JIM LEAVITT

Head Coach • 61-39 (.610) • 10th Season

Jim Leavitt is working on a new theory. It states, "You can never leave home again."

With apologies to Thomas Wolfe, Leavitt has already proven that you can indeed go home again, having returned to his Tampa Bay roots to oversee the most successful start-up of a college football program in decades. In just 10 years, Leavitt turned a non-existent program into a Bowl team when the Bulls played in the 2005 Meineke Car Care Bowl.

And on two occasions in the past three years when prominent programs showed interest, Leavitt has solidified his commitment to USF with a new contract. On November 30, 2005, Leavitt agreed to a seven-year deal for $7 million to stay with the Bulls. That came just over two years after he had signed a new contract through 2009.

At this point, Leavitt is the alpha and omega of USF football. He is the only coach the school has ever had as he was presented the job on December 12, 1995. He then went about starting football from scratch and leading the program from an inaugural season in 1997 to I-A status in 2001, Conference USA in 2003 and now the BIG EAST and BCS football in 2005.

Having been "forced" to leave the state to play collegiate football and baseball in the mid-1970s, the new contract solidifies Leavitt's longstanding declaration that he has no intentions of leaving again. When he returned home in 1996 to lead the fledgling USF program, it was for the first time since he left for Missouri in 1974 and he has been emphatic in his desire to stay.

"I can see myself coaching at South Florida until I retire," says Leavitt. "Then I can buy season tickets and sit in the stands and watch the Bulls play on Saturdays."

After the first nine seasons of USF Football, Leavitt has proven only further that he was indeed the right man for the right job at the right time. Charged with fast tracking a program from non-existence to Division I-A football in just five years time, Leavitt has led the program to an impressive 61-39 record. A mega-success in the first four years at the I-AA level (24 straight weeks in national polls), Leavitt and crew moved to I-A in 2001 and went 8-3, including a 35-26 win at Pittsburgh.

In 2002, his team finished 9-2 and seriously contended for a Bowl Game, even as an Independent. The Bulls are also received votes in both major polls and ranked 18th in the final New York Times Computer Poll, one of several polls utilized by the Bowl Championship Series (BCS). In fact, USF ranked among the top 30 in each of the computer polls utilized by the BCS, and the program also had a 21-game home winning streak that extended into the 2003 season.

Having blazed yet another milestone in directing the program into its first-ever season in Conference USA in 2003, Leavitt and his squad now move into the BIG EAST after two C-USA seasons. Along with four wins against C-USA foes in 2002, a year before becoming a league member, the Bulls were 12-8 against C-USA opponents.

Picked to finish seventh in the eight-team BIG EAST this year, Leavitt led the Bulls to a major win over then-ninth ranked Louisville and the Bulls finished third in the league.

Leavitt's success has extended beyond league play as he reached his 50th career win faster than all but five active I-A coaches. Leavitt picked up his 50th victory in his 75th game, placing him behind Bob Stoops (Oklahoma), Philip Fulmer (Tennessee), John Robinson (UNLV), Joe Paterno (Penn State) and Lloyd Carr (Michigan).

Leavitt's profile foretold of the success to come at USF, even as he was hired for the job on December 12, 1995, exactly one week following his 39th birthday.

"Leading the USF football program is much more than just a job," said Leavitt when he was hired. "And it is much more than a task at hand. It is something that is a major part of my life, and it will always be that. I am going to do everything I can to build a program without illusions, without cutting corners, doing things the right way and bringing in coaches with character."

Leavitt also speaks a lot about the "being home" factor.

"Shortly after I was hired, I was speaking with Brigham Young coach LaVell Edwards," recalls Leavitt. "He told me that throughout his years at BYU, he had plenty of opportunities to move on to what some might perceive to be better coaching jobs. But, he told me, 'I never left, and you know why I didn't? It's because this is my home.'

"He told me, 'Jim, you'll never want to leave the (USF) job, because you're going home.'"

Home was a long time coming for Leavitt. It took 23 years and wound through Missouri, Iowa and Kansas. It began in 1974, when the St. Petersburg resident, and a star for Dixie Hollins High School, went off to Missouri, where he was a two-sport standout in football and baseball, earning all-Big 8 in both sports. He also won a Big 8 batting title in 1977 with a .386 average.

Upon graduation in 1978, he stayed at Missouri as a graduate assistant, earning a master's degree in 1979. After two seasons as a graduate assistant, Leavitt moved to the State of Iowa, where was named defensive coordinator at the University of Dubuque in 1980, spending two years in that position, before moving to Morningside College from 1982-87, also as defensive coordinator.

At both Dubuque and Morningside, Leavitt was instrumental in transforming the program to success. The Dubuque team had 40 consecutive losing seasons, but Leavitt helped the squad to an 8-2-1 record and the Division III playoffs in his first season.

