14.4 points and 10.4 rebounds per game. USC is 5-6 all-time against the Rebels after a 86-72 win when the teams met last year in Las Vegas.

LAST ACTION

In the latest action, USC came up with a split at the South Point Shootout in Las Vegas, taking a 64-57 loss to Nebraska before pulling out a 60-57 win over Alabama. With double digits in both games, freshman Angel Jackson earned a place on the All-Tournament Team at the close of the event. In their first game, after hanging tough with Nebraska for three quarters, the Trojans went cold in the fourth and lost to the Cornhuskers. The lead traded hands 10 times in the first half with the teams staying neck-and-neck until the Trojans hit a cold snap in the second quarter. After leading it 22-20 after 10 minutes of action, USC stumbled and scored just nine points in the second frame while Nebraska stayed the course and manufactured a 6-0 run to storm into the lead. A late 3-pointer by the Huskers had USC in a 39-31 hole at halftime. Nebraska was shooting at a 51.6 percent clip to that point, while the Trojans had slumped to 34.2 percent. USC fired off an 8-0 run to open the second half and lock even at 39-39 thanks in part to 3-pointers nailed by Endyia Rogers and Aliyah Jeune. Nebraska answered back and edged ahead by five with a 46-41 lead at 5:20, only to see the Trojans reel the Huskers back in again. A jumper from Angel Jackson knotted it at 50-50 with 2:10 to go in the third and earned the freshman the distinction of the first Trojan in double digits on the night. Jackson struck again a minute later, and USC had its first lead since the second quarter with a 52-50 advantage before Nebraska got the equalizer in the final minute to make it 52-52 entering the fourth. In that frame, USC failed to score from the floor for the entire stretch, hitting only two tosses from the stripe while Nebraska worked out ahead for a 67-54 win. USC finished out the game going 32.8 percent from the floor while Nebraska wrapped at 46.0 percent. USC knocked down seven 3-pointers and had a season-high 13 assists, and also outrebounded Nebraska 37-34, but untimely shooting woes plagued the Trojans throughout. USC was led in scoring by freshman Angel Jackson's career-high 13 points to stand as the only Trojan in double figures. Nebraska was paced by Leigha Brown's 16 points and also received 12 points from Nicea Eliely and 10 from Kate Cain, while Ashtyn Veerbeek had 10 rebounds for the Huskers. The next night, USC fended off Alabama with a gutsy effort in the finale of the South Point Shootout. The Trojans were put to the test late as the Crimson Tide carved the USC lead down to one point in the final minute, only to see freshman Alissa Pili go 4-for-4 from the stripe in the last 20 seconds to keep USC on top. She'd finish with a double-double on 11 points and 10 boards, while fellow freshman Endyia Rogers piled up all 13 of her points in the second half to help pace USC to victory. A tight opening stretch saw the Trojans made a 6-1 rally to move into the lead, up 18-14 at the end of the first thanks in part to seven points pumped in by Kayla Overbeck in those first 10 minutes. A more defense second frame followed, but USC got a big 3-point play from Alissa Pili and a clutch 3-pointer from Alyson Miura to get the edge on Alabama and lead things 28-22 by halftime. USC was shooting 35.7 percent from the floor while holding the Crimson Tide to 27.3 percent on its offensive end. A busy third frame saw the Crimson Tide chisel just a point off the Trojan advantage as USC had Angel Jackson tally six points to get into double digits for the second straight game. Endyia Rogers also got on the board for the Trojans during the third, and USC was up 44-39 entering the fourth. Rogers fueled the Trojans in scoring nine points in the first five minutes to help maintain a six-point advantage for USC. The referees' whistles would give the Crimson Tide a look at nine free throws in the next stretch, although only four of those would fall. USC had two Trojan foul out along the way, and a 1-for-2 outing from the stripe by Alabama had the USC lead down to one at 56-55. USC dug in from there, with Pili hauling in a key loose ball and going to the line. She'd knock down both for a little USC breathing room at 58-55 with 19 seconds left. She'd get sent back to the line after a USC defensive stop, and the freshman nailed both again for a 60-55 USC lead with five ticks to go. Alabama would get a last-second layup to fall, but the win was already in USC's column by then. USC wrapped the game shooting 40 percent from the floor to outpace Alabama's 33.3 percent. Both teams knocked down three 3-pointers apiece, while Alabama won out on the boards 37-30. USC finished up at 13-of-18 from the free-throw line, and Alabama went 12-of-21.

