With preparations in full steam for the first major refurbishment to USC's McDonald's Swim Stadium in close to three decades, Trojan sixth-year head coach Dave Salo has re-built the men's and women's swim teams into two of the top programs in the country.

In 2011 under Salo, the Trojan women's team's third-place finish at the NCAAs was its best since 2003 and marked the fourth year in row USC improved its national finish. Troy finished 9-2 and third at the Pac-10 Championships. Katinka Hosszu, as a junior, won three NCAA titles (200y IM, 400y IM, 200y fly) and was named NCAA Swimmer of the meet and Pac-10 Swimmer of the Year. She was also tabbed as the Honda Sports Award winner as the nation's top women's athlete in swimming and diving. The five-time All-American Hosszu was one of eight All-Americans last year and among five with at least three All-American honors apiece, which also included Haley Anderson, Presley Bard, Kasey Carlson and Lyndsay DePaul. The other All-Americans were Stina Gardell, Christel Simms and Amanda Smith. Hosszu led USC at the Pac-10 Championships as well with conference crowns in both IM events and the 200y fly while Anderson won titles in the 500y and 1650y free, Victoria Ishimatsu claimed the 1-meter and 3-meter springboard and Lyndsay DePaul won the 100y fly.

The seventh-place NCAA finish by the men's team was its best since 2007 and marked its third straight season of improvement. USC, which featured eight All-Americans in 2011, was led by four-time All-American sprinter Vladimir Morozov, the 2011 Pac-10 Newcomer of the Year who rewrote the Trojan record books repeatedly his freshman year. Complementing Morozov were three-time All-Americans Clement Lefert and Dimitri Colupaev, the trio spearheading the revitalized men's team that finished 6-3 overall and third at the highly competitive Pac-10 Championships. Troy's other All-Americans last year included Jeff Daniels, Jack Wagner, Emmett Walling, Patrick White and diver Harrison Jones. Colupaev (200y free), Lefert (500y free) and Jones (1-meter) all won Pac-10 titles last year.

The women's team returns six All-Americans and 12 women (who competed at the 2011 NCAA Championships and seems poised to challenge for another high finish. Meanwhile, the men's squad returns four All-Americans and seven NCAA competitors as it pushes to improve its national standing for the fourth year in a row.

Both teams lose scoring punch – most notably the four-time All-American Lefert and Jones on the men's side and the five-time All-American DePaul and four-time All-American Bard for the women – but Salo expects groomed underclassmen and newcomers to help fill the void.

Women's Distance and Middle Distance Freestyle

Junior Haley Anderson, a three-time 2011 All-American who was third in the 1650y free at the 2011 NCAAs and sixth in the 500y free, returns as one of the top distance swimmers in the country and a national team member. At the 2011 Pac-10s, she repeated as the 1650y conference champion and won her first title in the 500y free. She also won gold in the 1500m free at the 2011 World University Games and switched gears at the 2011 U.S. Open Water Nationals, taking fourth in the 10K. Sophomore Lynette Lim, who represented Singapore at the 2008 Olympics, looks to make a big step and become a postseason factor in the 500y and 1650y free. Junior Chelsea Wild is another contributor in the distance events while senior Amanda Smith can stretch to the longer distances when needed.

Smith, however, joins Anderson as Troy's top two in the 500y free. A senior co-captain, Smith earned All-American honors last year as part of USC's 800y free relay and also swam the 200y and 500y free and the 200y fly at the NCAAs. She also won the 'B' finals of both the 200y and 500y free at the Pac-10s and looks to make improvements in both races in the 2012 postseason.

Dropping down to the 200y free, Hosszu shows off her versatility. Dominant already in the 200y and 400y IM and the 200y fly, she also owns USC's 200y free record and could challenge for an NCAA crown in the event if she chose. Lim has also shown improvements in this distance and could challenge for a spot on USC's 800y free relay with Anderson and Smith, both also strong here, as well as sophomore Stina Gardell, who versatility is beginning to resemble Hosszu's. Others who could punch out a solid 200 or 500 include juniors Lolo Blair and Kate Shumway.

Women's Sprint Freestyle

Sophomore Kasey Carlson has become a major dual threat, her 50y and 100y freestyles becoming as effective as her 100y and 200y breast. She was a four-time All-American as a freshman, taking fifth in the 50y free (in a school-record effort) and fourth in the 100y breast at the NCAAs while swimming the breast leg on both stellar medley relays. She broke USC's 50y free record early in her sophomore year and might challenge the 100y mark as well. A two-time finalist at the Pac-10s, Carlson seems poised to have a huge season.

Junior Christel Simms, who anchored USC's 200y medley relay at the NCAAs, has also improved in both the 50y and 100y free to boost USC's dual meet scoring punch and its relays. Shumway swam on an NCAA 400y free relay as a freshman and is progressing in both sprints. Similarly, junior Lindsay Parrish made her NCAA debut last year in the 200y free relay and provides depth in both sprints. Lim has dropped down to the 100y and shown effectiveness as well.

Women's Butterfly

USC has boasted among the most talented butterfly corps in the nation the past few years and that continues in 2012. The conversation starts in the 200y fly, where Hosszu returns as the defending NCAA and conference champion in the race and almost untouchable in the event. Complementing Hosszu's dominance are a handful of swimmers led by senior Tanya Krisman, who scored in the race last year at the NCAAs. Junior Yumi So also scored in the 200y fly at the 2010 NCAAs while Smith competed in the event at the NCAAs last year.

While Hosszu can swim a mean 100y fly, that event will likely be spearheaded by a committee led by So, who scored in the event at the 2011 NCAAs and appears ready to challenge for her first NCAA final. Krisman and Gardell have both shown improvements in the 100y fly and could challenge for postseason scoring while sophomore Meghan Hawthorne, Simms, Parrish and Smith have all posted 'B' cuts in the race.

Women's Backstroke

The 200y back provides another outlet for Hosszu's versatility, but this event will be usually be led by a variety of swimmers, led by Hawthorne. Though primarily an IM'er, she swam the 200y back at the 2011 NCAAs as a freshman and can churn out solid results there. Gardell and Simms, who has NCAA experience in the race, can also be counted on here.

So and Simms will lead USC in the 100y back. Both raced in the event at last year's NCAAs and figure to remain the Trojans' top two swimmers in the race. Junior Lolo Blair is making a push for her first NCAA appearance and has shown solid results in both back distances while sophomore Andrea Basaraba is attempting to make a dent in the rotation here as well

Women's Breaststroke

Like she does in the sprints, Carlson headlines USC's breaststroke corps, where early season swims as a sophomore indicate she'll be a major player at the NCAA Championships. Following in the footsteps of recent Trojan graduate Rebecca Soni, the world's top breaststroker, Carlson has stepped up both her 100y and 200y breaststroke and could challenge Soni's school mark in the shorter distance. She was fourth in the 100y at last year's NCAAs and second at the Pac-10s.

