SERIES HISTORY

All-Time Record	Carolina leads, 66-60-4
Home	Carolina leads, 33-16-3
Away	Series tied, 27-27
Neutral	Virginia leads, 17-6-1

FIRST AND TEN

• Carolina is in its 136th season of football (139th year) in 2026 and the Tar Heels own an all-time record of 760-589-54.

• Carolina will travel to Virginia on Saturday, Nov. 21, for the Tar Heels' final road game of the season in the South's Oldest Rivalry. Kickoff from Scott Stadium is set for 12:30 p.m. on The CW with Thom Brennaman (PxP), Jason Cabinda (Analyst) and Wes Bryant (Sideline) on the call.

• Saturday's game will be the 131st meeting between the Cavaliers and the Tar Heels, as the programs have met every year since 1919 with a two-year hiatus for World War I. The series is the third most played rivalry in FBS behind Auburn and Georgia, and Minnesota and Wisconsin.

• In their last outing, the Tar Heels dropped a two-point decision against Louisville, 16-14, at Kenan Stadium. Despite limiting the Cardinals to season lows in points (16), total offense (302) and yards per play (4.7), Louisville did just enough to get past Carolina and win its fifth consecutive game.

• UNC has played well on the road this season, as the Tar Heels are 3-1 in true road games and 1-0 in neutral site games. Both of Carolina's ACC wins have come on the road at No. 25 Pitt and Duke.

• The Tar Heels are averaging 27.7 points per game in their last three road games dating back to the Pitt game and have limited opponents to 19.3 points per game. Additionally, UNC has forced six turnovers with at least one in each of the last three road games.

• Carolina has won four games or more away from Kenan Stadium in the regular season just five times in the past 25 years and will look to make it six with a win at Virginia on Saturday.

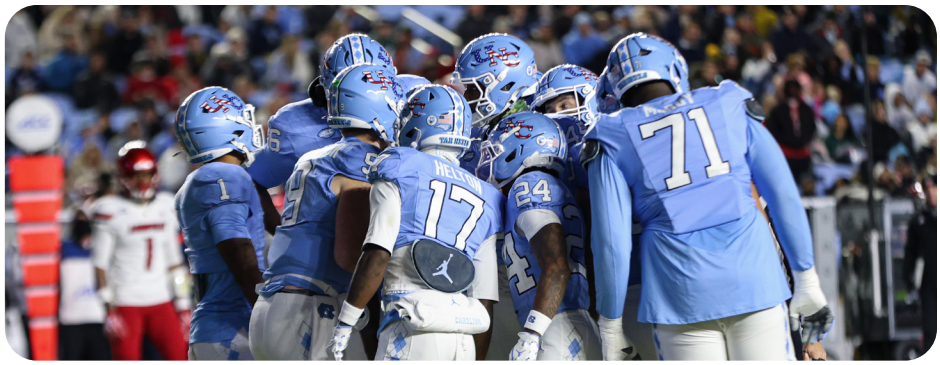

• North Carolina tight end Jelani Thurman was recently named one of nine semifinalists for the Mackey Award, given to the nation's top collegiate tight end. He tied the UNC single-season record for touchdowns by a tight end with his eighth of the year at UConn and that mark is tied for the most among tight ends nationally. Thurman is fourth in the nation with 597 yards among tight ends and is sixth nationally in catches with 50.

• Sophomore defensive lineman Xavier Lewis was named a semifinalist for the Chuck Bednarik Award, which is presented annually to the nation's most outstanding defensive player, on Tuesday. He's the first Tar Heel semifinalist for the award since 2001 when Julius Peppers won the Bednarik Award. Lewis has tallied 44 tackles, 10.0 tackles for loss and seven sacks this season.

• The Tar Heels are sixth in the nation in fewest penalty yards (364) and fewest penalty yards per game (36.40), both of which lead the ACC.

A WIN OVER VIRGINIA WOULD...

• Give Carolina its fourth true road win and fifth win of the season away from Kenan Stadium.
• Be the UNC's third consecutive victory against Virginia at Scott Stadium.
• Be Carolina's 761st all-time victory in program history.

TAR HEEL NOTES

Road Warriors

- Carolina has put together some of its best games of the season on the road, as the Tar Heels are 3-1 in true road games and 1-0 in neutral site matchups.
- Both of UNC's conference wins have come on the road, as the Tar Heels beat No. 25 Pitt in Acrisure Stadium and Duke at Wallace Wade Stadium.
- The Tar Heels are looking to record three ACC road wins in a season for the first time since 2022 when Carolina won at Miami, Duke, Virginia and Wake Forest.
- UNC has won four games or more away from Kenan Stadium in the regular season just five times in the past 25 years and will look to make it six with a win at Virginia on Saturday. The last time it happened was in 2022 when the Tar Heels were 6-0 on the road that season.

Defense Dominant In Defeat

- While UNC came up short in its 16-14 loss against Louisville at Kenan Stadium, a stellar effort from the Tar Heel defense kept UNC in the game and gave the offense a chance to attempt a game-winning drive in the final minutes.
- UNC held Louisville to season lows in points (16), total offense (302) and yards per play (4.7).
- While the Cardinals scored on their first three drives, only one ended in a touchdown, and that came on a drive that started at the UNC 21-yard line. After that, Louisville scored only once on its final eight possessions.
- The Cardinals' 64 plays of 20-plus yards (an average of eight per game) prior to Saturday were the most nationally. UNC allowed just one, a 26-yard gain on the third play from scrimmage.

Burgess Debut

- Freshman quarterback Travis Burgess made his collegiate debut against Louisville and was solid in his first showing as a Tar Heel.
- His first pass almost resulted in a touchdown, with wideout Trech Kekahuna appearing to haul in a diving catch, only for it to be ruled incomplete.
- On his second and third drives, Burgess showed off his legs and finished with 35 rushing yards on eight attempts. Excluding sack yardage, he gained 52 yards on five rushes, including four first-down runs.
- Burgess, a Grayson, Georgia, native, completed 6-of-11 passes for 59 yards, with five of those completions coming on the Tar Heels' second scoring drive of the night, which brought UNC within two thanks to running back Benjamin Hall's second TD.

Last Time Versus Virginia

- The Tar Heels came within a few inches of earning a ranked win against No. 16 Virginia last year, but the Cavaliers held on for a 17-16 overtime victory at Kenan Stadium.
- After a Davion Gause touchdown reception to the trim the Carolina deficit to 17-16, the Tar Heels elected to go for the two-point conversion, but the Virginia defense stopped running back Benjamin Hall just inches shy of the goal line to escape with the one-point win and remain unbeaten in Atlantic Coast Conference play.
- The Tar Heels compiled 353 yards of total offense to 259 for Virginia and held a 32:33 to 24:27 advantage in the time of possession, but two red zone turnovers proved to be the difference in the game.
- UNC had five trips to the red zone, but only scored points on three, while Virginia was 2-for-2 on its trips to the red zone.
- Carolina's defense tallied a season-high six sacks against an offensive unit that had given up just five sacks on the year entering Saturday's matchup. Melkart Abou Jaoude led the defensive effort with a career-high three sacks and four tackles in the contest.

