Tulsa, Okla. is “Green Country”

Geographically, Tulsa sits at the crossroads of America. Metaphorically, it is the crossroads of America. It’s where creative expression, sophistication and down-to-earth hospitality all converge in a lush natural setting to redefine what it means to be a modern American city.

Tulsa is nestled in the northeastern quadrant of Oklahoma, right in the heart of “Green Country.” The rolling green hills and wooded terrain of the city lies at an elevation of 700 feet above sea level and offers a temperate climate. Tulsa’s enjoy 227 days of sunshine a year and an average daily temperature of 61 degrees.

What began as Tulsee Town in 1836 under a sturdy oak tree, which still stands today at 18th and Cheyenne Streets, is today the second largest city in Oklahoma. Tulsa was forever changed by the discovery of oil in 1901.

Today, Tulsa offers enviable low cost of living combined with big city attractions and amenities. From world-class outdoor spaces to legendary music venues, Tulsa has an unexpected, dynamic quality of life without the sticker shock of other regions.

Lots of cities have notable parks, but very few have a crown jewel like Gathering Place. This 100-acre riverfront park is situated in the heart of Tulsa. On par with visionary public spaces as Manhattan’s Central Park and Chicago’s Millennium Park, Gathering Place blends nature in an urban setting, providing Tulsans and visitors more space to play, relax and gather together along the Arkansas River. The park’s highlights include an adventure playground, seasonal gardens, walking and biking trails, a pond and boathouse, two restaurants, and much more.

Downtown Tulsa is a treasure trove for lovers of architecture, with a concentration of Art Deco rivaled only by New York City and Miami. The central public space in downtown, Guthrie Green, is a year-round destination for live music, cultural programming and festivals. Just a few blocks northeast is ONEOK Field, home of the Tulsa Drillers, a Class AA affiliate of the Los Angeles Dodgers. The ballpark sits within the historic Greenwood District, Tulsa’s resurgent Black Wall Street known internationally as a hub of African American entrepreneurship and resilience.

Nearby you’ll find the Blue Dome and Arts districts, which offer visitors a variety of restaurants, bars and galleries. Downtown’s premier shopping and specialty stores – a confectionary, rare guitars, an indie bookstore and more – have something for every taste.

The BOK Center is downtown Tulsa’s award winning and premier sports and entertainment venue, playing host to worldwide superstars and NCAA DI Basketball Championship tournaments. The venue was named the 2016 and 2018 Arena of Year.

“The Tulsa Sound” is as alive and well in 2019 as it was when Eric Clapton and George Harrison jammed with Tulsa’s own Leon Russell and JJ Cale. Tulsa’s historic live music venues, like the Cain’s Ballroom and Brady Theater, are second to none. The multi-purpose BOK Center is a world-class entertainment venue, recently named the Arena of the Year for the second time in the last three years.

Take in a special afternoon of art, culture and history at one of the city’s iconic museums, including the world’s greatest collection of Western art at the Gilcrease Museum and the eclectic and thoroughly contemporary Philbrook Museum of Art. You’ll also find the Woody Guthrie Center, which celebrates the acclaimed folk singer’s life and legacy, and soon you’ll be able to visit the permanent home of Bob Dylan’s archives. Other family-friendly attractions include the Tulsa Children’s Museum, the Tulsa Zoo and the Oklahoma Aquarium.

The crossroads of America wouldn’t be complete without America’s Main Street. Historic Route 66 runs the full east-to-west stretch of the city along 11th Street, offering nostalgic looks at the city’s past and a bold vision of the community’s future. From classic diners and burger joints to the new Mother Road Market food hall, Route 66 in Tulsa is one of city’s newest culinary hotspots.

Further into the city, notable districts include Cherry Street, a seven-block hub of trendy shops, bistros, cafés and bars; Brookside, a nearly mile-long stretch of upscale shopping and dining; and the Pearl District, which has Tulsa’s highest concentration of craft breweries. The Hard Rock Hotel and Casino, River Spirit Casino Resort and Osage Casino also feature restaurants, nightclubs and a constant stream of live entertainment.

Tulsa hosts a never-ending lineup of exciting games, tournaments and recreational events throughout the year. Sports spectators can look to The University of Tulsa, Tulsa Drillers baseball, Tulsa Oilers ice hockey and FC Tulsa soccer. Tulsa Tough is one of the most popular bicycle street races in the country, and the annual Tulsa Run the Route 66 Marathon appeal to runners from around the world.

For every local or visitor, Tulsa inspires something different! To learn more about all that Tulsa has to offer, check out VisitTulsa.com.

Skelly Field at H.A. Chapman Stadium

The 2024 season is the 94th for football being played on the turf of Skelly Field at H.A. Chapman Stadium, the home of Golden Hurricane Football since 1930. The stadium first opened as Skelly Field, later was named Skelly Stadium and in April 2007 received the name of H.A. Chapman Stadium. The stadium underwent a major facelift in the summer of 2008 and on September 20, 2008, Tulsa opened the renovated stadium with a 56-14 victory over New Mexico.

H.A. Chapman Stadium

On April 24, 2007, it was announced that the University of Tulsa had received the naming gift for renovation of the football stadium.

The H.A. and Mary K. Chapman Trust provided the financial gift for half of the estimated cost for renovation of the H.A. Chapman Stadium. Trustees of the H.A. and Mary K. Chapman Trust are Donne Pitman and Jerry Dickman.

Following the 2007 football season, a complete renovation of H.A. Chapman Stadium began.

The stadium renovation included new seating throughout the stadium, restrooms, concession areas, new press box with luxury suites and club level seating, and a new scoreboard on the south side of the stadium, among other amenities. A new FieldTurf was installed in April 2008, and again in 2013 and prior to the 2017 season.

The steel structure on the stadium's west side was removed, substantially improving the aesthetics of the facility. The structure on the west side has an exterior finish of pre-cast concrete panels trimmed with cast stone. This returns the façade to the original architecture of the stadium, keeping the traditional look and feel of other campus structures. The stadium now has a capacity of 30,000.

When the stadium was first constructed in 1930 it was originally named Skelly Field, but was changed to Skelly Stadium in 1947 when 5,000 seats were added to north end zone.

Skelly Field at H.A. Chapman Stadium celebrating its 90th anniversary in the 2020 season.

Opening Skelly Field was a dream come true for Coach Elmer "Gloomy Gus" Henderson. Before Tulsa played its home games in Skelly Field the Golden Hurricane used McNulty Park, the minor league stadium that was the forerunner of Oiler Park. McNulty was located near the corner of 11th street and Elgin.

An unprecedented wave of prosperity swept over America in 1928 and wealthy Tulsa oil men began listening to Henderson's dream. The trustees were proceeding with plans for a stadium on faith that a donor would appear. In April, 1930, William Skelly, a long-time friend of the University, gave $125,000 to the stadium fund if another $175,000 could be raised. The remaining money was raised by Tulsa businessmen who organized the Stadium Corporation of Tulsa.

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held on May 11, 1930 and the race was on to complete the stadium for the upcoming season.

Skelly Field opened on October 4, 1930 against Arkansas. Records show that 13,000 spectators were on hand for the game.

On the opening kickoff of that inaugural game, Arkansas fumbled and end Johnny Potts recovered for Tulsa. On Tulsa's first play from scrimmage, Billy Boehm scored the first touchdown in the north end zone of the stadium. Later, Chet Benefiel scored the first touchdown in the south end zone. Tulsa went on to win the contest by a score of 26-6.

Since that day, some of college football's greatest stars have graced Skelly Field. Opponents the likes of Sammy Baugh, Ollie Matson, Bob Fenimore, Walt Garrison, Gino Toretta, Keith Jackson and Ladaian Tomlinson are a few of the games' greatest to step on the Skelly Field turf.

Tulsa's own Glenn Dobbs in the 1940s, the passing combination of Heisman Trophy runners-up Jerry Rhome and Howard Twilley in the 1960s, future NFL receiving greats Steve Largent and Drew Pearson in the 70s, the 1980s Palomino Express of Micheal Gunter and Ken Lacy and the stars from the 1991 Freedom Bowl Championship team thrilled Hurricane fans through the years.

In 2003, Tulsa's Humanitarian Bowl team excited fans by averaging over 37 points in six home games, while in the 75th anniversary year of Skelly Field the 2005 squad won the Conference USA Championship and advanced to a second bowl game in three years.

The 2016 season saw the Tulsa football team post an undefeated 6-0 home record and the school's 10th season of 10+ wins.

The highest attended game in stadium history was 47,350 on September 26, 1987 against No. 1 — ranked Oklahoma.

H.A. Chapman Stadium Through the Decades

1930s

Oil man and longtime friend of The University of Tulsa, William Skelly, gave $125,000 to the Stadium Fund Drive in the spring of 1930. The remaining $175,000 was raised by Tulsa businessmen who organized the Stadium Corporation of Tulsa.

Ground-breaking ceremonies were held on May 11 and the season kicked off on October 4, as Tulsa hosted Arkansas in front of a crowd of 13,000. On the opening kickoff, Arkansas fumbled and Johnny Potts recovered for Tulsa. Billy Boehm scored on the very next play for the first touchdown in the north end of the stadium.

Chet Benefiel scored the first TD in the south end zone and Tulsa went on for a 26-6 victory. The Golden Hurricane won its first six games at the new stadium that year.

1940s

A couple years earlier, 1938, the University traded Skelly Field to the Tulsa Public Schools for the Philtower Building lot at 5th and Boston. TU then began to lease the stadium from the board of education.

In the 1940s, Skelly Field was home to some of the best teams in school history. The Hurricane became the first school to play in five straight New Year's Day Bowl Games and the 1942 team posted a 10-1 record and finished the season ranked fourth in the final Associated Press poll.

In 1947, William Skelly turned the first shovel full of dirt at ground-breaking ceremonies for a 5,000-seat north end zone expansion and the name changed to Skelly Stadium. The first home game that season saw Tulsa defeat West Texas State 26-13 on September 20.

1950s

The 1950s began with Tulsa going undefeated at Skelly Stadium in the decades first three seasons, posting an 18-0-2 record covering 1950 through 1952. In 1956, a Billy Graham rally brought a crowd of 28,000 on June 18, 1956.

1960s

The Stadium Corporation was reorganized in 1964 and planned to build two high school stadiums (LaFortune and McLain) in exchange for Skelly Stadium. Skelly would be enlarged to 40,235 seats and the total program would cost $1,250,000. The track was removed, the field lowered and box seats added. The excavated dirt was used to support the new south end zone stands. Seating was added to the west stands plus a new two story press box, escalator and elevator. The third story photo deck was added the next year. Skelly Stadium was returned to become the property of TU in 1968.

1970s

The 1970s saw numerous players who went on to NFL careers grace the Skelly Stadium turf that decade, including NFL legends Steve Largent and Drew Pearson. The grass field was changed to Tartan Turf in the summer of 1972. Professional soccer made its debut at Skelly Stadium with a preseason game in 1977, and a year later the Tulsa Roughnecks made Skelly Stadium its home.

Tulsa won its 200th game at Skelly Stadium on September 15, 1979 with a 28-20 win over Southwestern Louisiana.

1980s

In the spring of 1980, a modern scoreboard and animated message center was installed above the south stands. John Cooper's 1980 team ushered in the new decade with an 8-3 record, including a 5-0 mark in home games. Tulsa's 10-1 record in 1982, including a 5-0 home record, was the fourth 10-win season in school history and just the second since Skelly Stadium was built.

1990s

Some of the biggest wins in Skelly Stadium history came in the 1990s. The Miracle on 11th Street was just the start on September 21, 1991, when the Hurricane came back from a 24-10 halftime deficit for a thrilling 35-34 victory over #15-ranked Texas A&M. In 1996, Tulsa opened its home season with a 27-20 win over #19 Iowa and two weeks later defeated Colorado State, 20-14, in its debut game of the Western Athletic Conference.

2000s

The 2000s began with the installation of a new FieldTurf, a synthetic artificial turf that looked and felt like natural grass. The north end zone stands were demolished in 2005 to make room for the new Case Athletic Complex that opened in 2007. It was also announced in 2007, that Skelly Stadium would have a new name – H.A. Chapman Stadium and in 2008 the stadium went through a complete renovation. The renovated stadium opened on September 20 with a 56-14 victory over New Mexico.

2010s

Three 10-win seasons came in this decade with the first coming in 2010 at 10-3. In 2012, Tulsa posted an 11-3 record and won the Conference USA Championship on its home turf with a 33-27 overtime win over UCF. Tulsa also claimed a 10-3 record in the 2016 season and was 3-0 at its home venue in the COVID-shortened 2020 season.

H.A. Chapman Stadium Highlights

1930 — Groundbreaking ceremony for the 14,500 seat Skelly Field occurred on May 11. The first football game was played on Oct. 4, 1930 in front of a crowd of 13,000. Tulsa defeated Arkansas 26-6.

1938 — TU traded Skelly Field to the Tulsa Public Schools for the Philtower Building lot at 5th and Boston. TU began to lease the stadium from the board of education.

1947 — Lease renewal for Skelly Field was signed. The 5,000 seat north end zone stands were added and the scoreboard moved to the south end zone. Skelly Field was the original name, but changed to Skelly Stadium when the north end zone seats were added.

1953 — In August, former TU star Jim Finks played for the Pittsburgh Steelers in an exhibition game against the Chicago Bears before a crowd of 10,000.

1956 — On June 18, Evangelist Reverend Billy Graham held a one-night rally and set what was to that date a stadium record crowd of 28,000.

1960 — Newly formed American Football League entries, Houston Oilers and Dallas Texans, met in an exhibition contest in August.

1964 — The stadium corporation was reorganized and it planned to build two high school stadiums (LaFortune and McLain) in exchange for Skelly Stadium.

1965 — Skelly Stadium was enlarged to 40,235 seats at a cost of $1,250,000. The track was removed, the field lowered and box seats added. The excavated dirt was used to support the new south end zone stands. Seating was added to the west stands plus a new two story press box, escalator and elevator. Work was completed in August.

1966 — The third story photo deck was added to the press box. Skelly Stadium turned into a baseball field for one game on May 5. The St. Louis Cardinals baseball club played their triple-A farm team, the Tulsa Oilers, in an exhibition game. The contest drew a crowd of 18,904, which saw the Cards beat Tulsa 5-4.

1968 — Skelly Stadium was returned to the University.

1972 — Tartan turf was installed in the summer months.

1977 — Professional soccer made its debut at Skelly Stadium with a preseason game.

