LORI HARRIGAN'S NUMBER RETIREMENT

On Feb. 26, 1998, Lori Harrigan's contributions to UNLV athletics were recognized when the softball program officially retired jersey number 22.

Harrigan was, and still is, one of the most dominant and intimidating pitchers the Rebels ever put into the circle and is arguably the best pitcher in the history of UNLV softball.

She was a three-time American Softball Association All-American and three-time USA National Team member, she won numerous awards both as a Rebel and in the years following graduation.

From 1989 to 1992, Harrigan compiled a record of 83-53, with a career ERA of 0.77. These career marks still rank first in UNLV annals, as does career strikeouts (725), innings pitched (1034.7), shutouts (53) and complete games (123).

She won Big West Conference accolades in all four seasons, including a First Team award in her senior year. A 10-time Big West Pitcher of the Week, Harrigan hurled six no-hitters, including the school's only perfect game (a 1-0 eight-inning victory over Missouri in 1992).

In her no-hitter against Southern Utah on February 14, 1992, she threw a school-record 15 strikeouts in the team's 3-0 win over the Thunderbirds. The southpaw also owns the single-season record in three categories. Her ERA of 0.51 in her senior season ranks first, as do her strikeouts in a season (223: 1991) and her shutouts in a season (17: 1990).

Harrigan's efforts on the mound helped lead her Rebel teams to three NCAA Tournament appearances and two trips to the College World Series.

Harrigan will long be remembered by UNLV fans as one of the most exciting players to ever take the field for the Rebel softball program. UNLV's 1992 Sportswoman of the Year, she was the kind of student-athlete that exemplified what all Rebel athletes aspire to become.

UNLV Hall of Fame

The Rebel softball program has had five former student-athletes, one team and most recently its first head coach inducted into the UNLV Athletics Hall of Fame. Lori Harrigan (pitcher) became the first softball member inducted back in 2002. Cyndi Parus (first base) followed Harrigan with her entry in 2006. Kim Rondina (second base) and her 1995 Women's College World Series team became the third and fourth additions to the H.O.F. in 2008. Julie Crandall (catcher) became the fourth student-athlete in 2010, while Aime Stewart (pitcher) becoming the fifth in 2012. Shan McDonald, the head coach who led the program to its only three Women's College World Series appearances and is the winningest coach in program history, became the sixth individual member at the 2017 ceremony.

ELLER MEDIA STADIUM

Since the spring of 2002, the Rebel softball team has called Eller Media Stadium at Jim Rogers Field home. Through 15 years of its existence the program has a 273-204-1 (.572) record at Eller Media Stadium.

After 19 seasons of playing at the Rebel Softball Diamond in the middle of the UNLV campus, the UNLV community was given a formal introduction to the new stadium on Jan. 26, 2001, with the annual UNLV alumni game. The official debut of the stadium came on Feb. 5, 2002, when the Rebels hosted Saint Mary's (Calif.) College in a doubleheader. For UNLV the unveiling was a joyous one as the university received a new home for its softball team and the squad was victorious with two wins on day one.

Plans for the venue were formally announced on March 9, 2000, when the university received $3 million in gifts designated to go toward the stadium and the establishment of a new women's golf team. The primary donors included Donrey Outdoor (now Eller Media), Jim Rogers, Jerry and Sue Lykins, other UNLV athletic donors and the UNLV Foundation.

"Eller Media is very proud to support women's athletic programs at UNLV," Sally Tracey, president of the Eller Media Company, said at the announcement of the gift. "This new softball stadium will give the Rebels an outstanding place to host NCAA softball games."

Shortly thereafter, the UNLV Foundation contracted KGA Architects and KBA Construction Company to design and build the stadium. Ground was broken on June 7, 2001, in a special ceremony featuring the primary donors and Rebel softball players.

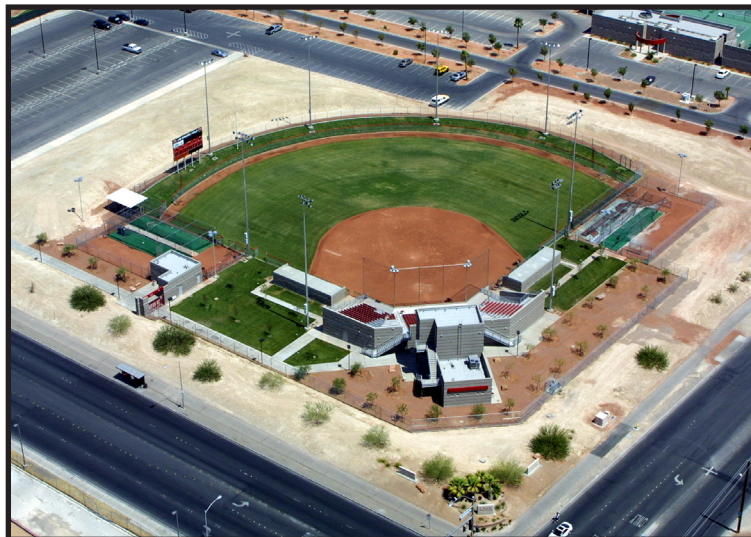

Seemingly overnight, a once large and barren plot of dirt was transformed, first into parking lots, then into a foundation and finally into one of the top college softball playing and practice facilities in the country.

The stadium which meets and exceeds NCAA requirements, seats 770 people and cost $2.7 million to build. The outfield fences rest at 200 feet down the right and left field lines and 220 feet in center field. Dugouts, bullpens and batting cages for both home and visiting teams provide a self-contained area for either practice or play.

Off the field of play, a press/concession building (1,700 square feet) towers over the venue behind the home plate grandstand. The bottom floor houses a full concession area while the second-floor press level can adequately seat up to six writers and two separate radio broadcast teams.

"UNLV is very grateful that Eller Media Company, Jim Rogers, and Jerry and Sue Lykins so generously contributed to this important women's athletic project," said then-UNLV President Carol Harter. "Their support along with that of the UNLV Foundation will help UNLV meet national gender equity requirements and provide an excellent softball stadium of which we can all be very proud."
