Quick Hits: Key Team Notes

- The 2019 season marks the 127th year of baseball at West Virginia. Founded in 1892, WVU owns an all-time record of 2,176-1,566-19 and is the second-oldest program in the Big 12.
- Coach Randy Mazey is in his seventh season at the helm and owns a 205-165 record in Morgantown. He is the fourth-winningest coach in team history and the fifth to eclipse the 200-win mark. He won his 205th game on March 31, 2019, passing Ira Errett Rodgers (204-209-4 from 1921-42, 1946) for fourth place on the all-time list. Mazey is 392-325-2 in his career, while his 200th win as a Mountaineer came on March 16, 2019.
- The Mountaineers play at Monongalia County Ballpark, one of the finest facilities in the country and the newest Big 12 ballpark. WVU is 65-37 in the venue since it opened in 2015 and holds a .653 home winning percentage the last three years. Additionally, 18 of the top 25 home crowds in WVU history have come at Monongalia County Ballpark, which seats 3,500.
- West Virginia is 16-11 on the season, 8-1 at home, 3-3 against top-25 teams and 8-7 against teams that made the 2018 NCAA Tournament.
- The Mountaineers beat No. 3 Oregon State, 2-0, on March 3, a win that is tied for WVU's highest-ranked win in program history. In Corvallis, Oregon, the Mountaineers handed the Beavers, the defending NCAA champions, their first loss of the season.
- With the win at No. 3 OSU, WVU improved to 3-2 all-time against defending national champions, with all five games coming on the road.
- Junior Kade Strowd was named the Big 12 Pitcher of the Week on March 4, a day after he took a no hitter into the seventh inning to lead WVU to a 2-0 upset win at No. 3 Oregon State.
- On Opening Day, junior Alek Manoah struck out a career-best 13 batters in just 6.0 innings pitched and allowed one earned run on five hits with no walks on Feb. 15 at Kennesaw State. He was named one of Collegiate Baseball's National Players of the Week on Feb. 18, as his 13 strikeouts are the most by a Mountaineer since the 2016 season, when Michael Grove had 13 strikeouts twice and Chad Donato had 13 once.
- Nearly half of the Mountaineers' 54-game schedule, 24 games, is against teams that made the 2018 NCAA Tournament. That includes nine games against teams that advanced to the 2018 College World Series, with a three-game series at Oregon State, the 2018 national champions, along with a home series against Texas Tech and a road set at Texas. NCAA Tournament teams also include Oklahoma, Canisius and Kent State at home and Baylor, Oklahoma State and Morehead State on the road.
- The Mountaineers played 18 of their first 24 games away from home, with two of the six home games, Canisius on Feb. 19 and Towson on Feb. 27, added to the schedule the day before and three days before, respectively.
- The added games against Canisius and Towson marked the earliest home games in program history and the first-ever February home games.
- Manoah was named to the Golden Spikes Award Watch List and the Baseball America Preseason All-America Second Team. He is the third player in team history named to the Golden Spikes Watch List and the eighth on a preseason All-America team.
- Senior Darius Hill was voted to the Preseason All-Big 12 Team by the league's coaches.
- Junior Sam Kessler was recognized on the NCBWA Stopper of the Year Award Watch List.
- WVU's 36-man roster features five seniors, 11 juniors, five sophomores and 15 freshmen. With several two-way players, four are catchers, 12 are infielders, nine are outfielders and 20 are pitchers. That includes 16 right-handers and four leftys.
- This year's freshman class is the highest-ranked recruiting class in program history. The signing class of 15 student-athletes was ranked No. 26 in the nation by Perfect Game, the best in WVU history and the first in the top 30.
- WVU was picked to finish sixth in the Big 12 Preseason Coaches' Poll. West Virginia has advanced to three consecutive Big 12 Championship semifinals and has finished fourth in the final standings in three of its first six years in the league.
- Four Mountaineers were drafted last year, and WVU has had 20 draft selection in coach Randy Mazey's six seasons, the most draft picks in a six-year stretch in team history. Highlighting the 2018 draft class was Michael Grove, who was picked by the Los Angeles Dodgers in the second round and became the fourth Mountaineer ever picked in the top two rounds and 11th in the top 10. He is WVU's highest draft pick since 2010.
- A pair of former Mountaineer left-handers made their Major League debuts last season, as Harrison Musgrave and John Means were called up by the Colorado Rockies and Baltimore Orioles, respectively. Musgrave made his debut on April 23 and made 35 relief appearances in 2018, while Means pitched in one game, on Sept. 26.
- With Musgrave and Means' debuts, 24 Mountaineers in program history have played in the big leagues, and Means and Musgrave are the first players coached by Randy Mazey at WVU to earn an MLB call-up.
- Musgrave and Means join fellow Mountaineer and West Virginia native Jedd Gyorko of the St. Louis Cardinals currently on an MLB roster. Gyorko will begin his seventh MLB season in 2019.
- A total of 17 former Mountaineers played professional baseball last season.