Junior Jessica Schmitt, who made her NCAA scoring debut last year in the 200y breast, is after her first NCAA final appearance in 2012 and should vie for top conference finishes as well. A host of swimmers including senior Ania Kowalczyk and junior Jordan Danny are working to make their NCAA debuts in the breast. Gardell swam the 200 last year at NCAAs while senior Ella Kidron is pushing to maker her first trip as well.

Women's Individual Medley

Hosszu, the NCAA and Pac-10 defending champion in the 200y and 400y IM, leads another strong event for the Trojans. Hosszu, as she did in the 200y fly, dominated both events in the postseason and will be a favorite to repeat her NCAA and conference titles. But she is far from alone in scoring potential in the race.

Gardell and Anderson both reached the 400y IM NCAA consolation final last year and Gardell's career best in the race would likely put her into the final this year. Anderson's a late bloomer in the 400y IM but her improvements from her sophomore year indicate another scoring push from her.

Hawthorne's early season swims show promise for strong postseason results as well. She was a Pac-10 finalist in both events last year and is already well under her best freshman efforts in both races.

Schmitt is another swimmer whose continued progression could make her an NCAA scoring threat in both distances. She was a Pac-10 finalist in the 400y IM. Krisman could also make a push for big postseason results while Danny and Kowalczyk are also in the mix.

Men's Distance and Middle Distance Freestyle

USC's distance corps features some solid returning veterans as well as some talented newcomers as it looks to replace the departed Richard Charlesworth, an NCAA point scorer in the 1650. Senior Julian Bonse is Troy's top returning miler who is looking for his first top 8 conference finish. Sophomore Nick Johnson had a solid freshman campaign last year, taking ninth in the Pac-10 1650y free.

Joining the distance ranks is freshman Cary Wright, who boasted the Trojans' top mile time in the fall semester while freshman Luca Spinazzola also showed promise there.

Freshman Chad Bobrosky, a Canadian national teamer from Calgary, clocked USC's top fall time in the 500y and 1000y free. He will also do a lot of damage in the 200y free, a distance he swam (albeit in meters) as part of Canada's 800m free relay at the 2011 World Championships.

Sophomore Dimitri Colupaev currently reigns as USC's top swimmer in the 200, where he approached the school record in the fall. A three-time All-American as a freshman and an NCAA finalist and Pac-10 champion in the 200y free, Colupaev is also strong in the 500y free with NCAA scoring potential in that event.

Other solid options for the Trojans in the 200y free include sophomore Michael Godbe, a Pac-10 consolation finalist there last year, as well as sophomores Chase Bloch, Jack Wagner and Sean Mulroy.

Men's Sprint Freestyle

Sophomore Vladimir Morozov picked apart USC's sprint record books as a freshman, breaking the 50y and 100y free marks a combined 12 times. The 2011 Pac-10 Men's Newcomer of the Year put together one of USC's top freshman campaigns ever, becoming a four-time All-American and was a three-time Pac-10 finalist. He was a two-time NCAA finalist in the 50y and 100y free, the first Trojan to do so in 20 years, and led USC's 200y and 400y free relays to a pair of top 5 finishes. He was second in both sprints at the Pac-10s and was third in the 100y back.

Senior Jeff Daniels is among USC's all-time top sprinters in both the 50y and 100y free and earned his first All-American honors on Troy's NCAA relays. Showing improvements each season, he looks to break through and become an NCAA individual scorer for the first time.

The Trojans are developing depth in the 50 and 100 with Wagner, juniors Matt Voell and Nick Karpov as well as Bloch able to turn in solid races. Colupaev can also clock a solid 50 but is even more valuable over 100, where he can become a big postseason scorer. Bobrosky is also versatile enough to be effective in the sprints.

Men's Butterfly

The Trojans' fly lost some of its punch with the departures of Lefert and White, but Bloch and juniors Alex Lendrum and Justin DiFederico are trying to fill the void. Bloch competed in the 100y and 200y fly as a freshman last year and reached the Pac-10 consolation finals in the events and looks to take the next step as a sophomore. The fly has not been a big focus of Lendrum's in his first two years at USC – in fact he did not have one postseason swim in either distance. But his times as a junior will make him a big factor in the 2012 postseason.

DiFederico was a two-time finalist at the 2011 Pac-10s, including a seventh in the 200y fly, an event which could earn him a trip to the NCAAs. Other contributors in the fly for the Trojans figures to be Wright, Karpov, Voell, Godbe, junior Spencer Di Dio and senior Jack Ostler, among others.

Men's Backstroke

Lendrum has asserted himself as one of the top backstrokers, not only in the Pac-12, but in the country. He was an NCAA consolation finalist and a Pac-10 finalist in the 200y back last year and made big strides in both that and his 100. His fall times in 2011 have approached Trojan backstroke great Lenny Krayzelburg's longstanding school records. Lendrum is second all-time at USC in both events.

When he's not breaking school records in the sprint freestyle, Morozov has been very effective in other 100s, including the 100y back, where he is the third fastest Trojan ever. He took third in the race at last year's Pac-10s.

Karpov is the fourth fastest Trojan in the 100y back and seventh in the 200y back. He was a Pac-10 finalist in the 100y (2010) and 200y back (2011) and swam in both events at last year's NCAAs. An All-American on a relay in 2010, he looks to become an NCAA point scorer for the first time. Other contributors in the back include Bloch, Spinazzola, Wagner and freshman Kevin Carroll.

Men's Breaststroke

The Trojans' breaststroke will be spearheaded chiefly by underclassmen. Morozov has proven to be quite effective in the 100y breast and will be one of USC's top in the event this year, though mainly in dual meets. Freshman Andrew Malone and Sergio Lujan Rivera both have promise in the 100 and 200. Colupaev doesn't typically swim the 100y or much of the 200, but is talented in the race. Others who contribute here include senior Will Orlady, junior Blake Cushing and sophomores Mulroy and Matthan Stroethoff.

Men's Individual Medley

Colupaev and Lendrum lead the Trojans' efforts in the 200y IM. Both were consolation finalists at the Pac-10s last year, but their improvements across the board in 2012 figure to translate to this event as well. Colupaev, in fact, broke USC's longstanding record in the event in the fall while Lendrum was also under the old mark. Wagner is another big contributor in the 200y IM while Mulroy and Di Dio lead a host of others effective in the race.

