HEAD COACH YVETTE HEALY

Yvette Healy enters her fourteenth season at the helm of the program with the highest winning percentage of any UW coach in the program's 28-year history with a .602 (389-257-1) winning percentage.

In 2023, Wisconsin finished with fifth place finish and Big Ten Tournament appearance and a 27-20 overall, 12-10 (B1G) record. The Badgers went on a nine-game winning streak before falling to No. 9 Texas, 5-1. In the Bevo Classic, however, Wisconsin upset No. 13 Alabama, 7-6. UW would score five runs in the fourth and fifth innings, but none bigger than a two-run sixth to take the lead and secure an upset over the Tide. Katie Keller got into scoring position with a one-out double to left center, and then Kayla Konwent two-run home run over All-American Montana Fouts. The win over Alabama marked just the second win over the Crimson Tide.

The Badgers would go on to see two earn All-Big Ten First Team, Maddie Schwartz and Katie Keller. The two would also go on to earn NFCA All-Region honors, with the addition to Kayla Konwent being added to that list. Konwent continued her offensive prowess into her Graduate year as she earned All-American (third team) honors for the second time in her career.

Of the nine times that Wisconsin has made to NCAA postseason, Healy has led the softball program to six NCAA appearances. In 2022, the Badgers finished eighth in the Big Ten, but awarded an at-large bid to the Gainesville Regional. In Florida, the Badgers dropped its opening game against Georgia Tech, 2-1, but fought off two elimination games against Canisius, 3-0 and Georgia Tech, 7-6 before falling to No. 14 Florida in the Gainesville Regional Final.

The Badgers combined for a 32-32 over the course of 2021 and 2020. Wisconsin competed in 24 games before the COVID pandemic canceled the remaining of the season. In 2021, the Big Ten decided to play Big Ten games only where the Badgers tallied 18 wins, including a series win over Nebraska.

Healy's best season so far has come in 2019 where the Badgers put up 43 wins, the second-most in program history, including wins over No. 17 NC State, No. 9 Texas, and No. 15 Arizona State. The Badgers would wrap the Big Ten Season in fifth place at 15-8. Wisconsin would go on to win its first two games in the Big Ten Tournament with wins over Iowa and Ohio State before falling to top-seeded Michigan in the semifinals.

With three top-25 victories and a strong finish in the Big Ten, the Badgers earned a trip to the NCAA Regionals in Norman, Okla. and pitted against the No. 1 overall seed, Oklahoma. Healy would lead her team with a win-or-go-home comeback victory over the Sooners. Oklahoma took an early 1-0 lead in the first, but it was in the sixth inning when the Badgers played small ball, squeezing in two runs and defeat Oklahoma, 2-0. The Badgers have only taken down a top-ranked opponent one other time in school history and ended OU's 41-game win streak to cap off one of the most historic seasons in school history. 2021 saw Big Ten Player of the Year, Kayla Konwent, two First Team All-B1G Selections in Taylor Johnson and Konwent, the second-most wins in program history, and the fastest team to 30 wins.

With a 35-17 record in 2017, Wisconsin reached the NCAA Tournament and playing for the regional championship for the third time in five years. The Badgers started the season with seven-straight wins, the best start in program history, and went on to record a program-best 13-game road win streak from Feb. 25 to March 25, 2017. Healy secured her fifth season with 30-or-more wins with the Badgers, the most of any UW softball coach. The team topped the record books in RBI (250) and walks (212) while ranking in the top-10 for several categories.

Under her tutelage, Chloe Miller became the program's first-ever NFCA All-American, the first USA Softball Collegiate Player of the Year finalist, and the second-ever NFCA Player of the Week and NPF Draft pick (No. 11, Akron). In her senior year, Miller became the program's all-time leader in career multi-RBI games (53), career RBI (181), career home runs (31), and runs (145), ranking second all-time with 215 career hits and 57 career multi-hit games.

Healy's 2016 squad faced nine top-25 teams, securing a 5-3-1 record against its ranked foes. The Badgers batted in 244 runs in 2016, just three RBI shy of the all-time season record, while tallying the third-most runs (265) and walks (196) all-time. Senior Taylor-Paige Stewart single-handedly achieved four saves on the mound, tying the program's team season record.

Wisconsin has had a total of 13 first-team All-Big Ten selections in program history with 11 of those coming in the Healy era. Kelsey Jenkins, who earned back-to-back first-team All-Big Ten accolades in 2015 and 2016, was the first freshman in UW history to collect the honor.

Healy has helped her players seen just as much success off the field as she has on the field. The Badgers have received a total of 111 Academic All-Big Ten recognitions in the last 14 seasons.

