THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA AIKEN

The University of South Carolina Aiken was chartered under authority granted by the General Assembly of South Carolina and the Aiken County Commission for Higher Education in 1961 after entering into an agreement with the University of South Carolina to establish a two-year center in Aiken.

The Aiken Center opened its doors in September 1961 to 139 students. Temporarily housed in Banksia, a renovated mansion in the City of Aiken, the Center consisted of three full-time faculty members (one of whom served as Director of the Center) and one secretary.

Initially, the school offered only freshman and sophomore level courses but throughout the sixties, the size and reputation of the Center grew as word of its excellence spread among its constituents. In 1968, the Center underwent an institutional self-study and was accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a branch of the University of South Carolina and as a junior college. The first associate degrees were awarded in June 1968.

The campus of USC Aiken moved from Banksia to its present site in 1972 and physical changes began to occur rapidly. At first, the permanent campus consisted of 100 acres and one multipurpose building which housed all university operations. A library was completed in 1975 and additional land was donated increasing the campus to 144 acres. In October 1977, the Student Activities Center was opened. A classroom building was occupied in 1978 and one year later, an auxiliary services building was added.

An apartment complex for students, Pacer Downs, was ready for occupancy in fall of 1984. More construction additions to the campus included completion of the Etherredge Center, Ruth Patrick Science Education Center, the Business and Education Building and the Alan B. Miller Nursing Building. Additional land was acquired increasing the campus to 400 acres.

Academic and organizational changes also occurred rapidly. The faculty formalized its organizational structure and redefined its role in the governance of the institution in 1974-75. Also, the students reorganized their governing body and more precisely defined their role on campus; the administration and staff structures were overhauled and expanded to meet the demands of the growing academic programs.

When the full-time equivalent student enrollment reached 1,066 in the fall of 1975, the Aiken Campus was permitted to plan for senior level courses, as well as create a number of baccalaureate degree programs. In that same year, USCA received approval as a four-year branch campus by the Board of Trustees of the University of South Carolina and USCA was designated a Recognized Candidate for Senior College Accreditation. In September 1976, the Board of Trustees granted academic autonomy to the Aiken Campus. The first bachelor's degrees were granted in May 1977 and USCA became a fully accredited senior college.

Presently, the college community is comprised of more than 3,300 students, over 100 full-time faculty, approximately 110 staff members, and 28 administrators. USCA awards bachelor's degrees in more than 20 major areas of study, an associate degree in nursing, master's degrees in two areas, and offers a varied program of continuing education courses for the wider community.

Today USC Aiken offers students a liberal education designed to develop an understanding of human experience which will equip them for life in a free society. To accomplish this, the University provides students with an opportunity to discover learning processes which enable them to grow personally and socially.

It promotes students' interaction within a community of active scholars and artists, and it encourages students to use the knowledge which they gain to deal with the problems of a rapidly changing world.

ROBERTO HERNANDEZ STADIUM

STATE-OF-THE-ART FACILITY TO SERVE AS PACERS' NEW HOME

Following several successful years at J.H. Satcher Field, USC Aiken Baseball opens a new chapter in its storied history.

Opened September 18, 2003, the Roberto Hernandez Baseball Stadium is the latest addition to the facilites at USC Aiken.

This 1,000-seat, state-of-the-art stadium features a beautiful grass surface with all the amenities of a top-notch Division I ballpark.

A clubhouse, players' lounge, coaches offices, modern press box with separate radio broadcast booth, training facilites, top-of-the-line scoreboard with message center, and 850 covered seats are among the highlights.

But the crown jewel is the Roberto Hernandez Hall of Fame. Designed to display the program's rich heritage, generous donations by Hernandez himself will get the Hall of Fame off to a roaring start.

"It means a lot to me to give to USC Aiken," said Hernandez, a 13-year veteran and two-time Major League All-Star. "Maybe there will be another Roberto Hernandez to play at USC Aiken. If it wasn't for this school, I would not be here today."

The inaugural game is scheduled for January 31, 2004 at 1:00 PM versus Carson-Newman.