DiFederico was USC's only Pac-10 finalist in the 400y IM a year ago and will be among a handful of Trojans looking to expand the Trojans' success in the race. Di Dio looks to make his first Pac-10 final here while Mulroy and Wright figure to be Pac-12 factors as well.

Men's and Women's Diving

USC's diving corps features only one returner, but it's three-time Pac-10 Women's Diver of the Year and three-time All-American Victoria Ishimatsu. Ishimatsu won her fourth and fifth Pac-10 titles last year (she has two on 1-meter, three on 3-meter), earning her second Pac-10 Diver of the Meet honors, and scored in two NCAA events. One of the Trojans' all-time greats, Ishimatsu looks to return to the NCAA finals in her final year and win her fourth conference 3-meter title. Freshman Celia Pinczower and Jessie Warren round out the women's side. Pinczower comes to USC a four-time state champion from Kirkland, Wash. while Warren, from San Juan Capistrano, Calif., is a relative newcomer to the sport after a long time as a gymnast.

On the men's side, freshman Jordan Gear is USC's top diver. A prep All-American from Potomac, Md., he was a league champion and has shown early promise under 13th-year head diving coach Hongping Li.

Joining Gear ia first-year junior Cody Walwick from San Diego, Calif., and freshman Jason Harter from Louisville, Ky. Walwick was second at the CIF-San Diego Section Div. I 1-meter as a senior in high school and second in Div. II as well his sophomore and junior years. Harter, originally from Newport Beach, Calif., was one of the top divers in Kentucky, finishing seventh in the state as a senior, 10th as a junior.

CHASE BLOCH

Free/Back • 6-0 • Sophomore
Westlake, CA
Oaks Christian H.S.

THIS SEASON: A versatile swimmer 2012 sophomore Chase Bloch established himself as a key performer as a freshman and looks to build on his NCAA Championships debut last season. He is the sixth-fastest Trojan ever in the 100y fly.

HALEY ANDERSON

Free/IM • 5-10 • Junior
Granite Bay HS
Granite Bay, CA

THIS SEASON: Haley Anderson, a 2012 junior, is one of the top distance freestylers in the country and a national team member, both in distance and open water. A three-time Pac-10 champion, she holds USC records in the 1000y and 1650y free and the 800y free relay as well as a USC pool record in the 500y free.

2011: Anderson was a three-time All-American as a 2011 sophomore, finishing third in the 1650y free (15:48.63, school record), sixth in the 500y free (4:38.99) and helping USC's 800y free relay to eighth (she swam the second leg). Anderson qualified for her first NCAA 500y free final with a personal best 4:37.92 in prelims. Equally impressive was nabbing a consolation final appearance in the 400y IM. She swam a personal best 4:09.29 in prelims, earning a second swim in her first postseason race in the event. She went 4:12.69 in the consolation final (16th overall) … At the 2011 Pac-10 Championships, she won a pair of titles, claiming her first in the 500y free (4:38.78) and repeating as champion in the 1650y free (15:55.88). She was also ninth in the 200y free (1:45.94) ... At the 2011 World University Games in July in Shenzhen, China, Anderson won gold in the 1500m free (16:21.72), edging second-place Melania Schmid of Spain (16:21.79) at the wall. She also won silver in the 800m free (8:27.11) … At the U.S. Open Water Nationals in June, she took fourth in the 10K … She earned 2011 Pac-10 All-Academic honors with a 3.00 GPA.

2010: Anderson was a two-time All-American as a 2010 freshman, finishing fourth in the 1650y free (personal best 15.59.99) and swimming the third leg of USC's seventh-place 800y free relay. She was also a consolation finalist in the 500y free (12th, 4:40.78) and was 24th in the 200y free (1:46.55) … At the 2010 Pac-10 Championships, Anderson won the 1650y free in a then-personal-best 16:02.53, becoming Troy's first champion in the event sine 2005. She swam the third leg in USC's Pac-10-title winning and school-record setting 800y free relay (swimming the leg against her older sister Alyssa of Arizona). Lyndsay DePaul after swimming in her final NCAA event as a 2011 senior, the 200y fly.

DAVE SALO • Head Coach • Sixth Year

Dave Salo came to USC more than five years ago as one of the most successful club and national coaches in the country.

Now in his sixth season as the Trojans head men's and women's swimming coach, Salo is firmly entrenched among the NCAA's top collegiate coaches. Additionally, his wildly successful Trojan Swim Club has made him a go-to coach for top-shelf swimmers around the world who are seeking to propel their careers even further.

With both program's competing at an elite level and in the hunt for national championships, it was no surprise that Salo received a five-year contract extension in the summer of the 2011.

"I am proud of the improvements we have made and quite eager to continue progressing in this direction," said Salo. "The vote of confidence from Pat Haden and (senior associate athletic director) Donna Heinel on the job that we are doing is greatly appreciated. It's great to be a Trojan!"

Salo, who has more than 25 years of collegiate, club and national level coaching experience, replaced Mark Schubert in 2006 when Schubert assumed USA Swimming's head coach position.

Though far from complete, Salo's remarkable career was honored in 2010 when he was inducted into the American Swimming Coaches Association Hall of Fame last September.

Further validating his strength as a coach, he recently received his third U.S. Olympic staff coaching assignment, tabbed as a 2012 U.S. Olympic women's swim team assistant coach.

In 2011 under Salo, the Trojan women's team's third-place finish at the NCAAs was its best since 2003 and marked the fourth year in row USC improved its national finish. Troy finished 9-2 and third at the Pac-10 Championships. Junior Katinka Hosszu won three NCAA titles (200y IM, 400y IM, 200y fly) and was named NCAA Swimmer of the meet and Pac-10 Swimmer of the Year. She was also tabbed as the Honda Sports Award winner as the nation's top athlete in swimming and diving. The five-time All-American Hosszu was one of eight All-Americans last year and among five with at least three All-American honors apiece, which also included Haley Anderson, Presley Bard, Kasey Carlson and Lyndsay DePaul.

The seventh-place NCAA finish by the men's team was its best since 2007 and marked its third straight season of improvement. USC, which featured eight All-Americans in 2011, was led by four-time All-American sprinter Vladimir Morozov, the 2011 Pac-10 Newcomer of the Year who rewrote the Trojan record books repeatedly his freshman year. Complementing Morozov were three-time All-Americans Clement Lefert and Dimitri Colupaev, the trio spearheading the revitalized men's team that finished 6-3 overall and third at the highly competitive Pac-10 Championships.

