STEVE HAWKINS

HEAD COACH
SOUTH ALABAMA, '87
13TH SEASON AT WMU
RECORD AT WMU: 224-169
OVERALL RECORD: 351-280

Steve Hawkins, entering his 13th year as head coach of the WMU men's basketball program, remains intent on keeping the Western Michigan men's basketball team one of the premier programs in the MAC by sticking to a formula of rebounding, defense, and toughness. This simple yet effective approach has provided consistent success for WMU under Hawkins; the Broncos have made seven of the program's 10 postseason appearances in that time, including NCAA Tournament berths in 2004 and 2014, and have rattled off 11 straight top-three MAC West finishes, the best mark in school history. In fact, over Hawkins' 12 years as head coach, Western Michigan is one of only two schools in the conference to exhibit that kind of consistent success.

Hawkins stands as the current "Dean of the MAC," now entering his 13th season as the Broncos' head coach, he is the longest-tenured head coach in the conference, and his long resume is also bolstered by the long-standing excellence of the Bronco program. Hawkins is 123-78 in conference games for a .612 winning percentage, the ninth-best mark in MAC history, and his 224-169 overall record gives him a .570 winning percentage that is eighth all-time among MAC coaches. He is one of only eight coaches in MAC history to break the overall 200-win barrier, and no other coach in WMU history has ever won 100 MAC games. Hawkins has led the Broncos to overall MAC regular season championships in 2004 and 2014 as well as MAC Tournament championships in those same years, and has guided the Broncos to seven of the program's eight MAC West division championships as well. In addition, seven of the Broncos' 11 20-win seasons in program history have come under Hawkins' guidance, including three of the top four single-season wins totals in program history. In 2015 he became the only coach in program history to coach the Broncos to three consecutive 20-win seasons.

On January 14, 2012, Hawkins won his 153rd game as a Bronco to surpass Bob Donewald for second on the program's all-time wins list; Hawkins achieved the feat in the middle of his ninth season, two full seasons fewer than Donewald needed to reach the mark, and trails just Western Michigan Hall of Famer Herbert "Buck" Read on the all-time list. He became just the second coach in program history to clear 200 wins with a 2014 victory at Ball State and moved into fifth place all-time in MAC history with his 217th win, coming against Miami on Jan. 21, 2015. Hawkins is the only coach in WMU history to win more than 100 games in conference play, and is one of just three coaches in program history to earn MAC Coach of the Year honors, joining Eldon Miller (1976) and Bob Donewald (1992) in the select group.

Thanks to the team's efforts on the court, Bronco fans have been spoiled in recent campaigns with postseason appearances, all-conference players, attendance records and television appearances. The Broncos have appeared on television a total of 45 times over the last four seasons, including winning the 2014 MAC Championship in front of a national audience on ESPN2, taking on #11 Syracuse on CBS in the 2014 NCAA Tournament, and winning two of three games during ESPN's 2014 DirecTV Wooden Legacy Tournament. The Broncos have made regular appearances in ESPN-sponsored tournaments under Hawkins and, thanks to the conference's partnership with Time Warner Cable Sports, WMU remains a visible, important part of the MAC's television schedule.

Hawkins coached the Broncos to their third straight 20-win season and sixth postseason berth under his tutelage in 2014-15, leading a team hampered by injuries to the CollegiateInsider.com Tournament (CIT) for the second time in five years. The Broncos have played in all four postseason tournaments in the 12 seasons under Hawkins, including NCAA Tournament bids in 2003-04 and 2013-14, an NIT appearance in 2004-05, CIT bids in 2011 and 2015, and a trip to the College Basketball Invitational in 2012-13.

Bronco players have made their way to the professional ranks with regularity under Hawkins, as well. Shayne Whittington became the first Bronco to reach the NBA since Ben Handlogten when he signed a professional contract with the NBA's Indiana Pacers in the summer of 2014; he recently signed a contract extension with the Pacers in the summer of 2015. More recently, the likes of Austin Richie, David Brown, Flenard Whitfield and Demetrius Ward have signed contracts to play professionally in nations such as Portugal, Australia and Poland.

The buzz about the Broncos was so high in 2007-08 that national television returned to University Arena for the first time since 2004 with WMU defeating in-state rivals Central Michigan, 72-52, and Eastern Michigan, 70-52, on ESPN. In 2013 the Broncos' home Bracketbuster game against Pacific on Feb. 23, 2013 was selected for broadcast on ESPN3, with the Broncos downing the Tigers 67-62 in front of a packed house at University Arena.

WMU had three-straight 20-win seasons and postseason appearances from 2003-05, matching the previous total in both categories since the first season of Bronco basketball in 1913-14. The Broncos added another 20-win season in 2010-11 and posted another trifecta in the years from 2012-15; when including the 20-win season the Broncos posted while Hawkins was a Western Michigan assistant, one finds that eight of the program's 11 20-win seasons have come with Hawkins' influence.

The Broncos' success on the court has been matched by their success off the court, as well; the MAC names just five players Academic All-MAC at the conclusion of each season, and a Bronco has been among those players in each and every year under Hawkins, a boast no other school in the conference can claim. Furthermore, WMU can lay claim to having 16 of the 51 players named to either the Academic All-MAC or Distinguished Scholar-Athlete (since 2015) teams since the 2005-06 season, a ratio unmatched by any other MAC program. Connor Tava and Austin Richie each earned Academic All-MAC honors in 2014-15, marking the 12th straight year a Bronco has made the list, with Tava becoming the sixth player under Hawkins to earn the honor twice. Richie was also a CoSIDA Academic All-District selection, the first for WMU since the 2009 season. In addition, during the springs of 2007, 2009, 2010, 2012 and 2015, the Broncos were honored as being in the top-10 percent of Division I men's basketball programs by the NCAA in Academic Progress Rate (APR).

The 2014-15 season saw the Broncos overcome the loss of one of several important players to injury and illness to reach the postseason, as WMU went 20-14 to earn a bid to host a home game in the 2015 CIT against Cleveland State. The Broncos played in the DirecTV Wooden Legacy to become the only team in the country to have played in every ESPN-run multiple-team event, beating San Jose State and San Diego in sunny Anaheim, Calif. In front of national television audiences, WMU went on to finish 10-8 in Mid-American Conference play, defeating regular season champion and in-state rival Central Michigan at University Arena to put a punctuation mark on the regular season.

WMU produced one of the most successful seasons in program history in 2013-14, winning the sixth MAC regular season championship in Bronco history as well as its second MAC Tournament title. Returning just two players starters from the previous season, the Broncos opened the year by winning the Outrigger Hotels and Resorts Rainbow Classic hosted by Hawai'i, notching a 2-1 record with wins over New Mexico State and Tennessee State and holding a tiebreaker based on fewest points allowed. The victory marked the second straight season the Broncos had won an in-season tournament, and David Brown was crowned Tournament MVP after averaging 18.4 points per game over the weekend. The team finished the non-conference slate with a 9-5 record and opened MAC play at 4-3 before ripping off a winning streak that endured through the entire month of February; the Broncos won eight straight games from Feb. 1 - March 1, putting themselves near the top of the MAC standings in the process. WMU's 78-64 win over Central Michigan in the regular season finale clinched the conference regular season championship, as well as the top seed in the MAC Tournament.

