-95, which included helping the Aggies reach postseason play in 1994.

A remarkable 21-win campaign during his one season at Penn State (1995-96) allowed the Nittany Lions to reach the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 31 years, and he returned to Texas A&M and the Big 12 Conference for one season as the Aggies' Associate Head Coach in 1996-97 before returning to Wake Forest in 1997-98. The Demon Deacons reached postseason play each of his four years in Winston-Salem, including winning the NIT Championship in 2000 and reaching NCAA Tournament play in 2001.

Haith parlayed that success at Wake Forest into an opportunity at the University of Texas. Under Rick Barnes, Haith was, at the time, a part of the winningest three-year stretch in Texas Basketball history. The Longhorns averaged better than 24 wins per season and never failed to reach the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. The Longhorns advanced to the Final Four in 2003 and Haith worked magic on the recruiting trail, ushering four McDonald's All-Americans to Austin, including Brad Buckman (2002), LaMarcus Aldridge (2004), Daniel Gibson (2004) and Michael Williams (2004). Texas' 2004 recruiting class was rated No. 2 nationally by Rivals.com, while Aldridge became the No. 2 overall draft pick by the Chicago Bulls in the 2006 NBA Draft.

Born in Queens, New York, Haith spent most of his childhood growing up in Burlington, North Carolina. He is one of 11 siblings. Haith and his wife Pam have two children: Corey, a junior at Tulsa, and Brianna.

In 2006-07 Georgia went 19-14 and advanced to the second round of the NIT, earning the program's first postseason tournament win in nine years. In 2008, the Bulldogs earned the SEC's automatic bid to the NCAA Tournament by winning the SEC Tournament title. Georgia won four straight games to claim the SEC title, including three games in a little over 24 hours and two games in one afternoon.

In 2003 Felton became the first coach in Western Kentucky history to take three straight teams to the NCAA Tournament. In five seasons at WKU, he compiled a 100-54 overall record (.649 pct.), including a 76-20 mark since the 2001 season, and he left the school with the nation's longest home-court winning streak. He started his tenure at WKU as the youngest head coach in school history, and left as the third winningest coach in Sun Belt Conference history.

Before he became a head coach, Felton served as an assistant coach for six years under Rick Barnes at Providence (1992-94) and Clemson (1994-98). The six teams that Barnes and Felton coached together all posted winning seasons (including three 20-win campaigns), played in the postseason (four NCAA berths, two NIT) and went 114-71. In 1997 the Tigers went 21-8 and reached the NCAA Sweet 16.

He began in collegiate coaching at the University of Delaware from 1986-90, before one-season stints at Tulane and St. Joseph's.

In 2001, Felton served as a court coach during the USA Basketball National Team trials. In 2003, he served as an assistant coach for the American team at the Junior World Championships in Thessaloniki, Greece. That squad, under head coach Ernie Kent of Oregon, won 12 of its 13 contests, including a 7-1 mark in the World tournament.

In the spring of 2005, Felton was an assistant coach for the U.S. team at the Under 21 World Championships in Argentina helping lead the squad to a 7-1 finish.

Felton got his start in the coaching profession as an assistant at Oxon Hill (Md.) High School in 1984. He then became an assistant coach at Charles County Community College (now the College of Southern Maryland) in LaPlata, Md., for one season (1985-86) before moving on to Delaware.

His father's career in the U.S. Air Force provided Felton an adventurous early childhood. Born in Tokyo, he spent his early years living in and visiting a variety of locales around the world. His family eventually moved to Clinton, Md., a suburb of Washington, D.C.

A star athlete at Surrattsville (Md.) High School in Clinton, Md., Felton played at Prince George's Community College in Largo, Md. He completed his athletic and academic careers at Howard University, where he was a Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference All-Academic selection. He was named to the Graduate College Hall of Fame by Arizona State University and named an ASU Distinguished Alumnus in 1998. The University of Oregon presented Upham its Martin Luther King, Jr. Award and Director's Award for Service and Achievement, both in 1998. Early in his academic career, Upham's teaching skills were recognized by New Mexico State University, which presented him the Donald C. Roush Award for Excellence in Teaching in 1987, and a year later named him a Master Teacher.

Upham's extensive professional service and accomplishments include commissioner of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges; chairman of the Board of Directors of the Council of Graduate Schools; president, National Physical Science Consortium; director of The American Mutual Funds; director of the St. Francis Health System; director of the Tulsa Chamber of Commerce; director of the American Council on Education; director of the National Collegiate Athletic Association; director of the College Football Playoffs; and director and chair of the Tulsa Community Foundation.

