ACC Weekly Awards

- UNC owns nearly half of the ACC weekly awards so far this season, now seven weeks in:
  - » Freshman Savy King was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Week on Aug. 22 after week one, her first week of college soccer.
  - » Senior Sam Meza was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Week on Aug. 29 after week two. It was the second such honor of her career.
  - » King earned her second ACC Defensive Player of the Week honor on Sept. 5, her second weekly award of her career, in week three.

  - » R-sophomore Ally Sentnor picked up ACC Offensive Player of the Week honors on Sept.26 after week six. It was the second such honor of her career.
- Carolina has had five or more ACC Players of the Week in a single season on two occasions – 2006 (seven) and 2017 (10) since the league started handing out weekly awards in 1996.
  - » However, this is the first time the Tar Heels have ever had players receive a league honor in consecutive weeks (6) beginning in week one.

Chasing 23 in '23 ... "Chasing 23 in '23." That's the motto in 2023 for the University of North Carolina women's soccer program. The Tar Heels are seeking their 23rd national title (they currently have 21 NCAA, one AIAW) in program history, all under head coach Anson Dorrance. The number 23 is legendary at UNC, especially in 2023 – dubbed the "Jordan Year" as a tribute to UNC basketball legend and NBA Hall of Famer Michael Jordan.

A national championship this season would be all the more meaningful for the Tar Heels, who came within 16 seconds of clinching No. 23 last season. The most dominant women's soccer program in history, the Tar Heels own 21 of the NCAA's 41 titles since the event's inception in 1982. UNC's last national crown came in 2012.

Shoot Your Shot, Or Not ... Now 12 games into the 2023 season, North Carolina has allowed its opponents a combined 81 shots, for an average of just 6.75 shots allowed per game. The Tar Heels' defense has also held 11 of their 12 opponents to 10 shots or fewer: #10 Penn State (5), Cal (2), Wisconsin (1), #24 Southern Cal (5), Gardner-Webb (1), #8 Arkansas (10), #10 South Carolina (8), Virginia Tech (8), #22 Virginia (9) and NC State (2). All opponents have been held to 20 or fewer.

Furthermore, UNC's stalwart defense — anchored by regular starters Maycee Bell, Emerson Elgin, Savy King and Emily Moxley — has typically prevented their opponent from shooting until late in the game. UNC's back line did not allow a Cal shot until the 85th minute. The Tar Heels also prevented Gardner-Webb from taking a shot until the 72nd minute, Wisconsin until the 61st minute, USC until the 52nd minute and Penn State until the 38th minute.

Wisconsin, #24 USC and Gardner-Webb were held shotless in the opening half in three straight contests, while Virginia Tech and NC State were kept shotless during the second half. UNC's longest streak of keeping an opponent scoreless this year has been 369 minutes (between the 14' on Aug. 20 vs. Cal to 23' on Sept. 3 vs. #8 Arkansas).

Carolina's defense also limited SEC power-houses: Arkansas had been averaging 4.25 goals/game heading into the contest, but could only break through to score once. South Carolina averaged 20.3 shots per game before the Tar Heels came to town (and 9.3 on goal) but could only attempt eight (and two on goal). Both South Carolina and Alabama entered its games vs. UNC with three-straight clean sheets, and both teams had only allowed two goals all season prior to facing the Tar Heels.

Further proving its defensive prowess, UNC owns four of the seven ACC Defensive Player of the Week awards this season: Savy King (Aug. 22, Sept. 5), Sam Meza (Aug. 29) and Maycee Bell (Sept. 19).

Major Milestone ... Graduate student Isabel Cox, a forward, has appeared in 99 matches during her career. That's the most among all active Division I players. Virginia's Talia Staude ranks second on that list with 97 career appearances.

Sensational Sentnor ... Ally Sentnor,

a redshirt-sophomore, has continued to establish herself as one of the country's top players. Now on a three-game scoring streak, she currently leads the roster with five goals, 13 points and 49 shots, and is also tied for the team lead with three assists. Her 49 shots and 4.1 shots per game also sit atop the league standings.

Sentnor was named the ACC Offensive Player of the Week on Sept. 6 following a fivepoint effort in two key ACC games against No. 22 Virginia and No. 3 Florida State. She netted the game-winner on the road against the Cavaliers for her third goal of the year, all which had been game-winners. She then had a goal and an assist in a thrilling 3-3 battle with the Seminoles at home.

