Recap

C.J. Massinburg poured in a career-high 43 points to lead Buffalo to a 99-94 overtime win over 13th-ranked West Virginia at the WVU Coliseum.

Massinburg hit 12 of his 22 shot attempts, including 9 of 15 from 3, made all 10 of his second-half free throw attempts to finish 10 of 12 from the line, grabbed 14 rebounds and handed out three assists.

Buffalo's other 10 players were just 2 of 22 from 3.

WVU, playing for the first time in four years without All-American guard Jevon Carter, came out on fire to build an early eight-point lead. The Bulls (2-0) battled back to take a pair of four-point leads before the Mountaineers used back-to-back 3s from Chase Harler and Beetle Bolden, and then another 3 from Bolden to go ahead by seven, 31-24.

Bolden also dropped in a driving layup ahead of the horn to give the Mountaineers an eight-point halftime advantage.

In the second half, West Virginia (0-1) built its lead to 13 on Lamont West's 3 from the corner, making it 49-36, and once again at 71-58 on Logan Routt's bucket just ahead of the eight-minute timeout.

WVU maintained its double-digit margin on three Bolden free throws with 4:43 remaining, but Bolden soon had to leave the game with severe leg cramping and did not return.

Consequently, West Virginia's only field goal for the remainder of regulation was Andrew Gordon's loose-ball basket with 3:58 left, which made the score 81-73.

And that's when Massinburg took over.

His 3s on consecutive possessions pulled Buffalo to within two, 81-79, and then another deep triple with 16 seconds left tied the game at 84.

Following two Mountaineer timeouts, the second one used when Esa Ahmad couldn't inbound the basketball underneath Buffalo's basket, West Virginia had an opportunity to win it in regulation. As time was winding down, however, freshman point guard Brandon Knapper struggled to get WVU into its offensive set deep in the backcourt. He eventually got the ball to West standing well beyond the 3-point line for a desperation shot that failed to draw iron. Sagaba Konate grabbed the offensive rebound but was unable to get off another attempt ahead of the buzzer.

The Mountaineers' next field goal didn't come until 41 seconds were remaining in overtime, that coming on Ahmad's layup.

An announced crowd of 12,657 attended the game.

Notebook

- Massinburg's 43 points were four shy of the WVU Coliseum record of 47 established by Notre Dame All-America guard Austin Carr 47 years ago on Feb. 20, 1971, and were the most points scored against the Mountaineers since Duquesne's Mark Stevenson dropped in 43 at the A.J. Palumbo Center on Jan. 30, 1990.

Recap

Lamont West's career-high 27 points helped West Virginia defeat Saint Joseph's 97-90 to earn the Mountaineers a third place finish at the Myrtle Beach Invitational at Coastal Carolina's HTC Center in Conway, South Carolina.

West made 8 of 12 from the floor, including 7 of 11 from 3, and hit all four of his free throw attempts to give West Virginia a big boost off the bench.

The Mountaineers (2-2) benefitted from St. Joseph's fouls, the Hawks losing their leading scorer Charlie Brown to fouls 8:07 remaining and West Virginia leading 79-71.

Soon after, Wesley Harris hit a 3 to put the Mountaineers ahead by 11, and their lead swelled to a game-high 14 with 6:01 remaining on Brandon Knapper's 3 from the wing.

Knapper, on the floor in place of injured starter Beetle Bolden, out with an elbow injury suffered during Friday night's loss to Western Kentucky, logged 24 minutes and scored 9 points, grabbed five rebounds and handed out five assists. More importantly, Knapper turned the ball over just one time and the Mountaineers as a team were credited with just 12 miscues – 10 fewer than they committed in the earlier loss to Western Kentucky.

"We moved the ball," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said. "We got open guys the shots they can make."

Sagaba Konate scored 15 and grabbed nine rebounds, Harris contributed 13 points off the bench and Esa Ahmad finished with 12.

Konate, who missed all three of his 3-point attempts in the game against the Hilltoppers, didn't try a 3 this afternoon, taking all 12 of his shot attempts from inside the arc.

Sixty seven of West Virginia's 97 points came from forwards West, Konate, Harris and Ahmad.