ROBERTO HERNANDEZ

FORMER USC AIKEN PACER AND 13-YEAR MLB VETERAN

Roberto Hernandez came to USC Aiken as a sophomore after spending one season as a catcher at the University of Connecticut.

Upon his arrival, the USCA coaching staff transformed him into a dominating pitcher.

In his one season, Hernandez posted a 10-2 record with 97 strikeouts in 94.0 innings pitched. At the plate, he belted 19 home runs.

Hernandez led the Pacers to the 1986 NAIA College World Series and was named to the All-Tournament team.

After his one season with the Pacers, Hernandez was the 16th pick of the first round in the 1986 Major League Baseball draft, selected by the California Angels.

Following five plus seasons in the minor leagues, Hernandez made his debut with the Chicago White Sox. In his first full season, he recorded 38 saves and helped Chicago to the AL West championship.

After six seasons with the White Sox, Hernandez was traded to the San Francisco Giants in 1997 where he went 5-2 with a 2.48 ERA in 28 appearances (LEFT: ROOKIE CARD).

In 1998, Hernandez began his three-year stint with the Tampa Bay Devil Rays and for the 2001 and 2002 seasons, he was the closer for the Kansas City Royals.

Hernandez signed as a free agent with the Atlanta Braves prior to the 2003 season and served as a setup man for closer John Smoltz. He was 5-3 with a 4.35 ERA in 66 appearances.

For his career, Hernandez is 53-54 with 320 saves and a 3.30 ERA. He has appeared in 762 games, tossed 835.0 major league innings, and struck out 761 batters.

Currently ranked 10th all-time in saves, Hernandez owns the distinction of being the all-time Latin-born saves leader. He is also a two-time All-Star.

Recognized by "The Sporting News" for three-consecutive years as a "Good Guy in Sports", Hernandez has made a habit of giving back. Aside from the one-million dollar donation to build Roberto Hernandez Stadium, he has been involved with the following: Gloves for Kids; RBI (Reviving Baseball in the Inner Cities); and an autograph show to benefit the hurricane disaster relief fund for Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic in the winter of 1998.

Hernandez is married to Ivonne and the couple has three children: Kairy, Roberto, Jr., and Jose.

Clubhouse of the new stadium. This is where the Pacers will truly feel the luxury of their new home.

Kenny Thomas

Head Coach

In just four seasons as head coach of the USC Aiken baseball program, Kenny Thomas has righted the ship and set the Pacers back on course for dominance in NCAA Division II baseball.

After taking over a program that had fallen on hard times with two losing seasons in three years, Thomas has posted four consecutive winning seasons.

Last season, the Pacers posted their third consecutive 30-win season with a 30-24 record overall and 13-16 in the Peach Belt Conference. USCA was ranked as high as 14th in the Collegiate Baseball Magazine Top 30 poll and had impressive wins over #5 North Florida, #9 Armstrong Atlantic State, #16 Columbus State, and #26 Lander.

Junior center fielder Ashley Farr shattered numerous school and conference records in route to becoming PBC Player of the Year, South Atlantic Region Player of the Year, First-Team ABCA All-American, and Second-Team Verizon Academic All-American.

In 2002, the Pacers' 37-19 record marked the most wins since the 1993 team was 46-18 and went to the NCAA Division II World Series. A 16-14 Peach Belt Conference record placed the Pacers fifth, their best finish since tying for third in 1995.

USCA did it against tough competition in 2002 with 10 wins against Top 25 teams including two victories over third-ranked North Florida and a season sweep of #22 Augusta State.

Thomas coached three ABCA All-Americans in 2002 as his squad rewrote the record books.

Junior Ashley Farr was named First-Team All-American becoming the school's first-ever in the school's NCAA history to achieve that distinction.

Once a perennial Division II power, the Pacers returned to the national rankings early in 2002 following a four-year absence. Thomas' 2000 squad debuted at #28 in the Collegiate Baseball Magazine's Top 30 poll after opening the season 3-0.

USCA bounced in and out of the poll over the next two seasons before solidifying themselves as a fixture in the national limelight in 2002.

