The Last Time Against USF

USF 24, West Virginia 19 • November 25, 2006 • Morgantown, W.Va.

USF ended West Virginia's eight-game home winning streak with a 24-19 upset victory over the seventh-ranked Mountaineers at Milan Puskar Stadium.

Redshirt freshman quarterback Matt Grothe passed for 279 yards and one score while rushing for another to lead the Bulls to a win in their first trip ever to Morgantown.

After South Florida foiled a fake field goal attempt by the Mountaineers to ensure a scoreless first quarter. West Virginia got on the scoreboard first at the 14:56 mark of the second quarter when Pat McAfee converted on a 30-yard field goal.

The Bulls kept West Virginia out of the endzone again on WVU's next drive and the Mountaineers settled for another McAfee field goal, this time from 32 yards away, for a 6-0 lead.

Eric Wicks and Quinton Andrews both came up with key interceptions for the Mountaineer defense in the first half to keep the Bulls out of the endzone, but USF took the lead at the 7:20 mark of the second quarter when George Selvie returned a Patrick White fumble nine yards for the game's first touchdown and a 7-6 USF advantage.

Grothe's 10-yard touchdown run with just :35 left in the first half sent the Bulls into the locker room with momentum and a 14-6 lead.

West Virginia cut into the deficit with 7:16 left in the third quarter when White hit receiver Brandon Myles for a 15-yard touchdown pass. The Mountaineers went for two to tie the game but the conversion failed when White's pass fell incomplete to Myles, giving the Bulls a slim 14-12 advantage.

South Florida regained the momentum by marching 70 yards in just nine plays and scoring on a 21-yard pass completion from Grothe to Ean Randoph to give the Bulls a 21-12 edge.

South Florida took that lead into the fourth quarter and extended it to 24-12 when kicker Delbert Alvarado connected on a 18-yard field goal.

West Virginia has a quick strike offense and the Mountaineers mounted a comeback with just 5:15 left in the game when White hit a streaking Myles for a 44-yard touchdown pass to cut the lead to 24-19.

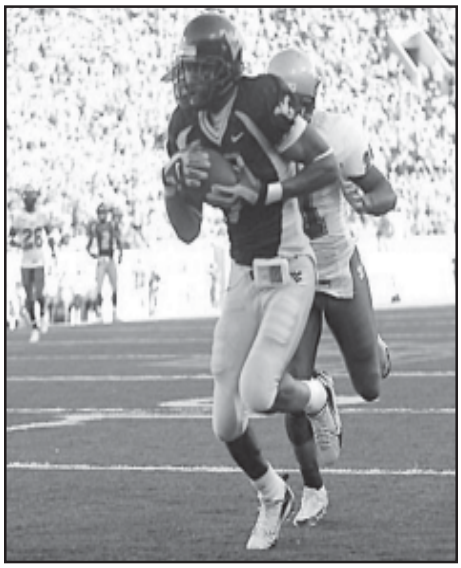

West Virginia is 38-46 on natural grass surfaces since 1980 and is 16-11 in the decade. Under Rich Rodriguez, WVU is 14-10 on grass and currently riding an eight-game win streak.

The Mountaineer defense then held South Florida on downs, giving the ball back to the WVU offense with 3:05 left. After WVU gained a first down, the Bulls ended the game when Trae Williams intercepted White's pass to seal the upset win.

Playing with a high ankle sprain for most of the game, White' running was limited but he still passed for 178 yards and two scores. Myles led the receiving efforts with 95 yards while Darius Reynaud's two reverses netted 67 yards on the ground. Eric Wicks, Quinton Andrews and Boo McLee led the WVU defense with nine tackles each.

Aside from Grothe's numbers, Randolph caught seven passes for 65 yards while George Selvie led the USF defense with eight tackles.

WVU finished with 132 yards rushing and 178 passing to total 310 yards of total offense. South Florida's final numbers were 84 yards rushing and 279 passing for 363 yards of total offense.

Brandon Myles had two touchdown receptions against USF including this 44-yard bomb from Pat White.

No. 12 West Virginia completed its first undefeated BIG EAST season since 1993 with a 28-13 victory over South Florida in Raymond James Stadium.

The Mountaineers were led by quarterback Pat White with 177 yards rushing. He became the first WVU quarterback ever to rush for 100 yards in three straight games, helping WVU to its sixth straight victory to close out the 2005 regular season.

The Bulls scored on the opening possession of the second half when Bronson added his second field goal (19 yards) in the game, but then White took over.

With 10:54 left in the third, White burst free for a 65-yard touchdown run for a 21-6 West Virginia advantage. At the time, the run was WVU's longest touchdown run of the season, longest run from scrimmage and longest offensive play of 2005 until White struck again early in the fourth quarter.

The Running Game

- As one of the nation's most-potent ground offenses during the Rich Rodriguez era, the WVU juggernaut rolled through the 2006 season and continues to roll during the 2007 season.

Its offensive prowess in recent memory has been staggering:

- WVU is currently No. 2 in the nation in rushing yards per game (357.0) and boasts 20 rushing touchdowns on the season which is No. 1 in the nation.
- WVU finished second in the NCAA in 2006 with 303 rush yards per game and has been among the top five for the last three seasons.
- West Virginia has 91 rushing touchdowns in its last 23 games (3.95 per game).
- WVU has rushed for 300 or more yards in 16 of its last 20 games.

Super Steve

- Junior Steve Slaton was fourth among NCAA rushers at 134.2 yards per game and second in NCAA all-purpose yardage (161.8/gm) last year.

He became the first player in WVU history and one of the few in NCAA history to have 200 yards rushing and 100 receiving yards in the same game at Pitt when he ran for 215 and added 130 receiving. In fact, it marked the second-best single game all-purpose outing by a Mountaineer in school history.