Head coach Anson Dorrance said: "Ally is doing everything right. The amount of energy she spends working for us both defensively and offensively is extraordinary. She is following our cliché of 'live on a never-ending ascension.' We see it in practice each day and we see it in every game. She's so ambitious and hard working. I enjoy watching her get better and better and better, and I know she will continue to do so."

Patterson In Her Prime ... Avery Patterson, UNC's leading goal scorer in 2022, has picked up right where she left off so far in 2023. The senior co-captain is currently tied for second on the team with four goals.

Patterson had a scoring streak of threestraight games which came during a tough stretch for the Tar Heels against powerhouse SEC programs: vs. No. 8 Arkansas, at No. 10 South Carolina and at No. 12 Alabama. Those three SEC foes were ranked first, third and second, respectively, in the SEC Preseason Coaches Poll. Her goals against the Gamecocks and Crimson Tide were both the first of the game for UNC.

Following her impressive two-goal performances on the road from Sept. 7-10, Patterson was named the ACC Offensive Player of the Week on Sept. 12 for week four. It was the first such honor of her career, and marked the fourth-straight week UNC had garnered a weekly award from the league this season.

Head coach Anson Dorrance has given Patterson high compliments: "She always seems to rise to the occasion. She scores goals, she creates goals, she defends, she heads well and she is one of the kindest human beings on my roster. Something I hope professional teams realize while they are sorting out who to draft and who to pay top dollar to sign: She can play any position on the field at a high level. Every team knows who our leading scorer is. Every team keys on Avery and yet she consistently produces, even against nationally-ranked teams."

Oh-So Savy ... Savy King has wasted no time making a name for herself, as the freshman was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Week on Aug. 22 after opening weekend. She became the first true UNC freshman to earn a league weekly honor since fellow defender Maycee Bell in 2019.

She then earned her second weekly award in her third week of collegiate soccer on Sept. 5, as UNC had gone 3-for-3 for ACC Defensive Player of the Week honors to start the season.

Starting at center back, King leads the team with 1028 minutes and has logged a full 90 in nine of 12 matches. She has anchored UNC's rock-solid back line that has conceded only seven goals and limits opponents to an average of just 6.75 shots per game.

Head coach Anson Dorrance had high praise for the rookie after her UNC debut: "Savy King had one of the best first game performances by a freshman in the history of our program." Dorrance also described King as "an uber-competitive athlete" and stated that she "continues to be the final bastion of the UNC defense...and she is an absolute magnificent defender."

Meza in the Middle ... A Third Team All-America last year, midfielder Sam Meza is back to full speed after a missing the 2022 NCAA Tournament due to injury. The senior was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Week on Aug. 29. It was the second ACC defensive weekly honor bestowed on her in her career, as she also received the award on Sept. 13, 2022.

A native of Dallas, Texas, Meza has anchored Carolina's midfield unit that has made it difficult for the opposing team to create any feasible scoring opportunities, let alone even cross into their attacking third.

With Meza on the pitch, UNC has limited their opponents to 11 shots or fewer: #10 Penn State (5), Cal (2), Wisconsin (1), #24 Southern California (5), #10 South Carolina (8), #12 Alabama (11), Virginia Tech (8), #22 Virginia (9) and NC State (2). Meza was unavailable for Gardner-Webb and #8 Arkansas.

Largely in part due to Meza's efforts in midfield, Carolina held both Wisconsin and USC shotless during the first half in back-to-back games, as well as Virginia Tech and NC State in the second half. (UNC also held Gardner-Webb shotless during the first half, but Meza did not play in that contest).

Bell of the (Soccer) Ball ... R-senior Maycee Bell returned to the pitch in the 2023 season opener at Penn State, 366 days after suffering a season-ending injury on Aug. 16, 2022, in last year's season opener. Since then, the defender has returned to top form, and is what head coach Anson Dorrance calls "not only a lockdown defender, but also a playmaker."

Bell has been a staple on UNC's back line which has only conceded seven goals and limits opponents to just 6.75 shots per game. She ranks third on the team in minutes and has logged a full 90 in nine of 12 matches.

On Sept. 19, Bell was named the ACC Defensive Player of the Week following UNC's 1-0 win over Virginia Tech where the Tar Heels held the Hokies to just eight shots, and kept them shotless during the second half. It was the fourth weekly honor from the league of Bell's career.