"Those are the guys who we thought were going to be our strength this year," Huggins said.

WVU had a 39-29 advantage on the glass and was able to withstand a 52-percent shooting performance from behind the arc from St. Joseph's, which finished 13 of 25 from there. The Hawks struggled at the free throw line, however, missing 11 to shoot just 60.7 percent.

There were 20 ties and 14 lead changes in the game, which West Virginia led at halftime, 41-49.

St. Joe's largest lead was six points midway through the first half and its final lead was 64-62 on Lamarr Kimble's layup with 13:25 remaining in the game. WVU tied it on Knapper's two free throws and gradually got it to five on more free throws from West and Ahmad.

Notebook

- Sagaba Konate was named to the Myrtle Beach Invitational All-Tournament Team.

Recap
Esa Ahmad's career-high 30 points and Sagaba Konate's career-best 26 powered West Virginia to an 88-76 victory over Valparaiso here at the WVU Coliseum.

"They're both capable, we just need them to be more consistent until we can get these freshmen a little more knowledge of what college basketball is all about," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said.

Twenty four of Konate's 26 came in the second half, at one point the forward pouring in 13 points during a four-minute stretch to help West Virginia extend its three-point halftime lead to five on his straight-away 3, and then to seven on his diving layup the next time down the floor.

Freshman Emmitt Matthews Jr.'s second try from dose to the basket gave the Mountaineers their first double-digit advantage at 11 with 6:42 remaining.

WVU's biggest lead was 14 on Ahmad's jumper with 1:02 left. Derrick Smits, the son of former NBA standout Rik Smits, led Valpo with 20 points on 9-of-12 shooting. The Crusaders (3-3) hit 9-of-20 from behind

Recap

Esa Ahmad and Beetle Bolden scored 15 points each to lead six West Virginia double-figure scorers in the Mountaineers' 106-72 victory over Youngstown State at the WVU Coliseum.

No regular played more than starting guard Chase Harler's 24 minutes.

"Those freshmen have just got to play and keep getting better and better," Huggins said. "The more we can get them into the game the better they are going to be."

Sagaba Konate scored the game's first basket and WVU never trailed, the Mountaineers building their lead to double digits on Bolden's steal and layup before the under-16 timeout.

An 11-0 run over the remaining 3:44 gave West Virginia a commanding 55-37 halftime lead.

West Virginia's largest lead was 34 points, 99-65, with 4:11 remaining. Thirteen different players got into the game and 12 scored for West Virginia. Konate contributed 14 points and a team-high nine rebounds. The junior was also credited with three blocks.

Wesley Harris, Brandon Knapper and Lamont West scored 10 each for West Virginia.

The Mountaineers shot a season-high 54.1 percent from the floor, hitting 40 of its 74 shot attempts. WVU was also credited with 20 assists on its 40 field goals.

WVU had a 47-39 edge on the glass, but the Penguins pulled down an alarming 17 offensive rebounds. Both teams took a lot of 3s - Youngstown State attempted 36 and West Virginia 32.

The Penguins got a game-high 20 points off the bench from Garrett Covington.

Youngstown State shot 37.7 percent from the floor and finished with 15 turnovers, but Huggins was still not satisfied with his team's half-court defense.

"We don't gang-guard the way we need to gang-guard," he pointed out. "We're not in help position and we watch the ball too much. We've got to get better at helping and supporting each other."

An announced crowd of 10,849 watched the game.

Youngstown State is coached by former Mountaineer assistant coach Jerrod Calhoun, who also coached Fairmont State for five seasons.

Notebook

- The win was the 850th of Bob Huggins' coaching career.
- The two teams met for the first time since 1982.
- West Virginia improved to a 5-0 mark in the series, including a 3-0 mark in the WVU Coliseum.

Recap

Rhode Island took advantage of West Virginia's poor shooting to run away with an 83-70 victory over the Mountaineers in the Basketball Hall of Fame Classic at Mohegan Sun Arena in Uncasville, Connecticut.

The Mountaineers, with starting forward Sagaba Konate who was unavailable for the game with an injured right knee, struggled without him to find any offensive rhythm against the Rams.

