WEBER STATE

Randy Rahe enters his 12th as the head coach of the Weber State men's basketball program. Rahe is Weber State's all-time winningest coach and is the Big Sky Conference's career leader in conference wins.

In his 11 seasons at Weber State, Rahe has led the Wildcats to five Big Sky titles and nine postseason tournament appearances, including three trips to the NCAA Tournament. He is also the first coach in Big Sky Conference history to be named conference Coach of the Year four times and has coached six Big Sky MVP's in his 11 seasons at Weber State. He has also had two players drafted in the NBA, including two-time NBA All-Star Damian Lillard.

Rahe has a career record of 228-127 (.644) in his 11 seasons with the Wildcats and is 141-49 (.742) in Big Sky games. The 228 wins are the most in Weber State history and the second most in Big Sky history and the 141 wins are the most conference wins in Big Sky history.

During the past season, Rahe led the Wildcats to another 20-win season, his seventh 20-win season in his 11 seasons at Weber State. The Wildcats posted a 12-6 conference record and advanced to the championship game of the Big Sky Tournament. WSU also advanced to the second round of the CollegenInsider.com Tournament. Rahe coached Jeremy Senglin to First Team All-Conference and All-District honors. Senglin made the most 3-pointers of any player in the country this season and finished his career as Weber State's all-time leading scorer and the Big Sky's career leader in 3-pointers.

Rahe has had great success at the Dee Events Center, amassing a career record of 137-25 (.846) at home. He also has an incredible 83-12 (.874) home record in Big Sky regular season games. In 2013-14, WSU set a Big Sky record with 27 straight conference regular season home victories. The Wildcats have led the Big Sky in attendance for seven straight seasons and have had one of the best attendances of any school in the western United States. Weber State finished the season in the top 100 in the nation in attendance for the seventh straight year.

During the 2015-16 season, Rahe led the Wildcats to a 26-9 season that included a Big Sky regular season title and the conference postseason tournament championship. Weber State also made its second trip to the NCAA Tournament in the last three years. Rahe coached Joel Bolomboy to Big Sky MVP and Defensive Player of the Year honors as well as Jeremy Senglin to first team All-Big Sky honors. Bolomboy was drafted in the second round of the 2016 NBA Draft by the Utah Jazz.

In addition to being named Big Sky Coach of the Year for a record four times, Rahe has also been a finalist for the Skip Prosser Award, honoring the nation's head coaches who also exhibit strong moral character.

Rahe has coached 29 Big Sky All-Conference performers and 21 Big Sky Academic All-Conference performers in his team with the Wildcats. The Wildcats have won 10 or more conference wins in nine of his 10 seasons at Weber State.

Rahe has coached five players to Big Sky MVP honors six times, including Joel Bolomboy in 2016. Bolomboy joined Davion Berry in 2014, Damian Lillard, who won the award in 2010 and 2012, Kellen McCoy and David Patten as MVP's under coach Rahe's watch.

He recruited and coached Lillard to All-American status in 2012, the first player in Big Sky history to be named to an All-American team. Lillard is second in Weber State history in career scoring and career 3-pointers and is the school's all-time leader in free throws and free throw percentage. Lillard went on to be the first player in Weber State history to be drafted in the first round of the NBA Draft when he was selected sixth overall by the Portland Trail Blazers in the 2012 NBA Draft. He was named Rookie of the Year in 2013 and named to the NBA All-Star team in 2014 and 2015.

A native of Bancroft, Iowa, Rahe was named the ninth coach in Weber State history in March 2006. In his first season as head coach, with just three returning players from the previous season, Rahe put together a squad of newcomers and began the process of restoring the winning tradition of Wildcat basketball. That season he surpassed all expectations, leading the Wildcats to a 20-12 record and a tie for the Big Sky Conference regular-season title. The Wildcats then won the postseason conference tournament and earned a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

Rahe was a two-sport athlete at Buena Vista College in Storm Lake, Iowa as a point guard on the men's basketball team and a shortstop on the baseball team. He earned a bachelor's degree in elementary education in 1982. He began his coaching career on the high school level in Colorado. During his tenure as the head coach at Stratton High School (1985-88) he was twice named District Coach of the Year leading his teams to district and league championships in 1986, 1987 and 1988. His teams posted an overall mark of 54-17, earning two third-place finishes in state tournaments.

Rahe got his first taste of coaching on the collegiate level in 1988-89, when he joined the staff at Colorado College as an assistant. He went on to serve as an assistant at the University of Colorado (1989-90) and the University of Denver (1990-91) before beginning his long association with Stew Morrill at Colorado State and Utah State.

Following Morrill to Utah State, Rahe was part of an Aggie staff which, in six seasons, helped the team compile a 143-48 record, winning five Big West Conference championships, earn three appearances in the NCAA Tournament with a first round win over Ohio State and two NIT berths. In his last season (2003-04) at USU, the Aggies were ranked as high as 19th in the nation. From Utah State Rahe went to the University of Utah in 2004-05 where he would spend the next two seasons as an assistant coach under Ray Giacomoletti. In his first season with the Utes, Utah finished 29-6, won the Mountain West Championship, and advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NCAA Tournament. They were led that season by Andrew Bogut who earned National Player of the Year honors and went on to become the first pick in the 2005 NBA Draft.

Rahe was born June 12, 1960. He and his wife Laura are the parents of two sons, Luke and Kade. Laura is a women's basketball official in the Mountain West, WAC and West Coast Conferences.