Slaton set a new WVU single-season rushing record of 1,744 yards in 2006, breaking the previous mark of 1,710 set by Avon Cobourne in 2002.

Slaton's Consecutive Games

- Steve Slaton's six consecutive 100-yard games prior to last year's USF game (Mississippi State to Pitt) tied the Mountaineer school record, held by Robert Walker (1993), Amos Zereoue (1998) and Avon Cobourne (2002).

In the 2006 season opener against Marshall, Slaton went over 200 yards rushing (203) for the second time in his career which also marked the first time a Mountaineer had posted consecutive 200-yard rushing games in school history. Slaton had rushed for a career-best 204 yards in the 2006 Nokia Sugar Bowl season finale win over Georgia.

Those back-to-back performances ranked him third on WVU's all-time list for two-game rushing totals.

Slaton ranks eighth all-time in school history in rushing yards for three consecutive games with 512 (Georgia, Marshall, E. Washington).

Three Can Lead

▸ With arguably the best quarterback depth of any Division I team in the NCAA this season, WVU has three proven signalcallers the Mountaineers can rely on to win with.

Start with junior Patrick White and his 19-2 record as a starter followed by senior Adam Bednarik who is 6-1. Sophomore Jarrett Brown is 1-0 after guiding WVU to a three overtime home victory against Rutgers last season. All have won at least one BIG EAST contest.

In the last two seasons, those three quarterbacks are a combined 26-3.

White Lightning

▸ No quarterback in the country has rushed for more yards since the start of the 2005 season than WVU's Patrick White. With 2,415 career rushing yards in just 20 starts, White is also the WVU and BIG EAST career quarterback rushing leader.

Dynamic Duo

▸ Against Pitt, Patrick White (220) and Steve Slaton (215) became the first duo in Mountaineer football laurels to each rush for 200 yards in a contest and just the third set of teammates to do so in NCAA history.

Slaton and White both topped 1,000 yards rushing on the season, marking the first time in school history that WVU has had two 1,000 yard rushers in the same season. It was the 37th time in NCAA history that two players on the same team have each gained 1,000 yards or more in a season.

Against Marshall, the duo was at it again, each rushing for over 100 yards in WVU's 48-23 win in Huntington. WVU is now 6-1 when Slaton and White each reach over 100 yards in the same game.

What They're Saying About Patrick White

"He can go for a home run at any time. He's fast, and he can stop on a dime. He can be going full speed horizontally, stick a foot in the ground and go full speed vertical. Give him just a little bit of daylight, and he's off." – Rutgers coach Greg Schiano

"From the moment the then redshirt freshman came off the bench in the Mountaineers' Oct. 15, 2005, game against Louisville and promptly led a 17-point, fourth-quarter comeback and triple-overtime victory, it was obvious he possessed that rare ability to change the course of a game in one play." – Stewart Mandel, CNNSI.com

"I like Pat White at West Virginia; I really do. . . . For college football right now with the offense that West Virginia runs . . . He's a dynamic runner and a better thrower than people give him credit for, and I think he will be even better throwing the football this year. – ESPN's Todd Blackledge on who he thinks is the best quarterback in the nation.

"I'm going after Pat White at West Virginia. He has amazing arm strength, but I have to see just how fast he is. He makes people look like they are standing still." - Heisman trophy winner Doug Flutie on who he would pay to watch.

"If winning – especially big games – is the gold standard, then today's WVU fans are watching the greatest quarterback in the school's history in Patrick White." – Bob Hertzel, formerly of the Dominion Post and now with Fairmont Times West Virginian.

"You think you have Pat White for a sack and the next thing you know he turns it into a first down." – Bill Cubit, Western Michigan Head Coach

"Everyone wants to have that special player. He's just a tremendous competitor. He continues to prove he's one of the best football players this school has ever had." – Rich Rodriguez, WVU Head Coach

Last season, WVU finished with 23 touchdown drives of two minutes or less. Thirteen of those scoring drives were capped by plays of 40 yards or longer.

40 Is Better

‣ The Mountaineers have scored 40 or more points in 11 of its last 12 home games. WVU scored at least 40 points in eight of 13 games in 2006.

Double Trouble

‣ With the start of the 2007 season, several Mountaineers will be serving multiple roles in the Mountaineer offense.

Senior Owen Schmitt will be utilized at running back and tight end this year, taking advantage of the stalwart's excellent blocking skills and his versatile running capabilities.

Senior Adam Bednarik will play some wide receiver this year as well as serve as the team's third quarterback.

True freshmen Jock Sanders and Noel Devine will serve as both running backs and slot receivers.

Junior Pat McAfee will handle both the kicking and punting duties to start off the season.

Catching the Century Mark

‣ In WVU's 48-23 win at Marshall senior wideout Darius Reynaud had a career day in every receiving category.

He caught a career-best nine passes for 134 yards (his second career 100 yard receiving day) which also marked a career-best. He also caught two touchdowns (45, 23) marking the first time in his career he notched multiple receiving touchdowns.

His first career 100-yard receiving game came at ECU (110) last year. That marked the first time a Mountaineer had a 100-yard receiving day since 2004.

Reynaud's Repertoire

‣ Senior wide receiver Darius Reynaud leads the Mountaineer receiving corp with team-bests of 23 catches for 335 yards and two touchdowns so far on the 2007 season.

Against East Carolina, playing with a bruised shoulder, Reynaud tallied 112 all-purpose yards (58 rush and 54 receiving) and caught two touchdowns.

At Marshall, Reynaud posted career-bests in receptions (9), receiving yards (134) and TD receptions (2). He also posted three kickoff returns for 70 yards averaging 23.3 against the Herd. He broke the 1,000 career receiving yard mark with his totals at Marshall.

