BORN AND BRED IN THE GAME OF FOOTBALL:

Jaguar QB Carter Bradley just playing the game he loves

Some people have to search a majority of their life to find their passion and love for what they do, but for South Alabama quarterback Carter Bradley, that passion and love for the game of football arrived before he could even walk.

"I actually got a video from my mom the other day of me putting on a Minnesota Vikings helmet when I wasn't even able to walk yet," Bradley lamented. "I was crawling with a helmet on and a football in my hand before I could even walk. I've always had a football in my hand."

The son of one of the best defensive minds in the National Football League, Carter has been around the game his entire life and has had an innate love for it ever since. Bradley's father, Gus, who is currently the defensive coordinator for the Indianapolis Colts, has spent the past 32 years in coaching, including the last 16 in the NFL. He is probably best known for his time as the defensive coordinator for the Seattle Seahawks (2009-12) where he came to prominence as he was the original play caller for the team's Legion of Boom secondary.

So, having a front-row seat growing up to that side of the ball and a lineage to one of the best defensive play callers, one might have thought Carter would one day star in the defensive backfield or at least on that side of the ball. However, the 6-foot-3 senior decided that offense is where he wanted to forge his path.

For Bradley, his time as a player started back when he was in kindergarten as a member of the New Tampa Patriots, while his dad was a member of Tony Dungy's staff at Tampa Bay. Like most players at that level, he played both sides of the ball seeing time as a backup quarterback and safety.

"I really didn't know what was going on at that point. I was just out there having fun with my buddies playing football," Bradley said. "At some point, it kind of clicked with me that I wasn't starting and I got a little frustrated and started to work a little bit. One thing led to another and I started playing more and starting games. I began to get really competitive.

Bradley played other sports as well growing up, but football was his love.

"Football has definitely been the number one thing in my life," he said. "I played a little bit of baseball, a little bit of basketball and did some track in high school, but I never really fell in love with any of those sports. I've always played football just because I loved it."

As he continued to grow physically, he also grew mentally in the game.

"I was just going out there and having fun with some of the guys," Bradley stated. "I studied hard and watched film. I would understand the game and the concepts and when it was time to go play, I would just go play. Once I got into college, I started to really understand what preparation was like, and I'm still growing and learning the game."

"Carter's a great young man," South Alabama offensive coordinator Major Applewhite said. "He loves the game, he truly does. He's been around NFL players and coaches his whole life, and he understands the importance of the quarterback position since his dad was the head coach to the Jacksonville Jaguars, who drafted a franchise quarterback."

While being the child of a professional athlete or coach can present challenges, Bradley's love for the game has helped him navigate the twists and turns.

"It's definitely had its ups and downs," Bradley said. "You want to be a family when family time comes, but his job and what he had to do in order to win games was important and I understood that growing up. Being around the game and my love for it made it a plus though. I was able to be around some pretty cool superstars growing up and I was able to see them grow into their own role."

A few of those superstars would ultimately lead Bradley to his position.

"When we were in Seattle and I was able to watch Russell Wilson throw the ball and it caught my eye" Bradley said. "I was able to also watch Peyton Manning, Brett Farve and Arron Rodgers growing up. Just seeing how well those guys could spin the ball made me want to become good at it. My dad never tried to tell me that he wanted me to do this or do that. He told me he just wanted me to be happy and if I did something, he wanted me to make sure that I did it to the best of my ability. That's all he asked of me."

Coming out of high school as a three-star rated recruit by multiple services and considered a consensus top 20 pro-style quarterback recruit who participated in the Elite 11 finals, Bradley began his collegiate career at Toledo. During the 2021 season, he competed in eight contests, which included an 18-of-28 passing performance for 221 yards and a score as the Rockets nearly pulled off an upset at seventh-ranked Notre Dame in South Bend. However, a poor performance the following week against Colorado State provided a lesson that he still carries.

"It was definitely a confidence booster for our team because it showed us the potential that we had, but the next week it didn't go so well as we got beat by Colorado State," Bradley said. "That's really what I remember most about the experience; not the things that happened at Notre Dame, but what happened the next week because with this game; you can't get caught in the moment. You have to keep going and keep pushing. You have to create a sense of urgency in those around you to continue to get better and learn from your mistakes. It's okay to mess up, but you have to keep going and the next one is the most important one."