Last Time At Virginia

- Omarion Hampton and J.J. Jones each scored twice and North Carolina's defense played its best game of the season as the Tar Heels smothered Virginia, 41-14, on Oct. 26, 2024, at Scott Stadium.
- Carolina tallied a season-high six sacks in the first half alone, limiting the Cavaliers to just 77 offensive yards, (including only four on the ground) in a dominant opening 30 minutes. The Tar Heels outscored UVA, 17-3, in the second quarter.
- In the game, UNC posted 10 sacks, reaching double-digits for the first time since a 2000 game against Wake Forest. Virginia mustered just seven rushing yards overall.

TAR HEEL NOTES

• Jones caught five passes for 129 yards and two TDs, averaging 25.8 yards per grab in the first multi-TD catch performance of his career. Tar Heel quarterback Jacolby Criswell completed 19 of 30 passes for 293 yards (second-most in his career) and two touchdowns.
• Hampton ran for 105 yards and two scores on 26 carries.

Virginia-Carolina Connections

• He served under former UVA head coach Al Groh, who coached alongside Bill Belichick across stints with the New York Giants, Cleveland Browns, New England Patriots, and New York Jets.
• Belichick coached Cavaliers defensive ends coach Chris Slade during his first season leading the New England Patriots in 2000.
• Slade finished that season with 79 tackles and started 15 of 16 games for the Patriots.
• Carolina defensive linemen Jaylen Harvey and Joseph Mupoyi played with Virginia quarterback Beau Pribula during the 2024 season when the trio was at Penn State.
• Additionally, UNC's Benjamin Hall and UVA's Brandyn Hillman and Devon Baxter were teammates at Michigan prior to joining their current teams.

Thurman Named Semifinalist For Mackey Award

• In the midst of one of the best seasons by a tight end in program history, North Carolina's Jelani Thurman was recently named a semifinalist for the John Mackey Award, which recognizes the nation's top collegiate tight end.
• Thurman is UNC's first Mackey Award semifinalist since Bryson Nesbit in 2023. He is one of nine semifinalists nationally and one of two representatives from the ACC.
• The Fairburn, Ga., native has put together a record-setting season, recording eight receiving touchdowns to tie UNC's single-season record for touchdowns by a tight end. The mark, originally set by Mike Chatham in 1979, is the most among tight ends nationally and tied for the second most among all ACC players.
• Thurman's 50 receptions and 597 receiving yards both rank among the nation's top six, as his receptions are sixth and his receiving yards are fourth in the country. He has also totaled 328 yards after the catch, the second most nationally and the most on the Tar Heel team.
• Of his 50 receptions, 30 have resulted in either a touchdown or a first down. Thurman has recorded at least three catches in every game this season, highlighted by career-high performances of seven receptions against Syracuse and at UConn.
• He has also been a consistent big-play threat with 27 receptions of at least 10 yards, including 10 of 20 or more yards.

Lewis Named Chuck Bednarik Award Semifinalist

• North Carolina defensive tackle Xavier Lewis has been named one of 18 semifinalists for the 2026 Chuck Bednarik Award, the Maxwell Football Club announced on Nov. 10. The award is presented annually to the nation's most outstanding defensive player.
• Lewis, a sophomore from Rolesville, N.C., is the first Tar Heel semifinalist for the award since 2001 when Julius Peppers won the Bednarik Award. He is the only representative from a North Carolina school and one of three ACC players on the list.
• Lewis has tallied 44 tackles, 10.0 tackles for loss and seven sacks this season. His 0.70 sacks per game mark is tied for 26th nationally, while his 1.11 tackles for loss per game is 40th in the nation.

• The Riverview, Florida, native forced a fumble early in the game, as UNC limited Clemson to just 51 yards through its first three drives.

Christo Kelly Named to PFF ACC Team of the Week

• From his center position, Christo Kelly directed a UNC offense that compiled 349 yards in a tough environment at Clemson to earn PFF ACC Team of the Week honors on Monday, Sept. 21.
• Kelly graded out at 74.9, according to PFF, and helped pave the way for the Tar Heels to rush for 214 yards, the most under head coach Bill Belichick.
• The graduate student's PFF grade was the highest for any center in the ACC and it was the 15th best among FBS centers during week three.

Career Day for June

• Sophomore running back Demon June turned in a career day against ETSU, as he scored a career-high three rushing touchdowns to lead the Tar Heels to a 35-3 victory. He finished the game with seven carries for 33 yards with three scores.
• Prior to that game, June had not recorded a multi-rushing TD game in his career and he became the first Tar Heel since Omarion Hampton in 2024 with three or more rushing touchdowns. He found the end zone from nine yards out to make it 21-0 right before halftime to give UNC control of the game.
• After the intermission, June tallied a 6-yard and 1-yard rushing touchdown to account for Carolina's final three scores of the game.

Two 90-Yard Drives

• The Tar Heels posted two 90-yard scoring drives against ETSU, marking the first time the program has accomplished the feat since the Syracuse game in 2023.
• Carolina began the drive on its own one-yard line, piecing together a 99-yard drive across 10 plays, resulting in a Billy Edwards Jr. to Benjamin Hall touchdown pass. The drive tied the longest in school history, matching the 99-yard scoring drive against Miami in 2022.
• Later in the game, the Tar Heels put together a 10-play, 90-yard scoring drive capped off by a June rushing touchdown.

Kelly Named Campbell Trophy Semifinalist

• North Carolina center Christo Kelly has been named a semifinalist for the 2026 William V. Campbell Trophy, the National Football Foundation (NFF) and College Hall of Fame announced.
• Celebrating its 37th year, the Campbell Trophy® recognizes the nation's top football scholar-athlete for his combined academic success, football performance, and exemplary leadership.
• Kelly earned his undergraduate degree in economics from Holy Cross in 2024 with a 3.6 grade point average and is pursuing a Master of Business Administration at Carolina. Since transferring to North Carolina, Kelly has established himself as a leader within the program, being tabbed a team captain in both 2025 and 2026.

Stellar Defensive Effort

• Carolina put together a stellar defensive effort in the 15-10 victory against TCU in the season opener to snap the Horned Frogs' streak of scoring at least 28 points in 30 straight non-conference regular season games.
• UNC's defense forced three turnovers on downs, recovered a fumble and tallied a safety in a dominant performance.
• The Tar Heels also ended the Horned Frogs' streak of scoring at least 30 points in season openers for 10 straight years. The 10 points were the fewest scored by the Horned Frogs since 2023.
• UNC's 10 points allowed were the fewest against a Power Four Conference opponent since defeating Syracuse, 40-7, on Oct. 7, 2023.
• Carolina held TCU scoreless for the final 49 minutes of the game to open the season with a win.