He finished with 92 yards on five catches against Western Michigan in the season opener, averaging 18.4 yards per catch and had a long grab of 58 yards. His 26.9 career return average ranks No. 8 nationally among the top active players.

He brought a lot to the table last season as a receiver, rusher and kick returner. The Luling, La., native averaged 119.5 all-purpose yards per game, good for third in the conference.

Reynaud led the Mountaineers with 39 catches for 520 yards and two scores and his 813 kickoff return yards in 2006 ranked him fourth at WVU in single season kickoff return yardage, tying Nate Terry (1997). Reynaud averaged 27.1 yards per return and returned one kick for a touchdown against Maryland (96 yards)

Opponents have come to respect his ability to carry the pigskin, too, since he ripped off 221 yards rushing on 14 carries (15.8 ypc).

Fleet-footed Floridian Freshmen

▸ WVU's tailback depth has come from two true freshmen from Florida this fall. Jock Sanders of St. Petersburg and highly touted Internet legend Noel Devine of North Fort Myers have surfaced as Steve Slaton's backups. Devine and Sanders are versatile and can lineup in the backfield, in the slot or as kick returners. Here's a look at the numbers the pair of rookies have posted thus far:

Bombs Away

Quarterback Patrick White had two of his six longest career passes against Western Michigan. White connected with Darius Reynaud for a 58-yard gain before later dumping a screen pass to star tailback Steve Slaton, who reversed field for a 50-yard scoring strike. Both long passes were in the first quarter and the 58-yard pass was the third longest of White's career.

Can't Pass?

Patrick White threw for by far a career-best 151 yards on 5-of-5 passing in the first quarter of the Western Michigan game. That number was quite surprising, especially to the naysayers. White, a year ago, averaged 39 yards passing in the first quarter with a season-high 93 yards on 5-of-6 passing at Pitt.

Against East Carolina, White was spectacular completing 18-of-20 passes for a 90% completion percentage, including his final seven attempts. The 90 percent ties a school record for completion percentage in a game.

White has now thrown for two touchdowns in six of his last seven games.

Behind The Line

▸ The Mountaineers don't have any seniors up front along the offensive line this season and had to replace two starters from last year's squad. The three remaining starters have a combined 58 starts (Ryan Stanchek/25; Jake Figner/17; Greg Isdaner/16).

The "O" line is helping the offense average 525.0 yards of total offense a game, ranking No. 10 in the nation, including 357 yards on the ground, ranking No. 2 nationally. The offense is averaging 47.3 points a game, ranking No. 9 in the nation.

In 2006, the offensive line paved the way for the Mountaineers to average 6.7 yards per rush (nation's best) and 303.0 yards per game, ranking WVU second in the nation and first in the BIG EAST.

The big uglies helped WVU score 48 rushing touchdowns and gain 168 first downs on the ground. The O-line did their job in pass protection, too, allowing just 15 sacks in 13 games last season.

West Virginia was 10-1 in 2006 when at least one Mountaineer rushed for 100 or more yards, thanks to the prowess of the offense line.

Reaching 50

▸ Under Rich Rodriguez, the Mountaineers have scored 50 or more points in a game six times dating back to his first season in 2001, coincidentally all coming at home. Three of those scoring outbursts also came in season openers. WVU is 6-0 in those contests when scoring 50 or more points in a game.

More Than 60

▸ The 62 points scored against Western Michigan marked only the fourth time that WVU has scored more than 60 on opening day. Previous 60 or more first games were in 1919 when the Mountaineers defeated Marietta, 61-0, 1958 when WVU defeated Richmond, 66-22 and in 1988 when West Virginia beat Bowling Green, 62-14.

Over 200 yards passing in Rod Era . . .

▸ WVU tallied 226 yards through the air in the season-opening win against Western Michigan. Under Rich Rodriguez, WVU is 10-6 when passing for 200 yards or more in a contest.

He's So Jellin'

▸ Wide receiver Dorrell Jalloh put the first points on the board in the 2007 season with a 19-yard touchdown grab in the first quarter of the Western Michigan win.

Jalloh, mostly known for his two clutch game-winning two-point conversion catches in overtime wins against Louisville (2005) and Rutgers (2006), now has two career TDs.

His first career TD reception came from 46 yards out as a redshirt freshman against Virginia Tech in 2005.

Targets A Plenty

▸ Nine different Mountaineers have caught at least one pass in the early part of the 2007 season, led by senior Darius Reynaud's 23 catches for 335 yards. Other Mountaineers with at least one catch are Dorrell Jalloh, Steve Slaton, Noel Devine, Owen Schmitt, Jock Sanders, Tito Gonzales, Brandon Hogan and Eddie Davis.

Against The BIG EAST

‣ WVU is 112-97-7 all-time against current members of the BIG EAST conference.

WVU is 1-1 against USF; 24-30 against Syracuse; 28-4-2 against Rutgers; 6-2 versus Louisville; 13-1-1 versus Cincinnati; 3-0-0 against Connecticut and 37-59-3 against Pitt.

Since the league started in 1991, West Virginia is 69-41-1 in all-time BIG EAST play and 33-23 in league road games.

This-n-That

‣ With 316 rushing yards against Western Michigan, the Mountaineers have now averaged 306 yards rushing in its seven home openers under Rich Rodriguez. In addition to Western Michigan, the Mountaineers rushed for 312 yards against Marshall (2006), 339 yards against Wofford (2005) and 478 against East Carolina (2004) during WVU's last four home openers.