Salo also guided former Trojan great Rebecca Soni to three gold medals and one bronze at the 2011 World Championships while Hosszu, Stina Gardell, Morozov and former Trojan NCAA champion Ous Mellouli also made appearances. At the 2011 World University Games, Anderson won gold and silver medals while Lefert earned a silver and DePaul reached two finals.

In 2010, the Trojans continued their resurgence toward the top of the NCAA swimming ranks while current and former Trojans continued to perform at the highest levels on the national and international stage.

The Trojan women's team (10-2 overall, 4-2 in the Pac-10) finished seventh at the 2010 NCAA Championships and took third at Pac-10s, its best efforts since 2003. Hosszu, Bard and DePaul each reached a pair of finals at the NCAAs and, including one final from Anderson, combined for seven top 4 finishes. USC also posted All-American efforts in the 800y free relay and the 400y medley relay. The Trojan women won six Pac-10 titles as well, including the 800y free relay for the first time since 2003.

The men's team finished 7-3, 1-3, taking fourth at Pac-10s and moving up to 11th at the NCAAs. Lefert earned individual All-American honors in the 500y free while he joined Zoltan Povazsay, Patrick White and Nick Karpov on an All-American 800y free relay. USC won the same relay at the 2010 Pac-10s while Lefert won the 200y free.

Outside the NCAA realm in 2010, Soni, on Salo's staff as a volunteer coach, won two Pan Pac titles and three Short Course World Championship crowns. Anderson also posted three top 8 finishes at Pan Pacs. Hosszu won three European Championships gold medals for Hungary and was a two-time finalist at the Short Course Worlds. Mellouli, a former graduate assistant coach for Salo, won four medals at Short Course Worlds, including gold in the 1500m free. Lefert also competed in two events at the Short Course Worlds.

For all of the success, SwimNews.com named Salo 2010 international Women's Coach of the Year.

Salo's 2009 was similar to 2010 with USC swimmers performing strong collegiately, nationally and internationally.

The USC women's team's ninth-place at the 2009 NCAA Championships was its best finish since 2004. The squad (6-1 overall, 5-1 in the Pac-10) was again led by Soni, a senior who won NCAA titles in the 100y and 200y breast events for the second consecutive year. Hosszu also had a huge NCAAs, reaching the finals of three events, including a second-place in the 400y IM and a third in the 200y fly. Additionally, Soni and Hosszu were joined by Kristen Lahey and Rachel Waller, who all earned All-American honors after taking third in the 400y medley relay. The youth-dominated men's team (4-3, 2-3) went through a rebuilding season but showed a lot of promise at the 2009 Pac-10s, led by James Martin and Povazsay and took a solid contingent to the NCAAs.

Also under Salo in 2009, Hosszu (400m IM) and Trojan graduates Soni (100m breast) and Mellouli (1500m free) all won 2009 World Championship gold medals while DePaul won a pair of silvers at the 2009 World University Games. Other Trojans who competed at the World Championships included Dina Hegazy, Ania Kowalczyk, Anderson and Povazsay.

Salo's 2008 was highlighted by the huge success of USC swimmers who – after training with Salo – went on to big success at the 2008 Olympics. Swimmers who worked out with Salo and won 2008 Olympic medals included gold-medalists Soni, Mellouli and Klete Keller as well as bronze medalist Larsen Jensen. Salo served as Tunisia's Olympic swim coach at the Olympics, enabling him to mentor the Tunisian-born Mellouli in Beijing.

Also in 2008, USC's women's squad finished 5-5 in 2008 while the men were 2-5. Both finished fifth at the Pac-10 Championships. The Women of Troy's season was topped off by Soni's pair of NCAA titles, including her third consecutive NCAA crown in the 200y breast and her first in the 100y breast. In addition, Whitney Hentzen earned her first career All-American honor (in the 1650y free) while Emily Goetsch, Lahey, Waller and Soni earned additional All-American honors in the 400y medley relay.

The men's season was capped by Vanni Mangoni's Pac-10 title in the 400y IM and Richard Gosper's consolation All-American nod in the 50y free at the NCAA Championships.

In his first year with the Trojans in 2007, USC's men's team finished 5-2 overall, 3-2 in the Pac-10, taking seventh at the NCAA Championships, fourth at the Pac-10 Championships. The Women of Troy, which suffered the losses of three former Olympians prior to the season's end, were 5-4, 3-4, fifth at the Pac-10 Championships, 20th at the NCAA Championships.

Six men's swimmers earned All-American honors in 2007, including then-senior Larsen Jensen, who won NCAA titles in the 500y and 1650y freestyles. Jensen won those same events at the Pac-10 Championships. Mangoni was also fourth in the 400y IM at the NCAA Championships.

Soni earned All-American honors on the women's side, successfully defending her NCAA title in the 200y breast and also reaching the final of the 100y breast.

Other noteworthy first-year accomplishments under Salo included the breaking of USC's record in the 50y free. Joe Bottom had held the record since 1977, but under Salo, senior Sean Sussex erased the mark, going under Bottom's old standard twice at the end of the 2007 season. (At the start of the 2007-2008 season, it was broken again, this time by Gosper).

Salo also helped then-juniors Hentzen and Brittany Allen become NCAA Championships individual point scorers for the first time, the two distance freestylers each earning points for the Trojans in the 1650y free. Additionally, then-seniors Bryce Elser and Brandon Lovell both cracked USC's all-time top 10 in the 100y fly in their first year under Salo.

Salo, 52, who has coached Olympic medalists such as Soni, Mellouli, Jensen, former Trojans Lenny Krayzelburg and Gabe Woodward as well as Aaron Peirsol, Amanda Beard, Staciana Stitts, Colleen Lanne and Jason Lezak, came to USC after serving as head coach of the Irvine Novaquatics from 1990 to 2006.

"Returning to USC, following in the footsteps of Hall of Fame coaches Peter Daland and Mark Schubert, is a coach's dream," said Salo. "The fact that it is my reality can't be described adequately.

"I have had a dream coaching career - coaching some of the best swimmers in the world with one of the best clubs in the country. The opportunity to come back to USC to coach one of the most storied programs in the history of collegiate swimming is tremendously exciting."

Salo guided the Novas to numerous Junior National and U.S. National team titles as well as several age group championships. He was tabbed 2002 U.S. Swimming Coach of the Year after leading the Novas to U.S. Spring and Summer national titles.

In addition to his work with the Novas, he has

2008 U.S. Olympic Men's Head Coach Eddie Reese:

"Dave did a great job getting his kids ready for this meet and that's what the Olympics are all about. This was the best job he's done yet and I expect to see even more from him in the future."

2008 U.S. Olympic Women's Head Coach Jack Bauerle:

"Dave can coach anybody in anything. He just prepares his swimmers so well. Aaron was all set to go in Sydney at 17. Rebecca (Soni) had our best women's swim here."