WVU trailed the entire first half and if not for the free throw line the Rams' two-point halftime lead would have been much larger.

West Virginia briefly took a three-point lead on Brandon Knapper's 3 early in the second half, but another field goal drought saw the Rams rebuild their lead to four when Omar Silverio's jumper made it 63-59.

It was still a one-point game with 8:21 remaining when WVU came unglued.

A missed Ahmad 3 turned into a Cyril Langevine dunk. Then, back-to-back misses by Chase Harler and Ahmad resulted in another run-out dunk by Jeff Dowlin. The next time down the floor, a Jermaine Haley turnover led to Langevine's jumper to give Rhode Island a seven-point cushion.

WVU temporarily trimmed the deficit to four on Wesley Harris' 3, but five straight empty possessions enabled Rhode Island to expand its margin to 75-65 and take control of the game with 2:39 remaining.

URI's biggest lead was 14 points achieved twice at 81-67 and 82-68.

Guards Fatts Russell and Jeff Dowlin led five Rhode Island double figure scorers with 18 points each. Langevine added 15 points and six rebounds after sitting a good portion of the first half in early foul trouble.

West Virginia, much like it did in its 10-point loss to Florida earlier in the season in Madison Square Garden, struggled all game long on the offensive end of the floor. The Mountaineers were 18-of-56 shooting, including 5-of-25 from 3-point distance while turning the ball over 15 times.

WVU's only effective offensive player was forward Wesley Harris, who made five of his six shot attempts to finish with a career-high 18 points to go with nine rebounds.

Ahmad added 12 but got off just six shot attempts, making two, while starting guards Beetle Bolden and Chase Harler were a combined 1-of-14 shooting with two assists and four turnovers.

The point differential between the two starting backcourts favored Rhode Island 36-6.

Huggins was also unhappy with his team's non-existent pressure that resulted in just one steal. The Rams had a 44-24 scoring edge in the paint and got 20 points off of those 15 WVU turnovers.

Notebook

- The two schools met for the first time since the 2004 NIT.
- WVU is now 20-13 all-time against the Rams, however, Rhode Island has won six of the last nine in the series.

Recap

Wesley Harris followed up a career high with another career high. The junior forward was two points better than the 18 he scored against Rhode Island to help West Virginia defeat Jacksonville State 74-72 in front of 8,231 at the WVU Coliseum.

Harris made eight of his 11 field goal attempts and it was his clutch 3-point shooting late in the game that helped the Mountaineers hold off the Gamecocks.

West Virginia (7-4), playing without starting center Sagaba Konate, also played all but four minutes without top scorer Esa Ahmad.

Ahmad scored two

Recap

West Virginia simply didn't have an answer for Isaac Likekele. Oklahoma State's unlikely hero scored a career-high 23 points and Cameron McGriff added 16 points and 10 rebounds to lead the Cowboys to an 85-77 victory at the WVU Coliseum.

Likekele, who came into the game averaging 7.1 points, 16 above his average by shooting seven-of-10 from the floor, mostly on straight-line drives to the rim. He also made nine-of-11 from the free throw line and overall the Cowboys converted 23-of-31 from there.

It was the third straight victory for the Cowboys at the WVU Coliseum. Oklahoma State's 5-2 record in Morgantown is the best of any Big 12 team since West Virginia joined the conference in 2012.

For the struggling Mountaineers, it was their fourth straight conference defeat and their overall record drops to 8-8.

Huggins, who used a starting lineup consisting of Beetle Bolden, Jermaine Haley, Chase Harler, Lamont West and Logan Routt and did not play regulars Esa Ahmad and Wesley Harris, also used true freshman guard Trey Doomes for the first time this year seeking a spark.

At one point in the first half he had four freshmen on the floor at the same time with Doomes, Derek Culver, Jordan McCabe and Emmitt Matthews Jr. out there.

WVU missed its first seven shots but was able to hang around until the Cowboys began to take control late in the first half. Five straight McGriff points gave Oklahoma State a 28-22 lead, and consecutive 3s from Maurice Callool and Curtis Jones built the margin to 10.

A Jones 3 and some free throws gave the Cowboys an 11-point halftime advantage.