In May 2015, Upham was elected as the American Athletic Conference's vice-chairman of the Board of Directors for a two-year term, through the 2016-17 academic year.

During the past decade, TU has achieved a remarkable transformation. The University is ranked No. 86 among all U.S. Doctoral universities by U.S. News and World Report (2015), and the College of Law and the Graduate Business Programs are ranked among the top 100, respectively. During the past decade, TU has added more than 1 million square feet of space, including student apartments and activity centers, academic and administrative buildings and athletic facilities. The university's seven-year Embrace the Future campaign raised more than $698 million. Thanks to the campaign, TU created: $119 million in scholarship endowments, 1,182 new awards, $87 million in faculty endowments and 47 new endowed positions.

VICE PRESIDENT AND DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Dr. Derrick Gragg is in his third year as The University of Tulsa's Vice President and Director of Athletics. He was appointed to the position on March 20, 2013, and began his tenure with the Golden Hurricane 39 days later.

In his tenure, Gragg has overseen Tulsa's transition into the American Athletic Conference and in 2014-15 he administered the development and implementation of the athletic department's Strategic Plan. Gragg announced the hiring of Missouri Head Basketball Coach Frank Haith as Tulsa's new head coach in April 2014, appointed former Women's British Open Champion Emilee Klein-Gille as the school's women's golf coach and, in December 2014, chose Baylor offensive coordinator Philip Montgomery, one of the nation's brightest offensive minds, to coach the Golden Hurricane football team.

Under Gragg's leadership, Tulsa teams have won a total of 11 league championships in two years. In 2013-14, Tulsa won seven Conference USA Championships and eight teams participated in NCAA post-season competition. More than 200 student-athletes were named to the Commissioners Honor Roll and a league-best 63 recipients earned the C-USA Academic Medalist honor, awarded to student-athletes with a cumulative 3.75 GPA or better, during Gragg's first year at Tulsa. During the 2014-15 academic year, Tulsa teams won four league titles in the school's first year of membership in the American Athletic Conference and 10 teams advanced to post-season competition.

Since his arrival on campus, 11 student-athletes have earned All-America accolades and five have been selected as Capital One Academic All-Americans.

Before coming to Tulsa, Gragg spent seven years as the Director of Athletics at Eastern Michigan University, where he was responsible for an intercollegiate athletic program with 21 teams, 550 student-athletes and 80 staff members. Gragg's experience covers 20 years in progressively advanced roles at the universities of Arkansas, Michigan, Missouri and Vanderbilt.

"Derrick's history of integrity and excellence is well-suited to keep our university and its athletic program moving forward. He will be an enthusiastic and dedicated leader for Golden Hurricane student-athletes and their coaches," said TU President Steadman Upham when announcing Gragg's appointment.

"My family and I are tremendously excited to be part of The University of Tulsa. This is a wonderful opportunity to lead a program of this caliber," Gragg said at the introductory news conference. "The university's combination of academic and athletic success dovetails perfectly with my own personal and professional core values."

Under Gragg's leadership, Eastern Michigan enjoyed successful campaigns not only on the field, but also in the classroom. EMU athletic teams accumulated 22 Mid-American Conference (MAC) championships in that time. Meanwhile, Eastern Michigan's student-athlete graduation rate exceeded the general student body graduation rate by 20%.

Eastern Michigan also saw its athletic fundraising levels reach new heights with four of the top five funding years occurring under Gragg's tenure as athletic director. Additionally, Gragg spearheaded the construction of EMU's $3.9 million multipurpose indoor athletic practice facility and was nationally recognized for his leadership, earning the Black Coaches Association (BCA) Administrator of the Year Award in 2008-09.

Gragg spent six years at the University of Arkansas before his appointment at Eastern Michigan. He joined Arkansas in 2000 as an associate athletic director and was promoted to senior associate athletic director in 2003 and then to deputy athletic director. During his tenure, Gragg was involved in various areas including: athletic administration, sport program oversight, marketing, sports information, recruitment, budgeting, student-athlete support, compliance, facilities and game management, fund-raising and research.

Before that, Gragg spent three years as assistant athletic director for compliance at Michigan beginning his tenure in 1997. Previously, he was the director of compliance and operations at Missouri from 1995-97. During his two years in Columbia, he was the game event manager for 10 Olympic sports programs and chairman of the Big 12 Compliance Coordinators Group during his last year as compliance coordinator at the university.

Gragg began his career in athletic administration at his alma mater, Vanderbilt, where he served from 1993 to 1995 as an academic counselor before adding the title of director of student life in his final year.