U.S. Olympic Gold Medalist Aaron Peirsol, who trained under Salo at Irvine's Novaquatics:

"Dave's had an absolutely amazing (2008) Olympics."

served extensively at the national level, including head coaching assignments for the United States at the 2005 World Championships (men) and the 2001 Goodwill Games (men). His assistant coaching duties for the U.S. include the 2010 Short Course World Championships (women), 2004 Olympics (men), 2003 World Championships (men and women), 2002 Pan Pacific Championships (men), 2000 Olympics (women) and the 1999 Pan American Games (women).

Nova swimmers and alums who trained under Salo have consistently dotted the roster of U.S. national teams, often in starring roles. Peirsol, the world record holder in the 100 and 200 backstroke (lcm), is a three-time Olympian and won 2004 Olympic gold medals in both backstroke events as well as the 400 medley relay. He followed that up with golds in the 100 and the 400 medley relay at the 2008 Olympics and a silver in the 200. Beard is a four-time Olympian with seven medals, one of many elite breaststrokers who have come under Salo's tutelage. Lezak, a seven-time Olympic medalist in three appearances, is among American's greatest sprinters.

Besides duties with the Novas and the U.S. team, Salo served as co-head coach at Orange Coast College from 2000 to 2004. The Pirates won the 2003 California state title and Salo was honored as state Co-Coach of the Year. Also in 2003, he became the Founding Director of Aquatics at Soka University in Alisa Viejo, Calif., where he recently completed his second season with the Lions.

Salo joined the Novas after five seasons (1985-90) working under legendary USC swimming coach Peter Daland. He helped guide Troy's men's team to five Top 5 NCAA finishes, including second-place marks in 1987, 1988 and 1990. Troy also had perfect dual-meet records in 1988, 1990 and 1991. Among the USC swimmers he helped coach were NCAA champions and Olympians Dave Wharton and Dan Jorgensen.

Salo graduated from Long Beach State with a B.A. and M.A. in exercise physiology and also served as an assistant women's swimming coach there in 1981 and 1982. He earned his doctorate in the same field from USC in 1991.

Salo swam for Santa Rosa Junior College from 1976 to 78 before transferring to Long Beach State.

JEREMY KIPP

Assistant Coach • Fifth Year

Jeremy Kipp, with close to 15 years of collegiate swimming coach experience, is in his fifth season as an assistant swimming coach at USC.

In addition to his work with USC's sprinters, Kipp has also directed USC's recruiting efforts for the men's teams and played a major role on the women's side as well, helping to the Trojan staff consistently secure classes ranked among the top in the nation.

During his fourth year on the staff in 2010-2011, Kipp's USC sprinters clobbered the Trojan sprinting records. Freshman Vladimir Morozov broke both the 50y and 100y free marks repeatedly while the men's squad knocked down the 200y and 400y free relay records, the latter the oldest standing Trojan record. The women's team broke the 200y free for the third year in a row and the 50y free in the past two years. Last year, the women's squad finished third at NCAAs while the men's team rose to seventh. The programs featured a combined 15 All-American swimmers.

In his third year with the Trojan program in 2010, Kipp helped 10 Trojan men's swimmers qualify for the NCAA Championships, where Troy finished 11th with four All-Americans. USC's women's team finished seventh in 2010 and featured an NCAA squad that posted seven top 4 finishes.

He was a key component in four SEC championship teams and the 1999 national championship squad. He set five school records during his time at Auburn in the 400y and 400m IM and the 400m, 500y and 1650y free. His program-best mark in the 1650 free remains standing today.

During the 2000 NCAA Championships, Clements set an American record in the 400m IM en route to an Auburn high-points award. He was also the SEC scoring leader at both the 2001 and 2002 conference meets.

Following his sophomore season, the Rowland Heights, Calif., native registered top-five finishes in three events at the 2000 U.S. Olympic Trials, including a third-place finish in the 200 IM. Clements was also a five-time USA National team member, representing the squad at the 1999 and

REBECCA SONI

Volunteer Assistant Coach • Third Year

An Olympic and World Championships gold medalist and a six-time NCAA champion, USC graduate and Rebecca Soni is in her third year as a volunteer assistant swimming coach at USC.

The top breaststroker in the world, Soni swept the 100m and 200m breast at the 2011 World Championships and won another gold in the 400m medley relay (with an American record) as well as a bronze in the 50m breast.

She won three gold medals (50m, 100m and 200m breast) at the 2010 Short Course World Championships (she also won a silver in the 400m medley relay) as well as titles in the 100m and 200m breast (lc) at the 2010 Pan Pacific Championships. Soni, who also won those events at the 2010 U.S. Nationals, was named USA Swimming's Female Athlete of the Year for 2010 for the second year in a row.

Soni was an 11-time All-American as a Trojan between 2006-09 and became the first woman to win the NCAA title in the 200y breast four consecutive years. She also won the NCAA 100y breast crowns in 2008 and 2009 and won a combined six Pac-10 titles.

Soni became an international swimming star at the 2008 Olympics when she won the gold medal in the 200-meter breast in a then-world record time (2:20.22). Her gold came just days after winning a silver medal in the 100m breast (1:06.73) and was soon followed by a silver on the U.S. 4x100m medley relay.

She solidified her standing as one of the top breaststrokers ever when she followed up her Olympic success with a gold medal in the 100m breast at the 2009 World Championships and a silver in the 50m breast. She also won breaststroke titles in the 100m and 200m at the U.S. World Championships Trials and at the U.S. Spring Nationals. Soni, who won her fifth and sixth NCAA and Pac-10 titles in 2009, was voted the 2009 U.S. Female Swimmer of the Year. She was also a 2009 Sullivan Award finalist.

One of USC's top student-athletes, Soni graduated from USC in 2009 with a degree in communications. She also earned Pac-10 All-Academic honorable mention honors for the second year in a row.

Soni is the American record holder in the 100m breast and the 400m medley relay and is the former world record holder in the 50m, 100m and 200m breast. She also holds the American, NCAA and Pac-10 records in the 200y breast, NCAA and Pac-10 records in the 100y breast and USC records in the 100 (yards, lcm) and 200 breast (yards, lcm, scm) as well as the 200y and 400y medley relays.

In 2008, in addition to her Olympic success, Soni won the 200m breast title at the U.S. Olympic Trials and won both the 100y and 200y breaststroke at the 2008 NCAA Championships, the first time she had swept both NCAA races. Her title in the 100y was USC's first in the event. USC's first swimmer to win two NCAA titles in the same season since Kaitlin Sandeno in 2004, Soni also earned All-American honors as part of USC's 400y medley relay. She did all of this less than two years after undergoing surgery to correct a rapid heartbeat condition. Like she did at the NCAAs, Soni won both the 100y and 200y breast at the 2008 Pac-10s.