1978 — The Tulsa Roughnecks, an NASL professional soccer team, moved into Skelly Stadium.

1979 — Getty Oil Company and Getty Refining and Marketing Company made a $350,000 grant for refurbishing and repairs to the Stadium.

1980 — A modern scoreboard and animated message center was installed above the south stands.

The sign package was donated by Dr. Pepper, KJRH Television and Getty Refining and Marketing Company. The largest crowd for soccer occurred on April 26 when the Roughnecks met the New York Cosmos before 30,831 fans.

1987 — The largest crowd in Skelly Stadium history, 47,350, saw Tulsa lose to the nation's number one-ranked Oklahoma Sooners, 65-0.

1982 — A new artificial turf was installed and the lighting system was replaced.

1984 — A new scoreboard above the north end zone and 25-second clocks were added in each end zone.

1991 — Stadia Turf, a new artificial surface, was installed in the summer. The football season had the highest season attendance average in school history with an average of 31,236 fans for seven home games.

1993 — A new scoreboard was erected in the south end zone. It was completed just one day before the home opener on September 18.

2000 — New FieldTurf was installed in the summer. The synthetic artificial turf looks and feels like natural grass. The visiting team locker room was refurbished.

2003 — Installed new stadium lighting.

2005 — The north end zone stands were demolished in February, thus clearing way for the new Case Athletic Complex. The stadium seating was reduced from 40,385 to 35,542.

2007 — The Case Athletic Complex in the north end zone was completed in June; and on April 24, it was announced that the H.A. and Mary K. Chapman Trust has provided the financial gift for half of the estimated cost for renovation of the newly named H.A. Chapman Stadium.

2008 — The H.A Chapman Stadium underwent major renovation and now has a new stadium capacity of 30,000.

2013 — A new playing surface, FieldTurf Revolution Cool Play featuring cork and rubber, was installed in the spring of 2013, as was an 80-foot LED electronic sign located on the south end zone field level wall.

2017 — A new FieldTurf surface was installed.

2018 — ONEOK Club had a complete renovation and an LED board was added to the north end zone.

2023 — The stadium videoboard was replaced.

Case Athletic Complex

The Case Athletic Complex opened in June 2007, less than three years after the plans were unveiled for the facility that houses Golden Hurricane football.

On November 11, 2004, University of Tulsa President Steadman Upham unveiled plans for the Case Athletic Complex to be located in the north end zone of Skelly Stadium. Excavation began on January 13, 2006.

The 30,000 square foot complex was built at a cost of $10 million, and it began phase one of the renovation of Skelly Field. Phase Two began following the 2007 football campaign, when Skelly Field at H.A. Chapman Stadium underwent major renovations.

The Case Athletic Complex, named for Mike Case, a developer and philanthropist who made a significant financial gift for the project, houses football coaches offices, meeting rooms, game day suites, academic support center for all student-athletes, football locker room and equipment room, athletic training room, video production suite and Lettermen's Club suite.

A renovation of the locker room was completed in the summer of 2018.

The facility provides the Tulsa football program with an exceptional every-day use facility, as well as providing all TU student-athletes with an area dedicated to academic enhancement.

Tulsa Golden Hurricane

A LOOK AT THE 2024 SEASON

The 2024 season is the second for the Golden Hurricane under Head Coach Kevin Wilson. Tulsa returns 33 lettermen from last year's 4-8 first season, while losing 35 through the transfer portal and graduation. Despite losing 14 starters, Tulsa brings back 19 of those 33 returning letterwinners who saw starting experience in 2023.

New Faces

Tulsa has 53 new faces on the 2024 roster with 27 scholarship freshmen, 15 transfers and 11 walk-on athletes. Among the new players, 25 are on offense, 24 on defense and four on special teams.

Surveying the Quarterbacks

The 2023 season showed the importance of quarterback depth as Tulsa was forced to start four different quarterbacks due to injuries. Fortunate for the Hurricane the top two pass throwers return in the likes of sophomore Cardell Williams and redshirt freshman Kirk Francis.

Williams ended the year with 1,149 passing yards and 10 touchdowns, while showing his ability as a runner with 202 yards and five scores. Francis had a four-game total of 967 passing yards and six TDs.

Tulsa coaches added a talented freshman signal-caller, Tim Carpenter from Dayton, Ohio, in the second signing day period. Still, Tulsa was looking to add an experienced quarterback if one could be found. Insert... graduate transfer Cooper Legas from Utah State.

Legas completed 63 percent of his passes (284-of-454) for 3,485 yards and 32 touchdowns in 21 games for the Aggies. He played in nine games with seven starts in 2023 and completed 65 percent of his throws for 1,815 yards and 19 TDs with just eight pickoffs.

Looking for Consistency on the Offensive Line

"We're a little thin on the offensive line," said Wilson. "Consistency of the offensive front will be huge. We'll have to see how this group gels and comes together."

Tulsa loses seven letterwinners and while only three returnees – Tautai Li'o Marks, Rey Burnett and Walter Young Bear – bring any significant playing time upfront for while combining for 30 career starts.

The Hurricane added three transfers, coming from California, SMU and New Mexico State, along with four high school linemen.

Solid Group of Tight Ends

Tulsa has a solid group of tight ends, yet fairly young, to help with blocking as the offensive line grows and matures. "Tight end is a part of the line," said Wilson. "This group is a little more mature and may be a group where we can play more than one tight end."

Sixth-year player Ethan Hall, from nearby Bixby, leads the tight end group. Two returning sophomore letterwinners Luke McGary and Connor Vaughn saw considerable time last year, while two highly-recruited freshmen — Jackson Ford and Jewlyen Roberts — join the roster.

Cardell Williams

Kirk Francis

Anthony Watkins

New Look Receiving Corps

Tulsa has two potential game-breakers returning in the likes of graduate Kamdyn Benjamin and junior Braylin Presley, along with sophomore Grayson Tempest.

A former walk-on, Benjamin had a breakout season in 2023 with a team-leading 47 receptions for 727 yards and six TDs. The former Oklahoma Player of the Year, Presley caught 11 passes for 122 yards in his first season after transferring from Oklahoma State.

Two transfers, Jeremiah Ballard from UTEP and Purdue's Zion Steptoe, joined the Hurricane for spring drills. Ballard caught 45 passes for 685 yards and two touchdowns in 27 career games with the Miners, while Steptoe played primarily as a defensive back in two years at Purdue.

Tulsa added five talented freshmen — 6'4" Josh Smith, 6'2" Joe Williams, 6'1" Corey Smith and 6'0" Jacob Emmers and Alex Green. "It's a young group, but they're all good-looking athletes, added Wilson. "It will be learning how to play the way we want to play, learning our system, our culture, and our style."

Watkins Leads Running Backs

Graduate Anthony Watkins leads Tulsa's running back corps after rushing for 889 yards and four TDs a year ago. Watkins finished the year strong with 100-yard rushing performances in three of Tulsa's final four games.

Wilson feels good about the running back corps going into 2024 with Watkins and junior Bill Jackson II, along with redshirt freshman Cam Crooks and two highly-regarded freshman backs from the state of Texas. Jackson gained 414 yards with a 4.5 average per carry last year while the two incoming freshmen had productive prep careers — Lloyd Avant and Viron Ellison Jr.

Walk-ons to Key Contributors

Over the years, Tulsa has had a number of walk-ons who have contributed to the Tulsa football team and the 2023 season was no different.

A former walk-on, Kamdyn Benjamin, became Tulsa's go-to receiver in 2023, finishing the year with a team-leading 47 receptions for 727 yards and six TDs, including two 100-yard games.

Ethan Hall

Kamdyn Benjamin

Walk-on safety Dayne Hodge and quarterback Kirk Francis earned scholarships following the 2023 campaign. Hodge took over the starting spot at safety and ended the season with 57 tackles and two forced fumbles. Francis, who redshirted last year, threw for 967 yards and six touchdowns in the final four games.

Wilson on the Defense

"We'll have to shore up some things on the backend with Kendarin Ray graduating and Jaise Oliver transferring, and losing a few others in the secondary," Wilson said. "I like our front seven. The frontline has a chance to be really good. It's not a dominating defensive front, but we have some good young lineman that will get better with maturity. We lose some linebackers, but we feel good with the transfers coming in. They showed through spring practice their maturity and that they can be a solid group for us."

"We have to be better at tackling and limiting the big plays. We weren't a good tackling team last year and it's hard to win when you give up big plays."

New Linebacker Corps

Despite no 2023 lettermen returning to the Golden Hurricane linebacker corps, three veteran transfers, all of whom participated in spring drills, make up a solid foundation.

Two former Broken Arrow High School stars – Gavin Potter who spent four years at Kansas before playing last year at Arkansas State and TCU transfer Zach Marcheselli – are joined by Southern Cal transfer Chris Thompson as the graduate players who will start out with the majority of playing time.

A pair of redshirt freshmen CJ Turner III and Elijah Wilson and two incoming freshmen Aquavious Dunbar and Maruio White will be expected to see playing time.

On the Edge

Tulsa lost sack-leader and TFL-leader Ben Kopenski to graduation, but Indiana transfer Myles Jackson possesses similar traits to hold down that JACK defensive end spot, giving the Hurricane solid guys on the edge.

Owen Ostroski, Vontroy Malone, Zach Neilsen and Justin Lohrenz will provide valuable experience on the outside. Although missing three games with injury, Ostroski registered 31 tackles and was ranked right behind Kopenski with 10 TFL and four sacks. Malone tallied 24 tackles and 3.5 TFL in his first real season of playing time, while Neilsen backed up at the JACK position with 19 stops.

"I think we have some really good edge players that can help us with the bulk of that playing time coming from Myles, Owen, Vontroy and Zach," said Wilson.

A Young Interior

"On the interior we lost a couple guys but we added a couple good ones," Wilson said.

Angelo State transfer Amieh Williams is a quick and active player who turned in a great spring, while Mason Fleming is another solid freshman addition. Joining the newcomers on the interior are returning players Tyler Rich, a redshirt freshman from nearby Owasso, R.J. Jackson, who lettered as a true freshman from Oklahoma's Choctaw High School, sophomore Tai Newhouse and junior Brody Reese.

Owen Ostroski

Dayne Hodge

Vontroy Malone

"Tyler was playing well for us before missing the last half of the year and R.J. came on strong for us as a true freshman. Tai was able to get healthy last year and is perhaps one of our better inside players and Brody Reese has done well," said Wilson.

The Secondary

"We've got 10 guys playing the safety spots which gets us to three-deep at each of those positions," said Wilson. "If we were to start the season today it would be Devin Robinson, Dayne Hodge and Malachai Jones."

A former walk-on, Hodge solidified himself as a starter last year and finished the season third on the team with 57 tackles and shared the team lead with two forced fumbles. Jones made a smooth transition during spring drills from receiver to the safety spot, while Robinson saw playing time in four games while saving his redshirt season.

"We have some depth at the corner with returnees, one transfer and two talented freshmen," said Wilson.

Five different cornerbacks started a year ago and four of those return to the Tulsa secondary. Tyree Carlisle had the most starts with eight, followed by five from Keuan Parker, four from NuNu Campbell and two starts by Demarco Jones.

The secondary has an influx of talented newcomers, five at safety and three at corner, that will push for playing time

Something Special

Tulsa returns three specialists as the punter, kickoff specialist and holder are back.

Punter Angus Davies was solid in his first season with the Hurricane, averaging 42.7 yards on 58 punts. Michael Slaba averaged 60.1 yards on kickoffs with 10 touchbacks, and backup quarterback Stephen Kittleman handled the holding duties.

Tulsa added transfer kickers Seth Morgan, who has connected on 38-of-52 field goals between stints at Sam Houston and Memphis, and Texas walk-on transfer Reed Malphurs.

Head Coach Kevin Wilson is in his second season

KEVIN WILSON

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

SECOND YEAR

Kevin Wilson is in his second season as head coach of the Golden Hurricane football program. He was introduced as The University of Tulsa's 34th head football coach on December 6, 2022.

Wilson came to Tulsa following six seasons as the offensive coordinator and tight ends coach at The Ohio State University. With 31 years of coordinator experience, Wilson has directed some of the most innovative and prolific offenses in the nation over his 39-year collegiate coaching career.

Before his stint at Ohio State, Wilson spent six years as the Indiana University head coach. He also coached at Oklahoma, Northwestern, Miami (Ohio), North Carolina A&T, Winston Salem and North Carolina as a graduate assistant.

In his first season at Tulsa, Wilson not only laid the groundwork for future success with the Golden Hurricane but instilled a culture that saw his student-athletes turn in the program's best marks academically. His first season ended with a 4-8 record against a schedule featuring three of the nation's top-20 teams, including eventual FBS national runner-up Washington. Four of the losses came by seven or less points, while Tulsa's four victories were by nearly 17 points per game.

Wilson has been a part of 13 seasons with 10 or more victories and has coached in four national championship games, including three at Oklahoma and one with Ohio State. He helped guide the Buckeyes to a 67-8 record in his six years on staff and before that won 26 games at Indiana.

In 2022, Wilson was selected as one of the inaugural recipients of the GRAPHITE Award recognizing excellence in Offensive Play Calling Efficiency, presented by RII Sports Technology. His Play Calling Efficiency Rating (PCER) of 80.2% during the 2022 campaign was the highest in the Big 10 Conference and ranked in the 96th percentile among all FBS programs.

Ohio State featured one of the nation's top offenses under Wilson's guidance. The Buckeyes have ranked among the top-7 in total offense all six of his seasons, and among the top-8 for scoring offense five times. In the pandemic-shortened 2020 season, Ohio State was also eighth in rushing offense and 11th in scoring offense.

In Wilson's six seasons, the Buckeyes:

- Averaged 524.1 yards per game and 43.6 points per game;
- Topped 500 yards of total offense 47 times and 600 yards 18 times;
- Scored 410 touchdowns, second-most nationally;
- Threw 242 touchdown passes, No. 1 nationally;
- Produced three Heisman Trophy finalists (Dwayne Haskins in 2018, Justin Fields in 2019 and C.J. Stroud in 2022);
- Produced the first 2,000-yard rusher in school history (J.K. Dobbins);
- Produced two 1,000-yard receivers in back-to-back seasons (Jaxon Smith-Njigba and Garrett Wilson in 2021; Marvin Harrison Jr. and Emeka Egbuka in 2022);

- Produced eight NFL First Round Draft selections on offense (C Billy Price, QB Dwayne Haskins, QB Justin Fields, WR Chris Olave, WR Garrett Wilson, QB C.J. Stroud, OT Paris Johnson Jr. and WR Jaxon Smith-Njigba)

The range of diversity is nothing unusual for Wilson. Twice he's been on an offensive staff – at Oklahoma and Indiana – that produced a 3,500-yard passer, two 1,000-yard rushers and a 1,000-yard receiver in the same year, and Ohio State came within 46 rushing yards from Mike Weber in 2018 to giving Wilson a third team to accomplish the feat. In 2021, his offensive unit had a 4,000+ passer, two 1,000+ receivers and one 1,000-yard rusher.