The postseason began with a spirited come-from-behind victory, as the Broncos erased a 17-point halftime deficit to force overtime against the Akron Zips in the semifinal round of the MAC Tournament. Brown provided the late-game heroics with a banked-in three-pointer in overtime to put the Broncos ahead, and WMU defeated Akron 64-60 to advance to the championship game. The Broncos proceeded to dismantle the Toledo Rockets in a clash of No. 1 vs. No. 2, pouring in a MAC Tournament-record 98 points in a 98-77 win to send the Broncos to the Big Dance. Brown was named the Tournament's Most Outstanding Player with a career-high 32 points in the win.

Unsurprisingly, the Broncos were showered with accolades by the Conference, with Brown and Shayne Whittington each earning First Team All-MAC honors; it was the first time that a Bronco had made the First Team since 2010, and the first time that two Broncos earned nods to the top tier since the 2007-08 season. Tava was named All-MAC Honorable Mention after a breakout sophomore campaign, and freshman Tucker Haymond became the fifth Bronco in six years to be named to the MAC All-Freshman team. Hawkins himself was honored by the conference as the Coach of the Year, winning in a runaway vote, and also earned National Association of Basketball Coaches' District 14 Coach of the Year.

The Broncos returned to their rightful spot atop the MAC West division standings in 2012-13, posting the third-highest single-season wins total in program history with a 22-13 mark and a MAC West-best 10-6 record in conference play. Playing with a squad of eight freshmen and a number of familiar faces cast into new starting roles, the Broncos started out the season hot, winning the USF Invitational with a clean sweep of Loyola-Chicago, Maryland-Eastern Shore, and the hosting Bulls, marking the first in-season tournament win the team had enjoyed since the 2003-04 season. WMU clinched their seventh overall MAC West division and sixth under Hawkins in 2013 and earned a bye to the quarterfinals of the MAC Tournament, downing Eastern Michigan to advance to the semifinals before falling to Ohio.

The season carried on, however, as the Broncos earned a spot in the 2013 CBI, earning a pair of exciting wins to open the tournament and advance to its Final Four. Postseason play returned to University Arena for the first time since 2011 when the Broncos defeated North Dakota State, overcoming the Bison in overtime for a 72-71 win. The run took a turn for the dramatic in the team's next outing, as the Broncos traveled to Laramie, Wyo. to face the Wyoming Cowboys. Playing at an altitude of 7,223 feet (the highest in Division I athletics), the Broncos came back from a second half deficit to shock the Cowboys 75-67 in overtime, snapping Wyoming's 23-game home non-conference win streak. The Broncos bowed out of the tournament against George Mason in the semifinals, but by that point had already cemented the season's successes.

It came as no surprise that the Broncos were well-represented in the Mid-American Conference year-end awards, with David Brown earning MAC Sixth Man of the Year honors and Darius Paul named the MAC Freshman of the Year. Shayne Whittington earned his first career All-MAC honors, making it on to the Second Team, while senior Nate Hutcheson was named All-MAC honorable mention in a season in which he reached 1,000 career points and set a program record for games played.

The 2011-12 season saw the Broncos overcome tremendous adversity both on and off the court, jelling at the right time and gaining momentum during a MAC Tournament run to the quarterfinals. Forced to endure a number of injuries that sidelined key players for weeks at a time, as well as a brutal non-conference schedule that ranked as the 12th-toughest in the nation and saw road trips to Purdue, Duke, and Gonzaga, the Broncos clawed their way to a respectable finish and the right to host a home game in the 2012 First Energy MAC Tournament. They won their first two games of the bracket before eventually falling in the quarterfinal round.

The 2010-11 season was viewed by some as a transition year for the Broncos, but instead the team rose to the occasion and captured its fifth MAC West title under Hawkins, posting an 11-5 record in conference play. The Broncos returned to postseason play and hosted a postseason tournament game for the first time since 2005, defeating Tennessee Tech 74-66 in the first round of the CollegeInsider.com Tournament (CIT). Senior Alex Wolf was named an Academic All-MAC selection, continuing the long line of success for the Broncos in that category.

The 2009-10 season saw David Kool establish himself as the all-time leading scorer in WMU history and become Hawkins' second MAC Player of the Year and second AP All-American. Kool was also named to the Academic All-MAC squad for the third year in a row to become the fourth Hawkins' player to be a three-time Academic All-MAC honoree. Only one other MAC school has had one such athlete during the last seven seasons. Kool was tabbed as the MAC Player of the Decade by Rivals.com.

The Broncos defeated Northeastern, 75-60, on national television in the first Hawaiian Airlines Diamond Head Classic. The Broncos played in an inaugural ESPN-sponsored tournament for the third time following the Old Spice Classic in Orlando, Fla., and the Charleston Classic in Charleston, S.C. Hawkins led the Broncos to their seventh top two finish in a row in the MAC West and the team reached the semifinals of the MAC Tournament. Freshman forward Nate Hutcheson joined Kool with postseason honors as the fourth newcomer of Hawkins' WMU career to make the MAC All-Freshman Team.

The 2008-09 season marked the second MAC West championship in a row and fourth in six years for the Brown & Gold, while junior David Kool became the first Bronco to lead the MAC in scoring since 1987 on his way to becoming ESPN the Magazine Third Team Academic All-America and Second Team All-MAC. Kool's Academic All-America honor was the third for a Bronco in three seasons, a mark that has happened only two other times in MAC history (1976-78 Ohio, 1991-93 Miami).

The Broncos went 3-1 against in-state rivals Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan to win the Michigan MAC Men's Basketball Championship for the fourth year in a row (the award has only existed for four years) and win the title outright for the third time in four years. Freshman forward Flenard Whitfield became the third newcomer of Hawkins' tenure named to the MAC All-Freshman Team.

The 2007-08 season saw Western Michigan live up to preseason expectations as they claimed the MAC West title for the fourth time in school history and reached 20 wins for the fourth time in six seasons. The Broncos were strong defensively as they led the MAC and ranked 37th in the country (out of 328) in field goal percentage defense (.407) and 84th in the country in scoring defense (65.0 ppg). WMU also ranked 15th in the country and led the MAC in free throw shooting (.753) and the team was 34th in the country and led the MAC in rebound margin (+4.9). For his efforts, Hawkins was named the MAC Coach of the Year by ESPN mid-major reporter Kyle Whelliston at MidMajority.com.

The Broncos were led by only the fourth pair of First Team All-MAC honorees in school history in senior center Joe Reitz and sophomore guard David Kool. Reitz, one of Hawkins' first recruits, finished his career with a MAC record for free throws made (576) and finished third all-time in points (1,713) and rebounds (939) and fourth in field goal percentage (.548) in a career. Reitz was also named to the CollegeInsider.com Mid-Major All-America Team and is now a starting left guard for the Indianapolis Colts of the National Football League.

Reitz was also named to the ESPN the Magazine Academic All-America Second Team to become only the seventh player in conference history to be a two-time Academic All-American. Kool was named the Most Valuable Player in the MAC by CollegeInsider.com as he led the league in scoring in conference games with 17.8 points per game.