West scored the first eight points of the second half for West Virginia, and then Bolden added five more to make it a two-point game with 11:39 remaining.

But Oklahoma State answered with a 15-7 run to build its lead back to 10 - eight of those coming from Likekele.

The Cowboys' biggest lead was 12, 75-63, with 3:48 remaining. But WVU couldn't stop Likekele's drives to the basket and failed to cover Oklahoma State's 3-point shooters, the Cowboys finishing 8-of-17 from behind the arc for 47.1 percent.

West Virginia also struggled with its outside shot by missing 23 of its 29 triple attempts and finishing shooting just 38.8 percent.

The Mountaineers had a 43-36 advantage on the glass but 18 of those rebounds came off of missed shots.

Notebook

- Bolden, who scored just two points in the first half, finished with a career-high 31, including 22 of the Mountaineers' final 25 points of the game.

Recap

Desmond Bane's 26 points led TCU to a 98-67 victory over West Virginia at Schollmaier Arena in Fort Worth, Texas.

The Horned Frogs, which missed six of their first seven shots, warmed up pretty quickly. TCU ended up hitting 12 triples and scoring 28 more at the free throw line on 37 attempts to come two points shy of eclipsing the 100-point barrier for the first time against a Bob Huggins-coached Mountaineer team.

The 31-point loss was West Virginia's worst since suffering a 39-point defeat against No. 1-ranked Kentucky in the Sweet 16 round of the 2015 NCAA Tournament.

All eight players TCU coach Jamie Dixon put in the game got in the scoring column with six reaching double figures.

In addition to Bane's 26, Alex Robinson scored 14, JD Miller 13, Kouat Noi and Lat Mayen 12 each, and Kevin Samuel finishing with 10.

TCU (13-3, 2-2) shot 47.5 percent (29 of 61) from the floor, including 12 of 28 from 3.

TCU's largest lead was 35 with 2:21 remaining in the game. West Virginia got a team-high 15 points from Beetle Bolden. Bolden only played 25 minutes after getting into early foul trouble. Wesley Harris was the only other Mountaineer to reach double figures with 13.

Freshman Derek Culver, coming off a 15-point, 15-rebound double-double in a loss to Oklahoma State, scored eight points and grabbed four rebounds in 22 minutes.

Turnovers once again were an issue for West Virginia as the Mountaineers committed 17 miscues, two more than their season average. As was the case against Oklahoma State, there were times when Huggins had as many as four freshmen out on the floor at the same time.

"They have kind of a breakout and our guy comes down and blocks his shot and their guy ran right by our next guy, caught it and dunked it in," Huggins said. "Now, you just make a great effort play and you turn around and there is your teammate jogging down the floor. That's not teamwork at all. And that's something we've never had.

"We've had teams that weren't very talented in the past but they tried. West Virginians appreciate hard work. It's a state of hard-working people and I'm embarrassed."

Notebook

- It was TCU's second-ever victory against West Virginia, both coming at TCU during the last two years.

Recap

Makai Mason's season-high 29 points led Baylor to an 85-73 victory over West Virginia at the WVU Coliseum.

The Yale graduate transfer made 10-of-16 field goals and handed out four assists to help the streaking Bears to their third straight conference victory.

West Virginia, hoping to capitalize on its first Big 12 win two days ago against Kansas, couldn't match the same effort and intensity it put forth against the Jayhawks.

Baylor (12-6, 4-2) out-rebounded West Virginia 45-35 and at one point in the game had nearly as many offensive rebounds (eight) as the Mountaineers had total rebounds (nine).

The Bears took control of the game midway through the first half by going on an 11-3 run to build a 12-point lead. They eventually got it to 17 on a couple of Devonte Bandoo 3s.

Baylor's biggest lead was 21 with 15:54 remaining in the game.

West Virginia (9-10, 1-6) used full-court pressure to force 16 second half turnovers and get its deficit down to eight on a Bolden 3 from the top of the key with 3:33 remaining.

But Baylor immediately answered Bolden's 3 with Mario Kegler's driving layup.

Bolden, who finished with a team-high 22 points, fouled out with 2:44 left leaving the Mountaineers without their most reliable scorer to cut deeper into Baylor's lead.

