REX BROTHERS

Rex Brothers spent seven seasons in the MLB ranks, making his big league debut with the Colorado Rockies at age 23 in 2011. He spent the first five seasons of his career with the Rockies before pitching for the Atlanta Braves in 2017-18.

Drafted in the first round with the 34th overall pick by the Rockies in 2009, Brothers experience immense success out of the Colorado bullpen. He posted a 2.88 ERA with 59 strikeouts over 40.2 innings during his rookie campaign, emerging as a trusted option in high-leverage situations.

Brothers went 8-2 over a career-best 75 appearances in 2012 before notching a career-high 19 saves and a miniscule 1.74 ERA over 72 appearances in 2013.

For his career, the hard-throwing southpaw tallied a 20-14 record with 20 saves over 314 appearances (all in relief). Brothers conceded only 244 hits while whiffing 311 batters over 266 innings of work.

A Shelbyville, Tenn. native, Brothers graduated from Shelbyville High School before prepping collegiately at Lipscomb University. He was the Atlantic Sun Conference Freshman of the Year and a Louisville Slugger All-Freshman in 2007 before helping guide the Bisons to their first-ever A-Sun championship and NCAA Regional appearance for the first time in school history as a sophomore. During his junior campaign, he shattered the program record with 133 strikeouts over 94 innings, propelling him to a professional career.
