UT MARTIN SKYHAWKS HEAD COACH RYAN RIDDER

Ryan Ridder enters his second season as the University of Tennessee at Martin head men's basketball coach in 2022-23. He was announced as the 12th head coach in program history on March 30, 2021.

In Ridder's debut season as a Skyhawk, he led a team that was the first NCAA Division I squad to not return a single player from the previous season since the 2014-15 campaign. As a direct result, UT Martin produced seven of the Ohio Valley Conference's 16 Newcomer of the Week award winners - marking the second-most honorees in that category in school history (just one shy of the 2014-15 squad).

Ridder's 2021-22 Skyhawks faced a grueling schedule that shaped up to be the one of the toughest in recent memory. Eight of UT Martin's nine nonconference NCAA Division I opponents owned a .500 record or better, combining for a 175-126 mark (.581 winning percentage). Overall, the Skyhawks played in 12 games against opponents who would eventually play in the postseason.

UT Martin showed glimpses of breaking through in 2021-22, starting the OVC season with a 2-0 record for just the third time in school history (first time since 2002-03). The Skyhawks won their first two conference road games for the first time in the school's Division I Era (since 1992). UT Martin defeated eventual College Basketball Insider participant UNC Asheville by double figures and led for 25:43 of clock time against a nationally ranked Murray State squad that ended the season boasting the best winning percentage (.912, 31-3 record) in the NCAA Division I ranks before eventually falling by a narrow 62-60 margin on Feb. 19.

Ridder coached dynamic junior guard KJ Simon (who was a part of his Bethune-Cookman squad but sat out the previous season) in his debut season as the Skyhawks' bench leader. Simon racked up All-OVC first team and OVC All-Newcomer honors, joining two-time All-American Lester Hudson as the only players in school history to win both of those awards in the same season. Simon also chalked up National Association of Basketball Coaches All-District 18 second team accolades as he was the only NCAA Division I player in the country to average at least 16.5 points, 4.5 rebounds, 1.5 assists, 1.5 steals and 1.4 blocks per game.

Off the court, UT Martin earned the NABC Team Academic Excellence Award in 2021-22. The Skyhawks were the only current OVC institution to earn the honor as UT Martin posted a cumulative 3.22 Grade Point Average for the year.

Ridder joined the Skyhawks after four successful seasons as head coach at Bethune-Cookman University, a NCAA Division I member of the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference. During his tenure in Daytona Beach, Fla., Ridder set numerous school records, posted a .646 winning percentage in league play and won the 2017-18 MEAC regular season championship. He was spotlighted by ESPN to its top "40 Under 40" list of the nation's head and assistant coaches in May 2020.

A Lexington, Ky. native, Ridder owns a 151-95 record as a collegiate head coach, which also includes four seasons at Daytona State College. He boasted the most wins (48) in the first three years in Bethune-Cookman history before the school opted out of all sports for the 2020-21 campaign. From 2017-20, Ridder's Wildcat squads posted a winning MEAC record for three consecutive seasons for the first time in school history, going 31-17 during that span.

Ridder's debut season as a Division I head coach was historical as he helped guide Bethune-Cookman to just the second MEAC regular season championship in its 38-year history. For his efforts, he was named the Joe B. Hall Award winner, defeating candidates from schools such as Miami, Louisville, Oklahoma State and Washington for the honor that recognizes the top first-year head coach in the Division I ranks.

Overall, Ridder tutored five All-MEAC players, one MEAC Player of the Year, two MEAC Defensive Players of the Year and one MEAC All-Rookie team member at Bethune-Cookman. He led the Wildcats to their first-ever win over a Conference USA opponent (FAU) and increased the school's NCAA RPI rating by over 60 points while in charge of the program.

Ridder, 37, began his head coaching career in 2013-14 at Daytona State College - accumulating a 95-28 overall record at the NJCAA level. He brought home Mid-Florida Conference championships in each of his four seasons after inheriting a program that went 6-25 during the previous season.

The Falcons were consistently ranked regionally and nationally under Ridder as he earned four consecutive conference Coach of the Year accolades. He mentored 25 all-conference performers, 16 players who advanced to play at four-year institutions and two NJCAA All-Americans while boasting a 96 percent graduation rate amongst his student-athletes.

Ridder got his start at the Division I level with three seasons as an assistant working under head coach Robbie Laing at Campbell University, located in Buies Creek, NC. He was an integral part of a Fighting Camels staff that signed the highest ranked recruiting class (64th nationally) in the ASUN Conference in 2013-14.

By the time Ridder departed to accept his first head coaching gig, Campbell was tabbed as the Big South Conference preseason favorite and had defeated Power 5 opponents such as Iowa and Auburn. The Fighting Camels got off to their best start in school history in 2011-12 and produced the Big South Freshman of the Year.

Ridder's first collegiate job came at Embry-Riddle University, where he was a volunteer assistant under his father Steve Ridder in 2009-10. The Eagles collected a 30-6 overall record and continued its tradition as a national college basketball powerhouse at the NAIA Division II level. Steve is still the head coach at Embry-Riddle and has tallied 716 career victories to go along with a .708 winning percentage (ninth-best amongst active head collegiate coaches with at least 600 career wins).

Ridder began his collegiate playing career at the College of Wooster in 2003-05 before finishing up under his father at Embry-Riddle. After graduating with a degree in aerospace studies in 2008, he moved to North Carolina to embark on a coaching career. He was an assistant at North Raleigh Christian, trained youth players while working for the Hoop City U basketball training academy and additionally was the head coach for numerous teams engaged in international competition with 365 Sports for the 2008-09 academic year. He earned his Master's degree in sport management with a concentration in intercollegiate athletic administration from California University of Pennsylvania in 2009.

Ridder and his wife, the former Jen Calnan of Daytona Beach, Fla., have two daughters - Brixton and Remi.

The highly anticipated 2022-23 University of Tennessee at Martin men's basketball campaign began on Sept. 26 when the Skyhawks held their first official practice, 42 days ahead of the season opener at Pitt. UT Martin enters this season with championship aspirations as the Skyhawks have been tabbed as the preseason favorites in the Ohio Valley Conference by Blue Ribbon and The Almanac. UT Martin returns nine players and four starters from last season while welcoming five newcomers who each boast Division I playing experience.

KJ Simon returns for his senior campaign as the reigning All-OVC first teamer was the only Division I player in the nation to average at least 16.5 points, 4.5 rebounds, 1.5 assists, 1.5 steals and 1.4 blocks per game. Parker Stewart, who achieved All-OVC status after averaging 19.2 points per game as a Skyhawk in 2019-20, returns to campus after logging 31 starts at Indiana last season. That dynamic backcourt duo has received national attention from three college basketball preseason publications (Blue Ribbon, The Almanac, Lindy's Sports). That pair joins returning starters KK Curry (9.7 points and 4.9 rebounds per contest), Koby Jeffries (6.3 points, team-best 3.0 assists per outing) and Chris Nix (7.3 points and 5.2 rebounds per game, team-high .527 field goal percentage) in 2022-23.
