NATIONAL COACH OF THE YEAR

1977: Ron Shumate

Shumate led Chattanooga to the DII National Championship in 1977. His Mocs won 27 games, easily the school record at the time. His team completed a 2-year period at 50-14 (.781) after finishing 1976 as national runner-up.

His teams played as an independent scheduling several DI programs. The 1976 edition won at Dayton, while the national champs came within 10 points of upsets at No. 13 Louisville and again at the Flyers. They won their last 11 games to claim the title.

Five of the 10 best scoring numbers in program history came under his watch. Seven of the Mocs 11 All-America nods came under Shumate.

LOU HENSON MID-MAJOR NATIONAL PLAYER OF THE YEAR

2022: Malachi Smith

Malachi Smith was named The 2022 Lou Henson National Player of the Year, awarded by as Collegeinsider.com. The award is presented annually to the top mid-major player in NCAA Division I basketball.

Smith became the second Southern Conference player to win the award since its inaugural crowning in 2010.

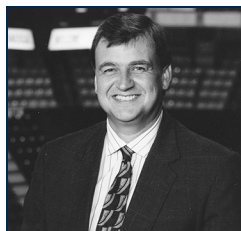

Smith was the only player in NCAA Division I basketball that posted at least 600 points, 200 rebounds, 50 assists, 50 steals and 50 3PT FG made and one of eight players with a 50% FG, 40% 3PT, 80% FT stat line.

Smith scored the most points in a single season (DI era) in program history with 696 and amassed 1,115 career points at UTC in just two seasons.