During his tenure, Ohio State won four consecutive Big Ten championships plus claimed a Cotton Bowl win over USC in 2018, a Rose Bowl win over Washington in 2019, advanced to the College Football Playoffs in 2020 and defeated Clemson in the 2021 CFP Semifinals to advance to the CFP championship game.

Wilson spent six seasons as the Indiana head coach and led the school to consecutive bowl games in 2015 and 2016 for the first time in 25 years. His teams led the Big Ten Conference in passing three times (2012, '13 and '15) while finishing second in 2016. His 2015 offense led the Big Ten in passing, total offense and scoring.

An offensive coordinator to the late Randy Walker for seven years at Miami-Ohio (1992-98) and then for three years at Northwestern (1999-2001), Wilson and Walker led the RedHawks to a 59-36-5 record before devising a power-spread offense at Northwestern that carried the Wildcats to a Big Ten Conference co-championship in 2000. Highlights of that season included Northwestern leading the Big Ten in rushing for the first time in 54 years.

Wilson then coached under Bob Stoops for nine years at Oklahoma, serving as co-offensive coordinator from 2002-05 and offensive coordinator from 2006-10. During his tenure, the Sooners won six Big 12 championships, played in three national championship games (2003, '04 and '08) and Wilson's offenses "evolved into a beast," according to published reports and featured a then-NCAA record 716 points scored in 2008 that still ranks No. 2 in FBS history.

Following the 2010 season, Wilson was named Indiana's head coach. His IU stint was not only an exciting offensive era for the Hoosiers, but it also featured an average of 21 academic all-Big Ten players each year and his tenure was the second-longest for an IU coach in 20 years.

Student-athletes have thrived under Wilson wherever he has coached. Some of note include:

- Miami Redhawk Travis Prentice rushed for 3,937 yards and 56 touchdowns in three seasons under Wilson, and he closed his career sixth in NCAA rushing history;
- Northwestern's Zak Kustok had 532 yards of offense in a 2001 game – still the seventh-most yards in Big Ten history – when Wilson was offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach;
- Two of Wilson's running backs – Northwestern's Damien Anderson and Indiana's Tevin Coleman accumulated 2,000 rushing yards in a season with Coleman's 2,036 in 2014 16th in NCAA history and Anderson's 2,063 in 2000 not ranked by the NCAA because of bowl game yards but fifth in Big Ten history;
- Oklahoma's Adrian Peterson just missed a 2,000-yard season under Wilson in 2004 with 1,925 yards;
- Oklahoma quarterback Sam Bradford became the NCAA's career-leader in passing efficiency (min. 500 completions);
- Bradford and Oklahoma's Landry Jones each passed for over 4,700 yards in a season to rank 21st and 23rd, respectively, in NCAA history;
- Wilson's 2008 Sooner offense set an NCAA record by scoring 60 points in five consecutive games;
- Indiana quarterbacks Nate Sudfeld, in 2015, and Richard Lagow in 2016, held the top two single season passing yardage totals in IU history, with Sudfeld's 3,573 yards 10th in Big Ten history; and
- The 2015 IU offense became just the fourth in FBS history – and second for Wilson – with a 3,500-yard passer, two 1,000-yard rushers and a 1,000-yard receiver in the same year (USC in 2005; Oklahoma in 2008 and Southern Miss in 2015).

Wilson was selected as the Frank Broyles Award Winner in 2008 as the nation's top assistant coach and was twice a finalist. In addition to Ohio State's eight first-round draft selections, Wilson also had four first-round draft picks at Oklahoma – Bradford, Peterson, Trent Williams and Jermaine Gresham – and 23 of his Hoosiers moved on to the NFL.

A native of Maiden, N.C., Wilson is a 1984 graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he was an offensive lineman and received his bachelor's (education; 1987) and master's (physical education) degrees. After three seasons as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Wilson's full-time coaching career began in 1987 at Winston Salem State and included stops at North Carolina A&T (1988) and Foard (N.C.) High School prior to his tenure at Miami.

Wilson, and his wife, Angela, are the parents of five children: daughters Elaina, Makenzie and Marlee, and sons Trey and Toby, an offensive lineman at Ohio State.

Assistant Coaches

Steve Spurrier Jr.

Associate Head Coach, Offensive Coordinator & Running Backs Coach

SECOND YEAR

Steve Spurrier Jr. is in his second season at The University of Tulsa as offensive coordinator and first as associate head coach. He also moves this year from coaching quarterbacks to serving as the running backs coach.

He was named to the Golden Hurricane coaching staff in January 2023.

Under Spurrier's direction, Tulsa's offense in 2023 ranked among the top-35 nationally for rushing, red zone offense, third down conversions and passing yards per completion.

Spurrier came to Tulsa following three seasons (2020-22) as outside receivers coach at Mississippi State, where he also served as the school's passing game coordinator in 2022.

Spurrier's collegiate coaching career has included 20 postseason bowl games, including the Sugar Bowl, Fiesta Bowl, Cotton Bowl and Orange Bowl, as well as five conference championships (three SEC and two Big 12) and two national championships (Florida, 1996 and Oklahoma, 2000).

In 2022, Mississippi State threw for an average of 311 yards and 36 touchdowns in posting a 9-4 overall record.

Before his coaching stint at MSU, Spurrier joined Mike Leach's staff at Washington State in 2018 as outside receivers coach and spent two years (2018-19) there before moving to Mississippi State with Leach.

Spurrier spent the 2017 season as the assistant head coach and quarterbacks coach at Western Kentucky. Spurrier helped develop quarterback Mike White into WKU's first Senior Bowl participant at quarterback and just the second quarterback in school history to post multiple seasons of 4,000 or more passing yards. The Hilltoppers reached the 2017 Autonation Cure Bowl as White's 4,177 passing yards ranked fourth nationally and his 368 completions led the nation.

Spurrier spent the 2016 campaign at Oklahoma in an off-field role as a recruiting and offensive specialist.

Prior to his time in Norman, Spurrier spent 11 seasons (2005-15) at South Carolina on the staff of his father, Steve Spurrier Sr., as he coached the Gamecocks' wide receivers. He added titles of passing game coordinator in 2009, recruiting coordinator in 2011 and co-offensive coordinator in 2012. During his time in Columbia, the Gamecocks went to nine bowl games and his pupils featured future NFL stars Sidney Rice, Alshon Jeffery and Deebo Samuel.

Before moving to South Carolina, Spurrier spent one season at the University of Arizona (2004) under head coach Mike Stoops, two seasons as wide receivers coach in the NFL with the Washington Redskins (2002-03) and was a part of Bob Stoops' rebuilding project at Oklahoma (1999-2001), culminating with a perfect 13-0 record and national championship in 2000. He also worked alongside Leach during the 1999 season at Oklahoma.

A native of Durham, N.C., Spurrier played collegiately at Duke (1990-94) where he earned a bachelor's degree in economics in 1994. While working as a graduate assistant at Florida, Spurrier received his master's degree in 1996.

Spurrier Jr. and his wife, Melissa, are the parents of triplets, Luke, Gavin and Emmaline; Nolan; twins, Palmer and Hayden, and McKinley.

Ron Burton

Assistant Head Coach & Defensive Line Coach

SECOND YEAR

Ron Burton enters his second season at The University of Tulsa after being named assistant head coach and defensive line coach in January 2023.

A 32-year coaching veteran, Burton was twice named the National Defensive Line Coach of the Year by FootballScoop and coached in a bowl game 14 of the past 16 seasons before coming to Tulsa. Before entering the coaching ranks, Burton spent four seasons in the NFL after playing collegiately at North Carolina, where he and Tulsa head coach Kevin Wilson were teammates.

Burton spent the 2022 season coaching the defensive line at Miami, Ohio, helping the RedHawks to a six-win season and an appearance in the Bahamas Bowl. Burton's defensive line was instrumental in leading Miami to the Mid-American Conference's top rushing and scoring defense, allowing only 136 yards and 22.6 points per game.

Before that, Burton spent nine seasons coaching the defensive line at Michigan State. He coached in seven bowls with the Spartans — 2013 Rose, 2014 Cotton, 2015 CFP Semifinal, 2017 Holiday, 2018 Redbox, 2019 Pinstripe and 2021 Chick-Fil-A Peach Bowl.

Burton is the only coach to win the FootballScoop National Defensive Line Coach of the Year Award twice, an honor he won for the second time in 2018 after MSU finished with the top-ranked rushing defense in the country. He initially won the award during his first season in East Lansing in 2013 when the Spartans claimed the Big Ten Championship, won the Rose Bowl, and finished No. 2 in the FBS for total defense and rushing defense.

In Burton's tenure, the Spartans led the Big Ten in rushing defense four times (2013, 2014, 2017, 2018) and ranked among the NCAA FBS Top 25 seven of his nine seasons, including twice at No. 1 (2014 and 2018).

Under his tutelage, Spartan defensive linemen earned All-Big Ten recognition 17 times, including three-time first-team selection Shilique Calhoun, who became the first defensive end in program history to be named first-team all-conference three times. Five of Burton's defensive linemen moved onto the NFL.

Previously, Burton spent 10 seasons (2003-12) as the defensive line coach at the Air Force Academy. During his tenure, Burton helped the Falcons to a combined record of 67-57 (.540), including a school-record six consecutive bowl appearances (2007-12).

Before arriving at Air Force, Burton spent one season (2002) at Grand Valley State, where he helped lead the Lakers to a perfect 14-0 record and the 2002 NCAA Division II National Championship, the first in school history.

Burton spent five seasons as the linebackers coach at Indiana from 1997-2001 and before that coached linebackers at Eastern Michigan for two seasons (1995-96). He landed his first full-time coaching position as the defensive backs coach at Morehead State in 1994.

A four-year letterman (1982-86) at North Carolina, Burton helped the Tar Heels to three bowl appearances and was named team captain and best defensive lineman as a senior. He graduated from UNC with a bachelor's degree in industrial relations in 1987.

Burton's four seasons as a linebacker in the NFL came with the Dallas Cowboys (1987-89), Phoenix Cardinals (1989) and Los Angeles Raiders (1990). After his NFL career, Burton returned to North Carolina and spent two years (1992-93) as a graduate assistant coach for the Tar Heels.

A native of Richmond, Virginia, Burton and his wife, Andrea, have four children: Ronald, Ryan, Roya and Reid.

Alma Mater: North Carolina '87

Chris Polizzi

(pronounced Pole-Eats-ee)

Defensive Coordinator &
Safeties Coach

SECOND YEAR

Chris Polizzi enters his second season as The University of Tulsa's defensive coordinator and safeties coach.

Polizzi came to Tulsa in May 2023 following five seasons at Tennessee-Martin, including his final three years as defensive coordinator. His experience also includes coaching stops at UCLA, Utah, Iowa, Western Carolina and Tennessee Tech.

In his first season, the Golden Hurricane defense ranked seventh nationally for fumble recoveries and 33rd for turnovers gained. He coached senior safety Kendarin Ray who was the nation's eight-leading tackler.

In 2018, Polizzi began as UT-Martin's linebacker coach, recruiting coordinator and co-special teams coordinator for kickoff and kickoff return. A year later, he served as assistant head coach and secondary coach and kept those responsibilities when he was promoted to defensive coordinator in 2020.

At UT Martin, Polizzi helped lead the Skyhawks to back-to-back Ohio Valley Conference Championships in 2021 and 2022. Last year, the UT Martin defense boasted an advantageous defensive attack in leading the FCS for turnovers gained (28) and interceptions (17) through the regular season. The Skyhawks also ranked among the nation's top-10 for defensive touchdowns (four, 3rd), turnover margin (+9, 5th) and fumbles recovered (11, 8th).

Polizzi mentored 18 all-conference performers at UT Martin, including the 2022 Ohio Valley Conference Defensive Player of the Year and consensus All-American John H. Ford II. He also coached All-Americans Daylan Dotson and Oshae Baker during his tenure.

In UT Martin's 10-3 season of 2021, the defense ranked among the nation's leaders for passes intercepted (17, eighth), defensive touchdowns (three, 11th), blocked kicks (four, 15th), turnovers gained (23, 17th) and blocked punts (1, 25th). UT Martin also ranked among league leaders in sacks (21, first), defensive touchdowns (3, first), scoring defense (25.0 ppg, second), interceptions (17, second), fourth down conversion defense percentage (44.4, second), tackles for loss (6.0/game, second), turnovers gained (23, second) and rushing defense (148.5 ypg, third).

In his first year as UT Martin's defensive coordinator, Polizzi spearheaded a dynamic unit which ranked among Ohio Valley Conference leaders in 2020-21 for third down conversion defense (29.3 percent, first), blocked kicks (6, first), scoring defense (22.0, second), red zone defense (72.7 percent, second), fourth down conversion defense (37.5 percent, third), first down defense (116, second), team tackles for loss (7.7, second), total defense (330.9 ypg, third) and rushing defense (128.9, third). Before joining the UT Martin staff, Polizzi served as an assistant coach at Tennessee Tech for two years (2016-17). While at Tech, he was charged with overseeing the Golden Eagle defensive backs while also serving as the programs recruiting coordinator.

Prior to his stint at Tennessee Tech, Polizzi spent the 2015 season as cornerback coach at Western Carolina. Before that, he was a defensive graduate assistant at the University of Iowa, where he worked with the secondary and helped coach first-team all-Big Ten safety Micah Hyde. Polizzi was a part of the Hawkeyes Outback Bowl team in 2013 and the 2014 Gator Bowl team.

Previously, Polizzi served as a graduate assistant at Utah in 2011 where he coached the tight ends. The Utes entered their first season in the Pac-12 Conference that year, finishing the season with an 8-5 record and a win over Georgia Tech in the Sun Bowl.

Polizzi spent two years (2009-10) as a quality control coach at UCLA working with the secondary. The Bruins capped the 2009 season with a win over Temple in the Eagle Bank Bowl.

He began his coaching career at Central Methodist University in Fayette, Mo., where he coached for four seasons (2005-08).