Lewis, McDonald Earn ACC Weekly Honors

• North Carolina sophomore Xavier Lewis was named ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week, while graduate student Derek McDonald was selected as the ACC Linebacker of the Week, the conference office announced Monday, Aug. 31.
• Lewis turned in the best game of his collegiate career to lead the Tar Heels to a 15-10 win against TCU in Dublin, Ireland. He tallied seven tackles, 4.5 tackles for loss and two sacks - each of which was a career high. Lewis made several big-time plays to help Carolina shut out TCU in the final 49 minutes.
• He graded out at 88.2, according to Pro Football Focus (PFF), to lead all defensive players in the game. His 4.5 tackles for loss are the most by a Tar Heel since 2024. Lewis was named the Most Valuable Player of the 2026 Aer Lingus College Football Classic.
• McDonald had a great Tar Heel debut, as he logged a game-high 11 tackles to lead the Tar Heels. Wearing the green dot and organizing the defense, McDonald registered five tackles in the first half and six in the second half.

Picking Up Where He Left Off

• Melkart Abou Jaoude picked up where he left off last season against TCU, recording four tackles, a sack and a forced fumble.
• Abou Jaoude was tabbed the Panini Senior Bowl Defensive Player of the Week on Aug. 31 for his performance against the Horned Frogs.
• Last season, Abou Jaoude led the ACC following the regular season with 10.5 sacks and was tabbed a Second Team All-ACC Selection.

First of (Hopefully) Many

• Fifty-seven Tar Heel players made their first trip out of the country in week zero when Carolina traveled to Dublin, Ireland, for its season opener.
• UNC's roster features seven players that had been to Ireland before the game, including Irish native Adam McCann-Gibbs.
• Running back Benjamin Hall, offensive lineman Christo Kelly, linebacker Derek McDonald and defensive lineman Xavier Lewis had the opportunity to visit Dublin, Ireland, in May for a promotional trip. During the visit, the players visited local schools and establishments to help promote the 2026 Aer Lingus College Football Classic.
• Freshman offensive lineman Will Conroy is the other Tar Heel on the roster that has been to Ireland in addition to Hickman-Collins.

Carolina Captains

• Running back Benjamin Hall, offensive lineman Christo Kelly, wide receiver Jordan Shipp, defensive linemen Melkart Abou Jaoude and Isaiah Johnson, linebacker Derek McDonald and defensive back Kaleb Cost have been named to the 2026 Carolina Football Team Captains.

New Offensive Coordinator

• "We are fortunate to add an elite coaching talent in Bobby to our staff," said head coach Bill Belichick. "He brings an extensive background and a proven record of success on offense at every level of football. Bobby has consistently built great offenses everywhere he has been, and we look forward to having him work with our program."
• Petrino joins the Tar Heels after spending the past two seasons at Arkansas, where he served as the offensive coordinator and interim head coach for the final seven games of 2025.
• A veteran coach, Petrino has experience working both in college and the NFL, and has been a head coach at the collegiate level for 18 seasons, compiling a 137-78 career record.
• Nationally renowned for his work with offenses, Petrino has orchestrated top offenses at every stop of his career. Most notably, he helped develop 2016 Heisman Trophy winner and two-time ACC Player of the Year Lamar Jackson. Under Petrino's direction, Jackson also won the Davey O'Brien and Maxwell Awards, in addition to Associated Press, CBS Sports, The Sporting News and Walter Camp National Player of the Year honors following his breakout 2016 campaign.

Highly-Touted Recruiting Class

• The Tar Heels signed the nation's 12th-ranked recruiting class, according to ESPN, in December.
• The class features 40 players from 19 different states and one international player. Carolina signed nine defensive backs, seven offensive and defensive lineman, five linebackers, five wide receivers, two tight ends, one quarterback, one punter and one long snapper.
• As one of the largest signing classes in the nation with 40, the Tar Heels' class is a consensus top-20 group by all recruiting services, checking in at No. 17 in 247Sports and On3/Rivals.
• Carolina had 31 of its 40 signees enroll early with the program in January.

Youth Movement

• Thanks to its large signing class, Carolina will have one of the youngest teams in the country this season.
• In addition to the 40 true freshman, the Tar Heels also have 17 redshirt freshman.
• Factor in four sophomores and 15 redshirt sophomores, 76 players on the 2026 roster are underclassmen.

Kenan 100

• Carolina football is celebrating the 100th season of Kenan Stadium during the 2026 season with a series of special events, facility enhancements and fan experiences to honor 100 years of one of the most picturesque athletic venues in the country.
• With the first game in Kenan Stadium on Nov. 24, 1927, Kenan Stadium has hosted 551 football games with the Tar Heels owning a 329-208-16 (.610) record in those contests. UNC has been unbeaten at home in 11 seasons, most recently during the 2015 ACC Coastal Division championship campaign.
• The 100th season celebration pays tribute to some of the most memorable moments in the history of Kenan Stadium, as well as providing fans with an upgraded experience on gamedays.
• One of the most significant upgrades to Kenan Stadium for the 2026 season are the two new Daktronics videoboards on the east and west end of the stadium. The new displays measure 31.5 feet high by 106.5 feet wide, which is a notable difference from the previous videoboards, featuring eight-millimeter pixel spacing to deliver crisp, clear imagery with wide-angle visibility to appeal to fans in every seat of Kenan Stadium.
• Additionally, nine LED ribbon boards have been installed around the full seating bowl of the stadium to give fans an upgraded experience with statistics and other gameday content rotating on the displays.
• The sound system at Kenan Stadium has also been replaced with state-of-the-art speakers to deliver enhanced vocal clarity and wide coverage throughout the stadium.

Chapel Thrill Returns

• Chapel Thrill Game Day, a fun and family-friendly event that brings together Tar Heel fans before every home football game, will return to the University of North Carolina this fall.
• Chapel Thrill Game Day will open three hours before kickoff of every home game with performers taking the stage in front of Wilson Library beginning two hours before kickoff. This year's slate:

2026 Chapel Thrill Concert Series Schedule

Nov. 28 vs. NC State – 38 Special
• Since 1974, 38 Special has sold over 20 million albums and produced more than 15 albums of guitar-driven southern rock. Known for hit songs "Hold On Loosely" and "Caught Up in You," the band posted numerous top 40 hits on the US Billboard Hot 100 during the 1980s and early 1990s.