USCA cracked the poll again early in 2002, rising as high as 15th before placing 20th in the final poll of the season. The Pacers appeared in the final eight-straight polls of the 2002 season.

In his second season, Thomas posted a 30-25 overall record, the first time USCA hit the 30-win plateau since the 1996 team finished 32-25.

In Thomas' first season, the Pacers finished with a winning record, 29-27, for the first time in three seasons. USCA was 15-15 in PBC action, the most conference wins since the 1993 squad won the PBC regular season crown going 15-6 on their way to making the school's second-straight NCAA postseason appearance.

Before taking the helm at USC Aiken, Thomas spent 12 seasons as the head coach at Volunteer State Community College in Gallatin, Tenn. At Volunteer State, Thomas amassed an impressive 520-223 record including six division crowns, eight regional appearances, and two Junior College World Series appearances, all while playing in the tough Tennessee Junior College Athletic Association.

In his first year at Volunteer State, Thomas won 38 games. Only one other time in his 12 seasons would he win less than 41.

He was named Coach of the Year in 1989, 1993-96, and 1998 by his fellow coaches and was selected in 1995 and 1999 as the National Junior College Athletic Association Eastern District Coach of the Year.

Thomas' success has not gone unnoticed by the community. In 2001, the Pacers finished 14th in Division II in attendance drawing 5,725 fans through the turnstiles at J.H. Satcher Field. That number was trumped in 2002 with 6,831 fans coming out to the ballpark to support the Pacers, good enough for 13th in the NCAA Division II.

In 2003, USC Aiken ranked ninth in Division II in total home attendance with 6,257 total fans.

Thomas also instilled in his team the confidence needed to win the big games as the Pacers have won 31 games played against ranked opponents in the past four seasons.

As a player, Thomas earned NAIA All-American honors his senior year as a catcher while at Trevecca Nazarene University in Nashville, Tenn.

Following his graduation in 1978, Thomas began coaching a Stan Musial summer league team. In nine summers, he led his team to a runner-up finish (1986), and a third place finish (1984).

Thomas also became a local scout for the New York Yankees (1980-81), Cincinnati Reds (1981-82), and St. Louis Cardinals (1982-88). After becoming head coach at Volunteer State, Thomas remained with the Cardinals organization in a part time capacity until 1995.

He has served as a hitting instructor at the famous Stan Saleski Baseball camp in Dayton, Ohio as well as conducting his own Kenny Thomas Winter Baseball Academy. Started in 1990 with 12 kids, Thomas' camps, winter and summer, quickly grew to over 400 students by 1999.

Thomas has coached 42 players who have gone on to be drafted in professional baseball drafts, 67 All-Conference players, six conference Players of the Year, 10 All-Americans, and one National Player of the Year.

In 2004, Thomas and the Pacers will be playing in the new 1,000-seat state-of-the-art Roberto Hernandez Stadium. Thomas, as well as USCA Athletic Director Randy Warrick, were instrumental in securing a one million dollar donation from the 13-year Major League Baseball veteran.

Hernandez, now a reliever for the Philadelphia Phillies, played his collegiate baseball at USC Aiken. In his one season as a Pacer, he posted a 10-2 record with 97 strikeouts in 94.0 innings pitched and led the Pacers to the 1986 NAIA World Series. The following summer, he was a first-round draft pick of the California Angels.

"Since I met Roberto for the first time in the summer of 2001, he has definitely proven to be a true friend of mine and of the USC Aiken baseball program," said Thomas.

Along with his baseball duties, Thomas is involved in the community. His work with the Aiken AMBUCS club has garnered him honors by that organization that serves to award college scholarships to physically handicapped high school students.

Jackie Holt
Assistant Coach

Jackie Holt enters his fifth season as assistant coach for the USC Aiken baseball program. Holt came to USCA from Volunteer State Community College in Gallatin, Tenn. where he served as an assistant coach under Thomas for four seasons.

The 30-year old Hendersonville, Tenn. native works with the pitchers, catchers, and serves as recruiting coordinator.