Western Michigan posted a pair of premier wins during the season as they knocked off NCAA Elite Eight participant Davidson, 83-76, and perennial mid-major power Southern Illinois, 57-41. Davidson was ranked No. 25 in the country when WMU defeated the Wildcats for the Broncos first win against a ranked team since Dec. 19, 1984 (No. 5 DePaul, 65-64). The 2007-08 Broncos also ended a pair of streaks by winning at Detroit, 60-59, for the first time since 1974 and winning at Toledo, 69-55, for the first win there since 1998.

Hawkins also was recognized in 2008 for his sense of style on the sidelines. He advanced to the final 16 of CollegeInsider.com's Runway to the Fashionable Four. Along the way he defeated Florida coach Billy Donovan and Virginia Commonwealth (now at Alabama) head man Anthony Grant. Hawkins made another style run in 2010 to the Sensational 16, including a win over John Calipari of Kentucky.

The Broncos faced their most ambitious schedule yet during the 2006-07 campaign. Going into conference play, the Broncos had the fourth toughest strength of schedule in the country (CollegeRPI.com/Jan. 4). The Broncos played five teams that made the 2007 NCAA Tournament (Davidson, Miami-Ohio, Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, Indiana), postseason NIT champion West Virginia and three other NIT participants (Toledo, Marist, San Diego State).

The tough schedule saw Western Michigan make five national television appearances, including a victory over Virginia Tech on Thanksgiving Night at the Old Spice Classic in Orlando, Fla., that turned out to be the best win by a MAC team all season, as the Hokies finished 34th in the final RPI. Only one other MAC team posted a win against a team ranked in the RPI Top 50.

The Broncos finished the year with three all-conference players, including MAC Freshman of the Year Kool. Reitz was named Second Team All-MAC for a second straight season and Shawntes Gary was named Honorable Mention All-MAC.

Even more impressive, Reitz was named an ESPN the Magazine First Team Academic All-American, the first Bronco in school history to ever earn that honor and only the seventh in MAC history. Reitz and Hershberger were also named Academic All-MAC for a second consecutive season.

After three straight 20-win seasons, the Broncos struggled out of the gate during 2005-06, but rebounded under Hawkins' tutelage when conference play began. In a season Hawkins described as "the most rewarding in my career," the Broncos responded by putting themselves in position to win a third consecutive MAC West Division title on the final day of the regular season.

Not only were the Broncos successful on the court, but they continued to excel in the classroom. Senior Brian Snider and sophomores Reitz and Hershberger made up three-fifths of the Academic All-MAC team and Reitz became the first ESPN the Magazine Academic All-District IV First Team selection for WMU since 1993.

After a record-setting first year as head coach in 2003-04, the Broncos followed with a 20-win campaign and National Invitation Tournament appearance in 2004-05. WMU became the first program ever to defend its MAC West Division title and featured the winningest senior class in school history.

WMU captured the MAC division, regular season and tournament championships en route to a 26-5 overall record in 2003-04, the highest total in school history. The team appeared in the NCAA Tournament for just the third time since the program's inception after claiming the league's automatic bid with Western Michigan's first MAC Tournament championship.

Voted the top rookie head coach by Basketball Times and Coach of the Year by the Basketball Coaches Association of Michigan, Hawkins has also helped renew interest on campus and in the community.

Players and coaches are heavily involved in organizations throughout the Kalamazoo area and the student group, "The Zoo," has been a focal point for Hawkins during his tenure.

Named Western Michigan's 13th head coach on May 1, 2003, Hawkins didn't have to move any further than an office away after accepting the job. He had served the previous three seasons as the program's top assistant under former head coach Robert McCullum.

Hawkins served for nine seasons as head coach of the basketball program at Quincy University in Illinois. The Ventura, Calif., native guided the Hawks to an overall record of 137-111, a total that included three NCAA Division II Tournament selections.

In only his third year at Quincy, Hawkins guided the Hawks to a 19-9 record and the first of back-to-back NCAA berths. The following year (1994-95) Quincy advanced to the Great Lakes Region semifinals and earned a 23-7 record. QU also competed in the event in 1996-97. He was named the Illinois Basketball Coaches Association NCAA Division II Coach of the Year four times.

Hawkins first broke into the collegiate profession at the University of South Alabama, where he worked for three seasons (1985-87) under head coach Mike Hanks as a student assistant.

After spending the 1987-88 campaign as a graduate assistant at Quincy, Hawkins spent the next two seasons as the top assistant coach at St. Andrew's College (NAIA) in Laurinburg, N.C. He then returned to Quincy as an assistant coach for one season (1990-91) before assuming the head coaching duties in 1991-92.

At the age of 19, Hawkins was named the junior varsity coach at Villanova Prep High School (Ojai, Calif.), a position he held for two seasons. He followed that experience with a one-year stint as the junior varsity coach at St. Bonaventure High School (Ventura, Calif.) before moving from the West Coast.

Hawkins earned his bachelor's degree at South Alabama in 1987 and went on to claim his master's degree in sports science two years later at the United States Sports Academy.

Hawkins married the former Kelly Wojciechowski on May 15, 2010. They reside in Kalamazoo with Kelly's son Trey, and their daughters Emily and Alyssa.

Clayton Bates returns for his 13th season as an assistant coach with the Western Michigan basketball program. Now in his third tour of duty with the Broncos, Bates has been a key cog in the program's successes since the turn of the century, playing a direct part in seven 20-win seasons, two Mid-American Conference Tournament victories and subsequent NCAA Tournament appearances, and four other trips to the postseason for the Broncos. He will continue to work primarily with the Broncos' wing players.

Bates has spent a considerable portion of his coaching career as an assistant with the Broncos; his first stint at Western Michigan lasted nearly a decade, with Bates serving as an assistant coach to Rob McCullum and later current head coach Steve Hawkins from 2001-08.

In 2014-15, Bates's charges at the wing position continued to pay dividends as they helped the Broncos to their third straight 20-win season. Tucker Haymond took a major step forward in his second season, eschewing the legendary "sophomore slump" to average 11.8 points per game and shoot 49.6 percent from the field. David Brown led the Broncos with a 15.3 points per game average, and Taylor Perry continued his progression to play an important role as the season went on.

Bates played an important role in the success at WMU while establishing himself as one of the best coaches and top recruiters in the Mid-American Conference. During his first stint at Western Michigan, the Broncos posted four 20-win seasons while advancing to the 2004 NCAA Tournament and the 2003 and 2005 National Invitation Tournament. After spending the 2008-09 season away from coaching, Bates returned to the Broncos and helped Hawkins steer the team to an 18-15 record in 2009-10.

Bates was a key factor in the recruitment and development of a number of WMU's top contributors in decade, including two MAC Players of the Year (Mike Williams, 2004 and David Kool, 2010) and 2008 CollegeInsider.com Mid-Major All-American Joe Reitz. The Broncos also had great success in the classroom under Bates' tutelage, as 11 players earned Academic All-MAC honors in his tenure, including Kool and Reitz, who each earned Academic All-American honors.