Last Time Out: Top-25 Series Win

West Virginia earned a series win against No. 19 Oklahoma from March 29-31, with a 12-4 victory on Saturday and a 5-1 win in Sunday's finale. OU edged WVU in Friday night's opener, 2-1.

- Both teams had five hits in the series opener, but the Sooners scored two in the second, which proved to be the difference. Junior right-hander Alek Manoah had his fifth quality start in seven games this year, and allowed two runs on three hits with three strikeouts and four walks in 7.1 innings. WVU, which had the game-tying run on second base in the ninth inning, was held to one sixth-inning run.
- West Virginia evened the series the next day, as the Mountaineers scored the go-ahead run in the seventh inning and added an eight-run eighth in the 12-4 victory. WVU took a 1-0 lead in the first inning, and led 3-0 after four, but OU rallied to tie the game in the sixth inning. Sophomore catcher Paul McIntosh led the team with two hits and three RBIs, as he homered in the fourth inning and had a two-RBI single in the eighth. Sophomore righty Tristen Hudson earned the win, his first of the year, and held OU to one hit with a strikeout in 1.2 innings.
- WVU jumped out to an early lead and never trailed for the second consecutive day to win the series on Sunday. Junior right-handed starter Kade Strowd earned the win and allowed a run on three hits with seven strikeouts and eight walks in 5.0 innings. Junior righty Sam Kessler collected his fourth save of the season and retired all four batters he faced. Junior first baseman Marques Inman provided the offense, with a two-run home run in the third inning and three total RBIs.

* - Big East Game

West Virginia is 107-88 all-time against Pitt. In the Mountaineers' oldest and most-played rivalry, WVU is 63-38 at home, 41-48 on the road and 3-2 at a neutral site. West Virginia has won four in a row in the series and nine of the last 12. WVU and Pitt have met every season since 2008.

The two teams first met in WVU's fourth season, 1895. The Mountaineers won that first game, 13-6, in Pittsburgh. In 1981 and 1982, and again from 1996-2012, West Virginia and Pitt were conference rivals. First in the Eastern 8, and then in the Big East. As conference foes, the series is knotted at 27-27.

Last season in Morgantown, WVU beat Pitt, 12-1, on April 11. It was the lone matchup of the season, after rain canceled the contest in Pittsburgh. The Mountaineers jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the first inning and never looked back. West Virginia pitchers combined to hold the Panthers to one run on just four hits while striking out 14. Brandon White had a career-high four hits with two RBIs and four runs scored, while Darius Hill had a career-best five RBIs.

Hill Named Senior CLASS Candidate

Senior right fielder Darius Hill has been named a candidate for the 2019 Senior CLASS Award, which recognizes student-athletes who have notable achievements in four areas of excellence: community, classroom, character and competition.