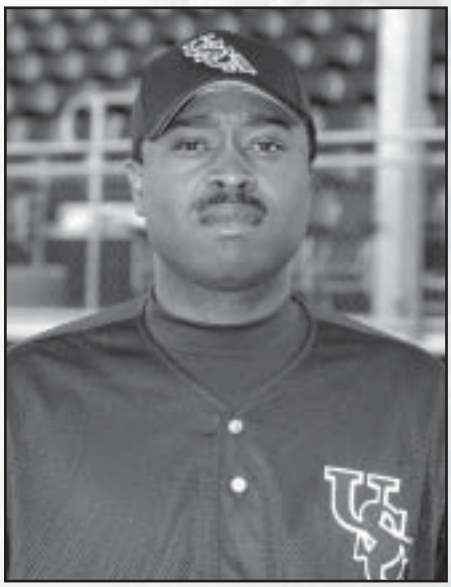

In four seasons at USCA, Holt has had a member of his pitching staff earn conference Pitcher-of-the-Week honors six times. In the previous seven seasons of the PBC, Pacer hurlers had earned that distinction only four times.

In his four years at Volunteer State, Holt had five pitchers professionally drafted, two lead the nation in strike outs, two All-Americans, and a combined team earned run average below 3.00. The Volunteer State staff was ranked in the top five in the nation each of his four seasons.

Prior to entering coaching, Holt played two seasons at Volunteer State where he earned All-Conference honors as a catcher. Following the 1993 season, Holt transfered to Cumberland University, where he played his junior season. He finished his college career at Tennessee Tech.

Holt returned to Cumberland to graduate with a Bachelor's of Science degree in Business Administration in December 1995.

Holt, and wife Sandy, reside in Aiken, S.C.

David Brinkley
Assistant Coach

David Brinkley enters his fifth season as assistant coach for the USC Aiken baseball program. Brinkley also came to USCA from Volunteer State where he served as an assistant for two seasons.

Serving as the hitting instructor, Brinkley's pupils have had much success. Ashley Farr and Tavis Cummings have rewritten the school's record book over the past three seasons.

Prior to coaching at Volunteer State, Brinkley played at Tennessee Tech as well as serving as a student assistant while earning his Bachelor's of Science in Physical Education.

Brinkley played two seasons at Volunteer State. He was named All-Conference as a sophomore in 1993.

Originally from Hendersonville, Tenn., Brinkley's duties include serving as the hitting coach while also assisting with the outfielders.

He recently earned his Master's Degree in Physical Education from the University of South Carolina.

Brinkley, and wife Erin, are the parents of a new baby girl named Dani. They resides in Aiken, S.C.

Chris Mayes
Assistant Coach

Chris Mayes begins his third season as assistant coach with USCA baseball.

Mayes came to USCA from Gibbs High School in Knoxville, Tenn. where he was an assistant coach.

Mayes and his wife, Jennifer, reside in Aiken, S.C.

Mitch Hearne
Assistant Coach

Mitch Hearne begins his first season on the USCA baseball staff.

A 2003 USCA graduate, Hearne posted a 2.62 ERA with a 5-1 record as a senior.

Hearne is engaged to be married to USCA women's basketball assistant coach Dana Richter.

2004 BEGINS NEW ERA FOR USCA BASEBALL

hoping for "outstanding" start

With the opening of the new 1,000-seat, Roberto Hernandez Stadium to begin the 2004 season, USC Aiken head baseball coach Kenny Thomas hopes this new era of Pacer baseball will have an "outstanding" first chapter.

"We are so much better at key positions than we were last year," said Thomas, 126-95 in his fifth season at the helm. "We have so much more talent, we've addressed some sore spots defensively, we are deeper on the mound, and realistically I think we are talented enough to overachieve this year."

Overachieving might mean finishing better than seventh in the Peach Belt Conference standings, the spot the Pacers closed out the 2003 season and where they find themselves at in the preseason poll of the league's 11 head coaches.

Kennesaw State, ranked fourth in the preseason Collegiate Baseball Magazine Top 40 poll, is the early season favorite garnering five of a possible 10 first-place votes. But the Owls' margin was a slim four points over second-place and third-ranked North Florida, who picked up four first-place tallies. Armstrong Atlantic State, last season's PBC co-champions with North Florida, is tabbed third while Georgia College & State University received the other two first-place votes and is fourth.