Freshman Brandon Knapper came off the bench to add a season-high 15 on six-of-12 shooting. He was the only other WVU player to reach double figures.

In addition to Mason's 29, Kegler contributed a season-high 18 and Bandoo finished with 13.

Baylor shot 50 percent from the floor for the game and made 15-of-17 at the free throw line in the second half after missing 10 of its first 14.

Freshman Derek Culver got into early foul trouble and endured his toughest game as a Mountaineer, finishing with 3 points on one-of-eight shooting.

West Virginia also struggled at the line by missing 13 of its 34 free throw tries while also missing a staggering 16 layups.

"I don't understand how we can continually miss the shots that we miss," Huggins said. "We were 10-for-26 in layups - shots around the rim. Ten-for-26.

"We got pretty good shots."

Notebook

- The win for Baylor snapped its three-game losing streak to West Virginia and also its three-game losing streak versus the Mountaineers at the Coliseum.

Recap

Top-ranked Tennessee used a 25-2 run over the remaining nine minutes of the first half on the way to an 83-66 victory over West Virginia in a SEC/Big 12 challenge game at Thompson-Boling Arena in Knoxville, Tennessee.

The Mountaineers jumped out to an early 8-2 lead and led the Volunteers 19-7 after a Beetle Bolden 3 with 11:05 remaining in the first half. It was the fifth 3 out of eight attempts for the Mountaineers up to that point in the game.

But the next 10 minutes saw West Virginia score just two points, those coming on a Derek Culver jumper with 1:34, as Tennessee built its halftime lead to 31-21.

West Virginia missed 14 of its 15 shot attempts during its long scoreless drought.

"All of a sudden they started throwing it dose and backing us in" Huggins said. "They shot layups and we got out of the way."

Tennessee's biggest lead was 21, 60-39, with 9:21 remaining in the game.

Lamonte Turner scored a game-high 23 points to lead the No. 1 ranked Vols.

Grant Williams, coming off a 43-point performance earlier in the week at Vanderbilt, contributed 19 while Admiral Schofield added 14 points and a game-high 10 rebounds for Tennessee.

"They're good. That's a heck of a team and they deserve everything they've got," Huggins said. "They're extremely well-coached. They're a veteran group and they've got a lot of things going for them."

West Virginia got 16 points and seven rebounds from Esa Ahmad and 15 points and six rebounds off the bench from Derek Culver.

Tennessee (18-1) shot 47.5 percent and out-scored West Virginia 40-26 in the paint while the Mountaineers committed 24 turnovers.

Recap

Freshman Brandon Knapper picked the right time to have the best game of his young college basketball career.

With Beetle Bolden out for the second straight game with an injured ankle and West Virginia coming off three straight double-digit losses, the South Charleston product scored a career-high 25 points to lift the Mountaineers to a 79-71 victory over Oklahoma at the WVU Coliseum

Knapper, who came into the game averaging 4.5 points per game and had seven more turnovers than assists, performed like a completely different player.

Aside from Knapper’s scoring, the Mountaineers won the game because they dominated the backboard by out-rebounding the Sooners 46-30. Frequently, West Virginia’s best offense was missing its initial shot and then Esa Ahmad, Derek Culver and Wesley Harris crashing in the glass.

The trio grabbed 16 of West Virginia’s 18 offensive rebounds to give it a 27-9 advantage in second-chance points.

Culver finished with 13 points and 14 rebounds, Ahmad scored 12 and grabbed 13 rebounds and Harris contributed 13 points and seven boards.

Oklahoma (15-7, 3-6) had things going its way with an early 15-10 lead and the Sooners led 26-25 with 3:27 remaining before West Virginia finished the half scoring the final eight points.

Knapper got a drive into the lane to go down off the glass, Chase Harler made a pair of free throws, Ahmad followed Logan Routt’s miss and then freshman guard Trey Doomes completed the first-half scoring with two more at the line.

In the second half, West Virginia (10-12, 2-7) built its lead to nine, 47-38, when Ahmad grabbed Harris’ miss and found Jordan McCabe open beyond the top of the key for a 3.