- A Dallas native, Hill is one of 30 baseball players recognized and one of three from the Big 12 Conference, the most of any conference.
- Hill was named to the ABCA East All-Region First Team, the All-Big 12 Second Team and the Big 12 All-Tournament Team as a junior in 2018. In 2017, he collected All-Big 12 Honorable Mention accolades and Big 12 All-Tournament Team honors. As a freshman in 2016, Hill was named to five freshman All-America teams, the ABCA East All-Region Second Team, the All-Big 12 Second Team and the Big 12 All-Freshman Team.
- Majoring in management, Hill was named to the Academic All-Big 12 First Team in 2018 and the Academic All-Big 12 Second Team in 2017. He has been recognized on the Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll and the Garrett Ford Academic Honor Roll throughout his career. Hill was named to the WVU President's List in the fall of 2018 after he earned a 4.0 GPA.
- The 30 candidates will be narrowed to 10 finalists midway through the regular season, and the Senior CLASS Award winner will be announced during the 2019 College World Series in June.

Mazey Climbing Up the Wins Chart

Coach Randy Mazey is in his seventh season at WVU and is 205-165.

- Mazey is the fourth-winningest coach in program history and passed Ira Errett Rodgers (204-209-4 from 1921-42, 1946) for fourth place on the all-time wins list on March 31, 2019. Steve Harrick is third on WVU's all-time wins list, with a 333-162-1 mark, from 1948-67.
- Mazey became the fifth coach in program history to eclipse the 200-win mark on March 16, 2019.
- After leading WVU to the NCAA Tournament in 2017, Mazey was named the East Regional Coach of the Year by the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) and the Chuck Tanner College Coach of the Year Award by the Rotary Club of Pittsburgh.
- Mazey joins Ira Errett Rodgers (1921-42, 46), Steve Harrick (1948-67), Dale Ramsburgh (1968-94) and Greg Van Zant (1995-2012) with at least 100 wins at WVU. All five also have 200 wins at West Virginia.
- In his career, Mazey is 392-325-2 and earned his 300th win on May 6, 2016.

Home Sweet Home

West Virginia plays in one of the premier collegiate baseball venues in the country, Monongalia County Ballpark. With a capacity of 3,500, the ballpark opened in 2015.

- West Virginia owns a 65-37 record in the venue.
- The Mountaineers opened Monongalia County Ballpark with a 6-5, 13-inning victory against Butler on April 10, 2015.
- Just beyond the right field fence serves as the everyday home for the Mountaineers, with clubhouse amenities rivaling those in Major League Baseball. The building features a player's locker room, coaches' locker room and offices, player's lounge, team theater, indoor and outdoor batting cages, a fully-equipped athletic training room and equipment room.
- WVU has experienced record-setting attendance numbers each year, as nearly 150,000 fans have watched the Mountaineers in their new home. That includes more than 30,000 every season and 3,415, the largest home crowd in team history, on April 15, 2017, against No. 3 TCU.
- Monongalia County Ballpark was named the BaseballParks.com Ballpark of the Year for 2015. The annual award recognizes a new or remodeled stadium with the best combination of site selection, exterior appearance, architectural design and fan amenities.

Mountaineers Upset No. 3 Oregon State

West Virginia traveled to No. 3 Oregon State, the defending NCAA champions, from March 1-3, and won the finale on March 3, 2-0.

- The 2-0 upset win is tied for the highest-ranked win in program history. The Mountaineers also beat No. 3 TCU twice at home on April 14-16, 2017.
- West Virginia faced the defending national champions for the second time in program history and is 3-2 all-time against teams the year after they won the NCAA title. In 2017, WVU went 2-0 at Coastal Carolina, the reigning champions.
- A strong start by right-hander Kade Strowd and a pair of second-inning home runs by first baseman Kevin Brophy and left fielder Paul McIntosh fueled WVU in the win. Strowd took a no hitter into the seventh inning and held Oregon State to one hit with five strikeouts. In 6.1 innings, he struck out five with nine walks, but five double plays, including four inning-enders, helped him shut out OSU. Strowd earned the win and righty Sam Kessler collected the save with 2.0 shutout innings.
- West Virginia opened the series with a 9-2 loss on March 1, and the Beavers won Saturday's contest, 4-2.

Strowd Earns Big 12 Honor after Upset

Junior right-hander Kade Strowd was named the Big 12 Pitcher of the Week on March 4 after he took a no hitter into the seventh inning at No. 3 Oregon State on March 3 to lead West Virginia to a 2-0 upset victory over the defending national champions.