Back and better than ever, Bell impressed during preseason fitness testing. The 5'11 co-captain set a new program record in the vertical jump at 34.5 inches. Not only was that eight inches higher than anyone else on the team, it was also 8.5 inches higher than her preseason fitness test mark from 2022 – defender Savy King (No. 10), forward Olivia Thomas (No. 12) forward Mia Oliaro (No. 18) and goalkeeper Abby Gundry (No. 24), as well as midfielder Ella Smith.

Tessa Dellarose, a sophomore, broke her own program record with a score of 63 on the beep test. She crushed her previous record of 57 from last year when she first broke the school record as a freshman.

Only five Tar Heels had a score of 50+ on the beep test, with Dellarose doing six more than freshman runner-up Mia Oliario's 57.

Olivia Thomas, a freshman, set a new team standard for fastest speed after clocking in at 7.54 m/s. That equates to approximately 4.8 seconds in the 40-yard dash. Thomas also had the quickest acceleration on the team at 6.17 m/s.

Maycee Bell, a redshirt senior, broke the program record for the vertical jump with a height of 34.5 inches. That's an impressive 8.5 inches higher than her mark of 26.0 inches she recorded in 2022, which was right before her season-ending injury.

Maddie Dahlien, a sophomore, owns the program record for agility at 13.87 set in 2022 as a rookie. Her time of 14.14 this year still ranked No. 1 on the team.

Hayes also acts as the liaison for UNC women's soccer and Team IMPACT, a non-profit organization that matches children facing serious illness and disability with college sports teams. UNC's Team IMPACT match, Julia, has been part of the Tar Heel family since January 2023.

Right On Track ... Anyone watching North Carolina women's soccer can see the serious speed the Tar Heel players posses.

Savy King, a freshman defender, provides UNC's stalwart back line with explosive speed. She owns the school track and field records at Agoura High School (West Hills, Calif.) in the 200m (25.49) and 400m (56.87). The previous 400m record was around for over 30 years before she broke it in 2021.

Maddie Dahlien, a sophomore forward, brings true speed up top for UNC with a graceful and powerful stride. She was voted Miss Soccer and Miss Track for the state of Minnesota during her senior year at Edina High School (Edina, Minn.) in 2021. She was the state champion in the 100m, 200m and 400m as a junior, also winning the 200m and long jump as a senior. Dahlien also owns her high school's records in the 100m (11.81), 200m (23.80), 400m (54.76), long jump (18' 8.5) as well as several relays. She was hotly recruited in both sports, ultimately choosing to focus on soccer in college.

Olivia Thomas, a freshman forward, has also broken school track and field records at University Liggett School (Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich.). She owns her high school's marks in the 100m (12.41), 200m (25.58) and 400m (58.88). She finished in the top-8 in all three events at the Michigan Lower Peninsula DIII State Championships as a junior.

During UNC's preseason fitness tests, Thomas broke the program record for fastest speed at 7.54 m/s (about 4.8 seconds in the 40-yard dash). She also clocked the quickest acceleration on the team at 6.17 m/s.

Home Sweet Home ... UNC won't have to pack its bags often this season, as 10 of its 18 regular season matches will be played at Dorrance Field (both of their preseason exhibition contests were played at home, too). Furthermore, three of their eight road games are in the state of North Carolina: NC State (Sept. 30), Duke (Oct. 8) and Wake Forest (Oct. 13). For postseason competition, both the ACC Championship and the NCAA College Cup will be held in nearby Cary at the WakeMed Soccer Park.

Of the 44 completed seasons in program history, 25 of them have seen the Tar Heels go undefeated at home. Carolina has never lost more than three games at home in a single season. Only four losses have happened at Dorrance Field since its opening in 2019.

Competitive Schedule ... North Carolina has no shortage of top-tier teams to face throughout the 2023 season. The Tar Heels are set to face nine teams during the regular season that finished in the top-25 of the final United Soccer Coaches poll last year. Those teams include Florida State (No. 3), Alabama (No. 4), Notre Dame (No. 5), Duke (No. 6), Virginia (No. 7), Arkansas (No. 8), South Carolina (No. 9), Penn State (No. 13) and USC (No. 24).