Bates served as an assistant coach to Billy Donlon at Wright State from 2010-12, helping the Raiders to a 19-14 record in his first season in 2010-11. That season, the Raiders defeated UW-Green Bay in the first round of the Horizon League tournament before falling to the third-seeded Cleveland State Vikings.

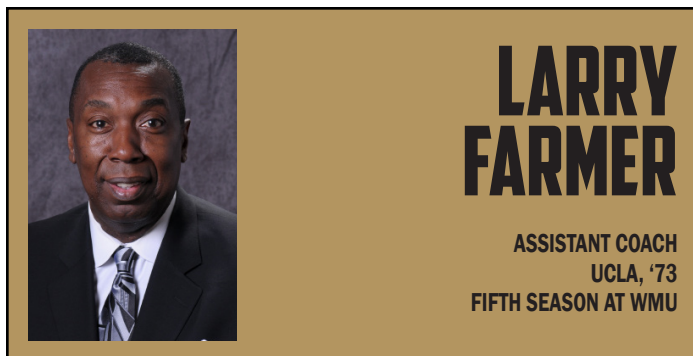

Bates played at the University of Florida under Lon Kruger and served as an administrative assistant with him at the University of Illinois in 1997 when the Illini advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament. After one year at Illinois, Bates returned to his native Florida as an assistant coach at Jacksonville University for the next three years. A former guard, Bates played for the Gator team that appeared in the 1994 Final Four.

Bates was the 1996 Fred Koss Memorial Award winner, which is given to the player who displays the highest levels of sportsmanship, dedication and commitment to the team and community during his career.

Bates graduated from UF with a Bachelor's degree in exercise physiology (1995) and completed his master's work in sports administration (1997) at Illinois.

Bates is married to the former Annemarie Mernagh, an All-Big East volleyball player at Pittsburgh and former assistant volleyball coach at WMU. The couple has two daughters, Annelyse and Sydney.

Larry Farmer, a long-time collegiate assistant and head coach with ties to one of the most storied basketball programs in the history of the college game, is now entering his fifth overall season as an assistant coach with the Western Michigan men's basketball program and second in a row. Farmer is in his second stint with the Broncos, having served as an assistant coach from 2010-12 previously. The winningest player in NCAA history, Farmer will continue to work with the team's post players.

Farmer was key in developing the Broncos' first NBA player in over a decade, as two-time All-MAC center Shayne Whittington was signed to the NBA's Indiana Pacers the summer after his final season in the Brown and Gold. Whittington signed a contract extension with the Pacers in the summer of 2015 as well.

The 2014-15 Broncos had a mix of old and new players in the post, led by two-time All-MAC selection Connor Tava. Tava led the team in scoring, rebounding, assists and field goal percentage as a junior that year. Freshman Drake LaMont became the first true freshman in the Steve Hawkins era to start every single game in his first year, getting the call in all 34 games at the center position, and Anthony Avery, Jr. continued his development with improved play down the stretch.

Farmer spent the 2012-13 season as the Director of Player Development for the North Carolina State program, where he assisted the Wolfpack's coaching staff with evaluation of video, development of practice and game schedules, and game planning. He also acted as the program's academic and community liaison.

In his first stint at WMU, Farmer spent two seasons with the Broncos from 2010-12, when he helped the Broncos to a Mid-American Conference West Division title in 2010-11 and a trip to the CollegeInsider.com Tournament. Working primarily with the post players, he was key in the development of Flenard Whitfield, who finished his career ranked 11th in all-time scoring at Western Michigan and was a two-time All-MAC Honorable Mention. The Broncos finished in the top-two in rebounding margin in each of Farmer's two years on the bench.

Farmer won 166 games in 12 seasons as a Division I head coach, holding the reins at his alma mater UCLA (1981-84), Weber State (1985-88), and Loyola-Chicago (1998-2004). Farmer previously spent three seasons as an assistant coach at Hawai'i from 2007-10 before his first stint with the Broncos, and was an assistant with Rhode Island during the 1997-98 season in which the Rams reached the Elite Eight. Farmer also carries an NBA coaching pedigree, having served as an assistant for the Golden State Warriors during the 1990-91 season.

At UCLA, Farmer guided his alma mater to a three-year record of 61-23, including a pair of 20-win seasons and a trip to the NCAA Tournament. During the 1982-83 season, he coached the Bruins to a 23-6 mark, Pac-10 championship and No. 7 final national ranking.

After several coaching stints, including a six-year term with the Kuwaiti National Team from 1992-97, Farmer was hired as head coach of Loyola-Chicago in 1998. In 2001-02, he led the Ramblers to a 17-13 season, which ended 15 years of losing records for the school. College Insider named him Horizon League Coach of the Year following that campaign.

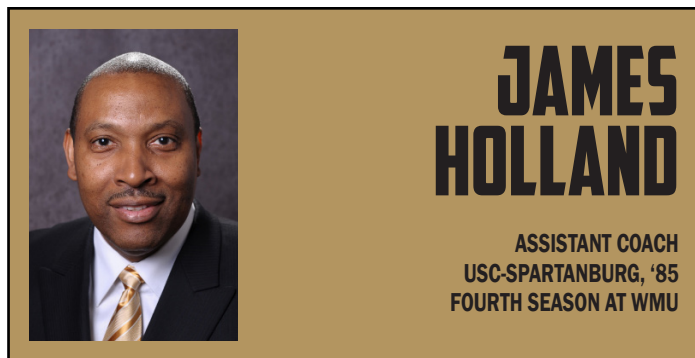

Farmer's players earned four all-conference nods and Paul McMillan was the 2003 Horizon League Newcomer of the Year. Farmer also recruited and coached guard David Bailey, the third all-time leading scorer in Loyola's storied history.

At Weber State, Farmer coached the league leader in rebounding in both 1986-87 and 1987-88, while also coaching the conference's leading shot blocker in 1985-86 and 1986-87. Farmer also brought 1986 Big Sky Newcomer of the Year and 1986 Reserve of the Year Walt Tyler to Ogden, Utah, when WSU went 18-11. Overall, Farmer produced four all-conference honors in his three seasons with the Wildcats.

As a player for the Bruins from 1970-73, Farmer played alongside Bill Walton and was a member of three NCAA championship teams during a stretch in which UCLA captured seven straight under legendary head coach John Wooden. In addition, Farmer has the distinguished honor of being the winningest player in NCAA history, losing only once in 90 career games.

Farmer earned multiple honors as he averaged 9.4 points and 4.8 rebounds per game during his career, including 10.7 points and 5.5 rebounds per game as a junior (1971-72) and 12.2 points per game as a senior (1972-73). He was presented the Seymour Armond Memorial Award in 1969-70 as the most valuable freshman player and then earned the Irv Pohlmeier Memorial Trophy as the most outstanding first-year player in 1970-71. As a first-year starter, Farmer earned the Bruin Bench Award in 1971-72 as the most improved player. He was drafted by Cleveland in the NBA and Denver of the ABA in 1973, but became an assistant at UCLA from 1973-81, including a one-year stint playing in Germany (1975), before taking over as head coach in 1981-82.

Farmer has two children, son Larry, Jr. and daughter Kendall.