- The accolade is the first Big 12 weekly honor of Strowd's career and the first for the Mountaineers this season. He is the first WVU pitcher to be named Big 12 Pitcher of the Week since 2017.
- In 6.1 shutout innings in Corvallis, Oregon, Strowd allowed just one hit, which led off the seventh inning, with five strikeouts. He walked nine, but WVU turned five double plays, four of them inning-enders. Strowd held third-ranked Oregon State to a .067 batting average, second-lowest among all Big 12 pitchers on the week.
- Strowd's 6.0 no-hit innings comes a week after he took a no hitter into the fifth on Feb. Feb. 23, at Georgia Southern.
- The Fort Worth, Texas, native is 1-1 on the season and boasts a 1.56 ERA with three earned runs allowed on eight hits in three starts. In 17.1 innings pitched, he has 14 strikeouts with 10 walks.
- Sunday's performance helped the Mountaineers hand the Beavers their first loss of the season. The win over third-ranked OSU is tied for WVU's highest-ranked win in program history.

Manoah Shines on Opening Day

Junior right-hander Alek Manoah has had an impressive first two starts to the 2019 season. On Opening Day at Kennesaw State on Feb. 15, he struck out a career-best 13 batters and allowed one unearned run on five hits with no walks in 6.0 innings. The next week, he took a no-hitter into the fifth inning in a 5-1 win at Georgia Southern on Feb. 22.

- Manoah's 13-strikeout performance nearly doubled his previous career high of seven. He threw 79 pitches, 58 for strikes, and struck out three batters in an inning twice and had two strikeouts in a frame three times.
- The 13 strikeouts were the most by a Mountaineer since the 2016 season, when Michael Grove had 13 strikeouts twice and Chad Donato had 13 once.
- The 13 strikeouts were the most by a Big 12 pitcher on opening weekend, and Manoah was recognized on Collegiate Baseball's National Players of the Week.
- The next week, Manoah took a no hitter into the fifth inning and did not allow a runner to reach second base when he was on the mound. He struck out eight batters and allowed one unearned run on two hits with two walks in 6.1 innings to earn the win.

Homegrown Talent

Three West Virginia natives are on the 2019 roster, tied for the fourth-most represented state on the team, behind Florida and Texas (5) and Ohio (4).

Record-Setting Draft Success

West Virginia has experienced unprecedented success in the Major League Baseball Draft in Randy Mazey's tenure. WVU has had 20 draft picks in Mazey's six seasons, the most in a six-year stretch in team history.

- At least two West Virginia players have been drafted in each of Mazey's six seasons.
- In the 2018 draft, Michael Grove was selected in the second round by the Los Angeles Dodgers, Kyle Gray was drafted in the 14th round by the New York Yankees, junior Jimmy Galusky was picked in the 20th round by the Chicago White Sox and senior BJ Myers was selected by the Tampa Bay Rays in the 35th round.
- Grove became the fourth Mountaineer ever picked in the top two rounds, and 11th in the top 10. He is WVU's highest draft pick since 2010.
- WVU's four draft picks in 2018 are tied for third-most in a single draft in team history.
- There have been 90 Mountaineer draft picks since the first draft was held in 1965.

Season Preview

Seventh-year coach Randy Mazey has a veteran-laden team with plenty of experience alongside a freshman class that is the highest-ranked recruiting class in program history.

The Mountaineers return 13 of 17 position players from last year's team and seven of nine starters. In total, 10 of 17 pitchers are back in 2019. In total, 20 of 30 lettermen return.

"There's no substitute for experience," Mazey said. "I think the guys like (seniors) Darius Hill, Ivan Gonzalez, (redshirt junior) Marques Inman, (sophomore) Tyler Doanes and (junior) Brandon White have played a lot in their careers. If you're going to have a good team, you have to look for experience and leadership, and we have it in some areas."

Hill, Gonzalez and White have started more than 100 games in their careers. Hill in right field, Gonzalez at catcher and White in center field, while Inman has 84 career starts, including 51 last year, primarily at first base. Doanes played in 43 games with 29 starts as a freshman and was a consistent presence at third base in the second half of the season.