Of UNC's 18-game regular-season slate, 13 of its opponents competed in the 2022 NCAA Tournament. Florida State and Alabama also played in the College Cup, while Arkansas, Notre Dame, Duke and Virginia advanced to the quarterfinals.

According to head coach Anson Dorrance, "We want to schedule great teams early. We want to play the best schedule in the country. We want our young women to get better every single season. So for us, playing the best schedule in the country every year is not just an ambition for us, it's a requirement."

At the conclusion of the 2022 campaign which saw the Tar Heels earn a national runner-up finish, Carolina ranked third in NCAA DI women's soccer for its RPI. That ranked second in the ACC behind Florida State. Nine of UNC's opponents this season ranked in the top-25 for PRI last year, including six in the top-10.

Red, White & Carolina Blue ...

Sophomores Maddie Dahlien, Tessa Dellarose, Ally Sentnor and freshman Savy King represented Team USA on the 21-player roster at the 2023 Concacaf Women's U-20 Championship, held in the Dominican Republic from May 24-June 3. Sentnor was one of four players on the U.S. squad with a previous U-20 Women's Youth National Team cap.

The foursome led Team USA to a runner-up finish in the Dominican Republic. Sent-nor—the team's co-captain—and Dahlien were the USA's leading scorers with four goals each. Dellarose scored once while King started all five matches, and Dahlien and Dellarose accounted for all four goals in a 4-0 win over Jamaica.

Sentnor was also part of the USA's FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup roster in 2022. She played in all three matches at the U-20 World Cup in Costa Rica, even scoring against Ghana. King was part of the U.S. 2022 FIFA U-17 Women's World Cup team.

Current freshmen Abby Gundry, Mia Oliaro, Melina Rebimbas and King played together on the 2022 United States U-17 WYNT that won the Concacaf U-17 Championships in the Dominican Republic.

Additionally, Dellarose, Nona Reason, Sentnor, King, Oliaro, Rebimbas and Evelyn Shores were called in for the 2023 WYNT U-18/U-19 combined training camp at the U.S. Soccer National Training Center in California back in January. All of them are age-eligible for the 2024 FIFA U-20 Women's World Cup next summer

University of National Champions ... Across all sports, North Carolina has the eighth-most titles in NCAA history with 49 (13 men and 36 women). The women's soccer program owns 21 of them, plus an AIAW title in 1982 for 22 total national championships. No other Division I women's soccer team has more than three.

One of the preeminent programs across all of college sports, North Carolina's unrivaled women's soccer dominance saw nine straight NCAA titles between 1986-1994. The team's 21 NCAA championships are tied for the fifth-most by any program in DI history.

Carolina is the only team in the country to appear in all 41 NCAA Women's Soccer Tournaments since the first one was held in 1982. The Tar Heels have appeared in 31 NCAA Women's College Cups, 18 more than the second closest team.

CAROLINA WOMEN'S SOCCER

The Tar Heels have also won 289 ACC championship titles (148 men and 141 women), 137 more than any other current ACC school. The women's soccer program has won 22 conference titles (plus 25 regular season titles). No other ACC women's soccer team has more than nine conference championships (no one else has more than five regular season titles, either).

World Cup ... Seven Tar Heel alumnae participated in the 2023 FIFA Women's World Cup and Australia and New Zealand this summer.

Crystal Dunn and Emily Fox were selected as part of the 23-person roster for the United States. Dunn made her second consecutive World Cup appearance while Fox was one of 14 players making their debut.

Playing for one of the host countries was Katie Bowen for New Zealand with her third straight World Cup appearance. Lucy Bronze, Lotte Wubben-Moy and Alessia Russo, as well as manager Sarina Wiegman, represented England. Bronze competed in the World Cup for the third time while Wubben-Moy and Russo made their first appearance.

England advanced to the semifinals after Russo netted the game-winner during the quarterfinals. The Lionesses then advanced to the finals for the first time in history, with Russo having an assist and a goal during the semifinals. England fell to Spain, 1-0, in the final.

When reflecting on her time as a Tar Heel, Wiegman told the Wall Street Journal: "Playing with the Tar Heels totally changed my mindset...When I went to Carolina, it was like a soccer paradise for young women." Wiegman went on to say how, during her time in Chapel Hill, she picked up on "a philosophy of winning behaviors that she preaches to the Lionesses."
