TOURNAMENT NOTES

THIS WEEK

Oregon will host the 30th Duck Invitational March 25-26 at Emerald Valley Golf Club with both days beginning with an 8:15 a.m. shotgun start. The Ducks shared the team title last year with Liberty while Norman Xiong took home medalist honors. Oregon has had 10 team titles and nine individual champions in the event's 30-year history. SR Edwin Yi, SR Ryan Gronlund, JR Kevin Geniza, FR Yin Ho Yue and FR Craig Ronne will make up the Ducks' lineup, while SO Marcel Boet, SR Sam Foust, SO Donald Kay, FR Tom Gueant, JR Kymer Li and SO Thomas Mulligan compete as individuals.

THE FIELD

Boise State, Denver, Hawaii, Long Beach State, Loyola Marymount, Nevada, Oral Roberts, Oregon (host), Oregon State, Pacific, San Diego State, San Francisco, San Jose State, Seattle, Washington State, Wyoming.

LAST TIME OUT

JR Kevin Geniza and SR Ryan Gronlund both finished in the top 10 to lead the way for the Ducks at the Bandon Dunes Championship. Geniza turned in a career-best finish, coming in tied for third at even par. Gronlund recorded his 11th career top-10 finish, going 2 over for the tournament, highlighted by a 4-under 68 in round two. FR Yin Ho Yue had his best finish of his freshman year, coming in tied for 16th at 4 over playing as an individual. Oregon came in ninth as a team at 27 over.

COMPETING WITH THE BEST

In each of its first two events of the spring, Oregon went up against high-quality fields and bested a number of top teams. Following those two high finishes, the Ducks moved up to No. 33 in the latest Golfstat rankings, up 12 spots from the end of the fall. At the Amer Ari Invitational, the Ducks came in tied for fourth and finished ahead of then No. 2 Georgia Tech and perennial powerhouse programs Stanford and Texas Tech. Oregon finished tied with No. 6 USC and finished behind only No. 1 Oklahoma State, No. 12 Texas and No. 13 Auburn. A week later at The Prestige, the Ducks finished in fifth place, coming in ahead of No. 14 Arkansas and other quality teams in Iowa State, Northwestern and Stanford.

VETERANS LEADING THE WAY

SR Edwin Yi and SR Ryan Gronlund each have gotten off to great starts following the winter break. Yi has proven himself to be one of the top players in the Pac-12 after a runner-up finish and 11th-place effort moved him up to No. 16 in the Golfstat player rankings. He came in tied for second at the Amer Ari Invitational, finishing behind only collegiate No. 1 player Matthew Wolff of Oklahoma State, and came in ahead of a number of other highly-ranked players, including Viktor Hovland of Oklahoma State and USC's Justin Suh. Gronlund came in tied for 12th at the Amer Ari Invitational, highlighted by a career-low 7-under 65 in the opening round. He finished 10th at The Prestige and tied for ninth at the Bandon Dunes Championship.

PGA Tour veteran, former NCAA Champion and Eugene native Casey Martin enters his thirteenth season in 2018-19 after amassing one of the Ducks' most impressive resumes in any sport.

In his tenure, he has transformed Oregon into a national golf power, and guided the team to nine NCAA Championship appearances, including winning the 2016 NCAA title and finishing runner-up in the 2017 championships.

In that span, UO has tied for the lead at the end of regulation of the Pac-12 Championships twice, and scored a fourth-runner-up effort in '15. In NCAA Regional play, Oregon has been equally up to par with one title (2010) and five runner-up efforts (2008, '09, '12, '14, '16).

Under Martin's guidance, Norman Xiong turned in the greatest individual season in program history in 2017-18. Xiong shattered the program record with six wins and on the way to winning both the Fred Haskins Award and Jack Nicklaus Award as the nation's most outstanding men's golfer.

In 2016-17, the Ducks followed up their 2016 NCAA title with a national runner-up finish. Martin led the Ducks to five team wins, including the Pac-12 men's golf championship team title (the first outright since 1959) and was named the Golfweek National Coach of the Year and the Pac-12 Coach of the Year. Wyndham Clark won the Pac-12 individual title and was named the Golfweek National Player of the Year while Xiong won the Phil Mickelson Outstanding Freshman Award and earned Pac-12 Freshman of the Year honors.

In 2015-16, Martin led the Ducks to their tenth-straight NCAA Regional appearance and 28th NCAA Championships held at Eugene Country Club in Eugene, Ore., (May 27-June 1). After defeating LSU (3-1-1) and Illinois (3-2-0), Oregon defeated Texas 3-2-0 in a dramatic 21-hole final round, played by Eugene native, Sulman Raza, to clinch the first ever NCAA Championship in program history.

In the 2014-15 regular season, Oregon posted a school-record four-straight wins to start the fall and picked up its fifth win of the year in early March at the Desert Mountain Intercollegiate. The Ducks also set the NCAA low-round record in the fall in the first round of the Ka'anapali Collegiate Classic with a blistering 30-under 254. Brandon McIver's 62 card tied Daniel Miernicki (2010-11) and Derek Sipe, Jr. (2006-07) for the lowest-round ever at Oregon.

The 2011-12 season was arguably the Ducks' greatest ever and featured a record seven team wins among their 12 stroke-play events, and an even more amazing postseason run.

In the collegiate finale in L.A., UO matched its best-ever finish among its 25 NCAA trips with a third-place tie. The Ducks lost their hard-fought semifinal to No.1-ranked and eventual national champion Texas, 3-2, at the Riviera Country Club.

Eugene Wong was named Pac-12 Golfer of the Year for the second time while earning All-Nicklaus Team and PING All-America First Team honors. Miernicki joined Wong on the top PING All-America squad, his first first-team nod after he earned second-team honors as a sophomore.

Two years before, Martin was honored by his league peers as the 2010 Pac-10 Coach of the Year after another ground-breaking campaign.

That season, he led the Ducks to a then-school-record five tournament victories, including Oregon's first-ever NCAA Regional title, and a third-place tie in the NCAA Men's Golf Championships in Chattanooga, Tenn. Wong was tabbed the co-Pac-10 Golfer of the Year, won the Jack Nicklaus Award as the Division I player of the year, and was named a first-team PING All-American.

A graduate of South Eugene High School, Martin was a three-time all-conference selection, a two-time All-American at Stanford and member of its 1994 NCAA Championship squad. As a senior, he received Academic All-America honors and graduated with a degree in economics.

He played professionally starting in 1998 and earned his PGA Tour card in 2000. During that year, he recorded five top-50 finishes, and his best showing was a tie for 17th in the Tucson Open. Other career highlights include an impressive 23rd-place tie in the 1998 U.S. Open.

After winning the local 2012 U.S. Open qualifier at Emerald Valley, he returned to the nation's toughest golf test at the Olympic Club in San Francisco two weeks later. Martin is also known for his court battle with the PGA Tour over the right to use a golf cart in competition. Martin suffers from a birth defect in his right leg known as Klippel-Trenaunay-Webber Syndrome, a congenital circulatory disorder. Under the provisions of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Martin won the right to use a golf cart in a legal case with the PGA that went all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

His efforts in that landmark case earned him the 1998 Ben Hogan Award, given annually to a competitor who continues to be active in golf despite a physical handicap. In 2001, Nike began bestowing an annual Casey Martin Award to recognize a disabled athlete.

He is the ninth man to hold the head coaching position at the University of Oregon. He succeeded Steve Nosler, whom he served as a volunteer assistant coach for the 2005-06 season.

Martin married Catherine Mary Martin (Scavo) in the summer of 2018.
