A MOMENT IN UTAH FOOTBALL HISTORY

Utah was ranked No. 14 in the Coaches' poll when it defeated West Virginia 32-6 in the 1964 Liberty Bowl. It was the first major college football bowl game ever played indoors and the first broadcast nationwide, televised by ABC.

The game was played in the Atlantic City Convention Hall in front of a crowd of 6,059. The playing surface was a four-inch thick grass surface with two inches of burlap underneath it on top of the cement floor.
