The training room, located in the Student Activities Center on the northeast side of "The Courthouse" gymnasium, offers modern equipment and techniques to assist in the prevention and rehabilitation of injuries.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH CAROLINA AIKEN

The University of South Carolina Aiken was chartered in 1961 after entering into an agreement with the University of South Carolina to establish a two-year center in Aiken.

The Aiken Center opened its doors in September 1961 to 139 students. Temporarily housed in Banksia, a renovated mansion in the Aiken, the Center consisted of three full-time faculty members (one of whom served as Director of the Center).

In 1968, the Center underwent an institutional self-study and was accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools as a branch of the University of South Carolina and as a junior college. The first associate degrees were awarded in June 1968.

The campus of USC Aiken moved from Banksia to its present site in 1972 and physical changes began to occur rapidly. At first, the permanent campus consisted of 100 acres and one multipurpose building which housed all university operations. A library was completed in 1975 and additional land was donated increasing the campus to 144 acres. In October 1977, the Student Activities Center was opened. A classroom building was occupied in 1978 and one year later, an auxiliary services building was added.

An apartment complex for students, Pacer Downs, was ready for occupancy in fall of 1984. More construction additions to the campus included completion of the Etheredge Center, Ruth Patrick Science Education Center, the Business and Education Building and the Alan B. Miller Nursing Building. Additional land was acquired increasing the campus to 400 acres.

Academic and organizational changes also occurred rapidly. The faculty formalized its organizational structure and redefined its role in the governance of the institution in 1974-75. Also, the students reorganized their governing body and more precisely defined their role on campus; the administration and staff structures were overhauled and expanded to meet the demands of the growing academic programs.

When the full-time equivalent student enrollment reached 1,066 in the fall of 1975, the Aiken Campus was permitted to plan for senior level courses, as well as create a number of baccalaureate degree programs. In that same year, USCA received approval as a four-year branch campus by the Board of Trustees of the University of South Carolina and USCA was designated a Recognized Candidate for Senior College Accreditation. In September 1976, the Board of Trustees granted academic autonomy to the Aiken Campus. The first bachelor's degrees were granted in May 1977 and USCA became a fully accredited senior college.

Presently, the college community is comprised of more than 3,300 students, over 100 full-time faculty, approximately 110 staff members, and 28 administrators. USCA awards bachelor's degrees in more than 20 major areas of study, an associate degree in nursing, master's degrees in two areas, and offers a varied program of continuing education courses for the wider community.

Today USC Aiken offers students a liberal education designed to develop an understanding of human experience which will equip them for life in a free society. To accomplish this, the University provides students with an opportunity to discover learning processes which enable them to grow personally and socially.

It promotes students' interaction within a community of active scholars and artists, and it encourages students to use the knowledge which they gain to deal with the problems of a rapidly changing world.

“THE COURTHOUSE”

Home of the Pacers

Known to Pacer fans as “The Courthouse”, the Student Activities Center gymnasium is the home to USC Aiken men’s and women’s basketball and volleyball teams.

This 2,500-seat arena is considered one of the toughest places to play in the Peach Belt Conference.

In 28 seasons, the Pacers are 219-162 at home for a .575 winning percentage. USCA has also led the conference in attendance five of the past eight seasons, and never out of the top three during that span.

“The Courthouse” also serves as the setting for numerous academic events and school functions including December and May convocations.

Roberto Hernandez Stadium

Built with a one million dollar donation from the 15-year MLB veteran and USCA alum. Seats 1,000 fans.

J.H. Satcher Field

Formerly the home of USCA baseball, Satcher Field is now one of the best D-II softball facilities in the Southeast.

“Pacer Pit” Soccer Field

Home for USC Aiken men’s and women’s soccer. The complex has a field house located on the east end with locker rooms and offices. Field has a seating capacity of 700.

Tennis Complex

Located next to J.H. Satcher Softball Field, the USC Aiken Tennis Complex is the home of men’s and women’s tennis. The complex includes seven lighted courts and seating for 150.

