WRESTLING FACILITIES

The University at Buffalo athletic department recently made major facility renovations to the wrestling complex, the first of such upgrades since Alumni Arena opened its doors in 1982.

The $400,000 project brought several improvements to the coaches' offices, student-athlete common areas, on-site fitness room and team practice area. Another aspect of the renovation included the addition of windows on the outside facade allowing the practice area to be exposed to natural light for the first time.

The on-site fitness center is one of the most important additions for the Buffalo coaches, as it will allow the student-athletes to train with their team and coaches.

One area in the new complex will be named after former captain Jeff Parker, who lost his battle with cancer in May 2010. The official name for the space will now be the Jeff Parker Student-Athlete Lounge. The Recreation and Athletics Complex (RAC) on the University's North Campus includes Alumni Arena, a $12.5 million Phase II Building and a $1.5 million outdoor playing fields complex.

Alumni Arena's main gymnasium is home to the Bulls' men's and women's basketball teams, wrestling team and the women's volleyball team. The largest "free-floating" hardwood floor in the United States at the time it was built, it features basketball, volleyball and badminton courts circled by a 200-meter track and seating for 6,100 spectators following renovations during the summer of 2004.

In 2011, the University began to renovate the inner-workings of the arena to enhance the game-day atmosphere, adding state-of-the-art sound and lighting systems as well the installation of a new video and scoring system. The eye-catching centerpiece of the renovation is the new four-sided, center-hung LED display, that provides live video, instant replays, and animations.

The displays measure eight feet high and 14 feet wide and will be accompanied by an LED ring underneath which measures 3 feet high and 52 feet in diameter. Rounding out the scoring system will be new fixed-digit displays in both end-zones and seventy feet of LED scorer's tables at court level. The video board made its debut on Jan. 7, 2012.

The building includes three levels of offices, locker rooms, equipment and training-therapy rooms, seminar rooms and racquetball courts. The Phase II Building on the north side of Alumni Arena has an Olympic-sized swimming pool and a separate diving well, a triple gymnasium and dance studio.

Other areas are a wrestling practice room, two weight-training rooms (a state-of-the-art fitness center and a varsity weight room), additional racquetball and squash courts, an erg room, and an aerobics room.

1973-74: A BUFFALO BEST

ED MICHAEL'S SQUAD POSTED A 22-1 OVERALL RECORD

Team Captains
and Jerry Nowakowski

In the University at Buffalo's last year at the Division I level before moving all sports down with exception of baseball, head coach Ed Michael put together one of the finest teams in the history of the school.

Led by Bill Jacoutot, Sr. and Jerry Nowakowski, the Bulls finished 22-1, with its lone loss coming at Clarion, who went on to finish 11th at the NCAA Championships, on Jan. 16.

Despite that loss, the team still managed to start a school-record 18-match winning streak that began with a 45-3 rout of Georgia Tech at Clark Hall. The Bulls posted a perfect 9-0 slate at the old gym, with wins against Geneseo, Bowling Green, Brockport and Maryland included.

The Bulls also went on to win the New York State Championships with a contingent of five champions.

ROBERT E. RICH SR, LAST OF A SPECIAL BREED

Food company giant never left Buffalo roots nor forgot his love of sports

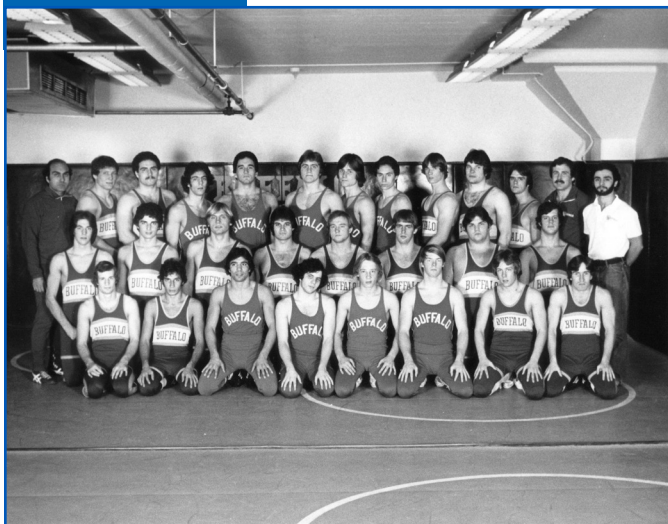

It seems hard to imagine now, much less duplicate. A University at Buffalo graduate founding a one-horse, two truck dairy with his father's $5,000 loan in 1937. Seventy years later, with family still in charge, Rich Products Corp. has $2.5 billion in annual sales and 7,000 employees in 85 countries. To paraphrase, is Buffalo a great place or what?