As a player, Polizzi was a four-year letterwinner as a cornerback at Lake Forest (Ill.) College from 2001-04 and was part of a Midwest Conference championship team.

Polizzi earned a communications degree from Lake Forest in 2005. He later earned a master's degree in special education from Central Methodist in 2007 and a second master's in sport management from Iowa in 2014.

A native of Great Barrington, Mass., Polizzi and his wife, Kelli, have one daughter, Isabella.

Corey Dennis

Passing Game
Coordinator &
Quarterbacks Coach

FIRST YEAR

Corey Dennis came to The University of Tulsa in February 2024 as the Golden Hurricane passing game coordinator and quarterbacks coach.

Previously, Dennis spent nine seasons on the Ohio State coaching staff, including his final four years coaching the Buckeye quarterbacks.

Dennis began his tenure at Ohio State in 2015 as an intern before spending the 2016-17 campaigns as a graduate assistant coach. He was elevated to a senior quality control coach position with the football program in July 2018. In that position, Dennis had increased off-field coaching responsibility in the areas of game planning, practice planning and daily organization with both the wide receiver and quarterback units.

Dennis worked the 2018 and '19 seasons with Ryan Day and the OSU quarterbacks, and the two seasons before that with the Buckeyes' receivers. He became an integral part in some of the most celebrated offensive campaigns in Ohio State history. Dennis was appointed to coach the Buckeye quarterbacks in January 2020.

During his OSU tenure, three Ohio State quarterbacks—Dwayne Haskins in 2018, Justin Fields in 2019 and C.J. Greg Frey

(pronounced Fry)

Offensive Line Coach

SECOND YEAR

Greg Frey is in his second season at The University of Tulsa and his first coaching the offensive line. Frey was named to the Golden Hurricane coaching staff as tight ends coach in January 2023.

Frey brought with him to Tulsa a vast amount of coaching experience at the collegiate level in a career that started in 1996. He has tutored more than 24 student-athletes that have gone onto NFL careers and mentored has also 21 all-conference honorees. His coaching stints include stops at Duke, Florida, Florida State, Michigan, Indiana, West Virginia and South Florida.

Frey came to Tulsa following one season at South Alabama as a quality control analyst on the defensive side of the ball.

Before his stint at USA, Frey spent two seasons at Duke (2020-21) coaching the offensive line and adding the duties of offensive recruiting coordinator in January of 2021. In his first year on Duke's staff, Frey had the tough task of coaching three different starting centers after two season-ending injuries and tutored true freshman Graham Barton, who moved into the starting role, to Freshman All-America honors by The Athletic.

Previously, Frey spent the 2019 campaign at Florida as a quality control analyst. He spent the 2018 season as the run game coordinator and offensive line coach at his alma mater, Florida State. Under Frey's direction, the Seminole line blocked for an offense that compiled 4,334 yards and 31 touchdowns in 2018.

Frey spent the 2017 season as Michigan's run game coordinator, while also coaching tackles and tight ends. It was the first of two coaching stints at Michigan. That season, Frey's group helped the Wolverines rank fourth in the Big Ten in rushing by averaging 177.7 yards per game on the ground with 26 rushing touchdowns. The Michigan tight ends combined to catch 54 passes for 697 yards and five touchdowns, while leading the team in receptions and yards.

From 2011-16, Frey spent six years on Kevin Wilson's coaching staff at Indiana as the school's offensive line coach. With the Hoosiers, he also served as the run game coordinator in 2012 and 2013, co-offensive coordinator in 2014 and 2015 and assistant head coach in 2016. In 2015, Frey was nominated for the prestigious Broyles Award, an honor presented annually to college football's top assistant coach.

While with the Hoosiers, Frey mentored some of the best offensive lines in Indiana grid-iron history. Guard Dan Feeney was a two-time All-America selection and first-team All-America tackle Jason Spriggs became the program's first Outland Trophy semifinalist in 2015.

In 2015, Frey's offensive line blocked for one of the most prolific and balanced offenses in NCAA history as Indiana became just the fourth FBS team with one 3,500-yard passer, two 1,000-yard rushers and one 1,000-yard receiver. In addition, the Hoosiers became the first Big Ten team since Ohio State in 1995 to lead the conference in total offense, scoring offense and passing offense.

Before that, Frey spent three seasons (2008-10) as the offensive line coach at Michigan and helped the Wolverines amass a school-record and Big Ten-leading 6,353 total offensive yards in 2010. UM boasted a balanced attack that year by averaging 250.2 passing yards and 238.5 rushing yards per game.

In 2007, Frey served as the offensive line coach at West Virginia and helped the Mountaineers to an 11-2 overall record, the Big East Championship and a Fiesta Bowl victory.

Frey's first 11 years (1996-06) as a collegiate coach was spent on the initial coaching staff at South Florida, which began its program in 1997. After spending three seasons as a graduate assistant and serving as the Bulls' defensive line coach in 1999, Frey shifted to the offensive line for his final seven seasons in Tampa. During his tenure, the Bulls were 70-43 and participated in the first two bowl games in program history.

Frey spent five seasons (1991-95) playing on the offensive line at Florida State, as the Seminoles posted a 54-7-1 record during that time. He was on the 1993 National Championship Team and was a part of four ACC Championships, five bowl winning teams and finished among the top-5 in the Associated Press national poll.

A native of Clearwater, Fla., Frey graduated from Florida State in 1996 with degrees in interdisciplinary social science and political science. He and his wife, Andrea, have children:

Brad Carson
PRESIDENT

Brad R. Carson became The University of Tulsa's 21st president on July 1, 2021. Having built a distinguished career in public service, law and education, Carson previously was a professor at the University of Virginia, teaching courses related to national security and public sector innovation. He also served as a senior advisor at Boston Consulting Group.

In 2015, President Barack Obama appointed Carson acting under secretary of defense for personnel and readiness at the U.S. Department of Defense. There, he oversaw the human resources, military readiness, education, training, and health care of the nearly 5 million service members, civilian employees, and their dependents within the Department of Defense and managed an internal organization of 30,000 employees. Prior to that, Carson served as the under secretary of the U.S. Army, where he managed the daily operations of the largest military service, and as general counsel of the U.S. Army, where he oversaw the service's worldwide legal operations.

Carson is widely published and is a noted authority on national security, energy policy, and American politics. From 2001 to 2005, he served two terms as a U.S. congressman, representing Oklahoma's 2nd District. Later, he was appointed to the faculty of UTulsa's Collins College of Business and College of Law, where he taught energy policy, property law, negotiation and game theory, globalization, and law and literature. In 2008, Carson deployed during Operation Iraqi Freedom as an intelligence officer and was awarded the Bronze Star for his service.

Carson brings to UTulsa a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion, having spent most of his career working, directly or indirectly, in this area. This interest arises naturally from his childhood growing up on Native American reservations around the country and, later, representing the congressional district that is home to the Cherokee Nation. Carson served as president and chief executive officer of Cherokee Nation Businesses, where he refocused the organization's corporate strategy and governance and significantly increased revenues.

Raised in Oklahoma, Carson received his B.A. from Baylor University and was a Rhodes Scholar at the University of Oxford. He went on to earn a J.D. at the University of Oklahoma.

Justin Moore

VICE PRESIDENT & DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Justin Moore took over as The University of Tulsa's Vice President and Director of Athletics on July 8, 2024. He brings nearly 20 years of intercollegiate experience as a student-athlete and administrator to the role.

"I am excited to join The University of Tulsa," Moore said about his hiring. "The Golden Hurricane has a rich athletics history with competitive teams and bright student-athletes, and I believe in the direction of the university under President Carson's leadership. I am eager to build relationships with so many great people – the coaching and administrative staffs, donors and fans, student-athletes and alumni and the Tulsa community – and get to work advancing this amazing program."

A Houston, Texas native, Moore arrived at Tulsa after spending much of his career in the Lone Star state. He most recently served as the Executive Deputy Athletics Director and Chief Operating Officer of Texas A&M Athletics, where he worked alongside the Director of Athletics in directing the overall planning, implementation, administration and day-to-day operations of the athletics department.

Prior to moving into that role in 2022, Moore worked in various other administrative roles at his Alma Mater, serving as Deputy Athletics Director for Administration from 2019-2021, Senior Associate Athletics Director from 2016-2019 and Associate Athletics Director for Football from 2012-15. During his tenure in College Station, Moore's influence was felt in almost every department, including student-athlete performance and wellness, facilities and event management, fundraising, facility planning and capital projects, academics, compliance, budgeting, team operations and more. He also spearheaded an extensive leadership development program for the athletics department that offers specific courses and continuing education opportunities for coaches, staff and student-athletes. In addition, he has served as the sport administrator for many of the Aggies' key sports including football, men's basketball, men's and women's track and field / cross country, men's golf, and women's tennis.

In his four seasons as the Aggies' Associate Director for Football, he oversaw every aspect of the football program during one of the most successful periods of its history. From 2012-15, Texas A&M won 36 games, earned a bowl berth every season and produced eight First Team All-Americans, as well as the first freshman Heisman Trophy winner in college football history and the school's first Outland trophy recipient. In addition, the team's multi-year Academic Progress Rate (APR) and overall team grade point average were both the highest in program history and football student-athletes earned close to 100 SEC Academic Honor Roll citations.

During that time, Moore oversaw personnel and staffing, departmental budget, recruiting, team logistics, bowl game coordination, day-to-day operations and football-related facility projects, which included the design process for the Davis Player Development Center, the R.C. Slocum Nutrition Center and Bright Football Complex Renovation, and worked closely with the 12th Man Foundation on the $485 million Kyle Field Redevelopment project.

Moore returned to Texas A&M in 2012 after spending four years at the University of Houston as the Assistant Athletics Director for Football. In his time with the Cougars, the team won the most games in any four-year period in school history and earned a pair of Conference USA West Division titles.

A double graduate from Texas A&M, Moore received his degree in finance in 2004 before earning a master's in sports management in 2007. After undergrad, he worked in the private sector as a consultant for Deloitte and Touche LLP.

Moore was a two-time captain for the Texas A&M baseball team. He was a Freshman All-American pitcher in 2001, named to the All-Big 12 Team twice and was a two-time recipient of the Pat Olsen Most Valuable Pitcher Award (2001-2002). He also earned Academic All-Big 12 Team honors for four straight years.

A three-sport standout in high school, Moore graduated from Katy Taylor in 1999 and was inducted in the school's Athletics Hall of Fame in 2012. Moore and his wife Dory have three children: Kate, Tysen and Tatum.

AMERICAN ATHLETIC CONFERENCE

Army joins The American in 2024

The American Athletic Conference

The American Athletic Conference, which has established itself as a preeminent NCAA Division I Football Bowl Subdivision conference, is poised to continue its remarkable ascension to national prominence under the leadership of Commissioner Tim Perneti, who began his tenure in May of 2024.

The American consists of 15 prestigious institutions: the University of Alabama at Birmingham, the United States Military Academy (in football only), the University of North Carolina Charlotte, East Carolina University, Florida Atlantic University, the University of Memphis, the United States Naval Academy (in football only), the University of North Texas, Rice University, the University of South Florida, Temple University, the University of Texas at San Antonio, Tulane University, the University of Tulsa, and Wichita State University (in basketball and Olympic sports).

The American has fashioned an impressive list of accomplishments in the competitive arena, in the classroom and in support of student-athlete welfare. The American stands as one of the elite Division I conference thanks to its collection of national team and individual championships, its football and basketball postseason victories, its expansive media rights contract with ESPN, and its commitment to providing the highest levels of support for student-athletes.

With the addition of Army to the conference ranks in 2024, The American has an institutional presence in five of the top 10, eight of the top 25 and 13 of the top 51 Nielsen media markets.

The league has produced four NCAA championship teams in addition to a College Football Playoff semi-finalist, four New Year's Six bowl champions, two NCAA Men's Final Four participants, six Women's Final Four teams, an NIT champion, 15 NCAA individual championships, and a Rhodes Scholar.

Additionally, American Athletic Conference teams have advanced to the College World Series, qualified for the match play round of the NCAA Men's Golf Championship and registered multiple top-10 finishes at the NCAA Cross Country and Outdoor Track and Field championships.

The American has seen a member school claim a spot in a New Year's Six bowl eight times in the league's first 11 football seasons, including the 2022 campaign, when Tulane capped the biggest one-year turnaround in major college football history with a thrilling win against USC in the Goodyear Cotton Bowl Classic.

Individual teams in The American have enjoyed some of their best football seasons in program history as members of the conference. Tulane went 12-2 and earned a top-10 final ranking in 2022. Navy won a program-record 11 games in 2015, its first season in the conference, and matched that mark with its 2019 campaign. Memphis, which had not won 10 games in a season since 1938, has registered three 10-win seasons in the last nine years (2015, 2017, 2019), including a school-record 12 wins in 2019. Temple enjoyed its first 10-win season in school history in 2015. South Florida finished in the top 25 for the first two times in program history (2016, 2017). Tulsa returned to the top 25 for the first time in 11 years in 2020. East Carolina earned a top-20 ranking in 2014.

Since the conference's reconstitution in 2013-14, teams from The American have registered top-10 national rankings in football, men's basketball, women's basketball, baseball, men's soccer, women's soccer, women's lacrosse, men's golf, women's rowing, men's tennis, women's tennis, men's cross country, men's track and field, and women's track and field.

Athletic Conference student-athletes have distinguished themselves in all facets of intercollegiate athletics. Memphis quarterback Brady White was the 2020 winner of the National Football Foundation's James V. Campbell Trophy as the top scholar-athlete in college football. Temple linebacker Tyler Matakovich won the Bednarik Award and the Nagurski Trophy as the nation's top defensive player in 2015, while Tulsa linebacker Zaven Collins repeated that feat in 2020. The American has had four top-10 Heisman Trophy finishes including Navy quarterback Keenan Reynolds, who was fifth in 2015. Reynolds was also selected as the winner of the 2016 AAU James E. Sullivan Award as the nation's top amateur athlete.

Additionally, South Florida star Georgina Corrick was the Division I softball Academic All-America of the Year in 2022, while Tulsa cross country standout Kirk Smith was chosen as a Rhodes Scholar in the fall of 2016.

American Athletic Conference alumni have made their mark in professional and international sports as well. A number of American Athletic Conference athletes have been selected in the first round of the professional entry drafts in football, basketball, baseball and soccer, including former Memphis center James Wiseman, who was the No. 2 pick in the 2020 NBA Draft, and former Wichita State third-baseman Alec Bohm, the No. 3 selection in the 2018 Major League Baseball Draft. Former Memphis tennis player Joe Salisbury, a 2014 all-conference selection, has gone on to win five Grand Slam championships in men's doubles and mixed doubles. Former Tulane standout Dominik Koepfer has earned a top-50 world ranking in men's tennis and reached the fourth round of the US Open in 2019.