James Holland, a veteran coach with nearly 30 years of basketball experience, returns to the Western Michigan men's basketball program for his fourth season with the Broncos. A 2006 inductee into the South Carolina-Upstate (formerly known as USC-Spartanburg) Hall of Fame, Holland will spend his second season working with the Bronco point guards.

The point guard position has been in good hands under Holland and would appear to be that way in the years to come, as the 2014-15 season saw a passing of the torch from three-year starter Austin Richie to freshman Thomas Wilder. Richie concluded a sensational career as the Broncos' starting point guard while Wilder gained valuable experience as well; Richie averaged a career-best 10.0 points per game and shot 40.3 percent from three point range, while Wilder averaged 7.2 points and shot 45.0 percent.

Holland worked with WMU's post players in 2012-13, with the Broncos ranking as one of the best rebounding teams in the MAC. With Holland's instruction, center Shayne Whittington earned his first career All-MAC honor in 2012-13 with averages of 13.2 points and 8.8 rebounds per game, the best per-game rebounding average for a Bronco in over a decade. Whittington finished the season with a MAC-best 12 double-doubles, and set the school record for blocked shots with 59 in one season. In addition, freshman Darius Paul claimed MAC Freshman of the Year honors.

Holland brings a wealth of basketball knowledge to the Broncos, having won league championships as an assistant coach in three different conferences. Holland has helped coach five NCAA tournament teams and three NIT teams in his career, and his recruiting classes have ranked among the top seven in the nation. In addition to his collegiate coaching credentials, Holland served as the Southeast Regional Scout for the Washington Wizards of the NBA during the 2003-04 season.

Holland worked as an assistant coach for nearly 30 years, most recently in a three-season stint at Alabama from 2006-09. Primarily under head coach Mark Gottfried, Holland helped the Crimson Tide to an NIT bid in 2006-07 and three straight winning seasons. Holland coached three All-SEC players from Alabama in that time, including Jermareo Davidson (2007) and Richard Hendrix (2007-08).

Before joining the Crimson Tide, Holland was an assistant for two years with Texas-El Paso; Holland helped lead UTEP to a 2005 WAC championship and NCAA Tournament berth, in a season in which the Miners went 27-8 and had three All-WAC performers.

Holland was an assistant with Georgia from 1999-2003, and helped the Bulldogs to NCAA Tournament appearances in 2001 and 2002, including a Southeastern Conference East Division title in 2002. Before his time at Georgia, Holland served the longest stint of his career as the associate head coach at San Diego State from 1993-99; he had spent the previous two seasons as an assistant with South Carolina.

Holland found great success early in his career at Murray State; as assistant coach from 1988-91, Holland helped turn the Racers into a formidable mid-major program. The Racers won three consecutive Ohio Valley Conference titles from 1989-91, making a pair of NCAA Tournament appearances in 1990 and 1991 and an NIT appearance in 1989. Holland helped develop three consecutive OVC Players of the Year in Jeff Martin (1989) and Popeye Jones (1990-91).

Holland began his coaching career at his alma mater, working with USC-Spartanburg from 1984-87. He would later move on to coach a season in his home state at North Carolina-Asheville before ending up at Murray State.

Holland started in all four of his seasons with the Rifles, and ranks as the USC-Upstate all-time assists leader; he is also second all-time in games played. Holland was part of the 1982 Rifles team that won the NAIA national championship, defeating Biola 51-38, and served as a three-year team captain. Holland would go on to play with the Harlem Globetrotters in the 1982-83 season, teaming with Globetrotter greats Curly Neal and Gees Ausbie.

Holland earned his BS in Political Science from USC-Spartanburg in 1985. He is married to the former Rhonda Edwards, and the couple has two sons, Anthony and Kevin.

Dan Hoff, a veteran high school basketball coach who spent 27 years as head boys' coach at Mattawan High School, enters his third year as the Broncos' Director of Basketball Operations. A member of the Basketball Coaches' Association of Michigan, Hoff will assist in the day-to-day operation of the Bronco basketball program, including on-campus recruiting, film breakdown, camp management, and academic progress, as well as duties regarding facilities and travel.

Hoff was the head boys' basketball coach at Mattawan from 1986-2013, compiling a career record of 334-235 while coach of the Wildcats. He led the boys' basketball team to seven district championships and six conference championships in his tenure, including four while a member of the Kalamazoo Valley Association and two as a member of the Southwestern Michigan Athletic Conference. Hoff was named the Associated Press Michigan Class B Coach of the Year in 2000, as well as the All-Class BCAM Regional Coach of the Year in 2006. Hoff was also the BCAM Class B Regional Coach of the Year in 1997. His tenure at Mattawan was preceded by a one-year stint as the JV girls' basketball coach at Ogemaw Heights High School.

Hoff's background also includes stints coaching at the collegiate and international levels; he began his career as a graduate assistant at Eastern Michigan during the 1976-77 season, and later served as an assistant men's basketball coach at Henry Ford Community College from 1980-81. Hoff spent four years coaching abroad as well, serving as the head men's and women's club basketball coach in Mackay, Queensland, Australia.

Hoff got his first taste of high school coaching at University of Detroit Jesuit High School, taking over the boys' basketball program from 1977-79. He would go on to spend one year as the head 7th- and 8th-grade boys' basketball coach at St. Hugo of Bloomfield Heights before taking the job at Henry Ford.

Hoff played basketball at Eastern Michigan, serving as a team captain for the Eagles in his senior season. A two-time Academic All-MAC selection, Hoff was named a College Sports Information Directors of America Academic All-American Second Team, and was the recipient of the 1976 NCAA Post-Graduate Scholar award. Hoff was named All-MAC Honorable Mention in 1975, a year in which he averaged 8.2 points per game.

Hoff earned a bachelor's degree from Eastern Michigan in 1976 in Honors English Language and Literature, with minors in French, Psychology, and Marketing. He earned his masters degree in English Literature from Eastern Michigan in 1983.

2015-16 WMU MEN'S BASKETBALL RECORD BOOK

Coach Eldon Miller's Broncos were one of the country's "Cinderella" basketball teams in 1975-76, as they attracted more national interest than any other athletic team in the University's history to that point.

For the final seven weeks of the season, Western Michigan was ranked among the nation's top-20 in national polls conducted by the Associated Press and United Press International. WMU finished 10th in the final AP poll, the highest placing ever attained by a Mid-American Conference school (finished the year 19th in the UPI).

The 25-3 showing established a new school and MAC mark for victories in a single season. A 15-1 conference slate led to the program's first outright championship and subsequent initial NCAA Tournament appearance.

Including a victory in the final game of the 1974-75 season, Western Michigan defeated 20 straight opponents, which also set a new school and league mark.

The accomplishments of the team were covered in such publications as Sports Illustrated, The Sporting News, New York Times and Basketball Weekly. WMU was featured on all three major national radio or television networks.

Locally, the 14-game home schedule in Read Fieldhouse attracted a MAC record 7,852 spectators. The largest crowd (10,519) ever at Read for a Bronco game turned out to witness an 82-68 win over Miami, which gave WMU sole possession of the league lead for the next three weeks. That attendance mark still stands as a school record today.