Robert E. Rich Sr. certainly thought so and showed it, for all his 92 years. When he passed away, his name was on his company, had been on the home of the Buffalo Bills in their Super Bowl years, on the prize given to the best wrestlers at UB and the Harvard Cup MVP award. He was also behind the Triple A baseball Bisons and Dunn Tire Park. He was in the Buffalo and UB sports halls of fame and on the Forbes list of the richest Americans. And it's an easy guess which list he cares about the most. He was one of the last century's giants. The Rich, Knox, Jacobs, Schoellkopf and Butler families led Buffalo. Their legacies in business, media and arts thrive today, and Rich's overlooks the river from Niagara Street.

Bob Rich Sr. once said his crowning professional achievement was receiving the second Frozen Food Industry Founders Award in 1976. The first went to Clarence Birdseye. But Rich's happiest moment was coaching Riverside High to its first Harvard Cup in 1936.

That blend of a man who built and ran a global business in the decades before computer required such thinking, and one who knew the names of UB wrestlers 60 years younger than him, speaks to his character. Like so many of his generation, he was a product of vision, hard work and drive to succeed. He gave the same back to his beloved Buffalo.

THE 1977-78 NCAA DIVISION III CHAMPIONS

The University at Buffalo wrestling program is the only team in the school's existence to capture an NCAA national championship. For winning the NCAA Division III title, the entire 1977-78 squad and its coaching staff were inducted into the University at Buffalo Athletics Hall of Fame in 1995.

UB WRESTLING HISTORY

Although the University at Buffalo was founded in 1846, it was not until the mid-1930's that UB fully entered the world of intercollegiate athletics. Six sports - hockey, golf, tennis, cross country, track and field, and wrestling then formed the field of competition with football and basketball having started in 1894 and 1915, respectively.

It was in the early 1930s that the University's athletic teams adopted the nickname Bulls. Prior to that, UB's athletic teams were referred to as the Bison. The change was made by Buffalo's sportsmen due to the fact that several Western New York professional sports teams were also called the Bisons.

While there was a desire to have more men participate in intercollegiate athletics, an outstanding intramural program had developed. Football, basketball, wrestling, boxing, golf, tennis, fencing, baseball, and softball were among some of the more popular sports. Wrestling and fencing matches began during the 1933-1934 academic year as by this time, UB clearly had the most comprehensive intercollegiate athletic program in Western New York. Among UB wrestling's most distinguished alumnus is Robert E. Rich Sr., the founder and Chairman of the Board of Rich Products Corporation - the nation's largest privately-held frozen foods manufacturer. Known as the "Father of UB Wrestling," he not only was an organizer of wrestling at the varsity level, but the team's first captain and head coach during his senior year.

World War II had a dramatic effect on the University's campus, and it presented serious personnel problems for athletic teams. Between 1943 and 1945, virtually no official athletic teams were in existence as the entire University's physical education department concentrated on the training of American Air Force personnel. Consequently, UB's wrestling program was put on hold until after the war.

Following World War II, athletics at Buffalo returned to normal. During the 1948-1949 season, the wrestling team compiled its best record to date, posting seven wins under former Purdue University star Warren Gregory. In 1950-51, Gregory led the Bulls to a 9-3-1 record and UB wrestling began to garner attention. Over 1,000 fans saw the Bulls' 17-13 loss to Cornell University at Clark Hall where meets used to take place. In March, UB was one of 12 teams participating in the Niagara District Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) Tournament which was televised live on WBEN-TV, the first UB athletic event broadcast on television.

Although the UB wrestling program enjoyed success throughout the 1940s and early 1950s, it floundered in a sea of inconsistency between 1951 and 1966, compiling a 76-91-1 record. The 1966-67 season saw the program's fortunes change however, as Gerald Gergley was named head coach. In his four seasons at the helm, Gergley compiled a 31-15 record as his squads were consistently strong performers in the powerful NCAA University Divisions Cup.

In 1970, Ed Michael was announced as the 12th coach in the history of UB wrestling. Although he compiled an impressive 45-5-0 record at Corning Community College, little did anybody know the impact he would have on the Bulls' wrestling program.

In his inaugural season as coach, Michael led his Bulls to a 14-6-1 record and the first of eight consecutive New York State Wrestling Championships. As a matter of fact, during his first five seasons, Michael guided UB to an amazing 81-13-2 dual meet record.

Michael's second season saw more success as UB posted a 17-1 record and captured first place in the NCAA Division I Regional Tournament, along with its second New York State title. In 1973-1974, the Bulls won a school-record 22 dual meet matches and a fourth-place finish in the NCAA Division I Regional Tournament.

