

Post-Game Notes
Ohio State at Washington
Husky Stadium, Sept. 27, 2025

Today's attendance – 72,485 – is the largest at Husky Stadium since the stadium reopened at the start of the 2013 season. It's the largest total since the 2010 Nebraska game (72,876).

UW safety Alex McLaughlin finished the game with 13 total tackles, most of the year by any Husky and tied for the most in his career (at UW or at Northern Arizona). He also had 13 last year in a game vs. Eastern Washington.

At one point, UW QB Demond Williams Jr. completed 14 straight passes (after an incompletion on his fourth attempt had him at 3-for-4). For the season, Williams is now 68-for-90, good for a 75.6 completion percentage.

In his six career starts, Williams has played vs. the AP's No. 1-ranked team twice – last year at Oregon and today vs. Ohio State. Combined in those two games, Williams is 35-for-42 for 374 yards.

Washington had gone 10 quarters (two and a half games) without punting, until the first quarter today.

Ethan Moczulski has had his last 13 kickoffs go for touchbacks.

Ohio State had no scrimmage plays of 20 or more yards today. The longest play was a 19-yard pass from Julian Sayin to Jeremiah Smith. By contrast, UW had four such plays: one Jonah Coleman run and three passes from Williams.

Washington had its 22-game home winning streak broken today, a streak that went back to a loss to Washington State in the final game of the 2021 season. The 22-game home win streak was the second-longest active home streak in the nation and the longest in UW history since Washington won 45 home games in a row between 1908-1917.