The American announced a lucrative and comprehensive media rights extension with ESPN in May of 2019, providing the conference with a stronger and more extensive presence on ESPN's primary television networks (ABC, ESPN, ESPN2, ESPNU). Since the extension took effect in the 2020-21 academic year, a minimum of 40 regular-season football telecasts and 60 regular-season men's basketball games per season will appear on those primary networks. Nearly every conference-controlled game in all sports will appear either on an ESPN network or on ESPN+.

The first nine American Athletic Conference Football Championships were televised by ABC as part of Championship Weekend. Subsequent championship games will appear on either ABC or ESPN through the duration of the 12-year extension, including the 2024 game, which will air in Friday prime time on ABC.

Away from the competitive arena, The American has established itself as a leader in the area of student-athlete wellness, both through the adoption of NCAA autonomous legislation on matters including full cost of attendance and nutrition. The American's Academic Symposium annually features scholars and students engaged in collaborative research related to student-athlete well-being. The conference, in conjunction with its Student-Athlete Advisory Committee has also launched the Powerful Minds campaign to improve awareness and education on mental health issues and recognize the scholarly achievements of the conference's student-athletes.

HISTORY

Tulsa has four Pro Football Hall of Famers — Jim Finks, Steve Largent, Drew Pearson and Bob St. Clair

1895: THE LEGACY BEGINS

The legacy of Tulsa football began when the Bacone School for Indians and Henry Kendall College, which later became The University of Tulsa, did battle in 1895. It was one of the first football games in the Indian Territory and the game caused a lot of excitement within the student bodies of each school as well as the citizens of the Territory.

People in Indian Territory were excited by the prospects of having football in the area, but no one really understood how the game was played. The Kendall team didn't even actually have a coach in that first season. A young transfer student from Springfield, Missouri, named Norman Leard stepped up to the task.

Although there was no score recorded, Kendall College won the only game the team played that year.

Football struggled to gain its prominence at the college. The college played only 55 games between 1900 and 1910. No teams were fielded in 1907 and 1911.

Kendall College's reappearance on the collegiate football scene in 1912 came at a time when the game itself was becoming modernized. New rules altered the game. Offenses were allowed four downs to make 10 yards. The length of the playing field was reduced from 110 to 100 yards, and most importantly, the 20-yard limit on forward passes was removed.

By 1914, the resurrection of Kendall College football was in full swing and two men helped spur that along. Sam McBirney, a Tulsa banker, and Francis Schmidt came on the scene. In 1914, McBirney led the team to a 7-2 record with five shutout victories, and followed that season with a 6-1-1 record in 1915.

It wasn't just McBirney who jump-started the football program. Ivan Grove, who was one player instrumental in building the the Kendall football program, was the key to undefeated seasons of 1916 and 1919. He quarterbacked the Presbyterians from 1914 through 1916, and again in 1919.

During the 1916 season, Grove and receivers Virgil Jones and Madison "Puny" Blevins developed the controversial "tower play". The play called for Jones and Blevins to sprint down field, Blevins would stop, lift Jones onto his shoulders, and Grove would toss the ball to Jones. At that time, there were no rules against such a play But it only worked once for the Kendallites in a 117-0 thrashing of Missouri School of Mines.

That was the type of domination Kendall experienced in 1916. The season ended with Kendall producing an undefeated 10-0 record, and laying claim to the unofficial title of "state champions."

While the team turned in their uniforms that season, a few Tulsa businessmen wanted one more game for the Kendall team, against the fabulous Irish of Notre Dame. How close Kendall came to playing Notre Dame in the finale of the 1916 season probably will never be known, but a definite move was underway with some of the town's wealthiest oilmen reportedly backing the promotion.

Prior to the 1917 season, McBirney went back to his bank, and Schmidt, an assistant coach under McBirney, went to fight in World War I, as did a number of players. As a result, the 1917 season was a rough one for Kendall College.

Hal Medford took the coaching reins, but enrollment dropped drastically as did the male population. With only two varsity players available, Medford took the initiative to recruit players from Kendall Academy to fill the roster. The team had many weak areas and Medford had a hard time finding players to strengthen those areas. The team went without a win, thus it was called "the season that fell victim to the Kaiser's war."

Henry Kendall College 1916 Football Team

Tulsa versus Arkansas, 1920.

By 1919, the Presbyterians were back in full force and primed for a comeback. Schmidt came back from the war ready to coach, and McBirney joined him as an assistant coach this time. All the players from previous years were back now, including Grove, and optimism was high.

The team played nine games, but only three were seen as serious threats — Oklahoma, Oklahoma A&M and Arkansas. The powerful Kendall team with Grove, John Young, Benton Springer, Harry Miller and Vergil Jones back in 1919, pummeled its first opponent, Oklahoma Baptist. Kendall scored 22 touchdowns and 20 conversions to amass a 152-0 victory.

Tulsa went on to defeated two of its main rivals, including 27-0 against Oklahoma and a 63-7 victory over Arkansas. Tulsa and Oklahoma A&M tied 7-7.

By the turn of the century, Henry Kendall College was on the map as a team to reckon with on the field.

THE GLORIOUS TWENTIES

Schmidt took Henry Kendall College into the new decade with another undefeated season in 1920, the third such season in the brief history of the school. Kendall outscored its opponents in 1920, 621 to 21 points.

As the decade progressed, changes ranging from coaching to the name of the university itself altered the face of Kendall football.

The first thing to change was the actual name of the university. On February 8, 1921, The University of Tulsa was born. The administration of Kendall College believed that by taking on the name of the city, more support from its citizens would follow. This change was met with immediate increases in donations, thus proving its effectiveness.

Schmidt, who led the 1921 team to a 6-3 record, was preparing for the 1922 season when he was named the head coach at the University of Arkansas.

Enter the name Howard Acher. When he took over the position, Acher saw great potential in his team and wanted to publicize it by creating a new identity with a new nickname. Sports writers and others had called the school by any number of names from the Presbyterians to the Orange and Black, to the Kendallites.

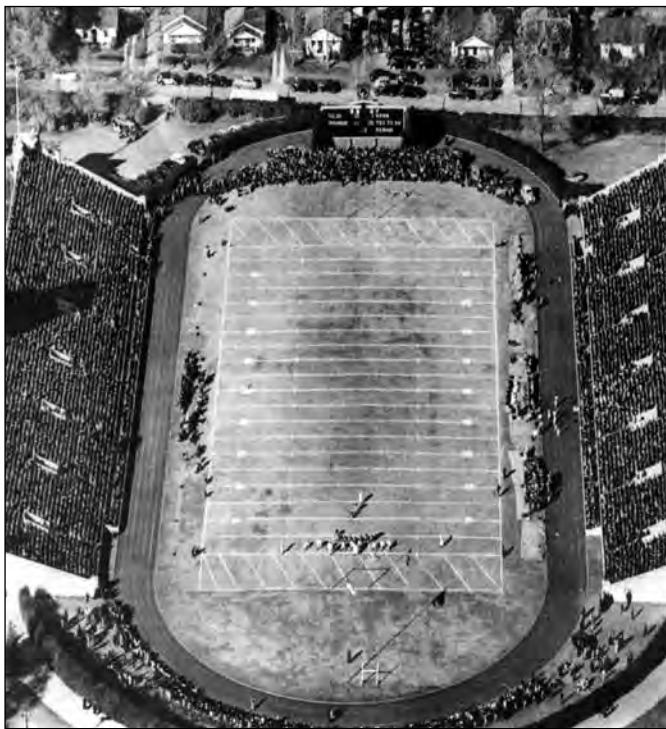

After an opening day win against a strong Texas Christian University team in 1922, Acher put his mind to work. The press had claimed that the Kendall football team blew through its opponents like a tornado. So, it figured that Tornadoes, would be the nickname with "golden" added to identify the color of the uniforms. However, it was later found that Georgia Tech had claimed that name, so from tornado it was evolved meteorologically to a hurricane. Thus the squad voted, and the name "Golden Hurricane" became the new team moniker with the gold added because of the jersey color.

TU lived up to its nickname as the Golden Hurricane blew through the Texas A&M defense in the next game with pass after pass from quarterback Rex Thomas. TU won its first game as the Golden Hurricane by a score of 13-10.

A perfect 9-0 record in was followed with two straight losing seasons, and after the 1924 season Acher resigned his position as head coach. His replacement was quite a shock to everyone as Elmer "Gloomy Gus" Henderson was chosen to take over the coaching reins. The selection of Henderson wasn't as much of a surprise as was his acceptance of the offer. He was coming from a program at the University of Southern California where, "one All American was in the game, and his substitute on the bench was an All American." No one could understand why he would leave such a program. But the reason was simple, his lucrative contract at Tulsa.

Known as "Gloomy Gus" because of his pessimism when speaking for publication, he found success easy at Tulsa. He taught his team five new formations, and put the team back on its feet after only three wins over the previous two seasons. His first few seasons resulted in 13 wins and four losses, and by 1927, Golden Hurricane football was well on its way to recovery.

In 1928, prosperity in America and the success of Tulsa football, inspired Henderson to dream of a new stadium. He took his dream to the rich oilmen of Tulsa, and they supported it. A short time later, Henderson saw his dream come true. The University of Tulsa football team had a new home to go along with the new philosophy and nickname.

TULSA FOOTBALL GETS A NEW HOME

The 1930 season saw Coach Henderson's dream of a new home for Tulsa football become a reality. Though the Depression had hit hard, the need for a new stadium was growing by the day.

McNulty Park, the original home of the Golden Hurricane, had become archaic by modern collegiate standards. In actuality, it was a baseball field that only measured 90 yards. This meant teams had to cross the goal line once, place the ball back on the 10 yard line, and cross the goal line again in order to score.

By 1930, the new stadium had been approved and funding for the $300,000 project had been acquired, so there could be no stopping. The stadium was built to hold 15,000 spectators, and the north and south ends were left open for future growth. Capacity now stands at 40,235. The stadium was named after William G. Skelly, a local oilman, who donated $125,000 to the project. The balance was raised by Tulsa businessmen by organizing the Stadium Corporation of Tulsa.

The stadium was dedicated at the 1930 season opener against Arkansas. The Golden Hurricane christened their new home with a 26-6 victory.

One of the mainstays for the Golden Hurricane during this transition was Chet Benefiel who played from 1928 to 1931. The halfback's exploits on the field was said to have spurred the support for TU football that resulted in the building of Skelly Field. Benefiel earned honorable mention All-America honors in 1930, and captained two teams. He was Oklahoma Back of the Year in 1929, and was selected to the All-Oklahoma team in 1929 and 1930.

As the Hurricane adapted to its new surroundings, the team's prosperity grew. Henderson's 1933 team was the highlight of the decade.

The Golden Hurricane played seven games that season, posting victories over rivals Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas. The Hurricane also soundly beat Oklahoma Central, Washburn and George Washington. The lone setback TU suffered was at the hands of Texas A&M. Wins over such strong competition caused the team of 1933 to be called one of the best in Tulsa football history.

When Henderson decided to leave his coaching post in 1935, TU went in search of a successor. What they found was yet another Rose Bowl champion coach from Southern Methodist University named Vic Hurt. At first, Hurt didn't accept the position, but with some persuasive recruiting talk and a visit to campus, he accepted.

Hurt's tenure lasted three seasons and after the 1938 season, he stepped down to take the head coaching post at Kansas.

Former TU player Chet Benefiel moved up from his freshman coaching position to be Hurt's successor. In 1940, Benefiel led the Hurricane to share the Missouri Valley Conference Championship in 1940. However, his contract was not renewed for the next season. As a result, Tulsa hired Henry Frnka who would lead the Hurricane through one of the most successful decades in Tulsa football history.

TULSA GOES TO FIVE STRAIGHT NEW YEARS DAY BOWL GAMES — THE FIRST SCHOOL TO ACCOMPLISH THAT FEAT

The 1940s saw great development in the strength and notoriety of the University of Tulsa Golden Hurricane. Players like Glenn Dobbs, Sax Judd, Bobby Jack Stuart and N.A. Keithley, combined with the coaching of Frnka meant five straight bowl berths. Tulsa became the first school to go to five straight New Years Day Bowl Games, starting with the Sun Bowl on January 1, 1942. Two Sugar Bowls, the Orange Bowl and Oil Bowl followed.

Frnka brought a fervent love of the game and a strong desire to learn as much as he could about the game to Tulsa. He built a national football powerhouse en route to a career record of 40-9-2 in his five years.

The bowl appearances began in 1941 as the Hurricane posted a 7-2 regular season record. By early December, there had been no talk of a bowl bid for the Hurricane. A 13-6 loss to Arkansas seemed to have dashed any bowl dreams the team may have had. However, on December 4, word came that TU had in fact been invited to the Sun Bowl to play Texas Tech in El Paso, Texas on January 1, 1942.

Tech was favored in the game, but that fact did not intimidate the Hurricane. As the waning minutes of the game approached and the game still scoreless, Dobbs connected with Judd who fell over the goal line for the games only points. Tulsa emerged victorious from its first bowl game.

Tulsa's bowl dynasty gained strength in 1942. At the end of the regular season, the Hurricane had the only perfect record in college football going at 10-0.

It had been rumored that the Hurricane was in line for the Rose Bowl, but when the invitation came, it was from New Orleans and the Sugar Bowl. Tulsa's opponent would be Tennessee.

Tulsa struck first in that January 1, 1943 game. On TU's second possession, Dobbs went to work picking apart the Vols' defense to put the Hurricane on top 6-0. As the game went on, TU saw its lead dissipate. The Volunteers pulled to within one point just before halftime.

A safety and another Tennessee touchdown in the second half gave the Vols a 14-7 victory, and ending Tulsa's hope of going 11-0 on the season and being able to claim the nation's number one ranking. Tulsa ended the season 10-1 and ranked fourth in the nation.

The 1943 season saw Tulsa receive a second straight invitation to the Sugar Bowl. This time the opponent would be Georgia Tech.

After the Tulsa offense failed to gain a first down, Clyde LeForce faked a field goal and threw the ball to Ed Shedlosky for a 6-0 Tulsa lead on the first Hurricane possession. At the start of the second quarter, TU struck again on a Jimmy Ford 76-yard touchdown run putting TU in command 12-0. Then, the Yellow Jackets got on the scoreboard making Ellis Jones, a one armed guard, was named as a first team All American in 1948. By halftime the score stood 12-7.