Miller was the near unanimous choice for MAC Coach of the Year and Jeff Tyson earned MAC Player of the Year accolades. Teammates Paul Griffin and Tom Cutter joined Tyson on the all-conference squad, placing a trio of Broncos on the five-member team. All of those players finished among the program's career top 10 in several categories.

The 1997-98 edition of the Western Michigan men's basketball team put together one of the most successful campaigns in school history.

The Broncos completed the year with a 21-8 record, the second time in seven years the squad had broken the 20-win plateau. The team posted a 14-4 league record and earned a share of the MAC title.

Western Michigan's regular-season success earned the program its second-ever (1975-76) NCAA Tournament appearance. The Broncos claimed the 11th seed and garnered a first round matchup with Clemson.

The guard trio of Saddi Washington, Jason Kimbrough and Rashod Johnson led the team to a 75-72 upset of the ACC power and a second round contest with Stanford. Johnson tallied a NCAA Midwest Regional record 32 points in the victory. The triumvirate combined to tally 64 of the team's 75 points in the game.

The Broncos led the Cardinal late in the first half, but later fell to the eventual Final Four participant. WMU has advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament in each of its two appearances.

As could be expected, the Broncos set numerous program bests throughout the course of their post-season campaign.

The previous points mark fell by the wayside as the squad tallied 2,286 on the year. The offensive output led to 78.8 points per outing, the second-best average in school history.

Western Michigan also posted new top totals in 3-point field goals (209) and steals (275). One of the nation's top free throw performers as a team, WMU converted on 74.6 percent of its opportunities, the second-best percentage to date.

Washington, who earned First Team All-MAC accolades, finished as the program's third all-time leading scorer with 1,668 points and Johnson wasn't far behind with 1,143 points (14th). Washington finished among the career leaders in eight different categories.

1997-98 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- Program's second NCAA appearance and victory (Clemson)
- Share of MAC regular season championship
- Second-most overall wins (21) and MAC victories (14) in school history
- Most points (2,286) in a season
- Program-best 209 3-point field goals
- Top steals mark (275)
- First Team All-MAC performer Saddi Washington

Western Michigan had high expectations entering the 2003-04 campaign, but even the most optimistic of Bronco fans couldn't have anticipated the level of success the team encountered.

When the season's final buzzer sounded in mid-March, the Broncos had posted a single-season record 26 victories. Included in those wins were the Mid-American Conference West Division, regular season and tournament titles, leading to the program's third-ever NCAA Tournament appearance.

The Broncos wasted little time in making a statement for the season under first-year head coach Steve Hawkins. WMU opened the season with an impressive 83-65 victory over USC of the Pac 10 in University Arena.

Following a loss at Detroit, the squad rattled off 11-straight wins. Included in that run were five MAC wins, a victory over NCAA Tournament team UAB and the team title at the azcentral.com Hoops Classic at Arizona State.

Western Michigan jumped out ahead of the rest of the West Division and remained on top for the remainder of the campaign. A convincing victory over rival Central Michigan clinched the crown and eventually allowed the Broncos to claim the top seed in the postseason tournament.

WMU wasn't happy with its first-ever win in Cleveland and went on to claim two more victories for the championship title. After handing Marshall a 96-62 payback decision (the Herd defeated WMU in overtime on Feb. 15), the Broncos downed Toledo 87-77 in the semifinals.

The win over the Rockets set up a showdown with MAC power Kent State. Thanks to senior Mike Williams's first-career 3-pointer in the closing moments, WMU was able to hand the Golden Flashes a 77-66 defeat and the celebration began.

WMU saw its season come to an end with a 71-58 loss to Vanderbilt in the NCAA Tournament.

Heading into the 2013-14 season with 10 underclassmen, Western Michigan knew it was going to have to rely heavily on seniors David Brown and Shayne Whittington in order to produce a successful season. But it would be that combination, along with key roles being filled by young players, that fueled a remarkable year that ended with the fourth NCAA Tournament berth in program history.

WMU opened the season with a visit to Hawaii for the Outrigger Hotels and Resorts Rainbow Classic, but it was business as usual for the Broncos, taking two of the three games played by defeating NCAA Tournament participants New Mexico State and Tennessee State and winning the tournament championship. Brown was named the Tournament MVP, the first of many honors he would receive that season, and the Broncos went on to compile a 7-5 record through non-conference play.

WMU opened many eyes around the MAC and showed teams that they were ready to prove the doubters wrong when they defeated preseason MAC West division favorite Toledo by double-digits to open conference play. The Broncos were just 4-3 in conference play before they rattled off eight straight victories, going undefeated in the month of February to put themselves firmly in the hunt for the team's first MAC regular season championship since 2004. They completed the feat in the regular season finale at rival Central Michigan, blowing out the Chippewas in Mount Pleasant to secure a share of the title.

The Broncos entered the MAC Tournament as the No. 1 seed and produced an instant classic in their semifinal win over Akron; WMU trailed by as many as 18 points in the second half before clawing their way back to force overtime with the Zips. In the extra session, Brown banked in a three-pointer with 32 seconds left to give the Broncos a 64-60 win and send them to the MAC Tournament final against Toledo. Whittington went off for a double-double of 20 points and 13 rebounds against the Rockets, Brown scored a career-high 32 points, and the Broncos set a MAC Tournament scoring record with a 98-77 win to propel themselves to the NCAA Tournament.

The season came to an end with a loss to 11th-ranked Syracuse in the NCAA Tournament, but not before the Broncos had accomplished a number of milestones along the way. The team's 23-10 record was the third-highest single-season wins total in program history, and the regular season and MAC Tournament championships marked just the second time in program history the Broncos won both in the same season. Head coach Steve Hawkins reached two personal wins milestones of his own, becoming just the eighth coach in MAC history to win 200 overall games and 100 conference games and was voted the MAC Coach of the Year, as well as NABC District 14 Coach of the Year.

Brown and Whittington were each named First Team All-MAC, becoming the first pair of Broncos to accomplish this feat since 2008. Sophomore Connor Tava was named All-MAC Honorable Mention as well as Academic All-MAC, while freshman Tucker Haymond became the fifth Bronco in six seasons to be placed on the MAC All-Freshman team.

- Recorded 23 wins, the third-most in a single-season in program history
- MAC West Division, regular season and tourney champs
- Program's fourth-ever trip to the NCAA Tournament
- David Brown named MAC Tournament MVP with 32-point performance in championship game against Toledo
- MAC Tournament-record 98 points in MAC Tournament win over To
- Brown and Shayne Whittington both named First Team All-MAC
- Winners of the 2013 Rainbow Classic Tournament at Hawai'i, which was the second straight MTE win for the Broncos

The Broncos hadn't had much success since the outstanding 1975-76 team made it to final eight of the 1976 NCAA Tournament, but that would all change in Bob Donewald's third season as head coach.

Western Michigan started the 1991-92 season by winning nine in a row, including a home win over Oregon State and road victories over Loyola (Ill.), Siena and Fairleigh Dickinson.