Soni underwent minor heart surgery in the summer prior to the 2006-07 season which limited her training, but she still put together a strong sophomore campaign. She successfully defended her NCAA Championships crown in the 200y breast and reached the final of the 100y breast for the second year in a row. At the 2007 Pac-10s, Soni was second in the 200y breast (the only time she did not win a postseason 200y breast) and fourth in the 100y breast. At the U.S. vs. Australia Duel in the Pool in April, Soni was second in the breast and third in the 100m breast. At the 2007 U.S. Summer Nationals, Soni won national titles in the 100m and 200m breast, the second and third of her career. At the Japan International, the final major international meet of the 2007 season, Soni posted a pair of seconds in the 100m and 200m breast.

Soni put together the top season for a Trojan breaststroker in a decade as a 2006 freshman, winning an NCAA title in the 200y breast and capturing Pac-10 crowns in the 100y and 200y breast. She was a three-time All-American at the NCAA Championships, winning the 200y breast, taking second in the 100y breast and helping USC to second in the 400y medley relay in a school record 3:33.97. Soni was unbeaten in the 200y breast on the season. In addition to posting USC's fastest breaststroke times, she also posted USC's top times in the 200y IM and 400y IM. Despite having minor heart surgery during the summer, Soni still raced at the 2006 U.S. Summer Nationals, where she was 10th in both the 100m and 200m breast.

Soni was the 2005 U.S. national champion in the 200m breast after her final year competing at West Windsor-Plainsboro North in Plainsboro, N.J. The New Jersey state record holder in the 100y and 200y breast, Soni was ranked among the top 25 in the world in the 100m and 200m breaststroke throughout the 2005 season. She won a pair of silver medals at the 2005 U.S. World University Games, taking second in both the 100m and 200m breast and seventh in the 50m breast. She made the WUG team after placing third in third in the 200y breast and fourth in the 100y breast at the 2005 U.S. World Championships Trials. She was a 2004 Olympic Trials semifinalist in the 200m breaststroke and was second in the event at the 2004 U.S. Summer Nationals. She was also a two-time finalist at the 2003 Summer Nationals.

A year earlier in 2000, Li helped guide Brennan to her first two All-American honors.

Li, 49, was named the 1998 and 1999 U.S. Diving Outstanding Age Group Coach of the Year, was a U.S. team coach at the 1999 Pan Am Games, the 1998 World Diving Championships, the 1998 Goodwill Games and the 1997 World Junior Championships, and earned the Coach of Excellence award at the 1995 Senior National Championships.

At Mission Viejo, he produced eight Junior National champions who won a combined 20 individual titles. Among the elite divers Li coached was Erica Sorgi, who has captured five senior national titles since 1996.

Li led the Nadadores to the 1998 Junior National Championships team title as well as every Western National team title since 1996. He served as an assistant coach at Mission Viejo from 1989-93, helping the club to consecutive junior team titles from 1991-93.

Originally from Beijing, Li was a 12-time national champion and a two-time Olympian while competing for China. He finished fourth on the 3-meter springboard at the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles, earned gold medals on platform at the 1981 FINA World Cup in Mexico City and the 1981 World University Games and won bronze on 3-meter at the 1986 World Championships. He also qualified for the 1980 Olympics, but did not compete because of the Chinese boycott.

Li attended USC from 1985-89 and received a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1989. He won an NCAA title in the 3-meter springboard as a freshman in 1986 and earned All-American honors in the 1-meter springboard. He also earned Pac-10 titles in the 1- and 3-meter springboards that same year. He was not eligible to compete after 1986 because of an NCAA age rule.

Li lives in La Palma, Calif., with his wife, Ling, and their 17-year-old daughter, Amanda.

USC's McDonald's Swim Stadium

Home of Champions

The McDonald's Swim Stadium, the site of the 1984 Olympic swimming and diving competition, the 1989 U.S. Long Course Nationals and the 1991 Olympic Festival swimming and diving competition, is comprised of a 50-meter open-air pool next to a 25-yard, eight-lane diving well featuring 5-, 7 1/2- and 10-meter platforms.

The home facility for both the USC men's and women's swimming and diving teams conforms to all specifications and requirements of the International Swimming Federation (FINA).

One of the unusual features of the pool is a set of movable bulkheads, one at each end of the pool. These bulkheads are riddled with tiny holes to allow the water to pass through and thus absorb some of the waves that crash into the pool ends. The bulkheads can be moved, so that the pool length can be adjusted anywhere up to 50 meters.

The McDonald's Swim Complex is located in the northwest corner of the USC campus, near the intersection of Jefferson Boulevard and Vermont Avenue adjacent to the Lyon University Center.

One recent addition to the complex is the Kennedy Aquatics Center, which houses locker facilities and coaches' offices for both men's and women's swimming and diving.

The Peter Daland Wall of Champions, honoring the legendary USC coach's nine NCAA Championship teams, is located on the exterior wall of the Lyon Center.

The latest addition to the stadium is a state-of-the-art Colorado Timing scoreboard which is the first of its kind in the collegiate ranks at an outdoor aquatic facility. Among its features is the ability to show team names and scores, statistics, game times and animation. It has a viewing distance of more than 200 yards and a viewing angle of more than 160 degrees.

The swim stadium celebrated its 10th anniversary by hosting the 1993 U.S. National Diving Championships.

The stadium is also the former host of the annual Janet Evans Invitational, one of the largest yearly summer meets in the United States.

Swim With Mike

Swim With Mike is an annual swim-a-thon held to raise money for the Physically Challenged Athletes Scholarship Fund. Established in 1981, the Swim was scheduled to be a one-time event organized by friends and teammates on behalf of former USC swimmer Mike Nyeholt, a three time All-American who was paralyzed from the chest down following a motorcycle accident suffered in January of 1981.

Initially called Swim For Mike, the event was first held on March 7, 1981, to raise money to purchase a specially equipped van for Nyeholt. A week prior to the first Swim, Nyeholt was still in the hospital, and his supporters planned to show him a video of the fund-raiser once it was over.

To everyone's surprise, Nyeholt traveled by ambulance to make an appearance at the first event. More than $58,000 was raised that day, far exceeding the amount needed to purchase the van. At his suggestion, the excess funds were used to create the Physically Challenged Athletes Scholarship Fund at the University of Southern California, the only one of its kind in the country.