As the second half began, the Yellow Jackets began a comeback that broke the backs of the Hurricane. Tech quickly scored a touchdown to bring the score to 18-13. A 78-yard drive hammered the final nail in the Hurricane's coffin as the game ended in a 20-18 heartbreaking defeat.

As the next season took shape, TU was looking good for a fourth straight bowl game. Tulsa's wish came true when the Hurricane received word that they'd have a chance to avenge the previous year's bowl loss to Georgia Tech. This time Tulsa would face Tech in the Orange Bowl on January 1, 1945.

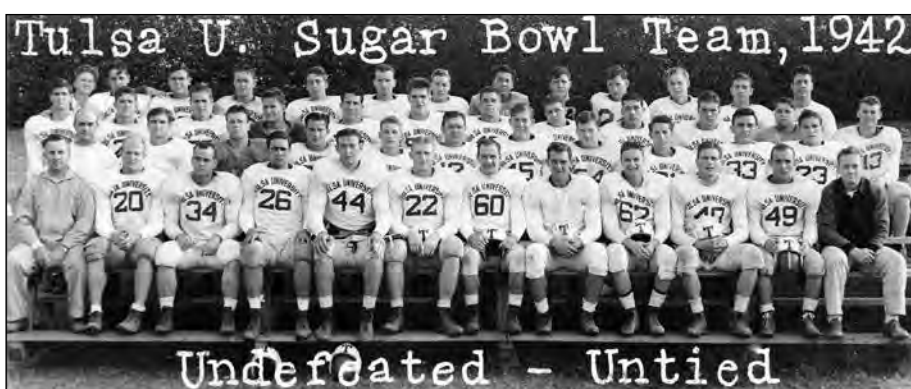

Tulsa scored two first quarter touchdowns and added a third TD in the third quarter before Tech was able to get on the scoreboard. Tech had a third period score and each team scored once more in the final quarter, as Tulsa held on for a 26-14 win.

Coming off that bowl victory, TU was hungry for another, and that hunger grew as the 1945 season began. Hopes of another big bowl appearance were strong, but setbacks near the end of the season deflated those hopes somewhat. However, Tulsa impressed the Oil Bowl selection committee enough with a 20-18 win over Hondo Air Base in the regular season finale to earn a bowl bid. Thus, the Golden Hurricane found itself in its fifth straight bowl game playing Georgia.

The Oil Bowl game was close throughout, as each team capitalized on turnovers and the score stayed 7-6 until the fourth quarter, when the Bulldogs scored 13 of their 20 points in that quarter. Tulsa came out on the short end of a 20-6 battle.

Although that loss ended Tulsa's bowl appearances for a time, the accomplishment of having gone to five straight bowl games put The University of Tulsa on the college football map. The Frnka era also ended with the Oil Bowl game. But, his contributions to Tulsa kept alive a tradition of quality football that ranks with some of the best in the country that carried into the 1950s.

THE BOWL LEGACY CONTINUES

J.O. "Buddy" Brothers moved into the head coaching position in 1946 and took the Hurricane program into the 1950s, but not before posting a 9-1 record in 1946. Tulsa hit a low point in 1948 with an 0-9-1 record, but two years later Tulsa bounced back with a 9-1-1 mark in 1950.

The highlight of the 1950s was Tulsa's visit to the Gator Bowl following the 1952 season where they met a strong Florida team. That season, the Hurricane posted an 8-2-1 record as TU renewed their bowl tradition.

Several players played key roles in the success of that 1952 team. Of course, it all started with inspiration from Coach Brothers, who was born with no left hand. He inspired his players with his courage and determination not to allow his handicap to get in the way. Tom Ham, a player for Brothers on that 1952 team, once said "coach Brothers showed his toughness every day at practice." His toughness spurred the Hurricane to success in 1952.

Coach Brothers was voted Missouri Valley Coach of the Year in 1949 and 1951. His Hurricane teams had a career record of 26-5-1, winning two Missouri Valley Conference championships.

Tulsa was also blessed with exceptional talent in 1952. Tommy Hudspeth, Marvin Matuszak and Howard Waugh were tri-captains. Hudspeth was a strong defensive back for the Hurricane and was selected to the All-Oklahoma decade football team of the 1950s.

Matuszak, hailed as one of the best linemen in Tulsa history, was the first Hurricane player to twice be named first team All-America. Waugh was a record-setting running back. He led the nation in rushing with 1,372 yards and averaging 6.8 yards per rush.

These three men led a strong Hurricane team into the Florida game. From the time the Hurricane took the field against Florida in the Gator Bowl, they knew they were in for a battle. Florida scored the first time they had the ball, and again on a 37-yard pass play in the second quarter.

When TU took the field for the second half, the Hurricane constructed a drive of 73 yards for their first score pulling the Hurricane within a touchdown at 14-7. Tulsa's second scoring drive covered 46 yards, capped by Waugh leaping into the end zone after the Hurricane recovered a fumble at the Gators' 46-yard line. However, Tom Miner's PAT went wide left leaving Florida with a one-point lead, 14-13.

TU had one final scoring opportunity after another Florida fumble with six minutes remaining in the game. The Hurricane traveled to the Gators' 4-yard line, but had to settle for a field goal attempt that missed, allowing Florida to hold on for a 14-13 victory. Although Tulsa lost that bowl game, the 1952 team and those previous to it had some of the best players in Tulsa history.

PASSING WAS THE NAME OF THE GAME IN THE 1960s

As the 1960s took shape, Glenn Dobbs became the head football coach at his alma mater in 1961. Dobbs revitalized Tulsa's passing attack making the Hurricane offense a threat whenever it took the field. Tulsa led the nation in passing for five straight seasons — 1962, 1963, 1964, 1965 and 1966.

Although the 1963 season produced only a 5-5 record, Tulsa's offense, spearheaded by quarterback Jerry Rhome, averaged 199.3 yards passing per contest.

Until 1964, college football was dominated by running attacks. The nation saw Tulsa's vaunted offensive attack in 1964 as the best passing team the nation had ever seen.

For 30 years teams avoided passing the ball because they thought running the ball was a better way to play the game.

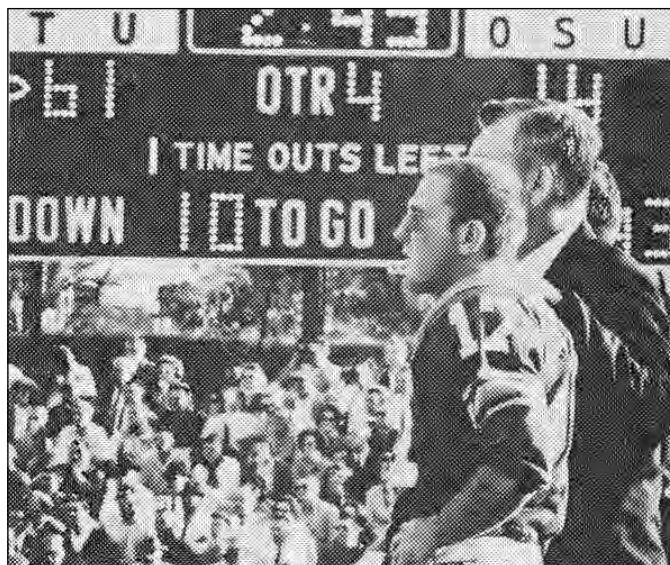

What took years for college football to develop, Rhome and company obliterated in two years. In 1964, the Rhome-Twilley connection broke 20 NCAA records for total offense, passing, receiving and scoring. The notoriety those impressive statistical numbers gave the two Hurricane standouts helped lead them to back-to-back Heisman Trophy runner-up finishes, Rhome in 1964 and Twilley in 1965.

Lineman Marvin Matuszak (1951) was Tulsa's first two-time All-American.

Billy Guy Anderson passes for a school record 502 yards in a 48-20 win over Colorado State.

Heavy underdogs heading into the 1964 rivalry game with Oklahoma State, Jerry Rhome led Tulsa to a 61-14 victory.

Dobbs obviously didn't believe in the ground attack philosophy. He was one of the Hurricane's most prolific passers himself, so it's no wonder he brought his aerial philosophy back to Tulsa. Under Dobbs' guidance, the Hurricane offense passed 52 percent of the time, well above the 29 percent Tulsa's opponents were averaging.

Behind that strong offense, the 1964 team won all but two regular season games leaving the Hurricane with an 8-2 record and an invitation to the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, Texas to face Mississippi.

In that game, Tulsa dominated with its passing game as the Hurricane came from behind to re-establish themselves as a strong bowl team by winning 14-7, and finishing the season with a 9-2 mark.

The 1965 season saw a quarterback named Billy Guy Anderson rise up to lead the Hurricane. It wasn't long before Anderson started breaking the records Rhome had set the year before. Anderson was the nation's leading passer as he took Tulsa to yet another Bluebonnet Bowl.

Twilley was more of a threat than ever as he put his team and NCAA records of the previous year to shame. He caught 134 passes for 1,779 yards and 16 touchdowns in 1965, and came up just short in the Heisman Trophy balloting, as did Rhome the year before, finishing second to USC's Mike Garrett.

The Golden Hurricane went into the Bluebonnet Bowl against Tennessee with an 8-2 record hoping to repeat the success of its previous Bluebonnet Bowl appearance. However, things were rough for the Hurricane this time, as Tulsa could cross the Volunteers' 20-yard line only twice.

Tennessee jumped out to a 14-0 lead as they capitalized on two Tulsa fumbles. They also returned a punt for a third score, and turned an interception into their fourth score. The volunteers put the game out of reach on their last touchdown in the third quarter. Tennessee won the game 27-6.

In the 1960s, Tulsa took the collegiate passing game to a level never seen before. The Hurricane averaged nearly 318 yards in 1964, and increased that average to 346 yards a year later. Under the tutelage of Dobbs, it was Rhome, Anderson and Twilley who helped revolutionize the way college football was played.

NFL TALENT FLOURISHES

The 1970s continued the wealth of talent going through the Hurricane program and entering the professional ranks. Some of the players Tulsa turned out that decade went into the NFL and became legends of the game. Names like Steve Largent and Drew Pearson went on to successful careers in the NFL.

When F.A. Dry took over as head coach at mid-season 1972, replacing Claude Gibson after six games, he was faced with the immediate challenge of creating an understanding of his philosophy. That philosophy. He believed that strong organization was key the to a successful team.

From the moment Dry took the helm, things began to improve for the Hurricane. His first game came the night after he accepted the head coaching position. Before that game, TU had gone 1-5, but upset Louisville and won its final two games to post a 3-2 record under Dry, and 4-7 on the year. It would be the only year during Dry's four-and-a-half year tenure, that the Hurricane would suffer a losing season. A year later, Dry led Tulsa to a 6-5 record and first place in the Missouri Valley Conference.

The 1976 season was the highlight of the Dry Era as he coached the team to a 7-4 record, a Missouri Valley Conference championship, and a berth in the first Independence Bowl where the Hurricane faced McNeese State University.

Things looked promising for the Hurricane at first as they constructed a 65-yard drive capped by a Thomas Bailey one-yard jaunt into the end zone for the first TU score, but at halftime, Tulsa clung to a slight 7-6 lead.

As the second half started, McNeese State produced a 65-yard scoring drive of their own, topped with a two-point conversion giving them the lead 14-7. The Hurricane scored on a blocked field goal attempt, but the PAT was no good, so the Hurricane stayed a point shy of the lead at 14-13.

After Tulsa made a fourth quarter 38-yard field goal to go ahead 16-14, TU seemed to have the game in the palm of their hands, but McNeese State answered by putting together an 80-yard scoring drive during the final two minutes that put the Hurricane down to defeat 20-16.

Dry made great strides in revitalizing Hurricane football. During his tenure, he posted a 31-18-1 record, and coached many standout players. Twenty-seven of them went into the pro ranks most of which were drafted.

One player who wasn't drafted, turned out to be one of the best NFL receivers of all-time. Drew Pearson signed a free agent contract in 1972 with the Dallas Cowboys where he established himself as one of the best receivers in National Football League history.

After two years as Tulsa's quarterback, he went to the receiving end of the ball and led TU to the Missouri Valley Conference championship in 1971. As a receiver for the Hurricane, Pearson caught 55 passes for 1,119 yards placing him tenth in receiving in TU history. His senior season, Pearson averaged 20.9 yards per catch scoring five touchdowns.

Micheal Gunter, one half of the Palomino Express.

Pearson was signed with the Dallas Cowboys as a free agent in 1972.

Steve Largent, who would become an NFL Hall of Fame inductee, was favorably compared to Howard Twilley while at Tulsa. In 1974 and again in 1975, Largent led the nation in touchdown receptions with 14 touchdowns each year. He was a two-time selection for the all-MVC team and was named to the Associated Press second team All-American squad in 1975. Largent averaged 17.5 yards per catch for his career, and caught 51 passes for 1,000 yards his senior season.

In 1977, offensive lineman Steve August was a first round draft selection of the Seattle Seahawks.

These players and others, along with the man who coached them made a mark on Tulsa football history. Some made a mark on the NFL as well. The teams of the 1970s helped Tulsa build a reputation for developing quality players who can make a difference on a team.

NO JUSTICE

John Cooper took over the Tulsa football program in 1977, and suffered through a 3-8 campaign, but in 1978 he rebounded the troops for an impressive 9-2 record.

Perhaps one of the best football teams was assembled in 1982. The only blemish on the season was a loss to nationally-ranked Arkansas. However, Tulsa's 10-1 season and top-20 national ranking was not good enough to impress Bowl scouts.

In that same season, college football fans new about a tandem of running backs at SMU, nicknamed the Pony Express ññ Eric Dickerson and Craig James. But what college football fans may not have known was that Tulsa has the only other pair of running backs in the country to rush for over for over 1,000 yards each — Micheal Gunter and Ken Lacy. In a takeoff of the Pony Express, Tulsa's tandem was dubbed the "Palomino Express".

That season, Tulsa was not the only 10-1 team snubbed from the Bowl picture, as New Mexico was in the same situation as the Hurricane. Tulsa and New Mexico fans cried out for justice, and Justice is just what they received.

Tulsa and New Mexico would square off in the Justice Bowl on December 19, 1982. At 1:15 p.m. that afternoon, radio stations in the two cities carried the play-by-play of a fictitious matchup between the two schools. In Tulsa, the Hurricane would win the game, and in New Mexico the Lobos triumphed.

