

THE UNIVERSITY

Combining the excitement of an urban location with the charm of a traditional campus, the University of Nevada, Las Vegas offers students a full educational and social experience.

Just decades old, UNLV has maintained a healthy rate of growth in enrollment, programs and scholastic excellence as part of the eight-component Nevada System of Higher Education.

Located in the heart of one of the world's most vibrant and dynamic cities, UNLV has matured along with the Las Vegas area. With enrollment more than doubling the last decade, the tremendous growth has meant a flurry of construction resulting in a campus setting boasting academic and athletic facilities second to none.

Steadily becoming a traditional residential university, UNLV provides on-campus housing for more than 2,000 students. A variety of student clubs and organizations along with 26 Greek organizations supplement the social development of students.

From within its 15 schools and colleges, including the new William S. Boyd School of Law, UNLV is also becoming a leading research institution of the West. The school's scientific, social science, and business programs attract millions of dollars in research grants annually to fund projects in desert biology, nuclear waste transportation, laser physics, public opinion surveys and many others.

In addition to traditional student programs,

UNLV serves diverse local, national and international communities through its Educational Outreach Division, offering Summer Term, Continuing Education and Distance Education programs enrolling more than 53,000 students annually.

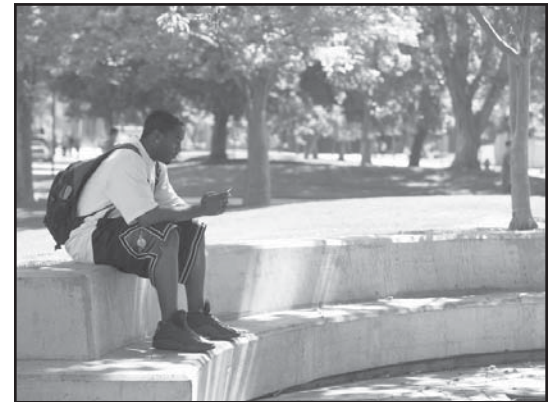

With its Performing Arts Center, the campus is the cultural hub of Southern Nevada. World-class orchestras and soloists, dance and theater arts combine to provide a broad selection of concerts and stage productions.

The Barrick Lecture Series and several campus organizations bring noted speakers to the University, and local and visiting artists show their works in the Donna Beam Fine Art Gallery. UNLV has excellent athletic facilities as well, many open for student and public use.

Opened in 1957 as the southern regional division of the University of Nevada with a total of 28 students, UNLV now is home to nearly 28,000 students coming from every county in Nevada, all 50 U.S. states and 88 countries. Much of UNLV's tremendous expansion is the result of support from the Nevada Legislature and the state's taxpayers. Private donors have played an important role as well. These gifts support new facilities and programs and, most important, provide the scholarship incentives that bring Nevada's best and brightest student scholars to campus.

UNLV operates an on-campus Center for Business and Economic Research, Center for Economic Education, Harry Reid Center for Environmental Studies (in cooperation with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency), Desert Biology Research Center, Center for Survey Research, Nuclear Waste Transportation Research Center and other research and public-service centers.

Offering 110 undergraduate programs and 136 graduate tracts, UNLV graduated a class of more than 4,838 last year. The University operates on a semester system and is a member of the American Association of State Colleges and Universities, the Council of Graduate Schools, the American Council of Education and the Western College Association. All of the University's academic programs are fully accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges, and many programs have received further accreditation from independent national accreditation bodies.

DR. DAVID B. ASHLEY

Dr. David B. Ashley assumed the presidency of UNLV in July 2006. Prior to joining UNLV, Ashley served in administrative and academic positions at the University of California, The Ohio State University, the University of California, The University of Texas, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. His formal education includes a doctoral degree from Stanford University, masters' degrees from Stanford University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and a bachelor's degree from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology – all in engineering.

Ashley's research and teaching focus is on construction project planning, primarily in risk analysis and management of large-scale, complex projects. His most recent professional activities include consulting on expansion of the Panama Canal and replacement of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge eastern span.

His professional work has brought him recognition as a National Science Foundation Presidential Young Investigator. The American Society of Civil Engineers has honored him with the 2004 Peurifoy Construction Research Award, the 1992 Construction Management Award, and Distinguished Member status in 2007. In 2000, he received an honorary doctorate from Chalmers University in Sweden for his many academic contributions.

In his two years as president, Ashley has led the university in comprehensive planning and major fund raising efforts. UNLV will successfully complete its $500 million dollar capital campaign this year. The overall goal is for UNLV to be globally recognized for excellence in both student learning and research contributions.

MIKE HAMRICK

Introduced as UNLV's 10th full-time Director of Athletics on Aug. 18, 2003, Mike Hamrick has undeniably made a positive impact on Southern Nevada as he enters his sixth year with the Rebels.