Inspired by the overwhelming support, Nyeholt promised to swim in the future to raise money for the other disabled athletes. He kept his promise and swam the following year, and with his participation in the pool, Swim For Mike was appropriately renamed Swim With Mike. Nyeholt now co-chairs the organizing committee for the annual event, which has raised more than $12 million and provided more than 115 scholarships to physically challenged athletes at 49 universities from Washington, D.C., to Honolulu.

For more information on how to participate in or support Swim With Mike, call USC at (213) 740-4155, send an email to swimwithmike@gmail.com or visit the Swim With Mike web site at www.SwimWithMike.org.

USC Endowed Scholarships

In 2009, USC Athletics announced the latest swimming endowed scholarship, named after Mark A. Mader, the All-American Trojan swimmer who passed away in 2008.

A nine-time All-American who lettered from 1968-1970, Mader was a part of three NCAA champion relays, winning the 800y free relay in 1969 and 1970 and the 400y free relay in 1970.

He was also a five-time Pac-8 champion, winning four titles in 1968 (100y and 200y back and 800y free and 400y medley relays) and one in 1969 (800y free relay).

He was a member of USC swim teams that finished second at the 1969 and 1970 NCAA meets, as well as third in 1968. The Trojans won Pac-8 crowns in 1968 and 1969, then placed second in 1970.

One of USC's tallest swimmers ever at 6-foot-9, he went to high school in Pullman, Wash., where he returned after college to become a wheat farmer.

The Mader scholarship is the third for the swim team. The other are the Kathy Mika Endowed Scholarship and the Giles Pellerin Endowed Scholarship.

Peter Daland

Led USC to 9 NCAA team and 93 individual and relay titles as coach from 1958-92. Pictured with John Konrads (center) and Murray Rose.

One of the most respected collegiate and international swim coaches in history, Peter Daland retired from coaching in April of 1992 after 35 years at USC and more than 45 years of coaching at the club and college levels.

He remains actively involved in the sport, serving on U.S.A. Swimming's International Relations Committee as the sport's liaison for Europe and attending the annual European Championships.

During his tenure at USC, Daland led the Troy to nine NCAA team championships – the second most in NCAA history – and 93 NCAA individual and relay titles. He also won 17 national AAU titles (15 men's at USC and two women's at the L.A. Athletic Club.). USC finished first or second in the country a phenomenal 20 times in Daland's 35 years.

Daland's teams enjoyed tremendous success at the conference level as well, winning the league title 17 of the Pac-10's 32 years. Trojan swimmers captured 155 Pac-10 individual and relay titles under Daland. His dual meet record was unparalleled: 318-31-1 (.917) in 35 seasons. USC went undefeated in dual meets in 20 seasons and his 1977 team might have been the finest collegiate swim team ever.

Among the world class swimmers he has coached are John Naber, winner of four Olympic golds and 10 NCAA titles; American record holders Dave Wharton and Mike O'Brien; Olympic stars Roy Saari, Murray Rose, Jeff Float, Joe and Mike Bottom and Bruce and Steve Furniss.

Yet just as important is the success Daland's swimmers had out of the pool. Seven Trojan swimmers went on to win NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships and three former Trojans were recipients of the NCAA's prestigious Today's Top Six Award (Steve Furniss, Wharton and Naber).

At the international level, Daland stands as one of the world's most successful coaches. He led two of the most powerful United States teams ever in Olympic competition – the 1972 men's team that won nine gold medals and the 1964 women's squad that captured six of eight golds. He also guided American teams to impressive victories in meets against East Germany and the USSR in 1971 and at the World University Games in 1973.

Administratively, Daland was the longtime swimming chairman for the World University Games (Universiade) since 1983, recently retiring from the post. He was the USA delegate to the International Swimming Federation Congress (FINA) in 1991 and 1995. Daland also served as the president of the American Swimming Coaches Association.