THE "VETS"

Of USC's three seniors on the roster, only post Kayla Overbeck has logged minutes in Cardinal and Gold. Overbeck joined the Trojans as a transfer from Vanderbilt last season. Now, she's flanked by two other transfers – guards Stephanie Watts (from North Carolina) and Aliyah Jeune (from Morehead State) – who are playing out their remaining eligibility as Trojans. Overbeck, Shalexus Aaron and sophomore guard Desiree Caldwell are USC's three returners from the 2018-19 season that saw the Trojans come up just shy of a postseason push with a 17-13 overall record.

YOUNG GUNS

Nine new faces are on the roster for 2019-20. In addition to grad transfers Aliyah Jeune and Stephanie Watts, USC has seven true freshmen in the mix – all wildly talented and all ready to hit the floor for their first minutes as Women of Troy. They include two state Gatorade Players of the Year in forward Alissa Pili (Alaska) and guard Endyia Rogers (Texas), as well as McDonald's All-American center Angel Jackson. Watts, too, was a McDonald's All-American coming out of high school in North Carolina before signing on with the Tar Heels. A bevy of talented freshmen guards are also locked in, with Madison Campbell, Alyson Miura, India Otto and Kyra White bringing extra punch to the USC backcourt as true freshmen.

STEPH SCORES A WATCH LIST SPOT

As she sets up for her first season as a Trojan, grad transfer Stephanie Watts has earned a place on the Preseason Watch List for the prestigious Ann Meyers Drysdale Award. Watts is one of 20 candidates on the Preseason Watch List, as announced Oct. 22 by the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame and the Women's Basketball Coaches Association. Watts joins the Women of Troy this season as a grad transfer from North Carolina, where she was the 2016 ACC Freshman of the Year and later led the team in 3-pointers made as a redshirt junior last season. In her three seasons as a Tar Heel, she scored 1,320 points. In her final season, she averaged 15.2 point, 5.5 rebounds and 3.1 assists per game while knocking down 82 threes. Named after the first player, male or female, named to the All-America Team in four straight college seasons, the annual Ann Meyers Drysdale Award – in its third year – recognizes the top shooting guard in women's NCAA Division I college basketball.

PREP STARS

Several Women of Troy had especially decorated high school careers. Two were McDonald's All-Americans – Angel Jackson and Stephanie Watts – with Jackson also earning Jordan Brand honors, and Watts as a Naismith High School All-American honoree. Two Trojans also were their state Player of the Year – Alissa Pili (Alaska) and Endyia Rogers (Texas).

LAST SEASON

USC finished up the 2018-19 season with a 17-13 overall record after going 7-11 in Pac-12 play and with a loss in the Pac-12 Tournament first round. Seniors Aliyah Mazyck and Mariya Moore and junior Minyon Moore earned All-Pac-12 Honorable Mention, with Mazyck and Minyon Moore both also landing on the Pac-12 All-Defensive Team. •

HEAD COACH MARK TRAKH

Mark Trakh, who led USC and Pepperdine to NCAA Tournament appearances before guiding New Mexico State to NCAA berths the past three seasons, returned to USC as its head women's basketball coach for the 2017-18 season.

In his first season back at Troy, Trakh's 2017-18 Trojans played an inspired season, notching a 20-win campaign but just missing out on an NCAA selection. USC went 20-11 overall in Trakh's return, beating three ranked opponents and finishing 9-9 in the competitive Pac-12. In 2018-19, USC posted a 17-13 overall record.

