Looking Ahead

Tulsa returns home to the Reynolds Center after their four-match road trip for a pair of weekend matches against Tulane on Friday before taking on Houston Sunday. The Hurricane went five sets in their previous meeting with both the Green Wave and the Cougars, falling to Tulane in the fifth set after rallying to win the fourth and fifth sets to defeat Houston two days prior.

The Hurricane will look to even the all-time series against Tulane once again after the Green Wave took a 14-13 series lead on their 27th meeting on Oct. 2. Tulane is led by the duo of Sarah Ray and Justine Bowers, who rank third in the AAC in kills and first in assists, respectively.

TU holds a 15-7 series lead on Houston dating back to 2005 and have won two of the last three, with each road team coming away with victories in the previous three match-ups.

Last Time Out

The Hurricane dropped their sixth and seventh straight matches as they fell in a pair of road contests to UCF and USF last weekend. Despite being swept by the Knights, Tulsa played all three sets tough in a tightly contested match as every set was decided by just two points. After dropping the opening set against USF on Sunday, the Hurricane responded with a dominant 25-15 set win but could not repeat in the following two sets. Tulsa recorded a .242 hitting-percentage in the match, their highest in a match since they tallied a .250 in a win over Oral Roberts on Sept. 16.

Sophomore Rachel Moore hit .611 with 12 kills as one of three different Hurricane attackers to reach double-digit kills while the TU defense had four different players record double-digit digs against USF.

Pink Out Match

Tulsa will play their annual "Pink Out Match" for Breast Cancer Awareness on Friday as they take on Tulane. TU won their "Pink Out Match" against UConn last season in a five-set battle after defeating SMU the season prior. The first 75 fans will receive a white and pink 'Cane rally towel.

Rating Percentage Index (RPI)

Tulsa fell 11 spots down from 68 to 79 on the latest NCAA RPI that was released on Monday. The Hurricane rank fifth among American Athletic Conference competition on the index, who as a conference ranks sixth nationally with five teams in the top 80.

Double-Doubles

Senior outside hitter Rebecca Reeve recorded her 10th double-double of the season on Friday as she compiled 10 kills and 13 digs in the Hurricane loss to UCF on the road. Through 22 matches this season, Reeve has tallied double-digit kills 15 times and double-digit digs 14 times, posting a season high of 17 and 23, respectively.