‣ West Virginia scored 50 points or more in a game under Rich Rodriguez for the sixth time with its 62 points against the Broncos. The Mountaineers have scored 40 or more points in 11 of its last 12 home games. WVU has scored at least 40 points in 11 of its last 17 games after posting 48 points in the East Carolina win.

‣ West Virginia's 62 points against Western Michigan tie for the most points scored in an opener at Mountaineer Field at Milan Puskar Stadium. WVU scored 62 points in a 62-14 win over Bowling Green in 1988. The 62 points were the second-most scored in a home opener all-time. WVU defeated Richmond 66-22 in the 1958 opener.

Fast Starts

‣ WVU has had just one losing season when starting out 2-0 since 1980.

WVU's combined score from the first two games is 110 points, which is the highest total of points in the last 20 years for the first two games.

Team	Points	Record	Season Record
2007	110	2-0	?-?

After Four Games...

‣ WVU has tallied 189 points in just four games this season, an average of 47.3 points per game.

In fact, WVU's 189 points are the most after four games in the Rich Rodriguez era and the most since WVU scored 193 points in its first four games of the 1988 season.

Team	Points	Record	Season Record
2007	189	4-0	?-?

The BIG EAST's Thoroughbreds

‣ It's not surprising that West Virginia's rushing offense leads the BIG EAST conference after four games, averaging 357 yards per game which is 129 yards better than its next closest opposition.

As a result, WVU is the league's only school to boast having three rushers in the top 10. Junior Steve Slaton is second in the conference with 125.5 yards per game, followed by Patrick White at 71.5 yards per game at sixth. True freshman Noel Devine is seventh at 66.8 yards per game and the league leader in yards per carry at 11.1.

In all-purpose yardage, WVU, once again, boasts three players in the top 10; Slaton is fourth with 156.2 yards per game, Darius Reynaud is seventh with 123.2 yards per game and Devine is 10th at 104.2 per contest.

In league scoring, Slaton is second at 15.0 points per game, White is tied for seventh at 9.0 and kicker Pat McAfee is 10th at 8.2.

Heisman Hype

‣ West Virginia running back Steve Slaton ranked fourth in Heisman voting in 2006 to become the ninth BIG EAST player in the top five since the league's inception in 1991.

Miami's Gino Toretta (1992) is only winner in league history, while the Big East has also had one second-place finish (Pitt's Larry Fitzgerald in 2003) and two third-place finishes (Miami's Ken Dorsey in 2001 and Virginia Tech's Michael Vick in 1999).

Rushing For 300

‣ When WVU rolls up 300 or more yards rushing in a contest during the Rich Rodriguez era, like it has done in all four games to open the 2007 season, good things happen for the Mountaineers.

As proof, WVU is 26-2 since 2001 when reaching the 300-yard rushing mark, including five consecutive victories when topping that plateau.

WVU has also rushed for 300 or more yards in 16 of its last 20 games.

Halftime Adjustments

‣ Rich Rodriguez is as good as any other offensive coach in the country at making halftime adjustments.

In 2007, Rodriguez' adjustments have allowed his team to post big second half numbers en route to victory.

WVU's offense has posted more yards in the second half than in the first half in three of four games so far this season.

WVU has outscored its opponents 114-34 in the second half through four games and has rolled up 1,188 of its 2,100 yards of total offense in the second half.

The Mountaineers have done a lot of the damage on the ground, rushing for 936 yards after halftime this season (234 per game avg.).

The best second half so far this season came against Marshall when after making some halftime adjustments, West Virginia rolled up an impressive 300+plus rushing yards in the second half on the Herd and 42 second-half points.

Tailback Steve Slaton has gotten better the deeper he goes into the game, as well, this season. He has 308 second half rushing yards and six touchdowns while still having 194 yards and two touchdowns in the first two quarters.

Florida Mountaineers

‣ There are 19 Florida natives on the Mountaineer roster.

Those calling the Sunshine State home are Alric Arnett and Mitchell St. Lot (Belle Glade); J.T. Thomas (Fort Lauderdale); Noel Devine (N. Fort Myers); Boogie Allen and Guesly Dervil (Jacksonville); Charles Pugh (Kissimmee); Johnny Dingle (Miami); Eain Smith (Miramar); Quinton Andrews and Mike Poitier (Opa Locka); John Holmes (Rockledge); Jock Sanders (St. Petersburg); Derek Hayes, Kent Richardson (Tallahassee); Eddie Davis and Tito Gonzales (Tampa); and Jarrett Brown and Scott Kozlowski (West Palm Beach).

Longest Non TD Run from Scrimmage

‣ Three of WVU's top 12 longest non-touchdown runs from scrimmage have come in the last two seasons, headlined by Noel Devine's 76-yarder at Maryland.

First and Second Rushing Half Comparisons

‣ After four games, it's apparent what half WVU rushes the ball better in - the second. Here's a breakdown of WVU's rushing comparisons from the first and second halves.

Opp.	1st	2nd	Total
WMU	87	229	316

Fantastic First Quarters

‣ Patrick White's 151 passing yards in the first quarter against Western Michigan were the most yards he's ever passed for in one quarter and fourth time he has crossed the century mark in one quarter. His backfield partner, Steve Slaton, has run for over 100 yards in a quarter three times in his career, twice in the first quarter. The most yards Slaton has ever rushed for in one quarter was in the first against Maryland (2006), when he carried the football eight times for 149 yards and an 18.6 yards-per-carry average with two TDs.

Devine Intervention

‣ True freshman running back Noel Devine has been better than advertised four games into the 2007 campaign.

At Maryland, the North Fort Myers, Fla., native was electric averaging an astounding 27.2 yards per carry after racking up 136 yards on just five carries. Devine had 107 yards after just two carries against the Terps including a school record 76-yard rush which tied Jim Moss' school record for the longest-non touchdown run (vs. William & Mary/1962).