The 2016 senior class recorded 129 wins in four seasons, the third-most wins by any Wisconsin class, while the 2015 senior class went down as the second-winning class in school history with 135 victories. In the last six seasons, Wisconsin has had four 30-plus win seasons after only previously having five 30-plus win campaigns in 15 seasons.

In 2015, the Badgers clinched the highest season on-base percentage (.389) in school history and claimed the Wisconsin single-season walks record (176). The season also the season record for stolen bases shattered (118 stolen bases) along with setting the highest single-season batting average (.296).

Healy entered the 2015 season having led the team to its second consecutive NCAA Regional Championship. Healy directed the team to the NCAA tournament in back-to-back seasons, which had only been done once before by UW in 2001 and 2002 and only a total of three times in the history of the program.

At the end of the 2014 season, the Badgers finished in two final national polls for just the fourth time in the program's 19-year history and the second consecutive year. UW came in at No. 24 in the ESPN.com/USA Softball Top 25 and received votes in the USA Today/NFCA Top 25 for the eighth time in the season. Wisconsin finished the 2014 season at No. 32 in the NCAA Softball Ratings Percentage

Index (RPI), after facing nine of the 31 teams who posted a higher RPI ranking.

The 2014 season boasted the second-highest win total (36) in school history. The Badgers defeated six ranked opponents and tied with the 1997 team for the most top-25 wins in a season. UW won four NCAA tournament games over the last three seasons, having won one in the program's first 19 years of existence. For just the second time in program history, the team achieved a pair of NCAA tournament wins matching their run in 2013.

The conclusion of the 2014 season marked the end of incredible careers for Cassandra Darrah, Mary Massei, Michelle Mueller and Stephanie Peace. Under Healy, the senior class went down in the history books as the most winningest class in UW history at 144-75.

The 2007 Horizon League Coach of the Year, Healy guided the Loyola (Ill.) Ramblers to a top-four conference finish in every season she was at the helm. She has coached four NFCA All-Mideast Region players over the last four seasons, and the team set the single-season school record for batting average (.292) in 2010. Healy's team also set single-season Loyola records for stolen bases (116) and home runs (37) in 2009.

As Healy was winning coach of the year honors in the Horizon League in 2007, the team was capturing the conference title with a 14-5 record. Pitcher Amy Solava was also named the league's pitcher of the year, just the third player in school history to earn the award.

Off the field, Healy was instrumental in the team's community service participation. She was a part of numerous campaigns to give back, including the Strike Out Cancer Fundraiser for the Susan G. Komen Foundation.

Healy's teams have also excelled in the classroom. The 2010 team was the recipient of the 2010 NCAA Academic Performance Program APR Award, while nine players in her time were named Academic All-District by ESPN the Magazine and 25 were chosen as Scholar Athletes by the National Fastpitch Coaches Association.

She took over as head coach at Loyola in July of 2004 after spending two seasons as an assistant at her alma mater, DePaul. While with the Blue Demons, Healy coached five All-Americans as the team won the Conference USA title in 2003 and 2004 to make the NCAA tournament.

A two time All-American and three-time Academic All-American as a player, Healy ranks second on the DePaul single-season chart with a .424 batting average and is the school's all-time leader with 102 stolen bases. In her senior campaign in 1999, Healy led the Blue Demons to a school-record 54 victories, an NCAA Regional Championship and the College World Series as the team wrapped up the year ranked third in the nation. She earned All-Mideast Region honors on three occasions as well.
Prior to her collegiate coaching career, Healy worked for the Chicago Bulls and Chicago White Sox Academy as Director of Marketing. She also served as head softball coach at her alma mater Providence Catholic High School, where she was the salutatorian at her graduation in 1995.

Healy graduated cum laude and earned her bachelor's degree in marketing and communications from DePaul in 1999 and her master's in secondary education and English from DePaul in 2007. She and her husband Shawn have been married since 2006. They currently reside in Madison with their two daughters, Grace and Maeve.

- The complex, located at 2415 University Bay Dr., is an extensive redesign of the previous softball field. Groundbreaking took place on June 25, 1998, and the Badgers opened the facility with a 9-1 victory over Loyola on March 30, 1999. The field and grandstands -- with a capacity of approximately 1,600 -- are positioned just north of Nielsen Tennis Stadium and share the parking areas in that proximity. Spectators have the view overlooking University Bay and Picnic Point. The facility meets the requirements of the Americans with Disabilities Act.

- The Goodman brothers, longtime area softball players, businessmen and UW donors, provided the lead gift of $500,000. Named for the Madison jewelers, the original renovation project cost more than $1.2 million and has been affectionately dubbed, "Goodman Diamond."