Palmetto Golf Course

Founded in 1892, Palmetto is recognized as the fourth oldest golf course in the United States. It serves as the home of USC Aiken golf and host for the Palmetto Intercollegiate in March.

Vince Alexander

Head Coach

Vince Alexander begins his first season as head coach of the USC Aiken men's basketball program. He becomes the school's seventh person to sit at the helm and third since moving to the NCAA Division II ranks in 1990-91.

Alexander served as the head coach for the previous six seasons at Mansfield University, an NCAA Division II institution in Mansfield, Pa.

Alexander led the Mountaineers to an 89-74 record, the 2005 Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference (PSAC) Eastern Division Championship, and four appearances in the PSAC Tournament. Over the past three seasons, Mansfield posted a 57-29 record.

"I am very impressed with Coach Vince Alexander. He not only fit the criteria of what we were looking for in our next coach, but he exceeds them," said Randy Warrick, USCA Athletic Director. "I am confident that our players, the university faculty and staff, and our community supporters will find that Coach Alexander is a hard working leader and a proven winner. He will be a great addition to our Pacer family."

At a reception held in early summer on campus, the community gathered to meet and greet Alexander.

"We interviewed an exceptional pool of candidates for this position; however, Vince stood out from the group as a stellar coach," said USC Aiken Chancellor Dr. Tom Hallman. "I spoke to several people, including [Mansfield's] President, who had nothing but respect for Vince both personally and professionally."

The PSAC does not crown a regular season champion, but Alexander's 2004-05 squad finished with the best conference record in the 14-team league. The Mountaineers went 10-2 on their way to the Eastern Division Championship and then advanced to the semifinals of the PSAC Tournament. The team finished the season with an overall record of 18-11.

All those accomplishments are even more impressive considering Mansfield was picked to finish fourth in the Eastern Division in the pre-season coaches' poll.

"Words can't describe how excited I am. I'd like to thank everyone involved including Dr. Hallman, Randy Warrick, and especially the search committee," Alexander said of his hiring. "I feel very blessed to have the opportunity to join such a wonderful school and athletic department. I'm ecstatic about leading this team and working with a great group of people."

Alexander took over the reigns of the Mansfield program in 1999, after serving two seasons as an assistant coach at the university. His first team finished 13-13 and his second squad (2000-01) appeared in the PSAC Tournament for the first time since 1997. Only eight of the 14 PSAC teams, four from each division, advance to the tournament.

After posting a 9-16 mark in 2001-02, the Mountaineers rolled off a pair of 18-win campaigns and a 20-win season.

In 2002-03, Mansfield went 18-11 and returned to the PSAC Tournament, making the first of three consecutive trips to the league championship tourney.

Alexander led the Mountaineers to a 21-7 record in 2003-04 and a second place finish in the PSAC Eastern Division. The team was ranked nationally during the season and with a final NCAA East Region ranking of number six, just missed earning a spot in the Division II NCAA Tournament.

The 2004-05 season saw a second 18-win campaign and for the third time in Alexander's six seasons as head coach, Mansfield led the conference in scoring. The Mountaineers average of 84.7 points per game also ranked 12th in NCAA Division II.

Alexander's teams finished in the top four in the PSAC in scoring in each of his six seasons, which gives Pacer fans an idea of what type of style the coach will use at USCA.

"Fans can expect to see an up-tempo team," said Alexander. "We're going to pressure other teams both offensively and defensively."

At Mansfield, Alexander produced 10 All-Conference players, six First-Team selections and four Second-Team choices, and the 2003 PSAC Eastern Rookie of the Year.

Before arriving at Mansfield as an assistant, Alexander was the head basketball coach at William Penn High School in York, Pa., as well as Dean of Students for the York City School District.

During his two-year tenure as head basketball coach, he guided William Penn to an overall record of 40-15, including a 25-5 mark during the 1996-97 season. His 1995-96 team was the YAIYA co-champion and the York County runner-up. The 1996-97 squad won both the YAIYA and York County titles, and Alexander earned York County Coach of the Year honors.