Through four games this season, Devine is third on the team in rushing, showing 267 yards on just 24 carries (11.1 yards-per-rush avg.) with three toucdowns. He is third on the team in all-purpose yardage per game, showing 104.2 yards per game.

Devine Intervention II

‣ True freshman running back Noel Devine used just five carries to record 136 rushing yards (27.2 per carry) in the win at Maryland. In fact, Devine had 107 yards rushing on just two carries (31, 76) becoming the first player in school history to break the century mark on just two carries.

He became one of just six Mountaineers to record 100+ rushing yards while tallying single digit carries.

Pick Your Poison

▸ West Virginia has a plethora of offensive weapons at its disposal in 2007. So many, in fact, it can cause a lot of sleepless nights for opposing defensive coordinators.

Want to stop the run? Patrick White can beat you with his arm, proven by the fact that he is WVU's single game, single season and career leader in completion percentage.

Want to stop the pass? There are five Mountaineers that already have reached 100 yards rushing on the season topped by Steve Slaton's 502.

And don't forget the lethal all-around game of Darius Reynaud who is deadly on reverses and WVU's top target, so far, in the passing game.

Among the Top 20

▸ WVU is one of just four schools nationally, after four weeks, to be ranked in the top 20 in scoring offense, total offense, scoring defense and total defense.

WVU is ninth in scoring offense (47.25), 10th in total offense (525.00), 15th in total defense (273.25) and 20th in scoring defense (17.0).

Other schools ranking in the same four categories are Oklahoma, Kansas and Rutgers.

Numbers Through the First Four Games Under Rod

▸ West Virginia's 2,100 yards of total offense in 2007 is the most yards through the first four games during the Rich Rodriguez era. WVU has averaged 1,680 yards (420 ypg) over the past six years of Coach Rod's tenure, through a season's first four games.

Through a season's first four games, WVU also has set a Rod era high in rushing yards with 1,428 on 198 attempts through four games. Rodriguez' offenses averaged just over 1,006 yards (251 ypg) rushing the previous six years.

Mountaineer Musings ...

▸ West Virginia has rushed for 2,052 yards against East Carolina in its last six meetings, an average of 342 rushing yards per contest. The Mountaineers ran for 536 yards vs. East Carolina in 2002, the most during the Rodriguez era.

The Mountaineers also put together 3,020 total yards in those six meetings for an average of 503.3 total yards per contest.

In WVU's last seven meetings with the Pirates, the Mountaineers are averaging 39.7 points per game.

▸ West Virginia is 4-0 for the fourth consecutive season and the fifth time since 1996. West Virginia has started the season 26 times with a 4-0 record; in 11 of those years the Mountaineers won their fifth game to improve to 5-0.

When WVU starts 4-0, it has been to a bowl game in 10 straight seasons. The last time WVU did not go to a bowl game when starting the year with four wins came in 1970 when the Mountaineers finished 8-3.

In those seasons when starting 4-0, the Mountaineers have gone on to post a combined 191-57-2 (.768) record.

▸ If West Virginia can make it 5-0, it will mark the 13th time in school history that a Mountaineer team has started the season with five victories and the second season in a row.

Other WVU teams that started the season with five victories: 2006 (7-0, finished 11-2), 1996 (7-0, finished 8-4), 1993 (11-0, finished 11-1), 1988 (11-0, finished 11-1), 1983 (6-0, finished 9-3), 1962 (5-0, finished 8-2), 1955 (7-0, finished 8-2), 1953 (7-0, finished 8-2), 1926 (5-0, finished 6-4), 1911 (5-0, finished 6-3), 1905 (7-0, finished 8-1) and 1903 (5-0, finished 7-1).

▸ If West Virginia wins at USF, it will finish the month of September undefeated for the fourth consecutive year. Only six other Mountaineer teams have won four games in September, including the 2006 (4-0), 2005 (4-0), 2004 (4-0), 1989 (4-0-1), 1988 (4-0) and 1983 (4-0) teams.

Since 1961, the first year WVU played three games in September, there have been 20 Mountaineer teams that have gone undefeated during the month.

▸ West Virginia has won just five games in the state of Florida, with three of those wins coming in the last three years. The Mountaineers' five victories in the Sunshine State came last year against Georgia Tech in the Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, two years ago at USF, in 2004 at UCF, in 1997 at Miami and in 1973 at Miami.

All losses in Florida have come against Miami or in bowl games.

West Virginia is 5-16 all-time in games played in Florida. The Mountaineers have won three of their last four appearances in Florida.

▸ This will be WVU's 51st game on a Friday and the second year in a row WVU has played on a Friday (37-11 win at Connecticut on Oct. 20, 2006). All-time, WVU is 25-24-1 in games played on Friday.

Last season, the Rivers 50-yard punt return for a touchdown at Mississippi State was WVU's ninth special teams touchdown under Rich Rodriguez in his six+ seasons in Morgantown.

Including Reynaud's 96-yard kickoff return TD in the Maryland win, West Virginia has scored at least one special teams TD in each of the last four years under Rodriguez and five of his six years total.

West Virginia's special teams have also blocked at least one kick or punt in the past five seasons under Rodriguez. A high of four kicks were blocked in 2002 by Mountaineer special teams, followed by three in 2004. Under Rodriguez, three blocks coming on special teams have gone for Mountaineer touchdowns.

McAfee Hits Two Field Goals Against ECU; Has Season-High 12 Points

▸ Pat McAfee finished the East Carolina game with a season-high 12 points, two field goals and six extra points. He registered eight points against Western Michigan, had six points at Marshall and seven points at Maryland. All of his points in the first two games were from extra points and at Maryland, he finished with one field goal and four extra points.