"Experience is the best teacher; most of the guys in the lineup have been playing since their freshman year, so they've played in every Big 12 stadium," Mazey added. "They're not going to see anything that they haven't seen before. That has a calming effect on the rest of the crowd, when those guys don't get too out of control with their emotions. I'm hoping the experience of this team really helps us."

With plenty of returning star power, the Mountaineers have several players who have been recognized with regional or national preseason accolades. Junior right-hander Alek Manoah was named to the Golden Spikes Award Watch List and the Baseball America Preseason All-America Second Team, while Hill was named to the Preseason All-Big 12 Team. Junior righty Sam Kessler was recognized on the preseason watch list for the Stopper of the Year Award.

Despite those preseason honors and returning experience, not to mention three consecutive Big 12 Championship semifinal appearances, the Mountaineers were picked to finish sixth in the 2019 Big 12 Conference Preseason Coaches' Poll.

The low ranking is just fine with Mazey though.

"That's not very good for everybody else; I think that's really good for us," Mazey said. "I think our guys know we're better than that, and that's going to enable them to play with a chip on their shoulder, something to prove. Any time you get a group of kids with something to prove and they're willing to do it, that can be dangerous for the other team."

That mentality has helped West Virginia in its first six seasons in the Big 12. WVU has finished in the top four in the final Big 12 standings in three of its first six seasons in the league and, despite its early success since joining the conference, has never been voted better than fifth in the preseason poll.

"Just do what we do," Mazey said of his team's success since joining one of the toughest conferences in the country. "We've had a history here of really playing better in the Big 12 than we have in (non-conference games). I'm not worried about our kids as far as that goes, with the experience of this team and the fact that we're not going to get in awe of anybody at this point. We know that we can beat anybody we play on our schedule. We've had a lot of success in the Big 12, and I don't see why this year will be any different."

The Mountaineers' challenging 53-game schedule features 22 home games and 30 road contests, including the Backyard Brawl against Pitt at PNC Park in Pittsburgh, and a matchup with Marshall at Appalachian Power Park in Charleston.

Additionally, nearly half of the schedule, 23 games, is against teams that made the 2018 NCAA Tournament. That includes nine games against teams that advanced to the 2018 College World Series, with a three-game series at Oregon State, the 2018 national champions, along with a home series against Texas Tech and a road set at Texas. NCAA Tournament teams also include Oklahoma and Kent State at home and Baylor, Oklahoma State and Morehead State on the road.

On Opening Day, WVU's 36-man roster will feature five seniors, 11 juniors, five sophomores and 15 freshmen. With several two-way players, four are catchers, 13 are infielders, eight are outfielders and 21 are pitchers. That includes 17 right-handers and four leftys.

"The beautiful part about this team is that I think we can win games in a variety of ways," Mazey said. "If the power doesn't show up one day, I think the speed will, and if the speed doesn't show up, the power will. We're pretty multi-dimensional as far as that goes."

Position-by-Position Breakdown

INFIELD

While there will be some turnover in the infield from last season, many of those changes are familiar faces.

Inman, who started 51 games as a redshirt sophomore in 2018, will get the start at first base, where he made 41 starts at the position last season and had an impressive year at the plate. Expected to man second base will be Doanes, who earned his way into a starting role and made 23 starts at third base as a freshman in 2018. Freshman Tevin Tucker is anticipated to be the shortstop, while there are several candidates to play third.

An All-Big 12 Honorable Mention in 2018, Inman led the team with 20 doubles and 40 RBIs, was third with a .319 batting average, 61 hits, six home runs, a .529 slugging percentage and 101 total bases. He was fourth with 20 walks, fifth with 31 runs scored and a .387 on-base percentage.

"Marques Inman has locked down the first base position," Mazey said. "He has a lot of experience there, and is a middle of the lineup hitter. Additionally, Kevin Brophy and Andrew Zitel can back him up if need be."

Doanes was on the Big 12 All-Freshman Team and collected All-Big 12 Honorable Mention accolades in an impressive first-year campaign. In 43 games, Doanes led the team with four triples, was second with a .407 on-base percentage and fourth with a .317 batting average and a .475 slugging percentage with 32 hits, 20 RBIs and five doubles.