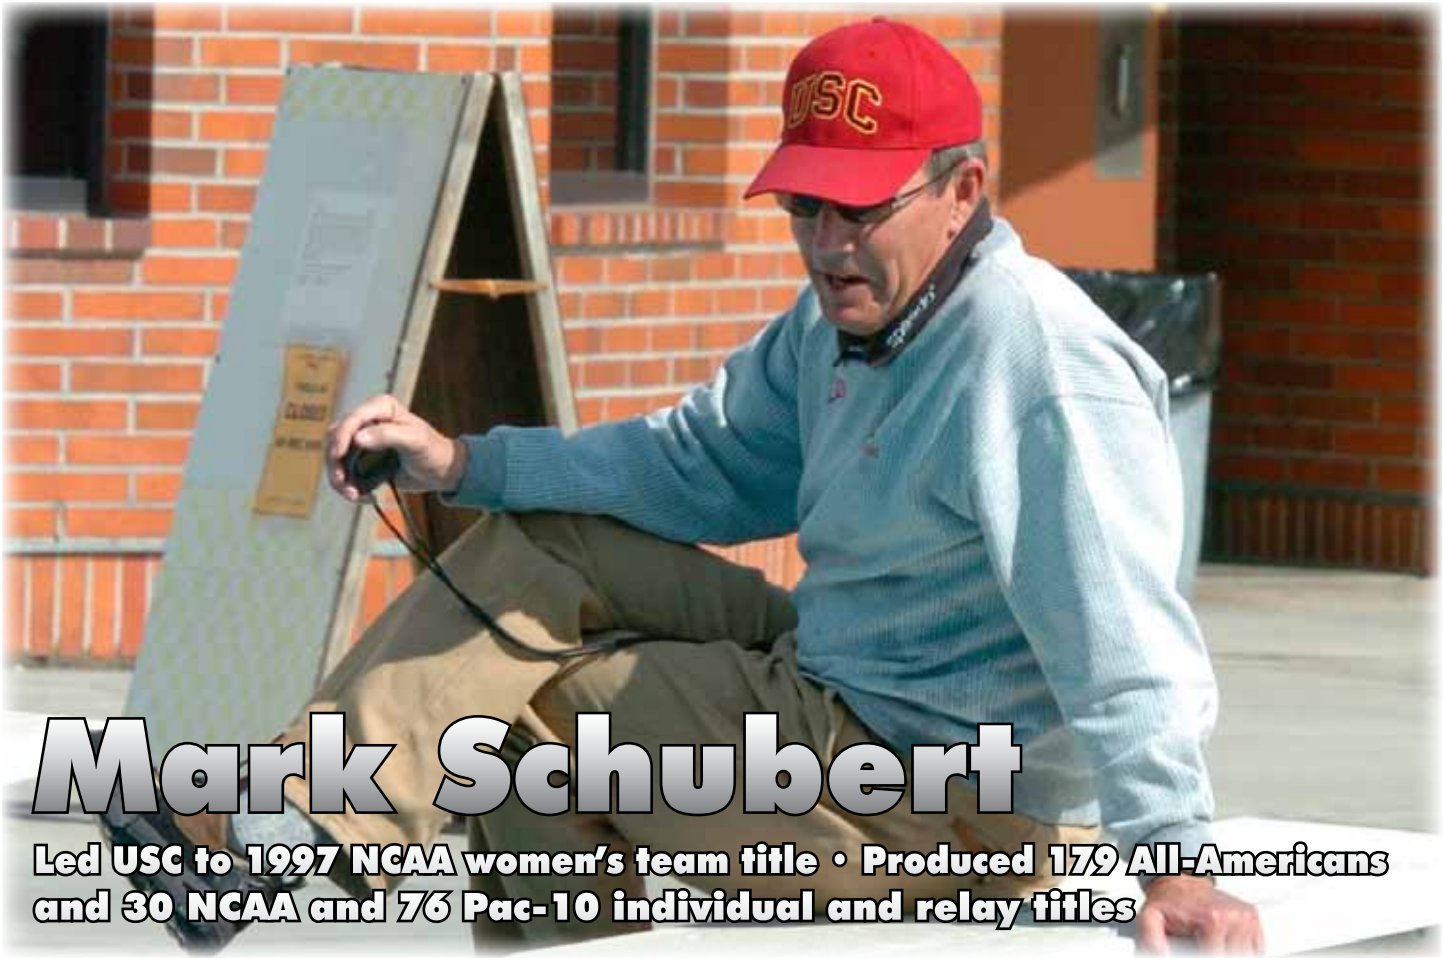

Daland's Trojan swimmers did exceptionally well on the international scene, highlighted by seven gold and two silver medals at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal – more medals than any country except the United States.

Daland was named Pac-10 Coach of the Year in 1989-90 and was a six-time national Coach of the Year (1971 – NCAA Coaches Association; 1962 – American Swimming Coaches; 1973 – American Swimmer; 1964-66 – Columbus Touch-down Club). He was presented the Ousely Award for Outstanding Service to ASCA in 1992).

In 1975, Daland was awarded the prestigious "national AAU Swimming Award," given to the person who has contributed the most to swimming. The College Swimming Coaches Association of American presented him with the 1976 "Collegiate and Scholastic Swimming Trophy" for his contributions to swimming as a competitive sport and a healthy recreation activity.

He is also involved in a number of swimming-related activities. Daland, who founded Swimming World and Junior Swimmer, was a member of the 1984 Olympic Organizing Committee and was the competition chairman for swimming events at the 1984 Games. Daland formerly directed two coaches' clinics in the United States and conducted overseas clinics and domestic media tours to promote swimming for the Phillips Petroleum Company. He was a member of the Speedo International Advisory Coaches Board and has organized clinics in 40 countries.

Originally from New York City, Daland is a 1948 graduate of Swarthmore College in Pennsylvania. His first coaching job was at Rose Valley (Penn.), where he took the club swim team to eight consecutive Suburban League titles (1947-55). He founded and was the first head coach of the Suburban Swimming Club in Philadelphia (1950-55) and served as an assistant swim coach at Yale University from 1950-54).

Mark Schubert

Led USC to 1997 NCAA women's team title • Produced 179 All-Americans and 30 NCAA and 76 Pac-10 individual and relay titles

Mark Schubert had the unenviable task of following the legendary Peter Daland when he took over as the head men's swimming coach at USC in 1993.

But Schubert thrived in the role and, after becoming the women's head coach in 1994, spent more than a decade guiding one of top swim programs in the country.

Under Schubert, USC won 12 men's and 18 women's NCAA individual titles and 42 men's and 34 women's Pac-10 individual titles. Schubert, who led USC to its only women's NCAA team championships in 1997, also produced 97 men's All-Americans and 82 women's All-Americans.

The USC men's team finished among the top 10 at the NCAA Championships 12 times in 14 seasons with Schubert at the helm, including 10 times in the top 7. Schubert's women's squads finished no lower than 10th at the NCAA Championships in any of his 13 years as head coach, finishing in the top 7 11 times and in the top 4 four times.

Also while with the Trojans, Schubert guided USC squads to U.S. titles at the 2001 and 2006 Spring Nationals and led Trojan Swim Club to championships at the 1999 Spring and Summer and 2003 Summer Nationals.

One of the United States' most recognizable and successful coaches of all-time, Schubert was inducted into the International Swimming Hall of Fame in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., on Jan. 10, 1997 as "Honor Coach." The same year, he also was named Coach of the Year by five organizations: American Swimming Coaches Association, United States Olympic Committee, United States Swimming, NCAA and Pac-10. Two years later, he earned a trio of Coach of the Year awards in 1999, coming from the USOC, ASCA and USS.

Schubert's international coaching experience was highlighted by his seven consecutive coaching appearances with U.S. Olympic swim teams. He was the United States Swimming head coach in 2004, headed the men's team in 2000, was as an assistant in 1996 and was head coach in 1992. Schubert was an assistant for the combined men's and women's teams in 1980, 1984 and 1988. He was also the head coach of the 1982 U.S. World Championship team and was an assistant on the 1978, 1982, 1986, 1991, 1994, 1998 and 2003 World Championships staffs.

With such extensive experience with America's swimming elite, he was a natural pick when U.S. Swimming was looking for a permanent head coach. He was named the national team head coach and general manager by U.S. Swimming in March of 2006. He held the position until retiring in 2010. In 2011 he returned to coaching, working with Janet Evans as she attempted an Olympic comeback.

In his 35-plus years of coaching prior to joining U.S. Swimming, Schubert placed 38 swimmers on U.S. Olympic teams; those athletes won 23 gold and 11 silver medals, plus eight world championship titles. Even more impressive, Schubert's swimmers have broken 27 world and more than 115 American records and have won more than 200 U.S. national titles.

Schubert produced success early in his career, first as head coach of the Mission Viejo Nadadores from 1972-85, where his teams won a record 44 U.S. National team titles during his tenure. He served as head coach of the Mission Bay Makos Swim Team in Boca Raton, Fla., which won nine national team titles from 1986-89. Schubert next worked as Texas's head women's coach from 1989-92, leading the Longhorns to two NCAA team titles (1990 and 1991). He was named NCAA Coach of the Year in 1990.

His swimming-related duties include serving on the American Swimming Coaches Association (ASCA) Board of Directors since 1975. He is a former vice-president and member of the Board of Directors of the College Swim Coaches Association of America.