UNLV has enjoyed unparalleled success over the last four years under Hamrick's watch, winning 19 Mountain West Conference Championships, including five each in 2006-07 and 2007-08. During the 2004-05 season, the Rebels won a school-record six MWC Championships, claiming titles in baseball (regular season and tournament), women's golf (tournament), men's swimming (tournament), women's swimming (tournament) and women's soccer (regular season).

In addition to a strong showing in the MWC, several Rebel teams advanced to NCAA and NIT play: men's and women's basketball, women's soccer, baseball, softball, men's and women's golf, men's and women's swimming, women's track, and men's and women's tennis and volleyball. In 2007, the Runnin' Rebel basketball team advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament for the first time since 1991, finishing with an overall record of 30-7 and a final ranking of 14th in the country. In addition, the Runnin' Rebels averaged 13,791 fans for home games during MWC play, UNLV's highest average attendance for league games since 1997-98. The Runnin' Rebels returned to the NCAA Tournament in 2008 and won their first-round game, giving the program back-to-back NCAA Tournament wins for the first time since 1990-91. During that two-year run, the Runnin' Rebels have recorded 57 wins, which is the ninth most in the country over the last two years among teams that have played in back-to-back NCAA Tournaments.

Along with their excellence on the field, Rebel student-athletes have reached new heights outside of the stadiums as well during Hamrick's five years. UNLV Athletics' most recent numbers show an all-time record of graduating 64 percent of its student-athletes, which more than doubles the graduation rate from the year prior to Hamrick's arrival. Additionally, in 2007-08 UNLV student-athletes posted a cumulative grade-point average of 3.02, and more than 73 percent of the student-athletes at UNLV had a grade point average of 3.0 or higher at one point during the 2007-08 school year.

Hamrick announced a new partnership between the Athletics Department and ISP Sports on Aug. 7, 2007. The two entities are working together with UNLV's multi-media rights and corporate sales and sponsorship development for athletics, special events and entertainment, which will guarantee UNLV Athletics more than $32 million over the next 10 years. Also as part of the agreement, $3.5 million will be spent on equipment upgrades, which include a new center-hung scoreboard, a new LED ring beam and a new court-side signage system at the Thomas & Mack Center, a new marquee outside the arena and a new baseball scoreboard at Wilson Stadium. UNLV also just signed an exclusive deal with Nike, worth more than $2.5 million, which will outfit student-athletes with the latest Nike equipment and apparel.

UNLV also just recently completed an 18-month NCAA certification process and was certified with no conditions.

In his second year at Las Vegas, Hamrick oversaw the restructuring of the Athletics Department to include direct oversight of the Thomas & Mack Center, Cox Pavilion and Sam Boyd Stadium in order to better serve the school's varsity sports. In the three years since, this area recorded its best financial period in UNLV's history. He also streamlined fundraising efforts with the introduction of the Rebel Athletic Fund, which has significantly increased the private donations to UNLV athletics.

In Hamrick's five years at UNLV, more than $2.5 million has been used to improve athletic facilities, including new lights at the Bill "Wildcat" Morris Rebel Park football practice facility, the total renovation of the courts at Feritta Tennis Complex and the Runnin' Rebel basketball locker room, replacement of the soccer playing surface and irrigation system at Peter Johann Memorial Field and replacement of the baseball infield at Earl E. Wilson Stadium.

During the 2007 summer, Hamrick's department was recognized by the Women's Sports Foundation with a grade of "A-" after the organization compiled a study comparing the percentage of female students to the percentage of female athletes over 10 years at NCAA colleges and universities. Grades were assigned to each school based on proportionality.

Hamrick served as a member of the initial Bowl Championship Series AD Advisory Committee and is a current member of the Pioneer Las Vegas Bowl Board of Directors. He is a past member of the NCAA Division I Baseball Committee and chair of the West Region Baseball Committee, a position he held until September of 2006.

Hamrick, who spent the previous eight years leading East Carolina University to unprecedented success, including overseeing $46 million in facility improvements, was no stranger to Las Vegas as he began his professional career at UNLV in 1981-82, working in the athletics promotions area.

Prior to going to ECU in April 1995, Hamrick was the Director of Athletics at the University of Arkansas-Little Rock, where he engineered the Trojans' move into the Sun Belt Conference. Before going to UALR, Hamrick served as assistant athletics director at Illinois State University from 1984-90. At ISU, he initiated and coordinated departmental external activities. He also served as Director of the Redbird Educational and Scholarship Fund. Also, Hamrick worked as Assistant to the Director of Athletics at the University of Kansas from 1982-84.

A 1980 graduate of Marshall University, Hamrick played football for the Thundering Herd and was a two-year starter (1978-79) at linebacker. In 1981 he received a master's degree from Ohio University, where he was also an assistant football coach. He earned the Ohio University's Sports Administration Program's Distinguished Alumnus Award in 2007. Hamrick and his wife, Soletta, are the parents of three children – twin sons, Brett and Justin (20), and daughter, Mollie Ann (17).

LIED ATHLETIC COMPLEX

Opened in 1996, the $8.5 million Lied Athletic Complex remains one of the nation's premier on-campus sports facilities.