The situation at Morningside was similar with a long track record of losing seasons. Even in Leavitt's first two seasons there, the squad finished 2-9 and 1-10, leading to the entire staff - except Leavitt - serving up its resignation. Leavitt assumed interim head coach duties for six months prior to the 1984 season, including the recruitment of that year's freshmen class.

It was then that Leavitt began to rely heavily on home again, even if he couldn't be there. He decided to aggressively recruit the Sunshine State, loading the Morningside recruiting classes with Florida talent. It helped turn the program to 6-5 and then 7-3-1 in 1984 and 1985, the first back-to-back winning seasons in the 28 years.

Leavitt also coached the track team at Morningside, a program that had not scored a single point in its conference meet in three years when he took over. In Leavitt's three seasons, his athletes won five All-America honors, 13 conference titles and set new school records in virtually every event. In 1988, he coached a 4x100 relay team that finished fourth in the nation and he won North Central Conference Coach of the Year honors.

Following his five seasons with Morningside, Leavitt went full force after a Ph.D. in psychology, something he had been pursuing sporadically since 1982. By 1989, he simply needed to complete his dissertation, when Iowa head coach Hayden Fry offered him a graduate position. With the coaching bug, Leavitt took the opportunity and fast tracked a career in I-A football coaching.

After just one season with Iowa, Leavitt was named to Bill Snyder's staff at Kansas State in 1990, when that program had just been tabbed the "worst in America" by Sports Illustrated. Snyder, who was a coaching disciple of Iowa's Fry, was in his second season at K-State, when he asked Leavitt to coach the linebackers.

The following year, Leavitt was promoted to co-defensive coordinator and he was instrumental in building a defense that joined Snyder's offense in a quick and effective turnaround that had Sports Illustrated calling K-State the most improved team in the nation by 1993. And now, Kansas State has assumed a regular spot in the nation's top 10.

In Leavitt's five years at Kansas State, the Wildcats were 44-23-1 compared to 22-86-1 in the 1980s. In his final three seasons, Kansas State joined Florida, Florida State, Nebraska and Penn State as the only teams in the nation with three consecutive nine-win seasons. During those three years, Kansas State was 27-8-1.

And perhaps most impressively, Leavitt and Bob Stoops designed a defense that went from 93rd in the nation in 1990 to number one in their final season of 1995.

The common denominator for success at each of Leavitt's stops has been an unyielding commitment to old-fashioned hard work.

"Nobody but nobody is going to match his work ethic and his energy," Leavitt's baseball coach at Missouri once said of him.

While that ethic has followed Leavitt everywhere, a story from Morningside College in Sioux City, Iowa is as good as any in proving the point.

As the defensive coordinator in 1985, Leavitt drove from Iowa to St. Petersburg, Fla. to meet a recruit at Lakewood High School for a 9 p.m. meeting. Leavitt pulled a projector out of the trunk of his car, groped in the dark to find a power outlet outside the gym, threw a beach towel over a chair and proceeded to show the recruit Morningside game films. In the two weeks surrounding that one visit, Leavitt put 2,500 miles on his Chrysler LeBaron.

The Lakewood recruit ended up a starter at Morningside and never regretted following Leavitt back to Sioux City.

Leavitt doesn't hide the fact that he has taken a carbon copy of the building strategies at both Iowa and Kansas State in building the start-from-scratch program at USF.

"I would say I use a lot of things that we did at Kansas State and Iowa as far as the structure of our program," says Leavitt. "But we really didn't use anybody as a model because there really was no model. We were starting a program and the one thing we knew was that our track was going to be fast."

As successful as Kansas State and Iowa were in implementing their strategies, Leavitt can't help but smile a little bit wider now that he's implementing it himself in his own backyard.

Leavitt and his family first made their backyard in St. Petersburg, Fla. - just 40 minutes from the USF campus - when he was nine years old. Born in Harlingen, Tex., December 5, 1956, Leavitt's father was an air force pilot, and the family's move to St. Petersburg was the fifth and final stop. In fact, his parents still live in the family home.

A two-sport star in baseball and football (he played quarterback and safety) at Dixie Hollins High School, he graduated in 1974 and went on to Missouri, where he earned his bachelor's degree in 1978 and a master's degree in 1979.

2006 USF SPRING PREVIEW

Although USF heads into its 10th-ever season of football with an impressive list of accomplishments - including a first-ever bowl appearance in 2005 - head coach Jim Leavitt, who has been in charge every step of the way, knows what's behind you doesn't matter.

So, it comes as no surprise that Leavitt will refuse to allow his staff and players to take anything for granted heading into 2006, the Bulls' second season in the BIG EAST. He knows that like any season - with a successful year behind you or not - there will be questions to answer. In 2006, the largest question will be who fills the void of all-time leading rusher Andre Hall.