"Tyler Doanes, at least for the time being, is going to move to second base, which is a position that suits him a lot better," Mazey said. "He's a great communicator, has great leadership abilities. Right up the middle we can surround those young kids with experience."

A Petersburg, Virginia, native, Tucker comes to WVU from Prince George High, where he helped his team with its first-ever state title in 2019. Tucker was a two-time first team all-conference, first team all-region, second team all-state and all-academic team honoree. He was ranked No. 7 overall and No. 2 among shortstops in Virginia by Perfect Game.

"He's a really dynamic kid, a dynamic kid who's fun to be around," Mazey said. "I just want him to have fun and play baseball. He has a lot of older guys around him at those positions that are going to help calm him down. So, just go do what you do, that's why you're here. We'll live with some mistakes, but that's how you grow, that's what he's going to do."

At third base, junior Kevin Brophy, senior Andrew Zitel and Gonzalez all have experience at the hot corner, while sophomore Tristen Hudson also could see time at third. Brophy is back after suffering a season-ending injury last season. In 18 games with 16 starts, he hit six home runs and had a .566 slugging percentage with a .226 batting average, 12 hits and 13 RBIs. Fourteen of his 16 starts came at first base, but Brophy saw time at third base as a freshman, where he appeared in 25 games and had three starts at third.

Prior to the 2018 season, Zitel played in a total of 29 career games with four starts. Last season, he played in 44 games with 28 starts and hit .235 with 27 hits, 18 runs scored, 16 RBIs, five doubles, one home run and a .304 slugging percentage.

Primarily a catcher, Gonzalez is another player who could see time at third base. He saw consistent time at the hot corner as a freshman and 20 starts at the position while serving as the backup catcher. He started another six games in 2017 and eight in 2018 at third.

Hudson played in 12 games in the field as a freshman, with six appearances as a pinch runner, four as a pinch hitter and two at second base. He hit .125 with one hit, a double, in eight at-bats with a run scored.

OUTFIELD

Much like three of the four infield positions, right and center field are set by a pair of veterans who have patrolled the outfield nearly every game of their career. Hill will once again be in right, with White in center. There are several options in left field, including redshirt junior TJ Lake and freshman Austin Davis. Senior Braden Zarbnisky, who also is a pitcher, will miss the season with an injury.

"Brandon White and Darius Hill have been experienced starters out there and really good players for us," Mazey said. "With the loss of Braden Zarbnisky in left field, that opens up a spot for somebody. TJ Lake has stepped up and played really well in left field, and I have a young kid named Austin Davis who is pretty dynamic and will probably see some time there as well."

Hill, who ranks in the top-10 in program history in five career statistical categories, is a multiple-time freshman All-American, has been named to two ABCA All-Region teams and three All-Big 12 teams in his career. Last year, he led the team with 79 hits and 20 doubles, was second with a .329 batting average, 41 hits and 115 total bases, third with 36 RBIs and two triples and fourth with a .479 slugging percentage.

White earned All-Big 12 Honorable Mention accolades in each of his first two years as a Mountaineer. While making highlight-reel plays in center, he finished second on the team with 22 stolen bases in 2018, which ranked No. 6 in WVU history. White was third with 33 walks, fourth with 58 hits and a .392 on-base percentage, fifth with a .289 batting average and 72 total bases and had 20 RBIs, 30 runs scored and seven doubles.

Lake played in 45 games as a redshirt freshman in 2017 and 11 of WVU's first 18 games with six starts last season, before he suffered a season-ending injury. Fifteen of his 23 career starts have come in the outfield. In 2017, Lake hit .233 with 17 hits, five RBIs and six stolen bases in eight attempts.

Davis comes to WVU from Orlando, where he was named a Rawlings-Perfect

Game Honorable Mention All-American in 2016 and 2018. He is a two-time all-metro honoree and can play both the infield and outfield.

CATCHER

A freshman All-American and two time- All-Big 12 Honorable Mention honoree, Gonzalez has plenty of experience behind the plate, with 91 starts as catcher, and ranks No. 10 in WVU history with 780 career putouts.