Following the conclusion of the season, Bradley felt he needed a change of scenery so he entered the transfer portal. As he has done throughout his life whenever he needed advice about the game or life in general, all he had to do was look to his father.

"There have been so many talks between the two of us about life and when you go through something that you might be struggling in, or if you don't see it like you should or you don't see the success coming," Bradley said. "There have been so many quotes and things I can pull from my dad in the library of things he's said to me. We talk more about how to handle things when they get tough, than about coverages. His talks and advice have helped me see how I can become a better leader, build relationships with people and keeping those relationships and learning how people act. That has been the biggest influence that he's had on me. Not so much about football; the plays are the plays and the calls are the calls.

He's also relied on his faith.

"Keeping faith in my life though and trusting Him in that process is the strongest thing," Bradley said. "God's always got something planned. I've always told myself to 'Pray like it depends upon him and work like it depends on you.' That's always been my go to thing. That faith still brings me comfort today. I just try to make sure I have all the right things clicked on my side of preparing for the game in practice and handling it with Him."

Second-year South Alabama head coach Kane Wommack not only knew what Bradley offered physically, but also what Bradley embodied when he saw the quarterback's name enter the portal.

"Carter has a very special arm talent; he can deliver the ball anywhere he needs to on the field," Wommack said of Bradley's physical talent. "He has a very quick delivery and can deliver the ball from different angles, so if he's getting pressure or a different type of rush, he's able to manipulate his throwing angle to get the ball where it needs to be. He's also just a guy that understands the game of football. Having his dad in this profession has helped Carter understand what this is supposed to look like day in and day out at an elite level in terms of quarterback play. Those things jumped off the page when we saw him during the recruiting process.

"As we got to know him and who his father is, you start to understand how important relationships are to those two men and how important the game of football is to them. I've known Gus Bradley for a number of years and he's one of the most impressive people in the game of football. He's a great football coach, but he's also a great person and a great leader. You can see all those things in his son and the way he goes about his business."

After the process and the relationships he had established with both Wommack and Applewhite, Bradley decided to make South Alabama his new home arriving in Mobile in January.

"Coach Applewhite gave me a second chance," Bradley said. "When I left Toledo, I wasn't sure whether or not I would ever pick up a football again. I was in a crazy mental state and didn't know where I was going to be able to transfer to. I didn't know if I was going to be able to play this game or if I even wanted to at that time. I feel God put me here at South Alabama in Coach Applewhite's offense for a specific reason. He's maturing me not only as a quarterback and a football player, but he's teaching me so many things. I don't feel I could be in a better place than I'm at here at South Alabama. He saved my life and my football career, so I can't thank him enough."

Following a quarterback competition throughout the spring and fall camp, Bradley was named QB1 for the Jaguars and through the first three games of the 2022 campaign he has completed 69 of his 103 pass attempts, thrown for 851 yards and thrown for seven touchdowns.

One his best performances of the season came in South Alabama's 38-24 road victory at Central Michigan. In the 14-point victory over the Chippewas, Bradley connected on 26 of his 41 pass attempts and threw three touchdowns. Of South's 502 yards of total offense, 354 came through the air, which tied for fourth (Jake Bentley, vs. Georgia Southern, 10/14/21) in a single game. For his play, Bradley was one of eight quarterbacks from around the nation that week to be named a Manning Award "Stars of the Week".

Following that performance at CMU, Bradley nearly led South Alabama to an upset of UCLA as the Jags fell on a last second field goal, 32-31 in the historic Rose Bowl this past Saturday. He finished the day 26-for-36 and threw for 237 yards with a touchdown and an interception against the Bruins in the one-point loss.

As the Jags head into their match up Saturday evening at 6 p.m. against Louisiana Tech at Hancock Whitney Stadium, Bradley will draw from his previous experiences.

"The flashbacks from previous games tell you that you have to keep going because the game isn't over until there's quadruple zeros on the clock and the final whistle blows," Bradley said. "I just want to keep pushing the guys and make sure they aren't letting up. That's definitely one of the things I wanted to bring to South Alabama when I arrived here. I wanted to be the example and show them that we need to always keep going and never take a break. I feel we are headed in the right direction."