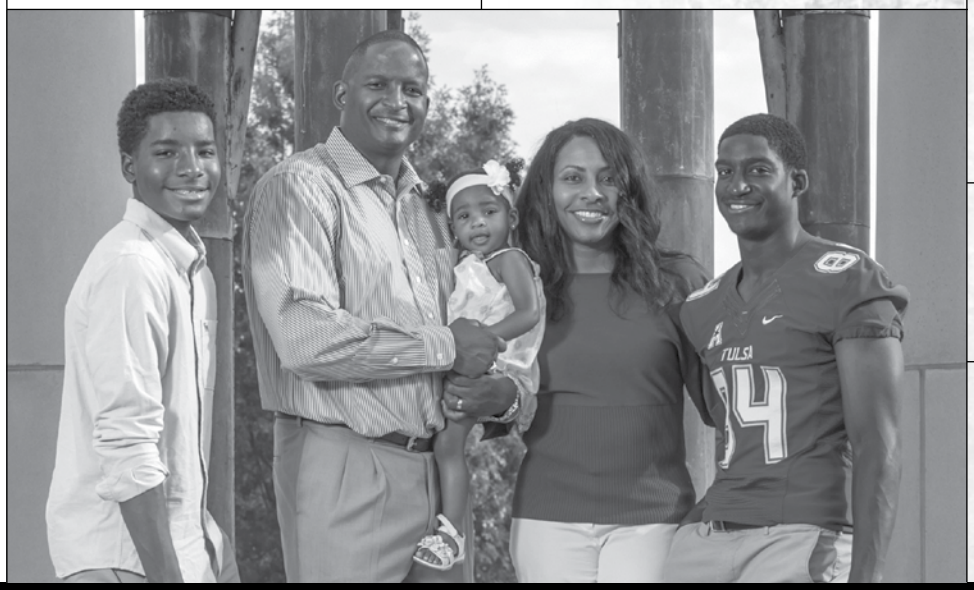

During his career, Gragg has published several articles and editorials on intercollegiate athletics as well as a nationwide study on sports-related gambling. He has been a presenter and panelist at events such as the NCAA Future Coaches Academy, Champions for Athletic Directors and Football Coaches, Emerging Administrators Academy Professional Development Conference and the NCAA Annual Convention. Gragg also authorized two Title IX studies while demonstrating continual improvement with Title IX compliance and gender equity issues.

He is a former member of the NCAA's Minority Opportunities & Interests Committee, having served as co-chair of the committee in 2004-05. Gragg also served as a member of the NCAA's Legislative Council and is currently a member of the NACDA Division I-A Athletic Directors Scholarship Ad Hoc Steering Committee. He also serves on the American Athletic Conference's Athletic Directors Council.

A former collegiate wide receiver, Gragg lettered four years at Vanderbilt while earning his bachelor's degree in human development in 1992. He earned his master's degree in sports administration from Wayne State University in 1999, and received his doctorate in higher education administration from Arkansas in May of 2004.

A native of Huntsville, Ala., Gragg was inducted into the Huntsville-Madison County (Ala.) Athletic Hall of Fame in 2010.

Gragg, 45 (11-19-69), and his wife, Sanya, have four children: daughters DeSha and Saniyah; and sons Avery, a freshman at The University of Tulsa, and Phillip-Raymond.

AMERICAN ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

#AMERICANRISING

In the course of its first two seasons, the American Athletic Conference has taken a place at the forefront of intercollegiate athletics, earning a collection of national team and individual championships and football postseason wins that place The American among the elite Division I conferences.

The American consists of 12 prestigious institutions: the University of Central Florida, the University of Cincinnati, East Carolina University, the University of Connecticut, the University of Houston, the University of Memphis, the U.S. Naval Academy (in football only), the University of South Florida Southern Methodist University, Temple University, Tulane University and the University of Tulsa.

Under the leadership of commissioner Mike Aresco, the American Athletic Conference has written an impressive list of accomplishments, both in and out of the competitive arena.

The league has produced three NCAA championship teams – UConn men's basketball in 2014 and UConn women's basketball in 2014 and 2015 – and two individuals who have won NCAA titles, most recently SMU's Bryson Dechambeau, who was the 2015 national champion in men's golf. Additionally, American Athletic Conference teams have advanced to the College World Series, the semifinal and final rounds of the NIT and the match play round of the NCAA Men's Golf Championship. Half of the conference's baseball-playing members reached the NCAA Championship in 2015, while The American had the best men's basketball postseason record of any conference in 2014, when conference teams were a combined 13-4. Teams from The American have registered top-10 national rankings in football, men's basketball, women's basketball, baseball, men's soccer and men's golf.