BOWL GAMES CLOSE OUT 1980S, USHER IN THE '90S

Coach Cooper enjoyed a successful tenure taking Tulsa football into the 1980s, while a former Tulsa quarterback would take Hurricane football out of the '80s and into the 1990s. When Dave Rader became head coach in 1988, he became an expansion of Tulsa football's past.

Between Cooper and Rader, Tulsa had two coaches for a total of three seasons. Don Morton was the head coach in 1985 and 1986, while George Henshaw coached the Hurricane for the 1987 season.

Under Rader, Tulsa football experienced a roller coaster ride. The highest points were two bowl games — 1989 Independence Bowl and 1991 Freedom Bowl.

In 1989, the Hurricane posted a 6-5 regular season mark, and represented the Independent Football Alliance at the Independence Bowl, where the Hurricane faced a strong Oregon team from the PAC-10. The Ducks had a second-place conference finish, and was a 16-point favorite, but TU obviously didn't gamble. TU gave the Ducks all the fight they could handle.

Tulsa struck first on a one-yard TD run from Brett Adams, but Oregon bounced back as they put together scoring drives of 54 and 79 yards of their own to take the lead 10-7. The Hurricane took a 17-10 lead into halftime on a field goal and a blocked punt return for a touchdown.

Tulsa scored once more in the third quarter to build their lead to 24-10, but Oregon came back scoring two quick touchdowns to knot the game at 24. As time wound down in the fourth period, the officials ruled against TU on a fumble recovery allowing the Ducks to continue a drive that ended with a final field goal and a victory. Though the Hurricane suffered a heartbreaking loss, that bowl game allowed TU to get back into the college football spotlight.

That spotlight continued to shine in the 1991 season as Tulsa produced a 10-2 season and a number 21 ranking in the final Associated Press football poll. A season that saw the Hurricane upset 15th-ranked Texas A&M 35-34 at Skelly Stadium, and post a come-from-behind 13-10 victory over Southern Mississippi in the "snow bowl" was capped by an invitation to the Freedom Bowl in Anaheim,

Ken Lacy, the other half of the Palomino Express

California, where Tulsa met San Diego State and star running back Marshall Faulk.

At halftime, the two teams went into the locker room deadlocked at 10-10. In the second half, the Tulsa defense became a wall that the Aztecs offense couldn't penetrate, holding them to just 83 yards of total offense.

Late in the game with the Hurricane up by three points, San Diego State muffed a punt at their own eight-yard line resulting in a Tulsa recovery. Two plays later, the Hurricane scored to make the final score 28-17. That Hurricane team went down in Tulsa football history as one of only five teams to have a 10-win season.

Eight Tulsa players from that team went into the NFL, including the likes of quarterbacks T.J. Rubley and Gus Frerotte, lineman Jerry Ostroski, receiver Chris Penn, and defensive stalwarts Barry Minter and Tracy Scroggins.

Since 1991, Tulsa football has been in a transition period, moving from a football independent to the Western Athletic Conference. Tulsa became a member of the WAC in 1996, and had its best season of league play in 2001, winning four games.

Tulsa football did not enjoy much success in the 1990s but as history has proven, success was not far away.

TULSA GOES TO EIGHT BOWL GAMES IN 12 YEARS

The Golden Hurricane won the 2005 Conference USA Championship in its first season as a league member.

The Steve Kragthorpe Era began with a bang in 2003, as the Golden Hurricane had its first winning season and first bowl appearance in 12 years. Tulsa posted an 8-5 overall record, and placed second in the WAC with a 6-2 mark.

In his first year as head coach, Kragthorpe led Tulsa to the biggest turn-around in college football with a seven-win improvement from the previous season. Tulsa made the school's 12th bowl appearance as the Hurricane played Georgia Tech in the Humanitarian Bowl on January 3, 2004. Tulsa football returned to its roots in 2003 as the Golden Hurricane became an offensive juggernaut, scoring over 30 points in seven games and averaging 30.8 points per game.

With an 8-5 record in 2003, Tulsa's seven-win improvement from the previous year was the biggest turn-around in college football for that season.

Although Tulsa only posted four wins in 2004, including two overtime losses, junior Ashlan Davis, a junior college transfer, made NCAA history becoming the first player to run-back five kickoff returns for touchdowns in a single season. He broke the previous NCAA mark of three.

The 2005 season began another new era for the Hurricane as Tulsa officially became a member of Conference USA on July 1, 2005. It would be a year to remember in the first as a C-USA member.

In conference action, Tulsa defeated the pre-season favorite to win the C-USA East, Southern Miss, as well as the preseason #3 team in the East Division, Memphis, in the regular season en route to posting a 6-2 league record, winning the C-USA West Division title and playing in the inaugural Conference USA Football Championship Game presented by Xbox 360.

Tulsa captured a 44-27 win in the league championship game over UCF in Orlando, Florida, on Dec. 3, 2005, and received an invitation following the game to play in the AutoZone Liberty Bowl in Memphis, Tennessee.

Tulsa was matched up against former Western Athletic Conference rival Fresno State in the Liberty Bowl game. Tulsa amassed 430 yards in the game and scored 14 points in the final 10:35 of the game to capture a 31-24 victory over the Bulldogs in front of 54,894 fans.

The Hurricane finished the season with an overall 9-4 record as senior All-American Garrett Mills became the single-season receiving leader in NCAA history for tight ends.

In 2006, Tulsa made its second straight bowl appearance, a feat not accomplished since back-to-back Bluebonnet Bowl appearances in 1964 and '65. The Hurricane played in the Bell Helicopter Armed Forces Bowl and finished the season with an 8-5 record.

The 2007 campaign, the first for former Hurricane defensive coordinator Todd Graham as head coach, proved to be a record-setting season for the Golden Hurricane. Tulsa set 29 school records, 15 C-USA marks and four NCAA records, en route to leading the nation in total offense with 543.9 yards behind Wuerffel Trophy Award winner Paul Smith at quarterback. Tulsa met up with Bowling Green of the Mid-American Conference in the GMAC Bowl and came away with the largest margin of victory in NCAA Bowl history with a 63-7 win over the Falcons. With a 10-4 record, this Tulsa team became one of only six in school history to reach 10 wins.

A year later, the Hurricane won a school record 11 games by posting an 11-3 mark in 2008, established more school records, won the C-USA West Division title and made its' second straight appearance in the GMAC Bowl, defeating No. 22-ranked Ball State by a score of 45-13.

For the second consecutive season, Tulsa again led the nation in total offense with 569.9 yards per game. The Hurricane scored a school record 661 points, while finishing second nationally in scoring with a 47.2 average. Senior running back Tarrion Adams became the school's single-game, single-season and career record-holder for rushing, while senior placekicker Jarod Tracy set the all-time scoring record.

Only 10 times in NCAA history has a school led the nation in total offense in back-to-back years. Tulsa has done it three of those 10 times (1951-52, 1964-65, and 2007-08).

Tulsa captured its third 10-win season in four years with a 10-3 record in 2010. The season was highlighted with one of the most prestigious wins in school history, a 28-27 road win over Notre Dame, as well as a 62-35 victory against 24th-ranked Hawaii in the Sheraton Hawaii Bowl.

Receiver and kick return specialist Damaris Johnson became the NCAA's all-time record-holder for career all-purpose yards (7,796) and kickoff return yards (3,417). He went on to earn second-team Associated Press All-America honors, while Tulsa finished the season ranked 24th in the final AP poll.

ANOTHER 11-WIN SEASON FOR THE HURRICANE

Tulsa alumnus Bill Blankenship took over as head coach in January 2011 and encountered a schedule that featured three top-10 teams in the first four weeks of the season, including #1 Oklahoma, #7 Oklahoma State and #4 Boise State in three of the first four weeks. Tulsa faced its fourth top-10 opponent in the final regular season game of the year as No. 7 Houston handed the Hurricane a home loss.

Blankenship led the Hurricane to an 8-5 overall record in year one, making the school's seventh bowl appearance in nine years. Tulsa faced BYU at the Bell Helicopter Armed Forces Bowl, falling in the last minute by a score of 24-21.

In 2012, Blankenship's group posted seven straight victories following an opening road loss at Iowa State. Tulsa won the Conference USA Championship with an overtime win over UCF in the title game, thus setting up a second match-up against Iowa State in the 2012 AutoZone Liberty Bowl.

This time, Tulsa got the best of the Cyclones with a 31-17 victory at Liberty Bowl Stadium in Memphis, D'Angelo Brewer became the school's career rushing leader in 2017, while also breaking the American Athletic Conference all-time rushing record that year. He finished his career with 3,917 rushing yards.

Tenn. With the win, Tulsa finished the season with an 11-3 record, tying the school mark for most wins in a season.

TULSA GOES TO FOUR MORE BOWL GAMES

Following two losing seasons, Tulsa named Baylor Offensive Coordinator Philip Montgomery as the school's new head coach. The Hurricane offense was among the nation's top units, ranking 11th for passing (333.2 ypg) and 13th for total yards (507.4 ypg) in Montgomery's first at the helm of the program

Tulsa began the 2015 season with wins over FAU and at New Mexico, before dropping a 14-point decision at #16 Oklahoma. The Hurricane needed a final quarter comeback for a 45-34 victory in the regular season finale at Tulane to become bowl eligible with a 6-6 record. In addition to Oklahoma, two more of the six losses came to nationally-ranked opponents #17 Memphis and #16 Navy, as well as one that would end the season in the final rankings, Houston.

The Hurricane returned to the postseason with a trip to Shreveport, Louisiana to face Virginia Tech in Frank Beamer's final game as the Hokies head coach. Trailing 45-21 in the second quarter, Tulsa out-scored VT 31-10 over the final 33 minutes and fell just shy in a 55-52 loss.

Despite a final 6-7 record and a bowl game loss, the momentum was established to put Tulsa football back into the conversation of conference championships and consistent bowl game appearances.

A year later, Montgomery led the Hurricane to a 10-3 season and 6-2 mark for a second-place finish in the American Athletic Conference's West Division. The 2016 campaign was a record-setting season as the Hurricane became the first team in NCAA FBS/DI history with a 3,000-yard passer (Dane Evans), two 1,000-yard rushers (D'Angelo Brewer and James Flanders) and two 1,000-yard receivers (Josh Atkinson and Keevan Lucas) in the same year.

Tulsa's offense also had a school-record eight 300+ rushing games, while the Hurricane defense had 15 takeaways that led to 101 points and had improvements from a year earlier of allowing the opposition 10 less points and 110 less yards.

Tulsa put an exclamation point on the 2016 season with a 55-10 victory over Central Michigan in the Miami Beach Bowl.

In 2017, two players put themselves atop the school's career performance lists – D'Angelo Brewer became the all-time rushing leader with 3,917 yards and Redford Jones became Tulsa's career scoring leader with 319 points.

The 2020 season was one that college football will never forget as the season was altered by COVID-19. The Hurricane team had eight games affected by the pandemic, but was able to play seven regular season contests and two in the postseason.

Tulsa tied Cincinnati for the league title with a 6-0 AAC mark and went down to the final seconds in the championship game as the Bearcats knocked through a last second field goal for a 27-24 victory. The Hurricane made its third appearance in the Armed Forces Bowl to close out the season.

The campaign was highlighted by the play of the nation's Defensive Player of the year, linebacker Zaven Collins. Collins won the Bronko Nagurski, Chuck Bednarik and Lombardi Awards, while earning consensus All-America honors.

In 2021, Tulsa won its final three regular season games to get bowl eligible and claimed a 30-17 win against Old Dominion in the Myrtle Beach Bowl to finish with a 7-6 record. It was the fourth bowl game under Montgomery. Four of Tulsa's six losses came against four top-25 ranked teams.

The 2020 and '21 seasons brought Tulsa a first in school history when the Hurricane had two back-to-back NFL first round draft picks – linebacker Zaven Collins to the Phoenix Cardinals in 2021 and offensive tackle Tyler Smith to the Dallas Cowboys with the 26th overall selection.

Tulsa celebrates an AutoZone Liberty Bowl victory over Fresno State in 2012.

Zaven Collins' interception return for a TD gave Tulsa a 30-24 overtime win over Tulane and propelled him into being named the National Defensive Player of the Year in 2020.

Tulsa's Bowl Games

1942 SUN BOWL

Tulsa 6, Texas Tech 0
El Paso, Texas

January 1, 1942 • Attendance: 12,000

Tulsa earned its first bowl bid with a 7-2 regular season record. Tulsa's only losses were against Texas Christian, 6-0, and Arkansas, 13-6, in Henry Frnka's first season as head coach.

The game with the Red Raiders, which was played before a partisan Texas crowd, proved to be a defensive struggle. Tulsa's defense held Tech to four first downs and 104 yards of total offense. In the first half, the Raiders pushed the ball to the Tulsa 15-yard line, but the Hurricane defense forced Tech to try a field goal, which missed and resulted in a scoreless first half.

After intermission, Tulsa's Glenn Dobbs punted the ball from the Hurricane 14-yard line out of Tech's end zone, giving Tulsa the momentum. Late in the game, Tulsa mounted a 71-yard touchdown drive behind the passing of Dobbs, who finished the day with 239 passing yards.

With only a few minutes remaining, Dobbs passed to Sax Judd for a 32-yard score, but Dobbs' PAT attempt was blocked. Tulsa intercepted a Tech pass to preserve the 6-0 victory.

1943 SUGAR BOWL

Tennessee 14, Tulsa 7
New Orleans, Louisiana

January 1, 1943 • Attendance: 70,000

Tennessee nosed out Tulsa, 14-7, in the ninth Sugar Bowl football game before 70,000 fans on a beautiful sunny afternoon.

Tulsa scored first on an aerial march of 60 yards headed by All-American Glenn Dobbs early in the second period. Dobbs threw to end Cal Purdin for the score, while Clyde LeForce kicked the extra point. Later in the same period Tennessee countered with six points of their own and at halftime Tulsa held a slim 7-6 advantage.

The Volunteer's power told the story in the second half, as Tennessee scored a safety by blocking one of Dobbs' punts to take the lead in the third period, 8-7. The Volunteers added another touchdown by its powerful running game in the fourth quarter.

With Tennessee leading 14-7 in the waning minutes of the game, the Hurricane drove to the UT 11-yard line and was within one play of a tie, before Tennessee's Bill Nowling intercepted an N.A. Keithley pass to end any hopes of a Tulsa victory.

1944 SUGAR BOWL

Georgia Tech 20, Tulsa 18
New Orleans, Louisiana

January 1, 1944 • Attendance: 69,000

Tulsa made its second straight trip to the Sugar Bowl but failed in its bid for a victory over Georgia Tech in front of 69,000 fans.