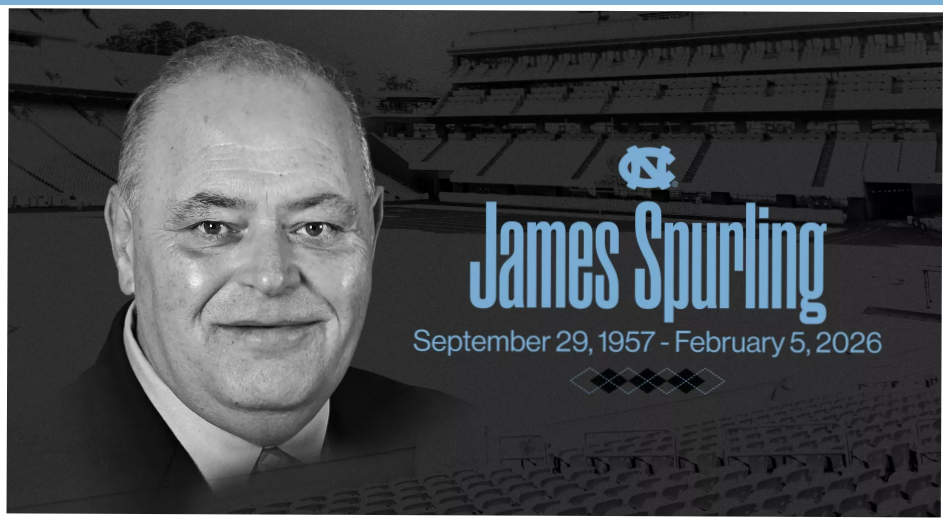

Five Tabbed to East-West Shrine Bowl 1000 List

• Five North Carolina football players have been named to the 2027 Shriners Children's East-West Shrine Bowl 1000 List, which recognizes the nation's top NFL Draft-eligible players for the upcoming season.
• Defensive back Kaleb Cost, defensive linemen Melkart Abou Jaoude and Donovan Hoilette Jr., quarterback Billy Edwards Jr. and wide receiver Mason Humphrey were tabbed to the preseason list.
• The Shriners Children's East-West Bowl is a best-in-class all-star event that will take place at AT&T Stadium in Arlington, Texas, on February 4, 2027. Players will be coached by NFL coaches, in an NFL facility, and will have access to NFL-level resources, facilities, player-friendly schedules, and opportunities at the highest level.

Uplifting Athletes

• North Carolina's Timir Hickman-Collins and Christo Kelly attended the 2026 Uplifting Athletes Leadership Development Conference in Philadelphia, which featured 155 student-athletes from 55 division I programs in seven different sports.
• The UNC Football Chapter was recognized at the conference with the prestigious "Game Changers" Award, honoring the program for setting a new standard of support for the rare disease community. With the leadership of Kelly and the chapter, Carolina raised more than $10,000 for their annual Lift for Life event to earn the award.

IN MEMORY OF JAMES SPURLING

As word spread of James Spurling's death, former Tar Heel players, coaches and support staff members commiserated over their loss and what Spurling meant to the program.

"He was the glue behind the scenes for Carolina football since the '90s," says Dré Bly, a Tar Heel All-America cornerback in the late 1990s and later an assistant coach. "You called James for anything, and he always delivered. He knew everybody in the Chapel Hill area. Any issues we had from the smallest to biggest things, he always had a solution."

Spurling as a young man worked a year as a police officer in Creedmoor and then took a full-time job at Eastgate BP. He had a chance to buy the station in 1982 and could cite 40 years later his exact monthly payment on the loan: "It was $3,508 a month. I was scared to death. But I paid that 20-year note off in 17 years."

Eastgate BP was a gathering spot back in the day for locals to not only buy gas and get an oil change but to chew the fat and catch up on local news. Various and sundry from town and gown would convene every morning to commiserate about politics, the weather and Tar Heel sports. Among the regulars over the years were Williamson, UNC Chancellor Bill Aycock and Kenan-Flagler Business School Dean Paul Rizzo.

It was over more than two decades at Eastgate BP that Spurling's amiable personality, servant heart and soft Granville County drawl endured him to legions of locals and those who popped into town from time to time, among them prominent university benefactors like Maurice Koury and Charlie Loudermilk. Shawn Hocker, now a prominent orthopedic surgeon in Wilmington, and Jeff Saturday, a former NFL All-Pro center, were among the football players who were hired for off-season and summer jobs.

"It was not so much a job as it was a course in developing relationships," Hocker says. "James' place was the cultural hub of the town. When I left, I realized I'd learned from the master. Those years helped cement who I am."

"Eastgate BP was a 'Who's who' of university and town leaders who'd come through every day," adds Saturday. "It was a home-away-from-home for a ton of folks. James always had a smile on his face and was there to listen. It was like the town barbershop. The news traveled first through Eastgate BP."

When Hocker was rejected when he first applied to med school, Spurling was there with a rub on the shoulder and uplifting word. When Saturday went undrafted by the NFL out of college before later catching on as a free agent, Spurling was there to sooth his emotions and promise him things would turn out.

"In my darkest hour, James was there for me. Few people in my life have made an impact like James has," Saturday says.

Spurling sold the station in 2005 and was looking for something to do. John Bunting, the Carolina head coach at the time, told him there was a part-time receptionist job opening at Kenan Football Center. Spurling applied, was hired, and soon after, applied for the recently vacated position of Kenan Stadium facility director.

Dick Baddour, the athletic director at the time, remembers Spurling going through the standard interview process and the Athletic Department sending his application to the UNC Office of Human Resources with the recommendation he be hired.

"H.R. didn't want to approve it because they didn't think he had enough experience and training," Baddour says. "They said while he had owned and operated a service station, and, by the way, the most popular one in town, he did not have the qualifications. So we had our H.R. person sit down with him and completely understand the skills and abilities needed to run a first-class service station. Turns out those traits were directly in line with our job. We wrote it up with a strong recommendation to hire, and they went along with us.

"I wrote a note on the recommendation to hire saying he will, without question, be one of the most outstanding hires in the department. That proved to be true. And he has pleased five head football coaches, which may be his grandest achievement."

Make that six coaches now that Bill Belichick was hired in December 2024.

"I am deeply grieved at the news of James Spurling's passing," Belichick said. "His work for the football program was invaluable, his dedication to the university was unequaled, and, above all, his character as a person was exemplary. He was irreplaceable, and we already miss him greatly. May this exceptional man rest in peace."

Spurling's title was "Director of Kenan Stadium," and in that role was responsible for the maintenance and upkeep of the Kenan Football Center and stadium and managing construction and renovation projects. Every supplier and contractor went through Spurling. He unlocked the gates at dawn from a jangly key ring that numbered as many as 72 keys and constantly patrolled for wayward trash. It was a seven-day-a-week job at times. He helped Tar Heel fans spread loved ones' ashes on the playing field.

Often he went beyond the call of duty. In Maurice Koury's declining years, Spurling routinely picked him up in a golf cart from his parking spot before football games and drove him to the elevator entry into the north side premium seating facility that bore the names of John Pope and Koury himself. Carol Folt, the UNC Chancellor from 2014-19, joked that she'd kidnap Spurling to move with her to the University of Southern California, so pleased was she at his attention to the details of her viewing box for football games and Spurling getting the facility spick and span for May commencement exercises.