His career point total stands at 227, which includes 31 field goals and 134 extra points. He is fourth on the WVU career kick scoring list with 227 career points; Paul Woodside (1981-84) is the WVU career leader with 323. McAfee is third in career extra points made with 134. Jay Taylor (1996-99) holds the school record with 151 career extra points made. McAfee needs two more to move into second place on the extra point record and pass Charlie Baumann (1985-88).

Last season, McAfee's 51-yard field goal in the second quarter at Pitt marked a career long and was the longest field goal in Heinz Field history by either a professional or collegian. It also was the fifth-longest in school history; WVU's career long was a 55-yarder by Paul Woodside against Louisville in 1984.

Eight times in his career, McAfee has made multiple field goals in a game.

Thirteen different players have registered one breakup this season. Eric Wicks leads the Mountaineers with two interceptions, while Reed Williams, Mortty Ivy and Antonio Lewis each have one.

Turnover Battle

‣ West Virginia has collected more turnovers in each game this season than it has given away.

For the season, the Mountaineers have accumulated eight turnovers (five interceptions/three fumbles) and have given away four fumbles to hold a 8-4 advantage.

Against WMU, WVU gave away two fumbles but registered two interceptions and forced a fumble to win the turnover battle 3-2. At Marshall, West Virginia recovered a fumble, the only turnover of the game to win the turnover battle, 1-0.

At Maryland, the Mountaineers recovered a fumble on the Terps first play from scrimmage. WVU's Eric Wicks finished with two interceptions. WVU won the turnover battle, 3-2. WVU had one interception against East Carolina without giving up a turnover.

Looking At The 4-0 Start

‣ West Virginia is 4-0 this season, marking the 26th time in school history the Mountaineers have opened the season with four-straight victories.

If West Virginia qualifies for a bowl this year, the Mountaineers would have been to a bowl 10-straight times when starting a season 4-0. The last time WVU did not go to a bowl when starting the year with four victories came in 1970 when the Mountaineers finished 8-3.

The Mountaineers will be looking to start the season 5-0 for the second-consecutive year.

The Sack Is Back

‣ West Virginia has 16 sacks through four games this season. At this point in the season last year, the Mountaineers had not recorded a sack.

WVU is No. 1 in the BIG EAST Conference in sacks and is tied for No. 8 in the nation.

Marc Magro, Mortty Ivy and Johnny Dingle each have four sacks to lead the Mountaineers. All three are ranked No. 3 in the BIG EAST conference and are tied for No. 13 nationally.

Defensive Standouts

‣ The West Virginia defense was outstanding against East Carolina and turned in its best performance of the season. The Mountaineers held East Carolina to just 29 total first half yards and 160 yards of total offense (54 passing/106 rushing). The WVU defense held the Pirates scoreless on nine-straight possessions, and until the final minute of the game when ECU scored its first points with just 59 seconds left. Mortty Ivy recorded his first career interception in the contest and along with Eric Wicks, led the team in tackles with six.

Against Maryland, the defense recovered a fumble on the game's opening play to set up a score for the offense, and then went on to hold the Terrapins scoreless on eight straight possessions from midway through the first quarter until the 5:50 mark of the fourth quarter. Williams led the unit with nine tackles, Eric Wicks recorded two interceptions, Magro collected six tackles and two sacks, while lineman Johnny Dingle had six tackles, a fumble recovery and two TFL in the victory.

Against Marshall, the Mountaineers defense was once again led by Reed Williams with 15 tackles, 2 TFL and one forced fumble. Safety Ryan Mundy turned in his best game of his young Mountaineer career with eight stops and one fumble recovery.

Leading the way for the West Virginia defense against Western Michigan was the linebackers as the top five tacklers for the Mountaineers in the game came from that unit. Mortty Ivy was impressive with 10 tackles followed by Marc Magro with nine. Reed Williams turned in eight stops to go along with the first interception of his career while John Holmes and Anthony Leonard combined for 10 stops. Overall, WVU's top five tacklers against WMU contributed 37 tackles, three sacks, 2 TFL, one interception and one pass deflection.

Negative Yards

‣ Every defensive unit loves to talk negative -- as in negative yards.

West Virginia's defense turned in its strongest performance of the season to date against East Carolina by holding the Pirates to just 54 passing yards and 160 total yards. The Mountaineers recorded four sacks for -30 yards and two more TFL for a total of -36 yards collected against the Pirate attack.

In this week's NCAA rankings, the Mountaineer defense stands 28th nationally in tackles for loss with 30 on the year and eighth in sacks with 16 after four games. Mountaineer opponents have lost 128 yards rushing against the defense. Lineman Johnny Dingle along with linebackers Mortty Ivy and Marc Magro all have four sacks on the years which ties them for 13th nationally in this week's NCAA rankings.

Against Maryland, the Mountaineer defense collected -30 yards with four sacks for -22 yards and another four TFL for -8 yards. Leading the way was linebacker Marc Magro with two quarterback sacks for -17 yards.

Against Marshall, the West Virginia defense accounted for -33 yards with four sacks (-15) and five additional TFLs (-18). Leading the way was Reed Williams and Johnny Dingle each with two TFLs.

Against Western Michigan, the Mountaineer defense got down right negative turning in 10 total stops (three sacks/seven TFL) for loss yardage. Three sacks totaled -16 yards while seven TFLs totaled -29 yards giving the Mountaineer defensive a total of -45 yards against the Western Michigan offense.

Leading Linebackers

‣ Reed Williams leads the team in tackles with 35 after four games, which is good for 69th in this week's NCAA rankings in total tackles. Williams is averaging 8.75 tackles per game. Fellow linebackers Mortty Ivy and Marc Magro are second and third on the team in tackles meaning that the team's linebacking corps is holding down the top three defensive tackle leader positions. On the season, the trio of Williams, Magro and Ivy have combined for 88 tackles.