With South Alabama sitting at 2-1 this fall, the possibilities are numerous, and the 2022 season is just another chapter in the story of Carter Bradley's life-long passion and love for football.

Kane WOMMACK

HEAD COACH

Kane Wommack enters his second year as the head coach of the University of South Alabama football program after being named the leader of the program on December 12, 2020. He was a finalist for the award given to the top NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision assistant coach prior to being named the head coach of the Jags.

Wommack (pronounced WAH-mick), 35, became the third head coach since the inception of South's program and was the youngest at the NCAA FBS level. The Jaguars' defensive coordinator in 2016 and '17, he returned to the program after working three years as linebackers' coach at Indiana including serving as the Hoosiers' defensive coordinator his final two seasons.

Last season, South Alabama finished 5-7 in Wommack's first season and had eight players picked up honors from the Sun Belt Conference including Sun Belt Offensive Player of the Year Jalen Tolbert who became the first draftee in the NFL during the Wommack era.

The Jags' Tolbert and Darrell Luter, Jr. were named First Team All-Conference, while Keith Gallmon, Jr. and Lincoln Sefcik earned second- and third-team honors respectively. Meanwhile, Jake Bentley, Jack Brooks, Wy'Kevious Thomas and Jalen Wayne earned honorable mention honors.

Prior to his return to South Alabama, Wommack was one of five finalists for the Broyles Award in the fall after his efforts helped IU post a 6-2 mark overall on the way to finishing 12th in the final Associated Press poll after earning an invitation to the Outback Bowl. His unit led the Big Ten Conference with both 17 interceptions and a 64 percent red zone defensive rate — ranking first in the country in the latter category and second in the former — while also pacing the league with 20 takeaways and 3.12 sacks per contest. The Hoosiers also finished 10th nationally in turnover margin (1.00) and were among the top 25 in scoring (20.2 points per game) and passing efficiency (120.96 rating) as well in 2020.

Following the season, seven members of the IU defense earned all-Big Ten honors including a school-record four —

Jamar Johnson, Jerome Johnson, Micah McFadden and Tiawan Mullen — first-team selections. Mullen also became the first cornerback in program history to earn first-team All-America honors after being recognized by the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA) while McFadden was a third-team Associated Press All-American.

In his first year as the youngest Power 5 defensive coordinator, Wommack led IU to top-50 rankings nationally in scoring, total, rush and pass defense for the first time since 1993. His efforts helped the Hoosiers hold four opponents to three points or less, the most in one season since limiting five to three or fewer in 1945.

Wommack was the Jaguars' defensive coordinator and linebackers coach during the 2016 and '17 campaigns, leading a unit that was among the top 10 in the country in passing defense (174.6 ypg) while allowing over 10 points fewer than the previous season — the fifth-best improvement in the NCAA FBS that fall — his first year on the staff. In 2017, South was in the top 15 nationally in both red zone defense and fumble recoveries as the Jags recorded 20 takeaways both seasons he was in charge of the defense.

Under his direction, Jeremy Reaves — currently with the Washington Football Team in the National Football League — was a two-time first-team all-Sun Belt Conference selection and the program's first-ever individual to receive an individual award from the league after being named the Defensive Player of the Year in 2017. After ranking in the top 10 in the nation in both sacks and tackles for loss in 2016, Randy Allen was voted first-team all-Sun Belt while linebackers Bull Barge, Roman Buchanan, Kalen Jackson and Darrell Songy each earned all-league accolades during Wommack's two years at South.

Prior to his arrival at South, Wommack was the defensive coordinator and safeties coach at Eastern Illinois, where he helped the Panthers make a first-round appearance in the NCAA Division I Football Championship Subdivision playoffs while finishing in the top 25 of the final national poll in 2015. That fall, EIU's defense ranked second nationally in interceptions (19), third in takeaways (31), fourth in pass efficiency defense (103.0), eighth in red zone defense (67.3%) and 10th in tackles for loss (98) while Dino Fanti was named the 2015 Ohio Valley Conference co-Defensive Player of the Year. In his first year with the program, the Panthers ranked second in the league in scoring defense and fourth in takeaways as four members of the unit earned all-OVC honors.