He always had time for a story and to ask about a visitor's family. He was liable to encounter a man and his wife or girlfriend and say, "Where's the seeing-eye dog? This gal wouldn't be with you if her eyesight was any good." The Carolina students serving in various manager, videographer and office support roles called him "Mister James."

"I've loved every minute I've been here," Spurling said in 2016. "This is a special place. The people who generated the history of this program and the history of this stadium are still here in spirit. I think my friends like Ernie and Maurice are looking down and saying, 'Man, that stadium is as pretty as it ever was.' What I care about is having people come in here and say, 'James, this place looks great.' That's the neatest thing."

Spurling's work was lauded with various awards such as the 2009 Ernie Williamson Award, given to an Athletic Department employee for outstanding service, and the 2015 C. Knox Massey Distinguished Service Award, one of the most coveted distinctions earned by faculty and staff on the Chapel Hill campus as a whole. Paul Rizzo, known by Spurling as "Pappa Rizzo," and his wife Sydna endowed a full football scholarship in Spurling's name.

But nothing matched the day in October 2021 when Spurling arrived at a surprise ceremony to name the West Concourse of Kenan Stadium in his honor.

Saturday was on live TV with ESPN Thursday morning when his phone lit up with texts from teammates that his old friend was gone. He couldn't believe it at first.

James was so special. He was the Tar Heel, and I would put that word in boldface italics. There was no greater representative of our university than that man. He was selfless and cared so much about other people. During tough times, he was the guy who was your greatest advocate and greatest cheerleader. James is gone way too soon."
I'm going to miss my friend."

And that servant heart ran from helping Ernie Williamson fix a tractor tire back in the 1970s to more recent times and accommodating Tar Heel fans who'd wander into Kenan Stadium.

Once he arranged to unlock the gate on a weekend so a young man could bring his girlfriend in and propose marriage. Spurling was watching from his office high above the field as the fellow knelt down to pop the question. In the thick of it all, the automatic sprinkler system turned on and doused the couple with water. It took just the blink of an eye for James Spurling to grab some towels and rush to the field to dry them off.

Eight-time Super Bowl champion Bill Belichick, architect of one of the greatest sports dynasties of all time and renowned as one of the top leaders to ever coach the game, was named the University of North Carolina's new head football coach on December 11th, 2024.

Belichick, the second-winningest coach in NFL history, agreed to a five-year deal.

In his first season, the Tar Heels' roster featured 67 newcomers as Carolina went 4-8 overall and 2-6 in ACC play, with three of those losses decided by one score.

UNC's defense was one of two in the ACC to limit opponents to 21 points or fewer in four consecutive games – the first time the program has accomplished the feat since 2000. The Tar Heels ranked 24th nationally in red zone defense, holding opponents to a .773 mark with only 23 touchdowns allowed in 44 trips to the red zone by opponents.

Defensive lineman Melkart About Jaoude ranked fifth nationally and led the ACC with 10.5 sacks, the sixth most in a single season in Tar Heel history, en route to earning Second Team All-ACC honors.

Belichick, who holds the NFL record for most Super Bowl wins (six with the New England Patriots as head coach and two more with the New York Giants as a coordinator), said: "I am excited for the opportunity at UNC. I grew up around college football with my Dad and treasured those times. I have always wanted to coach in college and now I look forward to building the football program in Chapel Hill."

A three-time AP NFL Coach of the Year (2003, 2007, 2010), Belichick has an all-time NFL head coaching record of 333-178 (.652) and is only 14 NFL wins away from the overall wins record. He is a member of the NFL's All-Decade Team for the 2000s and the 2010s, and he also was a member of the NFL's 100th Anniversary All-Time Team and holds the record for most NFL Playoff victories (31).

Belichick began his coaching career in 1975 as an assistant for the Baltimore Colts and became the defensive coordinator of the New York Giants in 1985, where he won two Super Bowls under Bill Parcells. He was named head coach of the Cleveland Browns in 1991 and was at the helm for five seasons. He also coached with the New England Patriots and New York Jets before becoming the head coach of the Patriots in 2000.

In 24 seasons, New England won 17 AFC East titles, made 13 AFC Championship appearances, and nine Super Bowl appearances.

Belichick also has ties to North Carolina.

Belichick's father, Steve, was an assistant football coach for the Tar Heels from 1953-55 before going on to become assistant football coach for more than three decades at the United States Naval Academy. There, Bill Belichick attended team meetings and film sessions with his father. He knew how to diagram complex plays before he became a teenager and credits his dad for teaching him the details of football at a young age.

He graduated in 1975 from Wesleyan University, where he played football and lacrosse. He has three children: Amanda, Stephen and Brian.

DEFENSE DOMINATES AS UNC TOPS TCU, 15-10

DUBLIN, IRELAND—North Carolina held TCU scoreless for the final 49 minutes and topped the Horned Frogs, 15-10, in a defensive struggle on a wet Saturday in the Aer Lingus College Football Classic in Aviva Stadium.

After a back-and-forth first quarter when both teams scored 10 points, Carolina recorded a safety in the second quarter and connected on a field goal in the third while blanking TCU the rest of the way. The Horned Frogs took a 10-3 lead at the 4:00 mark of the first half but went scoreless for the remainder of the contest.

What began as a damp day with on-and-off rain in the first half became a downpour during portions of the second.

UNC's defense forced three turnovers on downs and recovered a fumble by TCU in a dominant performance. Prior to Saturday's loss, TCU had scored at least 28 points in 30 consecutive non-conference, regular season games, the second-longest streak by an FBS team in the last 45 years.

With the win, Carolina improved to 1-0 to start the season and 41-33 in season openers. TCU fell to 0-1. Winning the first international game in program history, the Tar Heels lead the all-time series with the Horned Frogs, 4-1.

Billy Edwards Jr., the Wisconsin transfer, started under center, played well and went the distance in his Tar Heel debut, completing 16 of 28 passes for 232 yards and a passer rating of 126.7.

Tight end Jelani Thurman set career highs with four catches for 94 yards for Carolina. Wide receiver Jordan Shipp caught five balls for 71 yards. Benjamin Hall toted 11 carries for 36 rushing yards in a by-committee rushing attack. Defensively, Xavier Lewis had seven tackles (six solo), 4.5 tackles for loss and a pair of sacks.

Harvard transfer Jaden Craig made his first start for TCU at quarterback, connecting on 20 of 32 tries for 175 yards. Ed Small caught nine balls for 65 yards, and Jeremy Payne ran it 25 times for 142 yards.

TAR HEELS HANDLE ETSU, 35-3

CHAPEL HILL —Demon June ran for three touchdowns, Billy Edwards Jr. threw for two and North Carolina's defense dominated as the Tar Heels dispatched East Tennessee State, 35-3, in their 2026 home opener on Saturday at Kenan Stadium.

The UNC defense limited the Buccaneers to 255 total offensive yards, including only 77 on the ground.