Leave The Running To Us

‣ So far after four games in the 2007 season, the West Virginia defense likes for all the running to be done by its offense. Against Western Michigan, the Broncos managed just 32 yards rushing. The following week at Marshall, the Herd gained only 121 yards on the ground. At Maryland, the Terps finished with only 89 yards rushing with an average of 2.3 yards per rush in the game. In the East Carolina game, the Pirates rushed 33 times for only 106 yards and a 3.2 yards per carry average. Adding in only 54 yards passing, the Pirates finished with just 160 yards of total offense.

The Mountaineers are allowing only 87.0 yards rushing per game and 2.6 yards per rush. While the WVU offense has rushed for 1,428 yards on the season, opponents have rushed for just 348 yards against the WVU defense. West Virginia is currently ranked 19th nationally in rushing defense. The last 100-yard rusher on the WVU defense was Georgia Tech's Tashard Choice in the 2007 Toyota Gator Bowl.

Less is More

‣ Through four games in 2007, West Virginia has been penalized 17 times for 152 yards for an average of 4.25 penalties per game. That ranks West Virginia No. 4 nationally for fewest penalities per game and 13th with fewest penalty yards per game. Both numbers lead the BIG EAST.

Game 1 - The Western Michigan Game

West Virginia 62, Western Michigan 24 • Sept. 1, 2007 • Morgantown, W.Va.

West Virginia opened the 2007 season with a convincing 62-24 victory over Western Michigan.

Behind 289 yards of total offense from quarterback Patrick White and 170 yards of total offense from tailback Steve Slaton, the Mountaineers scored their most points in a season opener since 1988 and the two combined for eight touchdowns.

West Virginia started the scoring at the 9:35 mark of the first quarter when White connected with receiver Dorrell Jalloh for a 19-yard touchdown. The Broncos got on the board later in the quarter on a 14-yard touchdown pass but still trailed 7-6 when the conversion failed.

The Mountaineers extended their lead to 14-6 on the next possession when White hooked up with Slaton on a 50-yard scoring toss to end the first quarter scoring.

White's 38-yard touchdown run followed by a one-yard plunge from Slaton extended WVU's advantage to 28-6, before the Broncos closed the gap to 28-14 at intermission after quarterback Tim Hiller's two-yard score and a successful two-point conversion.

Slaton broke loose in the third quarter for a 58-yard scoring run at the 9:54 mark, before linebacker Reed Williams intercepted a Hiller pass deep in Bronco territory to set up White's 22-yard scamper on the next play, giving WVU a commanding 42-14 advantage.

The Broncos put together an 11-play, 65-yard drive capped off by a six-yard TD pass to Jamarko Simmons to pull within 42-21, but Slaton closed out third-quarter scoring with a one-yard plunge, giving West Virginia a 49-21 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

Backup quarterback Jarrett Brown conducted a 12-play, 66-yard drive in the fourth quarter and finished it with a 20-yard scoring run for a 56-21 Mountaineer lead. After a 34-yard WMU field goal at the 4:26 mark, West Virginia closed out the scoring when true freshman Noel Divine scored his first collegiate touchdown on an eight-yard run.

White completed 10-of-18 passes for 192 yards and two TDs, while rushing for 97 yards and two more scores. Slaton totaled 109 yards rushing and three scores to lead the ground attack, while also hauling in one TD reception. Receiver Darius Reynaud caught five passes for 92 yards, while linebackers Mortty Ivy and Marc Magro paced the defense with 19 combined tackles.

For the Broncos, Hiller passed for 160 yards, while Simmons led all receivers with 14 catches for 144 yards and two scores. Austin Pritchard and Anthony Gebhart led the WMU defense with 21 combined tackles.

Final totals showed West Virginia with 316 yards rushing and 226 yards passing for 542 yards of total offense. The Western Michigan ground game was stuffed all day by the Mountaineer defense and only totaled 32 rushing yards, but the Broncos did manage 245 passing to finish with 277 yards of total offense.

With the win, the Mountaineers improved to 23-3 in their last 26 games, and it marked the sixth time under Rich Rodriguez that WVU has scored 50 or more points in a game.

The victory also gave the Mountaineers an eight-game non-conference winning streak, and a 17-4 non-conference slate in the month of September under Rodriguez. The seventh-year head coach improved his overall nonconferene mark to 22-12, and WVU now stands at 2-0 in the short series against Western Michigan.

Steve Slaton rushed for 109 yards and three touchdowns and caught two passes for 61 yards and scored another touchdown to account for four scores against Western Michigan.

Game 2 - The Marshall Game - "Coal Bowl 2"

West Virginia 48, Marshall 23 • Sept. 8, 2007 • Huntington, W.Va.

No. 3/4 West Virginia scored 42 second-half points to hand Marshall its worst home loss ever at Joan C. Edwards Stadium by a 48-23 count in the second "Friends of Coal Bowl."

It was the first trip to Huntington in 92 years for the Mountaineers, who trailed 13-6 at the half. However, behind 146 yards rushing from tailback Steve Slaton, 134 yards receiving from Darius Reynaud and 274 yards of total offense from quarterback Patrick White, the Mountaineers never panicked and powered their way to victory number two of the 2007 season.

Marshall returned the opening kickoff 77 yards to set up the game's first score. After the WVU defense held, Herd kicker Anthony Binswanger connected on a 32-yard field goal, giving Marshall a 3-0 early lead.

West Virginia responded with 9:23 left in the opening quarter, when White hit Reynaud down the middle for a 46-yard touchdown pass, giving the Mountaineers a 6-3 lead after the conversion failed.