Prior to his stint at William Penn, Alexander was a physical education instructor and head basketball coach at U.S. Grant High School in Oklahoma City, Okla., from 1992-94 where his teams posted a 29-10 mark. Alexander's 1994-95 team advanced to the Oklahoma State Regional Finals, and he was selected the 1993 Coach of the Year in the Oklahoma City League.

Alexander earned his Associate of Arts Degree in physical education from Blinn College (Texas) in 1987.

basketball team. I've been with coach Alexander for five years and I know what we can do as a staff."

Davis' duties on the Mansfield bench included tutoring the Mountaineer guards as well as assisting in camps, clinics, team fund-raisers, and recruiting.

"I'm excited about Nate joining me and the Aiken family. Nate isn't just an outstanding coach, he's also an outstanding person and because he is so genuine, he is a great recruiter," said Alexander of his assistant coach.

"He brings a passion and desire to see young people achieve success both in the classroom and on the court."

A 1999 graduate from Mansfield University with a Bachelor's of Science in Business Administration, Davis will soon receive his Master's of Science in Education from his alma mater.

In addition to working with the Mountaineer basketball team, he served as teacher at Wellsboro High School for the past two years.

An outstanding athlete in high school and college, Davis was a member of the Mansfield football team, where he was a two-time All-Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference (PSAC) East Division selection at fullback.

He enjoyed a stellar career at Wellsboro High School as a three-sport athlete. Following his time at Wellsboro, Davis enlisted in the Marines, where he served on an anti-terrorist team, before enrolling at Mansfield.

Davis and his wife Melissa have one son, Simeon, and two daughters, Sydney and Shayna.

Davis assisted in leading the Mountaineers to the 2005 PSAC Eastern Division Championship and four appearances in the PSAC Tournament. Over the past three seasons Mansfield posted a 57-29 record.

The PSAC does not crown a regular season champion, but the 2004-05 Mansfield squad finished with the best conference record in the 14-team league. The Mountaineers went 10-2 on their way to the Eastern Division Championship and then advanced to the semifinals of the PSAC Tournament. The team finished with an overall record of 18-11.

All those accomplishments are even more impressive considering Mansfield was picked to finish fourth in the Eastern Division in the preseason coaches' poll.

The Mountaineers went 21-7 in 2003-04 and earned a second place finish in the PSAC Eastern Division. The team was ranked nationally during the season and with a final NCAA East Region ranking of number six, just missed earning a spot in the NCAA Tournament.

NEW ATTITUDE AND EXCITEMENT SURROUND start to fresh pacer era

When Vince Alexander steps onto "The Courthouse" floor on Nov. 15 it will be his first game as the head men's basketball coach at USC Aiken. Alexander took over the reigns of the Pacers' program in May and has been working hard ever since to turn the struggling men's basketball program around.

Since coming on board, Alexander has made it clear what he and assistant coach Nate Davis are looking to accomplish; they want to win. Simply stated with no apologies, Alexander knows what he wants, and it's no secret.

"My expectations are to be competitive with every team we play," says Alexander. "Whether it's an exhibition or a conference game, we have to be competitive and after each game, make improvements, and get better for the next one."

The team is coming off a disappointing 7-21, 2-14 PBC season, but are making strides to improve on the past and begin a new era of Pacer Basketball. With a new coaching staff comes a new attitude and a new outlook on the upcoming 2005-06 season. While it hasn't always been easy, Alexander is upbeat about his players and the progress they have made.

"The transition has been like a roller coaster, there are highs and lows," says Alexander.

"There have been days when I think about how much work has yet to get done, but there has also been many days when I notice all the improvements and I think to myself, 'Ok, we are getting it.'"

With seven returning players, including two starters, Alexander has talent on both sides of the ball and should be able to count on his veteran players to make improvements and step up as leaders.

"I wouldn't pick out one single person as a leader because many of my guys have shown me leadership skills," says Alexander. "Kenny Burr, Richard Blocker, and Anthony Sampson have been pretty consistent as leaders both on and off the court."

"Josh Poston, who is generally our quietest, has been showing tremendous leadership which has really surprised me. I would also want to give credit to Chris Brown, who is also emerging as a team leader."