In football, two American Athletic Conference football teams were ranked in the top 15 of the final 2013 Associated Press poll, while Memphis finished the season in the top 25 of the 2014 polls as Tigers tied UCF and Cincinnati for the conference title. Six of the 12 teams that compete in The American in 2015 played in bowl games to cap the 2014 season as Memphis, Houston and Navy earned postseason victories.

Teams in The American have enjoyed almost unprecedented success since the conference's formation. Memphis finished with 10 wins in football for the first time since 1938. SMU advanced to the NCAA Men's Basketball Championship for the first time since 1993. UCF and Houston have both achieved top-10 rankings in baseball in the past two years. USF finished the 2014-15 season at No. 8 in the final men's golf national ranking. The UConn women's basketball team won its NCAA-record ninth and 10th national championships as a member of The American.

The American Athletic Conference holds media rights partnerships with ESPN and CBS Sports which give the conference outstanding national exposure on the two industry leaders in sports television. The football portion of the contract calls for nearly 90 percent of conference-controlled games on national broadcast or national cable platforms. The first American Athletic Conference Football Championship, which will be played Dec. 5, 2015, will be carried on either ABC or ESPN on Championship Saturday.

In men's basketball, the television deal calls for all conference-controlled games to be televised, with more than 63 percent slotted for national broadcast or national cable – a minimum of 107 games. The entire postseason tournament will be televised, including the championship game, which will be on ABC or ESPN. Sixty percent of the American's women's basketball games will be carried on national cable, regional sports networks or ESPN3, while the conference has a multi-year agreement with CBS Sports Network for coverage of select baseball games.

American Athletic Conference teams have access to the pinnacle of college football's postseason structure. An American representative would be chosen for the College Football Playoff semifinals if it is among the top four teams in the CFP selection committee's final ranking. Otherwise, the league would place its champion in either the Vizio Fiesta Bowl or the Chick-fil-A Peach Bowl if it is ranked higher than the champions of Conference USA, the Mid-American Conference, the Mountain West Conference and the Sun Belt Conference.

Additionally, The American holds primary or secondary partnerships with 12 bowls for the current six-year cycle, ensuring multiple annual matchups against the nation's top conferences and providing desirable postseason destinations to member institutions and their fans.

The American Athletic Conference administers to its membership from a state-of-the-art office located in Providence, R.I. The location of the conference headquarters – just steps from the city's Amtrak station and 10 minutes from T.F. Green International Airport – gives the conference easy access to its member schools.

The conference headquarters is equipped with a complete video production studio, serving as the home of the American Digital Network, and small- and large-scale meeting rooms to accommodate the many coaches' and administrators' meetings held on-site each year.

TULSA'S RICH POST-SEASON TRADITION

Tulsa has built a tradition as one of the nation's elite basketball programs. Since 1980-81, Tulsa became one of the nation's winningest programs by posting more than 700 victories and making 24 postseason tournament appearances.

Of 28 overall postseason tournament appearances, 24 have come in that period of time. In its history, Tulsa has been invited to participate in the NCAA Tournament 15 times, 11 times to the NIT and won the 2008 CBI crown.

The Hurricane has advanced to the NCAA Tournament nine times since 1994.

Since the 1994 NCAA Tournament, Tulsa has posted a 23-14 record in postseason competition and has advanced to the NCAA "Sweet Sixteen" three times, NCAA "Elite Eight" once, won the 2001 National Invitation Tournaments (NIT) title, and the inaugural College Basketball Invitational in 2008.

In school history, Tulsa has made a postseason tournament appearance 28 times and has posted a 12-15 record in NCAA Tournament competition, 12-9 in the NIT postseason event, and 5-2 in the CBI. Tulsa's first postseason appearance came in the National AAU Tournament in 1921.

After that AAU appearance, it wasn't until the 1953 NIT that Tulsa returned to post-season competition. The first NCAA appearance in school history came two years later in 1955. Two teams overlooked as two of the best teams in school history came in 1967 and 1969, as these Tulsa teams advanced to the NIT Tournament.

Tulsa has won 20 games 22 times in school history, and thus has made the NCAA Tournament in 15 of those 20-win campaigns. Three of the years that Tulsa did not make the NCAA Tournament with 20 victories came in the 1980-81, 2000-01 and the 2007-08 seasons when the Hurricane went on to win NIT Championships twice and CBI once.

In 2014, the Hurricane returned to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in 11 years, after winning the Conference USA regular season and tournament championships. In the NCAA Second Round, Tulsa fell to fourth-seeded UCLA.