Marshall hit for two second quarter scores to finish out the first half scoring. Quarterback Bernard Morris hit Darius Passmore for a 38-yard touchdown strike, and Binswanger added a 26-yard field goal as time expired for the 13-6 Herd lead at the half.

In the second half, the Mountaineers took the opening possession and marched 66 yards in seven plays to tie the game when White hit Reynaud from 23 yards out.

Marshall answered with a Binswanger 34-yard field goal for a 16-13 lead, but the Mountaineers scored on two-straight possessions to open up a 27-16 lead.

White scored on a 20-yard touchdown run to finish off an eight-play drive, and Slaton ended a six-play, 50-yard drive with a two-yard score.

The Herd struck again with 3:14 left in the third quarter when Morris found a streaking Cody Slate down the sideline for a 42-yard touchdown pass to pull Marshall within four at 27-23.

However, the West Virginia offense continued to take control in the fourth quarter, while the Mountaineer defense blanked the Herd the rest of the way.

Three West Virginia scores in the fourth quarter broke the game open. The first was a Noel Devine 12-yard scamper up the middle, followed by an 18-yard Slaton touchdown run to cap off WVU's longest scoring drive of the game (nine plays, 80 yards). Devine, who finished with 76 yards, closed out the scoring with 1:40 left in the game as his second score came on a 10-yard run to the right corner of the end zone.

Reynaud had a career day, leading all receivers with nine catches for 134 yards and two scores. Slaton became just the third back in WVU history to surpass 3,000 career rushing yards. White rushed for 125 yards and one score, along with 149 yards passing and two touchdowns. Linebacker Reed Williams led the defense with 15 tackles, two TFL and a forced fumble

For Marshall, Morris passed for 256 yards and two scores, Darius Marshall finished with 80 yards rushing and receviers Cody Slate and Passmore combined for 158 yards receiving. Maurice Kitchens led the Herd defense with 14 tackles.

West Virginia finished with 362 yards rushing and 149 yards passing to total 511 yards of offense, while the Herd ran for 121 yards and passed for 266 to total 387 yards of offense.

With the win, West Virginia leads the all-time series against Marshall by a 7-0 count, and the Mountaineers are 2-0 all-time against the Herd in Huntington. WVU has outscored the Herd, 342-87, in the series for an average score of 48.9-12.4.

Game 3 - The Maryland Game

West Virginia 31, Maryland 14 • Sept. 13, 2007 • College Park, Md.

No. 4/4 West Virginia recorded its fourth-straight victory in the Maryland series with a decisive 31-14 victory over the Terrapins at Byrd Stadium.

The Mountaineers unleashed a strong running game on the Terps in which junior standout Steve Slaton rushed for 137 yards and three touchdowns, followed by true freshman Noel Devine with 136 yards. The Terp defense entered the game top-ranked in the ACC against the run, but the unit was no match for West Virginia's spread attack.

West Virginia scored the game's first points when Maryland fumbled the snap on its opening play of the game, and the ball was recovered by defensive lineman Johnny Dingle. Two plays later, quarterback Patrick White rushed in from 22 yards away for an early 7-0 WVU lead.

Maryland answered quickly though and tied the game at 7-7 with 9:53 left in the first quarter, when the Terps put together an 11-play, 75-yard drive that ended with a Keon Lattimore four-yard scoring run.

West Virginia's defense stood tall after the Maryland scoring drive and kept the Terps at bay until the final minutes of the game. The Terps went scoreless on their next eight possessions, while the WVU offense slowly took control of the game.

WVU took a 14-7 lead with 5:02 left in the first half, when Slaton rushed in from 22 yards away. The drive covered 78 yards and was highlighted by a 35-yard completion from White to receiver Darius Reynaud.

The opening possession of the third quarter was a big one, as West Virginia marched 63 yards to take a 21-7 lead behind Slaton's one-yard rush. Big plays in the drive were a 21-yard completion to receiver Dorrell Jalloh and a 31-yard rush by Devine.

Later in the third quarter, West Virginia extended its lead to 28-7 when Devine blitzed through the Terp defense for a 76-yard run to set up a Slaton one-yard scoring play. With the rushing touchdowns, Slaton became just the fourth back in WVU history to amass 40 or more career rushing touchdowns, while Devine's run tied a school record for longest non-scoring run.

While the WVU defense continued to pressure the Terp offensive attack, the Mountaineer offense added a 32-yard Pat McAfee field goal with 10:39 left in the contest to essentially ice the game.

The Terps scored again with 5:50 left in the contest when quarterback Jordan Steffy hit Danny Oquendo for a 22-yard scoring strike. After the Terps recovered the on-sides kick, the Mountaineer defense once again stiffened to secure the win by holding the Terps on four downs.

Aside from the impressive numbers from Slaton and Devine, Owen Schmitt had a big 44-yard rush, and Reynaud finished with four catches for 55 yards. Linebacker Reed Williams led the defensive effort with nine tackles followed by Mortty Ivy with eight stops.

For Maryland, Steffy finished with 180 yards passing, while Lattimore had 80 yards rushing on 21 carries. Erin Henderson led all tacklers with 11 stops.

West Virginia rushed for 353 yards and passed for 95 yards to total 448 yards of total offense. Maryland rushed for 89 yards and passed for 180 to total 269 yards of offense.

With the win, West Virginia has won four straight in the series for the first time ever and leads the tight series against Maryland 23-21-2.

The victory also evened West Virginia's all-time record at College Park at 11-11-1. The victory gave Rich Rodriguez a 4-4 mark against Maryland's Ralph Friedgen after the Terp coach won the first four meetings.