The UB wrestling program achieved the ultimate during the 1977-78 season when they not only won their eighth-straight New York State Title, but the NCAA Division III Wrestling Championship. To this day, this remains the only national championship won by an athletic team in the history of UB athletics. However, Michael's thirst for success wasn't quenched by this tremendous accomplishment.

Between 1978 and 1991, UB wrestling teams placed in the top 20 at 13 NCAA Championship tournaments. In 1986, the Bulls won the SUNYAC Wrestling title after back-to-back top three finishes, while the 1989-90 season saw the Bulls capture the Division II Qualifier and a national ranking as high as 11th.

In 1991 after more than two decades as head coach of UB's wrestling program, Michael stepped down in order to concentrate more on his increasing responsibilities as Assistant Athletic Director for Recreation and Intramural Services at UB. Inducted into the UB Athletic Hall of Fame in 1995 with his 1977-78 National Title team, Michael retired as Buffalo's winningest head wrestling coach, compiling a 213-106-3 dual meet record while coaching at the Division I, II, and III levels. In his 21 years as the Bulls' head coach, Michael's teams produced 39 All-Americans, captured UB's only national title, placed in the Top 20 at 13 NCAA Championships, ranked in the nation's Top 20 on four occasions, captured eight straight NYS titles, won the SUNYAC Championship, and won 98 tournament championships.

Following Michael's retirement, assistant coach Charlie Cheney took over as head wrestling coach. Cheney came to the Bulls in 1988 as an assistant after holding the same position at Ashland College. Cheney had been co-captain of the 1982 NCAA Division II Champion California State University at Bakersfield squad, finishing second in his weight class and earning All-America honors. However, his success on the mat didn't translate into success as a coach, and he was dismissed following four disappointing seasons.

The 1995-96 season saw former University of Pittsburgh assistant coach Jim Beichner named as the 14th head coach of UB's wrestling program. The program experienced a rebirth as the Bulls posted 10 dual meet victories (more wins than in any of the previous eight UB seasons) and captured third place in the New York State Collegiate Wrestling Championships and at the East Coast Wrestling Championships. Additionally, the Bulls qualified two wrestlers for the NCAA Division I National Wrestling Championships as the Bulls finished 53rd out of 80 teams. Beichner was named the New York

State Wrestling Coach of the Year for Divisions I, II, and III, the ECWA Coach of the Year, and the Amateur Wrestling News' Rookie Head Coach of the Year. In addition, the wrestling team was recognized for its outstanding effort, receiving the Athletic Department's Quantum Leap Award.

The Bulls continued to experience success in Beichner's second season, compiling a 12-2-2 dual meet record, including the program's 400th dual meet victory at Ohio, and finishing third in the ECWA for the second time in as many seasons. Jason Wartinger (118/126 pounds) advanced to the NCAA Championships and finished his career at Buffalo with 61 wins.

John Stutzman (150) posted a 35-4 record, highlighted by a school-record 24-match win streak and four tournament championships. In the 1997-98 season, three was the magic number. It was Beichner's third season as coach and he guided the Bulls to a third-place finish in the ECWA for the third straight season. In addition, he led three individuals, Chad Caros, Jeremy McVige and Vince DeAugustine, to the NCAA Championships.

Buffalo finished the 2000-01 regular season third overall in the MAC. Four wrestlers qualified for the 2001 NCAA Championships. Shawn Kegel (133), Dave Guarino (165), Josh States (184), and John Eschenfelder (Hwt) represented the Bulls, securing them a national team finish of 48th. States also broke the school's career overall wins record by finishing his career with 102 victories.

In 2005-06, Beichner's 11th season with the Bulls, the team had a breakthrough season, receiving votes for the first time in the National Wrestling Coaches' Association Division I poll and reaching 24th in the nation in WrestlingReport.com's national rankings. Led by Kyle Cerminara, who rewrote the UB record book during the season as he set career wins, dual meet wins and dual meet takedowns records, the Bulls crashed the national scene. Cerminara went on a 34-match winning streak, smashing Stutzman's mark and Mark Budd (133) also pulled off a first, as he upset a No. 1-ranked wrestler, Shawn Bunch of Edinboro, 6-4, marking the first time a UB grappler beat a Division I No. 1-ranked wrestler.

Harold Sherrell (Hwt), a walk-on five years before, had one of the most memorable seasons in school history, winning 35 matches and a MAC Championship to earn a bid to the NCAA Championships, along with Budd and Cerminara. In all, the Bulls tied a school-record with seven placewinners at the MAC Championships and also posted a record six MAC Wrestler of the Week winners. Cerminara earned a No. 2-seed at the NCAA Championships, the highest-ever for a UB grappler before finishing in the top 12 at the event.