- 2002 marked the first year under the lights for the Badgers. The lighting system was made possible by Bob Goodman, one of the original donors who made the field possible.

- In 2011, the Irwin A. and Robert D. Goodman family foundation pledged $1.8 million to initiate the Goodman Softball Training Center project, which was a positive start toward the total project cost of $3 million.

- The diamond received a complete resurfacing during the summer of 2012 with a new infield and outfield surface being installed. The infield was resurfaced with Hilltopper Infield Mix, natural soil enhanced with polymer that provides excellent drainage and coverage, while the outfield was leveled and tiled.

- In 2013 the Goodman Softball Training Center was completed. In the 16,500 square foot indoor facility the Badgers have access to a regulation sized infield, batting cages, team conference room and lounge. In addition, the team locker room and athletic training areas underwent extensive renovations.

- Enhancements were made to Goodman Diamond for the 2017 season thanks to a $600,000 gift from the Goodman family foundation, highlighted by the addition of a high-definition video board to elevate the game day atmosphere for the Wisconsin Softball team by providing fans with highlight videos. Fans are further immersed in the game with the addition of player headshots and various stat displays.

- The Dave McClain Athletic Facility serves as the year-round home for a number of University of Wisconsin teams, including softball. The facility, renovated in 2013, offers a climate-controlled indoor training space, locker rooms, sports medicine center and strength and conditioning facilities. Opened in 1988 at a cost of $9.5 million, the McClain Center has undergone an extensive renovation as part of the $86 million Student-Athlete Performance Center project undertaken by UW Athletics to provide first-class facilities for the Badgers.

- The centerpiece of the McClain Center is a 76,000-square foot main floor that features a 90-yard practice field utilized by a variety of UW athletic programs. The practice area was re-surfaced in 2013 with the installation of the most advanced playing surface offered by FieldTurf.

- The new strength and conditioning center is a 6,000-square foot space that offers a full range of strength training equipment, in addition to a dedicated cardio area and a performance station featuring fresh fruit and nutritional drinks for use in recovery after workouts.

WHY WISCONSIN

Wisconsin became my home away from home, and over the five years I've spent here, it has proven to be more than just a place. The people of Wisconsin have played a pivotal role in shaping me into a strong woman who knows how to advocate not one for herself but for others as well. As a Wisconsin athlete, I've come to cherish the privilege it brings, whether it's the people I've been lucky to spend time with, the degree, or the memories I have made. Grateful for my victory lap as a grad student.

UW made it a reality for me to compete at one of the highest levels, while still being close to my family. Aside from the connection with my family, the culture and atmosphere at UW are unmatched to any other university. The community behind UW athletics is amazing. Lastly, I am even more confident about my future with the academic opportunities and outside resources UW has to offer.

WHY WISCONSIN

Over the last several years, I have met many people who have attended Wisconsin or are big Badger fans. Every one of them talks about how much they love the school and have such a sense of pride and ownership of being a Badger. I wanted to have that same sense of connection and pride and be part of such rich traditions. Ever since my family and I drove into campus the very first time, I knew Wisconsin was exactly where I wanted to go. After my official visit for softball, I was so impressed not only with the facilities and the outstanding academics, but there was so much more. The Forward 360 Program gives students athletes every chance to succeed not only while they attend Wisconsin, but after. Every player I met felt fully supported academically and as an athlete. And again, there was that sense of pride and ownership of being a Badger, and they were truly happy to be a part of something so special.

Wisconsin has always been a big dream of mine. The second I stepped on campus I knew it felt like home. The team atmosphere was nothing like I had ever been a part of before and from that second forward I knew I wanted to be a part of it. I knew that Wisconsin would push me to my limits and better me every single day and I wanted that challenge.

WHY WISCONSIN

I really wanted that big school/Big Ten experience. I wanted a team I could get behind and support for years to come. As soon as I met the coaches and visited the school, I knew Wisconsin was where I wanted to be. To play under such supportive and encouraging female coaches was exactly what I had hoped for and I knew I'd be pushed to become the best version of myself.

WHY WISCONSIN

Attending a Big Ten University has always been a dream of mine. There's nothing better than prestigious academics paired with a lively college town and atmosphere. Being from the Midwest, Wisconsin has always appealed to me due to the reputation of Coach Healy and the culture surrounding the Wisconsin softball program. The intense and competitive nature within the Big Ten conference is where I believe I will thrive. After visiting campus several times, I was drawn to the active, outdoorsy lifestyle and attracted to the energetic and diverse city of Madison.