That question and others will hopefully be answered this spring, and Leavitt feels there will be options to answer all the questions.

"We have a lot of guys back who we know can play," says Leavitt. "But we also lose some guys that must be replaced. Andre Hall, three starters on the defensive line and the strong safety all have to be replaced. Those are important positions to fill. So, we have to find answers."

THE OFFENSE

The biggest disappointment in 2005, when USF made its way to the Meineke Car Care Bowl, was the inconsistency of the offense. The Bulls looked stunning en route to a 45-14 win over Louisville, but also had a 15-10 loss at Connecticut and failed to score for the first time ever in the bowl game. The USF offense finished 107th among 117 teams in the NCAA rankings.

Leavitt and offensive coordinator Rod Smith know they have to change that and traveled to Texas and Missouri in the off-season to visit with coaches on the offenses built around quarterbacks Vince Young and Brad Smith. Although USF has a returning starter at quarterback in senior Pat Julmiste, who has started in games since his freshman season, sophomore Carlton Hill, who has a potential skill set similar to Young and Smith, has been handed the reins this spring.

"I'm not saying Carlton is in the class of those two quarterbacks," Smith says. "But his potential is similar in terms of his athleticism. He'll have to develop."

In his experience as a true freshman last season, Hill was able to show his athleticism both at quarterback and receiver, especially in stretching the field with his running ability. But he also showed his youthfulness with two fumbles in his opportunity during the Meineke Car Care Bowl.

Still, he has been handed the ball this spring.

"We're going to cater everything to what Carlton does and the other quarterbacks will obviously have to be able to do that to fit in."

Julmiste certainly won't give up on the challenge. Coaches love his dedication and effort, and they have seen flashes of good things throughout his three seasons. The only drawback has been consistency and if he can find that, he won't be ruled out.

Additionally, redshirt freshman Matt Grothe has come on strong enough that quarterbacks Louis Gachette and Grant Gregory have been moved into the secondary. Hill, Julmiste, Grothe and junior Anthony Severino will get all the snaps this spring.

In addition to a potential switch at quarterback, USF knows it will have to make a switch at feature back with the departure of Hall, who essentially broke every rushing record in the USF record book. As good as Hall was, Leavitt is confident that redshirt freshman Moise Plancher and sophomore Ricky Ponton have the skill set to excel in the backfield.

Plancher has yet to play a down in college, but he has impressed in practice. Ponton got solid experience behind Hall last season, proving capable with 92 carries for 372 yards and two touchdowns.

USF loses three-fifths of the line that protects for the backfield and all three losses are on the interior where guards Chris Carothers and Frank Davis and center John Miller have expired their eligibility. All three are considerable losses, including Davis, who is climbing quickly on NFL wish lists. Miller and Davis were both named second team all-BIG EAST as was returning left tackle Thed Watson.

Watson, a senior who transferred last year from junior college, leads a set of three players who gained plenty of playing time last season. He excelled as a pass protector, limiting the nation's leading sack man - Elvis Dumervil - to no sacks. He did the same against an impressive defensive front at Rutgers.

Along with Watson, the Bulls return tackles Marc Dile, a sophomore, and Walter Walker, a junior, who platooned throughout 2005. Dile figures to play opposite Watson at right tackle, while Walker, who has played both tackle and guard, is slated to play right guard.

At center, USF considered moving defensive end George Selvie, but despite some impressive work during Bowl practices, his 240-pound frame is better suited at end. So, junior Nick Capogna heads into spring as the starter with redshirt freshman Jason Fox also competing.

USF must replace Davis at left guard, and sophomore Jake Griffin is the frontrunner with competition from sophomore Matt Huners, who did make one start in 2005.

At tight end, the Bulls lose Derek Carter and Mike Ruegger who have been the primary players over the past two years, but sophomore Cedric Hill is an imposing replacement with solid pass catching skills. He made 10 catches for 139 yards as a freshman, lining up both as a tight end and wideout. Senior Will Bleakley adds experience at the position.

Leavitt is very confident in his receiving corps and he feels the position will strengthen even further when the freshmen arrive this summer. Although Hall led the Bulls in receiving as well as rushing last year, USF returns six of the next seven receiving leaders from 2005.

Leading the way is Amarri Jackson, a junior who debuted in impressive fashion in 2005 with 22 catches for 242 yards. He proved to be a skilled runner, catching Louisville off guard for two long reverse runs in USF's 45-14 win. He also threw a touchdown pass off a reverse in the game.

Jackson started most of the season along with Jackie Chambers and S.J. Green, both of whom also return.