Wommack also has experience having worked at Tennessee-Martin in 2010, Jacksonville State in '11 — where he helped the Gamecocks claim a share of the OVC championship — and Ole Miss during the 2012 and '13 seasons.

He began his collegiate playing career at Arkansas, where he was a fullback in 2005 and '06, helping the Razorbacks win the Southeastern Conference West Division title his second year. After transferring to Southern Mississippi, Wommack helped the Golden Eagles to three straight bowl appearances before earning his undergraduate degree in political science in 2009; he began his coaching career as a volunteer assistant while at the school.

Wommack and his wife Melissa have three sons: Asher, Tatum and Jones. His father, Dave, had more than 35 years of experience coaching at the collegiate level, including serving as defensive coordinator at Ole Miss before retiring following the 2016 season.

Jo Bonner, President

Jo Bonner is the fourth president of the University of South Alabama.

Previously, he served as chief of staff to Alabama Gov. Kay Ivey. He joined the Ivey Administration in December 2018, as the governor's senior advisor. Before joining the governor's office, he served as Vice Chancellor for Economic Development at The University of Alabama System from 2013 to 2018. During his final year at UAS, he was an executive on loan, serving as Interim Executive Director of the Tuscaloosa County Industrial Development Authority.

For more than a decade, he represented Alabama's First District in the U.S. House of Representatives. He was first elected to the 108th Congress in November 2002 and was reelected to five additional terms. As a student at The University of Alabama, he worked on Capitol Hill as an intern for Congressman Jack Edwards. After graduation, he returned to Washington as press secretary and later chief of staff to Congressman Sonny Callahan.

In Congress, he earned a reputation as a respected and influential voice of reason in both Alabama and Washington. He was a member of the House Appropriations Committee, where he served on three key subcommittees, as well as the House Ethics Committee. Widely respected on both sides of the aisle, he was selected by House Speaker John Boehner to serve as chairman of Ethics during the 112th Congress. His crowning Congressional accomplishment came in 2012 when Airbus announced plans to build their first U.S. Final Assembly Line in Mobile. Over the years, Congressman Bonner developed friendships and strategic partnerships with the top corporate leaders at Airbus, one of the world's largest aerospace and defense companies. The Airbus project has resulted in more than $1 billion being invested in Alabama, creating thousands of new jobs in the aerospace industry and putting Mobile on track to become the fourth largest commercial aviation city in the world.

President Bonner has received numerous awards and honors, including a 2020 induction into the Alabama Academy of Honor; the Academy is the state's premiere recognition of 100 living Alabamians for their outstanding accomplishments and service. In 2016, the Business Council of Alabama (BCA) created the inaugural "Congressman Jo Bonner Spirit of Leadership Award" and honored Bonner as its first recipient. In 2013, he received the Distinguished Public Service Award, the highest honor the U.S. Navy bestows on a civilian. He also received the 2012 "Governor Bob Riley Building a Better Alabama Award" by the BCA.

Bonner earned a B.A. degree in Journalism from The University of Alabama in 1982. He is married to the former Janée Lambert, of Mobile, and they are the parents of a daughter, Lee, and a son, Robins.

Athletic Director, Dr. Joel Erdmann

Now entering his 14th year as Director of Athletics, Dr. Joel Erdmann has presided over one of the most successful eras in the University of South Alabama's history. Such success follows hard work and an atmosphere of excellence inspired by the Erdmann motto and department's core values, "graduation, citizenship, championships."

Over the past decade-plus, Erdmann's impact includes: milestone records both on the field and in the classroom by student-athletes, the beginning of an NCAA Division I FBS football program, new construction and/or renovation in every sport/facility, unprecedented fundraising, understanding and supporting student-athletes' name, image and likeness (NIL) rights and opportunities, and the hiring of championship-driven team of coaches as well as a stellar team of administrative professionals and staff.

Erdmann's championship mindset lead to the department's best-ever Academic Progress Rate scores and GPA in the history of Jaguar Athletics and the Sun Belt Conference All-Sports Championship Vic Bubas Cups five times in the last seven years.