For the first three periods and past the middle of the fourth, Tulsa clinged to the lead. But in the end, Tulsa could not withstand an offensive attack led by Tech All-American Eddie Prokop who led the 72-yard drive that gave the Yellow Jackets a 20-18 decision.

Tulsa stopped a Tech drive following the opening kickoff, and from their own 14-yard line marched 86 yards to score in the first five minutes. A fake field goal by Clyde LeForce ended up in a TD pass to Ed Shedlosky. TU tailback Jimmy Ford ran around left end for a 79-yard touchdown on the first play of the second quarter for a 12-0 Hurricane lead.

Prior to halftime, Tech scored on a 71-yard drive, followed by a six-yard TD run by TU's LeForce to give the Hurricane an 18-7 halftime lead. Tech made it 18-13 in the third period, and put together a 79-yard drive for a two-point lead in the final quarter. Tulsa could get only as close as the Tech 34-yard line before the final horn sounded.

Prokop gained 199 yards on 29 carries for Georgia Tech, while Tulsa's Ford had 119 yards on 14 carries.

1945 ORANGE BOWL

Tulsa 26, Georgia Tech 12
Miami, Florida

January 1, 1945 • Attendance: 29,426

Tulsa sought revenge against the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets for the come-from-behind victory in the previous year's Sugar Bowl. This time Tulsa handed the Jackets a 26-12 loss in front of 29,426 fans at the Orange Bowl.

The Hurricane jumped out to a 14-0 first quarter lead and held that same advantage at halftime. On Tulsa's first play of the third quarter, the Hurricane used some razzle-dazzle as Perry Moss threw to Nip Goodnight at the 35-yard line, who then lateraled to Barney White, who sped straight down the north side line for six points, making the score 20-0.

Tech came back with six points of their own in the third period. Tulsa's Camp Wilson quickly quieted the crowd taking the Tech kickoff on the 10-yard line and racing 90 yards for a 26-6 Tulsa lead. Georgia Tech added six points in the final quarter to pull within 14 points of the victorious Hurricane.

1946 OIL BOWL

Georgia 20, Tulsa 6
Houston, Texas

January 1, 1946 • Attendance: 27,000

The game was closer than the score would indicate, as 13 of Georgia's points in its 20-6 victory came in the fourth quarter at the Oil Bowl in Houston, Texas. The Bulldogs scored on their second possession of the first quarter, driving 31 yards after a Tulsa punt traveled only 16 yards. Rabbit Smith scored from three yards out for the Bulldogs.

Just as Georgia had capitalized on a poor punt, Tulsa capitalized on a fumble that was recovered at the Georgia 13-yard line. Five plays later Camp Wilson went over for the touchdown from one yard out giving Tulsa what would be their only score of the game.

The score remained 7-6 through three quarters, but Georgia threw a 47-yard touchdown pass on its second fourth quarter possession, and added a 68-yard punt return for a touchdown by Charlie Trippi. Tulsa had two more opportunities to score but failed.

1953 GATOR BOWL

Florida 14, Tulsa 13
Jacksonville, Florida

January 1, 1953 • Attendance: 30,015

Tulsa battled back from a 14-0 halftime deficit, but saw its brilliant rally fall one point shy as Florida escaped with a 14-13 victory in front of a Gator Bowl crowd of 30,015.

The Gators scored the first time they had the ball, driving 78 yards in 11 plays. Florida scored again in the second period on a 37-yard pass play, capping an 80-yard, 13-play drive. But in the second half, Tulsa's offense threw the Florida defense off balance with the running of Jake Roberts.

The Hurricane put together drives of 73 and 46 yards in the second half. Roberts ran for a three-yard touchdown in the third quarter, followed by a Tom Miner extra point. Tulsa's next touchdown drive began following a Florida fumble at their own 46-yard line. Howard Waugh went over from three yards out for the touchdown. Miner's extra point attempt went wide to the left.

With six minutes left to play, the Hurricane recovered another Florida fumble. Tulsa drove to the Gators' four-yard line, but had to settle for a field goal that again went wide left. Florida was left with just under three minutes to hold onto the ball and the victory.

Tulsa 14, Mississippi 7
Houston, Texas

December 19, 1964 • Attendance: 50,000

Tulsa quarterback Jerry Rhome offset Mississippi's quick, blitzing defense with a mixture of running and passing as the Hurricane came from behind to upset the Rebels, 14-7, in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Rhyme completed 22 of 36 passes for 252 yards and gained 29 yards on the ground. He was the unanimous selection for the most outstanding back. Tulsa defensive lineman Willie Townes, who harassed Rebel quarterback Jim Weatherley, was named the game's outstanding lineman.

Ole Miss opened the scoring with a one-yard Weatherley run in the second quarter. Rhyme answered on a fourth down situation with a one-yard run of his own with 6:15 remaining in the first half. The Tulsa drive covered 72 yards.

In the third quarter, Rhyme threw 35 yards to flanker Eddie Fletcher for the go-ahead touchdown that proved to be the game-winner.

1965 BLUEBONNET BOWL

Tennessee 27, Tulsa 6
Houston, Texas

December 18, 1965 • Attendance: 40,000

Tennessee combined its error-forcing defense, opportunistic offense, and superior kicking with the rain and mud to hand Tulsa a 27-6 loss in the Bluebonnet Bowl. The Volunteers set the tempo by recovering three fumbles and intercepting four passes to frustrate Tulsa's national passing champions.

Other than a 44-yard, 11-play touchdown drive in the closing minutes of the first quarter that saw Gary McDermott run in from one yard out, Tulsa did not cross the Tennessee 20-yard line until the last minute of the game.

Tennessee, who jumped out to a 6-0 lead, scored its first and second touchdowns on drives of 48 and 33 yards following Tulsa fumbles. Tennessee's third touchdown came on a seven-yard drive after a 45-yard punt return.

The Volunteers led 20-6 at halftime and put the game out of reach with their final touchdown early in the third quarter, coming after another Tulsa turnover. Statistically, Tulsa outgained the Volunteers by 105 yards, including a 250 to 37-yard advantage in the passing department.

1976 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

McNeese St. 20, Tulsa 16
Shreveport, La.

December 13, 1976 • Attendance: 19,164

The inaugural Independence Bowl wasn't decided until McNeese State fullback Oliver Hadnot scored the winning touchdown with 37 seconds remaining on the game clock, giving McNeese a 20-16 win.

The excitement began almost immediately as Tulsa completed a 65-yard drive for an opening drive score. Fullback Thomas Bailey's one-yard run capped Tulsa's scoring drive.

At halftime, Tulsa held onto a 7-6 lead. However, in the third quarter the Cowboys took a 14-7 lead with a 63-yard drive and two-point conversion.

On their next possession, McNeese attempted a 51-yard field goal that was blocked, recovered and returned by Tulsa's Mel McGowen 65 yards for a score. The extra-point-attempt was blocked and the Southland Conference champions led 14-13 with 4:07 remaining in the third period.

With 4:22 remaining, Tulsa appeared to have won the game when Steve Cox kicked a three-pointer from 38 yards out to put his team ahead, 16-14. However, McNeese drove 80 yards from their own 20-yard line in the last two minutes and Hadnot raced the final 25 yards for the winning score.

1989 INDEPENDENCE BOWL

Oregon 27, Tulsa 24
Shreveport, La.

December 16, 1989 • Attendance: 44,621

The PAC-10 Conference's second-place team, the Oregon Ducks, entered the Independence Bowl against Tulsa as 16-point favorites, only to hang on for a controversial 27-24 win. The Hurricane went into the game without the services of All-America receiver Dan Bitson, who suffered numerous injuries in an automobile accident two weeks earlier.

The Hurricane scored first on a Brett Adams one-yard run. Oregon put together drives of 54 and 79 yards to take a 10-7 lead, until a Tulsa field goal of 26 yards by David Fuess knotted the score at 10-10 with just over two minutes to play in the first half.

Tulsa took the halftime lead, 17-10, on a blocked punt by Herbert Harvey. Derrick Williams picked up the ball and raced 21 yards for the score with 22 seconds left on the first half clock.

Adams added another one-yard touchdown run in the third period as Tulsa took a 24-10 lead. However, Oregon scored two touchdowns in a six-minute span late in the third quarter and early in the fourth.

With just over three minutes to play, an apparent Tulsa recovery of an Oregon fumble was overruled by the officials. Thus, the Ducks converted on a 20-yard field goal to capture a 27-24 victory.

1991 FREEDOM BOWL

Tulsa 28, San Diego State 17
Anaheim, Calif.

December 30, 1991 • Attendance: 34,217

Tulsa, making its second bowl appearance in three years and its first at-large showing since 1976, notched its first bowl victory since 1964 with a 28-17 win over San Diego State in the eighth Freedom Bowl.

Tulsa's veteran offensive line opened huge holes for tailback Ron Jackson, who grabbed Most Valuable Player honors as he rushed by 211 yards and a Freedom Bowl record four touchdowns on 46 carries. The junior scored once in each of the four quarters, accounting for touchdown runs of 10, 6, 4 and 4 yards, respectively.

The teams were deadlocked at the end of the first and second quarters. Tulsa's defense came alive after intermission holding the potent Aztec offense to just three points and 83 total yards.

Tulsa led 21-17 late in the game when Gus Frerotte's booming 54-yard punt was mishandled by Aztec return specialist T.C. Wright at his own 8-yard line. Billy Cole recovered for Tulsa and the Hurricane scored two plays later to seal the win. The victory earned Tulsa a ranking of 21st in the final Associated Press and CNN/USA Today polls.

2003 HUMANITARIAN BOWL

Georgia Tech 52, Tulsa 10
Boise, Idaho

January 3, 2004 • Attendance: 23,118

Tulsa won five straight games to end the regular season and claimed second-place in the Western Athletic Conference. The prize was a trip to play Georgia Tech of the Atlantic Coast Conference in the Humanitarian Bowl. It would be the third meeting between the two school's, and all three times in bowl games.

The game marked Tulsa's first bowl appearance in 12 years and the eight wins was more than the previous three seasons put together. Although the Hurricane enjoyed its trip to Boise, Idaho, the game was another story. Despite trailing just 10-3 at halftime, Georgia Tech had controlled the first half out-gaining the Hurricane 129-20.

The second half was more of the P.J. Daniels show for Tech. The running back had 104 yards at halftime, and ended the game with 307 rushing yards and four touchdowns. While the Tulsa defense couldn't stop Daniels, the Hurricane offense was giving the Yellow Jackets a short field with six lost fumbles. Six of Tech's eight touchdown drives began inside the Tulsa 40-yard line, and four of those TDs coming after a Tulsa fumble.

Tech put up 42 second-half points and went on for a 52-10 victory, the most lopsided Bowl loss for the Hurricane in 12 postseason appearances.

2016 MIAMI BEACH BOWL

Tulsa 55, Central Michigan 10

Miami, Fla.

December 19, 2016 • Attendance: 15,262

Tulsa's offense was unstoppable and the defense was dominant as the Golden Hurricane posted an impressive 55-10 victory over Central Michigan in the 2016 Miami Beach Bowl on a Monday afternoon in front of 15,262 fans at Marlins Park. Tulsa finished the season with a 10-3 record, the 10th 10-win season in school history, while also capturing the school's 10th bowl game victory.

Tulsa's offense put the Hurricane into NCAA lore, becoming the first team in DI/FBS history to have a 3,000-yard passer (Dane Evans), two 1,000-yard rushers (D'Angelo Brewer and James Flanders) and two 1,000-yard receivers (Josh Atkinson and Keevan Lucas). It didn't take the Hurricane offense long to accomplish that feat as Evans' 30-yard pass to Atkinson in the middle of the second quarter put the Hurricane quintet into the NCAA record books.

With a 27-3 halftime lead, the Hurricane came out in the second half and scored three more touchdowns to take a 48-3 lead after three quarters. Flanders began the second-half scoring barrage with a 17-yard TD run after an earlier 31-yard run in that same series, capping a 56-yard, five-play drive.

While the Hurricane offense gained 581 yards, the defense held Central Michigan to 355 total yards and only 10 points, tying for the fewest points Tulsa had allowed this year. Tulsa's defense had three interceptions, including a bowl record 66-yard return for a touchdown by end Jesse Brubaker.

Conference History

In the early years, Tulsa competed in the Oklahoma Collegiate Conference for 11 seasons. Tulsa posted a 46-7-4 record and won five league titles. The Hurricane spent four seasons as members of the Big Four Conference, winning three conference championships while registering a 12-1-1 mark.

From 1935 to 1985, The University of Tulsa competed for the Missouri Valley Conference football championship. After becoming a member of the conference in 1934, Tulsa proceeded to win the league championship its first four years and eight of its first nine years in the conference.

In 50 years of competition in the Missouri Valley

Conference, Tulsa won more conference championships than any other team in the history of the league. TU has to its credit 25 Missouri Valley Conference titles, including 19 outright titles and six co-championships.

Following the 1985 season, Tulsa withdrew its football membership from the Missouri Valley Conference. The league then closed down its operation of football as a conference sport. Before leaving the MVC, Tulsa won the final six league championships (1980-1985).

Tulsa played as an independent for 10 seasons before becoming a member of the Western Athletic Conference (WAC) beginning with the 1996 season, while the 2004 campaign was the last in the WAC for the Hurricane. Tulsa's best finish in nine years in the WAC was second place with a 6-2 league record in 2003.

The 2005 season was the first for Tulsa in Conference USA, and the Golden Hurricane responded that season by winning the school's first conference title since 1985. Tulsa's affiliation with C-USA ended after the 2013 season, and in nine years, Tulsa posted an overall 49-23-1 mark, four West Division titles and two C-USA Championships.

Tulsa began its membership in the American Athletic Conference in the 2014 season.

In the 1940s, Tulsa became the first school to ever appear in five straight New Year's Day Bowl Games, the Sun Bowl becoming the first

THE HISTORY

Tulsa has a TRADITION-RICH history on the gridiron that began in 1895 as Henry Kendall College

The Tower Play was drawn up by Kendall College in 1916 and would work in a 117-0 win against Missouri School of the Mines

The longest pass play in school history goes for 99 yards in a win over Oklahoma in 1996

John Flanders interception as time expired preserved Tulsa's win over Notre Dame in 2010

In the 1970s, numerous Tulsa players, headlined by future Hall of Famers Steve Largent and Drew Pearson, made NFL rosters.