In 2009, Tulsa returned to the NIT, the first time since winning the 2001 NIT title. Tulsa captured a first round win over Northwestern, 68-59, at home, but lost in the second round at Auburn. In 2009-10, the Hurricane dropped a one-point decision at Kent State. Tulsa competed in the CBI in 2012-13, falling to Wright State.

In 2007-08, the Golden Hurricane came on strong late in the season advancing to the Conference USA Championship Game against eventual national runner-up Memphis. Tulsa was one of 16 teams invited to play in the inaugural CBI Championship, and turned in home wins against Miami of Ohio, 61-45, Utah, 69-60, and Houston, 73-69, to advance to the best-of-three CBI Championship finals.

Tulsa was paired against old Missouri Valley Conference rival Bradley in the three-game final round. The teams split the first two games on their home courts, with Tulsa winning the first game, 73-68, and Bradley capturing their home win by a score of 83-74. Tulsa won the final game at the Donald W. Reynolds Center, 70-64, to be crowned the first-ever CBI Champions.

In 2003, Tulsa was seeded 13th and played a first round game against fourth-seeded Dayton in Spokane, Washington. The Hurricane built a 19-point lead in the first half and held on for a 13-point victory, 84-71, as Tulsa's guard tandem of Dante Swanson and Jason Parker each scored 24 points while combining to shoot 64 percent from the field.

In the second round, it appeared as though the Hurricane would advance to its fourth "Sweet Sixteen" in the past 10 years by building a 13-point lead against fifth-seeded Wisconsin, champions of the Big 10 Conference. However, the Badgers overcame a late deficit to hit the game-winning three-point buzzer beater to capture a 61-60 victory.

A year earlier, Tulsa returned to the NCAA Tournament in 2002 following a one-year absence. The Hurricane, a 12th seed, squared off against 5th seed and 12th-ranked Marquette in St. Louis, Missouri. Senior Greg Harrington scored the game-winning basket in a 71-69 victory.

In second round action, the Hurricane battled former TU coach Tubby Smith and his 16th-ranked Kentucky Wildcats to the wire, but fell 87-82 behind a 41-point performance by Kentucky All-American Tayshaun Prince.

The 2000-01 version of the Golden Hurricane did not receive an NCAA Tournament bid, but Tulsa made the best of the situation by winning the school's second NIT title, 20 years after securing the school's first NIT crown.

Tulsa opened the NIT with a first round home win over UC Irvine by a 75-71 score. The Hurricane then took to the road for two games, capturing a 76-73 overtime victory at Minnesota, and a 77-75 win against Mississippi State to get the opportunity to travel to Madison Square Garden in New York for the NIT Final Four.

The Hurricane advanced to the championship game by defeating Memphis, 72-64, in the semifinals. Tulsa opened up a 14-point first half lead over Alabama in the title game, and held a 36-25 halftime lead. The Hurricane built a 20-point second half lead and claimed the NIT Championship with a final 79-60 victory.

Senior guard Marcus Hill, who scored a championship game-high of 24 points, was named the tournament MVP. Sophomore forward Kevin Johnson earned all-tournament team honors as well.

Tulsa's 12th NCAA Tournament appearance in 2000 proved to be the school's best. The Hurricane advanced to the NCAA's "Elite Eight" for the first time in school history, and fell just five points shy of defeating North Carolina and advancing to the Final Four.

In 2000, the Hurricane claimed wins over UNLV and Cincinnati in the first two rounds, defeating the Rebels by a 89-62 score, and #7-ranked Cincy by a 69-61 count. In the regional semifinals, the Hurricane ousted Miami (Fla.) with an 80-71 victory, before falling to North Carolina, 59-55, in the regional finals in Austin, Texas.

In 1999, Tulsa traveled east to Charlotte, North Carolina. The Hurricane faced 16th-ranked College of Charleston in first round action. Tulsa built a 21-point halftime lead, but that lead was threatened in the second half. Charleston cut the lead to two points, but the Hurricane held on for a nine-point victory, 62-53.
In second round play, Tulsa faced the nation's number-one ranked and only once defeated Duke Blue Devils. Duke was in top form, toppling the Hurricane 97-56.

In 1996-97, Tulsa had an easy time in the first round with an 81-52 victory over Boston University. In the second round, senior All-American Shea Seals was saddled with early foul trouble but the Hurricane battled a tough Clemson squad, losing 65-59.

In 1995-96, the Hurricane faced the tournament-tested Louisville Cardinals and fell in a heart-breaking 82-80 overtime loss in first round action in Milwaukee, Wisconsin.