The Sooners eventually got their deficit down to one, 59-58, by driving to the basket and going to the free throw line nearly every time down the floor. During one four-minute stretch Oklahoma scored nine points despite taking just one shot attempt (an Aaron Calixte missed jumper).

OU made 18-of-19 from the line in the second half, including two from Kristian Doolittle with 4:52 remaining to make it a 63-60 game. Huggins chose to switch to a 3-2 zone to try and slow down OU dribble penetration.

Huggins called timeout with 1:59 remaining to get his team organized and out of that came a step-in 3 by Knapper from the wing to make it 68-63.

Then, it was Knapper making six straight from the free throw line and Culver adding two more with seven seconds remaining.

Notebook

- It was the Mountaineers’ fourth straight win against the Sooners.

Recap

West Virginia looked like a basketball team playing its third road game in 10 days.

Just two days after getting its second Big 12 victory of the year against Oklahoma, the Mountaineers looked like they had nothing left in the tank in losing 81-50 to 18th-ranked Texas Tech at United Supermarkets Arena in Lubbock, Texas.

West Virginia (10-13, 2-8) made just nine field goals – its fewest in a game in 77 years – and committed 26 turnovers in falling by 31 points on the road for the second time this season.

WVU made nine field goals in a 30-22 loss at Duquesne on Jan. 7, 1942. The fewest field goals made by a Mountaineer team during the shot-clock era was 10 against Cincinnati on Jan. 30, 2008, a 62-39 defeat against the Bearcats at

No. 14 Kansas had five different players reach double figures to defeat undermanned West Virginia 78-53 at Allen Fieldhouse.

Devon Dotson and K.J. Lawson scored 15 points each, and Dedric Lawson added 14 to help the Jayhawks.

David McCormack and Ochai Agbaji scored 10 each as Kansas shot 52.8 percent from the floor for the game.

KU (20-6, 9-4) held West Virginia to just 16 first-half points in building a commanding 27-point halftime lead.

"Our effort was good until we got down late in the first half and we started to feel sorry for ourselves," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said.

The Mountaineers were playing with just nine scholarship players following the dismissals of Esa Ahmad and Wesley Harris earlier in the week. Meanwhile, juniors Beetle Bolden and Sagaba Konate continue to sit out with injuries.

There were some small victories for West Virginia. The Mountaineers outscored the Jayhawks 37-35 in the second half and also had a 36-31 edge on the glass.

"I thought in the second half we came out with some intensity and made some good plays - and made them turn it over some as well," Huggins said.

Freshman Derek Culver was one point shy of recording his sixth double-double of the season with nine points and 12 rebounds. It's the seventh time the Youngstown, Ohio, resident has grabbed 10 or more rebounds in a game.

He also matched Jermaine Haley for the team lead in assists with four.

WVU got a team-high 11 points from Lamont West and Chase Harler, who came off the bench to make five of his nine field goal attempts.

The starting lineup Huggins used included three freshmen - Culver, Brandon Knapper and Emmitt Matthews Jr., making his first career start. He finished with seven points and five rebounds, but also had four turnovers.

West Virginia was just three-of-23 from behind the arc and turned the ball over 24 times.

"We haven't competed and I want them to compete," Huggins said. "If we compete we are going to win our share. Competing means we've got two guys rebounding the ball every single time - not once in five, not once in three - every single time because we don't make shots."

Notebook

- WVU also lost for the seventh time in Allen Fieldhouse, although three of the last four losses were by eight points or less.
- Allen Fieldhouse remains the only Big 12 venue that WVU has not won in.

Recap

Bob Huggins' young West Virginia team grew up a little bit vs. TCU. The undermanned Mountaineers outlasted the undermanned Horned Frogs 104-96 in triple overtime in front of 8,798 WVU fans at the WVU Coliseum.

West Virginia, with four freshmen playing, was the team making the clutch plays at the end after missing four different opportunities to hit game-winning shots in regulation and the first two overtimes.

In the final overtime, junior forward Lamont West's 3 from the wing with 2:59 remaining began a 10-0 West Virginia run over the next two minutes to give the Mountaineers 100-91 lead.