Above: Shortstop Tony Hanks turns the double play at second base in a 5-4 win over USC Spartanburg on Mar. 22. Hanks led the team in home runs in 2003 with 14.

"I was a little surprised we were not fifth or sixth, but it is easy to just pick the preseason poll based on how everyone performed last year. I know we are substantially better than last year, but we have to prove that on the field," said Thomas. "I've talked to the team about earning respect. It's not given to you. Neither is tradition; we've got to build our tradition."

USC Aiken will open the season with a number 40 national ranking and is looking to turn heads in their new home. Thomas sees the team with its usual trademark offensive punch, but a much-improved defense and added pitching depth.

"All 16 of our hitters will be able to contribute offensively, but we have filled some holes defensively and are drastically better there. We have also drastically improved the depth of our pitching, from the starting rotation to the bullpen," said Thomas.

Two-time ABCA First-Team All-American Ashley Farr returns for his senior season after shattering school and conference records. Senior Tony Hanks and junior Bradley Key are two more players that will lead the Pacers.

On the mound, the Pacers welcome back seven of their top nine hurlers from last season's staff that posted a 4.44 team ERA.

But of course, much of the focus will be on the stadium itself, not just the team on the field.

"Our players have taken great pride in this stadium. They treat the complex with respect and take care of it," said Thomas. "For the new players, this was part of their recruitment and one of the reasons they came here. For the fans, there's no better facility to watch a game at. It is a real blessing for our program."

USC Aiken will play 40 of its 56 games at home. The Pacers will also play 18 games versus six teams ranked in the preseason top 25.

PITCHING

Of the nine pitchers that logged at least 10.0 innings of work in 2003, seven are back for Thomas and his coaching staff. Mike Pomaville, 6-6 with four saves, is gone while Bradley Key, 2-1 with a 3.29 ERA, had Tommy John's surgery in the off season and while he will play third base, he will not see time on the mound.

Sophomore Nick Wandless and senior Wes McColl combined for a 14-7 record and 95 strikeouts for the Pacers last season. Juniors Jerod Summer, Harold Sofield, and Paul Ferrell, senior Chad McMurray, and sophomores Chris Wilson and Jamie Langford all return.

"Our staff is so much deeper than a year ago. We are carrying 16 pitchers and I've let them know that some of them will be situational pitchers and they should know their roles," said Thomas. "Our staff is talented, but not overpowering, with a lot of guys that can be contributors."

Newcomers Steve Dunham and Derek Claussen will join McColl, Summer, and Wandless in the early season starting rotation. Sofield, Ferrell, and Langford will be key members of the bullpen.

"If Lee Cromer can come back from arm surgery, he'll be a big key for our bullpen," said Thomas of the junior lefthander that was 4-0 with a 1.36 ERA in 29 appearances in 2002. "Newcomers Peden Rucker, Jon Paul, and Randy Stewart will also be important out of the bullpen."

CATCHING

Three new faces will put on the gear for the Pacers in 2004. Robert Davis, Brandon Barenie, and Bob Hatcher are junior college transfers that Thomas hopes can lend immediate help to a troubled area.

"We've made a 100 percent turnaround from last year. At times, catching was a real sore spot for us. We had inexperienced guys that were forced into difficult situations," said Thomas. "Now we have three guys that, not necessarily individually but as a group, are as good of a trio of catchers as anyone on any team."

All three guys are expected to contribute offensively while Barenie may also see some time in the outfield to keep his bat in the lineup.

INFIELD

Two of four starters return for the Pacers on what Thomas is calling "an experienced, no-excuse infield." Anchoring the infield is senior Tony Hanks at shortstop and Bradley Key at third base. Hanks hit .283 with 14 homers last season. Key batted .284 with a team-best 22 doubles.

"This is Tony's year to shine. When I recruited him four years ago, I told him he could come here and be the best shortstop in the Peach Belt if he wanted to be," said Thomas. "We need Tony to concentrate on saving us as many runs in the field as he does on knocking them in."