The game marked the start of the 100th year of competition in Kenan Stadium, where UNC first played in 1927.

"Solid effort by our guys," UNC head coach Bill Belichick said in his postgame press conference. "We were able to convert opportunities into touchdowns and make stops on defense to keep the points down. Ultimately, that was a big difference in the game. Running backs had good production. I thought Billy (Edwards) made some good checks at the line of scrimmage on some of the tough looks that ETSU gave us. That's a good football team, I think they're well coached. They do a good job, certainly the way they controlled the ball in the first half, and kept us off the field was a good gameplan."

June had just seven carries for 33 yards but scored three times as Carolina ran for 161 yards. Benjamin Hall had four carries for 49 yards, and Jaylen McGill ran five times for 40 yards in a balanced rushing attack. Eight UNC players carried the ball and compiled 161 yards on 27 carries, averaging a whopping six yards per attempt as a team.

The Tar Heels improved to 2-0 in 2026, winning their home opener for the seventh time in the last eight seasons. Carolina is 2-0 for the fourth time in five years and has won 26 consecutive games over FCS opponents dating to 2000.

ETSU fell to 1-2.

Edwards was efficient under center, completing 15 of 20 passing attempts for 244 yards, two scores and a passing rating of 210.5. Mason Mims completed 23 of 31 passes for the Bucs for 178 yards with one interception.

"The mindset that all of us have in there, especially as an offense, is just we (have) to continue to improve every week, week in and week out, continue to get better," Edwards said. "There's obviously going to be things that we can continue to improve on, continue to be more consistent in. That way, we're never getting complacent as an offense or as a team."

Tight end Jelani Thurman caught four passes from Edwards for 71 yards and a TD. C.J. Sadler had three catches for 66 yards. Eleven Tar Heels caught passes on the day.

Carolina out-gained ETSU, 427-255, including 161-77 on the ground. The Tar Heels averaged 8.1 yards per play, 14.8 yards per completion and 6.0 yards per rush as their offense controlled the action from start to finish.

CLEMSON RALLIES TO TOP CAROLINA, 28-20

CLEMSON, S.C. —Clemson came from behind and beat North Carolina, 28-20, in ACC football action on Saturday at Memorial Stadium. The Tigers outscored Carolina, 22-3, in the second half and went on a 25-3 run in the final 38:36 after UNC started strong and led, 17-3, in the early going.

Clemson improved to 2-1 this season with the win, while the Tar Heels fell to 2-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference opener for both teams.

Carolina controlled both lines of scrimmage and dominated the first quarter, then held serve in the second period and led, 17-6 at halftime to draw early boos from the partisan Clemson crowd. The Tar Heels posted impressive, touchdown drives on their first two possessions and out-gained the Tigers, 195-117, in the first half, including 112-41 on the ground.

The final two-thirds of the game were much more back-and-forth, as Clemson made things interesting and clawed back to take control down the stretch.

Benjamin Hall rushed 18 times for a career-high 130 yards, while Demon June added 57 yards on the ground for Carolina. Overall, four Tar Heels combined to run for a season-high 214 yards

Tar Heel quarterback Billy Edwards Jr. completed 13 of 30 passing attempts for 135 yards with a touchdown and an interception for a passer rating of 85.5.

True freshman Clemson QB Tait Reynolds made his first career start and opened the game just 5 for 9 passing for 17 yards but finished 20-for-29 with 215 yards and a touchdown. Gideon Davidson ran the ball 16 times for 105 yards and a score for the Tigers.

Tar Heel sophomore Xavier Lewis, who entered the game leading the ACC in sacks and tied for the national lead in tackles for loss, had five tackles and two sacks. He posted his fifth sack of the year in the first half. He then had another crucial sack early in the fourth quarter to force a Tiger punt when Clemson had the momentum and trailed by just two points.

Derek McDonald led UNC with 10 tackles, including five solo stops and a pass break-up.

NOTRE DAME HOLDS OFF TAR HEELS, 37-26

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. —Third-ranked Notre Dame ran for 166 yards in the second half and topped North Carolina, 37-26, on a wet Saturday afternoon at Kenan Stadium.

Carolina started with a bang and led, 7-0, but the Fighting Irish scored 21 unanswered points to take a 21-7 lead early in the second quarter. They then allowed UNC to pull back within a point at 21-20 just after halftime before dominating the second half. The Irish leaned on their running game the rest of the way and held off a late UNC rally.

Carolina tallied 74 offensive yards on its first drive but had under 20 on its next three before using a 15-play, 97-yard effort to pull within a touchdown at 21-14 just before halftime. Tar Heel Jaden Jefferson ran the second-half kickoff back for a TD to cut the deficit to 21-20 and give UNC a pair of scores in 35 seconds of game time.

After the Tar Heels closed to within a point to start the second half, Notre Dame scored 16 straight points in the third and fourth quarters to take a 17-point lead and put the game out of reach.

The Irish outgained Carolina, 475-285, overall, including 241-77 on the ground, while controlling time of possession by a margin of 37:04 to 22:56.

As the weather worsened, Notre Dame relied increasingly on its ground game to control the second half, outscoring Carolina, 17-6, over the game's final 20:36. UNC scored a late touchdown to make things interesting but could get no closer.

Notre Dame improved to 5-0 this season with the win, and the Tar Heels fell to 2-2. The Fighting Irish are 21-4 against current Atlantic Coast Conference teams under head coach Marcus Freeman.

Fighting Irish quarterback CJ Carr excelled with 234 passing yards for four touchdowns. He was 13-for-18 for 169 yards and three scores in the first half, then controlled the game effectively in the rainy second half and added a rushing TD.

Carolina QB Billy Edwards Jr. also played well in the opening half, completing 11 of 17 throws for 139 yards and two scores despite a pair of interceptions. Notre Dame's defense clamped down in the second half, and Edwards finished 17-for-28 for 208 yards and three TDs.

Jonaz Walton ran it 23 times for 120 yards for Notre Dame, with Nolan James Jr. adding 65 yards on the ground. Jordan Faison caught eight passes for 132 yards and two touchdowns.

Jordan Shipp snared seven passes from Edwards for a career-high 109 yards. Tight end Jelani Thurman made five receptions for 50 yards and a pair of TDs. Carolina struggled on the ground, running the ball 23 times for 77 yards.

DEFENSE, LATE EASTER TD LEADS UNC OVER NO. 25 PITT, 21-17

PITTSBURGH, PA. —Shamar Easter caught a 75-yard, fourth-quarter touchdown pass and North Carolina withstood a wild fourth quarter to beat No. 25 Pitt, 21-17, on Saturday afternoon at Acrisure Stadium.

It was UNC's first win over a ranked foe in three seasons, its first road victory over a top-25 opponent since beating No. 9 Miami in 2020 and head coach Bill Belichick's first win over a ranked foe.

The Tar Heel defense excelled and forced three consecutive turnovers on downs by Pitt to close the game in a strong, second-half effort.