Mid-American Conference play opened just as strong with the Broncos racing out to an 8-2 mark, including road wins at Central Michigan, Kent State and Toledo. WMU finished just as strong as it started by beating Central Michigan in overtime to take the season sweep over the Chippewas, beat Bowling Green on the road and finished with an 80-66 home win over Eastern Michigan.

The Broncos then won their opening MAC Tournament game over Kent State, before bowing out in the semifinals against Ball State, 65-61.

However, the season wouldn't end there. The Broncos' 21-8 record, just the second 20-win season in school history, earned the first Postseason NIT appearance in Bronco history. WMU took the short trip southwest to South Bend, Ind., to play at Notre Dame. The Broncos hung tough with the Fighting Irish in a 63-56 loss at the Joyce Center.

Western Michigan finished the year with the second-best turnaround in the NCAA from 5-22 in 1990-91 to 21-9 in 1991-92. The 21 wins ranked as the second most in school history to that point. That drastic turnaround earned Donewald the MAC Coach of the Year award.

The Broncos were led by First Team All-MAC senior center Jim Havrilla with 13.8 points and 8.2 rebounds per game, while sophomore forward Leon McGee was named Second Team All-MAC with 15.1 points, 4.3 rebounds and 2.7 assists per game. WMU also benefited from the long-range proficiency of junior forward Sean Wightman as he led the nation by hitting 63.2 percent from behind the three-point line. The Broncos also got solid play from MAC Freshman of the Year runner-up Ebon Sanders with 6.5 points, 3.3 assists and 1.6 steals per game, junior guard Darrick Brooks with 11.3 points and 1.8 steals per game and senior forward Virgil Grayson with 9.5 points and 6.0 rebounds per game.

- Program's first Postseason NIT appearance
- Second-most wins in school history at that point (21)
- Only second 20-win season in school history
- Second-biggest turnaround in NCAA Division I from 5-22 to 21-9
- School records in three-point percentage (.483) and free throws made (556)
- Fifth-highest scoring average in school history (70.2 ppg), fourth-best field goal percentage (.483)
- First Team All-MAC Jim Havrilla, Second Team All-MAC Leon McGee
- MAC Coach of the Year Bob Donewald
- Sean Wightman led the NCAA with .632 three-point percentage

After a 10-win turnaround in 2001-02, the Western Michigan's men's basketball team was poised to take the next step in 2002-03 under third-year head coach Robert McCullum.

The Broncos started the season with a huge wins at Michigan, 56-52, and at Auburn, 72-54, while also defeating Virginia Tech in Kalamazoo, 75-54. Those wins propelled the Broncos to an 8-1 non-conference record.

That helped the Broncos as they went through an up-and-down MAC campaign that saw the Broncos sitting at just 7-8 going into their final three games. The Broncos finished strong by defeating Ball State, 86-74, and Buffalo, 87-66, in Kalamazoo before ending the season with a 71-67 overtime victory at Northern Illinois.

WMU then took down Toledo in the first round of the MAC Tournament, but fell to the Huskies in the next round. Still, the Broncos 19-10 mark, including three wins over major conference teams in November and December earned the Broncos a spot in their second Postseason NIT.

Western Michigan earned a home opener, the first postseason basketball game ever hosted by the Broncos, against Illinois-Chicago.

It was a tight game throughout and the Flames held a one-point edge, 59-58, when Mike Williams hit a jumper with 2:33 remaining to give WMU the lead for good. The Broncos forced a turnover on the next possession and Robby Collum put the Broncos up three with a pair of free throws with 53 seconds remaining.

Anthony Kann led the way with 19 points and 13 rebounds, while Williams had 17 points and nine rebounds, Collum scored 14 points and Ben Reed added 10 points and nine rebounds.

The win earned the Broncos a trip to Albany, N.Y., to play Siena in the next round. WMU fell behind by eight at halftime, but came back to take the lead, 54-53, with 5:26 to go on a Jeff Bronson jumper. Siena held WMU scoreless over the next three minutes, holding on for the win.

Collum led all players with 27 points and 10 rebounds, while Kann had 10 points and 10 rebounds. Kann led WMU with 14.4 points and 8.8 rebounds, while Collum chipped in 13.6 point, 4.0 assists and 3.1 rebounds per game as both players received Honorable Mention All-MAC honors.

The late season run by the Broncos set the stage for what turned out to be one of the best seasons in school history in 2003-04.

- Fourth 20-win season in school history
- Second Postseason NIT appearance and fourth postseason trip overall
- WMU led the MAC with a school-record 279 steals as a team (9.00) and Robby Collum led the conference with a school-record and MAC-high 83 steals
- Second in the MAC in scoring defense (63.5 ppg)
- Robby Collum and Anthony Kann Honorable Mention All-MAC

The 2004-05 Western Michigan men's basketball team had a lot to live up to, following the team that won a school-record 26 games and advanced to the 2004 NCAA Tournament. Despite losing the reigning MAC Player of the Year in Mike Williams and All-MAC center Anthony Kann, the Broncos still had the pieces to make another run at the MAC championship.

WMU dropped its first two games of the season in Alaska, but then went on an 8-1 run that included road wins at College of Charleston and Virginia Tech. That run helped propel the Broncos to a 5-0 MAC start. The Broncos hit a bump in the road over their next 12 games, but still managed to finish 11-7, share the MAC West championship and earn a bye in the first round of the MAC Tournament. The Broncos reached Cleveland and had to eke out a 66-60 overtime victory over Akron. The Broncos set a MAC Tournament record in that game with 55 rebounds.

It looked as if WMU was on its way back to the MAC Tournament championship game when it took a 12-point second half lead on Buffalo in the semifinals, but the Bulls battled back to knock off the Broncos. A MAC West championship and 8-3 non-conference record, however, was enough to get the Broncos into the postseason for the third-straight year when they received a bid to the Postseason NIT.

The Broncos' opening task was daunting as they were sent to Milwaukee, Wis., to play Marquette, featuring future NBA player Steve Novak. The Broncos were up to the task and held Novak to 1-of-9 shooting and the Golden Eagles as a team to 28.6 percent shooting overall and 4.8 percent (1-21) from three-point range. Senior Levi Rost led all scorers with 18 points and nine rebounds and junior Brian Snider added 11 points and seven rebounds.

That set up one of the most exciting games in WMU history when TCU visited Kalamazoo for the next round of the NIT. A standing-room only crowd of 5,421 packed University Arena to see WMU score on a steal and layup by senior Ben Reed at the end of regulation to force overtime, but it wasn't enough in a 78-76 overtime loss. Reed led all players with 26 points and Rost added 16.

At the end of the season, Reed (17.7 ppg, 6.2 rpg) was named First Team All-MAC and Rost (16.5 ppg, 6.1 rpg) was named Second Team All-MAC. Freshman center Joe Reitz (9.4 ppg, 5.5 rpg) also showed what was to come as he was named to the MAC All-Freshman Team.