Jackie Chambers

Chambers has 21 catches for 290 yards, while Green had 16 receptions for 229 yards. Along with Cedric Hill's numbers at tight end and wideout, that group of four players returns with 69 catches for 900 yards. Marcus Edwards, Jessie Hester and Taurus Johnson, three receivers who played as true freshmen in 2005, return with a combined 11 catches for 182 yards.

Just as Edwards, Hester and Johnson got a shot as true freshmen in 2005, soon-to-arrive freshmen Ed Alcin, Carlton Mitchell and Jason Sherman all figure to compete for time in 2006.

THE DEFENSE

The USF defense rebounded in 2005 from what USF faithful hope was a fluke in 2004, when the Bulls ranked 77th in the nation, allowing 398.45 yards a game. Having built a reputation as a strong defensive team from the earliest days of the program, the Bulls ranked 17th in the nation in 2005, allowing 311.92 yards, despite a much tougher schedule that included Penn State, Miami, Louisville and West Virginia. Even in the Meineke Car Care Bowl loss, the defense shined in allowing just 14 points.

The biggest questions to be answered on defense come on the defensive line, where Leavitt has always emphasized the importance of having a strong front four if you want to have a strong overall defense.

The Bulls have to replace both defensive ends, including Terrence Royal, who had 10 sacks last season (three in Meineke Car Care Bowl) to set a new single season and career record at USF. On the left end, USF must replace Jon Simmons, and at tackle, Tim Jones is gone.

While ends Josh Julmiste (Pat's brother) and Jarriett Buie have very little college experience, their athleticism, speed and size are even more impressive than what Royal and Simmons brought with them. Julmiste, at 265 with excellent speed, is the largest defensive end the Bulls have ever brought to the front four.

Richard Clebert and Allen Cray, each of whom made starts at nose tackle in 2005, return, providing experience at that spot.

In replacing Jones at the other tackle spot, USF will look to converted end Tavarious Robinson, another big and speedy player, and junior college transfer Frank Harry this spring.

The strength of the USF defense in 2006 will clearly be the linebackers, where all three starters return. Ben Moffitt, Stephen Nicholas and Pat St. Louis figure to be among the best units in the BIG EAST, if not the nation. The trio had a combined 264 tackles last season, including 40 for losses. They also combined for 12 sacks.

Nicholas, who has been on the Butkus Watch List in each of the past two seasons, earned second team all-BIG EAST last year and could have departed for the NFL, but opted to return for a senior season. St. Louis will also be a senior, while Moffitt, who plays the middle, will be a junior.

In the secondary, USF figures to have two of the finest corners in the BIG EAST in juniors Mike Jenkins and Trae Williams. Jenkins was second team all-Big East and Williams is every bit as talented. The duo combined for 77 tackles and four interceptions in 2005. Both players will be juniors in 2006.

Sophomore Danny Verpaele, a freshman All-American at free safety in 2004, will make a move to strong safety in 2006 after missing the entire 2005 season with a broken foot. Even with the missed year, his experience and talents have the coaches confident he will fill the role well. Additionally, the Bulls return

Mike Jenkins

Carlton Williams, who started all 12 games at free safety as a freshman. Williams still figures prominently as the Bulls' nickel back.

At strong safety, USF will look to converted quarterback Louis Gachette, who showed a quarterback's mentality and the toughness of the toughest defensive backs in his action as a backup and nickel back in 2005, when he had 16 tackles and two interceptions. Gachette is backed up by another converted quarterback who can hit with the best in Grant Gregory.

SPECIALISTS

Although the Bulls lose placekicker Kyle Bronson, who opted to transfer away, sophomore Mike Benzer had started the season at that spot last season, losing the job after some misfortune on snaps in the early season. A short but powerful kicker, Benzer enjoys the confidence of USF coaches.

USF also loses its punter - Brandon Baker - who was a three-year starter. Sophomore William Criswell leads the contenders in the spring, but figures to be joined in the summer and fall by signee Delbert Alverado and potential walk-ons. Alverado can also kick.

USF has normally utilized a second kicker for all kickoffs and Justin Teachey returns in that role from last season.

At long snapper, USF will need to replace Ryan Bourdeau, and the leading candidates are redshirt freshman Eric Setser, and Ben Busbee, a redshirt freshman tight end.

THE SCHEDULE

For the first time ever, USF will play a 12-game season, and the competition remains tough. In addition to the normal slate of seven BIG EAST games, the Bulls will have to travel to the Big 12's Kansas and the ACC's North Carolina.

USF does get to open the season with two straight home games against McNeese State and Florida International, before the first road game at UCF, a rival looking for revenge for the Bulls' win in a first-ever meeting last year in Tampa.

The schedule includes five games against teams who played in a bowl game last year, including a season-ending game at defending BIG EAST champ West Virginia, who essentially returns an entire team that defeated Georgia in the Sugar Bowl.