Gonzalez has produced solid offensive numbers throughout his career. As a junior in 2018, he finished fourth on the team with 11 doubles, fifth with 51 hits, 25 RBIs and 18 walks and hit .255 with one home run, 25 runs scored and a .325 slugging percentage.

Sophomores Connor Hamilton and Paul McIntosh will be Gonzalez's backups behind the plate. Redshirt junior Chase Illig will miss the season with an injury.

Hamilton played in 24 games last year with four starts, one as catcher. He hit .132 with five hits and five RBIs. McIntosh comes to West Virginia from Motlow State CC. He hit 16 home runs with 48 RBIs, a .331 batting average, 57 hits and a .680 slugging percentage and a .510 on-base percentage. McIntosh joined the Mountaineers after he was drafted by the Los Angeles Angels in the 34th round of the 2018 MLB Draft.

"Ivan has been a mainstay behind the plate," Mazey said. "We rely heavily on him, but we can't expect him to catch all 56 games. Paul McIntosh is a very talented hitter who does a good job catching. He'll see some time behind home plate, and could also play in left field, while Connor Hamilton is another option we have."

DESIGNATED HITTER

There are several options in the designated hitter spot, and a lot of that depends on who is playing third base and left field. For Mazey, he doesn't have a set way he uses the position. Whoever can help the team score runs and win, he'll use.

"The DH spot for me is anybody who can help you score runs, however they can do it. If they're a bunter and a runner, or a hit-and-run guy that helps the offense, you can slide into that DH spot that way too."

Early candidates include Brophy, Davis Hamilton, Hudson, Lake, McIntosh and Zitel.

PITCHING

Mazey's starting rotation for the opening weekend is set, with Manoah getting the ball on Friday at Kennesaw State. Sophomore left-hander Jackson Wolf will start on Saturday at Georgia State and junior righty Kade Strowd will toe the rubber on Sunday at Georgia Tech.

Manoah's Friday start comes after a strong summer in the Cape Cod League. That followed a sophomore season in which he appeared in 23 games with eight starts. He was second on the team with 60 strikeouts and posted a 3-5 record with two saves and a 4.00 ERA.

"He's been really good so far," Mazey said. "I think he made a decision this summer that he's going to get really serious about playing this game for a living, and I think the results have shown. He's been pitching really well so far this spring. He's going to have to be a workhorse for us, go out and give us 100, 120 pitches every time out."

"He has all three pitches going on really well right now; he has command of all three pitches. The stuff is off the charts; he throws really hard, has a great changeup, great slider, but he's put it all together. And, he's cleaned up his body. That's the first thing he had to do, and he couldn't do that until he made a decision to clean up his body, like we all try to do every day, right? But, he's done that, and I think that's what's enabled him to turn the corner."

Wolf made 17 appearances with two starts as a freshman. He posted a 1-1 record with a 4.07 ERA in 24.1 innings pitched.

Strowd collected All-Big 12 Honorable Mention accolades as a sophomore. He made 15 appearances with a team-best 13 starts and led the team with four wins, going 4-7, 61 strikeouts and 62.2 innings pitched. His ERA was 5.74.

Another candidate to start games is junior Nick Snyder, who made seven appearances last season and pitched 4.0 innings after coming to WVU from Mercer County CC.

"There's some experience with our starters as well," Mazey said. "Kade Strowd has started some games for us last year in Big 12 play. Jackson Wolf has made a jump; he's a big tall left-hander who has been throwing pretty well. Nick Snyder had as good a fall for us as anybody, and he's very capable. Depth is going to be a little bit of an issue between starters and once we get to the back end of the bullpen where Sam Kessler is going to sit. We're going to need some new guys in that role to fill in some quality innings. That'll probably dictate our success, how well those new guys pitch in that role."

Kessler once again will be WVU's closer in 2019, after he earned four wins and four saves last year. His 25 relief appearances as a sophomore tied for fourth-most in a single season in team history. He led the team with a 2.86 ERA and allowed nine earned runs on 25 hits with 32 strikeouts.

Between the starters and Kessler, Mazey notes the relief corps could include freshmen Ryan Bergert, Brock Helverson and Beau Lowery, all who have thrown the ball well in preseason practice.