Following an Alex Robinson miss, a hustling Jermaine Haley scored to put West Virginia up four. Another TCU miss preceded a second Mountaineer 3, this one coming from Chase Harler in the corner, to put them up seven.

Two Haley free throws pushed the margin to nine. West Virginia had numerous chances to put TCU away, beginning in regulation when the Mountaineers led by six with 1:59 remaining. But freshman guard Jordan McCabe missed the front end of a one-and-one so instead of leading by as many as eight if McCabe makes both, the lead was sliced to three when J.D. Miller banged in a 3 at the other end.

On its next possession, TCU tied the game at 68 on Desmond Bane's 3.

WVU missed an opportunity to retake the lead with 24 seconds left when Kevin Samuel appeared to pin Haley's layup attempt on the glass, but no goal tending was called.

West Virginia also had a chance to win the game in regulation when Bane's turnover at midcourt ended up in the hands of McCabe, but his running 3-point try from the top of the key at the buzzer glanced off the front of the rim.

At the end of the first overtime, McCabe had two more cracks to win it at the buzzer. He rebounded his miss with three seconds left to take another 3 at the horn but once more it was off target.

At the end of the second overtime, Chase Harler's running jumper from the baseline with three second left glanced off the rim into the hands of Derek Culver, who was unable to get his stick-back attempt to go down just as time expired.

Notebook

- WVU played the sixth triple overtime game in school history.
- Culver became the first Mountaineer to have a 20-20 game since Maurice Robinson in 1977.
- McCabe became the first college basketball player since 2010 to have more than 25 points, 10 assists and five steals in a game.
- WVU had four guys log 50 or more minutes against TCU for the first time in a game in school history.
- WVU improved to 7-0 all-time against TCU in Morgantown.

Recap

West Virginia's surprising run in the Big 12 Championship ended in the semifinals when third-seeded Kansas ousted the 10th-seeded Mountaineers, 88-74, at the Sprint Center in Kansas City.

Dedric Lawson scored 24 points on 9-of-13 shooting and grabbed eight rebounds to get the Jayhawks back into the championship game.

West Virginia (14-20) was leading 32-25 until Kansas freshman guard Quentin Grimes caught fire from 3-point distance. The Woodlands, Texas, resident went 5-for-5 from behind the arc to key a 23-8 Jayhawk run over the remaining 5:34 to give them a 48-40 halftime lead.

"Grimes got hot at the end of the half," West Virginia coach Bob Huggins said. "We had our hands down and he just jumped up and shot them in. He was the biggest reason and maybe the only reason for their run. He was very good."

Another 14-2 Kansas spurt early in the second half extended the margin to 18 before it swelled to 23 on Charlie Moore's layup with 8:14 to go. A 10-point WVU flurry made it a 13-point game with 6:05 left, but Kansas answered with six straight points to push the lead back to 19.

In addition to Lawson's 24, Grimes scored 18 before leaving the game with a leg cramps, according to Self.

Devon Dotson added 13 and Marcus Garrett contributed 11 as Kansas shot a sizzling 52.4 percent from the floor, including 40 percent on 8-of-20 from 3-point range.

The Mountaineers got 16 points from junior forward Lamont West and a 14-point, 11-rebound, double-double from freshman forward Derek Culver, his 10th double-double of the season.

Freshman guard Brandon Knapper came off the bench to score 10. Emmitt Matthews Jr., who scored a career-high 28 points in the win over seventh-ranked Texas Tech, was held to just 5 on 2-of-10 shooting. Guards Jordan McCabe and Jermaine Haley also saw their seven game double-digit scoring streaks end.

McCabe finished with 7 on 3-of-7 shooting while Haley had 4 on 2-of-5 shooting.

The Mountaineers, who dominated the glass in their first two tournament wins over Oklahoma and Texas Tech, were out-rebounded by the much fresher Jayhawks 43-33.

WVU was the first No. 10 seed to reach the Big 12 Tournament semifinals since the conference was reduced to 10 teams.

Notebook

- Kansas has defeated West Virginia all three times the two teams have met in the Big 12 Tournament, the prior two times coming in the championship game. The Jayhawks are now 12-5 against WVU.