When asked about team chemistry, Alexander smiles and you can tell how positively he views his players and the experience he is having.

"We have a great relationship," Alexander says with a smile. "There is a mutual respect between the coaching staff and the players."

"They want to do well because they want to please us and I think that is a good place for us to be."

When witnessing a practice, scrimmage, or even a team meeting, you can feel the family atmosphere among the coaches and players. Because of team chemistry and the players' drive to perform well, the Pacers have improved greatly and the season hasn't even started. With a bond like this, you can be sure Alexander knows his team can be successful.

"Our biggest strength has been the fact that we play together," Alexander says. "We play hard and with great intensity."

Alexander truly believes that is a formula for success.

As a member of the Peach Belt Conference the Pacers are picked 10th in the preseason poll, but Alexander and his team of hungry players are determined to prove folks wrong.

"Coach Davis and I are telling our guys that if they think we can't do much, we have to prove them differently," Alexander states definitely. "The only way we can do that is by going out and getting better, we can't just talk about it, we have to prove it during games, prove everyone wrong."

When asked about his strategy to win, Alexander makes it clear that he is trying hard to teach his players to look at the season one game at a time. Each week, they will only talk about the games taking place in the seven days before them, nothing ahead of seven and nothing behind. It's important for him to take it one game at a time for his team to be successful.

"My players have a lot of courage," he says. "Because people on the outside are looking at my guys and seeing them as nothing, as a team that hasn't performed and hasn't been successful."

So what gives them all that courage?

"They have had to learn to not care about what anyone else thinks, and it takes courage to do that. To look beyond what people think of you and to see yourself as what you believe you can be."

USC Aiken will face an always challenging slate of conference games in 2005-06, made even more difficult with 20 PBC contests thanks to an 11-team league after the losses of Kennesaw State and North Florida to the Division I ranks.

GUARDS

The Pacers will have their most depth in the backcourt with five returners including starter Richard Blocker. Sophomores Kenny Burr, Theo Oates, Richard Glover, and Poston all return to provide depth and experience for USCA.

Alexander has brought in three new players including Brown, a junior college transfer from Tallahassee Community College, as well as a pair of talented freshmen in Kingsley Oguchi and Lukas Varga.

Blocker is the Pacers' top returning scorer averaging 9.4 points to go along with 4.4 rebounds per game. The 6-2 senior started 25 of 27 games played in 2004-05.

Poston was right behind Blocker at 9.1 ppg and among the best three-point shooters in the league connecting on 44-of-121 for 36.4 percent. The Myrtle Beach native added a team-best 3.4 apg and shot free throws at an 81.4 percent clip.

Burr was also dangerous from beyond the arc connecting on 22-of-64 for 34.4 percent while Glover made a name for himself as a tenacious defender forcing 25 steals averaging 13.5 minutes per game.

FORWARDS

Anthony Sampson is the lone returner at forward for USC Aiken. The 6-6 senior from Newark, N.J. was one of only four players to see action in all 28 games last year. He added 2.6 ppg and 2.1 rpg in 10.1 minutes per game off the bench. Sampson has proven himself as a leader for Alexander and will be counted on to contribute as a leader and a solid defender.

Terrence Woodbury is the lone newcomer to help the Pacers out at the forward spot.

CENTERS

Senior Arnold Coates is the only returning post player for the Pacers in 2005-06. Coates was second on the team in field goal percentage in 2004-05 at 49.1 percent (79-of-161). He averaged 6.8 points and 3.4 rebounds per game. He should be a defensive leader for the Pacers this season as well as he was third in blocked shots last year with 12.

Newcomers Tiago DePaula and Scotty Frater will immediately bulk up the Pacers' post presence. DePaula is a 6-9, 250 pound junior college transfer from Goiania, Brazil. Frater is 6-8, 200 pounds and comes to USC Aiken from a successful junior college in SUNY Cobleskill.

THE PEACH BELT CONFERENCE

Vision Statement:

The Peach Belt Conference is committed to providing through its dependent collegiate members, a forum for student participation in athletic, academic and co-curricular events under the auspices of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, Division II.