As a college coach, Trakh has an overall record of 430-291 in 24 years, with eight NCAA Tournament trips, seven regular season championships and five conference Coach of the Year honors. His 127 wins while at the helm at USC are the second most ever by a USC women's head coach, trailing only the great Linda Sharp, who won two NCAA titles at Troy.

Trakh coached the Women of Troy for five seasons (2005-09). Despite a tenure hampered by injuries to key players that stalled promising seasons, Trakh's USC teams won at least 17 games all five seasons, advanced to a pair of NCAA tourneys (getting to the second round in 2005 and 2006 before falling to the eventual NCAA runner-up both seasons), reached at least the semifinals of the Pac-10 Tourney four times (his 2009 team was a finalist), never finished below fifth in the Pac-10 and went 8-3 against crosstown rival UCLA. His debut 2005 team won 20 games, tied for second in the Pac-10 race and made USC's first NCAA Tournament appearance in seven years, where it lost on a last-second basket in the second round.

His Women of Troy players made various All-Pac-10 teams 23 times and Pac-10 All-Academic squads 14 times, and he turned out two All-Americans and four WNBA draftees. He signed Top 10 recruiting classes four times, including the nation's No. 1 group in 2006, and seven of his signees were McDonald's All-Americans. Overall, he was 90-64 at USC, but resigned after the 2009 season for personal reasons.

After nearly two years off from coaching following his resignation from USC (he was associate head coach briefly at San Diego State in the 2011 season before leaving to attend to personal family matters), Trakh spent the past six years (2012-17) at New Mexico State, where he went 104-80 overall. In each of the last three seasons, his Aggies posted 20-plus victories while winning the Western Athletic Conference regular season and tournament championships, and he was named the league's Coach of the Year each season.

...TRAKH CONTINUED

His 2017 Aggie squad was 24-7 overall, including a perfect 14-0 WAC mark (NMSU's first perfect conference record), had a school record 17-game winning streak and it lost by just eight points in the NCAA first round to eventual NCAA finalist Stanford. That came on the heels of 2016's 26-5 team which tied the program record for season victories and consecutive wins (15). That year, he became just the fifth coach in NCAA history to lead three different schools to consecutive NCAA Tournament appearances. His 2015 team, which was 22-8 overall, advanced to NCAA play for the first time in 27 years, posted the school's first winning record in WAC play (13-1) in seven years and won the program's first-ever WAC regular season and tournament titles.

In 11 years (1994-2004) at Pepperdine, Trakh went 199-123, won four West Coast Conference crowns and two WCC tournament titles, captured at least 20 wins six times, and made the post-season in each of his last six seasons (three NCAAAs and three WNITs). He was the 1999 and 2002 WCC Coach of the Year. He coached two WCC Players of the Year and produced Pepperdine's first WNBA pick. His Wave teams had a 100% graduation rate during his time there.

Before entering the collegiate ranks, Trakh coached Brea (Calif.) Olinda High for 13 seasons (1981-93), compiling a 354-45 record while winning four California state championships and six CIF Southern Section titles. He also taught English at Brea Olinda. He is a member of the City of Brea Hall of Fame and the Southern California High School Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame.

In 1980, he was the boys' sophomore team coach at Western High in Anaheim (Calif.).

Trakh played basketball and baseball at Lakeland Regional High in Wanaque, N.J.

He then attended Fairleigh Dickinson and Fullerton College, where as a journalism major he was the sports editor of the student newspaper, before graduating from Long Beach State in 1981 with a degree in journalism (he also has his teaching credential).

Trakh was born on May 31, 1955, in Arman, Jordan. He moved to the United States at age four, living first in Connecticut and New Jersey before coming to California for college.

His younger brother, Maz, was an assistant coach with the NBA's Washington Wizards and was an assistant with the Oklahoma City Thunder and Detroit Pistons and a scout with the Golden State Warriors. He also coached in the ABA, CBA, collegiately and overseas.