Over the course of his career in intercollegiate athletics, Erdmann's expertise has been called upon for service in leadership and advisory roles within universities, conferences, the NCAA, and in communities to advance the future of sports for women and men. Erdmann currently serves as the Sun Belt Conference representative on the board of the LEAD1 Association.

Over the past 24 years in athletic administration, Erdmann has been entrusted to serve on both football and baseball championship selection committees. In baseball, Erdmann served a four-year term on the prestigious NCAA Division I Baseball Championship Committee where he served as Chairman of the Championship Selection Committee for the 2016 College World Series. As chair, his leadership responsibilities include oversight of the process to select and seed the best championship field of teams and provide the best experience for student-athletes, coaches, and fans for the NCAA DI Championship Baseball Tournament in Omaha.

In football, Erdmann joined a select group of Athletic Directors in 2017 who completed a mock selection exercise for the College Football Playoff Committee. During the 2006-07 academic year, Erdmann served on the NCAA Division II Football Championship Committee and he co-chaired the NCAA Division II Football Southeast Region Advisory Committee.

With an eye toward the future, Erdmann understands students, coaches and communities often define themselves by the places and spaces they gather. Creating a vibrant interactive game-day atmosphere for fans and a meaningful, competitive experience for student-athletes is an Erdmann hallmark for sustained success and a foundation for growth. Erdmann's tenure at the University of South Alabama has touched every aspect of brick and mortar making up Jaguar Athletics. Taking into account his experiences in the construction and renovation of numerous facilities including the new Hancock Whitney Stadium, Erdmann recognizes the unique challenges in maintaining or constructing sports venues from funding and financing, development and planning, design, architecture, engineering and systems integration, and operations and maintenance for these venues.

The list of new construction, renovations and improvements is a point of pride among the entire department, its coaches and student-athletes which include:

- Athletics, Hancock Whitney Stadium – construction of 25,000-seat football stadium located on the west side of campus that includes a state-of-the-art video board and sound system, an end-zone terrace and 18-seat suites, with a four-story administration building located behind the North end zone;

Anthony Mostella #5

On June 13, 2010, the University of South Alabama lost a member of the football program when Anthony Mostella passed away near his home of Oneonta, Ala.

Mostella, who would have been a senior in the fall of '10, was loved and respected by all his teammates and coaches, someone whose contributions to the program on the field were exceeded by what he was able to accomplish away from the game. Voted a team captain in the program's inaugural season, Mostella — a running back who came to South Alabama in order to continue his relationship with head coach Joey Jones — displayed his selfless nature with his contributions on special teams and in the locker room while fellow teammates racked up more yardage running the ball.

He came to USA and Mobile after playing for Jones at Birmingham-Southern in 2007, sacrificing a season of collegiate eligibility in order to help build the Jaguar program by taking part in its first-ever spring practice in March and April of 2009. During that time he would establish himself not only as a leader, but as an ambassador for the program as it established its roots in the community.

From 2010-2017, the Jaguars honored Monstella each fall as one member of the senior class was selected to his #5 jersey for their final season. In 2021, Kane Wommack, who was a member of Jones' staff in 2016-17, restored the tradition of #5 in a unique way. Each week, the player who best portrayed the characteristics of Mostella was selected to wear #5 for the following game. Each week, the jersey is passed to a different teammate.

Welcome to the new Sun Belt Conference

The Sun Belt Conference begins a new chapter in its history on Friday, July 1, as it officially welcomes James Madison, Marshall, Old Dominion and Southern Miss to its 14-member conference.

"We are excited to officially welcome James Madison, Marshall, Old Dominion and Southern Miss as members of the Sun Belt Conference," said Sun Belt Conference Commissioner Keith Gill. "This expansion to 14 members—and the regional rivalries it produces—makes the 2022-23 academic year one of the most anticipated in Sun Belt history and signals the bright future that lies ahead for the conference."

The Sun Belt Conference was founded in 1976, began sponsoring football in 2001 and currently sponsors 18 NCAA sports. The 14-member conference includes App State, Arkansas State, Coastal Carolina, Georgia Southern, Georgia State, James Madison, Louisiana, ULM, Marshall, Old Dominion, South Alabama, Southern Miss, Texas State and Troy.