"Sam Kessler has proven that he can finish games for us," Mazey said. "He has the chance to be a pretty quality closer in this league. We just need to fill the gap between what we feel like are quality starters and quality closers. And that's where the loss of Zarbnisky and some other guys are really going to open the door for some young guys to step in ... Ryan Bergert and Brock Helverson are two freshmen who pitch pretty well who should see some time, and Beau Lowery, a West Virginia kid, has really pitched well this spring as well."

A Look Back on 2018

West Virginia reached the Big 12 Championship semifinals for the third consecutive season in 2018, as the Mountaineers went 29-27 on the season. In the Big 12, the No. 2 RPI conference in the country, WVU went 9-15, and became one of two teams to reach the Big 12 semifinals three years in a row.

- The 2018 campaign included a 5-3 mark against top-25 teams, highlighted by a series win over No. 19 Texas. West Virginia also posted a 5-0 record against regional foes, highlighted by a walk-off win in 10 innings at PNC Park to improve to 2-0 at the home of the Pittsburgh Pirates.
- Numerous Mountaineers earned national postseason awards, highlighted by junior second baseman Kyle Gray, who was recognized on the ABCA All-America Third Team. That continued a stretch of four consecutive years with an All-America honor for West Virginia. Gray became the 18th All-American in program history, while the honor was the 16th total in Mazey's tenure.
- Gray was joined by fellow junior Darius Hill on the ABCA East All-Region First Team, marking the sixth consecutive year West Virginia has had a representative on the all-region list and the third year in a row it has had a member on the first team. The pair are the 50th and 51st players in program history to be named to the East All-Region First or Second Team since 1983.
- Nine players were named to an All-Big 12 Team. Gray was named to the All-Big 12 First Team, WVU's sixth first team honoree, and Hill was selected to the second team. The Mountaineers earned a total of 10 All-Big 12 accolades for the third consecutive season, and the seven honorable mention accolades are tied for the most in program history.
- Gray and Hill also added Big 12 All-Tournament Team accolades, marking the third consecutive year West Virginia has had at least two All-Tournament Team selections after it had just one prior to 2016. Additionally, five student-athletes were honored on an Academic All-Big 12 Team.
- The Mountaineers again played in front of record-breaking crowds at Monongalia County Ballpark in 2018. A total of 35,101 fans filled the stands, the third-most in program history, for an average of 1,526 per game, the second-highest in program history. The attendance totals were highlighted by two crowds that ranked in the top-10 all-time and four in the top 25.
- Statistically, the Mountaineers stole 95 bases, which led the Big 12, was No. 17 nationally and was third-most in program history. Additionally, WVU's 12 team saves and 462 strikeouts also were No. 3 in the record books. Individually, Myers set the record with 49 career starts and 305.1 innings pitched.
- West Virginia had three walk-off wins in 2018, tied for sixth-most in the country. The victories, two at Monongalia County Ballpark and one at PNC Park, came after WVU played 21 of its first 24 games, including its first 15, on the road thanks to a pair of rain-postponed games.
- A challenging 56-game schedule featured 23 games against teams that made the NCAA Tournament in 2018. Three opponents hosted regional contests, three reached the super regionals and two nationally-seeded teams hosted super regionals and advanced to the College World Series.
- Gray's 14 home runs tied for sixth-most in a single season in program history and were WVU's most since 2010. The Blanco, Texas, native added a 23-game hit streak, the longest by a Mountaineer since 2009. He led the Big 12 with a .391 batting average, was second with a .759 slugging percentage and 66 total bases, third with eight home runs and fourth with a .460 on-base percentage and 34 hits.
- Hill, from Dallas, led the team and finished second in the Big 12 with 79 hits, was third in the conference with a team-high-tying 20 doubles and was ninth in the league with 115 total bases. He was second on the team with a .329 batting average and 41 runs scored and added four home runs, 36 RBIs, a .479 slugging percentage and a .362 on-base percentage. Hill's 240 at-bats led the team and ranks No. 7 in a single season in team history. In conference action, Hill was sixth in the Big 12 with a .364 batting average and finished second with 36 hits and sixth with nine doubles.