Carolina improved to 3-2 overall and 1-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference with the victory. The Panthers suffered their first loss of the year and fell to 5-1, 2-1.

Tar Heel quarterback Billy Edwards Jr. connected on 18 of 26 throws for 249 yards, two scores and a pair of interceptions. Making his first career collegiate start, Panther QB Holden Geriner completed 27 of 44 passes for 219 yards and two pickoffs.

Wide receiver Jordan Shipp caught six Edwards passes for 93 yards, including a key, 49-yarder. Tight end Jelani Thurman also grabbed six throws for 29 yards, including one for a touchdown.

On four consecutive drives entering the fourth quarter, the Tar Heel defense limited Pitt to a missed field goal, two interceptions and a punt. After a 40-yard catch by Malik Knight, the Panthers scored to make the score 17-14.

A play later, Carolina responded with the 75-yard scoring toss from Edwards to Easter that gave the lead back to the Tar Heels, 21-17.

The UNC defense clamped down to force a punt and three consecutive turnovers on downs in the final 10 minutes to preserve the victory.

Even though Pitt posted advantages in total yards (369 to 269), rushing yards (150 to 20) and time of possession (36:40 to 23:20), the Tar Heel defense came up big when it mattered late in the game.

DURHAM, N.C. —Kenton Dopson III picked off Duke quarterback Walker Eget at North Carolina's 15-yard line with 14 seconds left in the fourth quarter as the Tar Heels held on to beat Duke, 24-20, in a thriller on Saturday afternoon at Wallace Wade Stadium.

Carolina raced out to a 17-0 lead in the first 17 minutes, then went scoreless for over 41 minutes and allowed Duke to grab the lead, 20-17, in the final five minutes before replying to earn the victory.

Jaylen McGill's clutch, 24-yard touchdown run gave the advantage back to the Tar Heels, 24-20, with 1:53 to play. McGill ran three times for 44 yards on what ultimately proved to be the game-winning drive, a 78-yard march in eight plays. The drive included a key, fourth-down conversion from UNC's own 28-yard line when Billy Edwards Jr. connected with tight end Jelani Thurman for 12 yards.

After McGill's scoring scamper, Duke took the ensuing kickoff and drove inside the Tar Heel 35 in the final minute, but UNC's defense forced an intentional grounding penalty with 24 seconds remaining to push the Devils back to the Carolina 44-yard line. Dopson intercepted Eget's subsequent pass, giving the ball back to the Tar Heels and ensuring the win.

The Tar Heels won their second in a row to improve to 4-2 overall and 2-1 in the Atlantic Coast Conference this season, snapping a two-game Duke winning streak in the rivalry while handing the Blue Devils their second consecutive defeat.

Duke fell to 4-2, 1-2, suffered its first home loss of the year and saw its eight-game winning streak against in-state opponents come to an end.

Carolina recaptured the Victory Bell and won its first game in Durham since 2022. The Tar Heels lead the all-time series, 67-42-4.

A team strength throughout the season, UNC's defense continued to excel against the Blue Devils. Playing without injured starting defensive backs Tre Miller and Kaleb Cost, the Tar Heels nonetheless held the Duke offense scoreless for the first 37:23 until a field goal with under seven minutes left in the third quarter. The Blue Devils' lone touchdown in the opening 37 minutes came on a first-half interception return.

Carolina held Duke to a season-low 124 yards on the ground to keep it out of its usual offensive comfort zone and force 38 passing attempts, second-most for the Blue Devils this season.

Duke running back Nate Sheppard, who entered the weekend leading all FBS players in rushing yards and all-purpose yards per game, was questionable to play prior to the game. He started but tallied only a season-low 77 yards on 20 carries (3.9 per attempt) while adding 11 catches for 98 yards and a TD.

Edwards completed 15 of 25 passes for 191 yards and a touchdown. Eget connected on 24 of 38 attempts for 249 yards and a score and the game-changing interception in the final minute.

McGill rank the ball 12 times for 75 yards and his score, while Demon June added 13 carries for 49 yards and a TD. Jordan Shipp caught seven passes on nine targets for 75 yards and a score.

SYRACUSE NIPS TAR HEELS, 31-30, IN OT

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. —Syracuse's Steve Angeli connected with Calvin Russell III for a four-yard touchdown and a two-point conversion in overtime to defeat North Carolina, 31-30, in a wild game before a sold-out crowd on Saturday night at Kenan Stadium.

Carolina scored a touchdown on its first OT possession to take the lead, but Syracuse improved to 3-4 overall and 1-4 in the Atlantic Coast Conference with the victory, snapping its 11-game ACC losing streak. UNC's two-game winning streak came to an end as it fell to 4-3, 2-2.

After playing their first three Atlantic Coast Conference games on the road in 2026, the Tar Heels hosted their first conference home game and started strong, taking a 10-0 lead in the first quarter. Carolina led, 13-10, at halftime and increased its lead to 20-10 midway through the third quarter.

The Orange outscored UNC, 21-10, in the final 11:01 of the fourth quarter and overtime. Ahmad Miller's three-yard rushing touchdown with 1:54 left in the fourth forced the extra period, and Russell's catch and the subsequent two-point conversion clinched the win for Syracuse in OT.

Tar Heel QB Billy Edwards Jr. threw for a season-high 271 yards and a pair of touchdowns, completing 27 of 44 passing attempts, both of which were also season highs. He spread the ball around efficiently and completed passes to eight different receivers while compiling a passer rating of 128.1.

Edwards' strong effort wasn't enough to offset the performance of Angeli, who connected on 20 of 34 attempts for 256 yards, two scores and a passer rating of 141.5.

The Orange has played five different quarterbacks in its first seven games this season and was unsure who would take snaps under center until game time. Syracuse started Angeli, who was listed as questionable to play late in the week but led the Orange to the victory.

Both teams were able to throw the ball effectively, but Syracuse's rushing advantage of 199-101 proved to be crucial as the game progressed. The Orange also converted four of seven fourth-down attempts, extending several drives on the way to the win.

Miller ran 30 times for 125 yards and two scores for the Orange, while Russell caught eight passes for 86 yards and Umari Hatcher snared four for 103 yards and a score.

For the Tar Heels, Jordan Shipp caught eight passes for 102 yards and a TD. Tight end Jelani Thurman grabbed a career-best seven Edwards passes for 77 yards. Jaylen McGill ran it 12 times for a team-high 62 yards, while Demon June toted it nine times for 53 yards and touchdown. Linebacker Derek McDonald, a transfer from Syracuse, led the UNC defense with a career-high 16 tackles against his former team.

NO. 1 MIAMI SQUEAKS BY TAR HEELS, 38-35

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. —Miami's Justin Scott recovered a Billy Edwards Jr. fumble at the North Carolina 37-yard line with 5:33 left in the fourth quarter, leading to what proved to be the clinching touchdown pass six plays later as the top-ranked Hurricanes barely held off the Tar Heels, 38-35, on Saturday night at Kenan Stadium.