Key, who split time on the mound and in the field his first two seasons, will get to settle in full-time at third.

"I still believe Bradley can be the best player in the Peach Belt before he's through here," said Thomas. "He's had two good years here and its time for him to take that next step."

Newcomer Daniel Quartararo will have the tough task of filling Demetrick Drumming's shoes at second base. Drumming, the Pacers all-time home run king with three, was a second-team All-American in 2002.

"Daniel is a different player than Demetrick, someone who has the potential to be better defensively," said Thomas. "He is a guy who will aggravate opposing pitchers. He will see some time leading off for us."

First base is another key infield position that will feature new faces.

"First base was another sore spot for us last year," said Thomas. "Our returning first baseman decided not to come back one week before school started and it left us in a tailspin we never recovered from."

Matthew Tripp is a junior college transfer that will anchor first and is expected to "save us a lot of runs in addition to his offense." Freshman Derek Gordon as well as all three catchers could see time at first base.

Sophmore Ian Kowalchuk and junior Casey Calhoun are two utility returners that could see action throughout the infield.

OUTFIELD

When you talk about the Pacers' outfield, it all starts with Ashley Farr. The reigning Peach Belt Conference and NCAA South Atlantic Region Player of the Year continues to rewrite both the school and conference record books.

"Ashley has gotten better defensively the last two years; he will play some in left and center field," said Thomas.

"We have big plans for Zach," said Thomas. "He has good speed and base running abilities and is our center fielder of the future."

Freshman Ryan Steen and senior Mike Cunningham could serve as designated hitters.

2003: THE SEASON IN REWIND

injuries hamper teams' success

Coming off a successful 37-19 campaign in 2002, the USC Aiken Pacers entered last season with high regard, and high expectations.

The Pacers were picked 15th in the Collegiate Baseball Magazine preseason Top 30 poll after ending the 2002 season at number 20.

Coaches in the Peach Belt Conference also anticipated the Pacers being a force in league play by tabbing them fifth, their highest preseason prediction of the Kenny Thomas era.

Key injuries, early and often, however, limited the Pacers potential as they concluded last year with a somewhat disappointing 30-24 record overall and 13-16 in the PBC, placing tied for seventh.

"We had so many injuries even before the first pitch of the season," said Thomas. "We had more players sitting in the stands than in dirty pants. But with all the frustrations of last year, we still accomplished the feat of winning 30 games."

Thomas and the Pacers did reach the 30-win plateau for the third consecutive season, the most since the Pacers won 30+ games from 1992 to 1996.

Above: Clint Keown finished his three-year career at USCA as the school and Peach Belt Conference's all-time steals leader with 89. A two-sport All-American at USC Aiken (men's basketball and baseball), Keown became the first player in PBC history to swipe 50 bases in a season in 2003 when he was 52-of-59.

Highlighting 2003 were seven wins over conference foes ranked in the top 30 in Division II. USCA swept three games from #26 Lander, upset ninth-ranked Armstrong Atlantic State, won the series 2-1 at #16 Columbus State, and stole one game at fifth-ranked North Florida in the final two weeks of the regular season.

The Pacers opened the season strong with a 4-1 record, before falling on hard times and dropping five in a row. USCA responded, however, with its longest winning streak of the year, six games, all at J.H. Satcher Field, to post a 10-6 record on February 26.

USCA headed into the final weekend of the regular season needing to win the series with UNC Pembroke to reach 30 wins, and then did just that, sweeping Saturday's doubleheader 16-4 and 6-0.

Individually, Clint Keown and Ashley Farr had record breaking seasons.

Keown became the first player in Peach Belt Conference history to swipe 50 bases in a season. He was 52-of-59 in stolen bases shattering both school and conference marks. In his 135 career games in three seasons, Keown stole 87 bases, also a school and PBC record.

Keown was named First-Team All-Conference and First-Team South Atlantic All-Region after batting .375. He signed a free agent contract with the Cincinnati Reds at the conclusion of the regular season and ended last year in "A" ball with the Dayton Dragons.