We will exemplify the characteristics of a premier intercollegiate conference that prides itself on the inclusion of students of all demographic groups who wish to participate in a well-rounded sports program. Our institutions, our academic goals, our athletic aspirations reflect a communality of purpose and a commitment to excellence in the classroom and on the playing field.

History:

Since its inception in 1991, the Peach Belt Conference has worked tirelessly to become one of the elite conferences in NCAA Division II. Now in its 15th season with 23 national championships and 20 national finalists, the PBC has accomplished that goal.

Starting with only two championships in 1991, in men's and women's basketball, the conference has expanded to 12 championship sports with the addition of women's soccer in the fall of 2000.

The conference traces its roots back to November of 1988 when 11 schools first met in Greenville, S.C. to form a Division II conference. Following a second meeting on Dec. 3, 1989 hosted by USC Aiken, five of those 11 schools, plus two others, formed the Peach Belt and began play in 1991.

The Peach Belt was less than a year old before capturing a national championship. The Columbus State golf team took the honor by winning the 1992 national crown, the first of three golf championships the Cougars own.

The PBC has seen continued success in all sports with national rankings and multiple NCAA appearances.

The 2004-05 season may have been the most successful yet with two national titles as USC Aiken won their second-straight golf championship and Armstrong Atlantic State won the women's tennis national championship. The PBC also had the second place or runner-up in baseball, softball, men's tennis and golf, giving the PBC a first or second-place in every spring sport the conference sponsors.

The seven charter members of the conference were Armstrong Atlantic State University, Columbus State University, Francis Marion University, Georgia College & State University, Lander University, USC Aiken, and USC Upstate. The name Peach Belt Athletic Conference was adopted in January of 1990 and modified to Peach Belt Conference in May 2000.

Augusta State joined the conference in 1991 and UNC Pembroke became the ninth member on July 1, 1992. They were followed by Kennesaw State on July 1, 1994, Clayton State on July 1, 1995 and the University of North Florida on July 1, 1997. Kennesaw State and North Florida departed for the Division I ranks in 2005 and the conference welcomed in North Georgia College & State University as its 11th member in the fall of 2005.

Former Augusta State basketball coach and athletic director Marvin Vanover was named the interim commissioner in April 1990, and later appointed as the conference's first full-time commissioner in July of 1991. He established the conference office in Augusta, Ga.

An upstart USC Aiken squad, under first year head coach Larry Wall, shocked 17th ranked Lander 52-51 to win their only NAIA District 6 Tournament Championship and advance to the program's first NAIA National Tournament held at Kemper Arena in Kansas City, Mo.

As if that wasn't enough, the Pacers added #16 Hampton to their list of casualties in the round of 32 with a heartstopping 74-73 victory. Hampton was led by future NBA great Rick Mahorn. In the Sweet 16, the Pacers fell to top-ranked Alabama State 103-78.

20th ANNIVERSARY OF USCA'S BATTLE WITH #1 GEORGIA TECH

Georgia Tech's John Salley and USCA's Bob Sylvester go after a loose ball during the Pacers' game with the top-ranked Yellow Jackets. Tech finished the season 27-7, #6 in the nation, and advanced to the 1986 Elite Eight.

On November 25, 1985, the USC Aiken Pacers traveled to Atlanta, Ga. and Alexander Memorial Coliseum to play one of the biggest games in the program's history. USCA, already 3-2 on the young season, would square off against the nation's top-ranked team in Division I, the Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets.

A team that featured future NBA stars like John Salley of the Detroit Pistons and Mark Price of the Cleveland Cavaliers rolled to a 119-60 win against the over matched Pacers. But it was the opportunity to compete at that level that made the Pacers the true winners.

Despite the lopsided score, USC Aiken head coach Glenn DeHart was pleased with the outcome.

"My players learned how the game can be played," DeHart said. "They could see what Salley, (Bruce) Dalrymple, and Price did on the court. And now, Greg Woods can see that he can score on Mark Price or Mitch Anderson knows he can go against a 7-footer and put the ball in the basket."