The Lied, honored with Athletic Management magazine's 1997 Award of Excellence, was exclusively funded by private donations beginning with a cornerstone gift of $4 million from the Lied Foundation Trust, through its trustee Ms. Christina Hixson, in 1993.

A generous $1.5 million gift from Si and Marilyn Redd provided the Lied with a state-of-the-art sports medicine center for preventative and rehabilitative care. This 8,500-square-foot center includes a doctor's office and examination room, a taping room, an aquatic therapy room, two additional therapy and rehabilitation areas and a self-contained drug-testing facility.

The Ernie Becker Sr. Strength and Conditioning Center features 8,500 square feet of main floor containing Olympic platforms, free weights, power racks and more than 60 weight stations. Additionally, a 1,200-square-foot balcony offers areas for plyometrics, stretching and aerobics.

The Lied's 10,000-square-foot equipment center provides student-athlete support service featuring laundry, equipment and storage.

The Conrad Hilton Foundation provided funding for the Barron Hilton Auditorium located inside the Lied Athletic Complex. This 328-seat auditorium provides student-athletes with study hall facilities including individual meeting rooms for tutorial support and team meetings.

Designed with all Rebel sports in mind, the Lied Athletic Complex offers every student-athlete the best possible environment to pursue their athletic and academic dreams.

THE HONORARY LETTERMEN'S WALL

The Lettermen's Wall stands as a permanent tribute to those men and women of vision who, through their generosity, have enhanced the lives and experiences of UNLV student-athletes through their contributions to the construction of the Lied Athletic Complex. The wall transforms a male and female UNLV student-athlete into beautiful etched images on polished crystal plaques.

SEVEN INDIVIDUALS, TWO TEAMS HIGHLIGHT HALL OF FAME CLASS

No less than five national championships were celebrated as part of this fall's UNLV Athletics Hall of Fame ceremonies which were held Sept. 19, 2008.

Five former Rebel players, one longtime head coach and a distinguished contributor joined two record-setting teams in being inducted.

Born in 1987, UNLV's Athletic Hall of Fame has grown to 96 members strong. Under the hall's bylaws, former student-athletes must have completed their eligibility at least 10 years earlier to be selected. Coaches and administrators must have stopped working at the University five years previous. All classes now enter on a biennial basis.

TIM BLENKIRON (1994-97) was one of the best doubles players in school history and paired up with Luke Smith to win the 1997 NCAA Doubles Championship, becoming one of six individual national champions at UNLV. The 1997 All-American was a member of three Big West Conference champion squads.

JOE KRISTOSIK (1995-98) was UNLV football's first consensus first team All-American after being a four-year starter as a punter for the Rebels. He turned in one of the best seasons at his position in college football history as a senior in 1998 while leading the nation with an average of 46.2, which was the second-highest in NCAA history for a punter with at least 75 attempts.

KIM RONDINA (1994-97) was the greatest slugger in UNLV softball history and its only two-time conference MVP. She was named first team All-America in 1995 and third team in 1996 and '97. Helping the Rebels to three NCAA tournament appearances, including one trip the Women's College World Series, Rondina still holds 13 single-season and career batting records.

LUKE SMITH (1994-97) stands as the only multiple NCAA champion in UNLV athletics history after winning the 1997 national title in singles and doubles. A three-time All-American, he also was a 1996 NCAA Doubles Semifinalist. Smith was a member of the 1997 Davis Cup Team for his native Australia and twice reached the fourth round of the Australian Open in doubles.

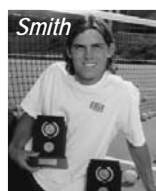

MARIANNE VALLIN (1994-97) becomes the first UNLV women's tennis player to enter the hall of fame. A three-time conference MVP, she was All-American in singles three times after being named the ITA National Freshman of the Year. The winningest singles player in program history, she brought home the 1997 Gladys Heldman Award, which goes to the nation's top women's tennis student-athlete.

The 1998 UNLV MEN'S GOLF TEAM is one of only two Rebel squads to earn a national championship as head coach Dwaine Knight's team won the 1998 NCAA team title in Albuquerque, N.M. The Rebels shot a final-round one-over par 289 to finish at 34-under-par 1,118, which set the NCAA record for lowest total in history.

The 1995 UNLV WOMEN'S SOFTBALL TEAM set or tied 30 different school team records and 17 single-season marks en route to tying the record for wins with a 49-14 record. Coached by Shan McDonald, it was the first UNLV softball squad to win an outright conference title and finished third at the Women's College World Series.

HEAD COACH AL MCDANIELS (1975-92) guided the women's track and field program to five conference championships and produced more than 60 individual champions and 40 All-Americans. The four-time conference coach of the year produced two NCAA Champions and six league MVPs.

DISTINGUISHED CONTRIBUTOR DR. JAMES CALLAWAY D.D.S. is a nationally respected dentist who has been part of the Rebel family for three decades, serving as the team dentist since 1977.