Miami quarterback Darian Mensah connected with fellow Heisman Trophy candidate Malachi Toney for a nine-yard score with 2:33 remaining to put the Hurricanes ahead, 38-28. The Tar Heels responded with a Trech Kekahuna TD reception less than a minute later, but the Hurricanes then recovered the ensuing onside kick attempt and ran out the clock to clinch the win.

Carolina played one of its best games of the season but came up short as each team scored 21 points in a wild, back-and-forth second half.

UM snapped Carolina's five-game winning streak in the rivalry and beat the Tar Heels for the first time since 2018. UNC leads the all-time series, 16-12.

Mensah completed 22 of 29 passes for 274 yards and three touchdowns, posting a passer rating of 189.4. He now has 25 TDs with just one interception this fall.

Edwards played his best game as a Tar Heel and may have outplayed Mensah, compiling a season-high 341 yards through the air on 28 of 34 passing with a career-high four scores despite the game-changing fumble in the final minutes. Edwards set season bests in completions, completion percentage (82 percent) and yards. He's been at his best in big games this season, tallying three or more scores against both No. 1 Miami and No. 3 Notre Dame in Kenan Stadium.

Toney caught seven passes for 75 yards, four of which came on the game's opening drive. The Tar Heel defense bottled him up for much of the game but did allow him to score a pair of touchdowns in key moments.

Carolina played well in the first half, keeping the game close and trailing just 17-14 at halftime. The Tar Heel defense limited big plays and held the explosive Hurricane offense to 228 overall yards before the break. Toney had four catches for 27 yards before intermission, and Mensah passed for 153 yards on 13 completions in 19 attempts for a rating of 170.8.

Tight end Jelani Thurman snared two first-half Edwards passes for touchdowns. Edwards connected on 14 of 18 attempts for 152 yards in the opening 30 minutes, taking what the Miami defense offered and compiling an impressive passer rating of 185.4 before the half.

In the game, Carolina managed just 66 rushing yards on 30 carries while the Hurricanes amassed 142 yards on 33 attempts, averaging 4.3 yards per try and scoring twice on the ground. The Tar Heels outgained Miami through the air, 341 to 274. Both teams averaged over six yards per play and more than 12 yards per completion, and each went five-for-five in red zone opportunities.

Carolina matched its season high with 35 points, tying the most the Hurricanes have allowed all season.

EAST HARTFORD, CONN.—Jelani Thurman caught two touchdown passes from Billy Edwards Jr. as North Carolina dominated time of possession and won at UConn, 38-21, on Saturday afternoon at Rentschler Field.

Thurman grabbed seven catches for 64 yards on the day, and he now has eight scoring catches this fall. He entered the game second in the nation in receiving TDs by a tight end and has tied the UNC single-season, TE touchdown record, set in 1979.

In its final non-conference contest of the season, Carolina snapped a two-game losing streak and improved to 5-4 in 2026. The Tar Heels have exceeded their win total from last year. UConn, which entered Saturday having won two of its last three, fell to 4-5.

UNC possessed the ball for 36:23 to just 23:37 for the Huskies and forced three turnovers, efficiently converting them into 21 points. Carolina ran it 36 times for 164 yards (4.6 yards per carry), which proved crucial as the weather turned sloppy in the second half and made passing more difficult.

Edwards completed 29 of 38 passes for 255 yards and three scores with one interception for a passer rating of 153.5. Ten different Tar Heels caught at least one pass. Jordan Shipp snared five Edwards tosses for 55 yards and a TD, scoring for the fourth game in a row.

Huskie quarterback Kalieb Osborne was effective at times but finished 17 for 35 for 245 yards with two TDs and two pickoffs, one of which was returned for a score.

UNC linebacker Timir Hickman-Collins returned an Osborne interception for a touchdown and had a key fumble recovery deep in UConn territory, becoming the first Tar Heel to recover a fumble and intercept a pass in the same game since Cedric Gray versus Miami in 2023.

After a relatively quiet first quarter when both quarterbacks struggled to get in rhythm, both offensives exploded in the second period. The Tar Heels outscored UConn, 21-14, in the second and converted a pair of Huskie turnovers into touchdowns to take a 28-14 lead into the locker room at halftime. UNC's 21 points were its most in any quarter this season.

The skies opened in the second half, changing the tenor of the game significantly and forcing both teams to rely more on the run. After UConn outscored the Tar Heels, 7-3, in the third quarter, Carolina scored an insurance touchdown with 3:38 to play in the fourth on Thurman's second score of the game.

LOUISVILLE EDGES TAR HEELS, 16-14

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. —Louisville scored 13 consecutive points in the first half, held North Carolina scoreless in the second and third quarters and beat the Tar Heels, 16-14, on Saturday night at Kenan Stadium.

The Cardinals won their fifth consecutive game, all in Atlantic Coast Conference play, and improved to 7-3 this season and 6-2 in the ACC. Carolina fell to 5-5 and 2-4, missing an opportunity to become bowl-eligible with a victory.

The Tar Heels, who had scored at least 30 points in each of their previous three games, scored a season-low 14 points.

Louisville quarterback Lincoln Kienholz completed 23 of 31 passing attempts, but only compiled 154 yards with a touchdown. Keyjuan Brown ran it 11 times for 78 yards (7.1 yards per carry) and Isaac Brown added 12 carries for 50 yards (4.9 yards per attempt) to lead the Cardinal ground attack. Lawayne McCoy led seven Card receivers with six catches for 64 yards.

Billy Edwards Jr. started under center and completed 10 of 14 passing attempts for 120 yards before leaving the game with an apparent upper-body injury in the third quarter. Third-string, true freshman Travis Burgess replaced Edwards midway through the third quarter in his first college appearance. He connected on 6 of 11 attempts for 59 yards with a hard-luck interception and eight carries for 35 yards on the ground.

Benjamin Hall ran it 10 times for 48 yards and both Tar Heel touchdowns. Demon June added seven carries for 44 yards. Jordan Shipp caught seven passes for 61 yards. Jelani Thurman was questionable to play prior to the game but still caught five passes for 72 yards, averaging 14.4 yards per reception.

The Cardinals led, 13-7, at halftime after blanking Carolina, 10-0, in the second quarter. Louisville more than doubled the Tar Heels' first-half offensive output, compiling 75 yards on the ground, 130 through the air and 214 total yards in the opening two periods. Carolina had 27 rushing yards, 62 yards passing and 89 overall. The Cards dominated time of possession, 19:18 to 10:42.

Both teams turned to the running game as the offenses slowed in the second half.

Carson Hilbert hit a 36-yard field goal for Louisville halfway through the fourth quarter to give the Cardinals a 16-7 lead. Four minutes later, Hall scored on a six-yard run, but the Cards intercepted the Tar Heels on their final drive of the game and ran out the clock to ensure the win.