The Bulls earned another winning dual meet record in 2006-07 and the program also welcomed another member to the exclusive 100-win club. Mark

Kevin Smith is one of seven UB wrestlers to post more than 100 wins, and ranks second in dual wins (with 52)

UB WRESTLING HISTORY

Budd joined that exclusive list when he capped his outstanding UB career with 104 victories and his second appearance at the NCAA Championships.

In 2010-11, the team won a program-record four individual titles and finished third at the MAC championships. A record nine Bulls also placed in the postseason tournament and junior John-Martin Cannon was named the Most Outstanding Wrestler, the first Buffalo wrestler to ever earn that honor. Aside from the postseason success, the team also inducted two more members to the 100-win club, as senior Jimmy Hamel and junior Desi Green earning their membership. Green additionally became the first junior in program history to win 100 matches.

In the national tournament, rising sophomore Mark Lewandowski made his name known among all of Division I. After barely losing to eventual national champion Bubba Jenkins of Arizona State late in the match, Lewandowski won three straight matches - including an upset of fifth seed Jesse Dong of Virginia Tech - en route to a top-12 finish.

The 2011-12 season was one of growing pains for a young, and inexperienced team. The team still sent a pair of wrestlers to the national tournament: junior Mark Lewandowski for the second straight season, and redshirt freshman Max Soria. Senior Kevin Smith not only reached the 100-win mark for his career, but he also finished the season with 121 total wins (2nd most all time) and won a dual match on the final day of the regular season to pass Kyle Cerminara for the most career dual wins (with 52). Lewandowski won over 30 matches for the second straight year and set the single season record for most two-point near falls.

For the fourth-straight season, a UB wrestler reached 100 career wins, as Mark Lewandowski reached the mark early in 2012-13. It was a difficult season for the Bulls, who won one dual but still sent four to the national tournament: Lewandowski, Soria, Cannon, and Blake Roulo.

In the Spring of 2013, John Stutzman was named the 15th coach of the wrestling program. He returned to his alma mater after winning 97 duals in eight seasons as the head coach at Bloomsburg. The Bulls will offer plenty of talented youth as the next generation of Buffalo begins in 2013-14.

After a three-win campaign in his first season as head coach, John Stutzman began to change the culture of the UB wrestling program during the 2014-15 season as the Bulls were able to amass five wins, five times the amount of wins they gathered two years prior. With the foundation in place and the leadership of Stutzman, the 2015-16 Bulls are looking to make a splash on the national stage.

Stutzman continued to build the UB wrestling program into a contender in the Mid-American Conference after leading the Bulls to a 10-9 overall dual record in 2015-16. The 10 wins were the most since the 2003-04 campaign. UB won conference duals over #21 Old Dominion and Northern Illinois. Joe Ariola, Colt Cotten and Bryan Lantry all qualified for the NCAA Championships.

Buffalo had an even better season in 2016-17 with an 11-6 dual record and a 4-4 mark in the MAC. The four conference wins were the most by a UB squad since joining the MAC in 1998. Jake Gunning was the MAC Champion at 285 lbs. Kyle Akins and Bryan Lantry also qualified for the NCAA Championships. Lantry came very close to earning a spot on the podium, losing in overtime in the eight-place match.

The Bulls finished second in the MAC in 2019, their highest finish since joining the conference. Troy Keller and Brett Perry each won conference titles at 165 and 197, respectively, and UB had six national qualifiers, the most since 2011. Stutzman was named the MAC Coach of the Year after leading the Bulls to a 12-5 overall record and a 5-2 conference mark.

Troy Keller repeated as Mid-American Conference champion at 165 at the 2020 MAC Championships. Keller and Derek Spann (133) were national qualifiers. However, due to COVID-19, the 2020 NCAA Championships were canceled.

The Bulls finished a shortened season due to COVID-19, 4-3, in 2021. Michael Petite (157) and Sam Schuyler (285) were both national qualifiers and both advanced to Day 2.

Buffalo had its best season since joining the Mid-American Conference in 2021-22. The Bulls went 7-2 in conference duals, their most wins since joining the league in 1998. The Bulls had three national qualifiers, John Arceri (149), Michael Petite (157) and Jay Nivison (174). Derek Spann finished his career as the program's all-time leader in career duals wins with 53.

In 2023-24, the Bulls won 10 duals and finished fifth at the MAC Championships. Sam Mitchell and Nick Stampoulos were national qualifiers. On April 21, 2024, Donnie Vinson was named the 16th head coach in program history.