2004-05 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- Sixth 20-win season in school history
- Third Postseason NIT appearance was third-straight postseason appearance and sixth overall
- Hosted second home postseason game (vs. TCU) and soldout University Arena
- Second in the MAC in scoring (72.9 ppg)
- Levi Rost set a school record with 91 three-pointers and Ben Reed's 81 is third
- Rickey Willis had 160 assists, third-most in a season at WMU
- First Team All-MAC Ben Reed, Second Team All-MAC Levi Rost, MAC All-Freshman Team Joe Reitz

The 2010-11 season was supposed to be a transition year for the Broncos; MAC Player of the Decade David Kool had graduated, leaving WMU a scoring void in the backcourt that some thought they would be unable to overcome.

Someone forgot to tell the Broncos, apparently.

WMU lost four of its first five games, but the Broncos would rebound with wins in seven of their next nine. WMU was battle hardened by winning four of those games by one possession, showing the ability to overcome adversity and battle against opponents in difficult situations.

Over the course of the conference schedule, the Broncos went a perfect 4-0 against their in-state rivals Eastern Michigan and Central Michigan to win the Michigan MAC trophy. WMU had bigger things on its mind, though; the Broncos won seven of their last eight regular season games to finish first in the MAC West division for the fifth time under head coach Steve Hawkins.

The Broncos earned a bye in the first round of the MAC Tournament and met Bowling Green in the quarterfinals, played at Quicken Loans Arena in Cleveland. The Broncos down the Falcons 67-56, the fifth straight double-digit win for the Broncos to that point in the season. The win was also the 20th of the season for WMU, giving the Broncos their eighth 20-win season in program history.

Although Akron eked out a win over the Broncos in the semifinals of the MAC Tournament, the postseason hopes were not dashed for WMU. The Broncos hosted a postseason game for the first time since the Postseason NIT game in 2005 when the CollegeInsider.com Tournament (CIT) came to town.

The Broncos took the lead for good early in the first half when Flenard Whitfield nailed a jumper to make it 18-17; the Broncos would push it to a 10-point lead at halftime and would never trail again in cruising to a fairly comfortable 74-66 win.

MAC rival Buffalo would come to Kalamazoo for the second round of the CIT, and the two teams engaged in a defensive slugfest. Alex Wolf, the lone senior on the Western Michigan squad, led the team in scoring with 13 points, but the Bulls escaped Kalamazoo with a 49-48 win.

Demetrius Ward (13.8 ppg) ranked 10th in the MAC in scoring and was named Second-Team All-MAC. Wolf became the 13th player under head coach Steve Hawkins to earn Academic All-MAC.

- Fifth 20-win season in school history
- First CollegeInsider.com Tournament (CIT) appearance, and first postseason games hosted at University Arena since 2005.
- Demetrius Ward named Second-Team All-MAC, Flenard Whitfield All-MAC Honorable Mention
- Fifth MAC West Division title under head coach Steve Hawkins

The 2014-15 season saw the Broncos overcome the loss of several important players to injury and illness to reach the postseason, as WMU went 20-14 to earn a bid to host a home game in the 2015 CIT against Cleveland State. The Broncos played in the DirecTV Wooden Legacy to become the only team in the country to have played in every ESPN-run multiple-team event, beating San Jose State and San Diego in sunny Anaheim, Calif. in front of national television audiences.

The Broncos began strong in MAC play by winning four of their first five conference games, but the injury bug hit early on when senior point guard Austin Richie went down with a broken hand. The Broncos battled with freshman Thomas Wilder at the spot, however, and continued to push toward the top of the MAC West division until the last few weeks of the year. WMU went on to finish 10-8 in Mid-American Conference play, defeating regular season champion and in-state rival Central Michigan at University Arena to put a punctuation mark on the regular season.

WMU slammed Ohio in the opening round of the 2015 MAC Tournament, beating the Bobcats for the second time that year with an 84-72 performance at University Arena. Second Team All-MAC selection David Brown scored a career-high 34 points and tied a Bronco record at University Arena with eight three-pointers made in the contest as WMU punched its ticket to Cleveland for the second round. Though they were unable to overcome Akron in their next game, the 20-win Broncos still had a spot in the postseason. They ultimately fell in their first home postseason game since 2013, losing to the Vikings.

In addition to Brown, Connor Tava earned the second All-MAC Honorable Mention recognition of his career after setting career-highs in scoring, rebounding, assists and field goal percentage. Wilder was named to the MAC All-Freshman team after averaging 7.2 points per game and shooting 45.0 percent from the field. Tucker Haymond continued his development in his sophomore campaign, averaging 11.8 points per game and shooting 49.6 percent from the field.

2014-15 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- Program's second CIT appearance and third straight trip to the postseason
- David Brown named Second Team All-MAC and reached top-10 in program history in scoring with 1,536 career points
- Connor Tava named All-MAC Honorable Mention for second straight season after leading the team in most major offensive categories and ranking second in scoring
- Thomas Wilder named to the MAC All-Freshman team, the sixth player in the last seven years to make their way onto the team
- Just the second time in program history the team won 20+ games three years in a row

The Western Michigan Broncos rebounded from a disappointing finish to the 2011-12 season in the unlikeliest way possible, storming out to the third-best overall single-season record in program history and a deep postseason run with a roster that included just one starter from the previous season and major minutes and contributions from five freshmen.

The stage for the season was set in the summer, when the team traveled abroad for their much-anticipated foreign trip. Playing against club and professional teams in Rome, Florence, Nice, and Monaco, the young Broncos were afforded the opportunity to bond over the course of 10 days, building a chemistry that served them well early in the season. One of the early season highlights included a three-game sweep at the USF Invitational hosted by South Florida, with the Broncos defeating Loyola-Chicago, Maryland-Eastern Shore, and the hosting Bulls enroute to their first in-season tournament title since the 2004-05 season.

Success carried over into the start of the conference season as well, as the Broncos rattled off a seven-game win streak against MAC foes and opened the conference slate with a 7-2 record. The Broncos clinched their sixth MAC West title under head coach Steve Hawkins in the penultimate game of the conference season, and a win against rival Central Michigan in the season finale guaranteed the Broncos the third seed in the 2013 MAC Tournament and a bye to the quarterfinals. The Broncos dismantled Eastern Michigan 70-55 at Quicken Loans Arena to reach the 20-win plateau and the semifinal of the tournament before falling to Ohio.

The Broncos were not done, however, as they reached postseason play for the fourth time under Hawkins with a berth in the 2013 College Basketball Invitational. WMU hosted and defeated North Dakota State in overtime in the opening round of the tournament played at University Arena, and went on to break Wyoming's 23-game non-conference home winning streak with a thrilling 75-67 overtime win in Laramie, highlighted by David Brown draining a buzzer-beater three-pointer at the end of regulation to send the game to the extra session.

Shayne Whittington was a dominant force at center for the Broncos, earning Second Team All-MAC honors, while senior teammate Nate Hutcheson was named an Honorable Mention. Brown earned MAC Sixth Man of the Year honors while Darius Paul was the conference's Freshman of the Year.

- Sixth 20-win season in school history
- 22 wins third-most for a single season in program history
- First College Basketball Invitational (CBI) appearance in program history
- Darius Paul named MAC Freshman of the Year, David Brown named MAC Sixth Man of the Year
- Shayne Whittington (2nd) and Nate Hutcheson (HM) named to All-MAC teams
- Sixth MAC West Division title under head coach Steve Hawkins