Farr continues to leave his mark on USCA and PBC baseball. A two-time First-Team ABCA All-American, Farr just missed winning the triple crown, leading the league in batting average (.483) and RBI (64), but finishing fifth in home runs (10).

He was named the PBC and NCAA South Atlantic Region Player of the Year. Farr joined Major Leaguer Adam Riggs as the only Pacers to win conference player of the year honors and became the first in USCA's NCAA history to win region player of the year accolades.

Above: Bradley Key did it at the plate, in the field, and on the mound for the Pacers last season. As a sophomore, he led the team and finished second in the PBC in doubles with 22. On the mound, he had a 3.29 ERA with a 2-1 record in eight appearances.

Farr finished with 100 hits, two shy of the conference record, but did bat .483 to set a new PBC and school standard.

Not only excelling on the field, Farr's success carried over to the classroom. Following last season, Farr was selected to the Verizon Academic All-American Second-Team.

A frontrunner for Division II Player of the Year honors in 2004, Farr could become USCA's fourth student-athlete, but first non-golfer, to become a three-time All-American.

Above: Ashley Farr became the first Pacer to win NCAA South Atlantic Region Player of the Year honors and joined Major Leaguer Adam Riggs as the only Pacers to garner PBC Player of the Year accolodes. The 5-10 outfielder from West Columbia, S.C. was named a First-Team All-American for the second straight season.

Overall Record: 30-24 Home: 25-13 Away: 5-11 Neutral: 0-0
Conference Record: 13-16 Home: 9-6 Away: 4-10

THE PEACH BELT CONFERENCE

Vision Statement:

The Peach Belt Conference is committed to providing through its dependent collegiate members, a forum for student participation in athletic, academic and co-curricular events under the auspices of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, Division II.

We will exemplify the characteristics of a premier intercollegiate conference that prides itself on the inclusion of students of all demographic groups who wish to participate in a well-rounded sports program. Our institutions, our academic goals, our athletic aspirations reflect a communality of purpose and a commitment to excellence in the classroom and on the playing field.

History:

Since its inception in 1991, the Peach Belt Conference has worked tirelessly to become one of the elite conferences in NCAA Division II. Now entering its 13th season with 18 national championships and 16 national finalists, the PBC has accomplished that goal.

Starting with only two championships in 1991, in men's and women's basketball, the conference has expanded to 12 championship sports with the addition of women's soccer in the fall of 2000.

The conference traces its roots back to November of 1988 when 11 schools first met in Greenville, SC to form a Division II conference. Following a second meeting on Dec. 3, 1989 hosted by USC Aiken, five of those 11 schools, plus two others, formed the Peach Belt and began play in 1991.

The Peach Belt was less than a year old before capturing a national championship. The Columbus State golf team took the honor by winning the 1992 national crown, the first of three golf championships the Cougars own.

The PBC has seen continued success in all sports with national rankings and multiple NCAA appearances.

The seven charter members of the conference were Armstrong Atlantic State University, Columbus State University, Francis Marion University, Georgia College & State University, Lander University, USC Aiken and USC Spartanburg. The name Peach Belt Athletic Conference was adopted in January of 1990 and modified to Peach Belt Conference in May of 2000.

Augusta State joined the conference in 1991 and UNC Pembroke became the ninth member on July 1, 1992. They were followed by Kennesaw State on July 1, 1994, Clayton College & State on July 1, 1995 and the University of North Florida on July 1, 1997, to bring the current membership to 12 institutions.

Former Augusta State basketball coach and athletic director Marvin Vanover was named the interim commissioner in April, 1990, and served in that capacity until his appointment as the conference's first full-time commissioner in July of 1991. He established the conference office in Augusta, Ga., which houses the commissioner and his staff.

Dr. Thomas Hallman, chancellor of the University of South Carolina Aiken, is the president of the conference for 2003-04.

The conference currently holds championships in 12 sports, six for men and six for women. They are men's and women's cross country, men's and women's soccer, volleyball, men's and women's basketball, men's and women's tennis, baseball, softball and men's golf.
